TRENT CANAL ASSOCIATION.

A FAIR CROWD FILL THE OPERA HOUSE TO HEAR THE QUESTION DISCUSSED.

An Able Paper by Mr. Carnegie. Mr. Robertson's Address. Interesting Views Shown. Resolution Adopted. Major Hughes' Paper.

Last night, although the Opera House was not filled with a fair sized audience gathered to hear the discussion on the Trent Valley Canal question.

The chair was taken by J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., president of the Association, who in a few words, stated the object for which the meeting was called and the efforts being put forth to arouse renewed interest in the question.

"Last night the Board of Trade felt that the interest in the Trent Canal was not what it ought to be. The Board of Trade took it upon itself to call a meeting in the fall and at that meeting J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., was made president of the association. It was determined to undertake a series of meetings for the purpose of arousing general interest. A committee was appointed and waited on Mr. Carnegie asking him to prepare a paper, showing the advantages and gains to be made by the construction of the said canal and also the work necessary for its accomplishment and the obstacles to be overcome. The information to be prepared for the benefit of the Board of Trade for the information of the people at large. Mr. Carnegie had prepared the paper and to-night would read it assisted by Mr. Robertson. At the same time views of the country which the canal would pass and the workings already in progress would be shown by Messrs. Roy and Hall."

MR. CARNEGIE'S PAPER.
For nearly two hours Mr. Carnegie assisted by Mr. Robertson held the attention of the audience, a brief synopsis of his paper being read by Mr. Robertson. Mr. Carnegie, the interest I take in the Trent Valley Canal would easily permit me giving you here till the early hours of the morning, but what I have to say is in a condensed form. I apprehend that to understand the question of the Canal it is only necessary to glance at a map of the Midland district. (A map was here thrown on the screen.) Nature as you will here see has already accomplished a great deal in the carrying out of such a scheme, and I can only think that the reason we are not further advanced in the development of this scheme is the lack of interest taken by the public in the carrying out of other parts of the province and ordinary railway interests. I assert that water routes are and always have been the most economical and the only way that breaks the backbone of railway companies with regard to traffic rates. I have here a report from a Chicago Board of Trade in which three ways of transportation are compared. First, all rail; second, rail and water; third, all water. The decision of the Chicago Board of Trade is that the all water route was much the cheaper. The question was sometimes asked in the United States whether the people run the railways or the railways run the people. Where there were water routes the companies did not run the railways. (The price of transportation of grain from Chicago to New York was decided by the water route.)

"The Chamber of Commerce, N.Y., in reports of midwinter duty, viz., 1898 stated in strong terms the great advantages New York derived from the canal system and when it was proposed to hand the canal over to the Government at Washington it was expressly stated by the committee appointed to report on this question that it would likely be done on the express condition that the canal rates were to be a free public way and if not were to revert to the state of N.Y."

"The Buffalo merchant's reports the question of transportation to be the question of the age and that it was a matter of regret that the money necessary for the construction of the Erie Canal was not sufficient."

Here, Mr. Carnegie took a short recess and Mr. Robertson took up the reading under the heading of

"A TRIP ON THE CANAL."

Mr. Robertson started at Trenton and by means of a large number of views thrown on the screen showed the nature of the country through which the canal would pass. The work already accomplished in a number of districts. The locks already built or under way, the dams constructed and places where nature had already provided a way. The views were many and varied and exceedingly good and proved of great advantage in impressing the lecture on the minds of those present. Mr. Robertson, of course furnished a lot of information in connection with the pictures. As far back as 1820 the Imperial Government had had such a scheme under way and work had been undertaken. The McKimie rebellion caused a definite break in the work, new circumstances arose and new conditions prevailed, to the loss of the Trent Canal project. The cost of constructing the canal would be from $3 to $1.2 millions.

MR. CARNEGIE RESUMES.
"In transporting grain from Chicago to Montreal, two days could be saved by the proposed route. At the same time the risk of storms experienced on Lake Erie and Lake Ontario would be done away with. Six million bushels, as it was, had been handled by the G. T. R. at Montreal and a new elevator of 100,000 bushels capacity had been constructed there and no longer proof could be wanted of the transportation trade. Nor was wheat the only thing, Chicago was becoming a manufacturing centre of iron and a great proportion of this was being shipped by way of Midland. The entire trip from Midland to Montreal would be almost a landlocked one capable of transferring barges of from 400 to 500 tons. Buffalo to New York artificially locked 300 miles and only carrying 200 to 300 tons. What was now being carried from Midland to Montreal at a rate of almost three times as great as that from Chicago to Montreal. Simply showing the advantage of a competing water route. In no other way can the Dominion Government do so much for the development of not only this Midland district but also the country at large than by constructing the proposed canal."

Were the canal constructed other advantages will also accrue, wealthy men from the States and elsewhere will make use of the canal, in their yachts and private boats, to reach our inland lakes and rivers. Money would be spent and advantages reaped in this way. The large country towns, the smaller towns and many villages all scattered along the proposed route will boom along an unprecedented rate. There is 180 miles of natural water communication and in the neighborhood of 11 miles to be constructed of canal. I have strong hopes that this will eventually be a strong link in the chain of waterways that the Hon. J. J. Tarte said on the proposed canal."

VIEWS AGAIN SHOWN.

Mr. Robertson here resumed his trip and other series of views were shown much interesting information being given in connection with them.

Mr. Carnegie resumed his short tour and explained the nature of the material necessary and what was being shown. More views were shown and the lecture was at an end.

Warden Hughes stepped forward and moved seconded by Mr. Dumble that the following resolution be adopted by this meeting:

"Whereas universal opinion concludes that one of the great wants of Canada is the development of her resources and her commercial prosperity is the improvement of her transportation facilities; and whereas the Trent canal if completed will afford a waterway capable of facilitating and shortening in a very complete and satisfactory degree the movement of the grain crops of the great Northwest to the seaboard; and whereas there have been expended upon the construction of the already completed sections an amount equivalent to more than one-half of the cost required to complete the entire work which amount would be a large sum if the canal is not completed; and whereas both past and present Governments by Ministerial pledge, as well as work undertaken, were and are committing the completion of the canal, we therefore resolve that this large and representative meeting call upon the Government to proceed with the work of the Canal completion by placing under contract during the coming year the remaining portions of this great work and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Premier of the Dominion and to the Honorable Mr. Blair, Minister of Railways and Canals. Be it further resolved that the Minister of Railways and Canals be requested to urge the contractors already engaged on the work to proceed more energetically in the prosecution of the contract."

The resolution was unanimously adopted. Mr. Dumble in a short speech strongly asserted the benefits to be derived by such a project and showed in a strong light the coming year the remaining portions of this great work and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Premier of the Dominion and to the Honorable Mr. Blair, Minister of Railways and Canals. Be it further resolved that the Minister of Railways and Canals be requested to urge the contractors already engaged on the work to proceed more energetically in the prosecution of the contract."

Moved by Mr. Garvin, seconded by Mr. Pearce, that a vote of thanks be tendered to Messrs. Carnegie and Robertson and the gentlemen who had helped for the Queen closed the meeting.

GREAT UNREST IN THE BALKAN STATES

A MACEDONIAN UPRISING EXPECTED

Bulgaria's Foreign Affairs Ministry is expected to receive news from Sofia that the end of winter brings trouble again in the Balkan States in the question which is being asked. The build-up of the hour was the signal for the Kiepts to take to the old hills in old days before Greece was free. Will it this time be the signal for the uprising of another race against the same oppressor? All through last year there were signs of gathering unrest, and the vague rumors of outbreaks put down by massacre in outlying villages round Uskub were perhaps only the forerunners of a greater movement, which now is causing uneasiness not only in the Sultan's court, but in St. Petersburg and Berlin. It is announced that a Macedonian Congress will be held in Geneva about the middle of March, when the future of the government of the province will be discussed, and there can be little doubt that some form of independence will be declared. That is the first step with every Christian nation suffering under Turkish misrule. The question in the present case is, what will be the second.

Macedonia has a population of about 2,000,000, composed of many diverse nationalities. It is well known that for a long time back Bulgaria has been fomenting agitation from across her borders far into the heart of Macedonia. Especially by means of schoolmasters and political teachers, who go under the disguise of innkeepers, merchants and beggars, the idea of a great Bulgarian nationality is kept before the public. It is needless to say that Bulgaria and her rebels, if unaided, could not stand for a month against the Turkish forces, but the Serbian Slavs in Macedonia have entire sympathy with the Bulgarian and it is just possible that Serbia might place what strength she has on the same side. Montenegro could hardly keep quiet, and behind all there is Russia, who has always an excuse for intervention by reason of her interest in the religious peninsula of Albania. The Russian Orthodox Church if the agitation comes to a head, will find support in Prince Ferdinand and to move this courage is not very remarkable. If he moves, what part will Russia play? These are some questions for the spring.

VOLCANO IN ERUPTION.

City of Mexico, Jan. 26.—A despatch from Colima states that the volcano of that name is in full activity. An outburst, and the Indians are moving from the neighborhood of the mountain. No further casualties are reported here, but a burst of smoke followed by lava occurred directly after the earthquake yesterday afternoon. The night is impossible.

A HORSE ON A GRAVE.

London, Jan. 26.—Advice from the Malay archipelago says that the Dutch Pontianak-Kinta member of the State Council of Perak, whose first wife died about two months ago, is so grieved at her loss that he has erected a temporary house over her grave and will live there three months and ten days. The Malays of Ipoh are treated to a feast every Friday and a buffalo is killed weekly for this purpose.

CHURCH PEOPLE OBJECT.

London, Jan. 26.—Lord Iveagh's gift is not acclaimed by all Church people. Mrs. Harcourt writes complaining that this gift to scientific research is merely an encouragement to vivisection, and Canon Willerforce has recently preached against it. In a letter the Canon says he absolutely denies that good has resulted from vivisection. He believes exactly the contrary, and agrees with Professor Lawson Tait that both surgery and medicine have been retarded by it.

HYPOCRISY OF THE BOERS.

London, Jan. 26.—Advice from the Transvaal says that the Boer campaign against the native chief Mpefu has already cost over $75,000. There have been three burghers and twelve Swansick killed. Mpefu and his fighting general Tromp, remain in their chosen stronghold, with their fighting forces intact. The campaign is, however, an unjust failure and the Boers the royal salute, triumphal arches, and the eulogistic address at Pretoria, in honor of the returning general, have their humorous aspect to the cynical observer. Children and men are in danger, and that the prisoners are not receiving proper treatment. The Spanish Government called attention to the prisoners of war, and the United States to use its good offices to procure the release of the prisoners, and urged the United States to do everything possible to do so.

Secretary Hay replied that the General Otis had been instructed to give immediate attention to the matter, but this Government has made no promise to obtain the release of the prisoners. It is the growing belief that the United States will be able to obtain release only by force. Information has also been received here showing that 500 friars held as prisoners are compelled by the Filipinos to undergo all sorts of manual labor, such as attending to the horses of Filipino officers, paving the streets of towns and so forth.

SLAVES DON'T WANT FREEDOM.

London, Jan. 26.—A deputation from the Society of Friends and the Anti-Slavery Society waited upon Mr. Broderick at the Foreign Office to urge upon him the desirability of proceeding more quickly with the liberation of the slaves in Pemba, a British protectorate under the Sultan of Zanzibar. It was asserted that 1,200 slaves had been liberated within the past 11 months, although there was a slave population of between 70,000 and 80,000 in the protectorate. Mr. Broderick informed the deputation that hardly any slaves were coming to claim their freedom. They were earning good wages and were being paid exactly as free laborers. The slaves had lost much of their manliness, and this Mr. Broderick thought was the main difficulty in bringing about their manumission.

A Prominent Physician.

A prominent New York physician in discussing the merits of Ripans Tablets with a brother M. D. said: "Several years ago I ascertained that if one wished to become a philanthropist, and do a beneficial deed, one first would help the whole human race—nothing could be better than to procure the Ripans Tablets, which is the basis of the Ripans Tablets, and cause it to be put up in the form of a booklet and distributed among the poor."

Sales Increasing.

The largest retail drug store in America is that of Huggins & Co. on Broadway in New York City. A reporter who went there to learn how Ripans Tablets were doing, bought a five-cent carton and asked:

"Do you have in such call for them?"

He was referred to a gentleman who proved to be the head of the department. He said:

"The sale of Ripans Tablets is constant and is increasing, due especially to the influential character of the testimonials in the daily press, and growing out of them, through the recommendation of friends to friends. Satisfaction with them is very general. When one of them has been a customer for them is made. This, I believe, is through their testimony, which gives the best idea of the character of the advertising. I think them especially useful in the general run of domestic troubles."

An Elderly Lady.

An elderly lady living at Purinton Heights, a part of New York City, and who was known to be a warm advocate of Ripans Tablets for any case of liver trouble or indigestion, said to a reporter who visited her for the purpose of learning the particulars of her case: "I had always employed a physician and did so on the last occasion I had for one, but at that time obtained no beneficial results. I had never had any faith in patent medicines, but had seen Ripans Tablets recommended very highly in the New York Herald, and decided to give them a trial, and found they were just what my case demanded. I have never employed a physician since, and that means a saving of $5 a call."

A dollar's worth of Ripans Tablets lasts me a month, and I would not be without them now if I were my last dollar." At the time of this interview there were present two daughters who readily agreed to give a testimonial which should appear in some of the newspapers, but to do this the elderly lady refused. "There may be other cases just like mine, and I am sure I can give them in recommending the Tablets to my own afflicted as I was. If the telling about my case in the papers enables some other person similarly afflicted to be as greatly benefited as I have been, I am satisfied."

The daughter, knowing how carefully she felt about the benefit she had received, decided she was quite right.

THE BOUOURIS ARE CANNIBALS

THEY EAT TWO EUROPEANS & SEVEN SENEGALESE SOLDIERS.

But the Chief Nanyah Escaped, and Another Expedition is to be sent Out to Capture Him

London, Jan. 27.—Further particulars respecting the massacre of Europeans by the Bououris of the French Ivory Coast indicate that cannibalism was also practiced. It appears that the natives sent in the head and one of the arms of an English white trader named Eude. When Mr. Eude was murdered a French official, M. F. Le Vosa, was also killed, and it is now learned that seven natives mostly, Senegalese, were also massacred at the same time. Most parts of M. Le Vosa's body, which had been cut up had been sent in before the head and arm of Mr. Eude, but in the case of both white men nothing could be learned of the missing parts. As the Bououris were known cannibals it was feared that the bodies of the seven Senegalese had been disposed of in this way. M. Le Vosa, with Mr. Eude, and the natives, visited the town of Bououris, and were returning, but through a mistake of the interpreter went the wrong way, when they were fallen on and massacred by the Bououris. Of the whole party of ten, only one, a small boy, escaped. The French authorities sent an expedition against the natives, but this had to retire. When fresh troops arrived a second attack was made, and this time the French burnt down the important town of Bououris and other places. The chief, Nanyah, unfortunately escaped and is still at large, and consequently the country unsettled. The French sent in demanding the immediate surrender of Nanyah, otherwise another expedition would be sent. The natives replied that they would not give up their king. A third expedition will therefore be necessary. The Bououris tribe number many thousands, and are so much dreaded an account of their ferocity that white traders never care to go up to their country.

The resolution was carried and a committee appointed to take action.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES

THE CURLERS ESTEEM FROM THE QUEEN CITY

Many Explanations of the Shots that Defeated them What the Hockey Boys are Saying About Future Games

The curlers returned from Toronto yesterday where after winning first they fell before the Toronto Olympians by 2 points. Hard luck boys. Hope for better next time.

Varsity beat Stratford on Thursday night by one goal and it is reasonable to suppose that after the return match in Toronto that they will play the winner of Waterloo-Vergara.

Quite a few of the local sports are sore on "Scurdy" Phaslan. He came down with Waterloo the other night and remarked to a few of the sports who were inclined to be that Peterboro was easy meat for Waterloo. These men are now inquiring what Phaslan knew about hockey anyway.

Bob Fitzsimmons says that "talking about corkerrew punches, I have a new one that will give the sporting world something to talk about when it is seen." Fitz says that O'Rourke, who has made his money out of fighters, might be in better business than running them down.

It is a two to one shot that Peterboro Colts will win the third round of the Junior series. They have six goals to their credit and besides have entered a protest which may be the means of the O. H. A. This is another rule they will have to learn.

The women in the crowd up north follow their teams not only on the train, but with their money. At the Coldwater-Midland game a Midland young woman stood up, and waving a crumpled five dollar bill in her hand, yelled "Two to one on Midland," in a language pronouncedly sporty, says an exchange.

All eyes are now centered on our two hockey teams. The Peterboro's will journey to Waterloo on Monday to play the return match with the "yellow and black." The local team have three goals to their credit and captain Hollingshead feels confident of winning the round. We quite agree with him. Let every man take care of himself and his man. The defense will be able to handle the balance.

Harry Westwick is in town today on a visit. The Waterloo team was defeated in Peterboro by the team of that town last night by a pair of six goals to two. Harry came on to Ottawa from Peterboro. He does not apprehend any trouble over the protest lodged against him by the Toronto Rowing club. He has secured a position in Waterloo and will reside there permanently. He returns to-morrow—Ottawa Free Press.

The St. Georges do not want home and home games with the winners of Peterboro v. Frontenac on account of the expense. They would like a sudden death game on neutral ice. There is hardly any possibility of the Peterboro Colts agreeing to this proposition, as they want to have a go at the St. Georges at home if they win the Frontenac round. They play in Kingston next Wednesday night. Peterboro had a pretty easy thing of it with Frontenac, defeating them 11 to 5, quite a big lead to pull down.

The Brockville Recorder speaking about the Queen's Brockville match says—"Though the score is one sided, those who witnessed the game say it was very fast and some elegant play was shown on both sides. The St. Lawrence were handicapped by the extremely poor light which made it impossible to see the puck at all when in the air. Once Queen's corner point scored with a long lift, simply because the puck was as invisible as it had been in the bush somewhere. The Kingston rink is nearly square and the girders at points are very low. Many times Black, who is celebrated for his long lifts, sent the puck against one of these girders and it came to the ice, where once a rink like Brockville it would have landed on the opponents' goals. Black was too ill, and George and Connell were nursing wounds received in Tuesday night's practice. Altogether the boys were not in the best shape, though they all freely admit that Queen's team is a daisy."

The Grippe Epidemic

The grippe or whatever kind of epidemic it may be seems to be gaining ground in town, as many of the prominent members of the various societies and organizations are laid up and the number is increasing. Several of our employees are victims of the epidemic and for that reason we are not able to handle to usual quantity of local news. Our readers will therefore understand the reason, should reports of meetings be somewhat curtailed. The epidemic is very weakening in its nature and in many instances develops into congestion of the lungs.

MURRAY ST. BAPTISTS

An Interesting Entertainment Announced

Last night a most enjoyable entertainment was held by the Murray St. Baptist Sunday School. A musical cantata was given in a charming manner by the pupils of the school. A number of recitations were also given by pupils who showed careful training. Great credit is due to Miss Agger, organist and Mr. and Mrs. Martin for the success of the entertainment. Superintendent, Geo. Mathews, performed the duties of chairman. Previous to the program an enjoyable tea was served.

Monday evening the Young People's Union will have an open meeting. The program will be of a literary nature. "Hymns, their history and authors." Rev. Mr. Bastow is expected to take charge of this congregation the first Sunday in February.

As to Women's Names

There are styles in which a woman's name just as there are styles in everything else, and if they have changed less frequently than have the fashions in dress, carpets and wall papers, they have changed no less surely. In times past women not infrequently subscribed themselves by using the initials, one or more, as the case may have been, of their Christian name; but since women have entered so extensively into the professions and employments, and have become accustomed to handling business correspondence and signing checks, M. Smith and E. J. Jones are rapidly giving way to Mary Smith or Elizabeth Jamison Jones.

Changes in the character of the names themselves are no less observable and equally interesting. There seems to be a reaction from lazier names such as Gladys, Beatrice, Lenny, to the Mary, Margaret, Elizabeth and Katharine of our grandmothers' time. Even the once much despised Sarah, now silent without the "h," has become fashionable. Nor are diminutives as popular as they once were. In this direction the influence of higher schools and colleges for girls has been exerted to excellent purpose. The Kates, Lixies, Bessies, Sadies, Nellies, Annes and Sallies have been banished from the college catalogues, the names appearing in their original form. Neat, rare, pure names and perversions in good taste. One cannot imagine a girl graduating from Bryn Mawr College and subscribing herself Maymie or Maybelle, and the Normal school girls who some years ago, were perfectly willing to have Lovie and Birdie appear in the ornamental text upon their teacher's certificate, hardly have their duplicates in the school to-day. These changes in girls' and women's names may be unimportant, but they tend to show that in the smaller things as well as in dress, in education and in work the changes have been accomplished largely the influence of common sense.

THE DOUKHOBORS

ARRIVE AT WINNIPEG

WINNIPEGERS RECEIVE THEM WITH OPEN ARMS.

One of the Children Taken Ill Near Sudbury—History of the Journey from the Sea to the Northwest.

Winnipeg, Jan. 30.—During the re-Spanish-American war the United States press commented the troops while on the way to the front. To provide for a large body of people while in transit any distance was a difficult matter, but the Dominion Government officials have, in looking after immigrants to the West, adopted a system which has proven to be economical and in every way satisfactory, and is all the more commendable when it is known that it is applied to the transportation of large numbers of foreigners speaking their own tongue and having no idea what discipline means. Of course in the matter of discipline the Doukhobors, from their conduct on the ocean voyage, showed that they knew the value of having some one to direct them. As a result they made the work of the Government officials comparatively easy as compared with other foreigners who have taken up land in the West and who were carried across the continent. The plan adopted by the government places two men in charge of each train to look after the department's interests. These men are all good linguists, several of them speaking two or three different languages. One man is placed in charge of the supply car, and he is assisted by his companion when the provisions are being distributed at other times he goes through the train enquiring as to the wants of the passengers and

A GREAT AND NOBLE WORK

THE CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY'S ANNUAL MEETING.

A Graphic and Pictorial Report Read by Miss Clark—Secretary of Officers—Synopsis of Address.

The Children's Aid Society met in the Council Chamber yesterday afternoon. President McBain in the chair. A large number of the members were present. President McBain called the meeting to order after which the minutes of the last meeting were read. On motion of Mr. Burnham, seconded by Dr. Burnham, they were adopted. Miss Clark the able and earnest secretary of the society then read three reports. Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen: In attempting to convey to you some slight idea of what has been accomplished by the C. A. Society during the past year in Peterborough I may meet with this initial difficulty—the difficulty of myself estimating correctly the scope and efficiency of the work while my thoughts are fully occupied with its numerous and engrossing details. But certain facts are before us and will necessarily of a time engage our attention. The Society has in all dealt with 80 cases this year of which 41 were cases of juvenile offenders up before our police courts mainly for petty stealing and truancy—not a very creditable showing for Peterboro, but one which we hope may improve another year. For 19 children, foster homes have been obtained, many of which have proved eminently satisfactory. Two children were returned and placed out again. Eleven warnings were sent to parents, producing good results in the majority of cases. Frequently mothers bring with pride their adopted children to show the improvement that has taken place in them. "He is no longer the same child," says Mrs. Clarke's agent woman said to me the other day. "We don't know what we would do without him now." And of a little girl that was transferred to a comfortable home, a short time ago, the foster mother said: "She is a wonderful young one, and the very light of her mother's eyes," we take her to church and Sunday School now. The last child that was adopted was a boy named William, the handsomest and prettiest looking boy I have ever seen brought for her. There have been 31 children received into the shelter and other homes of the society. One child was received back once, 2 children were received back twice. Three women during the year found a home at the shelter. Over 200 visits have been made by the society's workers, each with the society and by the society's officers. 300 pairs of shoes have been distributed, 38 pairs of coats and trousers, between fifty and sixty dresses have been given away, and a very large quantity of underclothing and bedding. SEWING CLASSES. Another branch of work undertaken this year was the Tuesday and Friday sewing classes. Since the early fall these classes have met and for most of the time have been very popular. As the majority of the girls attending them, were very ignorant, many of them not able to tack two pieces of cloth together, they were induced to work very carefully, by the reward of having as their own whatever articles of clothing they succeeded in making properly. The girls worked very diligently. They gathered making up their own work with a zeal that was not all abstract love of labor. Their pride in their finished garments was due partly to the ownership but mainly I think to the fact that they themselves had made them. They spent together there a great many happy evenings, not only learning to sew but indirectly being helped towards useful and respectable employment in the future. Dr. Burnham is a profitable occupation, as it is difficult for seamstresses to find girls, who can sew well enough to become good apprentices. One very delightful feature of this work was that the teaching has been done mainly by young ladies. In a warm-hearted way and with real love for their less fortunate sisters the desire to benefit being the inspiring motive. They came to new and to-night night after night Tuesday and Friday evenings have this winter been peculiarly interesting. What personal sacrifice they made, only they know, who were intimately associated with them. A sacrifice often of comfort of pleasure, of all that gratifies self and that in a work that is peculiarly discouraging for to unstable minds that have no great desire to learn the lessons of economy, industry and common morality requires a great deal of faith and patience, and unselfish persistence. While rescue work is an interesting, it is also an intricate problem. And here I would say to those who criticize our methods while they themselves rest at ease in Zion that surely any honest effort to better the existing state of things is to be preferred to continued idleness and careless indifference. Among thoughtful and intelligent persons, there is a widespread feeling of opinion as to the best methods of work. Indeed, radically different notions are often held on the subject but all are agreed that a reform can be effected that it interest be taken in young girls whose tendencies are lawless and whose propensities are evil. In the very construction of their minds change and the whole current

BRITAIN'S COMMERCE

SIR R. GRIFFEN'S VIEWS ON COMMERCE.

Many Items which are Exports do not Appear in the Returns—His Explanation of the Decrease.

London, Jan. 30.—Amid the general outcry that is being raised as to the decline of English commerce, it is comforting to note that such an authority as Sir Robert Griffen holds that the decline is apparent, but not real, and offers no cause for alarm. In a paper read before the Royal Statistical Society he set himself the task of explaining the apparent decline in British exports and the phenomenal volume of imports over exports. The general tendency of his arguments was reassuring. It will be remembered that the recent trade returns showed that the exports for 1898 were $1,165,000,000, the imports $2,500,000,000, and the latter revealed the phenomenal increase of $93,575,000 on the imports of 1897. Sir Robert Griffen's conclusion is that a great excess of imports over exports is a normal feature in the case of England and many other European countries. It is to be accounted for by the fact that many items which are really part of our export trade do not appear in the returns. Among these are: 1. Ships exported. 2. Business done by our shipping in carrying British goods and foreign goods—which Sir Robert Griffen considers really exports. 3. Commodities as the monetary centre of the world. 4. Interest and profits on capital invested abroad. ANOTHER VIEW. Though difficult to attribute to any one of these four causes, or to a combination of them, the increase of $93,575,000, in imports in a single year, these causes must unquestionably be considered, and taken into account. There is still room to think, however, that British merchants lack push and energy. Dr. Robert Douglas, in an address on the future of British trade in China, noted that English merchants unlike Germans, do not take the trouble to learn Chinese, and that they make no effort to suit the taste of Chinese purchasers, with the inevitable result that their business has not "maintained a development proportionate to that secured by other countries. Sir Robert Griffen suggests that such complaints as these made by Dr. Douglas, and by British Consuls in a recent blue book, are due to the fact that, "as our trade cannot develop equally in all directions, our merchants and manufacturers have let slip the trade in certain directions where they could not maintain the rate of wages and profit."

with Tolstoi, the son of the famous writer, who was in charge of the Lake Superior contingent. His arrangements were far inferior to those of the Lake Huron, and he is said to lack executive ability and the qualities of a leader. In addition to the death of the child from smallpox, two others occurred in the course of the voyage. One from smallpox and the other from heart failure.

VACCINATING DOUKHOBORS.

Halifax, N.S., Jan. 28.—It is reported from Lawlor's Island to-day that five of the Doukhobors on the Lake Superior show signs of illness since yesterday, but the health officers cannot determine yet what is the matter with them. Last night Dr. Montisambert chief of the health staff, said he did not anticipate any more smallpox in this lot of Doukhobors. The immigrants are still on board the Lake Superior where they are being vaccinated to-day. They are not to be landed at Lawlor's Island until to-morrow, when the buildings will be all ready to receive them and will be sufficient to accommodate the entire 1,975 now on the steamer.

LEARN ENGLISH

"SISTER" MARIA CONSTANTINOVA SATZ TEACHES THEM.

The Clearest and Most Intelligent Class of Emigrants ever seen in the Export Board Room.

North Bay, Jan. 27.—On board the first train containing Doukhobors, which was the second to leave, St. John, N.B., and the first to reach Ottawa, there were 86 children over five years of age, and 36 under five years, which number with adults made a passenger list of 416. On this train was Maria Constantinova Satz, the young lady graduated from a medical college in St. Petersburg. She looked after all those who took sick and gave special attention to the little ones. Through Interpreter Jacob Walitz, Miss Satz said she was anxious to learn the English language. She brought out her "Dictionary," and asked numerous questions regarding the construction of sentences and the pronunciation of words. She is a bright little woman, medium size, with intelligent face, and sparkling black eyes. Her jet black hair is brushed back from the forehead, and the tresses are caught up in a loop, tied with ribbon. Her garments are of the same style as those worn in this country, and travelling with people whose costume is so odd she naturally attracts a great deal of attention. When not engaged in attending to the sick she gathers around her a number of immigrants teaching them what she has already picked up of the English language. Considering the short time she has been engaged in this difficult task, Miss Satz has made satisfactory progress, and her quickness in catching words in pronunciation is encouraging to the persons from whom she seeks the instruction. She was the central figure of Mr. Akers' train, and was addressed by old and young as "Sister."

Before leaving Ottawa, the supply car was loaded with what was expected would last till Winnipeg was reached. There never was a shortage of bread, milk, sugar, or tea, and it was distributed still evenly. It was satisfied. Three times a day the meals were served, and no one was given a chance to go hungry. The party was as happy as if going on an excursion trip, and the children after the first day, were as lively as crickets.

No one should be in a better position to express an opinion on these emigrants, regarding their habits, than the railway employees. They have carried all kinds of immigrants, and their experiences have not induced them to take kindly to emigrant work. In fact, there are railway employees who will refuse a call on such trains. But the impressions obtained by many have undergone a complete change by the transportation of the Doukhobors. At divisional points a new crew would come on, and there would be many inquiries made as to what the passengers were like.

"They are all right," would be the reply. "The cleanest and most intelligent class of emigrants that I have ever seen." Time and again was this remark heard on the trip up, and officials walked through the train as contentedly as if on a regular run. The run from Ottawa to North Bay was made in good time. The weather was cold, but the cars were well heated, and the tempo kept even.

From the manner in which they have been received at the various stopping places, the Doukhobors are the most welcome class of people that ever passed through Canada.

A GLOOMY ARRIVAL.

The contrast between the latest arrivals and the Lake Huron's passengers was very marked. The former reached Halifax on a lovely day, cheered by thousands and singing psalms of praise for their safe arrival in the land of their adoption. When the Lake Superior came in a bitterly cold wind was blowing and the immigrants were under the depressing influence which prevails a vessel when a deadly disease may at any hour strike the strongest and healthiest. There was no one to greet them except the quarantine officers, no shouts of welcome, and no Prince Hillcott to act as a medium between them and the people of the new country.

The vessel was taken round to Lawlor's Island and moored at the quarantine wharf, and all communication with her was forbidden. The following details of the trip were however gathered: The Lake Superior left Batoum on January 4th, so that she made much better time than the Lake Huron. She had fair weather throughout the entire voyage, but worse than storm was the breaking out of a case of smallpox on the fourth day out. The victim was a child of eight years of age. It was at once isolated and as far as possible those who had been about it were quarantined. No other case occurred, but one of the official staff of physicians says that it will surprise him if a great many of the arrivals do not develop symptoms in a few days. The fact that the disease showed itself fourteen days out from land raises the question whether it might not have been contracted from infected clothing or another person, and the passengers may have been coming into contact with the infection during the entire voyage.

At any rate the quarantine officers here will take it for granted that every man, woman, and child aboard is infected, and will keep them in quarantine during the full period required by the law. The quarantine of Lawlor's Island can only accommodate 1,400 at most, and as the Doukhobors number 1,974, and the crew of the vessel brings the number of those isolated to over 2,000, about 600 will be left on board the steamer.

Additional buildings of a temporary kind will be erected, if workmen can be got to do it, which is doubtful, as those who were employed when the immigrants arrived threw up the job as soon as they were told of the smallpox. There is also a lack of proper disinfecting apparatus, that at the island being very primitive, and on account of this there will be much delay, a month at least before the immigrants can be set on the way to their western homes. There is considerable dissatisfaction with Tolstoi, the son of the famous writer, who was in charge of the Lake Superior contingent. His arrangements were far inferior to those of the Lake Huron, and he is said to lack executive ability and the qualities of a leader. In addition to the death of the child from smallpox, two others occurred in the course of the voyage. One from smallpox and the other from heart failure.

SERVICES IN DIFFERENT CHURCHES

SEVERAL STRANGERS CONDUCT SERVICES IN CHURCHES.

Two Lawyers in the English Church—Rev. Thompson, of St. Andrew's, Rev. A. B. Crofton, of St. Paul's—Prof. Farmer, Murray St. Baptist.

Addresses were given in St. John's and All Saints' churches yesterday by two prominent lawyers from Toronto. In the morning Mr. Frank G. Hodgins spoke at St. John's while at the same time, Mr. D. W. Saunders spoke in All Saints. In the evening the two gentlemen exchanged places. Both gentlemen spoke on the same subject, viz., "Dissension in the Church." This subject has been taken hold of by the laymen of the English Church and an earnest effort is being made by them to spread information and calm the active interests of all those concerned with the English Church. The two gentlemen, who spoke in this work yesterday, are both prominent men in their calling and were listened to with much interest by those present. A review of the work already done was given and a statement of the amount spent on the work last year made. The requirements necessary for the still further carrying on of the work were clearly set forth and an earnest appeal made for interest to be taken and help given in the work.

MURRAY STREET BAPTISTS.
Prof. J. H. Farmer, occupier of the pulpit of the Murray street Baptist church, morning and evening, yesterday. In the evening, he preached from the text, "Thou art not far from the Kingdom of God," Mark 12: 32. In an impressive manner, the Rev. gentleman pointed out the danger of being near the Kingdom of God and yet, lost. A man might know about God, might have read his bible and know it by heart, might know and even teach the word of God, but unless he was guided thereby he would be eternally lost. The sermon was brought to a close by an unassuming appeal to all to take heed to their ways and settle once and for all the great question of whether they were on the Lord's side or not.

GEORGE ST. METHODIST CHURCH.
Owing to the Rev. Mr. Shorey being absent in Chicago, the morning services were taken by the Rev. Mr. Kilgour. In the evening, the Rev. Mr. Crofton of the Charlotte street church, preached, taking for his text, the 3rd and 4th verses of the 8th Psalm. "When I consider the work of thy hand, the work of thy fingers the moon and the stars, which Thou hast ordained, what is man that Thou art mindful of him." Mr. Crofton was listened to with marked attention, as he enlarged upon his subject. Several touching stories were told by Mr. Crofton, which illustrated his text. Mr. McNigan favored the audience with a solo sung in an artistic manner.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.
Rev. J. G. Potter was still unable to take charge of his pulpit yesterday and in the morning services were conducted by Rev. Thompson of Hastings and in the evening by the Rev. Mr. Robertson, of Morrisburg. In the morning, the Rev. Mr. Thompson preached on the text, "Where with all shall a man add one cubit to his stature." The service proved an interesting one and Mr. Thompson received marked attention. A feature of the morning service was the singing of a solo entitled "Where's Heaven?" in an effective manner by Miss Falconer.

UNFADING COTTON DYES

Special F. & S. Diamond Dye for Cotton that Will not Wash Out. In So. you a.

It is absolutely impossible to get a fast and satisfactory color on cotton from the usual dyes as are used for woolen goods, and for that reason Diamond Dyes have a specially prepared line of fast colors for cotton that will give perfect satisfaction. If you want to color cotton and mixed goods be sure to get the fast Diamond Dyes for cotton, as they will give colors that will not fade even by washing in strong soapwater or exposure to sunlight. If any dealer tries to sell you the same dye to color cotton as he would sell you for coloring wool do not accept it, as such dyes are unreliable, and in the majority of cases will ruin the material on which they are used. There are some fifty different kinds of Diamond Dyes, so that you can get any color that you wish. By using them in different strengths any desired shade can be made, and all the fashionable colors are readily gotten with these dyes.

To get a fast, rich, full black, use one of the Diamond Dye Fast Blacks. There are three different kinds, for wool, for cotton and mixed goods, and for silk and feathers. The color is rich, full black that cannot be distinguished from new goods.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

The report of Factory Inspector O'Leary of New York State, brings the somewhat surprising fact that more children of school age are employed by merchants, barbers and in offices than in factories. This condition is due, not to the lack of a law to prevent it, but to the lack of enforcement of existing law. Here is proof of the statement made by Gov. Roosevelt in his message that what labor needed was not so much legislation as better enforcement of the laws that are at present on the statute books.

Yankee enterprise has even outdone by the captain of the British barque Austria, who ballasted his vessel with stones from the old Egyptian fortifications in Cairo which were destroyed by Dewey's fleet, and sailed to Boston, where he has sold the stones to a syndicate who will use them in the construction of a memorial of the event. This is a wooden autumn and a wooden house.

St. Catherine is about to repeal its curfew bell by-law. It has proven a dead letter there, as it has everywhere else where it has been tried. Grandmotherly legislation finds little favor among educated people who understand human nature.

The English language needs revision. It is often said of men that they "not words a row of pins" when pins have heads that prevent their going too far, besides having good points on other ways.

MOLLY BAWN

BY THE DUCHESS.

She talks straight through lunch to any one and every one without partiality; and afterward no one can remember what it was she was so eloquent about.

"Indecent not come," she says presently, catching Maria's eye. "I quite thought he was here. What a dreadful boy he was! I do hope he is not changed. If India has altered him, it will be quite all right."

"He may come yet," replies Maria; "though I don't think it unlikely. When writing he said to-day, or to-morrow, he is fond of putting off; his second thoughts are always his best."

"Always," thinks Molly, angrily, "for a sudden a beam of pure disappointment. What a dreadful fellow he was! After all he said on parting, he must, he will come to-day. Yet somehow, just of this comforting conclusion, her spirit sank, her smile became less ready, her cheeks grew more flushed. Something within came to her to believe that not until the morning, when she saw her lover, would they leave the dining-room and escape away unnoticed, and, doing so, her head, miles forth alone into the pleasant world that surrounded the house."

But a mile or two she walks straight on, overlooking beneath her feet with a certain sense of violence, joyment these early leaves that already have reached death. How very noticeable all through is a big wood! rose, grass, sky overhead! Sky, grass, rose!

She tells a few late wild flowers that smile up at her coaxingly, and turn their round and round within her fingers, not altogether tenderly. What a fine poets and painters and such like oaks about flowers, wild roses especially! When all is said there is a terrible sadness about them; the same little pink ones here, the same little blue ones there; here the inevitable pale yellow, there the pure warm violet. Well no doubt there is certainly a wonderful a wonderful variety—but still—

Looking up suddenly from her fresh criticism, she sees coming quickly towards her—very close to her—Teddy Luttrell.

With a glad little cry, she flings the ill-treated flowers from her hand and runs to him with hands outstretched. "You have come," she cries, "after all I know you would, although she said you wouldn't. Oh, Teddy, I had quite given you up."

Luttrell takes no notice of this contradictory speech. With his arms around her, he is too full of the intense happiness of meeting after separation to be able to heed mere words. His eyes are fastened on her perfect face.

How more than fair she is! how in his absence he has misjudged her beauty; or is it that she grows in excellence day by day? Not in all his lover's silent raptures had he imagined her half as lovely as she now appears standing before him, her hands clasped in his, her face flushed with unmistakable joy at seeing him again.

"Darling, darling," he says, with such earnest delight in his tones that she returns a smile of many kisses, out of sheer sympathy. For though glad as she is to welcome him as a sure ally at her side, she hardly feels the same longing for the embrace that he with his heart full of her alone naturally does.

"You look as if you were going to tell me I have grown tall," she says, amused at his prolonged examination of her features. "John always does when he returns from London, with the wild hope of keeping me down."

"How can I tell? I have not taken my eyes from your face yet."

"Silly boy, and I have seen all the improvements in you long ago. I have also seen that you are wearing an entirely new suit of clothes. Such reckless extravagance! but they are very becoming, and I am fond of light gray, so you are forgiven. Why did you not come sooner? I have been longing for you. Oh, Teddy, I don't like Maria or Giuseppe a bit; and Philip has been absent nearly all the time; and you said you would come early."

"So I did, by the earliest train; you could hardly have left the house when I arrived, and then I started instantly to find you. My own dear darling," with a sigh of content, how good it is to see you again, and how well you are looking!"

"Am I laughing? So are you, dearest," he says, "and you are full of particles of feeling, or you would be so associated by this time. Now confess you did not miss me at all."

"Where I to speak forever I could not tell you how much. Are you not the very eyes of me? 'Tears the young man, fondly."

"That is a very nonsensical quotation," says Molly, gayly. "Were you to see with my eyes, just consider how different everything would appear. Now, for instance, I would have no forgotten myself as to fall so idly and ridiculously in love, as you did, with beautiful Molly Mamerone!"

At this little touch of impudence they both laugh merrily. After which with some hesitation, and a rather heightened color, Tedcastle draws a case from his pocket and presents it to her.

"I brought you a present," he says, "because I know you are fond of pretty things."

As she opens the case and sees within it, lying on its purple velvet bed, a large, dull-gold locket, with a wreath of raised forget-me-nots in turquoise and enamel on one side, she forms her lips into a round "Oh!" of admiration and delight more satisfactory than any words.

"Do you like it? I am so glad I saw it one day quite accidentally, in a window, and at once it reminded me of you. I thought it would exactly suit you. Do you remember that night down by the river-side, after our first important quarrel, when I asked you to marry me?"

"I remember," softly. "You had forget-me-nots in your hands then, and in your dress. I can never forget you as you looked at that moment, and those flowers will always be associated with you in my mind. Surely they are the prettiest I ever saw."

"How fond you are of me!" she says, wistfully, something like moisture in her eyes; and "turning her gaze again upon his gift, you are all thinking how there is only one thing wanting to make this look perfect—raising her liquid eyes to his again, and that is your face inside it."

At which words, you may be sure, Tedcastle is repaid over and over again all the thought and care he has expended on the choosing of the trinket.

"And so you are not in love with Maria?" he says presently, as they move on through the sunset wood, his arm around her.

"With Maria? No, I have no fault to find with Maria; the place is beautiful. But I confess I do not care about my grandfather or Maria; of the two I prefer my grandfather, but that is saying very nice to Giuseppe, more than kind."

"Maria! (What does Maria say to that?)" To be continued.

A Prominent Physician.
A prominent New York physician in discussing the merits of Ripans Tablets with a brother M.D. said: "Several years ago I ascertained that if one wished to become a physician, there was a certain remedy which would help the whole human race—nothing could be better than it. I procured the Ripans Tablets, which is the basis of all the great medicines, and used it to put up in the form of a bottle and distributed among the poor."

The largest retail drug store in America is that of Huggins & Co. on Broadway in New York City. A reporter who went there to learn how Ripans Tablets were selling found a five-cent carton and asked: "Do you have much call for these?"

He was referred to a gentleman who proved to be the head of the department. He said:

"The sale of Ripans Tablets is constant and is increasing, due especially to the influential character of the testimonials in the daily press, and growing out of them, through the recommendation of friends to friends. Satisfaction with them is very general. When one says they began to notice that a permanent customer for them is made. This, I believe, is through their intimate knowledge of the human body, and the special usefulness in the general run of stomach troubles."

A new discovery has been made in the treatment of stomach troubles. It is a simple, safe, and effective remedy, and is the only one of its kind. It is the only one of its kind.

An Elderly Lady.
An elderly lady living at Parkside Heights, a part of New York City, and who was known to be a warm advocate of Ripans Tablets for any case of liver trouble or indigestion, said to a reporter who visited her for the purpose of learning the particulars of her case: "I have always employed a physician and did so on the last occasion I had for one, but at that time obtained no beneficial results. I had never had any faith in patent medicines, but having seen Ripans Tablets recommended very highly in the New York Herald, I decided to give them a trial, and found they were just what I needed. I have never employed a physician since, and that means a saving of $5 a call. A dollar's worth of Ripans Tablets lasts me a month, and I would not be without them now if I were my last dollar." At the time of this interview there were two doctors (two doctors) who were equally objected to their mother giving a testimonial which should prove her name in the newspaper, but to do this the elderly lady agreed: "There may be other cases just like mine, and I can say I take great pleasure in recommending the Tablets to any one afflicted as I was. If the telling about my case in the paper enables some other person similarly afflicted to be as greatly benefited as I have been, I am satisfied." The daughter, knowing how completely the Tablets about the health she had received, decided she was quite right.

BRITAIN'S COMMERCE

SIR R. GRIFFEN'S VIEWS ON COMMERCE.

Many items which are exports do not appear in the Returns—His Explanation of the Sources.

London, Jan. 26.—Amid the general outcry that is being raised as to the decline of English commerce, it is comforting to note that such an authority as Sir Robert Griffen holds that the decline is apparent, but not real, and offers no cause for alarm. In a paper read before the Royal Statistical Society, he set himself the task of explaining the apparent decline in British exports and the phenomenal excess of imports over exports. The general tendency of his arguments was reassuring. It will be remembered that the recent trade returns showed that the exports for 1898 were $1,165,000,000, and the imports $2,330,000,000, and the latter revealed the phenomenal increase of $95,575,000 on the imports of 1897.

Sir Robert Griffen's conclusion is that a great excess of imports over exports is a normal feature in the case of England and many other European countries. It is to be accounted for by the fact that many items which are really part of our export trade do not appear in the returns. Among these are:

1. Ships exported.
2. Business done by our shipping in carrying British goods and foreign goods—which Sir Robert Griffen considers really export.

3. Commission as the monetary centre of the world.
4. Interest and profits on capital invested abroad.

Another view.

Though difficult to attribute to any one of these four causes, a rough allocation of the increase of $95,575,000, in imports in a single year, these causes must unquestionably be considered and taken into account. There is still room to think, however, that British merchandise has been and is being sold in the United States and other foreign countries. In an address on the future of British trade in China, noted that English merchandise is being sold in the United States and other foreign countries. In an address on the future of British trade in China, noted that English merchandise is being sold in the United States and other foreign countries.

THE WHITECHAPL MURDER.

London, Jan. 26.—An Anglican clergyman in the north of England has written to the Daily Mail, refusing to give his name for publication, but stating that he is fully aware of the identity of the person responsible for the "Jack the Ripper" murder in London, England, ten years ago. He says: "I received information in professional confidence with directions to publish the fact after ten years, and then with such alterations as might defeat identification. The murder was a man of good position and otherwise unblemished character, who suffered from epileptic mania, and is long since deceased. I must ask you to give my name, as it might lead to identification, and the identification of the perpetrator of the crime. The newspaper sent a representative to interview the man, who stated that the murderer died shortly after committing the last murder. He was at one time engaged in rescue work among the depraved women of the East End—eventually his victims, and was once a surgeon. He says this he would tell nothing."

The rapidly with which the size of ocean-going ships has been increased in recent years is one of the most noteworthy mechanical developments of the decade. The launching at Belfast Saturday of the new steamer, the Oceanic, marks another stage of the growth in this direction. The Oceanic is a monster liner which most of the world's battlefleets would seem mere pygmies. She is 704 feet in length, whereas the Great Eastern was only 696 feet long and the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse only 645 feet. The Great Eastern was greater of beam, her hull was 14 feet deeper and her tonnage was 22,500, against the Oceanic's 17,000. But the difference in the lines is essential in gaining speed, and when it comes to a question of engine power, the Oceanic has 45,000 horse power, whereas the power of the Great Eastern was 17,000.

Future innovations in ship-building, especially on the way of increasing the size of vessels, must date from the launching of this service of the sea. New records for size have been made and broken constantly within the last 15 years. The Great Eastern was declared to be a failure for practical purposes of commerce, and the tendency was to build small ships. When the modern liners were first built a length of 400 feet was deemed extraordinary. The shipbuilders, however, have gone on undaunted, until seven years ago the Lusitania and the Campania were constructed, with a length of 630 feet. It was supposed then that the largest practicable size had been found, but the speedy construction of the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse and the Oceanic has dispelled that illusion.

Should it turn out that the Oceanic with its immense capacity, can be run at a fairly good rate of speed without too large an expenditure of coal it is not even certain that this immense vessel will be left long without a rival. Her success may tempt builders to plan still greater monsters to carry the world's commerce. The limit of size will not be reached until the greatest capacity consistent with a high speed and a reasonable cost has been secured.

HERE IS AGE FOR YOU

REMARKABLE COLLECTION OF STONE IMPLEMENTS FROM AFRICA.

Over 100,000 Years Old—Found in a Spot which May Have Been the Garden of Eden—Great collection and Archaeological Museum.

Party can get a look down upon the real thing, as he marveled in his mind to battle under the shadow of the Pyramids. The Pyramids were not built yesterday, but in the light of recent archaeological discoveries they must be regarded as very recent works of art.

Visitors at the British Museum may examine a collection of stone implements at a remarkably perfect state of preservation, to which the most expert archaeologists of today ascribe an age of not less than from one hundred thousand to two hundred thousand years. It is the most recent acquisition to the museum and is a part of a collection made last year in the deserts of Somaliland by Mr. H. W. Sexton-Harr, a well-known English archaeologist and game hunter. It was the first expedition in 1885, of the Mount-Saint-Elie range, in North America. Mr. Sexton-Harr has confined his explorations and hunting expeditions to Southwestern Asia and Eastern Africa, and has amassed a large and very valuable collection of prehistoric remains. These years ago he made a thorough study of the paleolithic collections in England, notably that of Sir John Evans of the Royal Society, and with that savant gave a great deal of time to preliminary research.

On account of the rich finds in the upper Nile Valley by Professor Flinders Petrie, the eminent Egyptologist, Mr. Sexton-Harr was led to believe that diligent exploration in the regions farther to the south and east would be productive of great additions to the scientific knowledge of prehistoric man. Accordingly, early last year he started in to make a general survey of the Eastern African deserts. At first he was rewarded by the discovery of a large number of flint flints in the vicinity of Thebes, and from the conditions and localities in which they were found, he explored felt certain that they had a historic connection with the comparatively modern temples and pyramids of Egypt. Encouraged by this success, he pressed further into the desert, in the hope of finding authentic traces of the lost flint mines, which he believed had existed in that region.

He devoted his journeys into the land of the Bedouins, and by constant intercourse with the nomads, endeavoring to learn from them the whereabouts of any flint mines which gave promise of satisfying his quest. After hundreds of miles of fruitless wanderings over a vast waste and tedious country, he was rewarded by the discovery of some little discovery, of no inconsiderable value in itself, but sufficient to keep alive the hope that he was on the right track. Finally, in November last year, in the hidden cliff plateau of the Wady Sheik, accompanied by his caravan of Bedouins and camels, he discovered a mine of flint, which he believed to be of vast extent, stretching for twenty miles or more across the desert, and was unmistakable evidence of abandoned mines of great antiquity were found. Each of the mines was characterized by its own special type of implements, which experts have since agreed to divide into three distinct groups and were previously unknown to science.

Scattered all over the region were found stone weapons, spear heads, flint knives, sickle-shaped knives and hundreds of stone tools, resembling a policeman's baton, with which the other articles were of the same shape. Many of the flint implements were found in a fine state of preservation. On the long, low hills of Central Somaliland great numbers of the same tools were discovered, some having been used for concealment, but now they are raised on a high pyramid of solidified gravel. They appear not to have been subjected to any fire action, as the flint found in the valley of the Nile and its branches. Many of the best of the specimens Mr. Sexton-Harr loaded on to the pack camels, and after thoroughly securing the country for a great distance, returned to the shore of the Red Sea and sailed with his treasures for England. Along with a diligent search had been made for lost flint mines, which might assist in establishing with a greater degree of certainty the antiquity of the flint implements, yet Mr. Sexton-Harr believes he has found the only paleolithic site ever discovered.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Some of the Various Ways in Which Newspapers Print Them.

Of all the things that appear in the regular and ordinary "make-up" of a newspaper, birth notices are perhaps the most amusing. They find their way into both metropolitan and country newspapers. The latter especially seem to have them. The cross roads, however, often have such occurrences important items, before the frequent appearance in The Pine Hill Epistle. Some papers have particular columns or spaces devoted to birth, marriage and death notices. Others record the same events under the title "Cradle," "Aunt" and "Tomb," while a third class use three words in the headline, "Villa," "Villa" and "Villa." The following are a few notices clipped at random from papers all over the United States and Canada, says The Chicago Times-Herald. Some are to the point, while others convey more information than is necessary: McDonald—May 23, 1896, a daughter to Daniel and Emma L. Albert Definite is a page. A Prominent Physician.

A prominent New York Physician in discussing the merits of RIPANS Tablets with a brother M.D. said: "Several years ago I asserted that if one wished to become a philanthropist, and do a beneficent deed, and that would help the whole human race—nothing could be better than to procure the Ripans Tablets, which is the basis of the Ripans Tablets, and cause it to be put up in the form of a hotchpot and distributed among the poor."

Dr. Ripans.

The largest retail drug store in America is that of Hogman & Co. on Broadway in New York City. A reporter who went there to learn how Ripans Tablets were selling bought a five-cent carton and asked: "Do you have much call for these?" He was referred to a gentleman who proved to be the head of the department. He said: "The sale of Ripans Tablets is constant and is increasing, due especially to the industrial character of the testimonials in the daily press, and growing out of them, through the recommendation of friends to friends. Satisfaction with them is very general. When once they are begun I notice that a permanent customer for them is made. This, I believe, is through their industrial merit, which proves the bona fide character of the advertising. I think them especially useful in the general run of stomach troubles."

Dr. Ripans.

An elderly lady living in Portland Heights, a part of New York City, and who was known to be a warm advocate of Ripans Tablets for any case of liver trouble or indigestion, said to a reporter who visited her for the purpose of learning the particulars of her case: "I had always employed a physician and did so on the last occasion I had for one, but at that time obtained no beneficial results. I had never had any faith in patent medicines, but having seen Ripans Tablets recommended very highly in the New York Herald, I concluded to give them a trial, and found they were just what my case demanded. I have never employed a physician since, and that means a saving of $3 a call. A dollar's worth of Ripans Tablets lasts me a month, and I would not be without them now if it were my last dollar." At the time of this interview there were present two daughters who specially objected to their mother giving a testimonial which should appear in the newspaper, but to do this the elderly lady agreed: "There may be other cases just like mine, and I am sure I take great pleasure in recommending the Tablets to any one afflicted as I was. In the talking about my case in the papers, I have seen other persons similarly affected to be so greatly benefited as I have been, I see no objection." The daughters, knowing how earnestly she felt about the benefit she had received, decided she was quite right.

OPENING DAY OF THE LOCAL LEGISLATURE

SIR OLIVER MOWAT DELIVERS THE SPEECH FROM THE THRONE

The Timber Regulation—Means Must be Provided to Meet the Deficiency in the Cut—Sunday Legislation Also Expected.

Toronto, Feb. 1.—The Provincial Legislature was opened to-day at 3 o'clock by Sir Oliver Mowat in person. The opening ceremonies were of the usual formal kind. The Lieutenant-Governor was received by a guard of honor of the Grenadiers under Capt. Meyers, and entered the Legislative Chamber escorted by Col. Delamere, Col. Bruce, and Col. Conby, of the 40th Highlanders. A crowd of people distinguished in every walk of life had assembled to witness the opening, and the ladies' gallery presented an attractive and beautiful appearance, owing to the many fine and prettily-colored dresses worn to grace the occasion.

The first business was the swearing in of the newly-elected members. The members so sworn in were—Mr. J. T. Garrow, Mr. Wryen, and Mr. Taylor, Messrs. Allen, E. H. Aylesworth, Lougry, and McNish, having previously taken the oath.

The Lieutenant-Governor then read the speech from the throne. The speaker and gentleman of the Legislature assembly.

I have much pleasure in again meeting you as representatives of the province in this assembly.

After the adjournment of the Legislature Assembly in August, 1892, it was found to be necessary that the assembly should be prorogued in order that the bye-elections given to the voters on the 12th day of October, upon the advice of my Ministers, issued my proclamation proroguing the Assembly.

You have doubtless learned with satisfaction that since you last met her Majesty has been pleased to appoint the Earl of Minto, Governor-General of Canada, as successor to the Earl of Aberdeen, on his resignation a few months before his first term of office had expired. I am confident the people of Canada will find in the new Governor-General a constitutional ruler who will represent her Majesty with ability and dignity in all the duties that pertain to his high office.

Lord Aberdeen's departure from Canada was a source of sincere regret to the people of this province. By his deep interest in every matter affecting the prosperity and development of Canada, and by his wise and statesmanlike administration of public affairs, he strengthened the attachment of Canadians to the Empire, and to the principles of constitutional government.

The Countess of Aberdeen, too, specially endeared herself to the Canadians by the interest which she constantly exhibited in their social well-being and in everything which effected the prosperity of Canada.

The decision of the Court of Appeal upon the question submitted to that court under the act of last session, confirming the right of poll constables and others, when otherwise qualified, to vote at provincial elections is doubtless satisfactory to you all.

The legislation of last year, which provided that all pine logs cut on the Crown domain after the termination of the then existing timber license should be sawn in Canada, has been made effective by inserting the manufacturing conditions in all renewals of licenses for the current year. In this connection I am pleased to be able to state that the cut of logs for export by American limit holders for the last license year did not appreciably exceed that of former years. It is anticipated that by reason of the legislation referred to there will be a sensible reduction in the revenue to be derived during the current year from timber sources. It will, therefore, be necessary to make provision by which any probable deficiency in the revenue may be otherwise made up. Measures to that end will be submitted for your consideration.

It will be satisfactory to you to learn that the mining industry of the Province continues to improve, and that it is giving constantly increasing employment to capital and labor. You will be gratified to learn that since your last session the Province has assumed the administration of the Provincial fisheries. A fishery branch has been established, departmental officials have been appointed, and the outside service is being organized. The important rights and interests which are held by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council to be vested in the Province relate to a Provincial asset of which is of great value, which is to be harnessed and preserved as an important source of food supply, and is confidently expected to supply the annual revenue of the province. A bill embodying some needed improvements in the law may be submitted for your consideration and approval.

You will be pleased to know that satisfactory progress has been made in enforcing the provisions of the act to prevent the spread of the San Jose scale, passed a year ago. A further measure upon the same subject will be submitted for your approval.

Experience has shown that the election laws may be further improved, and a bill for that purpose will be submitted to you.

Among the other measures to be submitted for your consideration will be a bill for amending the school laws; a bill to authorize the Parliament of Canada to pass an act confirming the survey of the boundary between the Provinces of Ontario and Manitoba, made by the commissioners appointed for the purpose, and a bill to improve "The Workmen's Compensation for Injuries Act."

Upon application of the Lord's Day Alliance, it has been arranged to submit to the courts certain questions respecting the interpretation of the Lord's day act. Details of the case to be so submitted are still under consideration, and as soon as settled an Order-in-Council will be passed for the submission under the statute.

The public accounts and the reports of the various departments of the public service will be submitted to you. The estimates for the current year have been prepared with a view to economy and efficiency and will, at an early day be laid before you.

I feel assured that you will give your earnest consideration to the subjects which I have mentioned, and to such other matters as may appear to you to be before the public good.

Sir Oliver then left the chamber and the speaker took the chair. The usual formalities were then complied with as regards the contest and by-elections. The clerk first read the judge's returns of the contested elections, and then the writs for the by-elections and half of all the results.

A large number of invited guests were present.

SOME FAMOUS PRISONERS

Living celebrities who have known life behind the bars.

It seems strange to think of those whom the world acknowledges as famous, and whom it even respects, as having been in prison and suffered torture, says an English publication. Probably the most striking case is that of Lord Loch, the late high commissioner of the Cape.

After the Chinese war, in the '60s, he had, while attached to the British embassy there, the misfortune to be captured by a band of infuriated and ignorant Chinese. They were savage at the losses they had suffered, and were ready for any brutal acts of revenge on the hated English. They took Henry Loch—as he then was—and his companions and put them into narrow cages, just like wild beasts in a show and then carried them up and down the country, exhibiting them to the enraged Chinese, who jeered them, mocked them and tortured them in every possible way. Happily for the two unfortunate, British soldiers were not long in coming to the rescue.

The British Parliament contains at least two men who have wasted away under the terrible regime of English prison life, and to whom, at that time, life seemed utterly hopeless and lost. One of them, Michael Davitt, then when there were few ordinary members of Parliament more respected, both inside and outside of the House, served long years of penal servitude from being connected with Fenianism. How much it told on his physical frame no one will ever be able to say; but it must have been inexpressible torture to a man of his susceptibility and high intelligence, and the fact of it is no credit to England.

PETERBOROUGH, FEBRUARY 4, 1899

FOREIGN SUICIDES AT NIAGARA FALLS.

Residents of the Falls have been known to commit suicide by jumping over the falls.

"A person born and bred at Niagara Falls will never commit suicide by jumping into the rapids above the cataract," said an old resident. His remark was caused by the suicide of Spencer J. Lawrence, the young attorney of Niagara county, New York state, who was interested in the affairs of the defuncting County Treasurer Lamont, and who killed himself with prussic acid, "who's a caution fact," went on the old resident, "that you can't get a Falls man to jump over the Falls. There are perhaps a dozen suicides a year of out-of-town folks, who make a trip to this spot for the express purpose, but in the last decade the native suicides have either cut their throats, taken poison, or hanged themselves. Men have come all the way from Europe to commit suicide by jumping over the Falls, but Falls people never found the method popular.

"Suicides come in bunches. The suicidal wave they talk about is based on good sound fact. When some prominent man has jumped over the Falls and the fact is printed widely in the newspapers, look out for two or three more in the next week. Peter Schomm made a trip up from Philadelphia to jump over the Falls. There hadn't been a non-resident suicide for two months. The next week there was one attempt, and the next after that there were two. Schomm started the idea in the minds of other people.

"I used to work on the State Reservation, and I got so I could spot a prussic acid almost every time. The man will come down to Prospect Point and gaze right over the brink for hours. There's a kind of hypnotic effect about that point anyway. No man can watch that great sheet of water tumbling at about a right angle, and see it shoot along so fast, without feeling a little impulse to join it."

"Then you think there are involuntary suicides, suicides unpremeditated, that suggest themselves from watching the water?" asked the listener.

"Not often, but there have been such cases. You can generally tell a man that's thinking about suicide, summing it up. They hug close to the brink, and there's a look on them I have learned to recognize. Women are different, slightly. They'll hang to the benches and come down and look it over every once in a while, and go back and sit down and think it over."

"A suicide of 1892."

"I remember a middle-aged fellow came here in the summer of 1892. I saw he was thinking of suicide the first time I spotted him. I told a man working up by the Goat Island bridge to watch out for him. Well, sir, that came down every morning and afternoon for three days. Now, people don't hang around this place for nothing as long as that, especially this Prospect Park part. They come down here first, then see everything else, and come back to my good-bye by looking over the point. But he struck right there morning and afternoon. I hung around and for an excuse got to pointing up the masonry there. But I kept a keen eye on him. He was struggling with himself all the time. I said to him one time, "People have been known to jump over right here because watching the water so long kind of made one queer." He said, "It's fascinating, isn't it?" His mouth worked strangely, and I knew just what he was thinking of. I ought to have told the superintendent. Cases like that are reported now.

"I saw, and some one must have put the clerk on, the kid was so anxious to find this fellow. I just watched him. I knew the article was right there. I'd give all of it to know what was in that yellow envelope. That fellow opened it, just tore half the envelope off, read it, scowled, then kind of purred to his lips and a red had look came on his face. It wasn't good news, I figured out, but it was news that stopped all ideas of suicide. Seems to me that it was as if he was kind of wavering between suicide and crime, and that telegram turned the scale over to the crime side. That's just my theory, you know."

"He started to walk away and I thought just for a slip I'd talk to him."

"I'm glad you aren't going to jump."

"I said, Well, sir, he looking at me as if he was stung. 'Maybe I'll wish I had,' he said. And I never saw him or heard of him again."

"But there's lots of people come here thinking suicide. Half of them change their minds. Still, when the report spread around that some one has gone over the Falls, I'll just lay you out for it. I'll let me non-resident, and that offer hold good for it is a good safe bet."

A favorite subject of great painters is a mother instructing a daughter in needlework.

giving the early lessons. Mothers naturally want their daughters to be accomplished needlewomen. It helps them along in a social way. But the most important instruction to give a girl is the lesson of womanly health. This instruction should begin early. If a girl hood free from the ailments that usually beset her at this period, she will possess the greatest of all qualifications for social success. Nothing in the world equals good health. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription overcomes irregularities of girls and women. It strengthens the organs that distinguish the sex. It establishes a vigorous constitution, stops the drains and pains, and is of incalculable benefit in case of prostration. For the young girl entering womanhood, for the bride, the wife and mother, for those passing through the "turn of life," it is of untold benefit. It fits the girl to be a wife, and the wife to be a mother. It cures at home all drains, pains, aches and irregularities of women. It is a temperance cure—no alcohol or narcotic in it. Buy it of honest medicine dealers, who will try to substitute something else to make a little more profit.

Mrs. A. P. Crowshaw, of Passaic, N. J., writes: "It is with heart-felt gratitude to you and your kind advice, that I send you word your medicine has done for me. After consulting you about my case I took your 'Favorite Prescription' and was very cured of female weakness. I was all run-down, suffered with sick headache, pains in the back and bearing-down pains. My health is better now than it has been for three years."

For stubborn bowels, lazy liver and biliousness, nothing is as good as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are pleasant in fact as well as name—no gripping.

ARSENAL AT WOOLWICH MAY SOON BE REMOVED

TOWN MUST GIVE UP EITHER ITS PARK OR ITS LIFE

Unless They do so Another Town May Get the Government Works—Other Towns from Ex-Gratia Capital

London, Feb. 4.—There is a suggestion of Dick Turpin about the attitude of the War Office towards Woolwich. The town is told that it must give up either its park or its life for the Arsenal, the place would perish from inanition. The military authorities have their eye on Bostall Woods—a fine stretch of common, admirably adapted for the movements of large bodies of artillery. Naturally, the townspeople are reluctant to witness the ruin of their beautiful possession and hitherto they have been successful in their opposition to military encroachments. This little quarrel is at the bottom of the reports now current of a contemplated removal of the Arsenal to Hull or Newcastle or Middleborough. The people of Woolwich are to be frightened into granting a privilege which the War Office has been unable to extract from them by persuasion. Some of the reports have suggested that the idea of removal was suggested by the vulnerable position of the town in the event of an invasion but this theory is contradicted by General Maurice who commands the Woolwich district. He frankly tells

THE QUARANTINE IS KEPT WITH SHOTGUNS

EXCITEMENT CAUSED BY SMALL- POX IN ARKANSAS

Quarantine Station Closed—No Person from Infected Districts is Allowed to Enter Burdette and Mountain House

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 4.—Governor Jones will to-day send another special message to the Legislature dealing with the smallpox situation. The pest now exists in a dozen counties. In Fulton and Izard counties the disease is epidemic and much excitement prevails in neighboring localities. At Mountain House a strict quarantine is maintained with shotguns, and no one is allowed to enter from either Fulton or Izard counties. At West Plains, Mo., a short distance away, the fear and excitement is even greater. Guards with both day and night on the Thompsonville Mountain House and Salem wagon roads, and all the trains are so carefully watched that it is impossible for any person to enter the town from any locality where smallpox is believed to exist. In Garden Bottom, Yell County, the disease is spreading, some families now having as much as five cases. The town of Burdette is quarantined, men guarding every road leading in from the Garden Bottom district.

DEBATER'S POLITICAL MORALS.

London, Feb. 4.—The publication of Sir Robert Peel's correspondence has thrown a strong light on the late Benjamin Disraeli's political morality.

It is pointed out that, when he was the Minister of the Interior, he had the most direct means of knowing how his constituents were treated, and yet he did not seem to care for the result.

FOREIGN SUICIDES

AT NIAGARA FALLS.

Headlines of the Press have been known to shriek but never by jumping over.

"A person here and there at Niagara Falls will never commit suicide by jumping into the rapids above the outlet," said an old resident. His remark was caused by the suicide of Spencer J. Lawrence, the young attorney of Niagara county, New York state, who was interested in the affairs of the defuncting County Treasurer Lammert, and who killed himself with prussic acid. "It's a curious fact," went on "the old resident," "that you can't get a Falls man to jump over the Falls. There are perhaps a dozen suicides a year of out-of-town folks, who make a trip to this spot, for the express purpose; but in the last decade the native suicides have either cut their throats, taken poison, or hanged themselves. Men have come all the way from Europe to commit suicide by jumping over the Falls, but Falls people never found the method popular."

"Suicides come in bunches. The suicidal were they talk about is based on good sound fact. When some prominent man has jumped over the Falls and the fact is printed widely in the newspapers, look out for two or three more in the next week. Peter Schumann made a trip up from Philadelphia to jump over the Falls. There hadn't been a non-resident suicide for two months. The next week there was one attempt, and the next after that there were two. Schumann started the idea in the minds of other people."

"I used to work on the State Reservation and I got so I could spot a prospect almost every time. The men will come down to Prospect Point and gaze right over the brink for hours. There's a kind of hypnotic effect about that point anyway. No man can watch that great sheet of water heaving at almost a right angle, and then breaking into white plumes, and see it shoot along so fast, without feeling a little impulse to join it."

"Then you think there are involuntary suicides, suicides unpremeditated, that suggest themselves from watching the water?" asked the listener.

"Not often, but there have been such cases. You can generally tell a man that's thinking about suicide, summing it up. They hug close to the brink, and there's a look on them I have learned to recognize. Women are different, slightly. They'll hang to the benches and come down and look it over every once in a while, and go back and sit down and think it over."

A SUICIDE OF 1898.
"I remember a middle-aged fellow came here in the summer of 1898. I saw he was thinking of suicide the first time I spotted him. I told a man working up by the Goat Island bridge to watch out for him. Well, sir, that case came down every morning and afternoon for three days. Now people don't hang around this place for nothing as long as that, especially this Prospect Point part. They come down here first, then see everything else, and then come back to my good-bye by looking over the point. But he struck right there morning and afternoon. I hung around and for an anxious got to pointing up the masonry there. But I kept a keen eye on him. He was struggling with himself all the time. I said to him one time, 'People have been known to jump over right here because watching the water so long kind of made you queer.' He said, 'It is fascinating, isn't it?' His mouth worked strangely, and I caught just what he was thinking of. I caught it, and I told the superintendent. Cases like that are reported now."

"But the afternoon of the fourth day a kid from the hotel he was staying at brought him a telegram. The kid had been hunting for him for two hours. He was known up there, it seems, and some one must have put the clerk on, the kid was so anxious to find this fellow. I just watched him. I knew the man was right there. I'd give it to you to know what was in the yellow envelope. That fellow opened it, just tore half the envelope off, read it, scowled, then kind of pined up his lips and a real bad look came on his face. It wasn't good news, I figured out, but it was news that stopped all ideas of suicide. Seems to me that it was as if he was kind of wavering between suicide and crime, and that telegram turned the scale over to the crime side. That's just my theory, you know."

"He started to walk away and I thought just for a flyer I'd talk to him. 'I'm glad you aren't going to jump,' I said. Well, sir, he looked at me as if he was stung. 'Maybe I'll wish I had,' he said. And I never saw him or heard of him again."

"But there's lots of people come here thinking suicide. Half of them change their minds. Still, when the report spread around that some one has gone over the Falls, I'll just lay you to bed of 30 to 1 he has committed suicide, and that offer holds good, for it is a good safe bet."

And no Niagara Falls man would take him up.

new he was thinking of suicide the first time I spotted him. I told a man working up by the Goat Island bridge to watch out for him. Well, sir, that case came down every morning and afternoon for three days. Now people don't hang around this place for nothing as long as that, especially this Prospect Point part. They come down here first, then see everything else, and then come back to my good-bye by looking over the point. But he struck right there morning and afternoon. I hung around and for an anxious got to pointing up the masonry there. But I kept a keen eye on him. He was struggling with himself all the time. I said to him one time, 'People have been known to jump over right here because watching the water so long kind of made you queer.' He said, 'It is fascinating, isn't it?' His mouth worked strangely, and I caught just what he was thinking of. I caught it, and I told the superintendent. Cases like that are reported now."

SHAKES IN THE SOUTH

FOUND THERE IN GREAT NUMBERS AND VARIETY.

Blacksnakes, Adders, Vipers and Medusae are the most common of them in and about the South.

Snakes like the English sparrow, have a decided penchant for the habitations of men. In the swamp regions of the south, where abundance what is commonly known as the high-land moccasin, the deadliest of its species, that serpent chooses for its home the dry places beneath the residences of the people. The soil is so moist, and quicksands so numerous, that coils are out of the question. The moisture of the air calls for free ventilation under the low-pitched floors, which stand scarcely 12 inches above the ground. For this purpose small holes usually the size of a single brick, are left at short distances in the surface of the foundation, and it is by these ports that the ophiidians find ingress and egress.

Thence they rally forth to their feeding grounds, not disdain in their journeys to and fro to visit the chicken houses in search of eggs, and they have been known to swallow a baby chicken now and then. Their ordinary food however, is rats, mice, small lizards, beetles, and bugs of various kinds, grubs, etc.

Did they confine their habitations to the under parts of the houses, the human dwellers might accept the situation with a measure of equanimity, but they seek much closer association with man. One encounters them in the halls, on the stairways, and in the various rooms of the building. If one be nervous, he is slow to enter a darkened room and see himself upon a lounge, or easy chair, because, next to a hiding place beneath a pillow, or bed covering, moccasins most effect these cozy spots of rest. If men and women are prompt to glide down and make their way out, for they have an intuitive perception that they are by no means welcome; but the consequences might be fatal were one to sit or lie down upon one of these sinister creatures. This has happened not unfrequently and readily form man or woman through whom the offense came, if they have not a plentiful supply of whiskey, the one accepted antidote, ready to hand.

If that portion of the world the woman and her sister of the north, for a burglar beneath the bed, but for a reptile intruder beneath the pillow or coverlet. There one has to guard against lifting the family wash, or a rug, or any other thing, but beneath, or within, or upon which snakes may conceal itself. Besides, the snakes are continually bobbing up in the most unexpected places, hissing, coiled and ready to strike. Of course constant warfare is made upon the reptiles; but they are prolific, and no amount of persecution can drive them away from man, their constant and relentless foe.

There is no doubt they might be easily domesticated and readily form attachment for man. The prejudice of the latter, however, coupled with his well-grounded fear of the poison concealed beneath its fangs, will prove always a barrier to intimacy. Adders, vipers and blacksnakes likewise affect the habitations of men. The bites of these, however, are rarely fatal. Indeed, it is doubtful if a well authenticated case of death from the poison of the last named has been found. This agile reptile, which belongs really to the constrictor family, is ugly, dark, and slow of motion. It is, however, a most venomous creature, and its bite is a wound that is intensely painful and slow of healing. It, however, has no poisonous fangs, but its fangs are sharp, and may inflict at that time a wound that is intensely painful and slow of healing. It, however, has no poisonous fangs, but its fangs are sharp, and may inflict at that time a wound that is intensely painful and slow of healing.

Blacksnakes are numerous as roses in Sharon and all that southern belt. A visit to the newly cleared tract of ground early in March when the sun shines warm and the wind grows chill from the north, will reward the searcher richly; for coiled up close against the south or sunny side of nearly every stump may be seen a "blue racer" (local name for blacksnake), scarcely yet out of its winter torpor, and ready for a fight, in which it is sure to be vanquished.

Blacksnakes, for reasons best known to themselves, and probably because field mice do their damage, are found in great abundance in fields of ripen wheat. Possessing the faculty of raising themselves—or their heads rather—high up in the air, their repulsive visages may be seen here and there peering above the spiced heads of the golden grain, a spectacle so awesome to the "cradlers"—in the region referred to the wheat is cut by hand—that they will enter upon their work only after the most direful threats on the part of the grower. The fear of the negro is groundless at this season, early in June, as the snake is then innocuous and flies quickly at the approach of man.

This reptile will give the terror or cat big ODES and then distance it in the matter of catching rats. Because of its skill, dexterity and patience in this enterprise, farmers gladly avail themselves of the services of blacksnakes. Every well regulated barn contains one or more which wage a year round warfare against the rodents. A blacksnake can enter any hole frequented by a rat; it will lie still longer than a cat while waiting for its prey, and in fact, it is as certain in its results as it is voracious in its appetite. After slaying the rat, which it does by coiling about it and crushing its bones the snake bites and tears off its head and swallows the carcass whole.

This snake has been tamed repeatedly, has shown strong attachment for its master, and readily follows him who will take him and prunes him. When occupying barns or when domesticated, it does not hibernate. When it does go into a dormant state it usually does so of the family, as the rattlesnake moccasins and copperheads. Adders and vipers more commonly hibernate singly, finding retreats in yielding, peaty soil at a depth of from 8 to 12 inches. Early in the spring they are pined

People are easily frightened when they think that something in the matter with their hearts or lungs. Of they rush to the physician's office and have themselves examined, no matter how big the fee may be. They do not realize that various forms of heart trouble may be purely cerebral, and that the organ really breaking down is the stomach. The stomach is usually the last case of man or woman.

When the digestion is impaired, when the blood is poor, when the organs really breaking down is the stomach. The stomach is usually the last case of man or woman.

An effort is being made to have the low changed unimpaired income of and we think fairly, that government officials should be compelled to pay their share into the civil treasury.

While this has not very much bearing in Peterborough, its many other places the revenue lost to the municipality is considerable.

ANOTHER VICTORY

Peterborough Colts Defeat St. George's in the last game of the season.

The Charlotte's West rink was crowded on Saturday night, with hockey enthusiasts all anxious to see the battle for supremacy between St. George's of Toronto and the Colts of this place. It was a beautiful game and full of all the life and vim that it is possible to imagine in a hockey game. The Colts defeated the St. George's but they had no clutch. Every goal scored was hardly fought for. The victories played a much better combination than the home team, and had it not been for the excellence of the playing on our defence, a different tale would have been told. Grammar and King were not up to their usual mark and did not at all please their supporters while many, who question putting Comstock in goal have now no doubt that he is the proper man for the position. Captain Armstrong played a well making his usual beautiful hits on goal, one of them scoring a point.

St. George's team are very much heavier than the Colts in fact if it was not for their certificate considerable questioning might be raised when it would be stated that they were within the limit. However, leaving that to be decided later, they played a fine game. Their goal keeper is a star and their forward line will keep the Colts defence guessing when they strike the Montreal street rink in Toronto.

It was about quarter of nine when the teams lined up before referee Wasson and play again commenced. Peterborough started in well and made a minute and a half before the first goal.
The first goal was scored by Wasson, who was in the net when it was scored. Shortly 15 minutes elapsed before the next goal was scored by Peterborough during which time St. George's forwards made some of their beautiful rushes down towards Peterborough goal but either Armstrong or Graham always relieved and returned the puck to the Toronto defence where their goal keeper was ready to stop the shot which was returned on him.
After considerable shooting King managed to pass the puck to Armstrong, who was away forward, and the popular captain made a beautiful left and scored. Before another game was halted half time was called. The score standing Peterborough 2, St. George's 1.
The second half was very exciting.
The home team which was at all times beginning to feel some of the effects of their game to Kingston and did not play as well as under normal circumstances be expected of them. The play from start to finish of this half was beautiful to watch and both teams were loudly applauded when brilliant pieces of play were made. Each team scored three goals in this half and some on each side were disputed by both captains because of alleged "offside" play overlooked by the referee. Players were about even on this score however. The score at finish was Peterborough 5, St. George's 3.

The teams were composed as follows:
St. George's—Goal, W. Pardon; point, W. Evans; cover point, B. Bish; forwards, A. Warden, A. Warden, E. Birmingham, E. O. Temple, capt.
Peterborough—Goal, G. H. Graham; point, Armstrong, capt.; cover point, Ormsley, Whitcroft, King and Morgan, forwards.

Umpires—Messrs. W. E. Leck and Ross Chapman.
Timekeepers—A. Misset and W.
Rogers.

HOCKEY HITS

A few remarks on Canada's Popular Winter Sport.

Peterborough Colts will be in the final trinity heat R.M.O. today in Toronto on Saturday.

Keep yourselves in shape Colts, you have a hard game ahead for Wednesday.

Mr. Ernie Wamban will make a good reducer if he takes a little coaching from Lionel King.

Frontenac's journey to Lindsay tonight to play off in the intermediate series.

Contingents from the neighboring towns will be in to see the game tonight.

Lionel King came down from Toronto on Saturday night and had a good practice with the other forwards after the game.

The Peterborough were much disappointed in not seeing "Bert" Buchanan and "Oscar" Robertson down on Saturday. The latter we regret to say is in charge of "the gripped."

Now that Ormsley, Ballingham, and Ormsley have made good, a lot of Pe-terborough's younger players will get a trying out next year. Ballingham's thorough understanding has been Pe-terborough's best men of success.

Peterborough seniors are picked no win from "Varsity" tonight's game. The local club will be represented by their well-known men—Wamban, goal; Reynolds, point; Hollingshead, Ormsley, capt.; King, Davidson, Ballingham and Ormsley, forwards.
The match will start very much after the time set and a good game of hockey will undoubtedly be witnessed.

THE MURRAY STREET BAPTIST CHURCH.

Rev. Mr. Bastow of New York Preaches his First Pastoral Sermon.

Sunday morning the pulpit of the Murray street Baptist church was occupied by the Rev. Mr. Bastow, the new pastor who has been called to take charge of the Murray St. church.
The Rev. gentleman opened his services by stating that he had been looking forward to this service for some weeks and seeking divine help at God's footstool, where, in prayer he had frequently met with the people he had now come to take charge of. It was a joy to learn that so many of his congregation were picked up-able to be present, and although, not as yet settled, he would be pleased to make any pastoral call, the coming week if the members would kindly inform him of their need.

Rev. Mr. Bastow took for his text the last part of the last verse of Matt. 28, "Go, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." The heart of the discipline was closely united by Christ, who had not only instructed and guided them, but had also richly provided for them. Now, Christ was about to leave them and their hearts were broken and tears flowed with sorrow at the news of his departure. Next to the Sermon on the Mount, no address of Christ's to his disciples is so long as the one given previous to his leaving this world.
In the 14th, 15th, and 16th chapters of John's Gospel, Christ tells the loveliness of their position, the grief they would feel and he gives to comfort them. "Let not your heart be troubled—ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions; if I go not so I would have no place for you."

Christ, frequently appeared to his disciples after the resurrection and it was in one of these appearances, when the disciples were in Galilee on a mountain top, that Christ addressed the choosing verses of the gospel of Matthew to them urging them to go, not alone to the confines of Palestine but to the uttermost parts of the world, not alone to the Jew, but also to the Greek and Gentile, all races and all kindreds.
He knew that they were few in number.
He knew that their wealth and position were not theirs and that they must feel over-burdened with his charge to them. They knew the risks they ran, from the way He Himself had been treated by the world, and He told them that if the world persecuted Him, it would also persecute them. But Christ never sent his people on a foot errand. He never assigned them a task that he did not also supply the strength to accomplish therefore He says, "Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." What did Christ mean when He addressed the above words to his disciples? Certainly he did not refer to His physical body, because while he intended,
His remarks for them, He also meant them to apply to every follower of His, at all times, and throughout all ages. Besides this, He knew that he was shortly to be taken up to heaven.
But, while he was up there, He is also present here, spiritually. So in coming back to you, brethren, from New York city, I am not leaving my old master but am still continuing in His service, in His presence. We do not see Him with the bodily eye but with the spiritual. The fellowship we hold with him is not in the world is not a bodily or physical one, it, also, is spiritual. When a friend dies, the body remains but we can hold no intercourse with it. The life, the spirit has gone and it is with it we hold fellowship and the angels, fallen and unfallen, are as much personalities as we are. We cannot see them. They are invisible, but, also, are some of the greatest forces of nature. Who has ever seen gravity?

My first message and desire, to you is that you may feel that Christ is indeed present with us and that our eyes may be opened to see him and our hearts to feel his presence. And to you, who are up yet unconvinced, to whom my past remarks will not apply they do to those who are seeking to serve God, you are living without God, in the world and therefore, with no spiritual eye to see the Lord's presence. Take up the Bible or cross, read the Word of God, and see what a glorious light He will shed to your darkness.

REV. MR. BASTOW.
Mr. Bastow, the new minister in charge of the Murray street Baptist church is a native of England, being born at Bradford, Yorkshire, and has been a third of his life under the British flag. He received his college education at Colgate University, New York, from which he graduated in both arts and theology and for some years was pastor of the College church where the professors who succeeded at Colgate.

Rev. Mr. Bastow came to Peterboro after having occupied some of the best known and most responsible Epistalian pulpits of the United States. The last Baptist church of Indianapolis was for some time under Mr. Bastow's charge. Baptist churches in both New York and Boston have been filled to Helen to Mr. Bastow and the Baptist church of Peterborough is to be congratulated on their choice and in their success in securing a minister with such wide experience and of such scholarly attainments.

The Rev. gentleman enters into his charge under most auspicious circumstances. The congregation are at one in their wish to further his success as their pastor and the Murray street Baptist church is not without its men of solid worth and Christianity who will prove pillars of help to the new

ABOUT CATARRH.

It is caused by a cold or succession of colds, combined with impure blood.
Its symptoms are pain in the head discharge from the nose, ringing noise in the ears. It is cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla which purifies and cures the blood, soothes and rebuilds the tissues and relieves all the disagreeable sensations.

FACTS ABOUT HEALTH

It is Easy to Keep Well if We Know How—Some of the Conditions Necessary to Perfect Health.

The importance of maintaining good health is easily understood, and it is really a simple matter if we take a correct view of the conditions required.
In perfect health the stomach promptly digests food, and thus prepares nourishment. The blood is employed to carry this nourishment to the organs, nerves, muscles and tissues which need it. The first great essential for good health, therefore, is pure, rich blood. Now it is certainly a fact that no medicine has such a record of cures as Hood's Sarsaparilla.
It is literally true that there are hundreds of people alive and well today who would have been in their graves had they not taken Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is depended upon as a family medicine and general regulator of the system by tens of thousands of people. This is because Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the blood pure. This is the secret of its great success. Keep your system in good health by keeping your blood pure with Hood's Sarsaparilla, which absolutely cures when other medicines fail to do any good whatever.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

DENMARK SECURED THE LION'S SHARE

OF THE PRODUCE IMPORTED IN-TO ENGLAND LAST YEAR

Canada Fair in the West—Last Year She Only

Sent 4.9 Per Cent. of Dairy Produce—

But She Outstrips the U. S.

Liverpool, Feb. 6.—It is scarcely possible to picture a commercial return dealing with foodstuffs without finding evidence of the extent to which Great Britain is a customer of other countries. Were it not for British markets, indeed, the leading industries of some nations which would easily be specified would languish and die. Take, for instance the case of Denmark as regards her exports of dairy produce to the United Kingdom. Last year our total imports of manufactured dairy produce—butter, cheese, and margarine—reached the stupendous total of 6,448,

439 hundredweights. Denmark's contribution to the total weight mentioned

exact figures 3,209,083 cwts., or 45.6 per cent. The conviction is unavoidable that Denmark is gradually ousting

most of her competitors and the secret of her success must lie in her methods of dairy management. In these days of what has been aptly called "inversion of distances" plus refrigerating and cool chambers, the mere fact of remoteness or contiguity from a market does not count for much. France and Sweden are both losing ground.

Holland makes a strenuous fight, but her prominence as a manufacturer of butter substitutes must cast her contributions of the genuine article under suspicion. Canada, however, is increasing her quota of dairy exports to this country. Last year she sent four times as much butter as in 1895, and she has now actually forged ahead of the United States. Still, her last year's contribution of 4.9 per cent.

makes a poor show beside Denmark's

45.6, and is at all disappointing after the herculean efforts of Professor Robertson, the energetic Agricultural Commissioner for the Dominion, to popularize the produce of the broad and fertile acres of this country. Still it is possible that Canada may in time overtake the enterprising Dane.

A few complaints have been made as to the quality of milk sold in town

but upon investigation were found to amount to very little practically. I believe the milk-disease is generally supplied by a good article the principal fault in some cases being as in other years a lack of cream. As milk is an article of such importance to the community

the question whether any of the disease with which we have been caused by it is important but very difficult to determine. It will probably be con-of cows showing the slightest signs of disease of the udder or to reject the milk of cows which are diseased in the udder. I need not say that when a person gets a doubt as to the soundness of his milk he had better discard it. It is a long way and con-

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

At last reports Aguirre was leading Gen. Ota by one proclamation.

So far the fruit of the United States Senate controversy over confirming that treaty is a date.

Eagan of the United States Army, went there and took too late. Brinsford's help that emboldened him now if it could then.

It used to be thought that Joe Martin was a Liberal first and a fighter afterwards. It looks as though the latter has to be reversed.

It remains to be seen whether the finest locks in the lower section of the Trent Valley Canal, between Trenton and Hastings, will be a lot of dead over climbing insects in Parliament.

A Woodstock man had a fight with a cuffed dog because the cuffed dog made such a noise while at play that they are a nuisance in the neighborhood. A dog-cuffed fellow like that would object to the bagpipes.

The Times was shown a picture of Mr. J. W. Garvin and to have been taken after his examination a year ago. It shows the late Conservative candidate bare headed, which forces us to the conclusion that his head was so small that he could not wear a hat.

Pittsburg has received an order for fourteen trolley cars to be used in Ohio, with an ultimatum that more will be wanted later on to the P. & N. Next thing will be mass meetings of Arab sheiks to pass resolutions in favor of thirty car tickets for a dollar, or innumerable applied for by the same company to prevent the street railway company watering its stock or buying up a car. By the way, why does Pittsburg get an order for trolley cars from Ohio? In part because Grand Britain keeps the "open door" there, and American manufacturers can compete on even terms with British or any others.

MOLLY BAWN.

BY THE DUCHESS.

Dinner was half over; and so far it has been highly successful. Mr. Amherst's temper this satisfactory turn—no absolutely refuses to speak to any of his guests.

Under the circumstances every one feels it will be the better part of valor not to address him—what is, except Mrs. Darley, who, believing herself irresistible, goes in for the doubtful task of soothing the bear and coaxing him from his den.

"I am afraid you have a headache, dear Mr. Amherst," she says, hesitatingly, "even if I were a victim to that foolish disorder, I hardly see why the face should arouse a feeling of terror in your breast. Only weak-minded girls have headaches."

A faint pause. Conversation is languishing, dying among the other guests; they stand the light and find the hungry expectation of what is surely coming.

"I pity any one so afflicted," says Mrs. Darley, going valiantly to her death. "I am a feeble-minded totem myself." Here she gives way to a little sympathetic sigh, being still evidently lost on believing his weight of duty with pain his own house.

"Are you?" says Mrs. Amherst, with elaborate politeness. "You astounded me, I should never have thought it. Rheumatism, now, I might. But how old are you, madam?"

"Well, really," says Mrs. Darley, with a pretty, childish laugh which she rather cultivates, being under the impression that it is fascinating to the last degree, "asking me so suddenly puts the precise day I was born out of my head. I hardly remember—exactly—what."

Conversation has died. Every one's attention is fixed; by experience they know the end is near.

"Just so, I think, suppose you could," it happened with a long pause, "say this terrible story, with an audible chuckle, that falls upon a silent and (and in his mind) appreciative audience."

Mrs. Darley says no more; what is there left to say and conversation is once more taken up, and flows on as usual, as it can, when everybody else is talking for a purpose.

"Is she old?" Molly asks Philip, promptly, in a low voice, when the bus is at its height; "very old, I mean, she looks so babyish."

"If we old which you say," speaking in the same guarded tone as her own, which has the effect of making Lucette and Marcia believe them deep in a growing flirtation.

"About twenty-two or three," she says, "it is uncommonly well then," says Philip, regarding Mrs. Darley, with much admiration, "uncommonly well; her mind must be a treasure."

"But why is she older than that?" "I don't know, I am sure," says Philip, unthinkingly, with a amused smile. "She used to be of my age, but I haven't the faintest idea in the world what she is—now!"

After one or two more playful sallies on the part of their host—for having once found his tongue he takes very good care to use it, and appears fatigued on making his hearers well aware of his restoration—the ladies adjourn to the drawing-room, where Mrs. Darley instantly retires behind her handkerchief and gives way to a gentle sob.

"That detestable old man!" she says, violently, "how I hate him! What have I done he should treat me with such exceedingly rudeness? Oh, no, would think I was his old as—old—thousand! Not that his mentioning my age puts me out in the least, but why should he—only his manner is so offensive!"

And as she finishes she rolls up the corners of her handkerchief into a little point, and secretly picks out, one by one, the two tears that have been held by her cheeks, they should escape, and, running down her cheeks, destroy the evening's painting.

"Don't distress yourself about it, Maude," says Lady Stafford, kindly, although secretly divided between pity for the angry Maude and a growing desire to laugh; "nobody minds him; you know we all suffer in turn. Something will come of it, my dear, and then you will indeed see a noble example of fortitude under affliction."

There is no time for more; the door opens and the march goes in, more speedily to-night than in their wont, no doubt driven there by the amiability of Mr. Amherst.

Maude suppresses the handkerchief and puts such a sweet smile as utterly contradicts the idea of chagrin. The march with the usual amount of bustling, fall into their places, and Lucette seizes the opportunity to say to Marcia in a low tone.

"You say Miss Manservant sings. Ask her to give us something new. It is so slow doing nothing all the evening, and I feel Mr. Amherst is here on mischief. Besides it is hard on you expecting you to play all the night through."

"I will ask her if you wish it," Marcia says, indifferently; "but remember you must not look for a musical treat. I doubt had singing myself."

"Oh, anything, anything," says Lucette, bravely sinking back into her chair. Thus incited, Marcia does ask Maude to sing.

"If you will care to hear my Maude," she answers, coldly, rather than diffidently, and, rising, goes to the piano. To be continued.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINES.

The Weekly Boy
Writing about boys in the February Canadian Magazine, the Editor says, "Above all things, a boy must be taught to be manly. In England this is taught manly through the sports in which the youth are trained either by intelligent masters at the great boarding schools, or under the immediate supervision of sympathetic parents. It is also taught at home. In America it is not taught so great an extent in our public schools, because the children's play is under a much closer supervision, but it must be taught more at home. The best way to teach it is by example. The next best method is to deal with specific cases—not too many of them—as they arise."

AN OLD MAID.

Her eyes, the quiet pools, are clear;
Her placid face is sweet and fair;
The frost of many a winter year
Lies on her hair.

She has no memories of yore
Exchanged below an April moon.
Of whispered converse, "neath the boughs
Of rose-hedge or rose-hedge."

She never planned her wedding gown;
This error was maiden true and good;
For her life held no sacred crown
Of motherhood.

Yet to the shelter of her side
The little orphan children press;
The known she nurtured fair and wide
The motherless.

The poor and suffering love her well—
Such ready sympathy she shows;
The sorrow-burdened freely tell
To her woes.

For those who stumble, those who fall,
Her heart with gentlest path is stirred;
She has a kindly smile for all—
A cheering word.

With fate she never wages strife;
"It must be right, since God knows best";
And so she lives her usual life,
Blissful and blest.

She grows the thorny path with flowers;
She turns the darkness into day;
And so she lives her usual life,
And so she lives her usual life.

"Dear friend, so rich in love and truth,
With later, warmer heart, and steadfast aim,
Tread well for some that in your path
The men were blind."
—M. Matheson, in Chambers Journal.

DEED OF KINDNESS.

We had come upon an Indian village, along the banks of a creek close under the steep sides of a mountain, and we charged at once and soon had possession. Most of the warriors were away on an expedition, but a few remained. One of the men was lame from a wound, was in command. Our revolvers and sabres made quick work of those who opposed us, and in seeking to get away, Gray Wolf was knocked down by a horse and rendered unconscious.

He was one of the 25 prisoners we safely conveyed back to the fort, and as he was known to be one of the most blood-thirsty of his tribe his confinement was a rigorous one. He was placed in a cell in the guardhouse by himself, loaded down with iron, and all means of escape were denied him. He was permitted to stare at and outrageously abuse him by word of mouth. Gray Wolf was a young man of dignity and pride, and he felt the insults more than the confinement, though he made no complaint in either case. He had been confined for three weeks when, as sergeant of the guard, I looked in on him one day and began a conversation in his own tongue.

It resulted in his showing me that the iron was galling him, and of his making protest from further insult. I reported to the officer of the day and the iron was removed, and I got some advice from the hospital at ward to soothe the broken flesh. I gave Gray Wolf news of his fellow prisoners and of his tribe outside, and at the risk of censure spiced out his prison fare with a part of my rations. I did this for him as I would for a dog, but he was a wild animal, and not because I sympathized with him as a human being.

An Indian may be technically called a man, but he is not a man in the sense of the word as we use it. He is a brute, and he is a brute in the sense of the word as we use it. He is a brute, and he is a brute in the sense of the word as we use it. He is a brute, and he is a brute in the sense of the word as we use it.

Two months after the escape of Gray Wolf, and while his tribe was still warring a relentless warfare, I was ordered to the fort of Port Gray with a detachment of 25 men to bridge a creek about five miles away. No Indians had been seen within ten miles of the fort, and we knew for a fact that the main body of the Seven tribes were fully armed and equipped. Seven troopers fully armed and equipped were to take care of them. I was a hardy man. I was a hardy man. I was a hardy man. I was a hardy man. I was a hardy man.

We were on a forest-covered hill, with masses of rock outcropping here and there. I was a hardy man. I was a hardy man. I was a hardy man. I was a hardy man. I was a hardy man.

I saw the arm of an Indian and a glint of a knife. I was a hardy man. I was a hardy man. I was a hardy man. I was a hardy man. I was a hardy man.

Minutes before I opened my eyes and found myself lying on the ground. The Indians, of whom there were three, most of the head of my thought. I was a hardy man. I was a hardy man. I was a hardy man. I was a hardy man. I was a hardy man.

I staggered about as I reached my feet, and one of them took my arm to help me. I was a hardy man. I was a hardy man. I was a hardy man. I was a hardy man. I was a hardy man.

"Who is your chief?" I asked. "Gray Wolf," he replied. "He is a hardy man. I was a hardy man. I was a hardy man. I was a hardy man. I was a hardy man."

MATRIMONY DISCUSSED

Why Some Men Pay Attention to Certain Kinds of Girls.

I was wondering the other day why it was that men as a rule prefer the butterfly type of woman. This seems to be particularly the case with clever men also. Is it because they need a little airy nothingness to balance their brains? The men who also are not clever, perhaps, wish to be thought so, and therefore follow the example of their clever brethren in their fondness for frivolous girls; though they do not always follow their example in choosing a wife from this style of woman, as they sometimes realize, in the present age of the "new woman," that the clever woman may be able to keep the pot boiling when necessity requires; but your clever man never thinks of this, as geniuses are proverbially imprudent, and it takes an ordinary man to be truly practical.

A clever girl who was unmarried to a matrimonial prize would be clever enough to disengage herself from a man who was not a man, and she would assume a genteel, disengaged manner or perhaps a kittenish playfulness, which, if really cleverly done, would deceive anyone. To illustrate this, let me tell you of two girls I met who made up their minds one evening to be really popular and attractive in the eyes of the men of the party. How did they proceed? Did they try to talk in an interesting manner? No, on the contrary, they made absurd, inconsequent remarks, and laughed at them and at each other, as their secret plot had a good deal to do with their gay humor, and probably we all know what it is to get into a mood where frivolity gets the upper hand for a short time. All the men present were completely captivated and two of them—the cleverest two, also—became very much interested in one of the girls, who, being a little heterodox in her tastes, was when he felt he was in a position to marry, hunted up the girl who fitted his ideal. No, alas! I am afraid not, except in a few rare cases.

Was there ever a man yet who had an ideal girl, and when the time came when he felt he was in a position to marry, hunted up the girl who fitted his ideal? No, alas! I am afraid not, except in a few rare cases.

THE LADIES' HOCKEY CLUB.

Heart broken at the sad fate of the senior boys, Monday night, the youthful members of the Ladies Hockey Club met last night in the rink, about 6 o'clock, and after a short talk, the "senior boys" would do their best, to encourage the boys for their task, Thursday night by showing them some points in the game that might be of use to them in the coming struggle. The ladies promptly resolved themselves into two opposing sides, which for the sake of identification we may term the "lids" and "lids." There was a general feeling that the game was useless, and only led to quarrelling, and the ladies thought that it reflected on the honesty of those playing, if there was any question to the number of goals scored. It was unanimously decided that, if any one kicked about a goal, he would be put instantly on the fence. No referee was appointed in order that there might be no favor shown and all questions of a goal, while he settled by a "committee of the whole," who were granted power to act by a majority vote. The game was then played, and in less than three quarters of an hour, the lids had run up the magnificent score of 1 goal, 3 falls, and 4 outbounces, for rough play. The lids, in the meantime, promptly resolved themselves into two opposing sides, which for the sake of identification we may term the "lids" and "lids." The game was then played, and in less than three quarters of an hour, the lids had run up the magnificent score of 1 goal, 3 falls, and 4 outbounces, for rough play. The lids, in the meantime, promptly resolved themselves into two opposing sides, which for the sake of identification we may term the "lids" and "lids." There was a general feeling that the game was useless, and only led to quarrelling, and the ladies thought that it reflected on the honesty of those playing, if there was any question to the number of goals scored. It was unanimously decided that, if any one kicked about a goal, he would be put instantly on the fence. No referee was appointed in order that there might be no favor shown and all questions of a goal, while he settled by a "committee of the whole," who were granted power to act by a majority vote. V.M.C.A. Notes

Meeting of the Y.M.C.A. will be held present a report of the meetings held there. An interesting and instructive evening is promised.

Death of Mrs. W. D. Parker

The funeral of Mrs. W. D. Parker takes place this afternoon at 3.30 from St. John's church.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Parker to all appearances was enjoying the best of health and there was not the remotest indication that in a few short hours the toll hand of death would pass over her. She took dinner in the evening with her husband, as usual, and there was no sign of the approaching fatal hour. About 8 o'clock, Mr. Parker left the house to go to the Q.P.R. station. It was the last time he was seen alive. His beloved wife alone. Scarcely had he reached the station when a telephone message announced to him that his wife had taken seriously ill immediately on his departure. With hasty steps Mr. Parker returned home but he was too late to receive any token of recognition, his wife had become unconscious, if not already dead. Medical aid had been summoned but it was useless. Mrs. Parker had passed beyond all human help, death had claimed its victim. The doctors gave as their opinion that death was due to apoplexy.

It is barely eight months since Miss Charles Jane Barrie was married to Mr. Parker. She was a daughter of the late George Barrie and a granddaughter of the Rev. V. O. O'Brien. Two sisters, the Misses Mabel and Edith Barrie are left to mourn her and Mrs.
Parker will be greatly missed by the members of St. John's of which church she was a conscientious and active member. On all sides, sincere regret is being expressed and the heartfelt sympathies of the entire neighborhood are with the afflicted ones.

A SHOCKING ACCIDENT

Mr. Nathan Nicholls Caught on a Shaft with Fatal Results.

At 8.30 o'clock, last night, Mr. Nicholls succumbed to his injuries and died at the Nicholls' Hospital.

Yesterday afternoon, Mr. Nicholls was engaged to his occupation as carpenter, in the lower story of the new portion of the Matthews Packing Company's establishment when by some fatal mis-chance his clothes got caught in a rapidly revolving shaft. In an instant he was being whirled round with dreadful force, his head, arms and limbs striking the wall and ceiling, at each revolution. A man working in the neighbouring room, heard the noise and looking in saw the terrible sight. With all possible speed the machinery was stopped, and the crushed and mangled man removed from his terrible position.
Medical aid was instantly summoned and it was found that his right leg was nearly severed from the body, his head and body frightfully bruised, and internal injuries of unknown character. The injured man was removed to the hospital and everything done that possibly could be done, to alleviate his sufferings, and if possible enable him to recover. But the effort was of no avail, and about 8.30, after suffering intense agony, Mr. Nicholls passed away.

Mr. Nicholls, was a native of this county, having been born in the Township of Smith, in 1851. The son of the late George Nicholls. About 15 years ago, he came to Peterborough, and settled down here as a carpenter and contractor. Two years following he married Miss Minnie Greer, of this town, and leaves his wife and four children: two boys and two girls. Tomorrow the loss of a tender husband and loving father. Mr. Nicholls, was a quiet and industrious man, devoted to his work, and a successful hand at
it. For a number of years he has been a steadfast adherent of the George Street Methodist Church. Mr. Nicholls was a member of the Peterborough League of Oldfellows, and his funeral will be taken charge of by that body.
The sympathies of many friends are with Mrs. Nicholls, and her children.
The funeral notice will appear later.

ST. GEORGES WIN

The Colts Defeat Defeat and are out of the Round.

Toronto, Feb. 8.—(Special). The Colts were defeated here to-night by a score of 11 to 4. Combination of the highest order did the trick. St.
George wins the round by 5 goals.

Did anyone notice anything fall?

As the chicken said when she got it in the neck with an axe, "she is very sudden."

There is no use crying over spilt milk and any way "The better to have won and lost that never to have won at all."

Now that the Saint Georges have won, their admirers will have reason to say "The Saints by pruned."

Every cloud has its silver lining and to-night we all agree that silver lining to develop in the Billy Bryan proposition, of 16 to 1.

The wheel spoke of the matter and we pause to get out another handkerchief, is, that the St. Georges wouldn't have won, and the truth must be told, they got more goals than the Colts did. At least that is the only reason we can think of now.

Peterborough can take comfort with the same true sport feeling that she has always taken her victories in. If the St. Georges, and there is nothing to the contrary as yet, won a straight forward game, Peterborough while regretting loss, on the other hand, in the future, to offer congratulations to the winning team. No whine will be heard from this neighborhood.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES.

The election of W. J. Allen, Conservative member for North Hastings has been proclaimed.

There may be some "high rollers" in this town, but what? (H) we get the steam roller.

Our local steam rollers should keep their eyes open for the new service of Cuban stamps, shortly to be issued from Washington.

They may not be getting much use along the banks of the Wabash, but they certainly are along the banks of the Ottawa.

The Daughters of England will hold a tea and concert in the Sons of England Hall, Hunter Street on Tuesday, Feb. 14th.

Professor Clark in a recent lecture to women in Ottawa spoke of "the lack of courtesy of Canadian women and said it was very marked."
All of which goes to show that Professor Clark has never met the women of Peterborough.

With the new improvements in the risk, now rapidly nearly completed, a much better view of the seat match will be had. There won't be the same necessity now, as formerly, of sitting astraddle of some one else's shoulders.

"The King of Greece is an accomplished farmer." From the way he conducted his war with Turkey, we are inclined to think that he is.
At the same time, there is more than one accomplished farmer around here who could give the King of Greece pointers how to rule.

POLICE COURT NEWS

Yesterday was a very busy day in Police Court.

This morning, a busy session of the Police Court, was held. James Kane, a youth, was charged with assaulting
R. J. Wolstenholme. Kane was fined $5 and costs.

Frank Freeburn, was charged with not supporting his children. He was allowed to go, but the five children under sixteen years of age, were handed over to the Children's Aid Society for care.

William Kintley, a habitue of the goal, was sent up for six months, for vagrancy.

The same period was given to Ann Irwin, for a similar offence.

A man charged with the theft of some fence rails which he used as firewood, was dismissed with a warning.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

At 3 o'clock, Michael Lavery, was arrested on a warrant of commitment.
About 4 months ago Michael, was arrested for being drunk and disorderly. A fine was imposed, and 10 days granted him to pay it. The 10 days passed by without the fine being paid, and the generous hearted policemen granted him still further time. Yesterday the fine was drawn, and Michael is now languishing in the jail.

Shortly after Michael's arrest, his son, Patrick, was arrested on the charge of stealing an overcoat. Six weeks ago on Saturday night, an overcoat was taken from the front of Gough Bros. store. The police have been on the still hunt ever since, for the coat, and yesterday arrested Patrick Lavery, with the coat in his possession.

The trial will commence this morning at 10 o'clock. Five of the remaining children of Michael Lavery, have been taken charge of by the Children's Aid Society.

The Chief of Police, wishes to announce that he has a box of jewelry in his possession that has gone through the mail. He is awaiting an owner.

The Late Richard B. Croft

Sad it is when the death angel casts his shadow on a household, but particularly so it is when the revered head of the family—a kind and indulgent father, an affectionate husband, —is removed. We refer especially to Richard Croft, who on Saturday morning last resolved the great mystery of mysteries when his spirit crossed the chasm that separates the known from the unknown and eter-ned eternally. And now his friends and they are legion—are on all sides paying glowing tributes to his worth and integrity. To the many flowers that are being placed on his grave we must add a tribute to his honesty and fair dealing in all business transactions. He was over a man among men. As a friend and neighbor too much cannot be said in his praise, as he was always faithful, kind and considerate, and could be depended on in an emergency. His memory will always remain green with us who ever knew him. Richard, B. Croft, the youngest son of the late Richard Croft was born on February 18, 1841, in the Township of Hamilton. Mr. Croft had resided in the vicinity of Bethesda until about 8 years ago, when he purchased "Midland," the beautiful residence of Mr. R. R. Pringle. For several years he carried on a successful livery business. He was a member of Court Cobourg, No. 13, Independent Order of Foresters for a number of years. He was a member of the Fraternity in the fall of 1883 to Miss Emma J. Bell, and his home was gladdened with seven children, of whom three sons and two daughters survive—viz., Messrs. George, Harry and Edward,
and Miss Ida and Sadie. Mr. Wm.
Croft, of Peterborough, is a brother, and Mrs. Joseph McEvoy, Cobourg, and John Donaldson, Rochester, N.Y., are sisters of the deceased. Mr. Croft was all his life a zealous and enthusiastic Conservative, and in the battles of his party was in the thick of the fight.
He was gifted with considerable magnetism, and was very popular with young people. The deceased was stricken with pneumonia a week before his demise, and despite all that medical science could do an able kind ministrations of loving hands succumbed at 5.30 o'clock on Saturday morning. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon to the Union Cemetery under the auspices of the Independent Order of Foresters, and the cortege was one of the largest that our citizens have seen in years. The sympathy of all is extended to the grief stricken widow and family in their great bereavement.—Sentinel Star, Cobourg, January 27th, 1899.

PETERBOROUGH, FEBRUARY 10, 1899.

OUR ASSASSIN SYSTEM

Municipal affairs are always the fertile subject of discussion. Many persons have only a very general idea of municipal law in general. This applies with special force to the assessment law. People do not realize the fact that the law does not recognize the cost of a building as a measure of the value of that building for assessment purposes.

This point was dwelt by the mayor in 1894, in Taron, when ex-Alderman John Turner of that city appeared on behalf of the late Mrs. Cawthra, and argued successfully that her residence on Jarvis street must be assessed not at its cost, but at the estimated price it would bring.

The assessed value of the Cawthra house was finally fixed at one-third of its cost, and the principle then established governs the assessment of all buildings. This system is hard on the small householder. There is always a comparatively ready sale for his property, and therefore, his house is usually assessed at every dollar's cost. The more pretentious buildings of the city are assessed at their estimated selling price. The scarcity of purchasers is an element in fixing the assessment upon buildings.

This is not taken into account by the Peterborough assessors, and if it were the rate would go up, while the assessment would of course decrease, in other words, instead of there being a rate of 10 or 17 mills on the dollar, it would be in the twenties.

There are scores of properties assessed for one-half more than they would sell for, simply because the assessors are not to do the assessing do not understand the law.

The fact is, the whole assessment system, as it is now operated, is rotten to the core. The times will take this matter up in a few days with a view to bringing about some desirable changes.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The Times prints the truth.

Maybe the Americans in Cuba will be hard and stern. So far the only evidence of their iron ways in preparation for new railroads.

Playing on that newly-invented plan for eight hands may not bring down the house, but it might bring down costs in the neighborhood.

MOLLY BAWN.

BY THE DUCHESS.

"A week ago and have you been ever since getting here?"

"No, I did it by degrees. First, I went down to the Mapleton's and stayed two days there, very slow lighted, then I got on to the Bout's and stayed a much longer time; finally I drove to the Lowry's and stayed a night or two, and stayed there with this evening. You know how he lives only three miles from here."

"It is a house now, dear?"

"Yes, he always is a home, I tell you, when you are here."

"Not says Cecil, with a little smile, laugh. 'You don't say so? What a remarkable coincidence!'"

"An annual coincidence. But you don't ask me who it was I saw in London?"

"The Charley Mistletoe, without doubt. They never perform out of season so I suppose are the only people in it now."

"Wrong. There was one other person—Mr. Penhony Stafford."

"Really?" says Cecil, coloring warmly, and sitting in a more upright position. "He has returned, then? I thought he was in Egypt."

"No, it was, but he has come back, looking uncommonly well too, as brown as a berry. To my thinking, as good a fellow to look at as there is in England, and a capital fellow all round into the bargain."

"Dear me!" says Cecil. "What a loss Egypt has sustained! And what a person you have become! My I ask, supposing a pretended young friend had been with you, where your rare avis is at present hiding?"

"I ask him," says Mr. Pottle, "but he rather evaded the question."

"And is that your Mr. Pottle?"

Molly, sitting herself close to Tedcastle, speaking with heavy and suspicious emphasis.

"Yes," Tedcastle admits, coloring slightly as he remembers the glowing terms in which he had described his friend. "Don't you see, don't you like him?"

"Oh, oh, how I can not answer that yet, but," laughing. "I certainly don't admire him."

"And isn't Mr. Pottle a beauty? Is not of the air to call forth raptures at first sight?"

"I have seen many different shades of red in people's hair," says Molly, "but I have never seen it rosy until now. Is it dyed? It is the most curious thing I ever looked at."

As indeed it is. When introduced to poor Pottle, when covering him with a first dispassionate glance, she thought of her pale grey hair, her large, good-humored mouth, his freckles or his enormous nose, but only of his hair. Molly is struck by it at once.

"He is right, good fellow," says Tedcastle, rather indignantly, being scarcely in the mood to laugh at Molly's remarks.

"He may be," is her calm reply, "but if I were he, rather than go through life with that complexion and that unhappy head I would commit suicide."

Then there is a little more music, Maria plays brilliantly, but it is almost impossible to forget during that she has had an excellent master. It is not genuine or from the heart. It is clever, but it is acquired, and falls very flatly after Molly's perfect singing, and so on in the room feels this more acutely than Maria herself.

"Then Tedcastle, who has a charming air for them, something pathetic and reproachful, you may be sure, as it is meant, for Molly's sake; and then the evening is at an end, and they all go to their own rooms."

What a haven of rest and security is one's own room! How inviting it is in grief or joy one turns to it, to hide from prying eyes one's deepest thoughts, one's hopes and despair!

To-night there are two and hearts at heart; Maria's perhaps, the saddest, for it is full of that most pathetic feeling, most indelible of all pains, jealousy.

For hours she sits by her casement, pondering on the cruelty of her fate while the unimpaired moon pours its white rays upon her.

"Already his love is dead," she murmurs, leaning back against the window-sill, and turning her face towards the sky, as if to the stars above her.

"Already, in two short months, and how I have fallen short! How have I lost him! By overloving, perhaps. While she, who does not value it, has gained my all."

A little groan escapes her, and she lets her dark head sink upon her outstretched arms. For there is something in Philip's eyes as they rest on Molly, something undefined, hardly formed, but surely there, that betrays to Maria the secret feeling, of which he himself is scarcely yet aware.

One hardly knows how it is, but Molly with a glance, a gesture, three little words pointed by a smile from the liquid eyes, can draw him to her side. And when a man of his cold reserved nature rarely loves, he sure is in a passion that will last him his life.

Tedcastle, too, is thoroughly unhappy to-night. His honest, unspry mind made sharp by "love's conflict," has seen through Philip's infatuation, and over his last cigar before turning in (a cigar that to-night has somehow lost half its soothing properties) makes out with a sinking of the heart what is all mean.

He thinks (so, yet upbraid himself for so thinking, that Miss Mander must see that Philip Chadwell has been to her and twenty thousand pounds a year, is better catch than Teddy Luttrell, with only a grand for her, and a paltry six hundred pounds a year.

Is it not selfish of him to seek to keep from her what is so evidently to her advantage? Perhaps brought to throw up his engagement and pass out of her life, leave her to reap the "good that God provides."

Is vain he tries to argue himself into this heroic frame of mind. The more he tries, the more obnoxious grows the idea. He can not, he will not give her up.

"Fast heart," says Teddy, flinging the remnant of his cigar with fierce determination into the grate, "never was fair lady, she is mine!"

far, the fairest, darling that ever breathed, and he will follow or otherwise, keep her I will if I can."

A. M. P. Time at All Saints.
The Junior Girls Guild, of All Saints Church, had an entertainment last night in the basement of the church. About 50 girls were present, and thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Games of various descriptions were indulged in under the pained eyes of numerous parents and friends present. An important programme added to the evening's amusement. Refreshments were served and all owed to having had a pleasant time. Much credit is due to Mrs. D. J. Lundy, under whose supervision the entertainment was held.

The Young Men's Union.
To-night, the Young Men's Union of All Saints Church purpose giving an entertainment to the men of the congregation, in the basement of the church. Games such as checkers, chess etc., will be provided, and at the same time a general discussion, and talk in connection with matters pertaining to the church work, will take place. An informal programme will be given and refreshments served. On Monday night, the ladies of All Saints will hold a Valentine Social. Preparations for this are now under way, and an enjoyable time may be expected.

Fortes-Tellings.
Although fines are being imposed in Toronto and elsewhere, on people who claim to be able to foretell the future by reading the lines of the hand, feeling the bumps on the back of the head, or by the use of cards, still the good people of Peterborough, who indulge in such amusements in a private way, need have no fear, so long as no fees are asked. The fortune-telling indulged in by ladies and gentlemen at evening parties, is done as a pastime, and only serves as a means of amusement, no credence being either implied or placed on what is said. When as has been the case in Toronto, fees varying from 50 cents up to $2 dollars have been imposed for the information given, it is implied that the truth has been told with regard to the past, present and future. This is where the charge of fraud comes in, and the consequence so far, has been a fine.

SO NEAR AND YET SO FAR.

Peterborough's Senators Loose the Bonds by One Goal.

Toronto, Feb. 9.—(Special). One of the keppel hockey matches of the season was played here to-night between Peterborough and Varsity. From the moment the puck was faced by Peterborough started in with a determination to win but were stoutly resisted by Varsity. The score at half time stood, 3 to 2 in favor of Peterborough. In the second half another grand effort was made but the best that could be done was the scoring of 2 goals to their opponents one, leaving the score 5 to 3. Varsity won here by 1 goal.

The blow Wednesday night was bad enough but the one last night, is the one that almost killed Peterborough.

Those hockey championships seem to have been veritable wars for the victors.

The diver taking we spoke about yesterday morning, certainly developed but not quite to the extent wanted. It seems to be a case of silver getting beat again.

Peterborough had at least the satisfaction of knowing that she beat Varsity on their own ice. But the Peterborough players showed the same judgment on Monday night as characterized previous matches, a different tale could be told about one of those championship matches. All honor to the boys of the Peterborough team for their fine showing last night.

THE Y.M.C.A.

The Members Monthly Meeting a Successful One.

A pleasant evening was put in last night by the members of the Y.M.C.A. in their class room. A large number were present and a musical and literary programme was given. Mr. Rodgers, acted as chairman. Solos were rendered by Messrs. Turner, Mulligan, and Suckbury. Instrumental music by Mr. Piddow. A feature of the programme was an imaginary paper read by Mr. Ray, entitled "Canadians in A.D. 2000," and much amusement was caused by its reading. Secretary Williamson, who was a delegate to the Y.M.C.A. read a full and carefully prepared paper of the convention. Mr. Fraude, a junior delegate, read a report of the boy's convention, held at the same time and place.

Next Thursday evening the Debating Club will have as the subject of their meeting "Civic Ideals."

Death of Bridget O'Brien.

About 130 o'clock Thursday morning the death took place of Bridget O'Brien, the fourth eldest daughter of Mr. John O'Brien, at the early age of 23 years. The deceased young lady contracted a cold some time ago, which never left her, and so the past few weeks she has been confined to her room. She was possessed of a bright and amiable disposition and won many friends who will sympathize with the family in their bereavement. The funeral takes place from the family residence, No. 108 Waller street, at 9 a.m. on Saturday, and proceeded to St. Peter's Cathedral, and from thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

BORNE TO THE GRAVE.

The Last and Best Performance Ever Given by Mrs. W. B. Parker.

The high esteem and respect, with which the late Mrs. Parker, was regarded by her large circle of friends was shown, not alone by the assembly of sorrowing on that filled St. John's Church, yesterday afternoon but also, by the large concourse of people, who in spite of the cold weather, and biting wind followed the body to the cemetery. The impressive English Church service for the dead, was conducted by the Rev. J. C. Davidson, assisted by Rev. H. Symonds and Rev. E. B. Stevenson. As the body was borne up the aisle, a large and noble anchor of rosaries, a large on the coffin, Mr. Rogers as resting on the coffin, Mr. Rogers played an extract from "The Funeral March," of Chopin, and again as it was borne on its outward journey, the muffled, mournful strains of the "Dead March in Saul," filled the edifice.

The pall-bearers were: Messrs. Ritchie, Stevenson, Dennistoun, Morrow, Hays and Burnham.

Among the members of St. John's the utmost sorrow being expressed, for one who while life was granted her, thought nothing too hard for her to attempt for her Master. Her earnest hand and jealous Christianity, was shown in every department of the church work. Not alone will she be missed by the heart-broken husband, but many and costly were the tokens of esteem and regret forwarded from friends far and near. Beautiful cut flowers in endless shapes and forms, showed in a touching manner, the sorrow felt by one and all.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES.

—A large number took advantage of the cheap fares, to go to Toronto.

—The cold weather had a disastrous effect on the attendance at the rink last night.

—The installation of officers, billed last night, in the I.O.G.T., has been postponed until next week.

—A special meeting of the Clan Alpine Camp, Sons of Scotland, was held in the parlors of the Morgan House, last night. Nothing was made public.

—There will be no service this afternoon, in St. Luke's Mission.

—In the afternoon service, the Rev. Mr. Brown, will deliver an address of 8 o'clock in the evening.

—Those who didn't have their hands in their pockets yesterday, or didn't have them in some one else's pockets, had them over their ears.

—Patrick Every, charged with stealing a coat, has been released until Monday. In the meantime he is living with his father at the stone house on the hill.

—Although it felt cold yesterday, it is not so cold as it felt yesterday.

—It is noted that the thermometer at any time previous to 5 o'clock registered more than 6 degrees below zero.

—If some people's remarks about the degree of cold weather experienced in town yesterday, were to be compared with the thermometer, there would be some awful exhibitions of lying proven.

—Don't be misled.

I see by the town papers that J. J. Turner & Sons are still continuing to prosecute me about the alleged agreement for the sale of my business to them. I simply wish to inform our patrons and your readers that I have not sold to Turner & Sons and do not intend to. They are anxious to get a monopoly of Peterborough, I will fully show up their whole conduct in this matter when it comes before the courts for adjudication. A. Kingscote.

Chilblains are not new.

With many people the beginning of cold weather is accompanied by the first throbs of pain in the spot where there has been a chilblain in preceding winters. Then the afflicted place swells and becomes inflamed and it is so hard to be cured. I know it is done to check their progress, chilblains sometimes come to head and break open like a boil. In fact, the German name, "frost-bite," describes the nature of the disease. In Germany, owing in part probably to the nature of the climate, which makes the cold more severe, chilblains are common and more severe than here. Much to be learned from the Germans in this matter when it comes before the courts for adjudication. A. Kingscote.

Chilblains are not new.

With many people the beginning of cold weather is accompanied by the first throbs of pain in the spot where there has been a chilblain in preceding winters. Then the afflicted place swells and becomes inflamed and it is so hard to be cured. I know it is done to check their progress, chilblains sometimes come to head and break open like a boil. In fact, the German name, "frost-bite," describes the nature of the disease. In Germany, owing in part probably to the nature of the climate, which makes the cold more severe, chilblains are common and more severe than here. Much to be learned from the Germans in this matter when it comes before the courts for adjudication. A. Kingscote.

A Divorce and a Marriage.

"For the past six months or more J. M. Irwin, a Canadian mining expert, has been a resident of this city, and as is quite common with foreigners who come to live in Grand Forks, it developed after he had lived here for a few months, that his domestic relations had been unhappy. He sought, and obtained release, and was granted his freedom about a month ago. Contrary to the usual custom in such cases, he did not immediately take his departure. Mrs. Sherife O. Sheldrake also came here from Canada some months ago, and she, too, had a little of domestic war to tell. She accused her husband, who was then in London England, of failure to support her and her three children, and asked for divorce. Personal service was had on Mr. Sheldrake, and he started for North Dakota to contest the suit. He got as far as Toronto, and backed out. Mrs. Sheldrake, secured her divorce a couple of days ago, and yesterday a marriage license was issued to James M. Irwin and Mrs. Sherife O. Sheldrake. Mrs. Sheldrake was married yesterday evening in the Brevoort block, and will leave this morning for Winnipeg. The lady has three children, as has been stated, two of whom have been attending Bernard's academy during their residence here."—Grand Forks Sun.

—Mr. Sheldrake, is an Englishman, and at one time he and his wife, lived in Peterborough, where Mr. Sheldrake conducted for some time a private school. He was of a retiring disposition, and not one who was given to taking any part in social life, preferring rather to be quietly left alone. Mrs. Sheldrake on the other hand, was on the opposite nature, lively and fond of social gatherings. The sympathies of those who knew them while here, seem to be with Mr. Sheldrake.

Not the Panel Way.

Yesterday a horse attached to a sleigh slipped and fell at the corner of Charlotte and Aylmer streets. It is not an unusual sight, especially at this season of the year when the roads are so slippery, but a number stood round to see the animal try to rise and then fall back again. Twice or thrice the animal in vain attempted to rise, and then the driver came to his head while an onlooker unfettered the traces and between them the animal regained its feet. The only unusual circumstance, which was often characteristic of such things, was the absence of jerking the poor brute around and applying a whip. As the driver released the horse's head he noticed the animal's glossy neck, and spoke in a kindly tone. Very often an entirely different scene would have taken place and some times a person with any human feelings feels like exclaiming with a tender heart, "old woman who loved horses and killed many of their kind." "I wish the Lord had never made a horse."

ANOTHER SHARP AND DECISIVE BATTLE

THE AMERICANS ARE STEADILY GAINING GROUND.

United States Troops Defeat the Insurgents at Calocan and Capture the Place—Filipino Suffer Loss.

Manila, Feb. 10.—The United States forces attacked and carried Calocan this afternoon. The action was short and decisive, the enemy being driven out with great loss.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 10.—A special cablegram to the Times from Manila says, Brigadier-General H. G. Otis holds the extreme left of the American line from the bay near Calocan.

The regiments on the line and in support are the 20th Kansas, Colonel Farnham, 11 companies; First Montana, Colonel Kerber, nine companies; Third Artillery, Major Kolbe, four batteries as infantry, and the 10th Pennsylvania, Col. Hawkins, four companies.

Two companies of the 10th Pennsylvania are behind the walls of the De la Loma churchyard. Across the ravine from the Montanans is Captain Jensen's company holding the stone fort supporting Grant's battery of four Utah guns; a fifth gun is to the left, and on the railroad supporting the Kansas troops.

To reach the present position the brigades advanced four times since Saturday in a series of brilliant combats on different parts of the line of action, especially so on the fourth, fifth and seventh. The last advance was the most magnificent, the American loss being one killed and six wounded, while the Filipinos suffered a loss of 40 killed and were utterly routed. The brigade has lost to date 24 killed and 53 wounded.

The 24 pieces of 3 in. Artillery were sent to the front, but they were made on the ground during the advance of the line and ceased. The taking of the Calocan cemetery on the fifth by the Montana and Pennsylvania regiments was a superb piece of work. A brilliantly executed advance up the slope in the open made a battle picture that would delight any veteran.

PRECAUTIONS AT MANILA.

Manila, Feb. 10.—In anticipation of a native uprising in this city, unusual precautions were taken here last night by the American military authorities. Fortunately, the precautions proved unnecessary, the Filipinos evidently being convinced that the Visayan commissioners arrived on board the Uranus would for a long time stay in the city.

The Uranus cleared for Manila on Saturday, but she was detained by the American authorities.

The American line today is much the same as on Wednesday. On the right Governor Overman's brigade extends to the beach two miles north of Camp Llewellyn and to the passing river, Lieut. Col. Trieman, with the 10th Dakota, volunteers, has established his headquarters on the beach, whence he is in constant communication.

WITH THE AMERICAN FLEET.

The second battalion of the Dakota regiment extends along the front and all of the Fourth Infantry, with the exception of companies "K" and "L" is stationed at the beach, and extending to the point of San Pedro and in its complete line.

Grouping parties of the Dakota regiment yesterday surprised some Filipino scouts at the bridge across the Paranaque river. The enemy retired hurriedly, swimming the stream in order to reach the main body of the rebels, entrenched opposite a group of the Fourth Infantry.

A few rebels have concentrated at Paranaque. While they are entrenched they are fully exposed from the water front.

Many of the rebels are coming in, hoping to be allowed to enter Manila, but they have been refused the necessary permission, and are now afraid to return to the ranks of the enemy.

The Californian regiment is now occupying the village of Pasig, Manila, and San Juan. All was quiet at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES.

Sir—For the last ten years systematic efforts have been made to increase the average returns and to improve the quality of the cereals in Canada, by an annual distribution from the Experimental Farm at Ottawa, of samples of seed of the best and most promising sorts. These varieties have been first tested at the Experimental Farm and only those which have proved to be the very best have been chosen for this distribution. The samples sent out have contained 3 pounds each, and every precaution has been taken to have the seed in every instance thoroughly clean and true to name, and the packages have been sent free, through the mail, and grown them with care, have usually had at the end of the second year enough seed to sow a large area, and in this manner careful farmers all over the Dominion have been gradually replacing any inferior and unproductive sorts which they may have been growing in the past, with superior varieties possessing greater vigor.

By instruction of the Hon. Minister of Agriculture, another such distribution is being made this season consisting of samples of oats, barley, spring wheat, field peas, Indian corn and potatoes. These samples will be sent only to those who apply personally. List of societies or individuals cannot be considered, and only one sample in all can be sent to each applicant. Applications should be addressed to the Director of Experimental Farms, and may be sent any time before the 15th of March, after which the list will be closed, so that all samples asked for may be sent out in good time for sowing. Parties wishing will kindly mention the sort or variety they would prefer, and should the available stock of the sort asked for be exhausted, some other good variety will be sent in its place.

A MOST SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

Fourteenth Annual Report of the "Toronto Savings & Loan Company."

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Toronto Savings and Loan Company was held at the head office of the company, No. 437 George Street, Peterborough, on Thursday, February 9th, 1899, at 2 o'clock P. M.

The President, Hon. Geo. A. Cox, having taken the chair, the Manager, Mr. W. G. Morrow, was requested to act as Secretary to the meeting. After reading the notice convening the meeting the Secretary read the fourteenth annual report and the accompanying financial statement.

The Directors beg to submit herewith their fourteenth annual report for the year ending December 31st, 1898.

The earnings for the year amounted to $91,237.79, an increase over the year 1897 of $2,493.03. This enabled the Directors, after providing for interest on deposits and other charges, to declare a dividend of 2 per cent. on the paid up capital of $1,000,000, amounting to $20,000.00, and to the contingent fund of $1,493.31.

The Reserve fund now stands at $115,000.00, and the Contingent fund at $4,993.31. By reference to the financial statement it will be observed that this amount was increased during the year by $48,274.86, and now stands at $933,792.25.

The interest payments which matured on the real estate mortgages have also been promptly paid.

The books, accounts, and securities of the company have been carefully examined by the auditors, and their report is appended to the financial statement.

Respectfully submitted on behalf of the Directors,

Geo. A. Cox, President.

The President in moving the adoption of the report said:—

"For the fourteenth consecutive year I again have the pleasure of submitting for your approval the annual balance sheet of this company, and I am much gratified at being able to state that it is one that will, I am sure, meet with your approval."

The Country has but recently emerged from one of the most severe depressions through which it ever passed, financial, commercial, and agricultural interests suffered, and the progress of every business institution was more or less retarded.

It is therefore very satisfactory to know that although the growth has not been very rapid, this Company has passed through the ordeal with a slow but solid upward movement, and presents to-day better balance sheet than it ever had before, and is in every particular well equipped to take advantage of the new era of prosperity upon which the Country has entered. The business of the year now under review shows a substantial increase in assets, and an increase of power of somewhat over seven per cent. upon its paid up Capital, six per cent. of which has been paid to the shareholders and the balance carried to the credit of the Reserve and Contingent funds, which now amount to over twenty per cent. of the paid up capital.

It is also gratifying to know that the company is doing a good work and taking a useful place in the community, to which it more particularly belongs. Unlike most of the loan companies that borrow money, in Great Britain, this Company is working exclusively upon Canadian capital, and becoming a safe medium through which our more prosperous and enterprising citizens may use their earnings, or investments in our own Country.

I have much satisfaction in testifying to the loyalty and devotion of the Officers of the Company, and to the interest and energetic attention to business of the shareholders and Directors of the Company.

I now move, secondly, the Vice-President, the adoption of the Report and the statement herewith submitted, and that the same be printed for distribution among the shareholders, depositors and debenture holders of the Company, but before asking you to accept this resolution I shall be glad to answer any question or furnish any information that may be desired.

The report was unanimously adopted.

On motion of Mr. Richard Hall, seconded by Mr. William Clouston, Messrs. James A. Hall and E. R. Wood were re-appointed Auditors for the year 1899.

The resolution of Directors was then passed and the following gentlemen were declared elected for the ensuing year—Hon. G. A. Cox, Richard Hall, Wm. Clouston, Peter Hamilton, A. L. Davis, R. J. LeFevre, D. W. Dumble, A. A. Cox, and Jas. Stevenson.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Hon. Geo. A. Cox was re-elected President, and Messrs. Richard Hall and A. A. Cox, Vice-Presidents.

WAS IT COLD YESTERDAY

This Man is Prepared to Swear that it was.

John—, but for the reputation of the thermometer, we will not give him the name, got home to supper last night, nearly fro— and rather, in fact, very late. Mrs. John, instantly wanted to know how long she was supposed to keep supper ready, and what had kept him so late. John didn't answer instantaneously, or any other way, for a minute or two. In the meantime, he was trying to get his overcoat unbuttoned, and his hat from over his ears, also rubbing the tips of his nose, stamping on his fingers, stamping up and down altogether, acting as if he was built on the jumping-jack principle of a few joints, where there ought to be many and a large number where there should not be any. Mrs. John went to his assistance, and soon John looked more like a grown-up man than a swayed-up infant. "Are you cold, John?" said Mrs. John. "Am I cold?" came the answer between a yell and a choke. "Do I look as if I were sweating?" Do you think I wanted a glass of ice water or a dish of ice cream, Cold? Well, you walk down George street, and back, and perhaps you'll know. Oh! no, I'm not cold. Fan me won't you? and for once in his life, John attempted to be sarcastic. "When I left the store I looked at the thermometer, and it was 12 below zero, then I went across to the drug store, on the corner and it was 18 below. That big thermometer in front of—, was 16 below, and I came on further and crossed over, and it was 22 below. Then you know the one on Brock street, well, I went over and it'll be no I won't either, but it was only zero, and I'll bet $10 to a shank of ice in summer, that that thing was lying."

I went over and examined one on a veranda on Water street, and I tell you, my hair stood on end for three seconds. It was down so low that I could not see the mercury, and then I looked closer and found that the bulb at the bottom was cracked, and it's my impression, that that thermometer was frozen to its awful end. "John," said Mrs. John. "Where were you in before you came home?" "Now look here wife, now I've got to believe me, smell my breath, and leaning over John grabbed his wife around the waist, and kissed her. Mrs. John didn't notice anything wrong and took no other."

VALENTINE SOCIAL HELD

At St. Church Taken the Lead Last Night.

The first Valentine Social, of this season was held in the Mark street Church last night. Owing to the severe weather the attendance was not what it otherwise would have been, but it only served to brighten the enjoyment of those who were present. The programme was interesting and varied. Duets were rendered by Miss Lottie Kindred and Fred Crutcher, the Minnie Agnew and Ada Armstrong. Recitations were given by Mr. Anderson, Miss Lulu Dwyer, and Mr. Primeau. Solo, by Messrs. Hiram Kindred, James Brown, Nell and Miss Kate Hooker. Several Graphophone selections were well rendered. Refreshments brought a pleasant evening to a close. Credit is due to Mr. Mat. Carion for the efficient way in which he performed the duties of chairman.

Board of Management

The members of the Board of Management of the Y.M.C.A. are urged to attend this regular monthly meeting this evening. The meeting will be held in the Assembly room at a 10 o'clock. Several matters of importance will have to be taken up and it is desirable that all be in attendance.

The death of Robert Chittick took place at the Nichols hospital Thursday night. The deceased had undergone an operation. He was 55 years of age and was well known in Peterborough. The funeral will take place at three o'clock on Saturday from the residence of his brother-in-law, Mr. James Stubbs, 231 Dublin street.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES.

—Yesterday was the coldest day this winter, but we are not through with to-day yet.

—The closing service of the St. Luke's Mission was held last night, in St. Luke's Church.

—On the 27th of this month, Court Peterborough, Canadian Order of Foresters, will celebrate its twentieth anniversary by a banquet.

—We notice that there were not any flies or mosquitoes around yesterday. It is a poor wind, that doesn't blow some good.

—There was a large attendance at the funeral of the late Nathaniel Nichols yesterday. The I. O. O. F., turned out in a body.

—If the bargain snags, offered by some of the stores, are always equal to the cold snags, we are at present getting, the cash sales will mount up as fast as the thermometer runs down.

—Sure, his ribs, his nose, his back, were broke. Old nose, but the way they played that match Thursday night, makes it seem like a new one.

—In spite of the cold weather, there was a good attendance of the men, at the young men's union, at the All Saints Church last night, a thoroughly enjoyable time was put in by all. Games were provided, an den informal programme given.

The police are on the lookout for the owner of a body left in front of the police station, about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. There was no card of identification or marks that would lead to the solving of the mystery, and the police are entirely non-plussed as to its solution. While the police are up to possessing warm, fatherly hearts, they think that the above is rather rough on them, in fact, a little too much. They do not care to "all in the children," and Society, as they don't really think it would be any use, besides, they do not think that after all things being considered, it would be right to put the town to any unnecessary expense. A consultation was held, following the discovery and a careful investigation resulted. Footprints were examined, and hastily glances thrown around the various corners but there was no one in sight, who looked like the guilty party, and at length one of the custodians of the peace, summoned up all his courage, and a great deal of strength, kicked the body into the middle of the street. It may be said, in passing, that the body was that of a dead cat, frozen stiff.

To the Bill of the Morning Times.

Sir,—The newspaper reference to the recent marriage of Grand Forks Dakota, of Mr. Jim M. Lewis, and Mrs. Sheriffe Sheldrake, both well-known here, calls for some comment, but I would not add to the publicity of the matter but that my client Mr. George Sheldrake is unjustly dealt with.

It is stated that his wife obtained a divorce on the ground of failure to support her and her children. Under the peculiar laws of North Dakota this means to be the slightest ground upon which a divorce can be obtained, and when Sheldrake was served in England with a summons from the District Court of North Dakota alleging this ground he at once returned to this country for the purpose of contesting with a charge, but upon my retainer on to him that the result of his action would be a divorce for Sheldrake refrained from doing so because he had wanted to have his wife to support his wife and leaving the wife which had been so long separated, a few weeks in some hotel form in Mr. Lewis and if it is to be that object she and her friend should choose to commit perjury he determined to let them pursue their own unholy way. The fact is ever since the divorce for the purpose of agreement of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldrake some years ago this has been the comfortable when the means he needed for her benefit and might have continued to do so. To that who know Mr. Sheldrake it is scarcely necessary to say that he has always been a gentleman. SANS PETRI ET SANS REPROCHE, but as he now is to depend upon what he can do for the wife, I desire to make it mutually known that in this transaction no reflection can be cast upon him.

Yours etc.,
A. P. DODDSETT,

Peterboro, Feb. 10, 1899.

LITTLE TOTS' FINGERS FROZEN

A Two-1 Mother's Criminal Act—A Case for the Judge.

Dr. Weddell last one of the little tots attending one of the Kindergarten had the fingers of both hands frozen as hard as icicle. The poor little thing was in a terrible state, as were also the teachers when they discovered its condition. When the frost began to disappear, the pain became so intense that the little one fainted several times, so we are informed by one of the teachers.

The child was sent to the school without any covering for the hands and it is little wonder that frozen fingers was the result. Such conduct is criminal, and should receive the attention of the authorities.

Nor is this the only case of the kind. Some time ago a little attending Kindergarten was frozen in several places in the arms, legs, and body.

Poor people, who cannot close their little ones for the cold weather, should be compelled to keep them in doors in during the very cold days.

Aggressive Merchadizing

We quote no prices to-day, but instead will speak of our general plans for the future, we have found our store as occupied for the fall too small, both for our stock for Spring and for our increasing business, this has necessitated the taking down of the partition in rear of store, adding some 20 feet to our shelving and counter space. This will be converted into a ladies

White Wear and Corset Dept.

Another improvement for Spring will be the opening up of our 3rd storey and the running of our handsome Elevator.

This has become a necessity, and will give us a very handsome room for Carpets, Lace Curtains, Curtain Poles, Blinds, Matings etc. Our Lace Curtain stock alone will comprise nearly 1000 pair bought direct from Old Country manufacturers. In all departments stocks will be almost doubled, and in almost every case bought direct from the makers. Our first White

AGAIN IN NEED OF SYMPATHY.

One of Uncle Sam's first actions upon the collapse of Spain's bluff at war was to begin to cough. Bitterly he attempts at a closed door policy in the newly acquired policy. Since the close of the war and the retreat of the Powers from their hostile position, the gushing friendship of the United States for Britain has notably cooled and the republic has been "afflicted" by "bitterness" in its dealing.

Now, however, a change has come over the scene, and with the commencement of the trouble in the Philippines, we may expect the selfish republic to claim British support and to protest warm and enduring love for "the one friend among the nations of Europe," as Senator Wolcott puts it.

I see by your town paper that J. J. Turner & Sons are still continuing to persecute me about the alleged "agreement" for the sale of my business to them. I simply wish to inform our patrons and your readers that I have not sold to Turner & Sons and do not intend to. They are anxious to get a monopoly in Peterborough. I will fully show up their whole conduct in this matter when it comes before the courts for adjustment. A. Kingwood.

MOLLY BAWN.

BY THE DUCHESS.

"Why could you not divide it?"
"Because the lawyers said we couldn't. Lawyers are always aggressive. My great-uncle had particularly decided it should not be divided. It was to be all for one and the other got nothing. And there was much more." Molly says, with an expressive sigh.

"I was a hard case, Molly says, with deep sympathy.
"I was, too, as I managed it, it wasn't bad so bad. Now, I dare say many women would have gone into violent hysterics, would have driven their reasons to the verge of despair and the shivering bridegroom to the verge of the man, lived with him, and been miserable ever after. But not I.
Here she pauses, charmed at her own superior wisdom, and, leaning back in her chair, with a contented smile, puts the tips of her fingers daintily together.

"Well, and you?" says Molly, looking interested.
"If I just viewed my own case, I saw it was a great deal of money, too much to divide about, too much also to risk. I likely a man would dream of repossessing it for the sake of a woman more or less. So I wrote to my cousin explaining that, as we had never known each other, there could be no very little idea lost between us and that I was not necessarily why we should ever love each other, and that I was quite willing to marry him, and take a third of the money, if he would allow me to be as little to him in the future as I was in the present, by drawing up a formal deed of separation to be put in force at the altar door or the door of any room where the marriage ceremony should be performed."

"Well?"
"Well, I don't know how I would have been but that, to aid me, I requested a photograph of our parlor-maid, one of the ugliest women I have ever seen, whose picture, when I got up in her best black silk, minus the cap and with a flaming gold chain round her neck, you know with the sort of a smirk and a never said who it was."

"Oh, Cecily, how could you?"
"How could I? I, you man. And, after all, my crime was of the passive order. I merely sent a picture without saying anything. How could I help it? He was a cook for my Mary Jane. Besides, I was fighting for dear life, and all as fair in love and war. I could not out up with the whims and caprices of a man to whom I was indifferent."

"Did you know he had whims and caprices?"
"Molly," says Lady St. John, slowly, with a look of pity, "you are disgracefully young, courteous, and, my dear, as far as ever you can, and as a lesson take his to heart, if ever there was a mortal sin, and—be back my parlor-maid. I must have been in the year one, because so one that I have met knows anything about him."

"Well, for the matter of that, says Molly, laughing. "I don't suppose I should like a perfect like a man, even if I did chance to meet him. By all accounts they are withered, disagreeable people, with a talent for making everybody else seem small. But go on with your story. What was his reply?"
"He agreed cordially to all my suggestions, named a very handsome sum as my portion, swore by all that was honorable he would never interfere with mine in any way, was evidently ready to promise anything, and—be back my parlor-maid. I must have been in the year one, because so one that I have met knows anything about him."

"But when he came to marry you he must have seen you?"
"Scarcely. I decided on having the wedding in our drawing, and wrote again to say it would greatly convenience my cousin, and myself (I lived with an old cousin) if he would not come down until the very morning of the wedding. Need I say he garped at this proposition, and I was dressed and ready for my wedding by the time he arrived and shook hands with him with him well down. You may be sure I had secured a very thick veil."

"Do you mean to tell me," says Molly, rising in her excitement, "that he never asked you to raise your veil?"
"Never, my dear. I assure the bride that he brought down with him was by far the more curious of the two. But then, you must remember, Sir Penrhon had seen my picture. Here Cecily goes off into a hearty burst of laughter. "If you had seen that mild once, my dear, you would have been as ambitious of a second view."

"But I never heard of anything so cold, so unnatural," says Miss Massacre, in high disgust. "I declare I would have broken off with him there, had it been me."
"Not if you lived with my cousin Amelia, feeling yourself a dependent upon her bounty. She was a startling instance of how a woman can worry and torment. The very thought of her makes my heart sore to this day. I rejoice to say she is no more."

"Well, you got married?"
"Yes, Amelia's drawing-room. I had a little gold band put on my third finger. I had a cold shake-hand from my husband, a sympathetic one from his groomsmen, and then found myself once more alone, with a title and plenty of money, and—'that's all.'"
"What was his friend's name?"
"Talbot Lowry. He lives about three miles from here, and—with an airy laugh—"is rather too fond of me."

"What a strange story!" says Molly, regarding her with pity. "Do you never wish you had married some one you loved?"
"I never do," says Molly. "Don't look to me for sentiment, Molly, because I am utterly devoid of it. I know

I suffer in your estimation by this confession, but it is the simple truth. I don't wish for anything And you—pausing suddenly—I do I have been wishing for something ever since that old person downstairs tried to take me back then morning, and killed so egregiously."

"That I could make my husband fall madly in love with me. Oh, Molly, what a revenge that would be! And why should he not, indeed? going over to a glass and gazing earnestly at herself. "I am pretty very pretty, I think. Speak, Molly, and encourage me."
"You know you are lovely," says Molly, in such good faith that Cecily kisses her on the spot. "But what if you should fall in love with him?"

"I hope I have done so long ago," her ladyship replies, in a tone impossible to translate, being still intent on the contemplation of her own reflection in the glass. "I am pretty very pretty, I think. Speak, Molly, and encourage me."

"Not a bit of it. I should dream myself forever if I once found myself letting my pulse beat a second faster for one man than for another."
"Do you mean to tell me you have never loved?"
"Never, never, never. And, indeed, to give myself due credit, I believe the fact that I have a husband would utterly prevent anything of the sort."

"But is a good thing if the idea exists. But won't you feel awkward in meeting him this evening?"
"No, but I dare say he will. I hope so too," says her ladyship, maliciously. "For three long years he has never been to see whether I were well or ill, or asking for him. I am nervous, awfully, ridiculously nervous, at the bare idea of our so soon coming face to face."

HORSES ON SNOW SHOES.

This feature of winter travel in the Sierras—the use of snow-shoes by horses—is a peculiar one. I have often received an incredulous smile, where upon occasion I have alluded to the fact that horses wear snow-shoes. It is, however, an undeniable fact which anyone can verify if he only make the trip from Oroville to Quincy, or from Marysville to Lodi, or from Lodi to Marysville. The shoes are thin plates of steel, about nine square and are fitted to the horse's hoofs by setting the calks of the shoe through holes in the plates and fastening them firmly with screws and straps. When a horse wears these steel plates for the first time he is quite dumb about the legs, sometimes severely, but he soon learns to spread his feet. The first shoes used were wooden plates; these were followed by iron ones, and now they are made of steel, faced on the bottom with rubber, to prevent the snow from adhering to them. Some become good snow horses at once while others seem incapable of learning how to handle the shoes or how to battle with the snow. Only such as prove themselves thoroughly good snow horses are used, for it has often happened that the lives of both the horses and their driver have been saved by the intelligence and experience of these trained animals. When they are accustomed to the snow, they exercise as much intelligence and judgment in battling with the mountain fleecy drapery as would be expected of a man. More than one inexperienced horse is never put in the team at one time. The driver gives them their heads and permits them to have pretty nearly their own way. When the leader encounters a drift of loose snow they rear upon their hind feet, turn their shoulders to the front and plunge into it, continuing this until they have forced a passage through. After the snow has lain upon the ground for a few days it becomes sufficiently packed to bear the weight of the animals, distributed as it is, over a large surface by the shoes. Often after a late thaw followed by a cold snap a thick crust forms on the top of the snow strong enough to hold up both horses and stage, and in such cases the stage makes the complete trip on wheels. BIG BLAZE ON FRONT ST. TORONTO
GOWANS KENT & CO. LARGE WAREHOUSE BURNED.

Firemen Fight Fire Bravely—Loss of Goods $25,000—Insurance $100,000—Building, the, burned.

Toronto, Feb. 10.—About noon today a blaze was discovered in the base of the building occupied by Gowans, Kent & Company, on Front street, and an alarm was immediately sent in from box 5, at the corner of Front and Young streets, and the firemen from Bay and London street stations were soon on the scene. The fire developed into one of large proportions rapidly the flames forcing their way up through the several storeys at lightning speed, and it was not long before the whole building was enveloped.

WORK OF THE FIREMAN.
At first the firemen fought the blaze from the goods entrance in the rear of the factory. Two lanes give access to this. The flames spread before the wind, and Front street finally became the scene of the firemen's most determined efforts. The water tower and aerial truck were both on the scene early, but it was five minutes to twelve before the former commenced pouring its streams into the front windows. The aerial truck was got to work about ten minutes later, and two firemen remained perched on the head of its ladder, directly steady streams into the most easterly windows. They were Firemen Gunn and Poole, of Lombard street section. They became entangled in falling wires and frequently were hidden in the smoke, while the danger of the front wall falling rendered their position a very precarious one.

The building was of three storeys, with a mansard roof. It was owned partly by the Kent estate and partly by the Crombie estate. It was valued at $25,000.

LOSS WILL BE HEAVY.
The stock of the Gowans, Kent Company was a valuable one. Mr. Gowans estimated its value at about $175,000 to $200,000. The loss on it cannot, of course, be estimated exactly, but it is thought that it will be almost complete. There was insurance to the extent of about $100,000. The greater part of this was placed with the Liverpool, London, and Globe Company.

Considerable assistance was rendered by the wholesale firms in the vicinity. Many of them have a small fire protection service of their own, and they assisted the firemen by pouring in streams from their hose, laid down on the roof. The fire apparatus in the G. N. W. Telegraph Co's building on the corner of Scott and Wellington streets, was tested and got ready for all emergencies. The fire—assumed such threatening proportions that many firms in the vicinity commenced moving out their books and valuables.

When the second floor fell and great scraps of galvanized iron and flaming boards were scattered in all directions the firemen in the lane in the rear, who were working under Deputy Chief Thompson's watchful eye, thought for a time that a great win was blowing. It seemed likely that the British America Assurance building would be consumed.

The mansard roof dropped shortly after one o'clock, and the floors in the different flats came down with a crash, bringing with them a mass of crockery which filled the ground floor and forced its way through the windows down the street. The spectators within the police lines had to keep their eyes open in endeavoring to escape from falling wires and boards, as they were dropping in every direction.

The fire was a magnificent spectacle, the clouds of smoke surging forth from the windows and roof and upwards the flames, while the lurid light from the fire cast a glow on the faces of the spectators. The wind whirled the dense smoke around the street and then lifted it away over the building. Occasionally there would be a flash of light from an electric wire on the street.

BOARD OF TRADE'S ESCAPE.
The portion of the building where the fire began is directly in line of a wind coming through from a lane at the rear, and the flames, as soon as they were aroused, forced their way upward with a bound, and it was only a quarter of an hour after the fire broke out that they had reached the skylight in the roof, and then the escape of the fire was apparent. A vacant building between Gowans, Kent & Co's and the Board of Trade, and owned by the Crumley estate, was badly damaged. The occupants of the Board of Trade building feared the destruction of that fine building, and almost everything of value was removed from the offices, but as soon as the walls fell they knew the danger had passed. The windows on the east side of the building in seven floors were crisscrossed into myriads of pieces by the heat.

The girls employed at Gowans, Kent & Co's had a narrow escape, some of them being in the building and almost suffocated when the firemen arrived. Assistant Chief Davis assisted a number of the young ladies to leave the burning building, and several others of the firemen did similar duty.

THE INSURANCE.
The insurance on the stock is carried principally in mutual companies. Among the old line companies interested are the following—North America, $50,000; Scottish Union and National, $50,000; London Assurance, $2,500; Phoenix of Hartford, $2,500; Liverpool & London & Globe, $10,000; Sun, $10,000; Lancashire, $14,000.

Which is Great.
A citizen of this town, who has always been supposed to be in his right mind, and who, at several times in his existence, has had the pleasure of voting for the city fathers, in rather a "lame" to know whether he is suffering from a slight attack of temporary alteration of mind, or whether something is the matter with his head, is the town clerk. Yesterday, the party referred to, was sitting quietly in his office, when he heard the market building clock strike twice. He thought that it was surely more than two hours since he had had dinner, but he did not bother himself at his watch, and was soon deep in his work. Time passed on and suddenly he realized that the market clock, was again striking. He counted the strokes and when he got as far as number six, began to look around for his cap and coat. Getting these securely on, and putting the first mentioned down over his ears, he started for home. "Is supper ready," he asked, as he made his way through the hall to the kitchen stove, where there was a roaring fire on. "Supper ready?" came the reply, did you order supper for 4 o'clock? Well, it is six o'clock, the town clock struck 15 minutes ago. "No it didn't. Yes it did." "Well its not six anyway, look at your watch. And the man looked at the watch pointed twenty minutes after four. Mr. man started downstairs to see the clock. The clock was late the same old place at the top of the market building, and its hands indicated half-past four. Our citizen thought an awful lot, but didn't say anything. He went to his office and resolved to listen, and hear five strikes. The clock struck five but our citizen vows that it only struck once when it came to six, and he thought perhaps the clock had taken it into its head to strike the half hour, and it very nearly threw it him half an hour late for supper. Is the clock crazy the man? Perhaps the severe cold is affecting the—we mean the clock.

GOOD SHOWING OF

DIVIDEND OF FOUR PER CENT.
ON GUARANTEED STOCK.

What the shareholders will realize for the period Jan. 1 closed—The Grand Trunk's Annual Report to-day

London, Feb. 10.—The directors of the Grand Trunk Railway Company of Canada announce to-day a dividend of four per cent. on guaranteed stock, and three per cent on first preference shares.

The statement also announces that they are enabled to carry forward the sum of four thousand pounds.

WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN.

London, Feb. 10.—The Vienna correspondent of the Standard, referring to the reports that France is seeking a Spanish alliance, recalls the fact that in 1891 Austria proposed that England and Spain should join the Triple Alliance. The proposal was declined. "But Lord Salisbury firmly declined," says the correspondent. "Had it not been for the attitude of the British Premier the Triple Alliance might have been a reality. The alliance, an alliance of recent events would have been different." According to the same correspondent the Austrian papers comment upon affairs in the Philippines in a tone which is decidedly anti-American.

THE CHURCH LAWLESSNESS.

London, Feb. 10.—In the House of Commons to-day, after a long debate, the amendment of the Church of England, which was proposed yesterday by Mr. Samuel Smith, Liberal member for Finsbury, was rejected by 221 votes against 80. In introducing the amendment Mr. Smith had declared that the subject was exciting the greatest anxiety throughout the country.

To-day Mr. A. J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury and Government leader in the House, when asking the rejection of the proposal, counselled "the preservation of that broad toleration which has been the distinguishing mark of the Church of England," and deprecated any legislative attempt to cure the evils complained of by the mover of the amendment.

HORSES ON SNOW SHOES.

This feature of winter travel in the North—the use of snow-shoes by horses—is a peculiar one. I have often received an incredulous smile, where upon occasion I have alluded to the fact that horses wear snow-shoes. It is, however, an undeniable fact which anyone can verify if he only make the trip from Orville to Quincy, or from Marysville to Lewisville, in either of the months of January, February or March. The shoes are thin plates of steel, about nine square and are fitted to the horses' hoofs by setting the calks of the shoe through holes in the plates and fastening them firmly with screws and straps. When a horse wears these steel plates for the first time he cuts himself about the legs, sometimes severely, but he soon learns to spread his feet. The first shoes used were wooden plates; now they are made of steel, and the bottom, with rubber, to prevent the snow from adhering to them. Some become good snow horses at once while others seem incapable of learning how to handle the shoes or how to battle with the snow. Only such as prove themselves thoroughly sound and strong are used for it has often happened that the lives of both the horses and their driver have been saved by the intelligence and experience of these trained animals. When they become accustomed to the snow, they exercise much intelligence and judgment in battling with the mountain fleecy drapery as would be expected of a man. More than one inexperienced horse is never put in the team at one time. The driver gives them their heads and permits them to have pretty nearly their own way. When the leaders encounter a drift of loose snow they rear upon their hind feet, turn their shoulders to the front and plunge into it, continuing this until they have forced a passage through. After the snow has lain upon the ground for a few days it becomes sufficiently packed to bear the weight of the animals, distributed as it is, over a large surface by the shoes. Often after a late thaw followed by a cold snap a thick crust forms on the top of the snow strong enough to hold up both horses and men, and a great deal of the stage work is done on this crust.

THE INDIAN WIDOWS.

While we have a movement down here in Madras in regard to child marriage, there is another movement building from the north in behalf of the widow, the Ahmednagar Liberal Club having asked the Indian National Social conference to request the government to pass a measure prohibiting the disfigurement of young widows under the age of twenty-one. It is not likely, however, that the government would pass such a measure as this, affecting the social ideas of the people, any more than it would pass, for instance, a measure affecting Hinduism, to the effect that no one was to be forcibly circumcised under the age of twenty-one. Progress comes less by law than by development, and we may expect that as the world grows older the misfortunes of the widow will be spontaneously redressed. Her forlorn condition is a condition that the non-Hindu naturally fails to appreciate or even to find intelligible. The Indian widow is shaven bald, and can only hide her baldness with her cloth, she is deprived of all jewellery, wears corner clothes than the rest of womenkind must fast on certain days, and every day has lower meals than are taken as a rule by the rest of the family. The scheme of relief mooted is that no widow shall be shaved until she is twenty-one the age at which it may be supposed that she will be able to show will of her own in case of objects. It is not all Indian widows that are subject to the disfiguring treatment. In South India it is only Brahman widows that are shaved; and of Brahman we believe, the class called Tenggali Brahmins let their widows imitative. Most of us can remember the hideous black garments in which the British widow once upon a time had to be shrouded, and which only lately had been got rid of. The Hindu widow, however, the thing goes deeper down. A woman's hair is her glory, and the Hindu widow's period of mourning is not for six months or a year, but for the rest of her days. A change will come but meanwhile reformers would probably bring it about more truly by setting practical examples of such things as widow re-circumcising and widow freedom rather than appealing to the law to do things which would engender much bitterness. The abolition of suttee was a proper abolition of what British Law was unable to tolerate in a matter of life and death. The present trouble of the widow is on social lines alone.—Madras Times.

"Two Mirrors"

To the Editor of the Morning Times.
Sir, The newspaper reference to the recent marriage of Grand Forks, Dakota, of Mr. James M. Irwin, and Mrs. Sheriffs Sheldrake, both well-known here, calls for some comment, but I would not add to the publicity of the matter but that my client Mr. Sheldrake is unjustly dealt with.

It is stated that his wife obtained a divorce on the ground of failure to support her and her children. Under the peculiar laws of North Dakota this seems to be the slightest ground upon which a divorce can be obtained, and when Sheldrake was served in England with a summons from the District Court of North Dakota alleging this ground he at once returned to this country for the purpose of contesting such a charge, but upon my pointing out to him that the result of his doing so would be to defeat Mrs. Sheldrake's application for divorce he refrained from doing so, and he has since been to have any desire to prevail, his wife satisfying the wish, which had been so long apparent, to be united, in some legal form to Mr. Irwin and if to attain that object she and her friend should choose to commit perjury he determined to let them pursue their own unholy way. The fact is ever since the separation (by Deed of Agreement) of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldrake some years ago she has been living comfortably upon the means he settled for her benefit and might have continued to do so. To those who know Mr. Sheldrake it is scarcely necessary to say that he has always been a gentleman. Since the separation he has been a man of honor and integrity. He has been a man of honor and integrity. He has been a man of honor and integrity.

New Market for cattle.

It will be of interest to our local cattle buyers to know that in all probability a valuable new market for cattle is about to be open in Japan. Two gentlemen from that country Messrs. Turay and Komada, are now in Ottawa, and have been interviewing Professor Robertson, Commissioner of Agriculture, with regard to the purchase of cattle. The stock of Japan is for thoroughbred Hottentot Jersey and shorthorn, for the purpose of improving the dairy stock of the Kingdom. An inquiry is also being made as to the best means of obtaining the stock, and of shipping it to Japan.

Some Novels.

There are probably not many boys in Peterborough, who have not at some time or other indulged in dime novel reading, and doubtless, some who are fathers to those same boys, have also done some reading in that line. We have distinct remembrance of the time when we used to read them "on the sly." We never found it healthy to read them over. One of the old favorite series was "Old Sleuth," we didn't then know who the author was nor didn't care. Last Saturday the papers announced the death of the author of "Old Sleuth" series, his name was Harlan P. Haley, and he now lies in Evergreen Cemetery, Brooklyn. Mr. Haley, made $500,000, out of dime novels, a feat that is rather peculiar in that he never had any detective experience, and probably never spoke to a detective in his life.

Len's Last Note.

Len Felcher is in New York, and has been talking to a newspaper man, according to the Telegram of that city. This paper says: "If any of these local hockey teams desire a little conflict with a champion team, Len Felcher, representing the Peterborough hockey team, of Toronto, champions of Canada, is in New York, for the express purpose of arranging games. Furthermore, Mr. Felcher will match the Canadians to play here in New York." Len has evidently been talking so loud that he was heard in Montreal, for the Star of that city, wants particulars as to when our team acquired the championship of Canada. While we have a hockey team that we have no reason to feel ashamed of, there is no disgrace on the part of the boys, to sail under false colors, or to lay claim to honors, which is not honestly theirs.

CHARLOTTE ST. METHODISTS.

Rev. Mr. Robert of Ontario Addressed the Members.

The pastor of the Charlotte St. church being absent, conducting special services in Ontario, the Rev. E. Roberts of that place filled the pulpit very acceptably, both morning and evening. In the evening Rev. Mr. Roberts preached from the 15th verse of the 3rd chap. 2nd Timothy: "When any man rose superior to his means of his special abilities, we are fellow beings, in any calling, by always anxious to learn all we can of such a man, what his you h was, what his childhood was, what his surroundings were and how he became what he was. Especially was information of this nature of value to the young. What man has been, that can man become. Hence the value of all biographies, and the amount to be gained by the reading of them. Timothy was converted under Paul's preaching. For seven years Paul did not see Timothy but who returned and saw the noble young man that Timothy had become, he took him with him and Paul often refers to Timothy as his son and frequently employed him as the bearer of his letters to the different churches. From a child Paul had known the scriptures, that had made him wise unto the salvation of souls.

Mr. Roberts then continued his subject under three headings. First.—That which makes wise to salvation is the most important and of most value. A soul without knowledge is barren. We cannot plow to much knowledge. A man is able for his position in life when he knows all he possibly can of that concerning his occupation. A man may know too much, he may know what will be of use to him in his occupation but he cannot know too much of what pertains to his own spiritual work. We enter our protest against the life with natural tendencies to sin, we are under the condemnation and if we live and die under such, we certainly perish. But we have a way out of that difficulty, we have the means of knowledge to be "wisdom's salvation."

Second.—That full sources to obtain the knowledge, the only source is the bible. We are in the age of abundance literature, some of great value, some of very little value, of life giving, some odorous and life destroying. Besides, we have the secular press, that is worthy of all respect, patriotic in tone and moral in character. Many of them are doing a great work and all honor to the men connected with our great dailies, weeklies and monthlies. But in spite of all this, none can furnish the help this book the bible can. A book, whose author is God. "The scriptures, Lord, have been my meditation day and night. Search the scriptures for in them ye have eternal life. We make a great mistake when we spend time reading secular literature to the loss or neglect of this greatest of books. What is more important than the knowledge of God's author of our being. Not a truth in this book but is intended to guide us to heaven. If you are searching the way to God's foot stool, search the bible. Third.—Of all the things in life to learn the scriptures the time in our youth. God's arrangements are the best. See how much advice is given to the young men in the bible. Take the first seven chapters of Proverbs and no where can we find a better code of morals and rules for the guidance of the young. Solomon's advice in "Remember thy Creator in the days of thy youth." Make the bible the book of your studies. It is the best in your youth. The more we read in the more satisfactory of impressions. The impression is more effective. Truth acquired in youth is more lasting. My earnest prayer is that God may help you to acquire knowledge of eternal life in your early days.

HOCKEY HITS

A few B. marks on Canada's Popular Winter Sport.

Peterboro beating Varsity on their own ice, has done more to stimulate hockey in town than anything else this season. They are now the pride of the town, and it will be no surprise if they bring the cup to Peterboro; if the O.H.A. executive only gives them a chance.

The senior team will turn out and have a hard practice this evening, when it is requested that every member of the team be present.

An effort will be made to have an exhibition match here this week with Toronto Rowing Club, or the Wellingtons, with a chance in favor of the latter for Thursday evening.

Gauthier, the referee in the Peterboro-Varsity match, has made affidavits, in which he states that the goals disputed by Peterboro were in their favor.

The O.H.A. executive, will meet to-day, and decide what will be done about the Varsity-Peterboro match.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

"For the Kingdom of God is not in Word but in Power."

The morning services in St. Andrew's were taken charge of by the pastor, Rev. J. G. Potter, who preached from 1 Cor. 4, 20, in the words quoted above.

The kingdom of God was not an external show, a mere formality, but something within a person, constituting them. The rule and sway of God in a man's heart will show itself to be present in their actions and deeds throughout life. It would be revealed not in external forms of service, but in more professions, but in the real life. Like the leaven had three measures of grain: it would leaven the whole. The church in past ages has lost much of its force and power through arore, lack of harmony and the want of a spiritual unity binding them together in God's service.

Christ did not in his mission to earth, come to give us a treatise, to set up a creed. He came to gather together all those who would believe in Him and follow Him. He saved the glad tidings and a belief in God throughout the whole world. The religion of Christ was no longer a suppliant, but a great institution that the people ought to be and are cherishing more and more in their hearts. Our hearts are pained over the trouble now existing in the English Church in England, over the ritualistic and Romanizing tendencies prevalent there. But we rejoice and believe in the influence which are now making themselves felt.

If your religion is only a set of duties for you to differ from, with your fellow men, it is weak and shallow. We may have a grand structure but if it lacks vital force what does it amount to.

The miracles which Christ wrought were believed in and brought the truth home to the disciples and we also should believe in those manifestations of Christ's power. "I have power to lay down my life and I have power to take it up again." This is the power of Christianity a belief in the resurrection. What it should animate us and nerve us to our work as we step forth to-morrow. It should be an inward feeling of an unseen divine presence with us. The power God gives, penetrates our whole being and while it shows our weakness, it proves our strength. God desires us to be genuine. "Unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God, the things that are God's." The power of God, was a sword piercing even to the dividing asunder. By God's power, things would pass away and a thing would become true. There is joy in the presence of Angela Yver, one soul that returns.

Church and Story.

To maintain the good we must fight the bad.

Going to hear a sermon is not always going to worship God.

Believing is seeing with God's eyes.

Nights of sorrow bring out the true promise.

Chasing away we tread diamonds under our feet.

Creed is good in the backbone, if Christ is in the heart.

Some critics cut the meat out of the Bible and then complain that it is all bones.

Having News.

According to the Gait newspaper a system of savings banks is being inaugurated in the school there. The money the pupils save during the week is handed to the teachers, who return a receipt, and then deposit the money in the bank. Three hundred to be in each number of banks as there are schools in Gait and each school is connected with a different bank. The idea of the Public School Savings, is certainly a good one and the Board of Education might at their next meeting discuss the subject and see if the savings could not be introduced in the school here. Much can be said on both sides of this question but the feeling of the parents as a whole will be in favor of anything that in the end tends to encourage thrifty habits in their children. The result of the experiment in Gait is being watched with interest and it is said that the Minister of Education is looking for its final outcome.

The Late Miss Sadie E. Croft.

The colouring particulars of the death of Miss Sadie E. Croft, daughter of the late Mr. Richard Croft, and niece of Mr. William Croft, Peterborough, "nearly every day as the sad intelligence comes to another, whom we have been accustomed to meet in friendly circles or in business or in social life has obeyed the "one clear call," and crossed the bar, we are grieved to find that the way is growing still more lonely here. Just as we were going to prom on Thursday of last week word was received of the death of Miss Sadie E. Croft. She was a young lady of a genial, bright, sunny temperament and her decease after only a few days illness, and following so closely upon that of her father the late Mr. Richard Croft, has created great grief not only in her home but among a large circle of associates. Miss Croft having been on Tuesday, and the following Thursday she passed away. That the divine source of all comfort may speak peace to the troubled hearts of those who have been doubly bereaved within the past two weeks, I bid prayer of many friends.

RAILROADS BLOCKED BY A GREAT BLIZZARD

READING RAILROAD COMPANY ABANDON THEIR SERVICE.

Ocean Steamers Overdue, Trolley Service Stopped, the Poor Suffer Awfully—Streets Made Impassable by Drifts.

Philadelphia, Feb. 12—The Reading Railroad Company at noon to-day issued an official announcement of the entire abandonment of its train service until further notice, owing to the heavy snow and the immense drifts along the line. The ticket offices have been closed. The last train left Philadelphia at 7.30 this morning. The Pennsylvania railroad is moving about one-half of the regular scheduled passenger trains, but has abandoned all attempts to move freight and local trains.

Philadelphia, Feb. 13—The storm has assumed the proportion of a blizzard. The wind has reached a velocity of 40 miles an hour, and the snow has been up, so as to render some streets impassable. Suburban trolley lines have nearly all been abandoned. No vessels are departing. Trains are seriously delayed. A coal famine is imminent in ports that depend upon Philadelphia.

New York, Feb. 12.—The driving snowstorm which commenced here on Saturday night still continues. Ferries are blocked, street railways disorganized, ocean liners overdue, the poor suffering acutely. A large fleet of steamers is probably waiting off Sandy Hook for the weather to abate. Trains are all late. Heavy snows

THE MARKET FOR SKELETONS

Understand that Omdurman is a French supply.

From their own Command.

"The price of a well-jointed and nicely tinted skeleton ranges from $2 to $10. Economical students, or those who have not this sum to spare must content themselves with a half skeleton.

"The original head goes with one half and an odd skull is fitted to the other, this being especially selected to match, as far as possible, the size, sex and color of the odd half, to which it is attached. Thus, for $5 a student gets enough heavy material to cram for his examinations.

"A huge trade is done in second-hand skeletons. After their (final) students rarely keep the skeleton in their cupboards. They mail them to medical 'freshers', just beginning their dry, bony studies. Students who can afford it prefer, however, to invest some of their starting capital in a new skeleton, for there are grooves and channels and delicate markings which disappear under the somewhat rough handling of the average young medical.

Some 150 to 200 Derivish skeletons are on the London market, and experts in bone dealers that their superiority over the average skeletons of commerce will cause no little stir in anatomical circles.

The London Mail says: There has just arrived in London the first consignment of Derivish skeletons from the battlefield of Omdurman. There is no outward and visible sign in London of a brisk market in anatomical human bones. Indeed, public sentiment might receive a shock were a central depot or building to be established for the necessary traffic and better in skeletons.

Nevertheless the metropolitan skeleton market is steady and lucrative enough, though no miles are advertised or auctions announced. To insure a constant supply of skeletons up to the mark of trade standards and technical requirements is not an easy matter. For no bone, however tiny, may be missing, since an incomplete bony scaffolding would be valueless to the medical student.

A widespread belief exists that skeletons are obtained from the unclaimed bodies of workhouse and hospital inmates. To some extent this is true, for such bodies, after use in the dissecting room, furnish further useful object lessons. But the number of unclaimed bodies is small compared with the demand for skeletons, so that dealers must go further afield in their search for medical school material.

A big battle offers an unusually large harvest of skeletons, and already some of the Derivish killed at Omdurman have found a market in one of the London hospitals.

It is only right to state that there is not the slightest possible chance of a British soldier having been converted into a marketable skeleton. Due and careful precautions were taken to prevent such a contingency so that any surviving bones from the Sudan victory are only those of the fighting Derivish.

One of the principle dealers in London states that these fine, athletic Derivish makes the finest skeletons ever put on the bone market.

"It is not so easy to insure a supply of well developed skeletons," he says, "for many of these are obtained from the stunted, half-starved type which ends its days—unclaimed and uncared for—in a casual ward or hospital. The Derivish offers a rare opportunity in skeletons, and through the expense of transport is very great, the type of skeleton he makes is sure to command a price sufficiently high to cover the extra cost of freight."

"Only a small percentage have come to London—the rest have been distributed among the other large European cities such as Vienna, Berlin and Paris. Great care has to be taken in selecting specimens from a battlefield, for those with shattered or broken bones will not furnish an active skeleton of Frenchmen should be so much whiter than British bones. The large importation of French skeletons after the war quite changed the public taste as to the color of bones, for there are fashions and tastes in bones as in other marketable wares.

"It doesn't matter how much you artificially bleach English-bred bones. They always remain yellowish, than those of our friends across the channel. And a very white skeleton invariably fetches a pound or two more than a brownish-yellow one, though of course time and exposure to air will darken and discolor the very whitest bones."

Life Was a Burden

Letter that Tells of Trial and Sufferings

A New and Joyous Existence Experienced After Use of the Wonderful Medicine

Mrs. M. E. Lampman, of Woodstock, Ont., writes as follows regarding her regretful suffering and agony—

"After serious consideration, I think it my duty to acknowledge that great good that I have derived from Paine's Celery Compound. No living mortal can imagine the sufferings I endured for four months. This demon 'La Grippe' got a fast hold of me; I became nervous and was so prostrated that I could not sleep night or day.

"I was reduced to a mere skeleton, and life became a burden. My appetite was very poor and I was so extremely nervous that I could not sleep with me any person in the room with me.

"One Sabbath afternoon I read one of your books, and found that Paine's Celery Compound had cured many people. I thought I would try a bottle, and bought one that afternoon and commenced taking it according to directions. The result was almost instant. I continued the use of the Compound, with this result that I can now sleep well at night and feel rested when morning comes. My appetite is good, I am gaining in flesh, and feel like a new person.

"I cannot find words to express my gratitude for your great Paine's Celery Compound, and for the wonderful cure it has brought about. I am 73 years of age and can now walk five miles without feeling very tired. I am talking my friends and neighbors who are skeptical and nervous and feel-

I reported to Hood's Sarsaparilla and after taking five bottles I was greatly benefited. I feel as well now as ever in my life, and have increased in flesh so that I now weigh 177 pounds. I am well known in this part of the country, having followed my profession, that of a violin musician, for the last 25 years. I gladly tell my friends what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. ways says, 'What's the use of a freight train?' 'Well, one of the things I'm going to stand this sort of life."

"All the same, when Bill starts to go to the dentist his train begins to head, and he is so scared that the tooth stops aching. But when he turns back and reaches the house the tooth is aching

Bill again. Now, Bill thinks of a great idea. What does he do but buy a piece of strong string (say, you know this kind of string) and he wraps this around his tooth and he keeps it tight until it comes off. Then Bill walks down to the dentist's office. You see, it was his idea to tie the string to a freight car, and then when the train started it would pull the tooth out.

"He finds a freight and ties the string to the coupler of the last car and stands around to wait until the train starts.

Well, as he begins to feel chilly about the girls. The more he thinks of the time when the train is going to move the more he feels. Every time a whistle blows he jumps. 'Well, I guess I'd better untie,' thinks Bill, 'and come again another day,' but when he goes to untie the string he finds that it's no go, and he can't just the thing loose because the other end is on the tooth.

"Well, sir, that train begins to start, and Bill he doesn't have the nerve to stand back, so he just tries to hold himself on the end of a chain. 'When are you going, Bill?' he hears out a fellow.

"You come to be in a hurry," Well, sir,

Bill starts to swear like mad, but the train is beginning to go a little faster, and he has to commence to hop like a jack rabbit.

Now, the train had been going through the city, but now it started to get outside.

Bill didn't have the nerve to stand still,

so he just humped himself after the train like it was something that he wanted bad.

"Say, mister, why are you running that way?" asked a trainman who got on to the thing. Of course that sort of guy made Bill madder than ever, but he had to hop on. Lucky for Bill the train had to slow up for a crossing, and while it stopped he borrowed a knife and cut the string. But, say, it was funny to see Bill chasing the freight."—New Orleans

AT PARIS IN 1900!

INTERNATIONAL PLAN IN CONNEC-TION WITH THE EXHIBITION.

A Religious Congress and Its Superb Building The Scheme Described by
M. August Delaigle, the Originator.
The Interest in the Scheme.

The crowning scheme to make the Paris exposition of 1900 the most wonderful that the world has ever seen is now being urged upon the attention of religious people all over the world. The proposition is to build in connection with the exposition a great congress of religions, and the plans for the building in which the congress is to be held provide for a structure that will be one of the wonders of the world.
The scheme originated with M. Auguste Delaigle, a well known literature and Abbé Joseph (Pastor of the Church of St. J. and St. Etienne, Paris).
M. Delaigle visited most of the European cities of importance and made a thorough census of the half of the scheme, and he has just arrived in this country, recommended by Sir Nugent Halsham, to see what he can do to awaken enthusiasm here in favor of the congress.

In describing the great building this to be erected for the congress, M.
Delaigle said:
"It will be one of the most wonderful structures that the world has ever seen. Imagine a building covering an space as large as the Esplanade Terminus, surrounded by a dome nearly three times the size of the largest dome ever made in connection with any building. The dome alone will be a sight second to none in the exposition. To give it beauty and architectural grace the great dome will be surrounded by a series of pillars, and the windows, of the richest stained glass, will shed a lovely light on an interior that will be a marvel of architectural art.

"I have spoken of the dome first, because it will be the most wonderful feature of the building, but there are other beauties so numerous that it is impossible to do justice to them in a day or two. The structure, and then the sighter will find fresh features to admire. From the ground the building will rise to a series of terraces, which will support hanging gardens.

"Under the cupolas that will surround the central dome there will be representations in panoramic views of the events in which Christians are most interested. The scenes on Calvary will be graphically depicted; the agony in the Garden of Gethsemane and other scenes in the life of Christ will be shown in a striking manner.

A STORY OF NAPOLEON.

His Liberated a Bookman of Georgetown

Request.

Napoleon had at one time many admirers in England, especially among the commercial classes, who suffered deeply from the war, but he alienated the sympathy of all such by his cruel arrest of the English who were in France at the time of the rupture of the peace of Amiens, in 1803. Some 15,000 English of both sexes were thus detained in prisons, captivity fill the close of the war, and hardly a handful to the middle and upper classes but had to be the absence of some friend or connection.

Yet in individual cases Napoleon showed some magnanimity. A young Scottishman, one Robert Murray, from Glasgow, a scientific dyer and chemist and in the service of the peace to visit the great manufacturing business of France, and he was staying at Jersey, where Onemure had established a huge cotton printing factory, when war suddenly broke out. Murray was thereupon considered a prisoner by the authorities, but allowed to remain on parole at Jersey.

Napoleon one day visited the factory and was greatly interested in the machinery.
He made a rapid progress through the works. Villagers and work people, the latest numbering 1,000, assembled to witness his departure, cheering the carriage and cheering still louder when the emperor was seen to take the road from his own house and off to the east of the island.
One-mure, who was still in the island, and the picture is still to be found upon the walls of Versailles. But Onemure had still something to ask. Napoleon smiled pleasantly, but made a very short answer to the question, which was for the release of the prisoner.
"An Englishman?" "No, sir, a Scotchman."
The emperor—his story depend on his instance. "Well, he shall be free, then," said the emperor.—Household Words.

Physicians as a class are opposed to what they call "patent medicines." It is not that they openly endorse them. Now and then, however, some doctor, who has been the eye witness of a remarkable cure by the use of Dr. Pierce's remedies, feels it a duty to tell what he knows.

Dr. Joseph Pike,
of Lowell, Mass., writes:
"I am a man of

For more than thirty years Dr. R. V.
Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has enjoyed a far larger practice than many physicians who charge large fees for advice. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made without alcohol, and is a preparation based upon his extensive experience with diseases. It is a temperance medicine, pure and simple, and without alcohol, whiskey, sugar or syrup to preserve its properties, keeps perfectly in its original condition for any length of time.
Others may imitate the remedy; they cannot imitate its cure. Let no one talk you into using an imitation medicine as a substitute for Dr. Pierce's. Sick people who cannot visit Buffalo may consult Dr. Pierce by mail. He gives free, faithfully advice for treating and curing diseases of a chronic, obstinate and lingering nature. No charge is made for such consultation.

WORK FOR WOMEN
IN THE NEAR FUTURE

THE KLONDIKE WILL BE A GOOD PLACE FOR THEM.

So says Miss Flora Shaw, Correspondent of the Times and Describer Her Travels With Gold Miners.

London, Feb. 13.—Miss Flora Shaw, the lady who recently visited the Klondike as special correspondent for the Times, recently described her experiences for the members of the Colonial Institute, showing that the woman traveller enjoys many advantages over her rivals of the stronger sex. "I was usually the only woman of the party," she said, "and where a man would have had to make way for himself, my way was made for me by a common consent of kindness in the men around. If food was short, there was always a portion for the lady." The miners of Klondike are even more gentle than Miss Shaw's tender-hearted giant. On one occasion Miss Shaw found a pot of jam on her table on board ship. In reply to a question, she was informed that it had been put there by "Bismarck"—the nick name of a German emigrant—to make up for an oath which he had sworn in her hearing that day. "In presence of unbroken ice," she puts it, "at Bismarck's is friendly." Miss Shaw says that the absence of homes in Dawson explains the existence of saloons. Presently, Miss Shaw, believes, there will be plenty of work for women to do at the Klondike. The place is not a fiasco. Dawson City is the threshold of new fields of wealth to be opened in the northern regions. By next spring there will be no more difficulty in going to the Klondike than in going to the Rhine. Last year Miss Shaw was the twenty thousandth person who had gone over the pass. Next year, thanks to the railway soon to be opened, she anticipates a still greater rush and she believes the people who go will settle down and add a new province to the Empire. She herself went to Klondike a skeptic, and returned an enthusiast. Among the most interesting of Miss Shaw's auditors was her chairman, whose recollections of Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal almost challenged one to remember that his patronymic was Smith. Although never in the Klondike region, Lord Strathcona according to Miss Shaw, has been in parts of Canada where he was glad to eat his shoes.

London, Feb. 13.—At the fiftieth annual dinner of the Mayors of Ontario, Mr. John Hare said that the drama was a very healthy condition; indeed, it was doubtful if at any time it had been so vigorous or more vigorous. In claiming this vigorous condition for the British stage, he said it was not so much for its pre-eminence in any one of its branches—though a stage possessing such writers as P. B. Sherrin, Gilbert, Grady, Carson, Jones, Parker and Barrie, and a school of actors headed by an Irving, had much to be proud of—but the pure, healthy standard of taste which animated English authors and managers today, that was the chief cause of congratulation. No other city should boast of management, existing without subsidy, so honorable in their endeavor, artists in their aim, as those of the Lyceum, Haymarket, Her Majesty's, St. James, Criterion, Court, and, in their higher aims, the Savoy and Daly's.

CHINESE REBELS SUCCESSFUL
Shanghai, Feb. 13.—Shanghai, the third most important city in the Province of Anhui, is now besieged by 10,000 well armed rebels. The Imperial General is unopposed in the city, but is unable to send reinforcements to recapture Ku-Yang. He was defeated on January 23, losing 2000 men. If Shouhou falls, all the northern and central portions of Anhui will be at the mercy of the rebels.

JUSTICE TO THE GENERALS.
Havana, Feb. 13.—Major Miranda, who was one of the members of the staff of the late General O'Leary Garcia and who is now employed in the postal service, was the only officer to assist in carrying the coffin of his late commander at the funeral of General Garcia on Saturday. The fact that the other officers were chiefly obscure negroes has caused a feeling of indignation. The police arrangements were also very inadequate. At the cemetery, the rabble invaded the obsequies, broke through the gates of the Governor-General's wall, and the other American officers were obliged to force their way in behind the casket. Afterwards, when the coffin was borne from the chapel to the grave, a struggling crowd of dirty ragged negroes impeded the progress of the hearse, and the Governor-General's staff and other officers of honor of the city and the American generals were greatly buffeted and jostled.

THE BISHOP'S WARNING.
Havana, Feb. 13.—The Bishop of Havana has published a warning to heads of families not to trust the education of their children to other than Catholic teachers. The bishop says there is great danger that now, owing to the advent of many Protestants and new liberties in the matter of creeds and worship, the obligation will be neglected.

ONE OF THE BEST AND MOST EFFICIENT men of the active force of Havana was shot and killed Saturday night while attempting to arrest a negro.

THE SEAMER BULGARIA.
London, Feb. 13.—The Hamburg-American Steamship Company has issued a statement regarding the company's steamer, Bulgaria. The company's statement is to the effect that they have been advised that the Bulgaria's hull was injured, but that her commander, Cap. Schmidt, considered the situation so free from danger that he declined the Wechsungen's offer to take the Bulgaria in tow.

ALARMS AT BLUMFELDS.
Kingston, Jamaica, Feb. 13.—In response to a very alarming appeal from Blumfields, Nicaragua, by cable, via Colon, Columbia, the Governor of Jamaica today dispatched the British steamship cruiser Ince as full speed to protect British interests there. The report received here says that Governor of Rivas, the Governor of that port of Nicaragua has started a revolution along the whole department of the Atlantic which involves practically all the foreign merchants and residents. The situation is said to have developed alarming complications involving the presence of warships to protect foreigners and their property.

GENERAL GARCA'S FUNERAL.
Havana, Feb. 11.—The funeral of the late General O'Leary Garcia took place, the entire population of the city turning out to do honor to the dead commander. For the first time since the American occupation of Havana, armed Cuban troops were permitted to assist in the funeral. The participation in the funeral of the American military and naval authorities added importance and dignity to the occasion, making a deep impression upon the populace. In the procession were the band of the Spanish Cavalry Regiment, mounted police, 25 degrees of the Order of Isabella, the Havana Cavalry and six batteries of the Second Artillery.

MILDER WEATHER.
To-morrow will be a more dainty weather and Wednesday quite mild.

Householders who have to ride the past four days found the greatest solace in sitting over hot radiators and fondly embracing stove pipes will learn with delight that warmer weather is at hand. The cold wave has spent itself, and is breaking up rapidly. To-morrow an appreciable difference will have taken place in the temperature, and by Wednesday we may expect weather of comparative mildness, with no immediate prospect that the cold king will make any serious onslaught on us.

The cold spell has lasted about five days. Commencing on Thursday last with four below zero, the mercury rose on Friday to eight below, and on Saturday to 12 below, when it reached its zenith. On Sunday there was a drop to 10 below, with a further fall to 7 below, so that by to-morrow we shall be well out of the woods, the Observatory officials assuring us that a still further rise in temperature will take place within the next twenty-four hours. Generally speaking, there is a rise in temperature throughout the province. To-day may be regarded as the last cold day we may have for some time.

To use the technical language of the weather chart, "The Northwest anti-cyclone has passed to the Southwest States, a depression now covers the Northwest, and much milder weather will ensue, and the effect has been to seriously depress barometer during the last few days the thermometer did not register above zero. On Friday and Saturday nights the cury dropped to 23-2 degrees below, and during last night got down to 25 degrees below, the lowest temperature in the history of London. At eight o'clock this morning the official thermometer registered 22 below.

LOW TEMPERATURE IN LONDON.
London, Ont., Feb. 13.—The weather here for the past sixteen days has been the coldest in recorded history, and the effect has been to seriously depress barometer during the last few days the thermometer did not register above zero. On Friday and Saturday nights the cury dropped to 23-2 degrees below, and during last night got down to 25 degrees below, the lowest temperature in the history of London. At eight o'clock this morning the official thermometer registered 22 below.

WEATHER IN BOSTON.
Boston, Feb. 13.—The heavy snow-storm which began here on Saturday increased in force during the night, and this morning a high northwest wind was driving the wind into big drifts and in filling in the streets and covering the railroad tracks with masses of snow that soon began to delay traffic in spite of all efforts to keep open the lines. The thermometer stood at about 12 degrees above zero.

A HEAVY RECORD OF FIRES

Patients Cramped in the backbones in some Asylums.

Yankton, S.D., Feb. 12.—One of the most horrifying fires in the history of Yankton, occurred this morning at 2 o'clock at the State Insane Asylum, when one of the cottages took fire in the basement, completely gutting the building and causing the loss of the lives of 17 inmates, confined there. The names of those missing are: Augusta Berre, Julia Erickson, Elizabeth Olson, Martha Tranyson, Elizabeth Stolpe, Mrs. Kampman, Maggie Flynn, Lucia Gossage, Adeline Hurley, Christian Johnston, Jennie Kronig, Lucia Keane, Caroline Lindberg, Katie Platava, Gaili Swanson.

The cottage was of stone and granite walls, with wooden interior, and intended for laundry purposes, but owing to the crowded condition, 40 of the female patients were placed, and the laundry was operated in the basement. The exact cause of the fire is not known, except that it originated in the dry room of the laundry. The lack of water greatly hindered the work of the firemen.

A TRIBUTE OF SONG.

There is no place on earth where utter helplessness comes out so strongly, where the ceremonies in human use fall so powerless before the majesty of the occasion, as at a funeral. It need not be that one's heart shall be interested. The obsequies of a stranger conducted with all the pomp and vanity of church and state, with the melancholy rolling drum of the military funeral, or the gorgeousness of the Masonic regalia apron—all are alike inadequate and unavailing.

But once in my life I witnessed a ceremony that was so grand, impressive and appropriate to the silent, awful occasion. I will tell you of a funeral which lingers in my memory as the grandest, most solemn and fitting ceremony that was ever given to the dead. It was rumored many years ago that a poor widowed woman, leading a hard life of unending labor, was called to part with the one thing dear to her—her only child. Mother and daughter had lived together for 15 years, and the only bit of sunshine falling into their dark lives was that shed by their loving companionship. But the girl had always been sickly. Under the heart-broken mother's eyes she had faded and wasted away with consumption, and at least the day came when the sun had failed to smother with its gleams into the anxious, tear-blinded eyes of the mother.

The poor young creature was dead. For many months the pair had been supported by the older woman's sewing, and it was in the character of employer I had become acquainted with Mrs. Crump and her story. By an occasional visit to the awful heights of an earthly torment where they lived, by a few words and with some comforting words, I had won the love of the dying girl. Her grateful thoughts turned in her last hours to the small number of friends she possessed, and she brought her mother to notify me of the day of her funeral and ask me to attend.

The summons reached me upon one of the wildest days of winter. A frost that was not rain and a rain that was not snow came pelting from all points of the compass. A wind that whistled in the chimney and howled in the street told how truly dreadful for outdoor purposes was the weather of the day. I piled the glowing grate, I drew closer the curtains and shut out the gloom of the December afternoon. I turned on the gas and sat down, devoutly thankful that I had not on that connection with the wretched weather, when an installment of it burst in on me in the shape of Parvula Rosa. She was Euphrosyne Parvula at that time, and the operative idol of the city. Muffled with tippets, fleeced with mow, glowing with the element rushing up the steps from her carriage, she threw herself into an easy chair and proclaimed the horrors of the outer world to be beyond description.

And even as we congratulated ourselves on the prospect of a delightful day together there came the summons for me to go to the humble funeral of the poor sewing woman's daughter. I turned the little tear-blotted note over and over.

REVIEW OF THE OLD TESTAMENT.

The most ancient Hebrew manuscript of any part of the Bible is in St. Petersburg and dates no earlier than the tenth century. More than 2,000 copies of the Hebrew Old Testament have been compared, and very few variations have been found. This is accounted for by the fact that from the time when the Hebrew canon was formed, and even before that time, very strict rules were laid down for the scribes who copied the Bible. The lines and letters were counted, and each copy had to correspond precisely with the one from which it was taken. They calculated, for instance, that there were 8,848 verses in the Pentateuch, 23,506 in the whole Bible and 78,100 letters in Genesis. All these rules and calculations were called the Masorah tradition, and about the tenth century the college of rabbis of Tiberias, on the Euphrates, decided upon a standard Bible or "authorized version."

The Hebrew consonants alone had been written down up to that time, the pronunciation being a matter of tradition. Now a system of vowel signs was devised, fixing the tones in many instances. The vowels are just as important in Hebrew as in English; so it is easy to see how necessary this reform was. The English consonants b, d, g may be read hard or broad, or hard or broad, and if they occurred in a sentence without the vowels we should have to guess by the connection which vowels were necessary. It is possible that after a text had been adopted in the Hebrew manuscripts were destroyed, or more probably were neglected because of their defects, and hence they have altogether disappeared.—Review of B.

SPANISH PRESS CENSOR

STRUGGLE TO GET A MESSAGE TO AN AMERICAN NEWS-PAPER.

The man who represents a newspaper in a military campaign has about the most difficult position of any man on the ground. He must expose himself to all sorts of dangers to get the news. A dozen other correspondents are watching with keenest interest and eagle eyes to see and get something that the other fellows don't get, and then there is the race to see who gets the wires first. It is not enough to be a correspondent where all these conditions are to be met, but in the Spanish American war there were only a fraction of the difficulties that harassed the war correspondent. His great tormenter was the Spanish censor, who generally had the judgement of a child and the conceit of a game cock. Having come from the scene of operations with his note book well filled with interesting stuff, the correspondent must first write his article in English then rush round to the cafe and drag his interpreter forth by main force, march him to a hotel and stand over him while he translates. While this is going on the clock keeps right on measuring off time, and the small hand gets nearer and nearer to the mark which is the moment when the little wooden door at the cable office comes down with a bang, and the people inside would not open it again for all the wealth that lies buried in the Kiondike. After the interpreter has finished his translation there is a hurried run for a cab. The correspondent sees three or four other correspondents waiting for the cab's office about the same time, and the horrible truth is borne to him that if he waits while the censor slowly plods through the articles of the other correspondents his story, which he knows is a scoop, will not be done in time to be published if his paper only came out but once a month, instead of every morning.

So he and his interpreter dance up and down the road, and him "fat-man," the traditional way of calling a cab in Havana, unless the crowd of admiring Cubans drawn up on the sidewalk point them out to the soldiers as fit subjects for arrest. Finally a cab is secured. The correspondent and interpreter climb in, over the doors and shriek "El palacio, el palacio, vaya usted." The cab driver, who will go just so fast whether he is driving for his life or merely around the block to see a friend lately alaps the lines on his horse's back, and the procession moves away. Arrived at the palace, the correspondent and his interpreter shoot through the great doors, wildly salute the palace guard, who regards them with such kindness and good-will that they immediately fix bayonets, while the correspondent, and his aide-jockey, flee up the palace steps, five steps at a jump.

After colliding with a fierce-looking major, who wears a mustache, and bumping his head into the stomach of a soldier who is much taller than he, and lay his hand on his sword, the correspondent reaches the head of the stairs, pushes his way through more soldiers, and then stands in the sainted presence of the censor's secretary, who sits his finger over his lips and murmurs "shush" as he tips the correspondent into the room where the censor sits in a state of the correspondent sits down and reads his article and as he reads he looks at his office clock. He sees that the censor can be heard in another expostulation as he reads the article that has been just laid before him. The momentary pause. The clock points to 15 minutes of 10. The correspondent grows pale, and over looks five "thens" and six "and's" which have a cash value of several dollars calling for a sarcastic cablegram next day requesting that in the future it might be a good idea for the correspondent to abstain from his gawling epistles. Finally the secretary stands up stiffly. He waves his hand and says in sepulchral tones, "Adelante."

The correspondent advances clear over a chair and drops down in front of the censor as though he had fallen out of a balloon. The great penman frowns. He picks up the copy in Spanish that the interpreter lays before him and handles it as though it were a skull just dug out from a grave. He reads a line, then he stops and glares at the correspondent, and the correspondent feels as though he had been caught red-handed stealing pennies out of the poor box at the church. "Ah," says the censor, "Carramba!"

The interpreter meekly objects. He rules up to the censor like a sick kitten to a warm oven and purrs softly, but the censor still glares at the correspondent.

"Carramba!" he says. The correspondent knows he is not a sneak-thief, but to save his life he could not deny the accusation at that moment. The clock shows eight minutes to 10.

The cold sweat rolls out on the forehead of the correspondent. The censor turns to the interpreter, and his words harsh and stern roll out in a voice that reminds the correspondent of clouds dropping on a coffin.

The interpreter purrs softly again, and then meekly piteously. He turns to the correspondent and says: "Signor Censor he says soldiers did not stab Cuban. He says the Cuban stabbed the soldiers."

"But I saw it," says the correspondent, meekly. "He says he saw it," says the interpreter in Spanish. The censor speaks in low, solemn tones, like a judge passing sentence of death, and the correspondent looks for the soldiers to come in and hurry him away to execution. He says "Carramba!" again. The correspondent shudders. He says "Carramba!" much Spanish himself, and whenever the censor says it, he feels as though somebody had doused him with ice water. The interpreter tries to purr again but the censor makes a grab into the drawer. The correspondent wonders whether he is going to bring up a revolver or a dagger, but instead he fishes out a red pencil and he strikes and stabs and rends the copy that has been laid before him. Then he waves through each page, while the clock ticks like the ticking of the clock of destiny.

Just as the old Roman began and every speech with the terrible words "Carthago must be destroyed," so the Spanish censor begins and ends each page with the awful word, "Carramba!" He paints a red streak all over the page, and the correspondent wonders why he doesn't use a white-wash brush and a can of red paint instead of an ordinary red lead pencil. Finally the censor finishes. He waves his hand over the copy and pronounces his benediction. "Carramba!" he says. The censor turns up contemptuously and he points at the copy and says something—that the correspondent tries to remember, so as to know whether the censor was calling him a chimney sweep or a chicken thief.

The interpreter grabs up the copy like a hospital corps picking up the wounded during a battle. He bears it to the room where the secretary waits. It is four minutes to 10 o'clock. The secretary takes the copy, page by page, and puts it into a stamping machine. He stamps each page as though it were an order for the American government to pay the Spanish government $5,000,000 in gold and the money not to be paid unless the stamp in legible. The palace shakes under the ponderous blows of the stamping machine. Then the correspondent and the interpreter make upon the pikes fly out past the soldiers, who spring to arms again, and jump into their cab, shouting "El cable!"

The cab arrives at the cable station just as the man inside is putting down a hand and shows the exasperated Spanish edition into the office just in the little window descends on his fingers. He hears the operator invite murmur an anathema. The operator does not say "Carramba!" He says plain United States "d—n" but the correspondent is happy. His story is on the wire and he feels that his country is saved.

DUPED BY HIS CLIENT
HOW A LAWYER AIDED A PRISONER TO ESCAPE ON A FORGERY CHARGE.

It was shortly after I had moved from Jeffersonville to Cincinnati, in the early days of my practice, when, one day late in the afternoon, a tall, dark-eyed stranger entered and inquired if I was Mr. Sherman. Upon receiving an affirmative reply he handed me a sealed envelope and hastily withdrew. On opening it I was surprised to see a $100 bill roll out, but was even more surprised to read the following note, written apparently in a disguised hand—

"Mr. Sherman, Dear Sir,—The enclosed $100 is to retain you for L. L. Lundt, just imprisoned here on the charge of forgery. You will please see him at once, and make arrangements for engaging another attorney. More money will be forthcoming, as required."

For days previously the newspapers of the city had been teeming with the accounts of Lundt and the details of his arrest. Long sensational articles were printed of as many alleged forgeries as Lundt had committed, extending throughout almost the entire west. By his cleverness and shrewdness he had for years succeeded in eluding capture.

After reading the note I went immediately to the jail, and after several more consultations, in the course of a few days, he decided he would have no additional counsel.

It was late one dark, rainy afternoon that he handed me a large bunch of papers, written very closely on both sides, at the same time requesting me most earnestly to mail them to his wife at once, explaining impressively that they contained detailed instructions regarding some property in St. Louis, and that he could secure money for the case if the latter should reach her by the following day. Otherwise it would be too late.

Well, four days, probably more, from the day the letter was mailed, when one morning as I picked up the paper I was utterly startled to see at first glance at the front page in heavy headlines, "Lundt indicated for murder at St. Louis," and was completely dumfounded to find that the man whose wife is the prisoner, and has furnished conclusive evidence of his crime. The article proceeded to state that Mrs. Lundt had arrived in town, and was being held almost immediately before the grand jury, which was then sitting. Mrs. Lundt had sworn that about one year previously Lundt and an accomplice of the name of Pitts had been in Yazoo, while engaged in a scheme of robbing a train, and that they were to be delivered at St. Louis, where they were to be well it afterwards, and pocket the proceeds. That Lundt one time, while in Yazoo, had confessed to her that, while in Yazoo, the two men which Pitts made a threat to expose some of Lundt's crimes. Upon realizing that who really Pitts at any time in a spirit of revenge could turn state's evidence, and send him to the penitentiary for many terms, he determined at once to kill him. So one day on the pretext of visiting a planter, he invited Pitts to accompany him. After driving about seven miles above Yazoo, Lundt suddenly stabbed him to death, threw the body into a river and hid the knife under a fallen tree.

The letter had been found in the very place designed by Mrs. Lundt. Some of the townspeople, it was also reported, remembered those two men very well, and said that request papers would be prepared without delay, and every effort made to bring him to Mississippi, where the notorious criminal would speedily receive his just punishment. And here the newspaper account ended.

As I hastened to the prison my imagination pictured the distress this news would surely cause him, possibly crush him completely. But, somewhat to my confusion, he merely seemed much interested, and keenly desirous to know all the details. So I handed him the paper to read for himself and watched him as he perused each line, but he evinced no other feeling than that of subdued satisfaction and uttered not one word of reproach against his wife. Thus my whole interview resulted in nothing practical, for he would neither discuss the merits of the charge, whether he was guilty or not, or propose a line of defense.

The news was received with much gratification by the author, feeling as they did that he would now be placed in a position where he would no longer pray upon the business men of the country. No, of course, his requisition was facilitated in every way by them, and within the next few days he bid me good-bye at the station.

Days and weeks passed without receiving any word from him. I felt an interest in the outcome of the case and always scanned the newspapers for any news from Yazoo, but there was very little until one day after about two months telegraphic news announced that Lundt had been suddenly heard in court on a habeas corpus proceeding, released, and as suddenly disappeared. Bribery undue influence, and many other evil things were hinted.

By chance late one night as I stood on the steps of the depot at Louisville, Ky., awaiting the hour for the train to take me to my home in Cincinnati, I noticed the lighted windows of a tobacco store opposite, and to my surprise the time I had waited across to buy a cigar. I was about approaching the door to leave, when the man behind the counter addressed me, saying he believed I was Mr. Sherman. I turned around rather surprised that any man there should know me.

"Well, I thought I recognized you," he continued, "although it's been most seven years since I saw you. Ah! You do not remember me? I don't you remember the man who called at your office in Cincinnati and handed you an envelope with a $100 bill in it to engage you for Lundt—L. L. Lundt? I'm the man," he said, in a subdued voice. "And you remember Lundt was taken to Mississippi for murdering Pitts. Well, I'm the man who came out down back here and I will tell you all about it, for I know there are some things in it you don't know."

After his arrest I came right on to Cincinnati to get an attorney for him quickly, and went straight to your office. Then I hurried off to St. Louis to look after Lundt's interests there, and be of what assistance I could. You remember the letters in cipher—those were our cipher code, and that's the way I corresponded with him. One day he wrote saying he had a plan that would free him if his wife would help. Once free he promised to go with her to some other country, live honest and be happy. She wrote back immediately saying she would give her life if necessary. Then came that long letter, the last one you ever mailed for me. He afterwards told me when in Mississippi that he was afraid you wouldn't send that letter, and he told it was about some very urgent property matters—Well in it he gave us the details of that great plan for his escape, and the instructions for us to follow. It was a fact that I was in Yazoo at one time and while there I was suspected of being a spy. We then decided to separate and get out. So he really hid drive away with me one day and returned alone at night, and the people did suspiciously saying she would give her life if necessary. The GRAMOPHONE

Most fascinating invention of the age. Always ready to entertain. It reproduces the music of bands, orchestras, vocalists or instrumental soloists. There is nothing like it for an evening's entertainment. Other so-called machines reproduce only records of cutaneous sounds, specially prepared in a laboratory, but the Gramophone reproduces the music of the human voice, and its charm is over them. The reproductions are clear and brilliant.

Gramophones are sold for $10 to $100.

It Hangs On

If it was only health, we might let it cling. But it is a cough. One cold no sooner passes off before another comes. But it's the same old cough all the time. And it's the same old story, too. There is first the cold, then the cough, then pneumonia or consumption with the long sickness, and life trembling in the balance.

Ayer's
Cherry
Pectoral

loosens the grasp of your cough. The congestion of the throat and lungs is removed; all inflammation is subdued; the parts are put perfectly at rest and the cough drops away. It has no diseased tissues on which to hang.

Dr. Ayer's
Cherry Pectoral Plaster

draws out inflammation of the lungs.

Remember we have a Medical Department. If you have any cough, cold, or any other ailment, write to us for a free copy of our book, "The Cough and Croup," which will tell you how to cure them. Write to Dr. J. C. Ayer, Lowell, Mass.

HOW MR. G.B. SHAW VIEWS DISARMAMENTMEN WOULD FIGHT IF THEY HAD TO USE THEIR FISTS.

"The Greater the Massacre the Better" is the Paradoxical Way of Enforcing Peace Arguments.

London, Feb. 14.—When Mr. G. B. Shaw, the dramatist, wrote "Arms and the Man," he made the soldier-hero of the entertaining drama fill his ammunition pouch not with cartridges, but with chocolate creams. If the author were to republish the play now, he would probably dedicate it to the Czar and Mr. W. T. Stead. But Mr. Shaw has no faith in his parable. He astonished his literary brethren at a conference on disarmament held at Lincoln and by proclaiming as a lover of peace his hostility to the disarmament movement. "The worse you can make the massacre the better," was his paradoxical conclusion, "because by that means you may open men's eyes to the folly of war by machinery." A reduction of armaments would have no effect. "Reduce men to their aboriginal weapons of fists, teeth and claws," said Mr. Shaw, "and they will still fight if they want to." It is in the proposal for an international tribunal of arbitration that this candid critic sees hope, and he thinks that every effort should be concentrated on that part of the Czar's scheme rather than wasted on a "Christmas card platitude" about disarmament.

MANY STORIES OF WRECKED.
London, Feb. 14.—Accounts of the effects of the gale of yesterday and Sunday are arriving. Fishing boats that have returned to East coast harbors report severe damage to boats and injuries to men. A steamer was wrecked in the Portland Roadstead yesterday evening. Her crew was rescued by a tug.

A steamer with a large saloon lighted by electricity passed St. Albans Head, going down the channel, early this morning. It is feared that she foundered in the terrific storm.

The British steamer Omistone, Capt. Outram, from Glasgow January 2nd, for New York is much overdue, but her owners say that they are not alarmed for her safety, and that she is probably lying outside the harbor of New York.

A significant indication of the fury of the recent gale is shown by the fact that announcements of wrecks overflow the ordinary casualty bulletin board at Lloyd's, and titles by the reserve and the war bulletin boards are pasted around the walls. This is something the like of which is not remembered by the oldest members of the exchange.

NEW CHWANG IS IN TERROR.
Port Townsend, Washington, Feb. 14.—The steamer Olympia has arrived from the Orient bringing late advices as follows: The Province of New Chwang is in a state of terror, occasioned by the appearance of 1,000 mounted bandits. Numerous outrages have been committed on residents. The merchants have moved their goods to a treaty port, 30 miles south of the invaded districts. Grave fears are entertained that the bandits contemplate a raid on the latter place which is being fortified.

By the breaking of the ice on a river leading to Tien-Tsin 200 people were precipitated in the water. One hundred and six were drowned.

A report has reached official circles at Peking that a massacre was despatched to Japan to take the life of the Emperor of Japan. Great excitement was caused by the rumor, and a thorough investigation has been ordered.

ANARCHY IN SAMOA.
Auckland, N.Z., Feb. 14.—Advices received here from Samoa under date of February 8 report that anarchy and rebellion still prevail there. The provincial Government persists in interfering with the British subjects, and also with servants of British residents.

A LONDON WEDDING.
London, Feb. 14.—The Times announces the marriage in London on April next of Mr. Philip Crossley, to Miss Frances Redfield, daughter of the late Mr. Redfield, of Albany, N.Y.

BAD WEATHER IN THE STATES.
New York, Feb. 14.—Though the storm has abated the situation as regards railway traffic is still most serious. The city is still cut off from the outside world to a serious extent. No out of town mail has been received in the city during last night, and carriers had consequently nothing to deliver but the local mail, which was a sufficiently hard task. The fuel supply of the city is beginning to be affected by the absence of transportation, and prices have increased.

WASHINGTON SNOW BURIED.
Washington, Feb. 14.—The storm which passed over the city last night left snowdrifts in some places eight feet in height, and only one cable line was in operation. Since Sunday, February 5, 35 inches of snow have fallen here, 14 inches last Sunday, all through the Southern States records of cold weather were broken.

MORE GOLD BRICKS.
Rat Portage, Feb. 14.—The harvest of gold bricks goes forward without cessation. The citizens brought in about $12,000 worth two weeks ago and another lot has just been brought in from the same mine. It is said that the ore is improving in the mine, and that in consequence the output is increasing.

The Mikado sent in three big bricks which arrived yesterday night, and which were said to be valued at $11,500. These figures are not official and they may be more or less, but it is known, however, that the mine management lately received a gold brick mould from the United States of a capacity of 100 ounces with a pretty good evidence that there is a big lot of gold coming out of the mine these days.

The Miner says: It is about time that the Ontario Government made it compulsory for all mining companies to publish such information at stated periods not greater than three months. This district, a notorious one, is suffering because there is no way of getting at such facts. Such enactment would prevent wild-catting, and would be of benefit to both investors and the mining public.

GIRL SHOT AND KILLED.
New York, Feb. 14.—Carrie Gurbin, aged 16, was accidentally shot by Christopher P. McGee, this morning at Coeymans, about 12 miles from the city. P. McGee was cleaning a revolver when it discharged, and the bullet killed her instantly.

SOME OF THEM RESCUED.
Western Chicago Proper West skating and were carried into Lake Michigan. Chicago, Feb. 14.—On Saturday afternoon sixteen persons went skating on Lake Michigan and were carried on ice cakes out on the lake. Ten were found and brought back, the others being a bit out. This morning it is found that Sydney Morris, Charley Mobay and a policeman are also among the missing. They started out together at 9 o'clock to aid in the rescue of the missing skaters. Nothing has been heard from them since, and they are supposed to be adrift on the lake. The weather remains cold, with a galling wind blowing, and it is feared that none of the missing can survive. Prof. Ross and a number of other officials of Lake Forest Academy went to Waukegan, Ill., last night to secure a tug. An attempt was to be made to force their way out into the open water and search for the missing boys who were carried out into Lake Michigan by an ice flow yesterday.

Five of the six persons who were thought to have been lost on the ice have been rescued this morning. They were Elmer D. Brothers, Fred Marney, Chauncey Marney, Geo. Mahor, J. W. Carney, all of Chicago. Arthur Slader of Rogers Park is still missing.

Snap Shots With a Gramophone.
The Gramophone is to the ear what the photographic camera is to the eye and more, for the gramophone catches instantly and preserves every cry and sound. A most interesting feature of a Gramophone is its records of your friends' voices to be preserved for future use. You can catch the story of your jolly friend just as he told it, or the favorite song of some loved one, just as she sang it and have it reproduced perfectly at any time and as often as you please. Besides the Gramophone affords wonderful entertainment in the way of reproducing the music of bands, orchestras, or vocal or instrumental soloists. No instrument will return so much in pleasure as the purchase of a Gramophone. It is the perfect talking machine. MRS. DRIFTER'S SAY.

Mrs. Drifter grew confidential the other evening. Some of Drifter's friends had called, and the subject of his adventures in the South came up. "Of course, it is all right," said Mrs. Drifter. "For Drifter to tell about the trials he endured when he was the editor of a paper in Texas, I never put in such a time in my life. I expected that Drifter would come home to me with a lot of holes some night. When I was down at his office reading the proofs of that cunning little paper he got out a needle to make my blood run cold to hear those men talk about gun plays and so had made up in somebody's imagination."

Drifter reassured me by telling me that the crack of a pistol did not always mean that somebody had been hit. But you know what a brave man Drifter is. You can't kill either. You say you don't know anything about the time he saved our lives down in Texas? I don't think I ever realized before just how courageous Drifter is. You know I had not seen a ranch nor a herd of cattle since I arrived in Texas, and I begged Drifter to take me where the real Panhandle cattle could be seen, so he took me out to the stockyards beyond Fort Worth.

"Times were very, very hard down there, and the packing house was closed. There were no signs of life at the stockyards. We walked around and around the huge inclosure, and I tried to imagine what it must be like when the horns of Texas steers came in from the outside. We had gone quite a little distance from the high board fence, and were admiring the scenery, when some up came strolling along. We stood watching and admiring them until one of them or two had passed us, when all at once there loomed up before us an immense Texas bull. His manner was dignified and majestic. He looked at us, he snuffed his head, sniffed, and my heart gave a jump.

"That was when Drifter and his in-born bravery came to the front. It is needless to say that I was frightened. I know I could hear Drifter's heart beat, but it must have been anxiety for me, for he is not afraid of anything.

"The behind that tree," he said, "and his voice sounded as if it was away off somewhere, and I felt as if we were to be separated forever. Reassuringly he said:

"I will see that he does not touch you. With that he took out a little pocket knife, opened the blade, which was not over three inches long, and said: 'There' with as much defiance in his tone as if he had been behind a stone wall, and armed with a Martini rifle. Somehow or other we got to that fence at last. It was evident that Drifter would not let me take any chance, for he got there as soon as I did, and if you ever saw two people walk a high fence in the quickest possible space of time, it was Mr. and Mrs. Drifter.

"We sat there on the top of the fence until dusk, and Drifter never let go of the knife. I really believe that if the bull had attacked me Drifter would have stabbed him with that pocket knife. In the evening, after I had mustered up courage enough, we made our way keeping close by the fence, until we reached a little hotel connected with the stockyards. Drifter never said a word about the adventure, and you would not have thought he had done anything remarkable, but I know that he saved my life from the wild Texas bull.

"I took Mrs. Drifter's friends some time to rise to a proper appreciation of the courage displayed by her husband at that time of danger, and after she had fanned herself vigorously, she continued:

"You ought to get Drifter to tell you about the time he went out to the lake near Fort Worth. I was just dying for a sight of a body of water. It did seem to me as if I would dry up there in Texas unless I could get within sound of the ocean's roar, so Drifter did the best he could. He took me out to a private resort about five miles from the city, at a place called Arlington. The trolley cars ran there, and the company made a great fuss over the Arlington lake. I told Drifter I would be satisfied if I could find a few hours in a sailboat out there. At any rate, I would see a body of water once again in my life.

"Well, we had our dinner at the hotel, and I said: 'Now, Drifter, let us get right out on that lake as quick as we can.' The people in the hotel told us in what direction to walk to the lake, and we walked. We kept on walking, and not a sign of a lake was to be seen. At last we found our way back to the trolley line, and asked one of the railroad men where the Arlington lake was. 'Oh,' he said, 'I guess they have not turned the water on yet. There isn't much of a crowd. Last Sunday there was a big excursion, then you could have seen the lake full of water.'

"Turn the water on!" I exclaimed. "I thought they advertised railroads and boat lines and all that sort of thing." "Oh, they do, indeed," said the trolley man. "But you know it's pretty dry country down here, and they can't afford to waste water on that lake unless there's a crowd." Drifter smiled and said: "What I want to know is where the lake is and when there is any water."

"The trolley man was accommodating. He walked along with us, took us to a spot called a hill, and then pointed out a hole in the ground about 50 yards round, and as dry as the hotel porch. Of course, I was amused, but nevertheless disappointed.

"Never mind," said Drifter. "I will take you for a sail on the Trinity River some afternoon. They are talking now of running a line of boats on the Trinity from Galveston, and I will seem like old times to get on a real big excursion steamer."

"For the next week or two Trinity River navigation was thoroughly established in the Texas papers. As near as I could make out, the principal difficulty seemed to be that they were clearing the river of snags. I had heard and heard that snags were a thing of the past, and I fairly roared in the anticipation of a trip on the broad bosom of the Trinity. Then the newspapers began to print columns about the need of rain, and it was reported that the snag boats were tied up, owing to the

Mr. Chow's injured.
Mr. and Mrs. Richard Chowen left yesterday morning for Quebec, where their son, Mr. K. Chowen was injured in a hockey match last week. He was a member when he fell and struck his head on the side of the rink. No serious results were feared at the time but the fact of Mr. and Mrs. Chowen's departure would seem to indicate that the news had been heard.

Look out for him.
A neat little trick is being worked on boarding-house keepers in neighboring towns. A man calls and asks to see a room. He expresses his satisfaction with the one shown, and offers to pay a small sum of a dollar or two in advance, at the same time offering a five or a ten dollar bill. On receiving his change, the man, who appears, "never to come again," and the five or ten dollar bill turns out to be a Confederate bill worth nothing. The trick, is of course, subject to variation, and every one should watch that no Confederate bills are palmed off on them.

POTATOES SCARCE

Will the Late Cold Snap Send the Price Up?

There is considerable talk floating around the last day or two, that potatoes are to go up in price. In the larger centers, the price has already advanced some 5 to 7 cents more per bushel, though this may be only temporary.

There is some fear that the frost has got into the farmers' pits, where large quantities are yet stored and if this is the case, we would have to wait long to know that potatoes are up. From has got into cellars that have been introduced for years. We're not supposed to eat meat now and if potatoes go up, it will be a case of getting hit twice below the belt.

Church Notes.

Death of Mrs. Barnabas Cain.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Wm. Cook of Ashburnham received the sad news that her mother, Mrs. Barnabas Cain of Remus, Mich. had passed away. The deceased lady was a daughter of the late Mr. Crenshaw and was born in Ireland in the year 1820 and was consequently 78 years of age. She came to Canada when she was only three months old, and settled in Kingston, where she was married to Mr. Barnabas Cain. After the death of her husband, she came to Peterboro and lived with her daughter, Mrs. Cook for about ten years. She has since resided with her son, John Cain in Remus, where she died. Her surviving family consists of Mrs. William Cook of Ashburnham; Mr. James Cain of Kingston; Miss Lucy Cain of Mount Pleasant, Mich.; Mrs. J. H. Hamblin of Mount Pleasant, Mich.; Mr. Barnabas Cain of Remus; and Mr. John Cain of Remus.

Dear Sir:—Allow me to take issue with you on a paragraph appearing in a recent issue of your paper, using vaccination upon all, in view of the outbreak of smallpox in some of the eastern counties. I have a decidedly taken some interest in the question of vaccination and it does not put much faith in it. At any rate there is a need of the good people of Peterboro rushing to get vaccinated. Smallpox is getting less prevalent from year to year, conditions are changing and the time is coming when we will hear nothing further of it. The late W. E. Gladstone was very much exposed to compulsory vaccination. He said: "I always feel a strange repulsion to seeing the dear pure skin of a child made to break out into pustules. I dislike the notion of the state meddling in between the parent and child when it is not absolutely necessary."

England until recently had a law making vaccination compulsory but it was done away with under the Government of Lord Salisbury. I doubt very much if vaccination is of any effect, when smallpox is prevalent. With the discussion now going on between doctors in Ottawa, the "Anti-Vax" seems to have strong grounds for their position in opposition to the so-called preventative.

Thanking you for your space, I am Yours, sincerely, ANTI-VAX.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES.

—Rev. D. O. Crandall conducts the evangelistic service in the George-st church to-night.

—Blocks of the two anti-shaft test (think) may be unusual but a number of them were cut and buried through town yesterday.

—A number of respectable women have been caught shoplifting in Ottawa. Ottawa has a queer way of raising Peterboro has a different idea as to what constitutes respectable women. The other class respectable women we would call thieves.

—Another new industry has been launched in Peterboro, under the name of "Peterboro Underwear Co. Limited"—Hastings Star. The company may be limited but there is no limit to the "wear". If you want something that will last, come out Mr. Star may get a suit.

SPORTING NOTES

What is Going on in Local and Outside Sporting Circles.

Toronto, Feb. 15.—(Special).—Variety went up against Queen's to-night, and the question is now being asked: "Where are they?" Variety managed to get 3 goals, while Queen's contented themselves with making 10.

Reynolds the Peterboro point player is an exceedingly cunning, sly worker. Like Huddell, he is well and makes it up in good style with the opposing forwards. His attacking play is improved on. "Toronto News."

The Dutton patrol are going to be introduced in all the big hockey rinks in the east. The puck quite frequently lands in the gloves, and to prevent an annoying delay the new system has been adopted.

The Windsor Victorias have arrived at Montreal and are awaiting all the hockey players who have watched them at practice by their fans and clean yet vigorous cheering. The Montreal Victorias will have a hard time to defeat the Stanley Cup and their title of world's champions.

The toughest contest of the hockey season was the battle between the Thistles and the Thins at Simcoe last night. The players were all well-known business and professional men. They had not been on skates for years and the awkwardness provoked yells of laughter. The score was Thistles 7, Thins 5. The teams were:—Thistles, men over 200 pounds, Captain Charles Austin, goal; Hall B. Dunlop, point; W. D. Butterby, cover point; ex-Mayor W. E. Tisdale, R. Tisdale, C. E. Boyd and Mayor Simpson, forwards.

Thins, men under 150 pounds, W. H. Wood, collector of Customs, goal; T. R. Shigh, point; Grant Ruchus, cover point; George Curtis, Frank Curtis, W. R. Brown and P. S. Fahs, forwards.

Rouland, Feb. 14.—The hockey championship of British Columbia was decided here in the Columbia Avenue rink. The Roulandis defeated the Victorias 2 goals to 0, in the fastest and most exciting contest of the year. Nearly 1,200 people witnessed the game, which encouraged their fanatics throughout. Money was freely wagered. McArthur of the Vics, showed to great advantage. The Roulandis found great strength in McCreary formerly of Toronto, Ont. Elwood of S. Oshawa, Ont., and in Captain Clementson. A great jubilation signalled the result. The officers were: Referee, Grierson, Gaudin; umpires, Harris, of Greenwood, and Deers, of Nelson; Timekeeper, Spring.

shop and corner of the civilized world and the language has been evolved from the English tongue. All races that enter into commerce of necessity learn more or less of the English language and to some considerable extent carry on their business correspondence in English. Any one who goes among the native men of Hong Kong will be impressed by this fact.

If you move with the world you must do it in English. Then English speaking persons write more letters because more of them know how to write, for while 91 per cent. of them have this accomplishment, but a little more than one-half of the persons speaking other languages can write these names. This is why the mail matter of the world for last year held 81 letters for each English speaking person, German came next with 24, and French followed with 17 for each person.

In the United States alone last year there were mailed 37 letters for each inhabitant, which aggregated 40 per cent. of all the letters written in the world, and equalled the number written by all of the nations of Continental Europe.

Heart in the Border.
An exchange quotes a story said to have been told at a "charity dinner." A man was brought into the accident hospital who was thought to be dead. His wife was with him. One of the doctors said: "He is dead," but the man raised his head and said: "No, I'm not dead yet," whereupon his wife admonished him by saying: "Be quiet, the doctor ought to know best."

Dr. Agnew's cure for the heart—One dose helped in 30 minutes—two bottles cured.

She tried many remedies—was treated by heart specialists without permanent relief. She procured and used Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, FEBRUARY 11 1899

A PROPRIETOR'S INVITATION.

We publish in another column the financial statement of The Millers and Manufacturers Insurance Company, submitted to the annual meeting of the shareholders on Feb. 10th, which will prove interesting reading to many in this district who are concerned in the progress of the company. The total income for the year amounted to the sum of $7,882.80. After deducting re-insurance $27,261.13, cost of management, cancelled policies and rebate, the substantial sum of $30,185.29 is carried forward. The President referred to the average fire losses and expenses combined from the inception of the company in 1885 to the close of 1898, which amounts to a ratio of only 65.07 per cent. of the company's cash income—a record, as the President remarked, unsurpassed in the history of fire underwriting in America, which is the company's specialty.

The result of the year's operations is exceedingly gratifying to the shareholders and friends of the company, and indicates that the management of the company is in safe hands.

MARKET TALK.

It is stated that Mr. B. E. Ayres, member for Lennox, has presented a petition to the Legislature from Fredericburg, which asks that the power now possessed by cities, towns and incorporated villages to levy a tax on farm produce be contrary to the general spirit of British law, "inasmuch as a tax is levied by one municipality on the residents of another who do not receive in return any power to exercise the franchise." The petitioners also ask that it is not proper to levy a municipal tax on land and the products, and conclude by asking an amendment providing that all farm and garden produce may have a free market either for wholesale or retail quantities, in every part of Ontario. Other municipalities, it is said, are petitioning to the same effect.

On the broad question, however, of the rights of municipalities to impose market tolls, we do not see how there can be two opinions. The Belleville Sun very judiciously says: "The allegation that it is contrary to the general spirit of British law to levy a tax on farm produce is a mere sounding of grandeur, and has no foundation in fact. All who have lived in or over visited English market towns know that the practice of charging market fees where any building is any apart for market purposes is universal, and moreover there are in many towns local impositions of a most vexatious character. It is not taken as a pettifogger fact that the urban municipalities will not provide accommodation for the sale of produce without remuneration (thereof), and no person with a proper sense of right and wrong would consent to the contrary."

NOTE AND COMMENT.

John Charlton, who used to think it was all Ouch's fault, is coming back from Washington with his eyes opened.

The Mail and Empire of the 16th instant, contains an alleged picture of Mr. Stratton, should our member feel inclined, he has it in his power to "look" our contemporary for heavy damages. The artist (if) must have been suffering from dyspepsia.

It is good to receive at this season from friends in the North-west, letters to the effect, "We have had no cold weather so far this winter, the mercury having dropped further than 50 below zero, and to-day the thermometer is only 35 below zero, and we are having quite a thaw."

There is considerable reason to think that an entire failure of the vegetation for reciprocity with the United States will much please a majority of Canadians. And it would be a good thing for the British Empire, Canada would turn more to the empire, and that would spare all parts of the empire to turn more to each other.

to Luttrell and Molly, for instance, who are at daggers drawn and maintain a dignified silence toward each other.

Tedcastle, indeed, holds his head so high that if by chance it should rest in Molly's direction it must perform a pirouette without fear of descending to her face. This is wise for to look at Molly is to find one's self disarmed. There is an air of settled hostility about him that sends her beyond all words.

"What does he mean by glowering like that, and looking as though he would devour somebody? How different he used to be in dear old Brooklyn! Who could have thought he would turn out such a Tartar? Well, yet it is a pity not to give him something to glower about," thinks Miss Manoeuvre, in an access of rage, and forthwith deliberately sets herself out to encourage Shadwell and Mr. Potts.

"She has a brilliant success, and, although secretly sore at heart, manages to pass her time agreeably, and let us hope profitably.

Marcia, whose hatred toward her rival grows with every glance cast at her from Philip's eyes, turns to Tedcastle and asks him in hand, if her side is low, her manner subdued but designing. Whatever she is saying is hardly likely to act as a cure to Tedcastle's headache; at least so thinks Cecil, and coming to the rescue, sends Sir Penrhony across to talk to him and drawing him from Marcia's side, leads him into a lengthened history of all those who have come and gone in the old regiment since he sold out.

NEW CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

Some interesting reports have been current recently concerning the discovery by a Russian physician of a new method of treating consumption which is said to have already given brilliant results. As is well known, none of the new cures for consumption, not even excepting that of Professor Koch, have been very successful, but it is stated that the experiments made by Dr. Lovsky with natrium cinamylicum have turned out very well. I am, of course, no medical expert, and therefore I can only write of what I heard at a recent meeting of the Society at Medicine in this country, at which Dr. Lovsky presented an account of his discovery. He gave particulars of five cases upon which he had produced visible effects by injections of natrium cinamylicum.

At the outset the doctor stated that at the beginning of the treatment all the patients were suffering from what the faculty regarded as the most painful form of tuberculosis, but that in the course of a short period their health was re-established sufficiently to enable them to return to work. He said that the treatment by natrium cinamylicum in the form of balsam of Peru had been tried by Landerer in 1888, in the case of a patient who had been in the hospital for a long time, and that the balsam was an emulsion with gum arabic, and tried it with success in 170 cases.

Following Landerer, a whole series of medical men carried on experiments, trying also other preparations of the balsam, and in 1897 works were published on the subject by Dr. Goutcherenko and other doctors. In all cases the results were favorable, and this circumstance induced Dr. Lovsky to undertake his essays, using injections under the shoulder blade. The injections were divided into three categories: first, those with change in the tops of the lungs, both with and without hollows; second, those with changes not only in the tops, but in other parts of the lungs; third, those with the dangerous form of galloping consumption.

The results obtained were as follows: One patient was in desperate condition and died in a few days. Another, having felt relief, came no more for treatment. The rest were present at the meeting of the society, and showed patients No. 1, a poor man, who had no nourishment, came to Dr. Lovsky in March of the present year. He had a strong cough, severe perspiration, and feverishness, diminution of vital power had prevented him from following his business, and the diagnosis clearly showed that he was suffering from tuberculosis. The injections of natrium cinamylicum were commenced on March 15, and were repeated every three or four days. For the first two months there was no sign of amelioration in his condition, but afterward it soon appeared, and the symptoms subsided. He gained eight pounds in weight, despite his insufficient food, and he is now in good health and able to follow his usual work. From March to the present time he has received fifty-three injections in the region of the shoulder-blade.

Patient No. 2 was in a very bad way, and galloping consumption was even feared. In April last he had four injections and was ordered to drink koumiss. His condition soon improved, and although bacilli are still to be detected, they are far less numerous, and he seems to be getting on well.

Patient No. 3 was a young man 28 years of age. His treatment began on Sept. 1st, and by Nov. 22 his weight had increased, and although his stage had been very grave, the bacilli had disappeared at the end of eighty days, he felt well and was able to work.

AT PARIS IN 1900!

INTERNATIONAL PLAN IN CONNECTION WITH THE EXHIBITION.

A Religious Congress and its Subsequent Building The Scheme Described by August Delaigue, the Originator. The interesting services.

The crowning scheme to make the Paris exposition of 1900 the most wonderful that the world has ever seen is now being urged upon the attention of religious people all over the world. The proposition is to hold in connection with the exposition a great congress of religions, and the plan for the building in which the congress is to be held provide for a structure that will be one of the wonders of the world. The scheme originated with M. August Delaigue, a well known litterateur, and Abbe Joseph Cretey, of the Church of St. Jean de Belleville. Paris M. Delaigue visited most of the European cities of importance and made a thorough study of the religious life of the country, accompanied by Sir August Delaigue, to see what he can do to awaken enthusiasm here in favor of the congress.

In discussing the great building that is to be erected for the congress, M. Delaigue said: "It will be one of the most wonderful structures that the world has ever seen. Imagine a building covering a space as large as the Esplanade des Invalides, surrounded by a dome nearly three times the size of the largest dome ever made in connection with any building. The dome alone will be a sight second to none in the world. To give it beauty and architectural grace the great dome will be surrounded by numerous pillars and the windows, of the richest stained glass, will shed a lovely light on an interior that will be a marvel of architectural art."

"It has been spoken of the dome first, because it will be the most wonderful feature of the building, but there are other beauties so numerous that it will take a day to view the structure, and the architect will find fresh features to admire. From the ground the building will rise in a series of terraces, which will support hanging gardens.

"Under the cupolas that will surround the central dome there will be representations in panoramic views of the events in which Christians are most interested. The scenes on the walls will be graphically depicted; the agony in the Garden of Gethsemane, at another scene in the life of Christ will be shown in a striking manner."

TRANSMAN'S TOOTH ACHES

As He Declined to Get a Freight Train to Pull It.

"Say, did you hear about my friend Bill?" said a trainman. "Well, he has had a tooth ache so long that he has made me laugh more times than once. Not long ago Bill got a jumping toothache. He wants to have that tooth out, but he doesn't want to pay the money, so he ain't got the nerve to have the thing done. All the same that tooth is keeping him up at night, and Bill he is all the time saying, 'Either me or that tooth, say Bill, 'one or the other, I ain't going to stand this sort of life.'"

"All the same, when Bill starts to go to the dentist his knees begin to tremble, and he is so scared that the tooth stops hurting. But when he turns back and catches the home train he is plugging his teeth. Now, Bill thinks of great notions. What does he do but buy a piece of strong string (say, you know this kind of silk thread), and he waxes that and ties it to his tooth so tight that it cannot come off. Then Bill walks down to the railroad station. You see, it was his idea to tie the string to a freight car, and when the train started it would jerk the tooth out."

"He finds a freight and ties the string to the coupler of the last car and stands around to wait until the train starts. Well, sir, he begins to feel chilly about the girls. The motion he thinks of the time when the train is going to move the worse he feels. Every time a whistle blows he jumps. 'Well, I guess I'd better make up my mind,' he says, and he begins to feel that when he goes to loosen the string he finds that it's so tight, and he can't jerk the thing loose because the other end is on the coal car."

"Well, sir, that train begins to start, and Bill he doesn't have the nerve to stand back, so he just trots behind like a little pup on the end of a chain. 'Where are you going, Bill?' hollers out a fellow. 'You seem to be in a hurry,' Bill, sir, Bill starts to swear like mad, but he is beginning to go a little faster, and he begins to lope like a jack rabbit. You see, the train had been going through the city, but now it started to get outside. Bill didn't have the nerve to stand still, so he just jumped himself after the train like he was something that he wanted back. 'Say, mister, why are you running that way?' asked a brakeman who got on to the thing. Of course that sort of guy made Bill madder than ever, but he had to lope on. Lucky for Bill the train had to slow up for a crossing, and while it stopped he borrowed a knife and cut the string. But, say, it was funny to see Bill shaking the 'freight.'—New Orleans.

Holding Back.

There is not so much wheat being brought into the market now, as usual. The farmers claim that there are indications of a rise in prices. At present prices are not of such a nature, as to make the farmers run their horses into town, and tangle over one another in a desire to get rid of their wheat. The prices are low and the result is that the grainy doors are being kept locked.

Wagon Out

That there was very little snow on our streets, although we have been enjoying good sleighing for some time back, was made plain by the presence on the streets yesterday afternoon of numerous wagons. Out of town the sleighing still holds good but if today turns out like yesterday, sleighing in town will be very much limited to the back streets. It is hardly likely that our sleighing is over and there is strong probability of more snow.

Home Work

In numerous districts the question of the amount of home-work, pupils are required to do, is taking a prominent place among the subjects discussed by different Boards of Education. The question is one that will doubtless be occupying the attention of our local Board soon. It is hardly necessary to go into details, but after careful consideration, there seems to be only too much truth in the charge of those being excessive home-work. It would be far better were the children given more time to develop their bodies, by healthy and many sports, by being allowed to roam the woods and fields, and read more of outside books, than the once crammed into them at school. Parents should not be too eager for their children to pass examinations. The subject of home-work, is one of more or less ideal complaint, and careful enquiries should be made into it.

This Man Had a Fall.

About five o'clock last night as a young man named Brooks was taking a cow down George street to the G. Matthews' Parkings Co's establishment, the animal which he was leading by a rope made a determined effort to escape. The young man was thrown to the ground and dragged for 40 or 50 yards through the dirt and slush. Several on the street yelled to the man to get up but he stuck to his hold and in vain tried to regain his feet. One or two further down the street rushed out ahead of the animal and checked its speed with the result that Brooks regained his feet. Although struck once or twice by the animal's hoofs, no serious injury was inflicted. "Why didn't you let go," he was asked. "Because I didn't want to have to chase the brute a mile or two into the country."

DRESSED IN WHITE.

Cressman's Handmade Store Transformed Last Night.

A transformation was enacted between the hours of 8 and 7 last evening when the employees of Mr. Cressman, 385 George street, removed all the darker shades of goods from view and draped the store from front to back with a display of white goods. Some quick work must have been done in that short hour for at 7 o'clock sharp, the doorkeeper was at his post ready to let in the first visitors and show them a scene of almost dazzling whiteness.

White goods of all kinds were well displayed to full advantage. The sides above the shelves were draped in white. The chandeliers were enfolded in the same glistening materials. Lace curtains were tastefully hung above the stair case and also charmingly arranged around the shelves in the rear which has been transformed into a ladies' white wear and corset department.

There seems an unlimited stock to choose from. Not only in the large number of lines of goods but each line has its difference varieties and the range of prices more than suit the times.

In skirts 10 lines are shown with prices ranging from 25c to $3. Night robes, 18 lines, from 35c to $2. Corsets, 14 lines, from 9c to $1.35. Drawers, 18 lines, from 14c to $1.50, etc. In every line an effort has been successfully made to have prices that will suit all buyers.

The Ladies White Wear and Corset department in the rear of the store has been recently fitted up and about the first of March a still further change will be made in this successful store, when the third store will be handsomely fitted up as a department for corsets, lace, curtains, curtain poles, blinds, etc. With his usual care for the comfort of his patrons Mr. Cressman will have an elevator running to this floor.

The present White Goods Sale will last for 14 days and all are welcomed to visit the store and look around for themselves without the slightest fear of any forced sales being made.

THE BITERS BIT.

A Little Joke That Worked the Wrong Way.

Wednesday night was a fine night. In fact a lovely night for a outdoor ride and many were the drives, planned and carried out. But there was one that failed to develop. A young man belonging to the Carbon works had offered to take two young ladies for a drive and the offer had been accepted with the intention of having a little fun with the driver. The young ladies, however, when fairly started, one of them should drop the whip and when the man (who would naturally do so) got out to get it they would drive off and leave him. They were to meet him at 8 o'clock at the corner of — street and —.

Woman's Nature. Filling a moment's time with the result that a short time previous to setting out for the drive, the young man got an inkling of what he might expect. He doesn't know whether the two women stood on the corner and waited or not. He says he doesn't care either. A policeman says he noticed two women in the neighborhood of the anti-car about nine o'clock but is not prepared to say that they are the ones concerned.

MURRAY ST. BAPTISTS.

A Hearty Reception Tendered to Rev. Mr. Baston.

Last evening, the Murray Street Baptists, turned out en masse, to extend the glad hand to their new pastor. One of the rooms in the basement, was tastefully fitted up, as a reception hall, while the main part of the basement was turned into a banquet hall, the tables for the purpose, being loaded with a bountiful spread of some of the good things of life. After the dinner man had been fully satisfied, the members adjourned to the church, where a programme, arranged by the choir, was rendered. Dr. Scott, presided and Mr. Matthews, in a few well chosen words welcomed Mr. Baston to their midst, and testified with how much pleasure, he and the rest of the congregation, were filled, at Mr. Baston, having accepted their invitation to become their pastor.

Rev. Mr. Baston, made a feeling reply, thanking the members for their intense kindness. It would be his pleasure, as well as duty, to carry out under their help, the pastoral work of the congregation.

Wedding Bells.

Yesterday morning, All Saints' Church, was the scene of a quiet and successful wedding, when Mr. H. C. F. Post, of Prescott, late of the Canadian General Electric Company, and Miss Florence E. Nimmo, daughter of Mr. R. F. Nimmo, were made one by the Rev. W. L. Armstrong.

Miss Nimmo, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. W. H. Collier, of the Canadian General, acted as best man. The bride was attired in a neat travelling blue costume. Mrs. Post will be greatly missed at All Saints, as she was an active worker in the Sunday school.

The happy couple left for Prescott where they will reside in future. The Times joins with their many friends, in wishing them every success through life.

HOCKEY HITS

A Few Remarks on Canada's Popular Winter Sport.

"It is not likely Peterboro' will push their protest now that Queen's won out by such a good margin. Varsity beat them or according to the eastern view got a draw. Queen's defeated Varsity easily, so it doesn't look as if Peterboro' would make a howling success of their game with the Presbyterians."—Telegram.—Don't talk through your hat, dear Telegram. Peterborough will rush that protest, in much the same style, that Queen's rushed the puck the other night.

When seen after the Varsity-Queen's game at the Rossin house, Captain Curtis, of the Queen's, told a coterie of admiring friends that last night's contest would be his last appearance in public competition. He has been playing hockey eight seasons now and football much longer at all times in support of Queen's magic tri-color. Hockey is a hard game and playing in winter company constitutes a rather severe strain. Curtis may possibly play the return match against Varsity or against Mettill, but never after this. Talking about hockey, the hero of a hundred fights, said the great seven of 1888, and as equal in last night's line out. Harty is just as good a player as Canada can boast of, according to Curtis' idea. Merrill is the best cover-point in the O.H.A., and though he lacks the stick technique of "Randy" McKinnon, is far faster and more accurate in his general work. No one shoots as well as did McKay, but Harty is always right on the spot for a centre from the sides. Harty is a better man than Brock ever was. This year's forwards get away with snip and play, a perfect combination. Of course, so does Captain Curtis, weight is essential and Varsity has always been deficient in this respect. "Darling" would do better by breaking through the oncoming forwards starting up the ice than lifting so much, and you will notice Merrill is generally a generalist where a group of Queen's forwards are ready to prevent a return," affirmed the handsome Queen's captain.

Many of the Queen's men were dispirited of getting at the local T.R.C. team, in the hope of redeeming last year's defeat at the hands of the Otago Carriers, Lillie, Johnson and Jack McMurtrie, all the Queen's men agree are too good to be out of the championship competition.

Camel King, will referee the Collingwood-Parkdale match Friday night in Barrie.

A New Railway.

Senator Cox, W. H. Brouse, C. J. Campbell, J. W. Flavell, J. J. Garside, W. H. Lockhart Gordon, John Hoskin, Eugene O'Keefe, Elias Rogers and J. S. Leche of Toronto want permission to build a railroad from the Grand Trunk Railway terminus at Hibernia through Whitney on the Ottawa Arapic and Parry Sound road, to Mattawa. The road, they say, will open up an important but at present inaccessible wintering and mining district. This road will give Peterboro' almost direct communication with the far north country.

A Concocting Story.

When the envoys of St. de Rothechild paid the war contributions of Paris at the close of the siege, an alleged counterfeit 25 thaler bill slipped in among the 200,000,000 francs that were brought to Versailles. The quick eye of the Prussian official at once detected it and the bill was thrown out. Rothschild's people insisted that it was genuine and must be accepted, otherwise they would return to Paris with all their rolls of notes and marks of coin. Prince Bismarck, who was present, said, "Herr Director, accept the bill I will myself make up the deficit. A great war about nothing more tangible than a candle in Spain has just been concluded between two great powers, and I can't afford just on the head of it to turn around and declare war on the house of Rothschild, the sixth great European power on account of a false 25 thaler note." "Your excellency is right," returned one of the Rothschild's agents, with a smile, particular as the note, whether good or bad, was made in Prussia.

DIDN'T KNOW HIS WIFE.

When T. Coleman, a Brantford traveller, left on a three weeks trip his wife was a yellow faced, fagged out looking woman. When he returned he didn't know her. Her eyes were bright and her skin clear, and she walked differently. Merrill's System. Tonic did it. 50c. for 50 doses. Sold by J. D. Tully.

PETERBOROUGH, FEBRUARY 18, 1899

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

Accommodation for Boarders.
One or two gentlemen can be accommodated with large front room and first class board at 485 Ayler Street, between Murray and Macdonald Sts.

Works Bros. Company.
The well-known Marks Brothers Dramatic Company, will open a two week's engagement at the Opera House, here, on February 27th. Matinees, on Wednesdays and Saturdays. This company is so favorably known to Peterborough theatre-goers, that little may be said, in their behalf.

McAllister's Society.
The annual meeting of the Peterborough Auxiliary of the McAllister Missionary Society will be held at the residence of Mr. Jas. Kehdy, M.P., on Monday evening, February 20th, at 7.45. Rev. Mr. Symonds will address the meeting and a good musical programme will be provided. The public is cordially invited.

The Ice Harvest.
The ice harvest this year, is employing a large number of men and horses. On the Little Lake work has been progressing for over a month, and on Chemung Lake, Mr. Fobert informed a Times man yesterday, the ice never was better. There is 32 inches of clear blue ice. A large quantity of Chemung Lake ice is being brought to town, while many farmers for miles around are laying up ice for the dog days.

Fortnightly Club.
On Tuesday night the Fortnightly Club will hold their regular meeting in the Y.M.C.A. A paper on the "Relation to Education to Economic Conditions" will be read by Mr. J. McOrlag of the Collegiate Institute. A short discussion of the paper will take place after reading. A large attendance of the members of the Club and their friends is looked for. Sheriff Hall will take the chair at eight o'clock.

Temperance in the schools.
Considerable ridicule is being indulged in, by some of the members of the Toronto School Board, over the material contained in the Temperance Text Books, used in the schools. The object of the work, is not belittled by any means, but the methods used to obtain that object are criticised. The question is asked, if the knowledge attempted to be instilled into the pupils' mind, is not in the end, more productive of harm than good, and the opinion is spreading, that, if not harmful, it is at least a sheer waste of time for teachers to assume the position of embryo doctors to children on an average not over fourteen, except possible in the High Schools.

A New Holiday.
The boys and girls of our school will not have a word in objection to the following announcement. The Hon. Geo. W. Ross, Minister of Education, will shortly issue a circular letter to the school boards throughout Ontario, drawing attention to the fact that it has been determined to observe the day before the Queen's birthday in each year as Empire Day, and asking them to make suitable arrangements for such observance. The Minister proposes to leave to the discretion of the school trustees in each locality to decide the details of the celebration, but he will suggest that an address be delivered by some prominent public man, that the Union Jack be prominently displayed, and that various patriotic exercises be indulged in. Mr. Ross hopes that in the near future Empire Day will be observed in the public schools throughout Canada.

A few Remarks on Canada's Popular Winter Sport.

"Jimmy" Elliot, the famous goal-keeper of the Ingersoll Hockey Club is an expert on the manufacture of hockey sticks. He designed the famous Ayr stick.

Labatt's trial did not come off at Midland yesterday. A charge had been laid against him of feloniously wounding White in the Midland-Collingwood match, but the action has been dropped. The evidence produced at the English trial incidentally showed Labatt's collision with White immediately before the injury to Labatt by English was accidental.

Manager Leslie thinks with a strict referee, enforcing clean play, Parkdale will hustle Collingwood at all stages.

The Victorias of Hamilton were easily defeated by Brantford, in a match in C. O. H. A. series at the Victoria rink last night, the score being 10 to 2. The Brantford team played hard from start to finish, playing a good combination game and a strong defence. At half-time the score was 6 to 1 in favor of Brantford.

George Bochner, the cover-point of last year's Berlin Juniors, has developed into a defence player of the front rank.

ST. JOSEPH'S HOSPITAL.

A Busy Winter Experienced—Improvements Made.

Some important improvements have been made in St. Joseph's Hospital in connection with the waterworks system throughout the building. The Sisters of Charity for several years have been forced to trudge up the different long flights of steps with water. With the new improvements which have been completed at a cost of $5.25, this hard labor will be now done away with and it will be a great relief to the Sisters.

During the past winter the hospital has been used to its full capacity. Over 22 children and a large number of old people have been taken care of during the stormy months. The good work has been cheerfully done and merits the heartfelt thanks of all.

Our New Dentist.

The Ridgeway Standard has the following, "Dr. F. W. Ivory, who has conducted a dental office here for about two years, left on Saturday for Peterborough, where he will again resume practice. The doctor has a first-class practice here, and his many patrons are very sorry to lose his services. He is a thorough workman and has one of the best equipped offices in the county, using all the most modern appliances known to the profession. But he was like all other ambitious young men and desired a larger place, where his practice would have a better chance to grow. From the day he opened his office here he did a large practice and, during the last month, when it became known that he was about to leave town, it was impossible for him to attend to all his work his office being crowded with patients anxious to have him treat their teeth before leaving. Although Peterborough has quite a number of dentists now, it will only be a short time before the doctor's ability and work will become known and then a good practice for him is assured. His host of friends here will be glad to hear of his success."

BOARD OF TRADE

A Resolution Supporting Deputation to Montreal Unanimously Passed.

Last night the Board of Trade met in the Council Chambers and although few, they made up in unanimity, what they lacked in numbers. In the absence of the president, Mr. Fair, was called to the chair. Mr. Fair in a few words stated the object of the meeting being called, viz., to strengthen the hands of the deputation, soon to go to Montreal for the purpose of interviewing the Montreal Board of Trade and Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Dumble then introduced the following resolution which he read—
Resolved by Mr. A. L. Davis, seconded by Mr. J. D. Oke, whereas the wonderful advantages of the Erie water route to the Great Lakes is but a forecast of a greater growth in the immediate future, and it is now generally recognized that greater facilities for transport of Western products must be had in order that the produce may get adequate returns for its labour, and to induce a more speedy settlement of our boundless Western plains. And whereas the cry of Toronto for the expenditure of the National money to deepen Toronto and Collingwood harbours and to construct an air line railway between the ports is but a recognition of the inevitable necessity for greater facilities for transporting produce to the sea board and a wish to toll it by the way.

And whereas it is recognized that the route to the sea board via Buffalo holds its trade against immense distances in distance by reason of the Erie Canal.

And whereas the route to Montreal by way of the Trent waters is the natural outlet, having a vastly greater capacity than the Erie canal, and a shorter route, this Board reaffirms its faith in the Trent Navigation as the cheapest, most natural and most effective mode of transport from the Great Lakes to the Sea Board at Montreal.

The distance from Duluth to Liverpool by way of the Trent and St. Lawrence is 730 miles shorter than via Buffalo and New York. The capacity of the Trent water route at its most restricted points will be greater than the Erie after the expenditure of $17,000,000 now appropriated for deepening and improving it.

The Trent waters are for the most part wide, open waters where a tug may haul a half a dozen barges, the shores will stand the use of steam power at every point. Nature destined it as a through route and completed two-thirds of the way and the people look to this Government for the speedy completion of the other third.

The completion of this water route supplemented with the competing railway lines from the magnificent deep harbours at Peterborough and Midland make a system wholly superior to that of the Erie and its competing railways and from the ideal route with which Canada was a title of the energy of our American neighbors can command a greater share of the Grain Trade of the West.

This Board recognizes that every dollar added to the value of Western produce by cheapening freights is a dollar to be expended in trade with the East.

This Board therefore submits that the greatest energy should be exerted by the Dominion Government to complete the Trent canal and thus give to our country all the advantages which her geography and natural facilities proclaim to be hers by natural law.

This Board strongly urges that irrespective of all local considerations the entire country should advocate the claims of a route which it is vain to oppose and which once properly recognized and developed will make Canada and the Dominion a great commercial highway by which the boundless trade of the West will seek its way to Europe in the enrichment and glory of the country.

In commenting on the resolution, Mr. Dumble said—

"The Government are not in our opinion, making an energetic effort in the interests of the Trent Valley Canal as the importance warrants. In all cases, where canals have been constructed great trade results have followed. Along the Erie Canal, although a 4-track railway exists in close proximity yet the volume of trade that naturally flows to where great opportunities for transportation are offered, more than suffices to amply prove while to construct large stretches of canal work and there is now 1 mile of canal to 2 miles rail. In Belgium the proportion is 18 miles of canal to 1 of rail. In England the proportion of canals to railways, is also great and is constantly increasing."

The object of the deputation is to push to completion the construction of the canal. Many lines of railway center in Montreal. It is to Montreal's interest to help on the scheme and an aid which will influence it is not similar to say that Montreal holds the key to the situation."

The resolution was moved in behalf of Mayor Davis, by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Oke and carried without one dissenting vote.

On motion of Mr. Hayes, seconded by Mr. Dumble, the secretary was authorized to have 100 copies of the resolution printed and to forward copies to each of the members of the Montreal Board of Trade and Chamber of Commerce.

The Board then adjourned.

Common sense has been displayed in the construction of these Ranges to an extent that leaves nothing for the practical Housekeeper to wish for, they have Ventilated Ovens, not the obsolete cold air ventilation, but ventilation by warm air taken direct from the top and discharged through the flues, thus avoiding the smell of cooking through the house.

Happy Thought Ranges Are a household word; over $5,000 sold and always satisfactory. They speak for themselves.

Base Burners. ART SOUVENIR and BUCK'S BRILLIANT with and without Ovens, are leaders of their kind.

Wood Heaters. BUCK'S HEATERS, always reliable. Parlor and Box Stoves, all sizes. We invite your inspection.

The National Assembly Elect a New President

EMILE LOUBET IS CHOSEN.

He Received 480 Votes—Five Candidates in the Running

M. Loubet, the Second on the List, Only got 270—People of Paris Greatly Excited over the Event.

Paris, Feb. 19.—The meeting of the National Assembly, or Congress, in which the Senators and Deputies unite in voting for a resident, took place at one o'clock to-day at Versailles, and resulted in the election of M. Emile Loubet as successor to the late President, Felix Faure, by a majority of 213 votes, M. Melles, the next in favor, only receiving 170 votes. The voting was as follows:
Loubet.....480
Melles.....170
Majority for Loubet.....213
The National Assembly met at one o'clock this afternoon. M. Loubet, President of the Senate, declared the sitting open, amid the applause of the Leftists. The names mentioned as candidates were M.M. Loubet, Melles, Dupuy, the Freycinet and Deschanel. The voting began with the latter "D", M. Deschanel, casting the first ballot.

THE NEW PRESIDENT.
M. Loubet, the President-elect, was born in 1838 at Marianne Dorne, and adopted law as a profession. He entered the Chamber of Deputies in 1876, and took a strong stand against the religious orders, but in favor of the continued connection of church and state. He was elected to the Senate in 1886, and was Minister of Public Works under Tirard in 1887. In the early part of 1892 the relations between the clerical party and the Republicans were strained to breaking point, and after the fall of the Freycinet Cabinet, because of its hostility to the Church, M. Loubet was called on to form a Government which would signify a truce in the religious conflict. This he did successfully, but social troubles followed fast upon the heels of religious disputes.

The carmen's strike and the Panama scandals made many enemies for the Ministry. The Government determined to institute criminal prosecutions against the Panama directors, and because of the intrigues of the accused was forced out of office at the end of the year. It became apparent afterwards that several members of the Ministry were not at all eager for investigation. Mr. Loubet, after resigning the leadership became a member of the Ribot Government, under which the Panama investigation was actually begun.

M. Loubet, was comparatively colorless candidate, which was perhaps in his favor. He managed cleverly to conceal his opinions completely on the great French Dreyfus affair. Since the Ministry was overturned on the Panama affair he has not been prominently required for the Presidency of the Senate seems to be regarded as one of his best qualifications for the First Magistracy.

A SCENE AMONG FRENCHMEN.
Paris, Feb. 18.—M. Loubet, arrived at Versailles in a carriage at 10 o'clock. Friends surrounded him, when he entered the Gallery at Brest, and he said: "If you love me, I hope you won't vote for me!"

Soon the scene became animated. Crowds of people surrounded the doors watching the arrival of the members. The palace was closed to the public. Various political groups held meetings at noon and 2 P.M. Cochery announced M. Loubet had definitely withdrawn his candidacy. The Nationalists and Anti-Semites decided not to vote for M. Loubet.

The assembly met at one o'clock. M. Loubet declared the sitting open amid the applause of the Leftists during which M. Loubet proceeded to draw for letters. The voting began with the letter "D" M. Deschanel, moderate Republican, cast the first ballot.

When M. Paul Boncour, organizer of the League of Patriots, voted he attempted to speak from the tribune where the urns were placed, but M. Loubet forbade him to do so. This called forth protest from the Rightists and a scene followed. M. Deschanel, M. Loubet, and M. Boncour, perished in the confusion, and M. Loubet, who was in the tribune, which he finally left.

While in the tribune, M. Deschanel shouted: "The President of the Republic ought to be elected by the people. I will not vote here."
Then turning to M. Loubet, M. Deschanel cried: "Do you deny that M. Deschanel has written?"
To this M. Loubet replied: "I am not called on to answer you."
M. Deschanel retorted: "I know what you are!"

M. Deschanel, also attempted to speak, and great commotion followed, during which cries of "Down with Amery!" were raised.
In the meantime, the voting continued and at 2:40 P.M. the ballot was completed. While the checking was in progress the members of the Assembly left the hall and assembled in the galleries and corridors, where they discussed the chances of the election.

M. Melles loudly announced that he had voted for M. Loubet.
CAUSED BY COWARDLY ATTACKS.
Paris, Feb. 18.—There is little doubt that the Dreyfus crisis and the scandalous attacks of a portion of the Parisian press are largely accountable for President Faure's end. The "Gaulois" papers have been constantly making up certain incidents reflecting upon members of President Faure's family, though not affecting the honor of President Faure personally. Only on Thursday last the Lorraine Patriot attacked the mother of M. Faure, which it is claimed she wants to force the city of Paris to purchase at her own price in order to prolong the Rue Mogador. The city officials, it further appears, found the price exorbitant, and determined, rather than pay the sum demanded, to make a bid in the street, after offering her a larger and more valuable house a few doors off, which she refused. The matter was taken before the Council of State, which decided against the proposition to take the Lorraine Patriot's decision as a "jobbery," implying M. Faure exercised his influence in the interest of his son-in-law's mother. The President was much upset by this attack, foreboding it only the opening of a campaign against him.

A Proposal to Bring 1,500 Settlers Into Nipissing.

NEW COLONIZATION SCHEME

Rev. Father Paradis Will Induce Canadians to Return from States

Major General Hutton Advises Army Officers to Leave French—A Victory for the City—Lord Aberdeen's Wishes

Ottawa, Feb. 19.—The Ontario Colonization society recently formed with headquarters in Ottawa, expects to place 1,500 settlers in the uncolonized portions of the district of Nipissing during the coming season.

Mr. Flavian Moffet, Rev. Father Paradis and Mr. D. V. Ranger, a deputation from the society have returned to the city from Toronto, where they had an interview with the provincial government in reference to the scheme. Messrs. Guibord, M.P.P., Russell, and J. Longhish, M.P.P., Nipissing, introduced the delegation who asked the administration to open up a road 26 miles in length from Domremy to Lake Temagami in Nipissing and to give lands on the road free to intending settlers. The government outlay will not be excessive and the proposition was favorably received and promised careful consideration.

Rev. Father Paradis, organizer of the society, will address a number of meetings in the United States with a view of securing the repatriation of Canadians to fertile districts now uncolonized. Another object of the society is to assist the laboring classes in over-crowded cities where it is difficult to obtain employment to establish themselves on farm lands.

After the Nipissing district has become fully populated it is proposed to continue the work in other parts of the province, especially in the Rainy River and Thunder Bay districts.

The society is conducted on a philanthropic principle and will exact no stipend from settlers in order to secure them lands and a new home.

A central bureau of information has been established at the office of Le Temps, Sussex street and the building will be renovated to meet the requirements of the association. Mr. Flavian Moffet is the secretary of the society; D. V. Ranger, conductor, and Rev. Father Paradis, the organizer. The last named gentleman leaves in a few weeks for the United States to conduct a number of meetings and to endeavor to accomplish the purpose of the organization.

FOR OFFICERS.
Major-Gen. Hutton speaks French with a fluency that has quite popularized him among the French Canadian officers in Quebec. And he thinks that in a country Canada with a mixed English and French population all officers should be able to speak French at least sufficiently well to give drill orders in that language. The following order, issued yesterday, embodies his views on the matter.

"The major general commanding desires to remind the officers and staff of the permanent or instructional corps, and all others who aspire to high command in the future, or to positions of responsibility upon the general staff, that a considerable portion of the military forces of the Dominion consist of French-Canadian regiments. It is, in the major general's opinion, essential that all officers who now hold, or aspire to hold in the future, responsible positions on the staff, should be able to convey their instructions to the French-Canadian troops, in their own language. All officers of the staff, of the permanent corps, and of the instructional staff (including non-commissioned officers) should more especially acquire a practical as well as a theoretical knowledge of the French language, and the major general suggests that all those who are unable to read or speak French with facility should take an early opportunity of making good this defect."

It is said the major general commanding has in contemplation the publication of militia general orders hereafter in both English and French.
A VICTORY FOR THE CITY.
At the weekly sittings of the High Court yesterday before Mr. Justice Falconbridge, the motion of Mr. W. Wyld for judgment against the city in the case of Drum v. Ottawa, was refused, and the case will be tried at the next session. The action is for damages for the flooding of the premises of the plaintiff, Drum. Mr. Wyld's motion was pursuant to a consent for a practical as well as a theoretical knowledge of the French language, and the major general suggests that all those who are unable to read or speak French with facility should take an early opportunity of making good this defect.

Re O'Reilly infants, the motion to secure possession of the children of Edward O'Reilly by that gentleman was further enlarged by consent for one week.
In Grant v. Harding et al. Mr. John Bishop obtained an order for foreclosure and shortening of the time of redemption. A similar motion was granted in the case of Goulin v. Harris, and an order of foreclosure was made.

TO REPARATE THEM.

Mr. W. H. Parent, of this city, left Thursday for Montreal and Quebec. At the latter place he will have an interview with Hon. Mr. Tupper, minister of education, on the subject of repatriating French Canadians who are now living in the United States. The federal government and that of Quebec have decided to work in concert in an effort to induce the thousands of French Canadians across the border to return and receive free grants of land either in the fertile Northwest or in the province of Quebec.

At the end of the month Mr. Parent will visit different parts of the Western States and address a series of public lectures among his compatriots with the view of securing their repatriation of Canada.

LORD ABERDEEN'S WISHES.
Lord and Lady Aberdeen have written to the rector of Ottawa university asking him to convey to the students and authorities of the institution their best wishes, referring to the pleasant visit they made to the institution and conveying thanks for a number of copies of the Review containing a description and illustration of the students' farewell to the viceregal party last fall.

STEAMER WITH RED FUNNEL.

Was Sighted by the Alsea Two Hundred Miles Off Halifax.

Halifax, N.S., Feb. 18.—The Hamburg-American Line steamer Alsea, from Hamburg for Boston, which put in here last night, and came up from quarantine this morning, reports passing a large first-class steamer in a disabled condition yesterday morning. She was too far away for the captain of the Alsea to make out her name or the signals which she was displaying, and the Hamburg-American Line could not go to her assistance, because of shortage of coal, and the fact the steamer was partly out of order. All that is known of the disabled craft is that she had a red funnel, appeared to be a passenger liner, and that she was not making any headway. Her position when passed by the Alsea, was about 200 miles from Halifax.

The Alsea had a desperate passage of 20 days from Vancouver, her decks being frequently swept by enormous waves, which carried away everything movable and smashed lifeboats and deck gear. No serious damage was, however, sustained.

THE HURON IN TOW.
The big four-masted steamer Armanian, Captain McConkey, was signalled in the offing by the Citadel at 2 o'clock this afternoon, having in tow the disabled Thompson Liner Huron, Capt. Dorwood. The steamer made slow progress, being 5 o'clock six miles off the harbor. The Armanian, which is a vessel of 7500 tons, sailed from Liverpool on Feb. 4, and reached Kingston on the 18th. The Huron was bound to Portland from London, via Shields, having sailed from the latter place Feb. 2nd.

THE GASPESIA STILL IN ICE.
Meat Cove, C.B., Feb. 18.—A frosty breeze prevents seeing the steamer Gaspeia this morning. The ice is close packed and stationary. The wind light, from the southwest.

TELEGRAPH LINE TO DAWSON

Possibility that Such Will be Accomplished This Year.

Montreal, Feb. 19.—How would it do to have direct telegraphic communication with Dawson City by next fall? It now looks as if this would be brought about. For some time past the American and Canadian companies which have been trying to enlist Government interest in the matter of a Yukon telegraph service, have made serious attempts to consolidate their interests and it is stated here, with considerable success, that the Canadian companies have agreed to do so.

It is now claimed that a united company will build the line next season, so it is more than likely that more will be heard of the project when Parliament meets. It is understood that the line will start from Quebec, which has been at least a long time in the air, and will proceed to Dawson City, along the Hotteliqua and Lewis rivers to Fort St. John and Dawson. The length of the proposed line will be about 1000 miles and experts claim that the project is a feasible one.

A first-class telegraph line established between Quebec and Dawson City for less than three-quarters of a million dollars. Things have, in fact, advanced so rapidly that the telegraph is already being discussed as a probable tariff rate.

FRIGHTFUL COLLISION.

Calais Express Collides with a Passenger Train.

THIRTY KILLED, FIFTY HURT

The Accident Occurred at Forest a Small Station near Brussels.

The Second Train Was Filled With Passengers and Three Cars Were Crushed to Pieces.

Brussels, Feb. 19.—The express train from Calais, for this place, carrying passengers from London, collided with a train which was at a standstill at Forest, near this city. Thirty passengers were killed outright and fifty others were more or less severely injured.

The train left Tournai at 5:22 this morning and reached Forest at 8:14. Immediately afterwards, the Calais express dashed at full speed into the station and ran into the Tournai train, which was standing at the platform. It is said that owing to the fog the engineer of the express train did not see the signals.

The collision was appalling. The express locomotive mounted on top of the last of the carriages of the Tournai train, which was filled with passengers. These cars were smashed to pieces.

A CATAclysm BEFORE US.

It Leads this is the Opinion Expressed Recently by W. T. Stead

Liverpool, Feb. 19.—Mr. W. T. Stead is one of those men who, having put their hand to the plow, do not turn back. He has undertaken a crusade in the hope of stimulating public feeling throughout England in favor of the Czar's rescript and of bringing about the concurrence of the nation in the duty of taking some active part in the preservation of peace. He recently addressed a meeting under the auspices of the Liverpool Free Church Council, at which he uttered some characteristic sayings. Mr. Stead bided it to be laid down as a fundamental principle that if we had a right to take human life, we should take as much pains to be sure that we were right when killing a hundred thousand as when hanging only one murderer "hear, hear." The hangman did not rank so high in social society, and the soldier was the banner of civilization, and he fully admitted that the latter was a necessary institution. He was the spokesman of the highest authorities on earth. It was the Czar's deliberate judgment that unless something were done to arrest this ever-increasing growth of armaments there was nothing before them but a cataclysm, from which the imagination would recoil in horror, and a heritage of revolutionary anarchy. Lord Salisbury was his other authority. He was a statesman who was weighed with his responsibility, he had the confidence of his Sovereign and the support of a large majority in both houses of Parliament.

Lord Salisbury's opinion was, "he said as the Czar's it was a real thing that war before them or their children on this earth, and they could not put out with a two-way squint of rose-water (laughter). Here was an opportunity unprecedented in history. The Czar and Lord Salisbury were thundering in the ears of the people that we were approaching an abyss in which Christian civilization would disappear, and yet people did nothing but attend chapel and church, sing hymns and twist their thumbs. The war was dumb and tongue-tied, except when it said "Amen" or "No" to the Czar's proposal. That was not his idea of the part of England should play in this crisis, and he said that if the Conference failed the last state of the Continent would be worse than the first.

QUEEN'S CONTINENTAL TOUR.

Death of President Faure will not alter the Visit to Her.

London, Feb. 19.—The sudden death of M. Felix Faure, President of the French Republic, has not affected the program drawn up for Queen Victoria's trip to the South of France. She will go to Cannes unless civil discord breaks out. The attitude of the people in the southern part of the French Republic toward British subjects, however, is still far from cordial, and considerable indignation has been aroused here by the anti-British demonstrations which have been occurring there recently. An English visitor at Nice states that when he attended an entertainment at one of the chief pleasure resorts, on the Jetee promenade, where an actress gave imitations of well-known women, when the curtain was raised displaying Queen Victoria and the band played "God Save the Queen," there was an outburst of hisses, groans and shouts of "Down with the English!" from the well-dressed audience, one man, it further appears, breaking forth into a volley of invectives against Her Majesty.

A TIGER HUNT IN INDIA

VERY EXCITING ADVENTURE OF BRITISH OFFICERS AND NATIVE AIDS

A correspondent writes to the "Al-lahab Pioneer": On the 3rd inst., you gave some account of the appearance of a tiger in the cantonment of Jalna, one of the stations of the Hyderabad Contingent. I am now in a position to give your readers some further particulars regarding the unusual occurrence, to gather with details of the subsequent hunt which resulted in the death of the tiger.

It would appear that on the evening of November 13 a gardener employed in the compound of a vacant bungalow came to inform Captain Burton, whose house was close at hand, that a panther had taken up a position in the verandah of the bungalow. His statement was received with a certain amount of incredulity. Certainly there are panthers to be found in the neighbourhood of Jalna, within a distance of seven or eight miles, but that one of these animals should enter the station in this manner seemed improbable, and it was thought that the man might have seen one of the larger species of jungle cat. However, Captain Burton, accompanied by his brother and three or four men, took his rifle and proceeded to the place. The verandah proved to be empty, but the compound contained a considerable amount of cover, including a large patch of long grass and some thick bushes. The officers made a careful examination of the cover, but could see nothing. A man was then sent up a tree overlooking the patch of grass, but he also reported that no animal was visible. The brothers then took up a position on the far side of the long grass, telling the man to walk through in order to drive out any animal that might be concealed there. Almost immediately there was a sudden rush and roar, and a panther, but a tiger, bounded over the hedge and disappeared in the next compound before a shot could be fired. The situation was one of some difficulty. The tiger could not be seen. The place was surrounded by bungalows on three sides. The regimental band was playing at the tennis court close by, where the ladies of the station were engaged in tennis, whilst a party of officers and men was playing hockey on the adjacent ground. To make matters worse, a servant now came up with the intelligence that Captain Burton's orderly had been maulled by the tiger. It was scarcely credible. The rush of the animal seemed to be almost simultaneous with its disappearance over the hedge. The man must have been struck down as the beast passed him. He was severely bitten on the arm and had a deep claw wound over the shoulder blade.

The cry was now raised that a tiger was about. The scene assumed dramatic proportions, some for rifles, others for safety. It was some time before the situation cleared, and the officers assembled to walk up the tiger, some guns being posted in the surrounding trees. It was now becoming dusk. Accompanied by the bull terrier dog, the line of officers advanced towards the place where the tiger had last been seen. The bull terrier put the beast up on the hedge, and it galloped across the front, followed by the dog. A general fusillade but in the dusk aim could not be taken, and the animal made off though apparently wounded. The tiger now took up a position in a thick position of the hedge, from which the ceaseless barking of the dog failed to disturb it. The guns advanced to within five yards of it, but in the darkness that had fallen the animal could not be seen, and the chase had to be reluctantly abandoned. At daybreak next morning the tiger was taken up and blood was found, proving the creature had been wounded the previous evening. Eventually marks were found in a nullah a mile from the station, but search in the long grass, with which the nullah was filled, failed to bring the game in view. For five days nothing more was heard of the tiger. On the afternoon of Wednesday November 23, Captain Burton and Lieutenant Lane were riding through a village five miles from Jalna, when information was given them that a labourer had been seized by a wild beast when employed in sowing birds in a neighbouring field. The officers saw the man, who was badly wounded and died two days later. They then went to the lower field where the catastrophe had taken place and found some unfortunate man's shoes and turban, and marks of the tiger. A hunt was organized, but by nightfall the animal still remained undiscovered. Next morning Captain Burton accompanied by other officers tracked the beast for some distance across the fields but the tracking eventually failed, owing to the nature of the ground, and a drive over the whole of the surrounding country proved unsuccessful. The track showed that the animal had a broken hind-leg.

On the 25th November Captain Burton, accompanied by Lieutenant Lane, went out to hunt the beast, and pitched his camp seven miles from Jalna near the place where the last tracks had been found. The tiger had now become a danger to the country. The villagers feared to go into the fields or to leave the precincts of their dwelling after nightfall. In the afternoon the sportsman found tracks in a nullah showing that the tiger had crossed and drunk water after the best the preceding Thursday, but again the tracks were lost on hard ground. Next day Captain Burton took up the tracks in a nullah three miles further on, and after a hard day's work, at four o'clock on the afternoon found fresh marks leading into a small deep ravine, running into a large valley. With the sportsman were a native officer, some half a dozen Sepoys and villagers, and the bull terrier dog, who had played such an important part on the first occasion. The two officers took up positions near the head of the ravine. The men armed, and accompanied by the good dog, advanced to drive out the tiger, which, driven from its lair by the bull terrier, broke cover some fifty yards from Lane, who fired a snap shot, apparently without effect. The sportsman then ran after the tiger, which made across country, and headed into the main watercourse, where it took refuge in some thick bushes. Here the dog went in and attacked the tiger, and was severely mauled in the encounter. Covered with blood and wounds, the plucky terrier again went in, but failed to draw the hunted beast and at length withdrew exhausted from the conflict.

The tiger had now taken up a position in the bushes where it could not be seen, and refused to move, although showers of stones were thrown in. It was getting dusk, and the animal would soon be lost under cover of darkness. Having posted men on the bank above to watch all exits from the cover the officers, accompanied by the native officer and a Sepoy, went into the bushes, and after a long and careful search, suddenly came on the tiger crouching in the bushes a few feet off, where a well directed fusillade put an end to its existence. It was a well-grown tiger, about five years old, and eight feet two inches in length. A bullet, evidently fired on the occasion when the beast was turned out of cover, was found in its back. One of the hind legs breaking the bone in its passage, and another old bullet was imbedded in the forepaw. The place where the beast was was brought to light by a searchlight from Jalna, and the successful issue of the hunt was hailed with delight in the surrounding villages, whose inhabitants had been for some days in a state of terror. A tribute is due to the dog, the bull terrier, whose plucky behavior was beyond all praise, and who was doubtless instrumental in saving the party from further disaster. We are all glad to hear that there is a chance of her recovering from her wounds, whilst the orderly who was maulled is proceeding favourably and is now out of danger.

One of Reed's Jokes

When Speaker Reed was making a political speech in a certain Maine town during the last campaign a strong Democrat sat in one of the front benches, and was continually interrupting his speech. Every time this Democrat asked a question Mr. Reed stopped and courteously answered his question, but at last the Democrat interrupted by saying:

"Oh, go to—"

Mr. Reed without a moment's thought said that he had travelled through many parts of the country, and had always been most courteously received everywhere, but that this was the first time he had ever been invited to the Democrat headquarters.

A Touching Carol

Dear Dad
The rose is red,

The pink is pink,
I'll send you fifty,
I don't think.

THE YOUNG MOTHER

devotes herself to her first child as she never does to another. As child succeeds child she no longer reads them stories, tells them tales at twilight or joins with them in a merry romp at bed time. Does she give her later children less because she loves them less? No. She gives them less because she has less to give. The birth of each child has left her a little more weak, a little more nervous, a little more worn out. She hasn't strength to be their intimate and playmate. What a loss this means to mother and to children. It is to such mothers, worn with the burden of motherhood and drained of vitality, that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription comes as the greatest of blessings. The timely use of this remedy prevents the strain and stops the drain from child bearing. Where this strain and drain have been experienced, mothers find that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription acting directly upon the delicate organs which bear the burden of motherhood, restores them to a normal condition of health and elasticity. Ulcerations are cured. Inflammations are removed. The appetite becomes good, sleep is refreshing, the nerves grow quiet. There is a new brightness in the eye, a new lightness in the step. There has come the perfect happiness of perfect health.

"I began taking your 'Favorite Prescription' in August, 1897," writes Mrs. Mollie E. Grimes, of Florence, Nebraska Co., Mo. "and look I until after my baby was born. I was in better health than I ever was with any of my other children. I think all women with child should use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I suffered everything that a weak mother with the rest of my children, and I was also subject to miscarriage. Now I am the happy mother of five baby girls. She was the largest one of all my babies and at the birth I had an easier and shorter time than I ever had. I am stronger and healthier than I ever was."

FINEST REGION IN CANADA.

Toronto, Feb. 17.—Mr. Daniel O'Connor, formerly Mayor of Sudbury is in the city after more than a year spent in prospecting in the wilds of the Temagami district. During that time he discovered a large number of valuable properties, eight or ten of which he has sold. Very little can be done in the way of prospecting until the underbrush is cleared away, but Mr. O'Connor says he has seen enough to convince him that the district is the finest mining region in Canada. He brought a number of samples of ore with him, one of which an assayer at the local assay office, is exceedingly rich. These he will submit to Mr. Hise, of the Bureau of Mines.

Mr. O'Connor also says that the country is richer in timber than he had expected, and there are large areas of splendid agricultural lands. He called on the local Commissioner, Mr. Jones yesterday and in conversation with the gentleman expressed the opinion that with a railway penetrating this district it would be a short time before an excellent and profitable country would grow the Rainy River region into the shade.

Faith in the Doctor.
"An exchange quoted a story said to have been told at a 'charity dinner.' A man was brought into the accident hospital who was thought to be dead. His wife was with him. One of the doctors said: 'He is dead,' but the man raised his head and said: 'No, I'm not dead yet!' whereupon his wife admonished him by saying: 'Be quiet, the doctor ought to know best.'"

WHAT SHE BELIEVES
"I believe in Dr. Sarsaparilla is a good medicine, because I have seen its good effect in the case of my mother. She has taken it when she was weak and her health was poor and she says she knows of nothing better to build her up and make her feel strong." Emily M. Knowles, Upper Wood Harbor, N. S.

REMOVAL OF THE CANADA LIFE.
We take pleasure in presenting our readers with the fifty-second annual report of the Canada Life Assurance Company, which was presented at the yearly meeting of shareholders held at the head office, Hamilton, on the 14th instant. The people of the country have just reason to feel proud of their financial institutions, none of which take higher rank than the Canada Life. This popular company has had a truly phenomenal record during the half-century of its existence. From a small beginning it has grown to one of the greatest financial institutions in the country, with an investment of over twenty millions of dollars. It was decided to remove the head office to Toronto, the principal reason for the change of location being on account of advantages as the financial centre of the Province, of promoting far more and far better securities for the investment of the company's funds than any city the size of Hamilton can possibly afford. The investment of so many millions of dollars in one of the most responsible cities which the officers of the company are charged with. It has long been felt that the company was more or less handicapped by having its headquarters at a distance from the financial centre of the province. To get more closely in touch with the big investments available in Toronto the principal reason in favor of making this city the headquarters of the Canada Life. At the same time Toronto will be more convenient centre for transacting the ordinary insurance business of the company. Two people from the province visit Toronto to one who visits Hamilton. In this way policy holders will be in closer touch with the company if the headquarters are located there. We have understood the opposition that was raised to the removal by the Hamilton people. They naturally feel sore at losing such an old-time institution as the Canada Life. But the Canada Life will prosper better there than at Hamilton and as the policy holders and shareholders are benefited in proportion to the earning capacity of the company's assets, there will be little objection raised to the removal by the thousands of people throughout the country who are directly interested in the company's financial advancement.

The company's officers in Eastern Ontario will be managed in the future as in the past by Mr. E. W. Cox, who has "grown up" with the Canada Life, and to whom popular administrative and executive ability is due the great progress which the company has made in this part of the Province during the past number of years.

AGREEMENT IN REGARDS.
The demand which is being presented on the Ontario Government by the cities for power to tax the plant tracks, wires, poles and such property of electric companies upon their business value is reasonable and gauged by the practice regarding buildings. The courts recently took the opposite view in a test case, ruling practically that the assessment of a telephone company's outfit must be based on what the plant would buy if sold as "scrap." In other words, the electric equipment and lines were to be valued by the assessor as he would value a building, it is being pulled down—namely, by what the brick, stone etc., would fetch. It is a more valuable building not by what the brick, stone, glass, etc., in them would fetch if pulled to pieces, but by their value as they stand for business or residential purposes, why should not assessors estimate electric or any other public plant at their "going" business value or earning power?

"But you are fostering and depressing public progress you are killing the development of public services," is the cry. Very likely, just as we foster and depress public progress and hurt business by taxing our buildings—the more commodious, desirable and useful a block is, the more we are taxed to it; the handiwork of a private residence, the more we are taxed for its beautifying the town. Tear down an ugly, dirty and unwholesome fence around your house and put up a handsome iron railing with some nice shade trees inside it and we will jam some more taxes on you. Re-model an old store and put in an elevator and plate glass windows, and up will go your forced subscription to the city treasury. This principle may be all right. If it is, so is it all right to tax electric and transportation plants. If the principle is wrong, it is as wrong for one as for the other—it is as wrong to tax buildings as to tax public services. And this brings you to either the land tax or the income tax.

REMOVAL OF THE CANADA LIFE.
The Canada Life is the greatest of Canadian life insurance companies. The public insurance amounts to twenty millions of dollars while the accumulated assets are over twenty millions more. This enormous outlay has been the result of half a century of careful management and much toil.

The episode of the removal of the Company's head office from Hamilton to Toronto is commented upon by a number of newspapers as being improper, and done for sinister motives. We have no doubt that the "benefit" will be felt by Mr. Cox, as it will also be felt by every shareholder and policy-holder of the Company. Mr. Cox, in deciding upon the removal of the Company's head office, has done what every well-wisher of the Company must commend. He can afford to treat with all-one the "spinning of a few newspaper, who are actuated by motives other than honorable.

We Wanted to Find.
A Scotchman went to London for a holiday. Walking along one of the streets he noticed a bald-headed chemist standing at his shop door, and inquired if he had any hair restorer. "Yes, sir," said the chemist, "step inside, please. There's an article I can recommend. Testimonials from great men who have used it. It makes the hair grow in 24 hours."

"Aweel," said the Scot, "ye can gie the top o' yer head a rub wi' it, and I'll look back the morn and see if ye're telling the truth."

The chemist returned the bottle to the shelf and asked the straggling boy for laughing.

Snap Shots With a Graphophone.
The Graphophone is to the ear what the photograph is to the eye and more, for the gramophone catches instantly and preserves every tint and shade of sound. A most interesting use of a Graphophone is to make records of your friends' voices to be preserved for future use. You can catch the story of your jolly friend just as he told it, or the favorite song of some loved one, just as she sang it and have it reproduced perfectly at any time and as often as you please. Besides the Graphophone affords wonderful entertainment in the way of reproducing the music of bands, orchestras, or vocal or instrumental soloists. No investment will return so much in pleasure as the purchase of a Graphophone. It is the perfect talking machine. MOLLY BAWN.

BY THE DUCHESS.

At all events he need not witness it. He will throw up his commission and go abroad—that universal refuge for broken hearts, though why we must intrude our griefs and low spirits and general unpleasantness upon our foreign neighbors is a subject not yet sufficiently canvassed. It seems so unkind toward our foreign neighbors.

A rather shaky but consequently picturesque bridge stretches across a little stream that slowly, lovingly lobbies through this part of the world. Leaning upon its parapet, Luttrell gave himself up to a prey to gloomiest reflections, and with the utmost industry calls up before him all the most miserable possibilities. He has reached the verge of suicide—in a moment more, in his mind's eye, he will be over, when a delicious voice behind him says, demurely:

"May I pass, please?"

It is Molly, such a lovely Molly! such a naughty, unrepentant, winsome Molly, with the dearest and widest of straw hats, twined with wild flowers, thrown over her shoulders toward the back of her head.

"I am sorry to disturb you," says this apparition, gazing at him undimly with big innocent eyes, "but I do not think there is room for this bridge for two to pass."

Luttrell instantly draws his tall, slight, handsome figure to its fullest height, and, without looking at her, literally crumbers himself against the frail railing behind him, lest by means he should touch her as she passes. But she seems in too hurry to pass.

"It is my opinion," she says, "that a matter-of-fact time of warning, 'that those wooden railings have seen their last day; and if you try them much longer you will find, if not a weary grave, at all events an exceedingly moist one.'"

There is so much truth in this remark that Luttrell sees the wisdom of abstaining from further trial of their strength, and, falling into a easier position, makes as though too would leave the bridge by the side from which she came on it. This brings them nearly face to face.

Now, dear reader, were you ever in the middle of a crowd, eager to reach the other side of the street? And did you ever meet anybody coming toward you on that crossing also anxious to reach the other side of the street? And did you ever find yourself and that person's political doctrine before each other for a minute or so, debating each other's program, because, unhappy, both your thoughts led you in the same direction? And did you ever feel an irresistible desire to step short and laugh aloud in this person's face? Because now all this happens to Molly and Luttrell.

Each appears full of a dignified haste to quit the other's society. Molly steps to the right, as does Luttrell to the left, at the very same instant. Luttrell, with angry confusion, of his first movement, steps plain to his first position, and so, without pausing, does Molly. Each can only leave them as they began looking far into each other's eyes. When this happened, three times Molly stops short and bursts into a hearty laugh.

"Do try to stay still for one second," she says, with a smile, "and then perhaps we shall manage it. Thank you."

Then, being angry with herself for her mistaken movement, like a true woman she vents her displeasure upon him.

"Suppose you knew I was coming here this evening," she exclaims with ridiculous injustice, "and followed to spoil my little peace I might have!"

"I did not know you were coming here. Had I known it—"

A pause.

"Well," imperiously, "why do you hesitate to say the unkind thing. I hate insinuations. Had you known it."

"I should certainly have gone the other way," coldly. Meantime as you may think of me, I have not fallen so low that I should seek to annoy you by my presence."

"Then," she says, "about you have come to this quiet place, searching for solitude, in which to think out all your hard thoughts of me?"

"I never think hardly of you, Molly."

"You certainly were not thinking kindly."

52nd ANNUAL MEETING.

A PROSPEROUS YEAR'S BUSINESS.

Mr. A. G. Ramsay Unanimously Re-Elected President,

AND MR. F. W. GATES, VICE-PRESIDENT.

There was a large number of share holders present at the Annual Meeting of the Canada Life, held yesterday.

The following is a synopsis of the Annual Report:— At the close of the Company's 52nd year the Directors have to submit their Annual Report, along with the usual Statements of the Receipts and Payments, and the Assets and Liabilities, as at the 31st December last.

During 1898 the applications for assurance were 2,899 in number, for the sum of $4,122,704.75. Of these 181 were declined, for $368,988, the lives not being deemed desirable for the Company's acceptance, and 159 for $318,845 not being completed, the actual issue of the year was 2,618 policies for $3,753,716.75. This amount is an advance upon the business of the past two years, and, as it is doubtless an indication of the increased prosperity of the country, it may also be mentioned that the new assurances of the current year at this date are in excess of those of recent years.

The total business in force on the 31st December last was $75,256,241.35 of Assurances, under 34,723 policies, upon 25,464 lives. The amount paid to policyholders, or their representatives, for policies which became claims by death during the year was $581,998.88, and for endowment policies which had matured $122,823.67. In addition to these sums there were paid on policies by way of profits, $294,232.33, and for surrendered policies, $187,276.58, making the total payment to policyholders $1,204,232.67.

The reserve necessary on account of all the Company's policy risks, and all other liabilities and Capital Stock, as shown by the General Abstract, with the addition of $225,000 set aside as a special voluntary provision towards the higher reserve fund to which the lower rates of interest now obtainable makes it prudent to look forward, and adding $30,000 to the Contingent Account, there is left a surplus over all liabilities, amounting to $1,818,747.89.

During the past year the Company sustained a very great loss by the death of Col. Sir Cassim S. Gowski, K.C.M.G., who had been on the board of Directors for twenty-five years. His wise counsel and earnest readiness to at all times to promote the best interests of the Company were invaluable to it, and his courteous and gracious bearing towards his colleagues warmly endeared him to them.

The President, Mr. A. G. Ramsay, in moving the adoption of the report, said:—

"The annual report by the Directors and the accompanying statements tell the story of the Company's fifty-second year. It is the twenty-fourth year in which I have had the honor as President of submitting a report to you, and it is with the same satisfaction and confidence as I have happily had upon all these occasions, and indeed during all the forty years of my connection with the Company, that I am able to point to the success and the sound position which the Company occupies. In again congratulating you, I would call your attention to some of the figures to which the report alludes. The new business during the year was in excess of that of the previous year, and looking to the increased number of companies, all eagerly competing for business, some of them purchasing it at a greater cost than we have thought prudent or safe, or beneficial to the true interests of those already assured such a result speaks well for the public confidence which the Company enjoys. Our new business having been obtained without undue expense, and with a scrupulous care not to mislead applicants, will prove of a more enduring character, and of a more real profit and advantage, than would a larger business otherwise secured, upon systems which our Company has not thought desirable.

THAT VITAL SPOT.

The prize fighter always aims for the vital spot in the body. When he reaches it, as Fitzsimmons did with Corbett, the other man is knocked out. To protect the vital points of the body is the first care of the fighter.

the deadly blows of that universal pugilist called consumption.

If it is permitted to get out of order—if the blood becomes full of impurities, if the system is allowed to run down—it won't be long until consumption will find the "opening" and deal its fatal blow. Protect yourself with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the non-alcoholic remedy for the stomach, blood and nerves. Take it for lingering coughs, colds, bronchitis, weak and bleeding lungs. It has cured so many thousands that it will also cure you. Don't under any circumstances permit the medicine dealer to induce you to take some other remedy. There are many substitutes on the market, but none of them possess the power to cure like "Golden Medical Discovery."

"After using about five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery my boy seems to be all right," writes Mr. J. W. Price, of Omaha, Nebraska. "He was very bad when I commenced to give him the Golden Medical Discovery. The doctor said he had consumption and was doctored with them until he was past helping. It has been ten months since he stopped using my medicine and he is still in good health."

To knock out constipation and biliousness, take Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

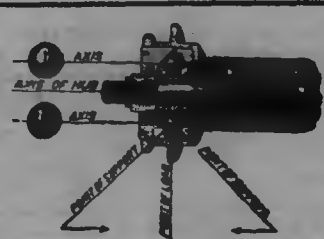

"In speaking about new business, I would like to give you a few remarks from a very excellent paper read the other day before the Actuarial Society of Glasgow. The author says that while it is known that the health of a man will be impaired by too much food, especially if it is rich and costly, there are few who understand that it is possible to injure life office by giving it too much new business, no matter at what cost. It may have been obtained. He pointed out that it is not by any means surprising that a big new business is so highly prized, and its advantages so greatly exaggerated, for it is the big new business that raises the hope of Directors, that raises the salaries of the Presidents, Managers, and Officials, and causes the annual rejoicing on the day of the annual meeting. Reserves may be inadequate, funds badly invested, expenses of management may be ruinous, and business may be infinitesimal, but if there is a large new business to report, everybody is congratulated on being connected with such a highly-prosperous concern. The big new business is like a bird in covering a multitude of sins, but a big new business is not so much a matter of merit as a matter of price."

There are already indications that companies which have been usually expanded and differently conducted from the Canada Life, not following the conservative and economical principles by which it has been guided, are suffering the effects of their different course, and can only avoid its consequences by not holding that all the new business which we get for the protection and safety of our policyholders, and while I am alluding to these effects of undue expansion and undue expenditure, I may point to the fact that the great companies whose business is of the largest amount, and whose enormous growth makes them apparently the most progressive and prosperous character, are just those who have been the most conspicuous in the decline of the profits or surplus which they have been able to give their policyholders. During the past ten years the profits of these very progressive companies have been so reduced that the greatest and largest of them is now paying a dividend of 2.61 per cent, and less than one-half the percentage to premiums they were paying ten years ago.

The ratio of our Company's expenses if its income is of a moderate amount it will be found to be very small. I would, without alluding to any other company in particular, invite those who are interested in doing so to compare that with the corresponding ratio of any other company doing business in Canada. The magnitude of business without regard to its cost is a distinct and direct injury and injustice to our older policyholders, whose advantage and security should be our first care. As the reports of the assurance in force, which were ten years ago forty-seven million dollars, are now seventy-five million dollars. The payments for profits, claims by death, and for gratuities maturing last year, were, will be, were $1,184,854.68, and as an evidence of the Directors' care and sagacity in the selection of the lives assured, I may mention that the year's mortality was largely under what was anticipated and provided for. The sum added to the assets of the Company during the year was larger than had ever before resulted from any year's operations. The new premiums of the year's new business were $30,919.45, and I may explain that the total year's premiums would have exceeded the large amount shown by the accounts, but that so many of our policyholders having very prudently in past years taken their policies on the system of premium loaning after a limited number of years, they have now completed their payments, and their policies are free from future premiums to the Company. The Directors have each year for some time back called year of interest obtainable upon satisfactory investments, and I am sorry to have to repeat that that decline still continues to be experienced by this and all other investing companies, and it has to be added that, in our opinion, and in that of everyone who has given consideration to the question, there is no prospect of any permanent improvement in that respect, but rather the reverse. Under such circumstances and looking to the fact that a Life Assurance Company's obligations are based upon an assumption of interest to be obtained during very long periods extending up to, say, fifty years in the future, it is a matter of prudent regard for the solidity and safety of the Company and its policyholders that we should prepare to still further strengthen our reserves upon policies. With that view, it will be observed by Mr. F. W. Gates, Vice-President, recommended the adoption of the report, which was unanimously carried.

Messrs. Campbell, Ferris, J. H. Plushmer, and W. F. Findlay were appointed scrutineers of the meeting.

On motion, a vote of thanks to the President and Directors for their attention to the interests of the Company during the year was unanimously carried, and briefly responded to by President Ramsay. Mr. Adam Brown moved the thanks of the shareholders to be tendered to the agents, officers, medical and legal advisers of the Company, to whose exertions in the interim success is in a great measure due. This was unanimously carried.

A full discussion took place upon the proposed removal of the Head Office of the Company to Toronto, and it was moved by Hon. Geo. A. Cox, seconded by Z. A. Lash, J.C., that in the opinion of this meeting it would be in the interests of the Canada Life Assurance Company that its chief place of business should hereafter be in the city of Toronto, and that the Board of Directors be and are hereby requested to take such action as may be deemed necessary to carry out the object of this resolution. An amendment to this resolution having been defeated by a vote of 1,253 shares against, and 154 for, the original motion of Messrs. Cox and Lash was carried upon the same vote. At an earlier stage of the meeting a proposition of citizens was heard, Mr. Samuel Barker stating their reasons against the proposed removal of the Company.

The following Directors were elected to fill the places of those retiring:— Messrs. A. G. Ramsay, Adam Brown, William Gibson, M. F. J. W. Favelle, John Hoskins, J.C., Z. A. Lash, J.C. At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Mr. A. G. Ramsay and Mr. F. W. Gates were unanimously re-elected President and Vice-President, respectively.

INDIA'S NEED

Interesting Lecture Delivered in Murray St. Baptist Church by Rev. Mr. McDermott.

Murray street Baptist church was crowded to the doors last night by a large audience to listen to the Rev. Mr. McDermott lecture on the needs of India.

Step by step the lecturer in clear, earnest language revealed to his hearers the terrible task the missionaries had taken up in India. A brief description of India was given with special attention to the boundaries of the district in which the Baptist church were working. Throughout the entire lecture views were thrown on a large screen illustrative of the subject immediately under discussion.

The inclination of the people to cling to old and disreputable customs was a great hindrance to mission work. Caste, or caste separation was another impediment that had to be surmounted.

Agriculture was in a very backward state. Views of tillage were very primitive. Traveling was done by the bullock in ox-carts that rarely exceeded 2 miles per hour. To a great extent the people lived, unwatered in a country where but little rain fell. Most built with mud floors. Little furniture and even less domestic utensils constituted the home of the large proportion of the people. There were no sanitary laws and consequently there was no observance of such. There was small wonder, then that India was continually suffering from plague. India was never in fact, free from plague of some description or other. Strong and even desperate opposition was shown to any measures taken for the improvement of the sanitary condition.

Plague, which at all times to some extent, is a scourge to India, could then be slightly lessened how great the efforts were, when there was a small society of food.

But the millions of the people were even greater than their physical wants. There were 300,000,000 distinct souls. Of this vast number there was not one, which stood for what was pure in life. They were all enmeshed with the same enormous sinfulness. "No man can rise superior to the evil he worships" and India in its moral life showed this to its fullest meaning.

The members of the numberless gods varied from insignificant pieces of sticks to large and magnificent edifices.

The holy men of India were subjects of special remark. To attain to this distinction it was not necessary to live a moral life, in any sense. It was a life of a recluse and in inflicting personal injuries, such as holding up an arm a certain length of time, or the finger nails grow till they pierce the flesh and bring out beds of sores. This was all done under the impression that great merit would be attained and future reward assured. These men wielded great influence among the natives and their lighted words always meant law to countless numbers.

Holy places existed in numbers of places in India and by these regular pilgrimages were made.

Women's condition in India was very low. They were not looked on as possessing any souls and were treated worse than beasts.

Into this land of darkness, the first light of the gospel was thrown by William Carey a village shoemaker who was also a pastor of a local Baptist church. Now there was 250 societies at work and over 4000 missionaries. During 30 years there had been great discouragement, but 30 years of great success had followed. Missionaries toured the field from sea to sea. Schools were established to teach the people to read. Bright scholars were sent overseas. The heathen were gradually weakened and Christian work was waxing stronger. Confessions were regularly held and every five years an assembly of all the works was held together.

The lecturer closed with an earnest appeal for interest and assistance in the work.

Interest was added to the meeting by the presence of Miss Faulkner, who sang "Lead Kindly Light" and "My Aids Come."

COUNCIL MEET

County Council to be Re-elected—Motion Carried.

A special meeting of the council, was held last night. The committee of the joint committees be instructed to interview the County Council, to ascertain whether the County would be willing to re-build and maintain the Mid. Lake Bridge, on condition that the town pay $250, for 20 years, provided the bridge is maintained in good condition during that time.

In the open council meeting, the following measures were proposed:

That a by-law be submitted, permitting the payment to the Children's Aid Society, in monthly instalments, that $500, be granted to them.

That the Board of Works be authorized to loan after the repairing and refitting of the water-carts, for the coming spring.

That the petition, to be presented in behalf of the town, to the legislature be signed by the mayor and clerk, and forwarded together, with cheque for $100.

IN FAR FORNOSA

Interesting Lecture on Mission Work by Rev. J. G. Potter.

The Y. P. & O. E. of St. Andrew's church held a special meeting at which the pastor, Rev. Mr. Potter gave a minute description of the work of the Presbyterian church in North Formosa which had been carried on since 1871 by Rev. Dr. Mackay with such marked success. In 1885 the first missionary Rev. Dr. Maxwell opened a medical mission at Taw Wan, the capital of the S. W. district of the island under the auspices of the English Presbyterian church.

A brief description of the island, its physical appearance, and the nature and character of the natives was given by Rev. Mr. Potter who dwelt specially on the great work that had been accomplished. There was now 60 churches in Formosa with 80 native teachers and over 2000 members. There were 25 Bible women, 20 students in the Otago College preparing for Christian work and close on 50 women and girls in girls schools preparing for the same work. Eight day schools are being taught by Christian teachers with the Bible as the principal text book. A great work was being accomplished in the Mackay hospital, where over thousands of patients are being treated annually. Numerous views of the country, natives, schools, teachers and students were shown under the direction of Mr. Mallett.

To-night Rev. J. G. Potter accompanied by Mr. Mallett will deliver the above address in Auburn at 8 o'clock.

Funeral.
Funeral services for the late Mrs. J. G. Potter will be held at 8 o'clock to-morrow at the residence of Mr. Mallett.

The next meeting of the Fortnightly club will be held to-night, Mr. J. McClellan of the Collegiate Institute, will read a very interesting paper on "The Relations of Education to Economic Conditions." A short discussion of the paper will take place after the reading of the paper. A large attendance of the members of the club and their friends is looked for. The club will take the chair at 8 o'clock.

Funeral.
Pomp and extravagance in funerals are common among the rich classes of the far east. Money is spent lavishly there for burial ceremonies. All records in this respect were eclipsed recently in Singapore by the relatives of Mr. Tan Jick Kim, who died in that city. Her coffin cost something like $20,000. It was decorated with gold and precious stones and lined with the most costly silks and damasks. The other details of the funeral were not only extremely extravagant, making the funeral the most remarkable in regard to expense that has ever taken place in the colony.

The Match of the Season.
Tuesday morning the early riser might have seen a goodly crowd of athletes running at a break-neck speed up to the goose-neck. But he need not have been alarmed for it was only the crack hardware team getting into shape for their return match with Lakeland next week. Their trainer, Mr. Francis Robinson, says they will be able to put up the game of their life when he gets through with them. Jimmy is a good man to get the team into shape, and the people of Peterborough expect to see the best game of hockey played in Peterboro this winter.

True Patriotism.
In these days, when we have such an abundance of real and sham patriotism—of able statesmanship and very low down politics—of seeking the very best interests of the whole State and of the whole country, in contrast to filling one's own purse—what a fine comment was that on Monday the 14th of the multitude of his brethren, seeking the wealth of his people, and speaking peace to all his own (Feb. 10, 2). As a consequence, this is a warning to bow down to the "Giant" to the "Giant" who is the administrator of the king's revenue, as devoted to his own people in his property as in his adversity; as careful not to allow his promotion to alternate him from his own selfishness as he is prompt and sympathetic in his assistance. He will not to the king, if he desired God's favor.—Rev. E. J. D. Pepper.

TACT OF THE SIRDAR

How Kitchener Obtained Desired Information.

MASQUERADED AS A SPY

He Was Arrested and Thrown Into a Tent with Two Real Spies.

The spies thinking he was one of themselves, found their tongues and revealed secrets.

London, Feb. 21.—A remarkable story of Lord Kitchener is being told on the authority of one of his relatives, and illustrates more than any, perhaps his readiness of resource, his determination, and his painstaking, far-seeing preparation for events. One evening as the English forces neared Khartoum a Danish spy was discovered in camp, and promptly taken to headquarters for examination. It was a juncture at which information as to the enemy's position and plans was of the highest importance; but neither the richest bribes nor the direst threats could elicit one word from the prisoner; he affected to be both deaf and dumb. Scarcely was his hearing over if hearing it can be called—when another spy was led in, who proved equally obstinate. It was maddening; and in "the good old times" torture and short shift would have been the fate of these brave gentlemen. As it was, they were led away bound, and placed for the night in a well-guarded tent. About half an hour later, when all was settled down to rest in camp, there was a fresh stir and hubbub, and a third spy was dragged in, who also would reveal nothing, and was finally placed in the tent with his fellows. Soon the guards outside heard a murmur of voices from within; the dumb spies had found their tongues; but it was impossible to overhear their talk distinctly or to understand it. An hour or more passed. Then the door of the tent was thrown open, and the third spy appeared and asked to be conducted to headquarters. It was the Sirdar, who in disguise had discovered all he needed to know! It seems that Lord Kitchener always takes the greatest pains to make himself master of the vernacular of any country to which he is sent. He seized every opportunity of talking with the people, until he speaks literally like a native.

THE SULTAN GIVES WAY.

Bombay, Feb. 21.—The Sultan of Oman has revoked the grant of a coaling station to the French, under the British admiral's threats of bombardment, and the fact that the British warships Eclipse, Sphinx and Red Breast are lying off the coast of Muscat. The Sultan has issued a proclamation to the foregoing effect, and he will make a similar announcement in open court. The French Consul has entered a protest. Oman is considered to be under British protection, and the Sultan has been receiving a subsidy from Great Britain.

THE CASE OF ANTICONTI.

London, Feb. 21.—In answer to a question in the House of Commons to-day put by Mr. James Francis Hogan, Anti-Parricide, respecting a Freeman's purchase of an "important strategic position at the gateway of Canada," and the alleged evictions of the previous occupants, the Government leader Mr. A. J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury, said that the island of Anticosti had been purchased by M. Menier, but he had no official information regarding the evictions. A report on the situation had been asked for, but had not yet arrived.

ROYALTY AT OMDURMAN.

Omdurman, Egypt, Feb. 21.—The Duke and Duchess of Connaught arrived here yesterday evening and met with a cordial welcome from the natives. The Duke reviewed 9,000 troops commanded by the Sirdar, General Lord Kitchener of Khartoum, and afterwards held at levee, at which the officers and nobilities were present. The Duke and Duchess visited the tomb of the Mahdi, the Khalifa's house and garden and the palace at Khartoum. There was a display of fireworks during the evening.

MR. BLAKE COMING BACK

There is a Probability of His Returning Here in the Spring.

London, Feb. 21.—Hon. Edward Blake will return to Canada for good in May, possibly before. He will be tendered a farewell banquet under the auspices of all sections of the Nationalist party. Mr. Redmond appreciates just as much as Mr. Dillon and Sir Thomas Egan the immense personal sacrifices Mr. Blake has made for the cause of home rule and the great value his services have been to it.

The Canadian colony here is interested in what Mr. Blake will do on reaching Canada. He has made no public statement respecting Canadian affairs or his probable action with regard to them, but friends of his say that "old Blake" in Canada will be glad to see him back. He has no burning desire to return to Canada, but he will, but they say he might consider it his duty to do so if his old supporters in Canada insist on it in the public interest. Those conversant with Canadian politics here say that many "old Liberals" consider that the party is being destroyed by the master spirit of the Cabinet, Messrs. Tarte and Blair, who are not Liberals, but some-thing else, and it is said that these people have been writing to Mr. Blake, urging him to return. He has also received appeals from the younger men in the party, who are longing for higher ideas than those now prevalent, and desire to see the party become once again a party of principle. British Catholics identified with the Liberal party, it is stated, have asked Mr. Blake to come to their assistance, and to justice to them, alleging that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has not given them proper recognition, simply because Mr. Tarte is hostile to them, while Mr. Blifton, regarded by the P. P. A. element as its particular representative in the Cabinet, is equally unfriendly. To all these appeals Mr. Blake has replied that in returning to spend the remainder of his life in his native land he has no desire to enter Dominion politics, and neither any circumstance would need time to renew his acquaintances with public affairs; that without expressing an opinion on points raised by his correspondents, he feels there is great future for the Dominion, provided the public policy is based on justice to all, and that the corrupt and corrupting elements if any now exist, are mutually repressed.

BERESTFORD ANSWERED.

Russian Ambassador Denies Several Statements Made

THERE IS NO CLOSED DOOR

In the Celestial Empire—Russia Favors Foreign Commerce

Count Cassini Says That She is Willing to Admit it on Equal Terms—Berestford Makes a Mistake.

New York, Feb. 21.—A despatch to The Herald from Washington says: Your correspondent has obtained from Count Cassini, the Russian Ambassador to the United States in an interview an answer to the statements made by Lord Charles Berestford relative to the establishment of an open door in China. Count Cassini was transferred from Peking to Washington after five and a half years' service at the Chinese capital and his views are highly regarded here. Before talking respecting Lord Berestford's statements the Ambassador said of the report published this morning that a conflict between Russian and Chinese troops at Tientsin was three hundred of the latter were killed: "I do not believe the report. If there had been any foundation for it I would have been immediately advised of the facts by my Government. The Chinese have no troops at Tientsin-Wan, and a conflict could not therefore have occurred."

Respecting Lord Charles Berestford's declaration in favor of the maintenance of the "open door" in China, the Ambassador said: "A great deal of misinformation exists concerning trade conditions in the far East, and a determined and regrettable effort is being made to misinform the public on this matter. There is no closed door in China. Lord Charles Berestford does not say at present there exists a closed door, but says that it is possible that in the future there may be a closed door. As a matter of fact China holds in her hands the authority to declare whether there shall be an open door or a closed door."

RUSSIA'S POLICY.

"The policy of Russia in the extreme Orient has always favored the introduction of foreign commerce on an equal footing. Vladivostok is maintained as a free port. Tientsin-Wan which is within the Russian sphere of influence in China is today a free port. Port Arthur, in fact, because Port Arthur is merely a fortress, and was transferred to Russia, that she might make it the terminus of the trans-Siberian road and have at that point a guard to provide for the necessary protection."

Lord Charles Berestford states that Russia wants to take possession of the north of China and leave the south of that country to France. Now he proposes that England, the United States, Germany and Japan shall take charge of affairs in China, England to have control of the customs, etc., a very natural desire from his point of view.

MAKES A MISTAKE.

"Why does he make exceptions of Russia and France? He does so on the ground that there are no commercial people. This is a mistake. France is a commercial nation. Russia will be the Siberian road is a commercial idea. He says it is only built for strategic reasons. This another mistake. I am sure, however, that Lord Charles Berestford only expresses his private views and not those of his government."

HE HAS TO PAY TOLL.

Montreal, Feb. 20.—There is a conflict on between Spencerwood and Hon. William Patterson, the genial head of the Canadian customs, and it looks as if grave complications might follow. It appears that Lieut. Governor Jettie had ordered a new official costume, the same to be ready for the opening of the present session of the Quebec Legislature. Few people blamed our popular Governor for this, as all French Canada is desirous that the one occupant of gubernatorial office should look as well as possible when His Honor of Quebec comes down in state to open this little Parliament. The costume arrived all right and Mr. Jettie supposed that the Customs Department would allow the garments to be free. However Hon. Mr.

Patterson could not see things in this light, and he intimated that the Lieut. Governor would have to pay for his coat just like an ordinary mortal who goes abroad for a new suit of clothes. His Honor replied that, if this were the case, he would open the Legislature in plain clothes as a protest against what he considered a small piece of business on the part of his Ottawa friends. This is what was done.

B.C. REQUIRES $1,750,000

Finance Minister Announces That This sum will be Borrowed.

Victoria, B. C., Feb. 21.—The Minister of Finance, Hon. Mr. Cotton, yesterday delivered his budget speech in the Legislature. He first made a statement of the financial affairs for the year ending June 30th last, under the administration of his predecessor, Mr. Mr. Turner. For that year he said there was an estimated and authorized expenditure of $2,000,000 while the revenue, along with the $250,000 to be left over from the last year, was estimated at $1,575,000 leaving an estimated deficit of $425,000. The actual result, however, has proved to be revenue $1,430,000; expenditure, $2,007,347; and deficit $567,347, which, deducting $250,000 for sinking fund, leaves a net deficit of $317,347.

In the current year he estimated that the gross deficit would be $1,063,010, and deducting the $250,000 required for sinking fund the net deficit would be $813,010. As it would be impossible to wipe out the deficit existing when the Government took office, a loan would be required for an amount which he estimated at $1,750,000.

POLICE REPORT GIVEN IN

REPORT OF THE QUEBEC PROVINCIAL POLICE.

Write of Attachment Out But Families Were Nevertheless Released.

Quebec, Feb. 21.—In the Provincial House yesterday Hon. Mr. Robitoux brought down the correspondence and report of the provincial police relating to their mission last June to Anticosti in connection with their dispute between Mr. Menier and the English settlers on Anticosti. The documents do not appear to bear out the statements of the residents of Fox Bay that were compelled to sign Mr. Menier's conditions at the point of the pistol, but it does not appear as if the provincial police were sent down to Anticosti against whom legal writs of attachment had been sent out by Mr. Menier.

The order of the Attorney-General to Judge Chaveau encloses a request from Mr. Commisariat Menier's "government" to detain four men of the provincial police in order to allow him to expel from Fox Bay a group of ten families "which in spite of warnings and notices of every kind given them during the last two years, continued to injure this private property by killing the animals thereon and cutting the wood right and left against the rules of the island, communicated to them and posted at Fox Bay where Mr. Menier has taken possession of the island."

The "requisitoires" were given and Detective Party with three constables left for Anticosti July 1. The Detective in his report thus describes the way in which the settlers were terrorized: "Arrived at Bay St. Clair, Baie des Anglais, where the principal establishment of Mr. Menier is situated on the morning of July 5th. We arrived at Fox Bay on the 6th. I landed with him his lawyer, Mr. Gibson and Capt. Belanger of the navy. Mr. Commisariat met the greater number of the residents of Fox Bay. He told them he had instructions from Mr. Menier to oblige them to leave the island in twenty-four hours, for a number of reasons which he related to them. These particulars took place between the residents, Mr. Commisariat and Mr. Gibson, and I then returned to the navy and learned that telegraphic communications had taken place between Mr. Menier and the residents of Fox Bay through Commisariat. At South Point, on order of Mr. Commisariat there met Capt. Fortin and told him that as he had been there since the spring, without leave he must vacate the place. After exchanging courtesies Fortin came on board the Savoy with his family and effects to be taken to Mr. Menier where he had his residence. The party returned to Fox Bay, where the same previous incident, and Commisariat recommended his talk with the residents. New dispatches were exchanged with Mr. Menier, and we returned aboard the same evening. On the 9th of July in the morning, on order of Mr. Commisariat, I again landed with the constables, Capt. Belanger and eight of the crew Fortin and his family had disembarked the day before. Commisariat and Gibson took the two heads of families, Commisariat read them Menier's proposition. These proposals were contained in a document prepared by Mr. Gibson who also read them himself. These proposals were accepted after discussion

SIR WILFRID'S FAILURE

Treaty Negotiations Did not Produce Any Result.

WHAT PUBLIC MEN THINK

It Was Better to Come Home Without a Treaty.

Thank to Bismarck Trade Conditions—Commissioners Adjourned to Meet at Quebec, August 2nd.

Toronto, Feb. 21.—The chief topic of conversation in commercial circles today is the failure of the Washington negotiations and the return of the Canadian Commissioners with empty hands. The proceedings of the conference have been watched with keen interest and there was apparent on the surface, for the mercantile community feared a disturbance of existing conditions as the result of the work of the treaty makers. Through out this city general satisfaction is expressed at the way the negotiations terminated. The settlement of such questions as the Behring Sea sealing rights and Alaskan boundary, on an equitable basis would be regarded as desirable but the danger that to these would be added a reciprocity arrangement that would not be advantageous to Canada made the people generally anxious as to the outcome of the negotiations. Several prominent citizens were interviewed this morning and expressed their views on the question as appended.

THE OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

Washington, Feb. 21.—The following official statement has been issued respecting the adjournment of the Joint High Commission:—

"The commission adjourned to meet at Quebec August 2, unless the chairman of the respective commissions shall agree upon another date."

The commission has made very substantial progress in the settlement and adjustment of many of the questions upon which it has been earnestly engaged. But it has been unable to agree upon the settlement of the Alaskan boundary.

"The British Commissioners desired that the whole question should be referred to arbitration on terms similar to those provided in the reference of the Venezuelan boundary line and which by providing an umpire, would ensure certainty and finality."

"The United States Commissioners on the other hand thought the local conditions in Alaska so different that some modification of the Venezuelan reference should be introduced. They thought the reference should be made to experienced jurists, three chosen by each of the high contracting parties without providing for an umpire, they believing that finality would be secured by a majority vote of the jurists or, chosen."

"The United States Commissioners further extended that special stipulations should be made in any reference to arbitration that existing settlements on the white waters of the coast should in any event continue to belong to the United States. To this condition the British Commissioners refused to agree."

"It was therefore deemed advisable to adjourn to a convenient date in order to further consider the subject to which no conclusion yet has been reached."

Walden Bros. Company.

Entertainment at Auburn.

The entertainment was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Local Stamp Collectors.
There is a flurry among our stamp collectors over the latest action of the Hon. Mr. Mulock. A number of envelopes were issued with the 10 stamp in the corner and, as they have become useless, Mr. Mulock, rather than lose the envelopes, have had them all cancelled. The envelopes have been transformed into the 3-cent variety by having a large figure 3 placed on the Queen's head. As a "cancel" stamp is a rarity in Canadian postal circles, a rush is being made for them.

Off for the Pacific Coast.
Capt. John Martin, on long connected with the North Star, left yesterday for Victoria, B. C. He has accepted a position as master on one of the large steamers on the Tuckson River and will sail from Victoria for the northern waters in a short time. Capt. Martin was immensely popular on the lower waters and carried with him to his new home the heartfelt good wishes of hundreds of his old-time friends. The Times is pleased to add its testimony to Capt. Martin's worth. He is a most careful and efficient officer and has the faculty of making friends wherever he goes and it is no wonder to become popular in his new field of labor.

Cash Buyers Stamp.
We call the attention of our readers to the Cash Buyers Stamp Co's announcement which appears on the front page of this paper. "The Cash Buyers Stamp Envelope" is a new and novel method of advertising which should receive the careful consideration of our enterprising merchants. These envelopes which are distributed free, one to every house, contains a tab or booklet attached and each merchant receives a full-page advertisement. The advertiser who leaves the envelope explains to the people the advantages that they will derive by trading with the merchants who give the Cash Buyers Stamps. By paying cash and collecting the stamps a saving is made of 5 per cent on every dollar spent for groceries, meats, etc. Every line of trade being represented. One very important feature of this system is that the people receive their money every day for the stamps collected. One merchant, whose business does not interfere with the system is anxious to pay the people. The money collected is deposited with him. This makes it safe for all concerned. There is no long wait, as each stamp is redeemed in cash.

EDUCATION AND ECONOMICAL CONDITIONS.

An Interesting and Instructive Address by Mr. McCall.

The Fortnightly Club, held their regular meeting, in the Y.M.C.A. building, last night, when Mr. McCall, held the attention of his audience for an hour on the "Relation of Education to Economic conditions."

Mr. McCall claimed that it would have afforded him much greater pleasure could he have appeared before the club, feeling himself in anywise more capable of treating on the subject in hand. His subject was not only a large one, but also he feared, a dry and abstruse one. It was his task to show whether our education had a relation to our economical conditions or vice-versa and if so, whether it was for good or not.

Education was the development of powers by the exercising of them. Economic conditions on the other hand were of a wide nature, and not merely defined but to a considerable extent it treated of the creation of products, their distribution and the means by which that distribution is affected. None of the great industrial nations of the past have existed longer than 100 years. Conflict has interfered, new conditions have arisen. Conflict has proved to be discipline. It has compelled union for defence, under mutual obligations and under mutual leader. From it mutual forbearance has been developed. Modern commerce rests on industry. Agricultural pursuits have rightfully pursued, conducted to a high state of industry. The introduction of machinery, was an advantage to the mentally alert. It meant a clearing in industry. One became an owner, another the manipulator, one was the employer, the other, the employee. The condition of a fluctuation in the markets meant a set back to some forms of labor, as circumstances demanded other results. The capital, taken from one business would then seek a new field. In the meantime capital might be hoarding in affluence, while labor might be in abject poverty, and under produced weakness. In a glut of the labor market philanthropic people urged a return to the civilization of the soil. The material was fundamental and on it was built the spiritual. The Christianizing of a savage, had to be accomplished from his material side, and it was even said, that the quickest way to tame the ordinary man, was through his stomach. Christian nations were preeminently commercial and industrial. Nature was careful of types, but not of the individual. Those endowed with commercial gifts, to a large extent was out of place. To way to meet the fluctuations of commerce in to increase the efficiency of labor. England and Germany represented two different systems of education, and the system now being pursued by Germany, was proving itself superior to that of England. The closer connection of education, with economic changes was benefitting Germany. In the latter country compulsory education had first been fought for by Martin Luther, in 1544. In 1747, the whole of science, were introduced and since that time numerous changes had been adopted to suit economical changes and modern conditions. University education was to a great extent based on advanced research. Medical certificates depended on research. Hence, the fact, that Germans were the pioneers in chemistry, geology, etc.

It is not to be implied that a general system of education should be applied to the laborer. It would not be possible. In such a case, the intellectual element would be eliminated. The best class of education was that already in force in our public and high schools where greater changes were given for development of versatility, and a greater play of individuality. The period of youth was the one of receptivity and the time for a varied or general education.

Our educational system was a good one but it was not the supreme good. It was not the greatest. Great intellects were valuable but most, hardy fighters in other directions were wanted and were valued. The study of mankind in man.

"Stand by Arms and learn of men," stated by Hawthorne and set as an example.

On the conclusion of the address, a discussion followed, which was taken part in by Messrs. Dumble, Brown and Garvin.

Mr. Dumble, stated that the address had put thoughts into his head that would make him uncomfortable if he did not express them. Labor consisted in the knowledge of things and how to use them. The world needs practical knowledge.

It is thoughtful men of education who have introduced economical changes as witness, Watt, Franklin, Stevenson, Edison, etc. High, economical advancement meant high intellectual development. No advance in the material without an advance in intellectual and moral.

Mr. Brown referred especially to the demand for prompt for economical improvement in the distribution of the products of labor. He claimed that every man, woman and child should receive payment in proportion to the value of their services. Such was not however the case. Mr. Brown, cited examples of men, who have amassed great wealth and claimed that this wealth was the result of unequal and wrongful distribution.

Mr. Garvin raised a question as to certain statements of Mr. McCall, who replied, Mr. Dumble also taking part.

LOCAL MUSIC

A Feeling About That Home Talent is Requested.

Did it ever occur to the people of Peterborough, that it would be a nice thing to develop local music talent, in preference to encouraging talent from a distance? We believe it has, and in fact there seems to be an undervalued talent in every day, among our citizens, against so much attention being paid to outside singers, and so little to the singers of our own town. Singers from outside towns, are heralded weeks ahead especially by our churches, while it is hardly considered worth while to secure a day ahead the appearance at any services of our local singers.

It is not our attention to make any attack, on any church, or any singer that may have visited town. But an overstatement of special singers, have been made and people have attended for the purpose of hearing them, and returned home feeling, that would have been better satisfied, had they heard some local singer. It is the frequency with which we have heard the above feeling expressed, that has led us to say, what we have. There are numbers of good singers in Peterborough, and still greater numbers who would prove good singers, if some of the attention wasted on outside singers, was spent on them.

TACT OF THE SIRDAR

How Kitchener Obtained Desired Information.

MASQUERADED AS A SPY

He Was Arrested and Thrown Into a Tent with Two Real Spies.

The Spies Thinking he was One of Them, Found Their Tongues and Revealed Secrets.

London, Feb. 21.—A remarkable story of Lord Kitchener is being told on the authority of one of his relatives, and illustrates more than any, perhaps his readiness of resource, his determination, and his painstaking, far-seeing preparation for events. One evening as the English forces neared Khartoum, a Danish spy was discovered in camp, and promptly taken to headquarters for examination. It was a juncture at which information as to the enemy's position and plans was of the highest importance; but neither the richest bribes nor the direct threats could elicit one word from the prisoner; he affected to be both deaf and dumb. Scarcely was his hearing over—if hearing it can be called—when another spy was led in, who proved equally obstinate. It was maddening; and in "the good old times" tortures and short shrift would have been the fate of those brave gentlemen. As it was, they were led away bound, and placed for the night in a well-guarded tent. About half an hour later, when all was settled down to rest in camp, there was a fresh stir as a hubbub, and a third spy was dragged in, who also would reveal nothing, and was finally placed in the tent with his fellows. Soon the guards outside heard a murmur of voices from within; the dumb spies had found their tongues; but it was impossible to overhear their talk distinctly or to understand it. An hour or more passed. Then the door of the tent was thrown open, and the third spy appeared and asked to be conducted to headquarters. It was the Sirdar, who in disguise had discovered all he needed to know! It seems that Lord Kitchener always takes the greatest pains to make himself master of the resources of any country to which he is sent. He seized every opportunity of talking with the poorer folk; but he speaks literally like a native.

THE SULTAN GIVES WAY.

Bombay, Feb. 21.—The Sultan of Oman has revoked the grant of a coaling station to the French, under the British admiral's threats of bombardment, and the fact that the British warships Eclipse, Sphinx and Red Breast are lying off the coast of Muscat. The Sultan has issued a proclamation to the foregoing effect, and he will make a similar announcement in open Dharbar. The French Consul has entered a protest. Oman is considered to be under British protection, and the Sultan has been receiving a subsidy from Great Britain.

THE CASE OF ANTI-COUST.

London, Feb. 21.—In answer to a question in the House of Commons to-day put by Mr. James Francis Hogan, Anti-Parmellite, respecting a Frenchman's purchase of an "important" strategic position at the gateway of Canada, and the alleged evictions of the previous occupants the Government leader Mr. A. J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury, said that the title of the land of Anticosti had been purchased by M. Menier, but he had no official information regarding the evictions. A report on the situation had been asked for, but had not yet arrived.

ROYALTY AT OMDURMAN.

Omdurman, Egypt, Feb. 21.—The Duke and Duchess of Cornwall arrived here yesterday evening and met with an enthusiastic welcome from the natives. The Duke reviewed 9,000 troops commanded by the Sirdar, General Lord Kitchener of Khartoum, and afterwards held a levee, at which the officers and nobilities were present.

POLICE REPORT GIVEN IN REPORT OF THE QUEBEC PROVINCIAL FORCE.

Writs of Attachment Out But Families Were Nevertheless Ejected

Quebec, Feb. 21.—In the Provincial House yesterday Hon. Mr. Robitoux brought down the correspondence and report of the provincial police relating to their mission last June to Anticosti in connection with their dispute between Mr. Menier and the English settlers on Anticosti. The documents do not appear to bear out the statements of the residents of Fox Bay that were compelled to sign Mr. Menier's conditions at the point of the pistol. It does not appear as if the provincial police were sent down to eject men against whom legal writs of attachment had been sent out by Mr. Menier.

The order of the Attorney-General to Judge Chavauvignot a request from Mr. Commissioner, Menier's "governor" for the aid of four men of the provincial police in order to allow him to expel from Fox Bay a group of ten families, which in spite of warnings and notices of every kind given him during the last two years, continue to injure this private property killing the animals thereon and cutting the wood right and left all along the coast of the island, communicated to them and posted at Fox Bay since Mr. Menier has taken possession of the island.

The requisite orders were given and Detective Barry and three constables left for Anticosti July 1. The detective in his report thus describes the results—

"I arrived at Bay St. Charles, Bas de la Riviere, where the principal establishment of Mr. Menier is situated on the morning of July 4th. We arrived at Fox Bay on the 6th. I landed on order of Mr. Commissioner, with him his lawyer, Mr. Gibson, and Capt. Blangere of the Gendarmerie. Mr. Commissioner met the greater number of the residents of Fox Bay. He told them he had instructions from Mr. Menier to oblige them to leave the island in twenty-four hours, for a number of reasons which he related to them. These porters took place between the residents, Mr. Commissioner and Mr. Gibson, and I then returned to the Gendarmerie and telegraphic communications had taken place between Mr. Menier and the residents of Fox Bay through Commissioner. At South Point, on order of Mr. Commissioner, three met Calte Fortin and told him that as he had been there since the spring without leave he must vacate the place. After exchanging pleasantries Fortin came on board the Sloop with his family and effects to be taken to Fox Bay, where he had his residence. The party returned to Fox Bay, where the same persons landed, and Commissioner recommended his talk with the residents. New disputes were exchanged with Mr. Menier and we returned about the same evening. On the 9th of July in the morning, on order of Mr. Commissioner, I again landed with the Gendarmerie, Capt. Blangere and eight of the crew. Fortin and his family had disembarked the day before. Commissioner and Gibson met the ten heads of families. Commissioner read them Menier's proposals. These proposals were contained in a document prepared by Mr. Gibson who also read them himself. These proposals were accepted after discussion.

BERESFORD ANSWERED.

Russian Ambassador Denies Several Statements Made

THERE IS NO CLOSED DOOR

In the Celestial Empire—Russia Favors Foreign Commerce

Count Cassini Says That She is Willing to Admit it on Equal Terms—Beresford Makes a Mistake.

New York, Feb. 21.—A despatch to The Herald from Washington says: Your correspondent has obtained from Count Cassini, the Russian Ambassador to the United States in an interview an answer to the statements made by Lord Charles Beresford relative to the establishment of an open door in China.

Count Cassini was transferred from Peking to Washington after five and a half years' service at the Chinese capital and his views are highly regarded here. Before talking respecting Lord Beresford's statements the Ambassador said of the report published this morning that "a conflict between Russian and Chinese troops at Talien-Wan, three hundred of the latter were killed."

"I do not believe the report. If there had been any foundation for it I would have been immediately advised of the facts by my Government. The Chinese have no troops at Talien-Wan, and a conflict could not therefore have occurred."

Respecting Lord Charles Beresford's declarations in favor of the maintenance of the "open door" in China, the Ambassador said: "A great deal of misapprehension exists concerning trade conditions in the far East, and a determined and regrettable effort is being made to misinform the public on this matter. There is no closed door in China. Lord Charles Beresford is not at present there exists a closed door, but says that it is possible that in the future there may be a closed door. As a matter of fact China holds in her hands the authority to declare whether she shall be an open door or a closed door."

RUSSIA'S POLICY.

"The policy of Russia in the extreme Orient has always favored the introduction of foreign commerce on an equal footing. Indirectly it is maintained as a free port. Talien-Wan which is within the Russian sphere of influence in China, is today a free port. Port Arthur, is not, because Port Arthur is merely a fortress, and was transferred to Russia but she might make it the terminus of the trans-Siberian road and have at that point a guard to provide it with necessary protection.

Lord Charles Beresford states that Russia wants to take possession of the north of China and leave the south of that country to France. Now he proposes that England, the United States, Germany and Japan shall take charge of affairs in China. England to have control of the customs, etc., a very natural desire from his point of view.

MAKES A MISTAKE.

"Why does he make exceptions of Russia and France? He does so on the ground that there are not commercial peoples. This is a mistake. France is a commercial nation. Russia will be. The Siberian road is a commercial idea. He says it is only built for strategic reasons. This another mistake. I am sure, however, that Lord Charles Beresford only expresses his private views and not those of his government."

A Prominent Physician.

A prominent New York physician in discussing the merits of Ripans Tablets with a brother M. D. said: "Several years ago I secured this if one wished to become a physician, and do a beneficial deed, one that would help the whole human race—nothing could be better than to procure the Ripans Tablets, which is the best of the Ripans Tablets, and cause it to be put up in the form of a ketchup and distributed among the poor."

An Elderly Lady.

An elderly lady living at Furdham Heights, a part of New York City, who was known to be a warm advocate of Ripans Tablets for any case of liver trouble or indigestion, said to a reporter who visited her for the purpose of learning the particulars of her case: "I had always employed a physician and did so on the last occasion I had for one, but at that time obtained no beneficial results. I had never had any faith in patent medicines, but having seen Ripans Tablets recommended very highly in the New York Herald concluded to give them a trial, and found they were just what my case demanded. I have never employed a physician since, and that makes a saving of $2 a week."

A Dollar's Worth of Ripans Tablets.

A dollar's worth of Ripans Tablets has been a month and I would put it without them. If it were my last dollar, I would give it for them. At the time of this interview there were present two daughters who were present to their mother giving a testimonial which should serve her name in the newspaper, but to do this the elderly lady argued: "There may be other cases just like mine and I can save I take great pleasure in recommending the Tablets to any one afflicted as I was. If the selling about my case in the papers enables some other person similarly afflicted to be as greatly benefited as I have been, I am no objector." The daughter, knowing how earnestly she felt about the benefit she had received decided she was quite right.

Most fascinating invention of the age. Always ready to entertain. It requires no skill to operate it and reproduces the music of bands, orchestras, vocalists or instrumental soloists. There is nothing like it for an evening's entertainment. Other so-called talking machines reproduce only records of out-of-date music, specially prepared in a laboratory, but the Gramophone is not limited to such performances. On the Gramophone you can easily make and instantly reproduce records of the voice, or any sound. Thus it constantly awakens new interest and its charm is ever fresh. The reproductions are clear and brilliant.

A HOT FIGHT.

BATTLE BETWEEN BEARS, A PUMA AND WILD HOGS—A NOVEL SIGHT.

About as exciting a battle as was ever witnessed occurred on the Joe Spangler ranch in Texas a short time ago. The cowboy of Spangler ranch had three full-grown bears captured at one time or other in the Santiago mountains. The bears, wandered about the ranch and stables, eternally in some mischief, but nobody feared them, as they were always good humored and playful. One to Tom Ray ranch near Los Olivos, the boys owned a two-year-old Mexican lion, or panther. That sort of pet will always become dangerous by the time it is two years old, and this particular one was about the size of a lion. At one time caught in the section, and the boys of Tom Ray concluded to fight him, if a battle could be arranged, with the bears of Spangler.

Bears arrangements could be made. Mexican Pepe, a hunter for Spangler ranch, discovered a den of peccaries, or wild hogs, as the Texans called them. The den was covered by a large rock, but the entrance was a hole in the ground, less than two feet in diameter, but the cave itself was fully forty feet wide and sixty feet long. Pepe was hunting at the time, and the musky odor of the peccaries betrayed them. Luckily for Pepe, the bears must have just returned from some excursion, as they were asleep at the time, and before they woke up Pepe had corked up the entrance to the cave with rocks which were thickly strewn about. When Pepe returned to the ranch and told his story, the boys proposed a royal battle. They sent word to Tom Ray ranch, and the boys of that ranch brought over their Mexican lion. Meanwhile the boys had built a heavy rail fence about 100 feet square and 10 feet high above the cave. The next morning there were fifty coyotes of Tom Ray ranch, as many more from the Ricketts ranch and nearly 100 of the Spangler ranch boys gathered together. The ground within the rail enclosure was cleared of every obstacle except four good-sized stumps, each of which a bear or panther was chained with a twenty foot chain. Each of the stumps had been squared off three feet above the ground.

At 1 o'clock a. m. was ready for the battle about the peccaries. This part of the work was delegated to Red Jim, an Indian cowboy of Spangler, with the betting at 2 to 1 that Jim would get nipped before he could get out of reach of the infuriated peccaries. But Jim knew his business. His first rolled stones and placed them several feet from the mouth to impede the bears should they get out too quick for him. Then he stepped a larriat around the big stump which stood up within the cave. Heifing fifteen or twenty feet he gave the larriat a strong pull, and out came a stream of raging wild hogs. They didn't catch Jim, but they came close enough to spring at his heels as he scaled the fence. Then fifty hundred mad and snapping peccaries stood a minute and looked around. In front, forty or fifty feet away, were three big bears and a Mexican lion. Most people think that such a sight would have scared the peccaries, but it did nothing of the sort. On the contrary, the bears and the lion began to display signs of uneasiness. The bear quickly climbed to the top of the tree stump to which they were chained and the lion squatted and showed his teeth.

Betting was about even. Broncos, saddies, bowlers, wheelchairs and cowboy possessions of all kinds went up on the rails, until the ground was covered with piles of traps. The peccaries didn't wait but with a general snarl of rage, charged their adversaries. Squads of something like equal number attacked each bear and lion, and then followed a fight to the death. The bears stood with all four feet on each stump, and as the peccaries sprang at them they struck right and left, knocking the pugnacious brutes yards away. Half a dozen peccaries had received severe injuries from the claws and fangs, and it began to look like a heavy loss for the peccaries. Suddenly one of the wild hogs sprang up behind one of the bears while all attention was attracted in front, and in a second they had severely nipped him in the rear. Turning too quickly the bear was nipped and fell from his pedestal. In a second there was a mass of redish brown bristles and bear fur mixed intricately at the foot of the stump, rolling, tumbling, grunting and squeaking with rage and pain. Bruin roared and with a general snarl of rage, charged their adversaries to get back on the stump, but the peccaries would have none of it. They charged him in front, ripped him in the nose and rear and huffed back into the writhing mass. Minute more and one bear was a helpless shapeless mass with the yellow-brown fies ripping his hide into ribbons and cracking his bones like pieces of glass.

While this was going on the remaining bears and lion had their own and jaws full of business. The bears all perched on their respective stumps, but were kept busy knocking off the peccaries, which were doing their level best to dislodge them. Half a dozen were lying on their backs dead while others were jumping about wounded and unmanageable as ever, while the bears themselves had not escaped free. A number of scarlet spots on their black hair showed where the peccaries had left prints of their pincers-like claws. One of the peccaries caught a grip on the hind quarter of one of the bears and hung on like gum death. The bear's foot held was lost and he fell squarely into the jaws of the snapping mob below. This followed another battle in the ground with the bear underneath, and the wild hogs in a yellow bank above, snapping and struggling to get at their enemy. The bear began to work his hind feet and bodies of wild hogs began to fly upward and outward, ripped from end to end by the claws of the bear. The bear at last got on his feet and backed up against the stump. He sat there and beat the peccaries away, knocking fully a dozen into the air, some coming before the bears succeeded in getting him.

Meanwhile thirty or more of the peccaries got mixed up in the fight with the bears while others strung out over the field trying to get at the cowboys on the back or attacking the Mexican lion. The lion, like body of the lion had thus far escaped serious injury, having received only a few scratches from the jaws of his enemy, while four or five of the wild hogs were lying at the foot of the stump, having found it necessary to take refuge. But as the raging peccaries drew off from the dead hogs they turned their attention on the lion, swarming about the stump four or five deep. The lion soon saw that with enemies jumping at him from all sides he could not much longer retain his position. Suddenly, with an ear-piercing scream, he sprang out and into the midst of his swarm of hogs, where, flashing right and left, he cut a swarth, ripping open and killing a number before they recovered from their surprise. In a second the lion was out of the mass and back on the stump. Twice was the same feat performed. Each time the lion dashed downward, knocking and slashing the life out of a number, and then jumping over their backs out of reach, and it began to look as though it would end in his whipping the lot and getting away without great damage, but when he sprang down the third time his chain became entangled in the body of a dead peccary, which he had and he fell in the very center of the yellow mass. The peccaries completely covered every inch of the lion in a second and in a minute he was torn to pieces.

A BARBAROUS PEOPLE

STRANGE TRIBE THAT DWELLS IN THE SOUTHWESTERN PART OF CHINA.

One of the most barbarous tribes to be found in the world are the Tsin-Urga, who dwell in the Chinese province of Yunnan. They are subdivided into the mountain and valley tribes, and although inhabiting an integral part of the vast Mongolian empire they have none of the characteristics of the Chinese. Their religion, if such it may be called, is the lowest form of fetishism, and they do not even possess a tradition about their origin.

Among the mountain tribes one finds the lowest forms of humanity, a fierce, untamed and barbarous race, possessed of the lowest and most debased of instincts, only a grade removed above the lowest order of animals. There are few settled villages, each family living in caves dug out of the side of a hill or in small tents of yak skin. The natives are improvident, and disastrous famines are frequent. Their sole methods of obtaining food is by hunting or amassing on the more peaceably disposed lowland tribes; when both these resources fail the population is swept off by the hundreds. Yet their stunted intelligence seems incapable of being warmed by these lessons. When an abundance of food is obtained a grateful feast is prepared, which may last for a week or a month, in which everyone gorges himself to the extreme limit. This debauch continues until the food supply has given out, when starvation must be suffered until more food is obtained.

Harsh Treatment of Women. Among the mountain Tsin-Urga woman holds a low position, and is treated with far less consideration than the animals of her lord and master. The entire labor of the community falls to her share and under the terrible treatment accorded her the female death rate is very high. There being a much larger number of males polyandry is practiced. A feature of the Tsin-Urga is their love of display. Around the neck of each woman and resting on the shoulders is a large treacher-like collar of iron or copper wire which is soldered on with the neck of her husband when she is married. This strange ornament is three feet in diameter and extends for some way from the body, giving the appearance of a head being stuck through a large metal umbrella. Around the neck are close coils of the same metal, it is not uncommon for a woman thus adorned to carry around a weight of 50 pounds or more. The protruding collar accentuates her slumping in an upright position, while the heavy iron ornaments cause great difficulty in walking about. When she dies her head and limbs are hewn off to save these valuable adjuncts, and a similar fate befalls her should she be so unfortunate as to fall into hands of a marauding expedition of a neighboring warlike tribe.

How They Dress. The dress of these people consists of a long sheep or yak skin robe, dirty and greasy, hanging down to the knees like a kilt. As in most eastern dress garments are fastened with herbs and other vile smelling mixtures, the presence of an insupportable crowd of natives nearby is soon attested by an overwhelming and unbearable odor. Their weapons are few and of the crudest sort. What little hunting they do consists in running down the peccaries and other small game with spears or catching them in enormous pitfalls—the presence of these latter rendered a journey through the country highly precarious owing to the danger of being summarily pitched into a mass of sharp spikes. The Tsin-Urga likewise use these pitfalls as a means of defending their dwellings against attack. When engaged in warfare the warriors, in addition to their skin kilt, wear an armor constructed of thin bamboo or strips of iron which covers merely the front of the body, leaving the rear exposed, the head being protected by a helmet with a long visor extending in front over the face. Tattooing is common among both sexes. In the case of the men the face is ornamented in various designs or when lower covered with hideous yellow or red pigment, making the wearers atrocious monsters. The Tsin-Urga women are equally and even more hideous in their dress and their physical strength being something monstrous.

How the Young are Reared. When a child is born it is taken before the priests and baptized with yak dung. The child is then placed in a basket in the war and chase. Should it be pointed of any deformity it is taken as an ill omen of the gods, and must be killed by its parents within an appointed time, or else their expulsion from the tribe must follow. When it is a year old all the hair is shaved off the head, the eyebrows are carefully plucked out with tiny tweezers and the particles of hair, religiously preserved are mixed with some sacred potion concocted by the priests and placed in a small bag which the child wears around the during its lifetime. In warfare it is the custom for the victor to seize upon these bundles from the vanquished for, the possession of a number of these trophies is a measure determining the social standing of the person in the tribe. As a baby the Tsin-Urga child spends its days on a leather bag, strapped to its mother's back. It is never washed, although in the case of the male child it is covered once a month with a plaster of oil and red clay. When a boy is five years old he is brought before a council of the principal men for initiation as a member of the tribe. Before this jury he is compelled to suffer Barbarous Torture. Without manifesting signs of pain. With this portion of the ceremony completed he is isolated in a cave or hut, removed from the tribal settlement, and there is obliged to undergo starvation, being visited from time to time by the priests, who supply him with strips of prayer paper from which he must incessantly chant during his captivity. He is then brought before the council of the tribe again, where a huge feast has been prepared at his expense. While the others gorge themselves to the limit he must remain calm and passive and give no sign of the hunger consuming him. If he withstands the test he is provided with weapons and welcomed as a member of the tribe. Should he fail he is compelled to associate with the women and help them in their labors, his position being one of abject slavery. In the case of the female child, her early life is one of ease and indulgence until she is 14 years old, when assumes the full duties and hardships accorded to womanhood.

SIR WILFRID'S FAILURE
Treaty Negotiations Did not Produce Any Result.

It Was Better to Come Home Without a Treaty.

Then to Discharge Trade Conditions—Commissioner Adjourned to Meet of Tomorrow, August 2nd.

Toronto, Feb. 21.—The chief topic of conversation in commercial circles today is the failure of the Washington negotiations and the return of the Canadian Commissioners with empty hands. The proceedings of the conference have been watched with keen interest than was apparent on the surface, for the mercantile community feared a disturbance of existing conditions as the result of the work of the treaty makers. Through out this city general satisfaction is expressed at the way the negotiations terminated. The settlement of such questions as the Behring Sea sealing rights and Alaskan boundary, on an equitable basis would be regarded as desirable but the danger that to these would be added a reciprocity arrangement that would not be advantageous to Canada made the people generally anxious as to the outcome of the negotiations. Several prominent citizens were interviewed this morning and expressed their views on the question as appended.

THE OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

"The commission adjourned to meet at Quebec August 2, unless the chairmen of the respective commissions shall agree upon another date. The commission has made very substantial progress in the settlement and adjustment of many of the questions upon which it has been earnestly engaged. But it has been unable to agree upon the settlement of the Alaskan boundary.

"The British Commissioners desired that the whole question should be referred to arbitration on terms similar to those provided in the reference of the Venezuelan boundary line and which by providing an umpire would ensure certainty and finality. "The United States Commissioners on the other hand thought the local conditions in Alaska so different that some modification of the Venezuelan reference should be introduced. They thought the reference should be made to ex-eminant jurists, three chosen by each of the high contracting parties without providing for an umpire, they believing that finality would be secured by a majority vote of the jurists so chosen.

"The United States Commissioners further contended that special stipulations should be made in any reference to arbitration that existing settlements or the white waters of the coast should in any event continue to belong to the United States. To this contention the British Commissioners refused to agree. "It was therefore deemed advisable to adjourn to a convenient date in order to further consider the subject to which no conclusion yet has been reached."

REFORM OF LICENSES

Royal Commission will Recommend Drastic Changes

NUMBER TO BE REDUCED

Grocer's Licenses Abolished—Age Limit to be Raised.

Gothenburg System Fails no Further—Paris Warning to France—The British Cabinet in Session.

London, Feb. 23.—The question of license reform is agitating Great Britain, and a Royal Commission has been sitting for some time considering the best method of dealing with one of the most important subjects of modern times. The report of this commission is almost ready and will make recommendations of a drastic character. Among the indicated reforms are:—A reduction of licenses. Should this be effected, there will be a time limit granted from three to five years before any public houses will be closed. No inference with the hours is likely to take place, but it is recommended that the licensing authorities be given power to issue six-day licenses only. Sunday closing is not proposed for England, further than it is in force at present, but it is impossible that the bona-fide traveller will be able to obtain liquor south of the Tweed at specially licensed hotels only during the Sabbath hours when public houses are shut. This is the law in Scotland, and it will probably be extended south of the Tweed. The Gothenburg system has found no favor of the sight of the commission, and there is no likelihood of its introduction over here, except as an option of local veto. Experiments with local veto may be recommended over selected areas in Scotland and Wales. The present custom under which two magistrates may grant occasional licenses on private application will be changed and all applications for licenses will have to be made in open court. All clubs will have to be registered, and safeguards are proposed against public houses which have been closed by the licensing authorities reopening immediately.

NUMEROUS SKIRMISHES

The Fighting Continues in Front of Manila.

REBELS ARE DRIVEN BACK

They Attempted to Rush Colocan but were Repulsed.

Damage by the Fire $200,000—General Otis Reports that Many Insurrectionists were Shot and Several Soldiers Wounded.

Manila, Feb. 23.—With daylight this morning the enemy commenced worrying tactics at various parts of the American line, apparently for the purpose of withdrawing attention from affairs inside the city. An attempt was made to rush through our extreme left near Colocan, but it was promptly checked by a hot and effective musketry and artillery fire. In the meantime small bodies of rebels, evidently some of those engaged last night in the cowardly work at Tondo, spread out between the city and the outposts. Every available man was sent to drive them away, with the result that there was desultory firing all the morning. From 8 to 10 a.m. the United States double turreted monitor Munsieck joined in the engagement, hurling ten-inch shells over the American line into bodies of the enemy as indicated by the signal corps. So far the American casualties are one man killed and ten men wounded. At 11 o'clock there were sharp engagements at the Chinese cemetery and at San Pedro Macati also simultaneously, but the artillery fire from both positions drove the enemy back. From the high towers of the city five can be seen burning at a dozen different points outside. Some of these are probably due to the Munsieck's shells. It is currently reported that the natives have threatened to burn Kaelata and the walled city to-night. Scores of rebels have been arrested in the Tondo district. One band of 80 rebels, having two carloads of arms and accoutrements, was captured in a house. Business is practically suspended for the time.

NOT THE LAWFUL WIDOW

EMILY MARTIN'S TROUBLES IN THE COURTS.

Administered the Estate of the Late Joseph Martin, of Oxford County.

Toronto, Feb. 23.—Joseph Martin, of Oxford County, as it was supposed, a widow, Emily Martin, and several children. Emily Martin in due course took out letters to the administration, the being as will, and the personal estate being insufficient to pay debts, sold the real estate and deposited the proceeds to the joint credit of herself and the official guardian. Out of this money the costs of the proceedings were first paid and one-third of the balance was paid to her and one adult girl, the share of the other children, infants, being paid into court. This all took place in 1902, the administrative passing her accounts and all parties supporting the master to be settled. Emily Martin (or perhaps subsequently obtained part of the money in court for the maintenance of her infant children. In 1907 a nephew of the Martin's one, Walter, brought an action in the Supreme Court of Ontario against Emily Martin to have the letters of administration granted to her set aside, upon the ground that she was not the lawful widow of the deceased, and appearing that she had been previously married to one Himes, the marriage judge found she was not Martin's widow and revoked the administration and granted administration to Walter. The latter thereupon got from the Surrogate Judge an assignment of the bond given by Emily Martin when she got administration, and brought action on this bond against Emily Martin and her sureties, Ferguson and Jackson, to recover the sum of the penalty in the bond, $1,000. The Master at Wootton to whom the matter was referred held Emily Martin liable for some $900, and would have held the sureties liable for his also, but that the Surrogate Judge had not notified them of the application for the assignment of the bond, instead of ordering the registrar of the court to do so irregularly which the master considered sufficient to prevent the plaintiff succeeding against the sureties on bond.

THE CANAL IS BOOMING.
Manitowish, Feb. 23.—The half-yearly report of the Manchester Ship Canal states that the net revenue account is $305,275. This enables the company to pay interest on the first and second time in the history of the company, a substantial amount, $81,351 of interest on the Manchester Corporation Loan of $25,000,000. The net revenue from the Ship Canal portion of the undertaking amounted to $189,265 as compared with $96,040 for the corresponding period of 1907. The company for the whole of the five years during which the ship canal has been open for traffic shows that in 1894 the total tonnage was 925,550; in 1895 1,306,075; in 1896 1,425,227; in 1897 2,053,815 and 1898 2,296,585. The quantity of warehouse merchandise during 1898 was 517,525 tons larger than during 1897. The increased trade in merchandise other than coal has been mainly caused by a large development of the import of produce from Canada and the United States of America. This export trade in general merchandise has been large.

SACRAMENT THEN MURDER.
London, Feb. 23.—There is something peculiarly terrible about the murder near Ashford that if it is truly reported one must find relief in remembering that such a thing as insanity, while the interests of the world are in the hands of a village rector, a woman of forty, is still to be written to a local tradesman and reporter who had been a teacher in the Sunday School, making an appointment for reconciliation following a church squabble. She played the harmonium as usual, took the sacrament, met the man at the village school and shot him dead with a six-chambered revolver while he was looking at one of her own paintings. She had invited the curate to come, apparently as a witness. All the time during the service she must have felt that revolver in her pocket and known what it was for. She has been tried and committed for further trial.

Laid in the Grave.
Remains of President Faure Laid Away Yesterday.

MAGNIFICENT FUNERAL
Emile Loubet was Present and Received no Insult.

All the People Had to Cry "Vive Faure,"
While the President Walked by, Shouted by Policemen.

Paris, Feb. 23.—By nine o'clock this morning dense crowds had gathered along the Champs Elysees and the Place de la Concorde awaiting the funeral procession of the late President Faure.

Madame and Mademoiselle Faure, who had been praying the greater part of the night beside the remains attended mass at 8 o'clock in the chapel of the palace. They then retired to their apartments and did not take part in the procession or in the funeral ceremonies. But they heard mass at noon in the chapel of the Elysees. The hearse drawn by six horses each led by a footman, entered the courtyard of the palace at 9 o'clock. It was a magnificent car with large black plumes and having a dome decorated with silver stars. The hangings, which were of sable velvet, bore on them emblems with the late President Faure's initials in each corner. The funeral car was also hung with the tricolor of France, with red drapes.

The casket was placed on the funeral car in the presence of all the high civil and military officials, the procession was formed and it emerged from the palace at 10.05 a.m., headed by General Zurlinden, the military Governor of Paris.

The windows of the houses, which were filled with spectators, were closely watched by the police according to the judges of the Court of Cassation, who were also surrounded by soldiers. The people in the crowds doffed their hats, saluted the flags of the regiments, along the route. When the procession emerged from the Quai de la Megerie, fronting part of the Ile de la Cité, the bells of Notre Dame began to toll, and when the cortege reached the square in front of the cathedral, otherwise the Place du Parvis Notre Dame, the bells burst forth into a funeral peal, the troops presented arms and the casket was taken into the cathedral.

At the conclusion of the services in the cathedral the members of the Court of Cassation entered landaus and were driven to the Palace of Justice, escorted by a detachment of dragoons. There was no unusual incident.

OUR LUMBER FOR ENGLAND
C.E. Newton of Midland Declares the Sales of Canadian Lumber are Flourishing
Toronto, Feb. 23.—Towering shoulders higher than anyone else at the Queen's last night was C. E. Newton, the big lumberman of Midland. Mr. Newton had just arrived from England, and his well-bronzed face would have done justice to a sea captain who had never lost the bridge of his ship whole voyage over.

Laid in the Grave.
Remains of President Faure Laid Away Yesterday.

MAGNIFICENT FUNERAL
Emile Loubet was Present and Received no Insult.

All the People Had to Cry "Vive Faure,"
While the President Walked by, Shouted by Policemen.

Paris, Feb. 23.—By nine o'clock this morning dense crowds had gathered along the Champs Elysees and the Place de la Concorde awaiting the funeral procession of the late President Faure.

Madame and Mademoiselle Faure, who had been praying the greater part of the night beside the remains attended mass at 8 o'clock in the chapel of the palace. They then retired to their apartments and did not take part in the procession or in the funeral ceremonies. But they heard mass at noon in the chapel of the Elysees. The hearse drawn by six horses each led by a footman, entered the courtyard of the palace at 9 o'clock. It was a magnificent car with large black plumes and having a dome decorated with silver stars. The hangings, which were of sable velvet, bore on them emblems with the late President Faure's initials in each corner. The funeral car was also hung with the tricolor of France, with red drapes.

The casket was placed on the funeral car in the presence of all the high civil and military officials, the procession was formed and it emerged from the palace at 10.05 a.m., headed by General Zurlinden, the military Governor of Paris.

The windows of the houses, which were filled with spectators, were closely watched by the police according to the judges of the Court of Cassation, who were also surrounded by soldiers. The people in the crowds doffed their hats, saluted the flags of the regiments, along the route. When the procession emerged from the Quai de la Megerie, fronting part of the Ile de la Cité, the bells of Notre Dame began to toll, and when the cortege reached the square in front of the cathedral, otherwise the Place du Parvis Notre Dame, the bells burst forth into a funeral peal, the troops presented arms and the casket was taken into the cathedral.

At the conclusion of the services in the cathedral the members of the Court of Cassation entered landaus and were driven to the Palace of Justice, escorted by a detachment of dragoons. There was no unusual incident.

THE FORTNIGHTLY CLUB

Mr. J. C. Brown's Remarks Very much to the Point.

It is a few remarks on the conclusion of the Fortnightly Club, Tuesday night, Mr. Brown stated that the great cause of distress in social and economic conditions, was the unequal distribution of wealth.

La fortune was being amassed by people who were securing an unjust proportion of the profits of the day.

In that particular line of business, to this was added, the inheritance of millions of money, by those who had never raised a finger to secure it by honest labor.

Among several persons mentioned as examples of the latter, was the Vanderbilt family.

Since Mr. Brown's remarks at the Fortnightly Club, the following has appeared in the "Cleveland Citizen":

An American paper, that in the fullest degree, bears out all that was said by Mr. Brown, and a very recent force and point, to his views of economic conditions.

Side by side the New York Evening Journal of recent date prints a minute description of the late Vanderbilt ball and an interview with the Hon. Joseph H. Choate, who has just been appointed minister to Great Britain by the present prosperity puffing administration.

The Vanderbilt display was in honor of one of their school boys, who is heir to $50,000,000, and the mansion shown in all its lavish magnificence.

The guests, dressed upon carpets that have felt the feet of oriental royalty; they dined off plates that might have come from the wedding chest of a prince with a fairy godmother; they looked upon paintings the least of which represented more than a year's work of the finest artists of the world.

The guests were the finest creations of the best milliners, the diamonds and jewels were the richest in the land. It was a luxurious display in honor of a boy who did nothing but inherit $50,000,000.

"There is something wrong in our social system," says the Hon. Joseph H. Choate, corporation lawyer and politician, likewise president of the New York State Charities Aid Association.

When $5,000 children in the state of New York have to be supported year after year by public charity.

Something wrong when one child inherits $50,000,000 and 23,000 children inherit breathing space in poorhouses.

Oh no! There's nothing wrong! Nowadays children are all born "free and equal," and especially since the grand old Republican party (of plutocrats and voting slaves) has been guarding the liberties of the people and doling out ever handed justice for many years. If there be 23,000 children in New York whose self respect is killed, whose very lives are ruined by the bitter bread of charity, that one plutocratic puppy may be crowned an industrial king and that he may revel in luxurious splendor while his blood stained dollars increase a hundredfold it proves that the profit system is the one that could be devised—in return for the government of the lands in heaven.—Cleveland Citizen.

SPORTING NOTES

What is Going on in Local and Outside Sporting Circles.

W. C. Johnston, the great cover-point joined his mates of the Winnipeg Victoria Hockey Club, yesterday at the Iroquois Hotel, Toronto.

In the afternoon, the trip to Bowmanville, was made for the purpose of placing flowers and redoubtable club colors on the grave of their deceased member, the late Fred T. Higginbotham, who died in Winnipeg in September, 1908.

but whose home was here. Those of the club, who were present, were: Messrs. D. Bein, G. H. Merritt, C. Johnston, N. McDonald, and J. R. Benson. They were met at the station by Mr. T. E. Higginbotham, brother of the deceased, and the following members of the Victoria hockey team of the town: Messrs. A. Mitchell, president; J. H. McMurtry, vice-president; N. Furness, manager; Fred Downey, captain; Frank Downey, G. Gilliland, Theo. Plab, J. H. Knoch, and James Gale, editor of the News.

The party at once drove to the cemetery, where a handsome lot of flowers was placed on the grave. It will be remembered that the Winnipeg club some time ago placed a beautiful granite monument over their deceased member's grave, and this was the first opportunity of seeing it, and before leaving the cemetery several photographic views were taken of it. As the party stood for a few minutes in silence around the grave, the scene was a very impressive one. After leaving the cemetery, the visitors were driven to the residence of Dr. T. E. Higginbotham for lunch, after which they returned to Toronto by the 7:35 express. Acting Manager Bein announced last evening that the train would leave for Winnipeg to-morrow afternoon, via North Bay.

Collingwood and the Kingston Frontenac meet in Toronto to-night, in the semi-final game of the O.H.A. intermediate championship. Collingwood is coming down confident in their ability to beat the Limestone City seven, and in numbers sufficient to monopolize the applauding feature of to-morrow night's affair. Over 600 people will come from Collingwood. The Kingston team never were stronger. Captain "Mac" Murray, said this week, that his club has never yet put such a team on the ice. "They are as fast as Queens," says Guy Carth. The big match will take place in the Caledonian rink.

"Jimmy" Sutherland, the genial manager of the Frontenac team, is expected in the city to-night, when local sports may get a line on the Frontenac chances against Collingwood.

A prominent local enthusiast, said yesterday that the Simcoe Hockey Club, would next season be found amalgamated with the St. George Hockey Club, in which event the champions would get Keith, a good defence player and Bank.

The Toronto Lacrosse and Hockey League clubs yet in on the final run are the Young Toronto, Simcoe, and Wellington 11. secretary F. A. Niven will have the semi-final game played this week. The final will likely be played on Tuesday of next week.

CRUEL MURDER OF A SCOTCHMAN IN NATAL

WITCH-DOCTORS KILLED HIM TO SECURE A CHARM.

Four Kalm and a Shiny Old Witch-Doctor Killed Him and Carried Away Parts of His Body.
London, Feb. 24.—Advices from Natal —contain particulars of an atrocious murder and demonstrate at the same time that the Kalm are not making rapid progress toward civilization.
Despite years of missionary labor the natives still believe in witch-doctors and that all ill is the result of an enemy's machinations. To discover the enemy is the task which the witch-doctor imposes upon himself. Recently rinderpest developed among the native herds and a charm or great potency was desired to drive out the "white man's" disease. The aid of Umanti, an ugly, skinny old witch doctor, was sought. He delivered himself in this peculiar fashion:

"I have already obtained the blood and the fat of one who crouches over the fire. To complete the charm I want the blood and the fat of a man who walks out of his house at night."

The best of the witch-doctor was easily understood by the natives. The native it is who crouches over the fire and it is the white man who possesses houses which can be entered at night.

A short distance from the kraal where this gathering of natives took place, lived a Scotchman on his farm.
His name was James Kay, he was between forty and fifty years of age, he was unmarried, and he lived alone.
His dwelling consisted of two huts, one his bedroom and the other his dining-room. On the night after the "indaba" with the witch-doctor Kay was lying in bed reading by the light of a lamp, when the witch-doctor arrived at the hut. The first intimation the victim had of his murderers' presence was an assegai striking into one of his arms, aimed at him through the open doorway. Kay leaped from his bed to be confronted by the witch-doctor and his confederates. Three powerfully-built young natives joined simultaneously with Umanti in the attack, and soon Kay was pinned to the floor and a second assegai plunged deep into his side. The four men then carried Kay some little distance from the hut, and the witch-doctor's pupil with an assegai cut his throat from ear to ear.

Umanti was now left alone with the dead body intent on his incantations and on his "mull" gathering.
Shortly afterwards he was seen dancing.

LATEST NEWS FROM THE BUSY CAPITAL

RIDICULOUS CHARGES AGAINST OUR CREAMERIES.

Session of Parliament—Mr. C. B. Devlin Address to Return to Canada—Personal and General.
Ottawa, Feb. 24.—There are some appearances and was greeted with bulldozers so gross in their nature as to disturb even the official soul. One such is the libel on Canadian butter perpetrated by the Canadian Gazette, which passes in London as the senior official organ of the high commissioner's office. A representative of the Gazette went forth his other day among the wholesale importers of Tooley street, and the following was published as the result of his talk with one of the firms interviewed:

"Although Canadian butter is doing extremely well, it is, in Messrs. Harria, Chote and company's opinion, a long way short of the Danish product.
This they account for by the superior methods of butter-making employed in the latter country. In Denmark, they say, all the milk is collected and forwarded to the central farms, where it is mixed and made into butter, which is, consequently, of a uniform quality. In Canada, however, the butter is made at a number of different farms, collected, mixed and then exported; the quality, of course, being extremely variable."

Now, if there is an industry known to civilization, in which Canadians are p to date in, it is in butter-making.
Throughout the Dominion, from the shores of the Atlantic to the Rocky Mountains, are scattered hundreds of creameries, equipped with the very latest appliances in the way of dairy machinery, and cold storage, turning out a product which is carefully made, thoroughly inspected and shipped direct in special original packages, and in cold storage to the British market.
Six or six years ago the department of agriculture took up the butter industry, establishing stations in his several provinces, and looking after them till proficiency was attained, and the establishment placed on a commercial basis. The result has been that the dairy industry on the prairie has put up a footing, and no finer product is turned out in any country than the butter from the Canadian creameries.

To talk of export butter being "made at different farms, collected and mixed," is to show utter ignorance of the facts. Such a process might have described the conditions twenty or thirty years ago, before scientific dairying had been heard of in this country, but it is a libel on the methods of the present day. As an official of the agricultural department observed: "It is simply disheartening to read such libelous misstatements after all that has been done to serve as enlighten the British consumer.
Libelous misstatements which are in a publication supposed to be devoted to Canadian interests."

MISS BYERS KILLED OUTSIDE TORONTO.
A G.T.R. TRAIN RAN OVER HER YESTERDAY MORNING.
Suicide in Distress—A Message Found up on the Body Aching For Justice.
Toronto, Feb. 24.—A tragic incident occurred this morning shortly before 10 o'clock on the Northern railway track near the city limits, when a lady named Miss Byers, a sister of Mrs. W. H. Harper, storekeeper, at 257 King street west, was killed by the G.T.R. down express, due at the Union Station at 10:10 a.m.

The engineer, Mr. Hayworth, saw her walking along the line some distance in advance, and to warn her he sounded the whistle. She paid no heed, however, and was speedily running, the cowcatcher and instantly killed.

The train backed up, and she was raised and taken to the Union Station where Undertaker Ellis was on hand to take charge of the body, having been sent for by telephone.

On a piece of blotting paper found beside her was written "357 King street west; forgive me, May." This afforded a clue to her identity, and her address was also advised by telephone to repair at once to the station. "May" is her sister, and the of the brief inscription points to suicide. For a year deceased had been ill, and lately she had been very melancholy. Her mother observed special signs of it today but Mrs.
Harper did not consider the matter as serious. Miss Byers has been in the habit of taking a walk in the morning, and today she left only an hour before news came of her death.

George Johnson had issued a warrant for an inquest.
Mr. Richardson was summoned in instant-but his services were not required.
On a previous occasion deceased was believed to have contemplated suicide, and it is alleged that she procured some-poison to that effect, but it was taken from her by her friends.

Cornwall Bridge.
General Manager Gary, of the Ottawa and North York railway, is hopeful of an early completion of the St.
Lawrence bridge; that is, he hopes the work will be put through by next autumn. There will be two piers to construct, the collapsed structure will be next to it. The latter is still standing, but the company has determined to have it taken down and rebuilt. Then it is a probability, too, that neither will be located precisely upon the old foundation.
The contract for both piers has been let to a firm of contractors, the original contractors, meantime construction work upon the railway on the south shore will be prosecuted vigorously.

DEROULEDE ATTEMPTS TO ROUSE THE ARMY

GEN. ROGET REFUSES TO "SAVE HIS COUNTRY."

Is Locked Up in the Barracks—He Follows the Troops to Their Station and Refuses to Leave when Asked to do so.
Paris, Feb. 24.—Paul Derooudele to day made an effort to suborn the army and signally failed. He is now biting his nails in the Reuilly Barracks, in a cell at the depot, awaiting an exit and trial before the Haute Court in present.

MM. Habert and Milleroye were also arrested. The Figaro gives the following version:—"At 5 o'clock M. Dero-ulede was at the head of the Ligue des Patriotes and the anti-Semitic committee in the place des Nations when General Roget, formerly M. Cavaignac's chief of cabinet, returned from the funeral at the head of a brigade of infantry.

"The League cheered M. Derooudele, and MM. Marcel and Habert placed themselves beside the general, who shook hands with M. Derooudele, who is an old friend.

M. Derooudele exclaimed: 'I hope you will march to the Elysee. France is with you. You must save the unhappy country. The league is with you.'

THE GENERAL SILENT.
"The General did not reply, but continued to march along the boulevard de Diderot, followed by M. Delafosse and the patriots, who perhaps thought of going to the Elysee via the quays.

"At the Rue de Reuilly they were disseminated. The troops went up to the barracks. The League stopped, while MM. Derooudele and Habert refused to follow into the barracks and harangued the soldiers, repeating: 'Have us from anarchy and the Dreyfusards. The General who will save the country will deserve well of France.'

"The General replied: 'Go out or I will close the gates on you as prisoners.'

"All right, we are your prisoners, and remain with you."
"The gates were then closed.
"MM. Derooudele and Habert refused to go out and when told by the General and colonel, who urged them to withdraw."

REFUSED TO LEAVE.
"We came here in the sanctuary of the French army to shout 'Vive la France; vive l'armee,' and will only go when forced by the police."

"The colonel tried again. It was useless, and he took them into a room and telephoned to the Military General, who informed the 'Perfect Police.'

"The Perfect replied: 'Since they want to stop, leave them till they are tired and go away.'"
The Figaro says this is the most probable version.

DEROULEDE CHARGED.
Paris, Feb. 24.—Deputies Derooudele, Marcel, Herbet and Milleroye, who were arrested last night, were com-fronted at 2 o'clock this morning with General Roget, who declared that M.
Derooudele had tried to induce him and his troops to march on the Elysee Palace.
The friends of M. Derooudele fear that he will be tried before the Senate, sitting as a high court.

In all, the police made about four hundred arrests yesterday.

THE AMERICANS INTERFERED.
Bluefield, Nicaragua, Feb. 24.— General Reyes recently dispatched a small force to seize $40,000 in the customs house at Cape Gracias. The expedition was eminently successful, but the leader of the expedition instead of returning with his men to join Reyes, deserted his command and escaped to the coast.

General Reyes learned of his subordinate's desertion Saturday last, and gave notice of his intention of sailing the Sunday to give chase. The captain of the steamer, which flies the Norwegian flag, appealed to the United States consul at Managua, and Captain Simmons gave notice that he would tolerate no interference with the ship. The steamer left that night for this port.

The captain of the steamer says that he left Bluefield General Reyes was preparing for an expedition against Greytown with most of his army and the gunboat San Jacinto.
A Nicaraguan Consul here has received a message from President Zelaya directing that he issue no more clearances for vessels bound for Nicaragua ports. It is presumed that the object of this order is to prevent assistance being sent Reyes from this port.

WINLEY ON THE RACK

Christening With the Sword and Civil-izing Cannon, His Father.
Washington, Feb. 24.—Mr. Johnson (Rep., Ind.) today made a vigorous opposition to the Army Re-organization Bill. He delivered a most remarkable and sensational speech, arranging the administration in batter terms, for its Imperialistic program.

He, referred, in opening, to the recent banquet at Boston, attended by the President and members of his Cabinet. He paid his respects to Secretary Alger, who, he said, had been retained in the cabinet, despite his incompetency, on account of his continuation to the campaign fund in 1898.

Secretary Long, also came in for a share of irony. He had the audacity, Mr. Johnson said, to repeat the baseless charge that those opposed to ratification of the treaty were responsible for the bloodshed in the Philippines.
"As Mr. Johnson, proceeded his utterances fairly amazed the House.

Christening with the sword and civil-izing with cannon, he declared, was the Administration's policy.
The President's speech at the Ocas-ion banquet, Mr. Johnson declared was the most disgusting that ever fell from the lips of a Chief Executive.

"Apart from its platitudes and professions of virtue, it was," he said, "a carefully-devised and studious misstatement of facts."
The sensation Mr. Johnson was creating increased as he likened the President to Ptolemy. If the President really felt that Congress should determine upon the future of the Philippines, he asked why the President did not call Congress in extra session, and then keep his hands off.

He charged that the President coerced
the Senate into ratifying the treaty; that he would not permit a vote on the Bacon resolution, and only allowed the McNary resolution which meant nothing to pass in order to halt the opposition of the country to sleep while he went ahead waging realism war against a helpless people, struggling for liberty.

A meeting of the Directors of the Peterborough Farmers' Institute will be held at the town hall, on Tuesday, February 28th, at 2 o'clock, to arrange for holding the annual meeting, which must be held on some date between the 1st and 30th of June. It is thought desirable by the Directors present at the meeting to have a speaker attend the annual meeting, the local institute paying the travelling expenses of such delegate or speaker.

New tariff on bones will go into effect on the 1st of March.
The rates from Toronto and Detroit will be 10¢ per 100 lbs., and from points west and south of Montreal 15¢ per 100 lbs.

Manager Tait and Superintendent Leonard of the C. P. R. arrived from the west this morning.

The C. P. R. has been making satisfactory tests of hoisting gas lighting on baggage and express cars running between Toronto and Owen Sound. The ease of the heavy grade on the C. P. R. at the bridge east of Galt will be completed as soon as possible. The C. P. R. yards at Stratford are to receive a general overhauling. It is expected that the interlocking switch system is to be introduced.

A Good Show.

Mark's Bros. Company, which has been playing in the Galt Hall since the unfortunate fire in the Opera House, is arrested every night with crowded houses. They give a first-class show, and every member of the troupe is up to date in every particular. In Mr. Kunk Gavie the company has a gentleman who is indeed a good performer, and just as good if not superior to any actor who has appeared on the stage in this city for many years. He is of splendid physique, fine manner, style and appearance will at any time command a leading position in the profession. Miss May A. Hall is also a good actress and is a natural favorite with the general public, as is also Miss Jessie Platt and Fred Wilson, a clever comedian. The company is a strong one and is winning great praise from all lovers of good plays. The spectacle between acts are of the best and elicit greatest applause. Mr. Mark's and the members of his excellent company have spent a large amount of money on costumes bought in the city to replace those lost by the recent opera house fire. They have given employment to nearly all the dressmakers in Kingston, and are certainly deserving of the most liberal patronage from the citizens of Kingston.—Daily Whig, Feb. 14, 1899. THE PLAY HOUR

Intermission Spaces Have Become the Subjects of Discussion

Shipping ropes for the girls and marbles with the boys are now becoming the means of amusement among the public school students as spring approaches. When it comes to a choice of which is the most healthy exercise, the preference seems to be with the skipping rope but marbles are only the substitutes for more energetic amusement, when the grounds surrounding the schools get dry.

The question of the best methods of utilizing the intermission spaces, is one that has lately received considerable attention and will more be being directed towards it. To a great extent, the question should be left to the pupils themselves, to decide and while the teachers should keep a general outlook over the play-hours so such authority as would be permissible in a school room, should be shown, on the play ground.

In Ottawa there exists what is called the "Women's Educational Union." The object of the union is a good one, viz., the making regularly once a month of the parents and teachers. Mutual benefit should be derived from such meetings. The teachers and parents are brought into closer intercourse, complaints can be laid and suggestions for improvements discussed. At a recent meeting of the above Union, the subject of ventilation was discussed and the topic for next meeting is the proper method of utilizing the intermission spaces.

OUR AMUSEMENTS

Three Wall, Stratford, February 24, 1899.

If the opinions of the Rev. Mr. Hobbs, minister of London, Ont., are right, then the Devil has secured names on almost all amusement-nations that most people take pleasure in enjoying.

Rev. Mr. Hobbs has full rights to his opinions of our amusements and other people will have full rights to their opinions of Mr. Hobbs. Common courtesy will however prevent them from publishing their opinions. If the amusements mentioned are inventions of the Devil, perhaps Mr. Hobbs will tell us what he considers the people are who make use of the amusements of his Satanic Majesty. Doubtless there is much time taken up by some people in such amusements, that should not be so spent but we have seen men spending hours at prayer meetings, getting up earlier and earlier for church services, when the same men might have much more profitably been watching their time in work calculated to pay off some of their debts. If a good healthy skate for one hour is an invention of the Devil, we would like to ask Rev. Mr. Hobbs, Doubtless there is much time taken up by some people in such amusements, that should not be so spent but we have seen men spending hours at prayer meetings, getting up earlier and earlier for church services, when the same men might have much more profitably been watching their time in work calculated to pay off some of their debts. CANADIAN CATTLE

Good Work of the Dominion Cattle, Sheep and Swine Breeders' Association.

Very successful meetings of the Dominion Cattle, Sheep and Swine Breeders' Association were held in Toronto from February 7th to 10th inclusive. The memberships of the Association are at least twenty-five per cent. greater than at a previous period. The efforts of the Association during the past year have been along the line of cheaper transportation. At present between local points in Ontario thoroughbred stock in less than car load lots is shipped at one-half the regular tariff rate. Between Ontario and Manitoba and British Columbia the rates are now, to Winnipeg, $72, and to New Westminister, $186, where formerly they were to Winnipeg $130 and to New Westminister $251. The privilege has been granted to allow live thoroughbred calves, sheep or swine, in less than car load lots of over three etc. be shipped off in one load of the car without being crated. For a long time there has been a steady increase in the live stock man throughout Ontario.

Interprovincial trade in pure bred stock from Ontario westward to Manitoba and the Northwest and British Columbia and eastward to the Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland has been very large. This trade has been greatly assisted by the Association, both by reduced rates and also by making an advance of shipments already sold, thus obtaining for the small shipper a carload rate. It is estimated by those who are in a position to know that the live stock trade in the Dominion has increased five fold during the past year. For the past two years the Association have been advertising in the Ontario Agricultural Gazette, the names of the members of the Live Stock Association living in each of the eight provinces. These lists have been placed in the hands of breeders throughout all Canada and it has been to a great extent owing to these lists of stock for sale that the interprovincial trade has been so large. It is possible during the coming year these lists will be so extensive that they will be published in the Maritime Provinces and throughout Manitoba and the Northwest. The Association have already done good work along the lines of transportation and by advertising the Ontario stock through Canada, it is felt that considerably more work along this line can be done which will result in the ultimate benefit to the Province.

The Provincial Winter Show held in Toronto last year was the most successful held in 1897. The winter stock exhibit in 1898, 760 entries. The Provincial Winter Show is not held for the purpose of paying money to prize stock. It is the intention that this show shall be educational in its nature from beginning to end. In all departments the objects is to help the farmer. Exhibits in all departments are judged from the consumer's standpoint. Two years ago in the winter department prizes were offered for export bacon, home raised, and representative from the pork-raising establishments. Last year in addition to this a block test was inaugurated, the above-named gentlemen doing the judging. This was the first block test in Canada. At the show to be held in 1899 prizes will also be offered in the sheep department for the best carcasses of the various breeds which will be practical men of experience in this line of work. A special lecture hall will be provided at the show where dressed carcasses of both sheep and swine will be on exhibition and lectures will be delivered by the judges, pointing out the merits and demerits of the various carcasses. In all departments of the show an additional prize will be given to exhibitors supplying data giving full information as to how the stock exhibited by them was bred, what they were fed, and the method of caring for them. This data will be published.

During the summer of 1898 co-operative experiments in swine feeding will be carried on with farmers throughout the province. The pork packers and railway companies will assist in the plan.

The Association in their work should receive the hearty co-operation of all who have at heart the welfare of agriculture and the live stock industry in Ontario.

F. W. HODGSON, Secretary.

That distress after eating is prevented by one or two of Hood's Pills. They don't gripe.

Weakly Young Men and Women

are seen everywhere. Heredity or overstudy renders them unfit to cope with the responsibilities of life, susceptible to consumption or decline. Medicine has failed, and must fail, for they need food. Take cod liver oil? No! Their poor stomachs rebel. Take emulsions? No! They are equally distasteful. Nothing will effect a cure but Maltine with Cod Liver Oil. The oil, rendered palatable and easy of digestion, is quickly assimilated, and Maltine, equal in nutrition to the oil, and even surpassing it in energetic action upon the digestive processes, unite in producing increased weight, improved color, and that elasticity and buoyancy which herald returning health. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil has a remedial value ten times greater than emulsions. One of England's greatest physicians (Dr. Fothergill) says: "There is no remedy that can take the place of Maltine in cases of Debility and Nervous Prostration." Can be purchased of any druggist.

Power Transference.
It is proposed to harness Burleigh Falls and transmit the power to Lindsay. Mr. Culverwell, the promoter of the waterpower, was in Lindsay on Friday last, in company with Mr. F. D. Moore, barrister of Lindsay. It is understood that they are endeavoring to secure an option on the property at Burleigh from Mr. J. B. McWilliams, the owner.

Juvenile Court.
Mr. J. J. Kelso, the Provincial Superintendent of the Children's Aid Society has been finding it necessary in certain districts to write to the police magistrates in reference to the violations of laws of juvenile offenders who appear in the police courts, together with the particulars of their crimes. Mr. Kelso urges the prohibition of the practice and threatens prosecutions under an act which says that "trial of young prisoners apparently under the age of 16 years shall take place without publicity and secretly and apart from the trial of other persons."

An interesting sermon on prayer was preached in the Methodist church last evening by Rev. Mr. Bastow, who took as his text the words referring to Paul, "blessed he prayeth." In earnest words the speaker deplored the low prevailing custom of formality and fastidiousness in our devotions. To be effective, prayer had to be felt in the heart and had to form a part of our lives. Prayerful lives would be fruitful lives in the world to come, while prayerless lives would be barren. New life would be the result of prayer, and for true prayers, the presence of God would be keenly felt. Prayer was a continuous element in all religious revivals and a prayerful church was much more to be desired than one possessing great riches.

Rev. D. O. Crosby Preached on Sabbath Morning—Subject "Self-development"

The pastor of the Charlotte-st. church Rev. D. O. Crosby, preached on Sabbath morning on the subject, "Self-development" choosing as his text, Eccl. 3, 2. "In a man's life many years, so that the days of his years be many, and his soul be not filled with good, an untimely birth is better than he." The Rev. gentleman said. The text shows us very clearly that life is not measured by its length but by its achievements. I have studied carefully to find out what God wants in human life, what He attaches importance to and what are the things which remain as a result of life, and I have reached this conclusion. The only abiding product which can come out of life to any man is character. There may be many things associated with life while we are living and from which we may have difficulty in separating ourselves, yet when life is over there is but one product left—that one product is our finished character, good or bad, noble or otherwise, but finished and abiding.

We can therefore see the wisdom and importance of constructing our thoughts and energy on the one great business of life. The building of a noble character takes time, a lifetime, it may be forty, fifty or more years, but it is our opportunity for the building of character and the only opportunity we will ever have.

Standing then in this Sabbath day we are face to face with our own destiny and we can make it what we will. Every man has the opportunity of making his life noble and grand. No matter what the conditions, no matter what the surroundings, no matter what the beginning of life, every one has the opportunity of being good and noble in character.

Let us not forget the greatness or grandness of character means strife with internal as well as external foes. It is no easy task to quell the selfishness of selfishness to bring our fallen nature under the control of the principles of righteousness to prevent the world from taking possession of our heart. Integrity comes not to the individual without conflict and heroic effort.

When Lieut. Hobson took the steamer "Merrimack" and sunk her in the channel to prevent the capture of the ship from escaping from England, and did it in the face of shot and shell, he became a hero in the eyes of the American nation, but a greater hero is the man who in the face of worldly allurements, scorn and ridicule will dare to go out and sink in the channel of life, the ship, selfishness. Let this whole fleet of life's opportunities escape and be lost. The world may not applaud him, but God and Angels will say, "Well done." For their rule his spirit is greater than he that takes a city.

As a king rules over a nation, and the safety and strength of that nation depend on his loyalty to the throne. So every man is a king ruling on the throne of his being and the safety and success of his life depend on the fact that he keeps every desire and impulse of his being loyal to his highest intelligence.

The reward of noble living is to achieve for ourselves noble qualities to become noble in every fibre. The punishment of vice is to become vicious and low.
Purity in life is not equaling or excelling one's neighbor, but in coming up to the level of our best. When less than this is reached, there is something wrong either with the ideal or with the efforts of the man.
Man's part in life is the cultivation and self-development. God gives us soul and mind and sun and shower, but man must do the cultivating and make his own garden with his will and words.
In conclusion—let not any man expect his life to be a success unless two conditions be met:
First—He must be reconciled to God.
Second—His life must be in harmony with truth. There can be no satisfactory final results outside of these conditions.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

"The Advantages and Disadvantages of Youth."

Last night, St. Luke's church was filled with men and women to hear Rev. Mr. Symonds on "The Advantages and Disadvantages of Youth." Rev. Mr. Symonds took as his text the 12th verse of the 14th Psalm. "That our sons may be as plants grown up in their youth; that our daughters may be as corner stones, polished after the similitude of a palace."

The object of the address was to set forth the supreme object of life and the means of attaining it. To such an extent, the sermon would be of value to all, the splendid possibilities offered in youth, were not always made use of. Many have started under the most adverse circumstances and yet have been successful in the highest ideal of what life should be. This did not refer to such stories, as where a boy starts to work in a office and gradually works up successfully to the top most rung of the ladder financially and rolled around in wealth. If you want one, who had obtained the mastery over himself, one who was a well balanced man, a perfect whole, one who was a help to the community in which he lived.

Disadvantages of youth spring to a great extent from hasty generalizations. All problems and axioms are generalizations, and the tendency to generalization lay in the desire to seek after general principles. Young people and ignorant people are very apt to get fixed views before acquiring sufficient knowledge to form those views. This led to narrow-mindedness. False views were obtained of life, by youths who were subject to gross carelessness of their elders and to indulgence in their worship of men who were more noted for selling a pack in life than of being a fit and proper example to follow. The outward appearance was too often the one, allowed to influence most.

Another disadvantage was the idea prevalent that youth was the period to have a good time, row the wild oats. It should be a period of preparation for life. The one who sets out in youth with the intention of having a good time is going contrary to the advice of all wise men, who unite in pointing out that such a course is wrong and unprofitable. This was not a narrow cry of the pulpit. No good pleasure was denied to the Christian in it's proper place. The former does not reject in seed time, but in harvest and this would be noted by youth. The root however of the disadvantage was the tendency to jump at conclusions and youth had not a knowledge of sufficient facts to form conclusions.

Advantages came from age, and strength of character was the result of writing unto you young men, because you are strong. It was the period when experiments could be tried, in for a life work which could not be done later. Character was in a plastic state, sensitive to impressions and easily moulded. Youth was the period for the education of character and youth is the period when we construct to excel in sport, it was desirable that there should be enthusiasm of some sort.

Rev. Mr. Symonds closed by urging his hearers to remember that life was a serious thing and that men should be a little for everything. "Life is real, life is earnest." There was nothing to gain and everything to lose in running to excess. True temperance was self-control. Moral courage was greater than physical courage. The aim of life is the education of character and youth is the period when we construct to excel in sport, it was desirable that there should be enthusiasm of some sort.

MRS. SHEEHAN'S DEATH

A Terrible Accident—Attending Circumstances—Demand for Relief

The funeral of the late Mrs. Sheehan, the victim of the railway accident Saturday morning, will take place this (Monday) morning at 9 o'clock, from her residence, No. 308 Simcoe street.

The unfortunate woman was crossing the Simcoe street crossing when the Lakeland train came along. The poor woman who had a sharp over her head did not see the train until too late. The engine, knocked her down, one wheel passing over her and severing her body almost in two. No blame can be attached to the engineer, the engine having approached very slowly, with repeated whistles.

The deplorable circumstances that led to the death of Mrs. Sheehan, are of such a nature, that the repetition of such a disaster can easily be prevented if the authorities with the railway in connection with the placing of gates at such dangerous level crossings as Simcoe street, the scene of the accident. Human life should be protected at any cost and the fact that in this city, with no pretence of a safeguard to human life, is one that demands instant action on the part of the proper authorities. The people of the town will back up the actions of those Aldermen, who will try to safeguard the lives of the citizens.

A Good Amendment.
Mr. J. H. Carnegie, M.P.P. for East Victoria, intends to introduce an amendment to the game law, which if carried, will allow settlers to kill deer for their own consumption a week earlier at a week after it is now to be so. We think the proposed amendment a good one, as the season during which deer may now be killed is very short and the interests of sportsmen should not be allowed to militate against the necessities of the residents of the back country.

THE REAL QUESTION.

The real question of disease is "Can I be cured?" If you are anyone dear to you is losing strength and energy and vitality, if you are wise you will not spend much time trying to figure out just what name to call the disease by.

It is almost impossible to draw the line where debility and weakness merge into consumption. Your trouble may not be consumption to-day, but you don't know what it may become to-morrow.

Hundreds of people have been restored to robust health and condition by Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" after reputable physicians had pronounced them consumptive beyond hope.

Were they in consumption? You don't know, nobody can ever know, but that is not the question. The important point is that they were hopelessly ill but this matchless "Discovery" restored and saved them.

"I was not able to do hardly any work at all," says Mrs. Jennie Dugan, of Vanarsland, N. H. "I had pain in my left side and back and had headache all the time. I tried your medicine and it helped me. I had a bad cough, I got so bad I had to be in bed all the time."

"My husband thought I had consumption. He wanted me to get a doctor, but I told him if it was consumption they could not help me. We thought we would try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and before I had taken one bottle the cough was stopped and I have had no more of it returning. Your medicine is the best I have ever taken."

Write to Dr. R. V. Pierce. He will send you good fatherly, professional advice in a plain sealed envelope absolutely free. His thirty years experience as chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel, at Buffalo, N. Y., has made him an expert in chronic diseases.

PETERBOROUGH FEBRUARY 16, 1899

A STIFF POKER GAME

BETS RAN HIGH BECAUSE TWO FELLOWS HAD A SURE THING.

Fifteen years ago Greenville, Miss., was one of the liveliest sporting towns in the South. During the racing season everything was "wide open." Faro, wheel of fortune, chuck-a-luck and numerous other games were in full swing inside the grounds. At night several stiff poker games were generally on. One of the most interesting of these last-named games occurred in a private room of one of the leading hotels. There were four players, to whom, for good reasons, fictitious names are given. Col. Dale, a smooth rich planter, John Doe, a merchant, Charles Sharpe, a race-horse owner, and Dr. D. Jarvis, a drummer, were the participants in the game.

Three times before in the past week the gentlemen had met in the same room, and each time Sharpe had carried off the lion's share of the winnings. All were experienced card players, and no crooked work was attempted, but Sharpe had the keener perception and took advantage of every peculiarity of play of his opponents. For instance, only a few hours' play was necessary for him to learn that Col. Dale's eyes were rather weak and that when he had a "straight" or "bobtail straight" he looked over his hand very carefully, wringing the cards up close to his face. That this one point had been very valuable to him throughout the three previous games. Each of the other players had peculiarities of play which aided him to gather the chips to his corner of the table.

About 1 o'clock on the fourth night of play when Sharpe and Jarvis had almost all the chips piled up in front of them, Mr. Doe, the merchant, said:

"As this is our last Night together for some time, and as I am something like $5,000 behind the game, I propose we raise the ante and limit. Suppose we make it 100 ante and $100 limit, and play cash instead of chips until the close."

"That suits me," replied Col. Dale. "Without some stiff bets are made pretty soon I'll quit tomorrow $5,000 on the week's play."

"And as Mr. Jarvis and me are playing on 'volant' the O.K., I guess," said

Sharpe. Jarvis nodded approval.

The game continued for some time with varying fortune. Then came a jack pot. Sharpe dealt Col. Dale being the "easy chair." It was passed up to Col. Dale, he opening it for $100, the usual opening bet. Doe and Jarvis threw their hands. Sharpe stayed—he had noticed by the colonel's unconscious and unfeeling sign that he held a "straight." Sharpe held a "bobtail" heart flush. If he caught he had a cinch; if not, he could lay down; so he stayed.

"Call," asked Sharpe, but he knew the colonel would stand "pat" and he did. Sharpe drew his card. It was the ace of hearts. "Aa, hum!" said Col. Dale. "Aa, hum!" said Sharpe apparently studying his cards with deep interest. "Man opens that pot, stands pat, and bets the limit. Well, I can't help it, colonel, I'll have to raise you a hundred."

"Aa, another hundred," from the colonel.

"Busted better," was the reply.

"Getting interesting," remarked Jarvis to Doe. At this point Sharpe wanted to ask that the limit be removed, but was afraid the would scare the colonel in "calling" so they

Continued to raise each other. A hundred dollars at a time until each had about $1,000 in the pot. Then the colonel laid his cards face downward on the table, took off his spectacles and, wiping them carefully on his handkerchief, said:

"As neither of us seems to have a 'calling' hand, suppose we drop the limit."

"Call it me," replied Sharpe. To himself, he thought, "the old cuss is scared and wants to bluff me out. Well, we'll see!"

"See your hundred and raise you a thousand," said the colonel. Sharpe wanted to raise $5,000, but thought it better to get all the colonel's money in the pot in small jets than to drive him out with a big bet, so he saw the colonel's bet and raised him $1,000.

Stares were made back and forth a few times when the colonel, seeing that all the money he had lost the three previous nights was in the pot, raised Sharpe $5,000.

"Does he want to go on his 'straight' and think he'll bluff me," thought Sharpe. "Well, I'm glad he has his money in—it will make me about $10,000 ahead of the colonel in the last week."

Aloud he said, "I'll see your $5,000 and raise you $10,000."

"That's more money than I have with me," said the colonel.

"Your check is perfectly good," Sharpe replied.

"Well, as it is getting late, and to save time, suppose we make your bet as large or as small as you please, and I agree to call you, and thus settle the matter."

"Then don't be hard on you, I'll let my $10,000 bet stand, and you may write a check for that amount."

"All right," said the colonel. "I'll make the bet and ink."

"Let me give you the ink and pen wherewith to sign a check to top off a jackpot that is surely the champion in this part of the country," said Jarvis.

In a minute the check was filled and signed and thrown into the pot. An awkward pause ensued and then Mr. Sharpe said, "Well, colonel, I win, and I'll tell you how I know. It may save you money hereafter. Of course we all know that at the poker table 'friendship' ceases, and one is perfectly justified in using any peculiarity of play of his opponent to his own advantage. Now, colonel, you have a 'straight.' Is it not so?"

"Yes and—but how did you know?" smilingly, "You are older than you used to be, and your eyes are not quite as good as they used to be years ago. Now, when you get a 'straight' or 'bobtail straight' you bring the cards up to your eyes—using the cards to illustrate—you run them over very carefully, to be sure they are all right. When you opened the pot I knew by your actions you had a straight. I had a bobtail heart flush. I drew one card and caught the ace."

Spreading out his cards, face up, on the table, Sharpe reached over to take the stakes, when Col. Dale said, "Wait a minute, Mr. Sharpe. You guessed very correctly that I have a 'straight' but of course you couldn't tell that a flush was also mixed up in the same cards. I am glad to know you were betting on a 'sure' thing, for so was I. Gentlemen, here is a flush of spades, seven high—I won."

Sharpe was surprised and could say nothing as the colonel raised in the stakes. Doe and Jarvis, who were interested spectators throughout, expressed their feelings briefly and forcefully.

Doe said, "I'll be cussed!" Jarvis said, "I'll be d—d."

BRITISH WORK IN SIAM

Mr. Mitchell-Jones, financial adviser to the King of Siam, has relinquished his office, and is proceeding to Egypt to take up his post there. Henceforth the duties of financial adviser will be undertaken by Mr. Rivett-Carnac, accountant-general of Burma, who has been sent by Burma and appointed a promoter-general in order to extend the country's work which has been a steady increase.

During Mr. Mitchell-Jones' work here he has made a half year's reformation of the Siam's financial system. Under the improved system the revenue has increased from £2,400,000 to £2,800,000, while expenditure has increased from £2,000,000 to £2,200,000. The latest increase is due to the payment of arrears, the improved administration of the post, and the cutting of public improvements. The financial position is excellent. There is a surplus for the current year of £210,000, and the reserve in the treasury amounts to more than £1,000,000. Economically, a number of payments have been made in arrears, and consequently there was great organization; now every government servant, from the highest to the lowest is punctually paid, and receives a fixed salary, graded according to the advice of the financial adviser. The reform has been remarkable. Its effect is admirable, and prospects are encouraging. A statement of accounts will be made to the king annually his Majesty ordering that Siam should establish its credit abroad preparatory to the desired revision of the old commercial treaties. Whereas, formerly the civil list was of varying amount, being 10 per cent. of the total revenue it is now fixed at a fixed annual sum, a reasonable amount approved by the financial adviser. The old defective method of revenue collection, with its weakness and no audit, has ceased. The Siam village system is now being reformed. Do You Sing
If you possess a voice and have a liking for music, do not miss the opportunity to get your voice tested free, to-morrow afternoon, at the Y.M.C.A. hall. Both male and female are requested to attend. When Senior Gough, will take pleasure in acquainting you with your vocal abilities.

With Their Petals
In all probability, Mr. John S. Crosby, a prominent single-taxer will visit Peterboro shortly. Mr. Crosby is booked to appear in Toronto about March 20th and the secretary of the local Single Tax Association, has pleasure in stating that if the opera house can be secured for a favorable date, the Hon. Mr. Crosby will appear here.

To-morrow evening a musical treat of high order will be given in the Y.M.C.A. Hall by Senior and Mrs. Gough. He comes with the assured reputation of possessing exceptional musical talents, which have been still further developed by the highest training. A handsome piano has been loaned for the occasion by Messrs. Nordheimer.

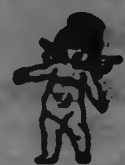

The Late John O'Donnell
The funeral of the late John O'Donnell, L.D.S., who died at the Nicholas Hospital, on Sunday last, at the age of 60 years, takes place this afternoon, from the Masonic hall, Water street, at 2:30 o'clock. Mr. O'Donnell has been a resident of Peterborough for a number of years, first, in reputation of a dentist, and afterwards engaged in the insurance and other agency business. He was one of the most prominent men, having occupied the various chairs in the Blue Lodge, as well as having held office in capitol masonry.

Scott's House and Grounds
A large attendance greeted Rev. Mr. McMillan of Toronto, in his lecture in St. Paul's church, last night, on "The House and Grounds of Sir Walter Scott." In picturesque language the favorites of Scotland's immortal novelist, were described and stories reminiscent of the places mentioned, least additional interest to a subject well calculated to thrill a lover of Scott. Scott's life was also treated and those who attended, came away feeling that they had indeed been great gainers, in having heard the lecture.

WEDDING BELLS

Marriage of Miss F. W. McLeod and Mr. Charles E. Billings.

A quiet wedding took place yesterday morning at seven o'clock, in the presence of a few immediate friends at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McLeod, when their third oldest daughter, Elsie, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles E. Billings, formerly of Clarke township and at present a prosperous lumber merchant of Calgary, N. W. T. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. L. Edwards, Pastor of the church.

The bride was becomingly dressed in a travelling suit of myrtle green and white. Mrs. Lillian Jones performed duties as bridesmaid. The happy couple left on the evening train amid showers of well wishes for their future. They will take up their home in Calgary, N. W. T. The bride who was a great favorite, was accompanied by a handsome crystal water pitcher and fruit dish by her Sunday School Class, accompanied by the following address—

Miss E. McLeod.

Dear Teacher.

It is with feelings of regret that we have learned of your departure from our midst, for we have found you to be a faithful and loving Sunday School teacher, instructing us and leading us aright both by precept and example to follow in the footsteps of Him who is our ideal Teacher.

We now pray to Him, who is the Giver of all Blessings, to be with you and bless your future life, and as a slight token of our esteem and love we ask you to accept this little present not for its intrinsic value but as a remembrance of your Sunday School class. Then, after a life in which you have endeavored yourself to the many, as a slight token of our esteem and love we ask you to accept this little present not for its intrinsic value but as a remembrance of your Sunday School class. Then, after a life in which you have endeavored yourself to the many, as a slight token of our esteem and love we ask you to accept this little present not for its intrinsic value but as a remembrance of your Sunday School class.

Signed in behalf of your S. S. Class

"A SOLDIER'S DAUGHTER"

The Popular Marka Brothers Greeted by a Full House.

That their memory was still green was amply proven by the bumper noose that greeted the united performance of Marka Bros in Bradburn's Opera House last night.

A romantic comedy drama entitled "A Soldier's Daughter" was put on the boards, the principal parts being taken by persons, who proved themselves able actors. J. Knox Gavin as John Layelle, a French soldier is deserving of special mention, while Fred Wilson as Dennis O'Farley, an Irish Dragon, exhibited skill as an actor far above the requirements of the piece presented last night. May A. Bell proved herself worthy of the position of applause which greeted her appearance. Alice Kemp filled a dual role in an able manner. R. P. Franklin as musical director, was a revelation to those unaccustomed to good music.

Specialties were introduced by all members of the company between the acts. May A. Bell's singing and dancing was heartily enjoyed, while Baby George, Petite Gram, Fred Wilson and Furness were well received. Marka Bros have surrounded Miss Bell with a first class support in every respect and we predict a big run for the company during the next two weeks in Peterboro. The play for to-morrow evening will be "The Soldier's Daughter." At Wednesday's matinee "Jerry the Tramp" will be presented.

"WIGS ON THE GREEN"

Three Youths Under Arrest for Drunkenness.

"There'll be wigs on the green now" remarked Chief Rosel to a Times reporter yesterday afternoon. "Three youths, not more than 17 were arrested about noon in the vicinity of the G. T. R. station for being drunk and disorderly. Two were near 17 years of age while the third was not more than 15 and they'll remain here until they acknowledge how they got their liquor." "They are all minors."

About 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning (thirteen youths mentioned above) were coming down George street in a lameable state of intoxication, rolling from side to side, and reading the air with their shouts and foul language. The younger one was of any age, the worse of the lot and while not rolling in the ditch was engaged in pulling himself up on the sidewalk. A passerby stepped into a neighboring store and rang up the police station, telling them the disgraceful scene, going on. The chief and policeman McGilroy instantly set out on the man, the drunken boys had made their way west to Aylmer street and were heading for the G. T. R. station, where about 10 minutes after their arrival they were escorted by the chief and his assistants.

The men were one to be regretted in every respect and it is to be hoped that the parties guilty of supplying the liquor will be found out and a severe punishment inflicted on them.

BRITISH CABINET MAY BE INCREASED

A SEPARATE AFRICAN SECRETARY SPOKEN OF.

Growth of Empire—In Twenty-eight Years the British Empire has increased by 1,544,000 square miles.

London, Feb. 27.—Expansion of the Cabinet Council is likely, according to Sir Robert Giffen, to be one outcome of the continued growth of the British Empire. Already England has two Ministers—the Secretary for India and the Secretary for the Colonies—occupied with the affairs of our possessions abroad, while the Foreign Minister in Egypt and elsewhere is becoming more and more entangled in the business, virtually, of colonial administration. Nevertheless, Sir Robert Giffen, who speaks with some authority, thinks it quite on the cards that before long we may have a separate Secretary of State for Africa, so urgent and absorbing has become the administration of a territory which he describes as really another India. The paper in which Sir Robert airs these speculations was read at the Colonial Institute.

Sir Robert pointed out that the Empire included 11,500,000 square miles of territory, or 13,000,000, if Egypt and the Sudan were included. Counting the inhabitants of that territory the population was about 420,000,000, or about one-fourth of the whole population of the earth. About 50,000,000 were of English speech and birth, and the remainder being subject races. The area of the empire had increased by 2,864,000 square miles since 1871, and the population by 125,000,000, the increase in the subject races being largely due to annexation. The revenue of the empire was $1,298,265,000, and the imports and exports $6,575,000,000. The increase in revenue since 1871 was $575,715,000, and the increase in imports and exports $2,140,000,000.

The serious portion of the question was the position of the empire with regard to other nations, and he thought in this respect England was clearly better off than before. "I do not believe," said he, "that, for the present at least, the British Empire is in any real danger. Each power with whom we have to deal has its own difficulties, and a coalition of powers seems unlikely for the last degree, their interests being so entirely different. At the same time, all of them, accepting perhaps Germany, have for the present a large amount of internal organization to undertake."

THE EXPEDITION POSTPONED.

London, Feb. 27.—The Nelly-Connagham expedition from the Cape to Cairo has been postponed for the present owing to the disturbed condition of the country north of Lake Tanganyika. It was arranged that the expedition should start from the Cape next week proceeding via Bulawayo along the southern shore of Tanganyika, thence by boat to the north end of the lake and on to Kilmory, where they would join Kitchener's railway. Mr. Plotter Connagham, who has done a great deal of exploring, hopes to fill in some details in the existing map. Owing to the Uganda revolt and the failure of Kitchener's expedition against the Kaffirs, the leaders of the expedition have been advised to postpone their departure from Cape Town until June. When upcountry they will visit Lake Rudolf and confirm the work recently done by the Caradine expedition.

WASHINGTON GETTING ANXIOUS

A dispatch that Admiral Dewey is expected to leave.

New York, Feb. 27.—A Washington dispatch to The Herald today says: "With the arrival of the German Emperor Kaiser Wilhelm at Manila to take part in the reports of filibustering expeditions from Japan in the interest of Aguinaldo, there is a well defined suspicion in the public mind here that the political reasons of Admiral Dewey for desiring the Oregon must be interrupted in the broadest sense—not her presence is desired as much for the moral effect in preventing foreign interference as in bringing the insurgents to terms."

The anxiety of the officials has reached such a point that there is no further doubt that Admiral Dewey will be asked to resign his position. The meeting of foreign consuls yesterday, followed by Admiral Dewey's request for the Oregon, is regarded as highly significant, and in the official despatches there is no mention of the two incidents, and, in fact, the authorities declare that they have not been advised that the foreign consuls did confer.

"Much to the surprise of the officials the civilian members of the Philippine Commission have not yet arrived at Hong Kong, where the Baltimore is waiting to convey them to Manila. The Administration will be glad when Prof. Schurman and his associates arrive at Manila, because the expectation that they will be able to establish immediate communication with the insurgents, which will result in convincing them of the friendly purposes of the United States. What has been one of the embarrassing features of the Philippine situation has been the inability of the American military force to impress the Filipinos with the friendly intentions of the Administration."

SPANISH SOLDIERS.

The Americans are anxious to get them out of the islands.

Washington, Feb. 27.—The administration is wondering whether the presence in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines of a large number of Spanish soldiers will not tend to cause trouble there. The government cannot locate these soldiers, but it knows that thousands of them are there. A few days ago arrangements were completed for return to Spain 17,000 Spanish soldiers who surrendered in the Philippines. When the officers of this government looked around for the Spanish soldiers they found only 3,000. This experience with repatriation from the Philippines is not exceptional. There was a similar case in Santiago. Total surrendered to the Spaniards, according to the returns made by the Spanish officers at the time, 24,000 men, but the number of Spanish soldiers sent back to Spain fell below 20,000. The last of the Spanish troops have just sailed from Cienfuegos. At that port over 32,000 were assembled from Santa Clara, Matanzas and Havana provinces. The war department has just received the report of the actual embarkation furnished by United States quartermasters. It shows 22,753 officers and men sent away. This leaves 10,000 at that port unaccounted for. It is believed that embarkations from Havana and Matanzas were fully as much below the real strength. If the estimates are true there must be remaining in Cuba 30,000 Spanish soldiers, in the Philippines 14,000, and in Porto Rico from 1,500 to 2,000.

THE WHITE MAN'S BURDEN

Take up the White Man's burden—
Send forth the best ye breed—
Go, send your sons to exile
To serve your captives' need;
To wait in heavy harness,
On fluttered hack and wild—
Your new-caught, sullen peoples,
Half devil and half child.

Take up the White Man's burden—
In patience to abide,
To veil the threat of terror,
To veils the glories of pride;
By open speech and simple,
And hundred times half plain,
To seek another's profit,
And work another's gain.

Take up the White Man's burden—
The savage wars of peace—
Fill full the mouth of famine,
And bid the sickness cease;
And when your goal is nearest
The end of others' sought,
Watch sloth and heaten folly
Bring all your hope to nought.

Take up the White Man's burden—
No iron rule of kings,
But toil of serf and sweeper—
The tale of common things,
The ports ye shall not enter,
The roads ye shall not tread,
Go mark them with your living,
And mark them with your dead.

Take up the White Man's burden—
And reap his old reward—
The blame of those ye better—
The hate of those ye guard—
The cry of hosts ye humor (Ah, slowly!) toward the light:
"Why brought ye us from bondage,
Our loved Egyptian night?"

Take up the White Man's burden—
Ye dare not stoop to look
Nor call to loud for freedom
To cloke your weariness,
By all ye will or whisper,
By all ye leave or do,
The silent, sullen peoples
Shall weigh your God and you.

Take up the White Man's burden—
Have done with childish days—
The lightly proffered laurel,
The easy ungrudged praise;
Come now to search your manhood
Through all the thankless years,
Cold-eyed with dawn-bought wisdom,
The judgment of your peers.

DETROIT, MICH.

AN OLD MAID.

Her eyes, like quiet pools, are clear;
Her placid face is sweet and fair;
The frost of many a troubled year
Lies on her hair.

She has no memories of rows
Exchanged below an April moon.
Or whispered converse 'neath the boughs
Of rose-bright June.

She never planned her wedding gown—
This sweet old maiden true and good;
For her life held no sacred crown
Of motherhood.

Yet to the shelter of her side
The little orphan children press;
The known she nurtures far and wide
The motherless.

The poor and suffering love her well—
Such ready sympathy she shows;
The sorrow-burdened freely tell
To her woes.

For those who stumble, those who fall,
Her heart with gentler truth is stirred;
She has a kindly smile for all—
A cheering word.

With fate she never wages strife;
"It must be right, since God knows best";
And she lives her usual life,
Blissful and blest.

She strews the thorny path with flowers;
She turns the darkness into day;
And as we clasp her in our arms,
We can but say:

"Dear friend, so rich in love and truth,
With larger, warmer heart, and steadfast
mind,
Twas well for some that in your youth
The moon was blind."
—E. Matheson, in Chambers' Journal.

DEED OF KINDNESS.

We had come upon an Indian village,
Along the banks of a creek close under the steep sides of a mountain, and we charged at once and soon had possession of the warriors were away on an expedition, but a sub-chief named Gray
Wolf, who was lame from a wound,
was in command. Our revolvers and sabers made quick work of those who opposed us, and in seeking to get away,
Gray Wolf was knocked down by a bullet and rendered unconscious. He was one of the 28 prisoners we safely conveyed back to the fort, and as he was lame he was one of the most valuable of our prisoners. He was placed in a cell in the guardhouse by himself, loaded down with iron, and all members of the guard on duty were permitted to chafe at and outrageously abuse him by word of mouth. Gray Wolf was a young man of dignity and pride, and he perhaps felt the insults more than the confinement, though he made no complaint in either case. He had been confined for three weeks when, as sergeant of the guard, I looked in on him one day and saw a conversation in his own tongue.
It resulted in his showing me that the iron was galling him, and of his asking protection from further insult. I reported to the officer of the day and the irons were removed, and I got accused from the hospital steward to watch the broken flesh. I gave Gray Wolf news of his fellow-prisoners and
of his tribe outside, and at the risk of censure applied on his prison fare with a part of my rations. I did these things for him as I would have done them for a wild animal, and not because I sym-pathized with him as a human being.
An Indian may be technically called a human being, but it is a rare thing to refer to him as a human being. In getting the redskin released from his iron I did him the turn he was hoping for. That night, with a wide awake sentinel standing only six feet away, Gray
Wolf tunneled under the basement logs
of his prison and made good his escape,
and it was only by a close chase that I escaped a court-martial. The fellow showed the devil in his nature even as he fled. Coming across a teamster lying under his wagon in a drunken stupor,
Gray Wolf paused to murder and scalp
him, and from that hour on a price was set upon his head and every soldier in the west was determined to shoot him down, even if he offered to surrender.

Two months after the escape of Gray
Wolf, and while his tribe was still warring a relentless warfare, I was ordered out of Fort Gray with a squad of troops to bring a creek about five miles away. No Indians had been seen within ten miles of the fort, and we knew
for a fact that the main body of them were riding to make for the west.
The troops were fully armed and equipped in the vigilance were thought abundantly able to take care of themselves, and two hours after leaving the fort we returned to camp. We were on a trail about 20 feet long for one of the string-pieces of the bridge. Leaving my horse at his picket-pin I started out alone in search of the right sort of tree.
We were on a forest-covered foothill,
with masses of rock outcropping here and there. I was about 40 rods from the men and just passing one of these outcrops when I was struck down. The Indians, of whom there was a dip, and then there was a crash and a legion of fiery stars. It was perhaps five minutes before I opened my eyes and found myself lying on the ground. The Indians, of whom there were three, must have heard of me through Gray Wolf,
for I was one of the two men at the post who could speak the Sioux dialect,
and one of them said to me:
"If you cry out we will kill you! Get up and come along!"

I staggered about as I reached my feet, and one of them took my arm to lead me along. With one leading the way and the other bringing up the rear
we set off in a westerly direction, and were soon out of hearing of the sizes of my comrades. For a time my horse trotted and then he stopped and I hobbled and ached so that I thought my skull had been fractured, and I had gone a distance of two miles before
I fully realized that I was a captive.
The one holding my arm was the one who had struck me with a club, and by and by asked of him:
"Why didn't you use your tomahawk
instead of a club?"

"Didn't want to kill you," he laconically replied. "Have been more than a fairly at stake."

"Who is your chief?"
"Gray Wolf," he said at all now. He knew you. Go fast now and don't talk."

The Indians had their war paint on and were well armed, and had perhaps been skulking about for two or three days in hopes to get hold of a stray deer. After a rough walk of four miles
we came upon their ponies and a rough camp, and so time was lost in mounting and getting away. I was ordered to hold one of the warriors, and they left my hands and feet entirely free.
While this was a favor to me, it did not add to my chances of escape. In fact, with an Indian ahead and another
behind, there was no show whatever.
At the first move on my part, as I was warned over and over again, I would get a bullet through me. We rode about 20 miles in a northwesterly direction and then reached the head village on the banks of White Clay creek. A way party of 150 men under Gray Wolf was out, but the warriors, all men square and boys at home numbered fully 200. As we rode into camp these were great excitement, and I looked for personal abuse, but I was a captive conducted through the crowd and confined in a lodge in the center of the village.
It was three days before the band came in, and during this interval I had no chance to complain of the way of food or treatment.

PETERBOROUGH MARCH 1, 1899

LINCOLN'S INDIA HOME.

IT WAS ALMOST AS PRIMITIVE AS AN INDIAN HUT—HIS "SECOND MOTHER."

When the birthday of the martyred President of the United States comes around, there is always something new to be said about Lincoln. Mr. E. I. Lewis, writing the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, discusses the Lincoln family in their early home in Lincoln City, Ind. The picture he draws is far from pleasing in many particulars.

There are many histories of Lincoln, he writes, "many stories of his boyhood and tales of his privation in early life, but still, after reading all of them, when one enters this little village and stands surrounded by the landmarks of his early days, another and more interesting story than any that has been published comes to a visitor. Lincoln City is lost away among the hills of Spencer county—inaccessible almost to the traveler. It is not a town of a name until after the poor boy who spent his boyhood—from 7 to 21 years—here had become President of the nation and took his place in the brightest pages of the world's history. Then people down "to the county seat" began to refer to the settlement as Lincoln City, and now it has a recognition on most maps of Indiana. Here, on a knoll, lies buried Nancy Hanks, Lincoln's mother. Over there is a forgotten grave lies Selly Bush, his step-mother and guiding angel, and all around are the landmarks of interest, each referring to a story of his boyhood days.

"It was along in the early part of the year 1816—a few months before the State was admitted to the Union—that Thomas Lincoln, Nancy Hanks Lincoln, and their children, Nancy Hanks, aged 9, and Abraham, aged 7, appeared at the mouth of Anderson creek, on the Kentucky side of the Ohio river. Nancy and Nancy, Jr., sat in the rude frontier wagon, in which were packed all of their earthly possessions, except an old cow, which Thomas and the son drove along behind. They crossed into the wilderness of Indiana and drove north into the Indian land. Fifteen miles back from the Ohio, they found a knoll, and there they stopped and made their home. This ground is Lincoln City of today. Thomas was a carpenter, and he managed to build a log cabin. He did not take the trouble, however, to cut in windows. He then made three three-legged stools and a table by turning a broad slab, flat surface up, and putting four sticks as legs. There was a bed made by poking holes into cracks in the logs, and supporting the other ends in forked sticks. Over these poles were laid split-sawn boards and over these leaves, and then bear and deer skins and old clothes. This with the exception of a Dutch oven and a skillet, was the entire household equipment.

"As he is remembered here, Thomas Lincoln was anything but exemplary. He was lazy to a very great degree, and spent all of his time fishing and hunting. He only cultivated a half dozen acres of land and his wife and children did all of the work. He was too lazy, or indolent, to provide his house with necessities, and Abe, who slept in the loft, had to mount to his perch by pegs driven in the walls, because his father was too shiftless to make him a ladder. And with all due credit to Nancy Hanks, it must be admitted that she was little better. They ruled their children by harsh methods, they were not cleanly and they had never cared for better things. Therefore, Abraham, when he was 9 years of age, had not learned to read or 'figger' and his sister, two years his senior had not fared better. It was possibly a good thing for the nation, as well as the boy, that, when he was 8 years old, his mother sickened and died. The father and son shipped sawed lumber and made crude shacks into which the corpse was placed. Twenty settlers gathered at the Lincoln cabin and carried the coffin to a hilllock in the virgin forest and lowered her to her last resting place. There was no one present who was capable of saying a few words, and that was deferred for some months, and then performed by an itinerant preacher.

"Thomas had been a widower 13 months, when he took a notion to go over to Kentucky and see the folks where he had lived. There he found a widow, Selly Bush Johnson, in old sweetheart, who had married Johnstone, his hated rival. He again proposed and was accepted. Thomas was not only the greatest story-teller of his section of southern Indiana, but he had a poor regard for the truth, and he won his second wife by exaggerating his estates in Indiana to palatial proportions. Selly was a woman of sterling qualities. She had been surrounded with the utensils of civilization—a bureau, a clothes-chest, a table, chairs with backs, white table and bed clothes, knives, forks, and cooking equipment. Thomas insisted that she sell these and get the money. But she saw different and loaded them into a wagon and they started for Indiana. When she arrived at Lincoln City and saw her future home she was heart-broken, and when she saw ill-kempt and ill-fed Abe and Nancy she cried. Her own three children were a striking contrast. When Abe saw the chairs, the knives and forks and other furniture unloaded, his eyes stood wide open, for he had never seen anything like it before. Selly Bush was a natural enemy of all chaos and disorder. She tossed the old dirty household effects out, made Thomas cut windows into the walls and put a floor into the cabin. She washed the walls and put the five children to charge up the premises. She taught them the first principles of cleanliness and care, and love took the place of harsh words and ill-treatment. The great soul of the awkward, ignorant boy opened to her and the friendship which followed filled his whole life. He has said of her: 'She was the woman who first made me feel like a human being.'

"Selly clothed Abe and Nancy cleanly, and as well as her limited finances would permit, and put them in school. They went four miles to school and had to walk. The boy readily grasped the instruction given, and within him was born the ambitions which made him President. After all the influence of those high in political authority, himself, after all that might be considered are weighed, it becomes evident that it was this woman, with her ruling by love, her great fund of organizing and managing powers, that gave to the world one of its greatest men. Had it not been for her there is little doubt that Lincoln would not have risen higher than the illiterate wood-chopper.

"Abe was within two months of being 21 years old when he accompanied his father to Illinois and became a rail-splitter by force of his poverty, and later a lawyer, by constant night study. Thomas, the father, had showed improvement under the management of Selly. It was here that Lincoln built his flat boat and went down the Mississippi to New Orleans and first beheld slavery, and it was here,

Head and Limbs

All Covered With Eruptions—Could Not Work, the Suffering Was So Great—Hood's Has Cured.

"I was all run down with complaints peculiar to my sex, and I broke out in sores on my body, head, limbs and hands, and my hair all came out. I was under the doctor's treatment a long time without benefit. They called my trouble eczema. Finally I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after I had used three or four bottles I found I was improving. I kept on until I had taken several more bottles and the sores and itching have disappeared and my hair has grown out."

MRS. J. G. BROWN, Brantford, Ontario.

"I was all run down and had no appetite. I had a terrible itching all the time. I was advised to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I did so and it benefited me so much that I would not be without it." MRS. G. I. BROWN, Central Norton, N. B.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the best—in fact the One True Blood Purifier.

Hood's Pills act harmoniously with Hood's Sarsaparilla. So when he returned home, that he gave utterance to 'If I ever get a chance to hit that (slavery), I will hit it hard by the eternal G-d.' It was here he clerked in a general store; it was here that he first told his stories, and it was here that the Lincoln of history was molded. Here and there are the deepening landmarks of his boyhood life. The last time he was here was when en route to Washington to occupy the place which the people of the nation had elected him to. He came to see Selly Bush, and she would have gone with him if she had listened to him. The eyes of the nation were on him at that moment as they were never upon a President before or since, but still his heart was centered in the little cabin. He had paid off the mortgage with the first money he had ever saved, and he went her money as long as he lived."

WE'RE ALL LAZY

In the course of his sermon Sunday, Rev. Frank M. Goodchild, of the Central Baptist Church, New York city, made his listeners twist uneasily in their seats. He said:

"Men are not naturally fond of exercise of any sort. Most of us need to be goaded to toil. That 'tired feeling' is nearly universal. There probably are a few men who love work for its own sake. But generally men work as they take medicine, because they must—must in order to get the necessities of life, or to gratify their desire for wealth or power or pleasure. I do not think that many men build a pile of money as an insurance or drive a pen all day just for the fun of it. I do not believe that the boy lives who would rather saw wood than fly a kite. We are all something like Rip Van Winkle. Washington Irving tells us that the great error in Rip's character was an insupportable aversion to all sorts of profitable labor."

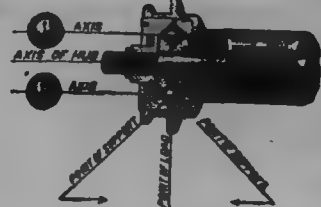

"It is this aversion to honest, hard work that produces the great brood of shirks that this planet of ours supports. Everybody wishes to live by his wits, instead of by the sweat of his brow, as God said man should love. Everybody is watching for some soft berth. Strapping farmers' boys prefer handling the yardstick to the hoe because it saves their backs from labor. Boys who wish to learn trades play long enough to get the knack of the thing and then start out at once as journeymen. Men rush into the professions half qualified. Anything at all is welcomed that will keep the hands clean and keep the pockets full."

"You know how it is in politics. See the crowd of red-faced, red-nosed men that swarm around our public buildings. Every time there is a change of administration they get into line a hundred thousand or more of them, turn their faces toward Washington and try to huddle the President or the Postmaster General or some one else to put them into a place where their superb abilities may be used in the services of their country. And when we come into the region of higher things the disposition to shift hard work on to others is even more evident. How few men there are in any community who are public-spirited. How few are willing to assume manfully the share of the burden and duties of society that belongs to them. How few, apart from their own private interest, take any concern for the public good. Most men do what the law requires them to do—they pay their taxes grudgingly and at the last minute, and feel that they have fully discharged their duty to the community."

Pigs Raised for Bracelets. The natives of the New Hebrides island in the Pacific ocean raise pigs for bracelets. The upper canine teeth of the pigs are removed and that gives the lower tusks a chance to grow as much as they wish. The lower teeth grow, and finding no resistance, attain a good length. The teeth grow in a spiral and the tip often lies beside the root of the tooth and makes a complete circle. Sometimes the teeth grow clear around twice and make a coil.

THE MURDER CASE.
Mr. Weir, M.P.P., for Argenteuil in the Quebec House, has given notice for production of the "papers relating to an alleged failure of justice" in the Muxen case.

This is the case in which a $50,000 thief was sheltered by the Merchants' Bank, and let off scot free by the Montreal police authorities.

Mr. Weir deserves public thanks for endeavoring to get all possible information about the matter.

Law which is a tyrant of the poor but a tool of the rich is rottenness.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Whether or not the winter has seen its best days let's hope it has seen its worst.

From the way he's acting the Filipino may have an idea the only object of that open door, is to take him in.

Taking of France, a nation that can be deprived of a President one day, and elect another the next, is not likely to lose its head for very long.

It is reported, that the report is gaining credence, that the Ontario legislature has been in session for the past two or three weeks.

It is hinted that Germany may be brewing trouble at Manila. This is all the more deprecable because that country is expert in brewing things so much better.

A correspondent of the Kingston News, suggests that dogs be taxed according to value. Such a plan would leave the vast majority of dogs untaxed.

The Mail prophesies that there will be a session of the Dominion parliament in the winter weather on Parliament Hill.

REMARKS TO MEN

Explains the secret of Perfect Manhood. Shows how Weak and Impotent Men can become healthy, powerful, vigorous and lasting vitality, development, strength and power. Describes a system of private and unexpensive home treatment. The truth told in plain words. Interesting alike to young and old. Best medicine. If tired of quacks and patent medicines write for free information how to get cured. "Golden Grains of Truth" tells it all. Address THE N. S. M. Company, Peterborough, Ontario.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

The many friends of Mrs. Clement, daughter of Mr. James Stevenson, will be pleased to learn that she is slowly recovering from a very serious illness.

Mr. Thomas Bradburn, who has been ill for several months, is, we are pleased to say, slowly regaining his health.

A GOOD REPORT.

"My mother was troubled with rheumatism in her knee for a number of years, and it broke out into a running sore. She has taken three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and now she is almost entirely well. She cannot speak too highly of this great medicine." Mrs. John Farr, Cleverlawn, Ancaster, Ontario.

Hood's Pills cure cancer, sick headache, biliousness, indigestion, constipation.

MOLLY BAWN.

BY THE DUCHESS.

"It is a perfect bear," says Cecil, angrily.

"It is a wicked old man," says Molly, still trembling with indignation.

"It is a jolly old smook," says Mr. Potts. But as neither of his listeners know what he means, they do not respond.

"Let me do something," says Plantagenet, briskly.

"But what? Will you sing for us, Molly? Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast."

"It would take a good deal of music to soothe our bete noire," says Potts. Potts is a confidant of the music.

is not what Artemus Ward would call my "fort." I don't understand it. I am like the man who said he only knew two tunes in the world, one was "God save the Queen" and the other—

"—wasn't. No, let us do something active, something unusual, something wicked."

"If you can suggest anything likely to answer your description, you will make me a friend for life," says Cecil with solemnity. "I feel bad."

"Did you ever see a devil, a-k-a-Mr. Potts, in a respectful tone?"

"A devil," repeats he, unmoved. "I don't mind our particular old gentleman, who has been behaving so sweetly to-night, but a regular bond fide devil."

"Are you a spiritualist?" Cecil asks with awe.

"Nothing half so paltry. There is no deception about my performance. It is simply honest. There's no rapping, but a great deal of powder. Have you ever seen one?"

"A devil? Never."

"Should you like to?"

"Shouldn't I?" says Cecil, with enthusiasm.

"Then you shall. It won't be much you know, but it is a prettiest and anything will be less deadly than sitting here listening to the homely speeches of our host. I will go and prepare my work, and call you when it is ready."

In twenty minutes he returns and beckons them to come and, rising, both girls quit the drawing-room.

With much grace Mr. Potts conducts them across the hall into the library where they find all the chairs and the centre-table pushed into a corner as though to make room for one soup-plate which occupies the middle of the floor.

On this plate stands a miniature hill, broad at the base and tapering at the summit, composed of blended powder and water, which Mr. Potts has been carefully heating in an oven during his absence until, according to his lights, it has reached a proper dryness.

"Good gracious! what is it?" asks Cecil.

"Powder," says Potts.

"I hope it won't go off and blow us all in bits," says Cecil, anxiously.

"It will go off, certainly, but it won't do any damage," replies their showman, with confidence; "and really it is very pretty while burning."

I used to make 'em when I was a boy and nothing ever happened except once, when I blew the ear of father's coachman."

This is not reassuring. Molly gets a little closer to Cecil, and Cecil gets a little nearer to Molly. They both sensibly increase the distance between them and the "devil."

"Now I am going to put out the lamp," says Plantagenet, sitting the action to the words, and suddenly placing them in darkness. "I don't look anything if there is light to overpower its own brilliancy."

Striking a match, he applies it to the little black mountain, and in a second it turns into a burning one. The sparks fly rapidly upward, it seems to be pouring fire in little liquid streams all down the sides; Cecil and Molly are in raptures.

"It is Vesuvius," says the former.

"It is Mount Tan," says the latter.

"except much better, because they don't seem to have any volcanoes nowadays. Mr. Potts, you deserve a prize medal for giving us such a treat."

"Thank you, my dear, I didn't believe it was so good," says Cecil. "Permit me to compliment you on your unprecedented success."

Presently, however, they slightly alter their sentiments. Every school-boy knows how overpowering is the smell of burned powder.

"What an intolerable smell!" says Molly, when the little mountain is half burned down, putting her dainty handkerchief up to her nose. "Oh! what is it? Gunpowder, I think."

"And extremely appropriate, too," says Cecil, who has got her nose buried in her cambric; "entirely carries out the character of the entertainment. You surely didn't expect to be regaled with the income or art of roses, (by the bye, Plantagenet, is there going to be much more of it, the smell, I mean?)"

"Not much," replies he. "And, after all, what is it if you want to get something every day you would think nothing of it. For my part I almost like the smell. It is wholesome and—"

"Oh, by Jove!"

There is a loud report, a crash, two terrified screams, and then utter darkness. The beam of the hill, being too dry, has treacherously gone off without warning; hence the explosion.

"You aren't hurt, are you?" asks Mr. Potts, a minute later, in a terrified whisper, being unable to see whether his companions are dead or alive.

"Not much," says Cecil, in a trembling tone; "but oh! what has happened, Molly, speak."

"I am quite safe," says Molly, "but horribly frightened," Mr. Potts, are you all right?"

"I am," he is ignorant of the fact that one of his chambers is as black as any negro's, and that both his hands resemble it. "I really thought it was all my whole I heard you scream. It was that wretched powder that got too dry at the end. However, it doesn't matter."

"Have you both your ears, Molly?" asks Cecil, with a laugh; but a sudden commotion in the hall catches the eye of the two children, and they see the rapid advance of footstep in their direction, check her movement.

"I hear Mr. Ambrose's voice," says said: "You never know you have taken a pill till it is all over."—Dr. C. L. Hood & Co., Proprietors, Lowell, Mass.

The only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Mr. Potts, tragically: "If he finds us here we are ruined."

"Let us get behind the curtain and the other end of the room," whispers Cecil hurriedly; "they may not find us there—and throw the plate out of the window."

No sooner said than done. Plantagenet with a quick movement precipitates the soup-plate—or rather what remains of it—into the courtyard beneath, where it falls with a horrible clatter, and hastily follows his two companions into their uncertain hiding-place.

It stands in a remote corner, rather hidden by a book-case, and consists of broad wooden pedestal, hung round with curtains, that once supported a choice statue. The statue having been promoted some time since the three conspirators now take place, and find themselves completely concealed by its falling draperies.

PARDON ASKED FOR BANDITS.

A Bill Which Has Aroused the Minnesota Farmers—
No Spirit of Forgiveness.

The bill now pending in the Legislature, of passing, has created much indignation in this vicinity, because it involves the release from the Stillwater prison of the notorious Younger brothers. It was this village that suffered from the celebrated raid of the James and Younger boys in 1876 and the people are not yet in a forgiving mood. All through this part of the State there has gone up a protest against the proposed law, which provides for the parole, after 20 years' service, of all life prisoners in the State. The Youngers have served 22 years.

The story of the Northfield murders forms one of the most thrilling chapters in the history of the Jesse James gang of bandits. It was planned by Bill Chadwell, who lived in the little village of Hastings, Minn., and who sought the James boys after becoming a fugitive from justice in his neighborhood. He had the desperadoes to believe that the country banks of Minnesota were overflowing with money and that Ben Butler had deposited $100,000 in the first National Bank of Northfield. He was only romancing, but he convinced Jesse James that a raid on the thieving State would be profitable, and furnished road maps showing the environments of Northfield, Hastings, Mankato, Rochester and St. Peter. Filled with dreams of wealth the band-dit started out from Missouri in August, 1876, and rode north toward Minnesota. They represented themselves as cattle traders. The party consisted of Bill Chadwell, Jesse and Frank James, Clell Miller, Charley Pitts and Jim, Cole and Bob Younger. Early in September the party arrived at Mankato. That village was selected as the first to be looted, but after a few days investigation it was decided that the avenues of escape were poor, and so Northfield was decided upon.

On the morning of September 7 they rode into the village in two parties. They attracted some attention, but as traders often travelled in groups on horseback, they excited no suspicion. They rode about the town a while and then separated. The first National Bank, of which J. L. Hayward, cashier, was the object of their visit. It stood in the center of the town, facing the public square. At the noon hour, when the small population of the village were at their meal, the bandits began their game. Jesse James, Frank James and Bob Younger, entered the bank, leaving Cole Younger and Clell Miller to guard the outside, while Pitts, Chadwell and Jim Younger were stationed further down the street to give aid if the robbers were detected. In the office of the bank cashier Hayward and a clerk were at work when the robbers entered, covered them with pistols and demanded money. Jesse James did the talking, and he talked so loud that he was heard on the street and the alarm was quickly given that there were thieves in the bank. Citizens armed with guns gathered from all directions, and began a

on the outside. Meanwhile, Jesse James had killed the cashier, and wounded the clerk and, with his companion, came out and joined in the shooting, having done his work so bunglingly that not a cent was obtained.

The street battle resembled guerrilla warfare. Bill Chadwell was killed by one of the first shots. Clell Miller fell from his horse with a bullet in his head. Cole Younger was shot in the hip. Bob Younger got a bullet in the right shoulder. Jim Younger was badly wounded and the James boys had bullet marks. The village street, in which nothing louder than a firecracker or a blank cartridge had been exploded for years, was surcharged with the echoes from death-dealing explosions. Powder smoke filled the air. Two or three of the horses of the bandits were killed. Inside the bank Hayward lay dead by his desk. Hunker, one of the clerks, was nursing a shoulder wound. In the street was the dead body of a citizen, shot by the robbers.

Then came the flight of the six surviving men, and a pursuit such has never been known in the history of any other state in the Union. Jesse James was the first man of the party to urge his horse away from the battle ground. He was followed by Frank James and Pitts. Bob Younger came next and then Cole. The horse of Cole not only carried him, but Jim Younger, who was in bad condition. Within a few hours after the flight of the bandits the State authorities offered a reward of $1,500 for the capture of each of the robbers, offered $700 for the capture of them all, and a railroad company offered $500. The price on their heads was therefore $7,200. The maps which were to guide them out of the country were on the dead body of Bill Chadwell, and the maps were there, on the very night of their encounter the September rains commenced—rains that made the roads seas of mud, filled the timber with darkness and chill, disabled horses, chilled men to the marrow and made journeying an impossibility. But the robbers pressed on to the south west, stealing new horses as they went. Hordes of armed men swarmed out of the villages after them. Special trains were run in the hope of overtaking them, but the robbers kept out of sight. Their travel was painful. The horses rotted on their feet and they could not get food. Their wounds gaped and ulcerated. The yellow streak in Jesse James attested itself. He insisted on abandoning Jim Younger, who was all dead, but the other Youngers and Pitts protested. Then the James boys bade them farewell and rode off into Missouri, where they were safe.

Fourteen days after the raid at Northfield, the Youngers and Pitts were trapped on a tongue of land jutting out into the Watowam river, near the Dakota border. A sheriff's posse surrounded them. They fought like savages. Pitts was shot dead. Jim Younger, already half dead, had his face filled with bullets. Cole was shot in the head. Bob was wounded. When finally captured the three brothers were a mass of blood and mud. Their boots had to be cut from their feet. The Youngers pleaded guilty and were given life sentences. Bob was given a few years later. The other two have been in the Stillwater prison ever since, acting as librarians of the institution. They have been model prisoners.

TREASURES IN THE SEA.

Rich Cargoes That Lie Buried in Rotting Hulks 'Neath the Sands of the Ocean.

On last treasure of the sea. "If you and I only had the gold and silver that lies covered with sand at the bottom of the sea off this coast, I could give you a million dollars."

These are the sentiments of a man who would be a millionaire, said Capt. Kit Ludlam, keeper of the Stone Harbor Life Saving Station, to a reporter. "These are the sentiments," he continued, "of a Spanish full-rigger that found a resting place on this coast of Seven-Mile beach early in the century. She was covered with sand before we were born, but for all that there's half a million in gold and silver buried in her water-logged hull. She was bought from Vera Cruz to Cadiz, and carried in her strong boxes treasure from the Mexican mines. When she foundered during a howling nor'easter on the morning of the 10th of May, 1850, her crew were pledged to secrecy and said not a word to the folks on the mainland about the gold and silver that went to the bottom with their ship. The secret leaked out months afterward, when a Spanish galleon made her appearance off the cape coast and made a futile effort to find the sunken wreck. The ocean currents had covered her deep under the sand, and there she has been ever since.

"Out at sea, less than a score of miles from the Delaware breakwater, lies the ship De Brank. In her sand-covered hull there is the mass fortune of $1,000,000 in gold and silver. Many men have coveted this wealth. They have searched for it at various times, but with no success. The De Brank went to the bottom during a terrific storm in the winter of 1790, and with her perished every soul on board. Several ironing ships saw the unfortunate craft, but could render no assistance. A company was organized some years ago for the purpose of locating the wreck and recovering the treasure. A steamer, well equipped for making the search, was purchased. On board were several divers of experience. They put to sea and spent nearly all of one summer in dragging the sea's bottom in the vicinity where the De Brank was supposed to have foundered, but not a vestige of the wreck was found. Many wrecks were encountered, but none was the one sought.

"Lying at the bottom of the sea, a few miles off Townshead Inlet, N. J., are the remains of the Spanish galleon Montezuma. Like the Guatemalan, she went down in a furious northeast storm while conveying a large amount of gold bullion from the mines of the Antioch to the Spanish treasurer. The exact amount of gold she carried was never known, some stories placing it at $1,000,000, while others say it was more than double that amount. The Spanish government sent out a ship to recover the bullion, but while the crew was trying to locate the wreck a gale arose and drove the ship upon the shores of Seven-Mile beach, where even as late as 1895 a part of the wreckage was seen at times protruding through the sand of the beach.

"It was a rough night in the winter of 1883 when the ship Merrimac ran her bow deep into the north bar of Townshead's Inlet. She, too, was a treasure ship, but instead of gold and silver her cargo consisted of pig lead, alkali, and general merchandise. The lead in this Merrimac's hold was valued at $800,000. None of it was ever recovered. Most of the alkali, however, was washed ashore and many Cape May women still have vivid recollections of the days when it was cheaper to wear silk dresses than it was to don the commonest calicoes.

HOME LIFE OF PRESIDENT MCKINLEY.

or though constantly besieged by callers of an official character, the home life of President and Mrs. McKinley is a model of simplicity, regularity and comfort. The President himself is always up by 8.30 in the morning, and Mrs. McKinley seldom sleeps later than 9 o'clock. Their bedroom is the same one used by Mr. Cleveland and his wife. Like all the living-rooms in the White House, it is on the second floor and looks out on the rear grounds. The beds used by the President and his wife stand side by side. They are medium-sized comfortable looking, white enameled beds, with sheets of pure linen and covers of plain white muslin.

A private bath room adjoins the bedroom, and the first thing the President does in the morning is to take a tepid bath. At 8.45 o'clock every morning family prayers are said by the President in a drawing-room across the main corridor from the bedroom. Breakfast is served in the private dining-room on the first floor at 9 o'clock.

His Business Hours.

Immediately after breakfast the President begins work. His business hours are from 10 o'clock in the morning until 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Lunchroom is always ready by 1 o'clock, but frequently the President does not sit down to the table before 2. When his business is urgent Mrs. McKinley generally lunches alone or with some visiting friend. That is especially so on cabinet days. Usually after a cabinet meeting one of the members will take luncheon with the President and discuss whatever may be pressing in public affairs. During the week dinner is served at 7 o'clock in the evening, and on Sundays at 6 o'clock. After dinner the President goes to his workroom and dictates correspondence until 10 o'clock. In his regular four for retirement but during the war it was often long after daylight before he sought rest.

Good Livens, but not High.

In the language of the Washington market dealers, Mr. and Mrs. McKinley are "good livens, but not high livens." There are many private families in Washington who spend more money on their tables, but few who live better. The daily average expense of the President's private table is not quite $25. This is, of course, exclusive of any special or state dinners, but it includes a tongue of meat, 300 guests a year. Invariably there are one or more guests to luncheon and dinner.

Miss Mabel McKinley, daughter of Abram McKinley, and Miss Harber, Mrs. McKinley's niece, are the frequent visitors who remain overnight. They are both musicians and Mrs. McKinley takes great pleasure in their visits. The absence of children in the White House is especially marked in this administration, because the public interest in the domestic side of the administration immediately preceding was centered in baby McKee and the Cleveland trio. But Mr. McKinley and his wife are very fond of children.

When they are passing in and out of the White House and see little ones about the portico or grounds they always stop and speak to them; and there are several little girls in Washington whom Mrs. McKinley frequently entertains for a day just to have them around her.

Important Services.

The active part of the domestic duties fall upon the housekeeper, who in Marie Harber, a pretty young New Yorker. Her health will not permit Mrs. McKinley to assume the active management of such a laborious household. Yet she is not idle a moment during the day. The quantity of mail she receives is enormous, and she opens and personally answers nearly all of it. Charity appeals come to her from all parts of the country. Women beg for her influence and meditation in behalf of their condemned or declining to interfere in such matters.

The President very decidedly prefers colored help. His steward, cook, coachman, footman and waiters are all colored. William T. Sinclair, the present steward, comes from New York. He is considered a most careful butler. He served ex-President Cleveland eight years, and Mr. Cleveland recommended him to Mr. McKinley. His salary, fixed by law and paid by the government, is $1,800 a year. He is responsible for all the property within the White House, belonging to the United States, and is bonded for $20,000. If the steward was so inclined he could make at least $2,000 a year lending his name to schemes. He has often offered him large sums to buy exclusively from them, so they can advertise themselves as "caterers to the President." New York caterers have offered him as high as $100 for the name and description of special dinners given by the President, in order to reproduce them for patrons. It was offered $500 for a crumb for one of the plates from which Mr. McKinley ate his dinner April 20, 1898, the day he signed the Cuban bill.

The steward is furnished with a Dayton wagon and driver, and he generally drives to market about 9 o'clock in the morning. At the end of each month the dealers from whom he buys send in their bills and he carefully looks them over. The ones he approves go to W. H. Crook, who is a bonded paymaster. Mr. Crook submits an itemized account of the monthly expenditures for the table, etc., to the President. The latter never pays cash for anything which goes on his table. He pays for everything in checks drawing them up himself as the bills are presented.

Typical Southern Cook.

Mrs. Benjamin, a typical South Carolina negro, is the regular White House cook. She comes from Senator Tillman's old home and is a mile a minute on fried chicken, hot bread and pie. President McKinley hires out of his own pocket his housekeeper, bedroom maid, cook, coachman, footman, waiter, and help. He is a young, smooth-faced negro, quite a fast but very good driver. The McKinley livery is modest. It consists of high black silk hats, long, light tan coats, which are silver buttoned down to black boots. The carriage is a four-wheeled, open-top, but not a very handsome one. The harness is silver mounted to a degree of good taste, and the horses, three in number, are fairly well bred. The President does not seem to take much interest in his horses.

The oldest servant in the White House is "Uncle Jerry," a very ardent old darkey. President Grant hired Jerry during his first administration, and he has been in the White House continuously ever since. His duty is to keep things in general order, and he has performed this important trust to the entire satisfaction of each succeeding President.

The only guard about the executive mansion or the surrounding grounds is a small detachment of policemen from the Washington force.

PAID HER SOCIAL DEBT.

She hoped that she was doing lots of good. She would visit the poor in their own homes and, as she believed, cheer them up. One time she called on a poor woman in Hester street, says a New York paper, and, as was her wont, she immediately began to ask a stereotyped set of questions which she hurled at the woman.

"How old are you? How many children have you? Can you read? Does your husband drink?" etc., etc.

The woman did her best to stem this interrogative avalanche and mumbled some answer. After about half an hour she said the lady had gone, but the woman went away and was driven to her home in Fifth avenue, leaving her card with her address at the poor woman's house. A clergyman who did charitable work in that section called on the Hester street woman a few days after the rich woman's visit. After some talk with her, she said to him:

"I think that I make one call."

"Well, my good woman, on whom do you intend to call?"

"She named the would-be benefactress. 'But,' said the clergyman, 'do you know how to behave when you call upon such a person?'"

"Oh, yes," she said. "I know how they behave and I behave myself just like 'em."

She did call and was ushered into the drawing room. A few moments later the wealthy woman entered the apartment. As soon as she crossed the threshold her visitor began:

"How old are you? How many children have you? Can you read? Does your husband drink? How often does he beat you?"

Then she turned sharply about and holding up her ragged skirt she strode out of the house and down the avenue.

ON THE BRINK OF THE GALLOWS

STORY OF A MAN TWICE CONDEMNED TO DIE

Nicholas Marzen, convicted of murder in Chicago on purely circumstantial evidence, has twice stood in the shadow of the gallows erected for his execution.

Marzen is writing a book, two chapters of which, already finished, are given to a description of the feelings of a man who firmly believes there are but a few fleeting moments between him and eternity.

Marzen is convicted of murder in a master of the German native tongue. The strength of his story loses something, perhaps, by translation, but there remains a vividness in the recital which shows actual agony which possessed the man's mind during the hours when the death-watch set beside him and when every few minutes there rang through the jail corridors the echo of the hammer-strokes necessary in building his gibbet.

The agony of unrest," he says, "began two weeks before the time set for my execution. I was innocent of the crime for which I was convicted. Before God I was innocent, and standing on the gallows with the shivering words of the priest still in my ears, I would have gladly accepted any other fate but that of a felon's grave. I had hoped that the governor would grant a reprieve, but the hope began to wane and my heart and soul were sick."

"I even began to wish that I were guilty. It is easier for a guilty man to die a horrible death by the rope than it is for an innocent one whose hand is unstained by the blood of man. The guilty man feels it to the very core of his soul that there is, after all, a justice in his fate. The innocent feels the ignominy of his fate like a knife at his heart, and the horrible injustice of it all weighs upon him like a mountain."

"I tried during the days before that set for my hanging to argue myself into a state of resignation and even tranquility by saying to myself: 'You are better off than other men, for before long the veil will be lifted and you will know the secrets of the universe. There were less than forty-eight hours between me and death. The death watch was with me. His presence, if for the purpose of preventing me from cheating the gallows by self-destruction, was useless. I knew that I would go to my death with a firm tread and with my head erect. The feeling that possessed me was not one of fear of the pain of death, but only of horror at the method of it. I went to sleep, or I suppose I must have gone to sleep though at the time I believed that I was awake. At midnight the bars of my cell parted and a red-draped figure bearing in its hand a flaming torch came to my bedside. I strove to rise, but could not. The figure bent over me and applied the brand to both my eyes. Instantly they streamed forth fire. I sprang to my feet. The red-draped figure had gone, but the impress of its fiery torch was with me. My eyes were like glowing coals and they seemed to fairly burn holes in the darkness of my cell. I applied cold water, but the fire was unquenchable. 'Daylight came struggling through the windows of the jail. I could see the sunlight touching the corners of the court building beyond the paved yard. The death watch was looking at the sunlight, too, but he seemed to see nothing. I heard the hollow sound of a blow."

"What is that?" I asked the watch. "He did not answer, but looked at me with a pity in his eyes. Then it flashed across my mind that what I had heard was the first hammer-stroke in the building of my gallows. The sound was repeated again and again. It came, and as every blow fell upon the scaffold beams the echo struck into my brain."

"Shortly afterward they came into my cell and gave me a suit of black clothes for my shroud. I dressed myself, believing that I was preparing for the grave. Then all at once the horrors seemed to lift. I became as calm as a child. The fever left my eyes and I no longer haunted me. I knew then that I was to die with the courage of a man, and that the feeling that had gone before was not fear, but simply a suffering at the thought of the death which I, innocent, must die."

"They were leading me to the death chamber, when, just as the last stroke of the gibbet was sounding in my ears, a man appeared waving a yellow bit of paper. It was a telegram from Gov. Altgeld putting off for eight months the execution of the sentence of death."

"A jubilation took possession of me which I cannot even attempt to describe. I had been snatched from the shadow of the gallows and from the very brink of a felon's grave. That night sleep was as much a stranger to my eyes as it had been the night before, when I believed I had died for a bed-fellow."

"When the eight months granted by Gov. Altgeld had passed, with the expectation of less than forty-eight hours, 'Nick' Marzen stood once more face to face with death by the gallows. Once more was the death watch set. Marzen had firmly believed up to a week before this second day for his hanging that the Supreme Court would interfere in his case, but as the time went on and there were but two weeks and one sunrise between him and death he lost hope. In despairing his feelings when on the threshold of eternity a second time he says that he was in an agony of anxiety, but that fear and hallucination were absent quantities. He felt, he says, that it would be little short of wicked to cut off a man after hope had been held out to him until it seemed a certainty that he was to be allowed to live. He heard once more the hammer-strokes as the gallows were put together. Once more the priest came to hear his confession and to prepare him for eternity. Jesse spoke his prepared statement of his innocence of the crime charged, and once more he steeled himself to walk to his death like a man. Then again, at almost the last moment, came a despatch telling him that the Supreme Court had gained a supersedeas."

A large part of Marzen's book is given over to a description of what his eyes were the methods employed by the police in obtaining evidence against him. Much of this evidence, he declares, was manufactured, the claim being the same as that advanced by Langbert, who says that the Chicago police build up people into giving false testimony and make evidence out of whole cloth.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 1899

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

For the Mothers' Co.

Mrs. McDougall, Brandon & Aulick, of Fredericton, shipped yesterday to the Matthews Packing Company one hundred and eighty hogs, to be sent up into steaks and sausages. Mr. Brandon reports business in the north country booming.

Beatings Here.

The Hastings Star says that a grumber of men are engaged repairing a dam in that village which was injured by the ice. This appears to us to be a dam that more to look after than our friend Mr. Richard B. Rogers, the genial and obliging superintendent of the T. V. C. Waterway should be obliged to countenance.

A Leap-Forward and Case

The case of McWilliams against Davidson which came before the High Court of Justice at its last sitting, and was referred to the local judges to fix the amount due the plaintiff, has been going on for many days. Scores of witnesses have been examined on both sides and the end is not yet. It is said that the costs will be late the thirtieth by the time the case is considered.

Wigs on the Green and Gas

True to Chief Russell's prediction to a Times reporter there were indeed "wigs on the green" in connection with the giving of liquor to minors. The guilty parties were up in court yesterday morning and it cost each of the two guilty parties $50 fine and $5.00 costs, to remove their said wigs from the aforementioned green. The three boys guilty of being drunk were discharged with a warning.

Lumbering in the New B.

Mr. J. J. Welsh, of Aspley, is in town on business and favored the Times with a call. Mr. Welsh reports that no lumbering was done this winter on Pelee's Island. This is the second winter in 20 years that Pelee's Island has produced no timber. Mr. McDonald of Peterboro has taken out a considerable quantity of logs, which were delivered on Berensville and Copper Lake.

Pendulum Laid.

Rev. O. H. Marsh of Lindsay gave an interesting address on Mission work in China at St. Luke's church last night. The difficulties met with in the extending of Christianity in that distant field and the expense incurred in overcoming these difficulties were dwelt on to considerable extent. It was ably shown that there was great cause for rejoicing over the good results that have and will be made and more becoming apparent.

Still They Come.

Our worthy Alderman, Mr. McWilliam has been showing up to the best advantage the past week, the great resources, undeveloped water-power, shipping facilities, etc., to Mr. D. E. Clark of the Thomas Organ & Piano Co. of Woodstock. Mr. Clark seems very favorably impressed with the business advantages that might be made use of here. A large progressive firm like the Thomas Organ & Piano Co. would be a valuable addition to the industries of this town.

The Great Temperance Drama Ten Nights in a Bar Room Produced.

Tuesday night it rained, and there was room to spare in the Opera House.

Last night it did not rain, and there was a repetition of Monday night, plus twenty per cent, viz., standing room only with window-sills, at a premium.

Old as this play is, the human feelings joy and sorrow, are so true to human nature, that the hearts of all are appealed to, and it seems as if in one scene "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" would never grow old.

J. Knox Garvin, took the part of Joe Morgan; Fred Wilson, Sample Switchell; Mat. McGinnis, Simon Blade; R. A. Farniss, Frank Slade; Jennie Platt and Alice Kemp, took the parts of Mrs. Slade and Mrs. Morgan, while May A. Beel, played Mellicote Cartwright.

It is hard to particularize on individual merits at last night's performance. From beginning to end, interest was held at fever point, and it is safe to say that, never has the great "Temperance Drama" received a more powerful rendering in Peterborough, than it did last night.

To-night a new play, known as "Under the British Flag," will be produced. This is not only the first time it has been produced in Peterborough; but also the first season in Canada, and Marks Brothers, have the sole right of production here. The plot is intensely thrilling, culminating in a fitting climax.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES.

—Slippery walking.

—Maple Sugar making season is at hand.

—The Thistle Curling Club has not had sufficient income this season to pay its way.

—The street cars will soon crawl out of their hole after the winter's siesta.

—The Times delivered to any address in Peterborough and Ashburnham for three months for $3.00.

—The various steamers are being overhauled and put into shape for the coming season.

—Lindsay Post.—Mr. Wesley Moore, Ope, shipped a double deck carload of hogs to the George Matthews Co., Peterborough, this morning. Mr. Moore expects to ship another carload in a few days.

—It is said that Mr. R. W. Marks, whose company is filling an engagement in the Opera House here, has made $100,000 out of the show business.

—The water in the river is rising rapidly.

—The market tolls must be disposed of in a few days. Mr. Baple's term expiring on April 1st. Mr. Baple has made an excellent clerk, and should be rewarded with a further lease of the market.

—The steam yacht "Mollie," formerly owned by Mr. Robert Strickland, will hereafter float the Nugent-McBain-Stratton pennant at the mast-head, the above gentlemen having purchased the trim little steamer.

—Mr. Robert Stewart, the well known drover, purchased a large number of hogs yesterday for the Matthews Company. Wednesday is always Bob's hog day on the market, and between the squeaking of the porkers, the whooping of Market Clerk Baple, and the loud exclamations of Robert's thrasher parlor of the Times building in confusion. The Times is in favor of a cattle yard.

—Peterboro' vs. Fred's Ball.

The "Colts" hockey team leave at noon to-day for Fenelon Falls, where they will play a match with the club of that village. Those who imagine that our lads will have an easy victory may be mistaken, as the Fenelon club is strong and are the veritable "champions of the north."

A MUSICAL TREAT

The Y.M.C.A. Hall Filled to Over-Flowing by Music-Loving People.

The Y. M. C. A. Hall was filled last night to over-flowing by the music-loving people of Peterboro to hear Senior Gonzalez and Senorita Gonzalez. The large audience came anticipating a musical treat, and each and all went away feeling that there had been no disappointment. The program—reviewed, well illustrated the high taste and range of Senior Gonzalez's attainments.

1.—Russian Spring Song (Instrumental).

2.—Canta la de Levante (Solo from Spanish Opera Marine).

Enrico Arrieta. Encore, "Sinea Thoa Art Mine."

3.—Non K. Ver (Italian Solo). Tito Mattet.

4.—Skill as the Night, (English Solo). C. Bohm.

5.—La Donna Mobile, (Solo from Italian Opera Rigoletto). Verdi.

Encore, "Good Night Sweet Dreams" (English Solo). J. W. Blasco.

6.—Miserere (Italian Solo from Il Trovatore). Verdi.

Mrs. Gonzalez provided at the piano, her rendering of the different selections being marked with high artistic expression.

Senior Gonzalez although a foreigner, born and bred in Spain, showed a remarkable ability in the distinctiveness and perfect pronunciation with which he rendered his English selections. This is the result of high vocal culture and shows to what an extent training can be carried.

For some time past, the Senior has been engaged in a high class Opera Company in the States and Peterboro owes his presence here, to the late Spanish-American War.

For weeks the Senior was engaged, on one place to another by detectives, who treated him as if a spy. At last, it could be borne no longer and the Senior came to Toronto.

It is his purpose to open up a musical class here if possible, and he is already feeling encouraged by the prospect. Owing to class work in Toronto, two days per week would be spent in Peterboro.

The piano used last night was kindly loaned for the purpose by the Northbrim Piano Co.

An objectionable feature last night and one that caused many regrets to be expressed was the loud talking and even laughing, indulged in, by some persons in the back of the hall, who seemed totally ignorant of any sense of manners and propriety.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Baker System of Heating Being Introduced—Other Railways Items.

Travelling fifty miles an hour, a locomotive gives out $2.00 puff.

Considerable heavy freight passing over the G.T.R. lines at present.

A large quantity of machinery and implements, such as barrows, ploughs, seeders, etc., are being shipped to various points in anticipation of spring.

A porter on the 4:15 train C.P.R., was feeling in good humor yesterday afternoon, when a reporter making use of an old stock phrase, asked him how he liked life on the rail. With a sly twinkle the colored gent replied:

"Very much! I have always enjoyed life on the rail, in preference to life on a street car."

The reporter didn't have to strike him to see if he meant it, and there was a mutual laugh.

Up to within the last few days, the G.T.R. station, has been heated with several coal stoves, which, while fairly satisfactory, have always required considerable watching, and lots of coal. These stoves are now being moved out, and the Baker system of hot water heating is being put in. The system is the same that for some time, has been used in heating the cars on the G.T.R. system. Several advantages are claimed in the new method, among them being less trouble in attending them, less coal required, and more general satisfaction in the results.

Accommodation for Boarders.

One or two gentlemen can be accommodated with large front room and first class board at 485 Ayler Street between Murray and Macdonald Sts.

The Canal Work.

Preparations are being made for an early start on the Canal digging.

Messrs Cory and Lavadeure, the contractors of the section between Peterborough and Napanee, have yet much to do, and there is little prospect of the work being finished this year. The section between Napanee and Lakefield will be finished in the fall, so that steamers can get down as far as Ashburn, which is practically to the town.

"John Wright" and the "Bible."

Last night the third of the Lenten series of lectures was given in St. John's church to a good audience by Rev. W. H. A. French, the rector of Grafton. The subject was "John Wright and the Bible." The Rev. gentleman handled his subject in a able manner pointing out clearly the great results and far-reaching effects of the great "reformer."

The Times Leads.

The Times always leads. It was the first in Peterborough to use an electric motor, and it was months before our slower contemporaries followed suit. Nearly two years ago we installed two type-setting machines, at a cost of nearly $5,000. A few months ago the Hunter Street paper, following in our lead, put in a machine. Now the Brampton, it is said, is seriously considering the advisability of doing likewise. It is hard to say just how far a back number our contemporaries would become if it were not for the Times. We are always pleased to show our friends the way.

A business man said to-day that it was impossible to get in money owed to him. When he showed in his debt had means and were well able to pay but they shirked this duty until a convenient moment.

Application to Parliament

Notice is hereby given that the Corporation of the Town of Peterboro will apply to the Legislature of the Province of Ontario at the next Session thereof for an act to confirm the By-laws of the said Corporation relating to the Wm. LATEST NEWS FROM THE BUSY CAPITAL

VANCOUVER MEMBER GETS IN HOT WATER

Newsmen and to start negotiations on Mr. Gwynn's account. John City, head of the local and general.

Ottawa, March 1.—They are still having a high old time in Vancouver, B. C., over the issue of the Dominion government of Deadman's Island, to a company which purports establishing a sawmill there. In 1887 the city of Victoria obtained from the Dominion Government by order-in-council, control of tract of 900 acres, formerly part of the naval reserve, which was converted into a public pleasure resort, known as Stanley park. Deadman's Island is situated close to the park. In fact, so low water it is not an island at all, but is connected by a strip of sea beach with the park. A couple of months ago a Mr. Ludgate of Chicago acting in the interests of a company, came to Ottawa and, with the assistance of Rev. Mr. Maxwell, the Liberal M. P. for Vancouver, obtained from the militia department a lease of the island. The prospect of a sawmill being established in such close proximity to Stanley park aroused the indignation of the citizens of Vancouver to such a pitch that as recently stated, is was decided to send a deputation to Ottawa to endeavor to have the Ludgate lease cancelled. Public meetings too, have been held, to protest against the deal and at these Rev. Mr. Maxwell is being roundly denounced for his share in the transaction. Indeed crookedness has been more than hinted at at several of these gatherings. The latest phase of the trouble has been the action of the city in placing a squad of police in charge of Deadman's Island.

THE NORTH AMERICAN LIFE

One of Canada's Most Successful Financial Institutions

The Annual Meeting of this Company was held in the Company's Building here last Thursday, February 2nd, 1899, when Mr. John Blaikie was appointed Chairman and Mr. William McCabe Secretary.

The Directors Report presented at the meeting showed continued and marked proofs of the great progress and solid prosperity of the Company in every branch of its business.

Some of the leading features of the year's business, as mentioned by the President, were the following:—
(1) Looking at the Company from every standpoint the report submitted shows financial strength, productive assets, solid growth, and large relative surplus, which is the extreme point to policy-holders, as it is from this source alone that satisfactory returns can be made to them.

(2) The new business for the year exceeded that of any previous year.
(3) Another marked feature of this Company is the relatively large amount of its net surplus to liabilities, when contrasted with that of its leading competitors. The President showed that this ratio was one of the best tests by which to judge of the relative merits of the different Companies.

(4) The following marked increases were made during the year:—

	Per cent.
In Premium Income	11.58
In Interest Income	13.11
In Insurance in Force	13.15
In Assets	10.01
In Net Surplus	10.73
In Insurance Reserve	15.18

The President stated that gentlemen representing the United States Insurance Department had been in the city during part of last month, and had made a thorough and most searching investigation into the affairs of the Company, with a view to its admission to do business in the respective States, and that these experts were extremely well satisfied with the soundness of the Company, and expressed themselves as gratified with every aspect of its affairs.

The Hon. Mr. Allan in seconding the adoption of the report, called special attention to the excellent character of the investment of the Company; of these over 37 per cent. are in first mortgage securities, nearly 20 per cent. in debentures, nearly 14 per cent. in stocks and bonds; on policies, about 6 1/2 per cent. the balance consisting of cash in bank, interest, and other securities. He also called special attention to the fact that although the assets had increased very largely, the outstanding and accrued interest had been very materially decreased, which is a proof of the excellent character of the investments of the Company, and the promptness with which the interest thereon has been paid.

James Thorburn, M. B., Medical Director, presented a full and interesting report of the mortality experience of the Company from its organization, which showed that great care had been exercised in the selection of the Company's business.

The Consulting Actuary reported that he had made an independent examination of the affairs of the Company as at December 31st, 1898, having examined the books, accounts, and balance sheet, also a detailed copy of the Annual report of the Insurance Department, and stated that he was very much gratified with the result of such examination, also with the thorough system of the work of every department throughout the office. He commended the Company for closing its books promptly at the end of the year, as had been its custom from organization, and stated that notwithstanding the large amount paid to policy-holders during the year another substantial gain had been made in the net surplus, now amounting to $474,029.04, or if made up on the same basis as that generally used, viz. by adding the difference between the cost and market value of debentures, etc., owned by the Company, such surplus would be $522,064.83. He referred to the great difficulty which has been experienced of late years in securing satisfactory investments, and pointed out the great decline in the rate of interest which all-grade securities yielded. In view of this he stated that the settlements of the Company's Investment Policies should be highly satisfactory to the holders thereof, as they compare favorably with those of the leading and best managed Companies on this continent.

A special vote of thanks was unanimously tendered to the Company's Provincial Managers, Inspectors and Agents Staff, for their services during the past year, during which the largest business ever done by the Company had been secured, largely exceeding that of any other Home Company at the same age in its history.

After the usual vote of thanks had been passed, the election of Directors took place, whereupon the newly elected Board met, and Mr. John I. Blaikie was unanimously re-elected President and the Honorable G. W. Allan and Sir Frank Smith, Vice Presidents.

HASTINGS GOLD DISTRICT

Mr. O. L. Sprague claims That They are Very Rich.

Ottawa, March 1.—Mr. O. L. Sprague of Toronto, general manager of the Sovereign Gold Mining and Development Corporation of Ontario, is at the Windsor in connection with the gold mining property in Hastings. The company owns nine mines in Hastings, Addington and Frontenac counties, but is at present only developing one mine in Marmora. A ten stamp mill has been erected and this will soon be increased to twenty stamps. Five hundred tons of ore have been mined and crushing will begin on April 1st. Mr. Sprague has many samples of ore from the mines. The proportion of gold, he says, is very high and some samples assay as high as $50,000 a ton. One specimen appeared to be almost pure gold and the proportion would run, Mr. Sprague says, $300,000 to the ton. The following assays were taken from specimens: $1,441.60, $2,000.00, $7,348. $648, $529.00, all per ton of rock. Mr. Sprague says the one thing against the Hastings gold district is its accessibility. If the same specimen of gold ore could be obtained in an almost inaccessible part of the country he believes investors would jump at the stock. However, he expects to convince people by results and has also the opinion of a number of mining experts who state that the district is one of the richest in Canada. The ore is free milling except at one place, where it is found with arsenical iron. The arsenical iron is very valuable, and Mr. Sprague has specimens of arsenic ninety per cent pure. He expects considerable development will be done this year. An English corporation, which is working near Marmora, Mr. Sprague says, has taken out a 15-pound gold brick after a week's work with a ten stamp mill.

KIPLING IS MUCH BETTER

Mr. Doubleday says, He is stronger and more active than they were.

New York, March 1.—There was an appreciable gain in the condition of Rudyard Kipling during the night. His three physicians—Dr. Janeway, Dr. Dunham and Dr. O'Connell, the last being the family physician of the Kiplings who then were in Hasteboro, Vt.—remained in the Greenoble all night. With the exception of Dr. Dunham, however, they did not feel it necessary to remain in the sick room, apartments and Dr. Dunham did not spend the night there. Though he did not say so, there was a thought prevalent that Dr. Dunham stayed there for some time so as to be ready to relieve the patient immediately in case of need. The gain has not been great, but he is really than for several days, and it has given the doctors hope.

Dr. Dunham appeared at 3 o'clock in the lower part of the hotel. He said, "I am fairly well pleased with the condition of Mr. Kipling. He is resting quietly."

A BETTER NIGHT.
New York, March 1.—At 9 a.m. the following bulletin on the condition of Rudyard Kipling was issued by his physicians—"Mr. Kipling had a better night and the symptoms have improved. The delirium was replaced by natural sleep. He is still seriously ill, and the fever, though less, still will continue."

REIGNING HEADS AND THEIR FAMILIESCHILDREN TAKEN AWAY FROM THEIR PARENTS AND EVEN THE LATTER CAN HARD-LY MOVE WITHOUT PERMISSION

Among the least known forms of monarchical despotism in the old world is that which the sovereigns of Europe exercise in connection with the members of their own family. In ordinary life a man may be said to become his own master when he attains his majority and what are generally supposed to be the years of discretion; and in the same way it may be assumed that a woman secures freedom from parental control when she marries. This, however, is not the case with the princes and princesses of the blood. They remain throughout their entire existence subject to the oft capricious commands of the head of the reigning house to which they belong, and are forced to submit to a degree of dependence and subordination of which the people on this side of the Atlantic can form no conception.

One of the most intolerable features of this peculiar system of tyranny is that which deprives princes and princesses of sovereign houses of the control of their children during the minority of the latter. They have no legal right to direct the education of their offspring, or even to appoint the teachers and tutors of the young people. It is the head of the reigning house in whom alone is vested the absolute and exclusive right to the custody and guardianship of all members of the royal or imperial family who may happen to be minors, no matter how remote their degree of relationship to the throne.

Among those who are most jealous in the exercise of this prerogative are Queen Victoria, Kaiser Wilhelm and the Emperor of Austria. The Queen has kept constantly informed of all that concerns the education of the young people, who in most cases are, her grandchildren, or her great-grandchildren, and the names of private tutors and governesses, together with their qualifications, are always submitted to her majesty before any choice is made. Of course, this applies only to those members of the royal family who are established in England. Those who live in foreign countries, such as St. Petersburg, Berlin, Athens, etc., are exempt from her authority, but naturally are subject to the jurisdiction of the head of the reigning houses where they reside. But in Great Britain the Queen's sway is absolute and the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall, for instance, could not enter their son at Eton, nor could the Duchess of Albany remove her boy from that school, without having previously obtained the sanction of the Queen.

In the same way the Kaiser exercises the right of controlling the education of all the young princes and princesses of his house—young people with whom parents he has in some cases paraded to such an extent that he is no longer on speaking terms with them. He has even attempted to extend this right to the junior members of the families of the other sovereign rulers of the German empire, taking the ground that inasmuch as they all at early age receive commissions in the German army—usually on their 16th birthday—he, as commander-in-chief, is entitled to a voice in the direction of their training.

The same principle is carried out in the other monarchic countries. But the despotism of the monarchs of the old world is by no means restricted to this question of the control and custody of the junior members of their respective families. Every prince and princess of the latter, no matter what his or her age or superiority in point of years to the sovereign may be, is subject to the will of the head of the house. For instance, no Russian grand duke or grand duchess can leave the Muscovite empire without previously asking and obtaining the permission of the Czar, and in the same way English princes and princesses have to crave the sanction of Queen Victoria, the Austrian archdukes and duchesses that of Emperor Francis Joseph, and the Prussian princes and princesses that of the Kaiser before they can leave their respective countries for a foreign trip.

A couple of years ago every court of the old world was agog in connection with the unpardonable breach not only of etiquette, but likewise of law, committed by the young Duchess Helene of Aosta in leaving Italy for her mother's chateau in France without having previously sought and obtained the permission of King Humbert. Indeed, so great was the irritation displayed by the latter about the matter that the duchess was persuaded by her mother to return to Turin without delay after a stay of only 48 hours. Prince Rupert, heir presumptive to the throne of Bavaria, was on one occasion sentenced to three months' "stube arrest," that is to say, close confinement to his quarters, for having gone off to Paris without asking permission of his grandfather, the regent, and there are many other similar cases.

Nor is it only with regard to foreign trips that the European rulers insist upon exercising control over their relatives. The control extends in almost every conceivable direction. The wish of the sovereign in a command is it known that the Kaiser ordered his brother off to China and then compelled the latter's consort—that is to say, his own sister-in-law—to undertake the same voyage, leaving behind her her young and delicate children, who have been since unto death since her departure. He has on at least two occasions subjected both his brother-in-law, Prince Frederick Leopold, and the latter's wife to arrest for having disobeyed his commands with regard to the management of their household, has repeatedly subjected to disciplinary punishments of the same kind, his wife's brother, Duke Ernest of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, and not only broke off all intercourse with his sister Sophia, crown princess of the Hellenes, but actually carried his animosity so far as to encourage and even assist the Sultan in his invasion of Greece, solely because she had abandoned the Lutheran Church and become a convert to the Greek rite, to which her husband and children belonged, without having previously asked and obtained his sanction. It must be thoroughly understood that his anger was not due to her conversion, for he had approved of an analogous step on the part of the German princess who is now Empress of Russia. It was because she had neglected to ask for his permission.

Monarchical tyranny of this kind even extends to clothes, and even remembers how the widowed Duchess of Aosta was subjected by her brother-in-law, King Humbert, to arrest in her palace at Turin and to temporary forfeiture of the use of the royal liveries and of other royal prerogatives, solely because she had appeared in public on her wheel in a pair of bloomers.

MAY, BE AN EMPEROR'S BRIDE.

It has been reported that when the season of mourning for his assassinated wife, Elizabeth, is over, old Franz Joseph, Emperor of Austria, will marry again. The line of the Hapsburgs is almost extinct. The present heir to the Austrian throne is Archduke Franz Ferdinand, nephew of the Emperor, and should he die—which is a threatening possibility in view of his sickly condition—the throne would pass away from the Hapsburg family, which has occupied it for many centuries. It is in the hope that a male heir might spring from a new union that the Emperor will wed.

Franz Joseph has ever been a good judge of female beauty, and it is not at all surprising that he should select as his future bride one of Europe's most charming young princesses. She is Isabelle of Orleans, who although barely 20 has already become famous for her beauty in European courts. She is a daughter of the late Louis Philippe, count of Paris, and a sister of the present Duke of Orleans.

FIRST ENVOY TO THE PHILIPPINES.A PLUCKY CANADIAN BOY WHO ROSE RAPIDLY THROUGH HIS OWN EFFORTS.

At ten years of age he was a country lad on a back woods farm on Prince Edward Island.

At thirteen he had become a clerk in a country store, at a salary of $30 a year.

At eighteen he was a college student, supporting himself by working in the evenings as a book-keeper.

At twenty he had won a scholarship in the University of London, in competition with all other Canadian students.

At twenty-five, he was professor of philosophy, Acadia College, Nova Scotia.

At thirty-eight, he was appointed President of Cornell University.

At forty-four, he is chairman of President McKinley's special commission to the Philippines.

In this summary is epitomized the career of Jacob Gould Schurman. It is a romance of real life such as is not unfamiliar in America. Mr. Schurman's career differs from that of some other self-made men, however. Instead of heaping up millions upon millions, he has applied his talents to winning the intellectual prizes of life, and has made his way, unaided, to the front rank of the leaders in thought and learning in this country. His career is a source of inspiration to all poor boys who have their way to make in the world, for he has won his present honors by his own untiring efforts.

It is impossible for the boy of today, no matter in what part of the country he is brought up, to appreciate the life of Prince Edward Island as it was twenty years ago. At that time it had neither railroads, no daily newspapers, nor any of the modern conveniences now-a-days, even to the boys of the country districts. A lad not over a few miles from his home, I was a fairly well-to-do boy, but I was never in the least bit of a scholar.

The only newspaper that came to my little house was a little provincial weekly. The only books the boys carried were a few standard works—such as the Bible, Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress," Scott's "Book of Martyrs," and a few others of that class. I remember, too, that this was the first book at the beginning of the century, but little more than a generation ago, for I was born in the year 1807.

My father had cleared away the land on which our house stood. He was a poor man, but no poorer than his neighbors. No amount of land, and no amount of work could yield much more than the necessities of life at that time and place. There were eight children in our family, and there was work for all of us.

A long tramp to school. Our parents were anxious to have their children acquire at least an elementary education, and so, summer a half that lay between our house and the district school, and the snow often left to the depth of five or six feet on the island, and sometimes, when it drove in at its worst, our father would drive us all to school in a hay-sleigh. But no weather was bad enough to keep us away.

That would be looked upon as a poor kind of school, nowadays, I suppose. The scholars were of all ages, and everything from A.B.C. to the study of "Three," was taught. I was a teacher. But whatever may have been the curriculum, the work of the school was thorough. The teacher was an old-fashioned Unitarian, and what ever he drove into our heads he put there to stay. I went to this school summer and winter until I was thirteen, and by that time I had learned to read and write and spell and figure with considerable accuracy.

At the end of thirteen I left home. I hadn't formed any definite plans as to my future. I merely wanted to get into a village and earn some money. My father got me a place in the nearest town—Summerside—a village of about one thousand inhabitants. For my first year's work I was to receive thirty dollars and my board. Thirty dollars a year for working: room and board in the morning until ten at night. I was glad to get the place. It was a start. I was a city boy, and the little village was like a city to my country eyes.

He always supported himself. From the time I began working in the store until to-day, I have always supported myself, and during all that time got my livelihood. I never received a penny that I did not earn myself. At the end of my first year, I went to a larger store in the same town, where I was to receive thirty dollars a year and my board. My salary was doubled; I was getting on amazingly.

I kept his place for two years, and then I gave it up, against the wish of my employer, because I had made up my mind that I wanted to get a better education. I determined to go to college.

I did not know how I was going to do this, except that it must cost my own efforts. I had saved about $15 from my store-keeping, and that was all the money I had in the world. When I told my employer of my plan, he tried to dissuade me from it. He pointed out the difficulties in the way of my going to college, and offered to double my pay if I would stay in the store.

The Turning Point of his Life. "That was the turning point in my life. On one side was the certainty of one hundred and twenty dollars a year and the prospect of promotion as fast as I deserved it. On the other side was a hundred and twenty dollars month in Prince Edward Island, and to me, a poor boy who had never possessed such a sum in his life. On the other side was my hope of obtaining an education. I knew that it involved hard work and self-denial, an entire way of the possibility of failure in the end. But my mind was made up. I would not turn back. I need not say that I do not regret that early decision, although I think that I would have made a successful store-keeper. (18)

Hood's Sarsaparilla is not merely a simple preparation of Sarsaparilla, Dock, Sillit, and a little Iodine of Potassium. It also contains those great kidney remedies, Hydrant, Juniper Berries, and Pipsissewa.

For these and all other very valuable curative agents are harmoniously combined in Hood's Sarsaparilla and it is carefully prepared under the personal supervision of a regularly educated pharmacist.

Knowing these facts, is the abiding faith the people have in Hood's Sarsaparilla a matter of surprise? You can see why Hood's Sarsaparilla cures, when other medicines totally fail.

"With my eighty dollars capital I began to attend the village High school, to get my preparation for college. But only one year to do this. My money would not last longer than that. I resided in Latin, Greek and algebra, all on the same day, and for the next four weeks I studied harder than I ever had before or have since. At the end of the year I entered the competitive examination for a scholarship in Prince of Wales College, at Charlottetown, on the island. I had small hope of winning it, my preparation had been so hasty and incomplete. But when the result was announced I found that I had not only won the scholarship from my county, but stood first of all the competitors on the island.

The scholarship I had won amounted to only sixty dollars a year. It seems little enough, but I can say now, after nearly thirty years, that the winning of it was the greatest success I have ever had. I have had other rewards, which, to most persons, would seem immeasurably greater, but with this difference: that first success was essential; without it I could not have gone on. The others I could not have done without, if it had been necessary. For two years young Schurman attended Prince of Wales College. He lived on his scholarship and what he could earn by keeping books for one of the town store-keepers, spending less than one hundred dollars during the entire college year. Afterwards he taught a country school for a year, and then went to Acadia College in Nova Scotia to complete his college course.

A Splendid College Record.

One of Mr. Schurman's fellow-students in Acadia says that he was remarkable chiefly for taking every prize to which he was eligible. In his senior year, he instead of a scholarship in the University of London offered for competition by the students of Canadian colleges. The scholarship paid five hundred dollars a year for three years. The young student in Acadia was ambitious to continue his studies in England, and saw in this offer his opportunity. He tried the examination and won the prize in competition with the brightest students in the larger Canadian colleges.

During the three years in the University of London, Mr. Schurman became deeply interested in the study of philosophy, and decided that he had found in it his life work. He was eager to go to Germany and study under the great masters of philosophy. A way was opened for him, through the offer of the Hibbard Scholarship in London, of a travelling fellowship with two thousand dollars a year. The board members of the great English universities like Oxford and Cambridge were among the competitors, but the poor country boy from Prince Edward Island, was again successful, greatly to the surprise of the others.

At the end of his course in Germany, Mr. Schurman then a licentiate of Philosophy, returned to Acadia College to become a teacher there. Soon afterwards, he was called to Dalhousie University at Halifax, Nova Scotia. In 1866, when a chair of philosophy was established at Cornell, President White, who had once met the brilliant young Canadian, called him to that position. Two years later, Dr. Schurman became Dean of the Sage School of Philosophy at Cornell; and, in 1892, when the president's chair became vacant, he was placed at the head of the great university. At that time he was only thirty-eight years of age.

President Schurman is a man of greater intellectual power, and an inspiring presence, than any of the youngest college presidents in the country, he is one of the most successful, and under his leadership Cornell has been very prosperous. He is deeply interested in all the affairs of young men, and especially those who, as he did, must make their own way in the world. He said the other day, "Though I am no longer engaged directly in teaching, I should think my work a failure if I did not feel that my influence on the young men with whom I come in contact is as direct and helpful as that of a teacher could be." William Dickinson in Success.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

Money Lying Around.

A messenger at one of the city hotels made the money fly last night. He was running in with a large handful of small silver when his feet flew too. There was a scramble, but all the most part was got together in due course.

Narrow Escape.
Mr. G. A. Coulton, traveller, of Brockville, well known in Peterborough, had a very narrow escape from death, on Tuesday last, at London. He was boarding a train, which was in motion and missed his footing slipping between the cars. He received some ugly bruises but his escape was almost miraculous.

Pay Take a Drive.
—New laid eggs are arriving more freely, and prices have declined since yesterday. There are no straight candles in the market any longer, and refrigerator stock, and western tinned and cold storage are practically exhausted. Montreal limes are nearly sold out, and prices have advanced; quotations on culls have also gone up.

Tax Exemptions.
A very proper bill, is now before the Ontario Legislature, and should become law. The principal clause reads: "Every municipal council shall by a two-thirds vote of the members thereof, have the power of exempting any manufacturing establishment or any water works or water company, in whole or in part, from taxation for any period not longer than ten years, and to renew the exemptions for a further period not exceeding ten years." The Act could be improved by making it read five years instead of ten.

Barclay Falls Power.
A message received this afternoon from Peterborough, says the Lindsay Post, states that Barclay Falls water-power was purchased yesterday by a syndicate headed by Mr. J. A. Culverwell, and the money paid over to representatives of the Dominion and Ontario Governments. Toronto, Peterborough and Lindsay parties will at once proceed to develop the power, and convey it to Lindsay and Peterborough for industrial and other purposes. Townships and other rights have already been secured for both lines. At least one-half of the power will be transmitted to Lindsay.

Money Lake Incorporation.
It is now more than two years since the Times suggested the advisability of incorporating Money Lake into a municipality. Beyond a little talk, the thing went no further. We notice now that Surgeon Point, Lindsay's summer resort, has secured incorporation papers, and is now a full-fledged municipality. Reforms will be at once inaugurated, road work will be done away with, and sanitary matters carefully looked after, it being provided by the Bill that the reeve and councillors form a local board of health. The first election of reeve and councillors is to be held on 30th June next, with J. M. Knowlton returning officer. It is rumored that as soon as the council is elected by-laws will be passed prohibiting mosquitoes running at large and requiring ratepayers who keep trucks in their back yards to take out a license therefor, and regulating other matters of importance to the inhabitants.

HEAVY SUIT FOR DAMAGES.

Mon. George A. Cox the Defendant in a Suit for $400,000.

The efforts of Hon. Geo. A. Cox to promote the interests of the Canada Life by removing the head office from Hamilton to Toronto, has aroused the ire of some of the good Hamilton people. Mr. Cox is largely interested in the Company and as such is naturally anxious to see it prosper. The Hamilton people are more anxious to keep the head office in that city on account of the "pickings" which such an institution gives to a community than to see the Company prosper. This is the plain Anglo-Saxon of it. The latest effort of the Hamilton element to hamper Mr. Cox in his efforts to promote the interests of the Canada Life, is the issuing of a writ for $400,000 against him. Of course this is regarded as a big bluff and won't effect the plans of Mr. Cox in the least. The writ is in the name of Wm. Lee, of the firm of Scott, Lee & Bohlen, claiming $400,000 from Mr. Cox, alleged to have been received illegally in his capacity as agent of the company while also a director. The company is joined as defendant, to meet legal requirements, and plaintiffs also ask for an injunction. Mr. Cox is at present in New York and is not expected back until the beginning of next week. At the time Senator Cox was appointed to the directorate Messrs. Hewitt and Stuart opposed his election and raised the question as to whether he could sit as director and be remunerated as agent.

Mr. Byron E. Walker, general manager of the Bank of Commerce, and a director of the Canada Life spoke of the matter as follows:—"Mr. Scott is if I am well informed interested in the Canada Life to the extent of one share, transferred to him just before the annual meeting and he, I believe, not a policy holder. Even if there was anything in their contention, the amount of money sued for is preposterous, and the writ undoubtedly represents the personal animus of certain persons in Hamilton and not the genuine interests of policy holders. Mr. Cox has only been a director for five or six years and before entering the Board the question of his right to be both manager of the company and director and a director was doubly considered."

POLICE COURT NEWS.

A Short Session in Which Two Cases are Disposed of.

At five o'clock yesterday afternoon Magistrate Dumble held a short session of court at which two cases were disposed of.

Donna Daly was charged with being a vagrant and pleaded guilty but claimed that he had the inside track for a job doing on Saturday. He was given until Monday to secure work, when if he fails to secure it he will be up before the Magistrate again. The second case, was one in which Ada Smith a young girl, who claimed to be 22 years of age was charged with being a vagrant, no home or visible means of support and of loose character. She said she had come from Coburg here some six weeks ago and originally came from Scotland. Mr. Colby was called as a witness and said the girl had come to his place and boarded, claiming that a young man would pay for it. Mr. Colby knew nothing further of the girl, good, bad or indifferent. She was sentenced to one month in jail. In all probability, the unfortunate girl will be sent to the hospital as she is in a pitiful condition.

At the morning session of the Court Wm. Armstrong was fined two dollars for being drunk and disorderly.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk Railway Paragraphs of Interest.

The G. T. R. have recently made a great improvement in their rolling stock, which enables them to very considerably increase the carrying capacity of their freight cars. This they have done by replacing the "mail" journals with heavier ones, in cars of 30,000 lbs. capacity. Instructions have been issued permitting the load of such car to be increased by 5,000.

Owing to an extensive increase in the Dominion Express Company have decided to make a reduction in freight rates on merchandise. Special rates will also be quoted on all produce such as butter, eggs, fruit and vegetables.

The annual session of the unclaimed baggage on the Grand Trunk will be held in Toronto in May.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company will begin running their special excursion to the Canadian Northwest, on Tuesday, March 7th. After that date excursion trains will be run every Tuesday during the months of March and April. These yearly colonial excursions have come to be a regular institution of the Canadian Pacific Railway and their object is to furnish easy and comfortable transportation to colonists desiring to settle in our great western country.

Come to L. & L. & L.

March came in like a lamb. The cold raw weather of last month departed and mild weather has followed. The spring promises to be an early one, which reminds us that we must get our spring overcoat out of town.

CIVIC IDEALS

An Able Address on an Interesting Subject by Rev. Mr. Symonds

Last night Rev. Mr. Symonds addressed the young men of the Y.M.C.A. on Civic Ideals. Among others present were Messrs. Garvin, Dr. Rose, Alderman Hall, Sheriff Hall, Edwards and Reeve of Ashburnham.

The subject merited a much larger attendance and it is to be regretted that more were not present. The lecturer stated that the subject was an important one owing to the modern tendencies. Statistics were quoted showing the accumulation of people in cities. In England there had been an increase of 15 per cent in city growth, while rural districts showed only 3 per cent. Two-thirds of the English people were living in cities of 10,000 and upwards. The same tendency was becoming marked in Canada. This growth has brought about new conditions and to meet these, there was springing up a demand for civic reform. While not the same pressing difficulties in our Canadian cities, still there was a call for improvement.

An ideal, was a conception of something perfect, a vision. A city should not be regarded as simply a concourse of people, but a concourse of people with mutual interests and undegraded relationships. "These human forces which produce national or municipal greatness may be divided into two classes, viz., individual and social. Civic affairs are then, those affairs which affect our interest as citizens. Things necessary to the development of an ideal city were, a true conception of what constituted well-being, a federation of all good influences, civic spirit, the Corps and Civic clubs.

The Opera House Last Night.

"Under the British Flag" was put on the boards last night by Parks Bros. and again the house was filled to the doors. The play is new and good and was well received. The specialties were of an entirely different nature from previous nights and it is worthy of note, that there have so far been no repetitions. East Lynne is billed for to-night.

Funeral of Mr. Wm. Murphy.

The death of Mr. William Murphy, occurred yesterday morning at 4 o'clock. The deceased was a native of Ennismore, but has lived in Peterborough for some years. He was a blacksmith by trade, having learned with Mr. J. D. Craig, Ashburnham. Latterly he had been engaged as bartender at the Palace. The deceased was a sufferer from diabetes for some time, but was not taken seriously ill until Tuesday last, when he was taken to the hospital. His death at such an early age will be much regretted by his many friends. The funeral will take place this morning to the Ennismore cemetery from St. Joseph's hospital.

Advance in Broom.

There has been a good sized boom in brown corn, the price having more than doubled inside of two months. The crop which is a very short one has been bought up by dealers and some large manufacturers who now control the situation. Broom manufacturers in the States have already advanced their prices on an average of 75 per dozen and are to hold a meeting in Chicago on March 7th to size up the situation. It is certain that unless a further advance takes place many broom makers who are not stocked with broom corn will have to shut down. Canadian manufacturers are interested to the same extent as their American cousins and high prices seem to be well in sight. So far the advance made by the largest Canadian manufacturers is from 25c to 50c per dozen, and as the spring trade will soon be on them a further advance is probable.

Application to Parliament

Notice is hereby given that the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough will apply to the Legislature of the Province of Ontario at the next Session thereof for an act to confirm the By-laws of the said Corporation relating to the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company, Limited, and to enable the Corporation to acquire and develop water power on the waters of the Ottawa River and to transmit and supply electric light, heat and power and to authorise the issue of debentures for the purposes aforesaid, and for the purchase of water-works and for other purposes.

Rig Drop in Furs!

Everything at Reduced Prices to make room for NEW SPRING GOODS.
Now is the time to buy.

The auctioneer is not expected to get anything but cheap prices for the class of goods he usually handles. If you were pulling up stakes and called a sale wouldn't you pick out the best of your stuff and let the rest go at auction prices—for what they would bring?

People who want to try how lucky they are sometimes do get a bargain from the man who is here to-day and away to-morrow. If you have money to burn, buy any old thing in the shape of Furs—but if you feel that ECONOMY is necessary—STYLE is necessary—and want a Fur Garment that you can depend on—that will look well to-day, to-morrow, next week, next winter, spend your money at such a Fur store as ALEX. MELVILLE & CO'S. We're in town to stay and neighbour with you.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Some of the New York 400 are uneasy people and try hard to have fun. The latest is a dance in which all the costumes were worn inside out.

A Michigan legislator wants to license drivers instead of saloons. It will hardly do. Few men would do a hand's turn to carry out such a law, while thousands would crack their elbows to break it.

The president of the French republic receives a salary of $125,000 outright, and his allowances of one kind or another are as much more making altogether, the tidy sum of $250,000 for keeping up the French presidential establishment.

The Ontario Legislature is having what the boys term a high old time with the Municipal Act. Seven before, says the Globe, was there so many amendments proposed, and when they get through with it neither themselves nor anybody else will be able to understand the mixture. These amendments are simply proposed to fill up time and get the names of back-seat members into prominence.

However, Norwood is proud of their players, as the Norwood Curling club has only been in existence for three years and many of the members never saw a curling stone until they saw them in Norwood three years ago, and not a single member ever claimed a stone before.

Mr. Geo. Taylor accompanied the curlers, and no one enjoyed to see them capture the prize more than did that enterprising citizen.

MOLLY BAWN.

BY THE DUCHESS.

"Sir Penhony, get me my candle."

She has lingered, before saying this, until almost all the others have disappeared. The last of the men in vanishing round the corner, that leads to the smoking-room; the last of the women has gone beyond sight of the staircase in search of her bedroom fire. Cecil and her husband stand alone in the vast hall.

I hear you are annoyed about something," she says, in a maddening tone of commiseration, regarding him kindly while he gravely lights her candle. "Why should you suppose so?"

"Because of your gravity and unusual silence."

"I was never a great talker, and I do not think I am in the habit of laughing more than other people."

"But you have not laughed at all this evening at least," with a smile, "not since you discovered us in this place."

"Did you find the situation so unpleasant?" she asked, rather amused, you so much so that you even appeared to forget the dignity that, as a married woman, ought to belong to you."

"Well, but," provokingly, "you forget how very little married life is."

"At all events you are my wife," rather angrily, "I must beg you to remember that. And for the future I shall ask you to refrain from such amusements as call for concealment and necessitate the support of a young man's arms."

"I really do not see by what right you interfere with me, or my amusement," she says, hotly, after a decided pause. Never has she been so much with so much sternness. She raises her eyes to his and colors richly all through her creamy skin. "Recollect our bargain."

"I do. I recollect also that you have my name."

"And you have my money. That makes us quits."

"I do not see how you intend carrying out that argument. The money was as much mine as yours."

"But you could not have had it without me."

"Nor you without me."

"Which is to be regretted. At least I should have had a clear half, which I haven't, so you have a best of it. And I will not be followed about and pried after, and made generally uncomfortable by any one."

"Who is prying after you?"

"You are."

"What do you mean, Cecil?" haughtily.

"Just what I say. And, as I never as far forget myself as to call you by your Christian name with its prefix, I think you might have the courtesy to address me as Lady Stafford."

"Certainly, if you wish it."

"I do. Have you anything more to say?"

"Yes, more than—"

"Then pray defer it until to-morrow, as—with a barefaced attempt at a yawn—"I really cannot sit up any longer. Good-night, Sir Penhony."

Sir Penhony puts the end of his long mustache into his mouth, a sure sign of irritation, and declines to answer.

"Good-night," repeats her ladyship blandly, going up the staircase, with a suspicion of a smile at the corners of her lips, and feeling no surprise that her polite little adieu receives no reply.

When she has reached the centre of the broad staircase she pauses, and, leaning her white arm upon the banisters, looks down upon her husband, standing immobile and angry in the hall beneath.

"Sir Penhony," murmurs she, "Sir"—here she hesitates for so long a time that when at last the "Penhony" does come it sounds more familiar and almost unconnected with the preceding words.

Stafford turns and glances quickly up at her. She is dressed in some soft-flowing gown of black, caught here and there with heavy bows and bands of cream-color, that contrast admirably with her fair, soft skin, her laughing eyes, and her pouting rosy lips. In her hair, which she wears low on her neck, is a black comb encrusted with pearls; there are a few pearls round her neck, a few more in her small ears; she wears no bracelets, only two narrow bands of black velvet caught with pearls, that make her arms seem even rounder and whiter than they are.

"Good-night," she says, for the third time, nothing at all in a slow, sweet fashion that has some grace or charm about it all its own, and makes her at the instant ten times lovelier than she was before.

Stafford, coming forward until he stands under her, gazes up at her as tranced like some modern Romeo. Indeed, there is something almost theatrical about them as they linger, each waiting for the other to speak, as fond and impassioned, yet half angry too, she calm and smiling, yet mutinous.

For a full minute they thus hesitate, looking into each other's eyes; then the anger fades from Stafford's face, and he whispers, eagerly, tenderly,

"Good-night, my—"

"Friend," murmurs back her ladyship, decisively leaning yet a little further over the banisters.

Then she kisses her hand to him and drops at his feet the rose that has lain on her bosom all the evening, and, with a last backward glance and smile, flits away from him up the darkened staircase and vanishes.

"I shall positively lose my heart to her if I don't take care," thinks the young man, ruefully, and very foolishly considering how long ago it is since that misfortune has befallen him. But we are ever slow to acknowledge our own defeat. His eyes are fixed upon the flower at his feet.

"No, I do not want her flowers," he says, with a slight frown, pushing it away disdainfully. "It was a mere chance my getting it. Any other fellow in my place at the moment would have been quite as favorable—say, beyond doubt, more so. I will not stoop for it."

With his dignity thus forced to the front, he walks the entire length of the hall, his arms folded determinedly behind him, until he reaches a door at the upper end.

Here he pauses and glances back almost guiltily. Yes, it is still there, the poor, pretty yellow blossom that has been so close to her, now sending forth its neglected perfume to an ungrateful world.

Is it cruel to leave it there alone all night, to be trodden on, perhaps, in the morning by an unappreciative John or Thomas, or still worse, to be worn by an appreciative James Deacartion.

'Tis but the After-Effects of Grippe and the Common Diseases That Make People Look so Weak and Deathlike.

Paine's Celery Compound
The Great Disease Banisher and True Health Builder.

The writer a few days ago enjoyed a half hour walk with a well-known physician on one of Montreal's crowded business streets.

Meeting with a great many pale and milky-faced men and women—aged and middle-aged—the writer asked his physician friend the question, "Doctor, we are passing scores of sick looking people; does this fact prove that we are deteriorating as a people in health and general physical development?"

The physician's answer was very much as follows: A large number of sickly looking and half-well people have passed us to-day, which I am sure has prompted your question. You must remember that grippe has been epidemic during the winter, and has left thousands in a sad condition of health; then there are other common causes of sickness that have been operating, such as indigestion, headache, rheumatism, and influenza, and liver ailments. All these have contributed to sickness and death this year, and those we have passed are but a few of the victims. The same conditions exist in all countries, and I would not care to state positively that as a people we are deteriorating in true manhood and womanhood. Early attention to, and sensible care and treatment of, present weakness will bring all back to good health."

The class of sick people to whom the city physician referred were in the right road of Paine's Celery Compound. If they would quickly regain their lost force and power, weight, flesh, fresh blood and sound bodily health. There is nothing known to physicians of the most extensive practice equal to Paine's Celery Compound for building up the weakened body. When the system becomes things of the past, and solid health, refreshing sleep, natural appetite and vivacity of disposition make life a pleasure.

TO SEE A CONVICT WIFE

DR. WOLKENSTEIN, OF ST. PETERSBURG, GOING AROUND THE WORLD TO DO THIS.

There are times, indeed when stone walls do not make a prison more than a cage. The journey across the World of Dr. Vladimir Wolkenstein proves that, for he is now on his way to great, for the first time in years, the wife that has long waited and watched through the gates of a Russian dungeon for the coming of her husband.

The hand of Romanoff reaches after Wolkenstein in New York, but so great his fear of the sinister "non" forces at St. Petersburg he will not even admit the object of his journey.

The story of this woman is one of many thousands perhaps. Against her arose the suspicion that she plotted against the Government. One day seventeen years ago, the police descended swiftly upon the Wolkensteins, the wife was arrested and lodged in the Schusselburg fortress.

For two years she waited in vain for her husband. The child at her breast was taken from her, and she joined the hundreds others waiting for a trial that means only a step toward Siberia, or worse. The husband was dazed at the shock. After painful effort he got his children from the police, and then sought to save his wife. But all he did was futile.

For two years the mother awaited trial. Then one day, broken in health, with mind and mother-love still strong and keen, she was brought into court. The woman was found guilty, her only defence was denial, and it was the usual fate she was sentenced to death.

For some reason the authorities changed their decree. The woman should live and be held for life in solitary confinement at the Schusselburg fortress. That was fourteen years ago.

Wolkenstein lived on, hoping feebly. Although a prosperous and prominent physician, he could do nothing to help her. A year ago there was a sudden peering out of the Schusselburg prison. The woman was hurried from the fortress with her companions and taken under strong guard to Odessa. There lay a Russian warship, upon which they were to sail for Saghalien Island off the coast of Japan. At the pier stood Dr. Wolkenstein. He looked over the ranks of the dreary, and wretched creatures led by, and could not see his wife. Then a guard pointed her out. The next instant the grey-haired, trembling creature was hustled aboard the ship, and he saw her no more.

To-day the husband is on his way to see his wife again. From New York he will go to San Francisco, from thence to Japan.

A SUCCESSFUL FAILURE

The most surprising thing about the failure of the Dominion Government's attempt to negotiate a treaty with the United States is that none of the ardent supporters of the Government profess to be surprised at it. From the comments made by them, one would imagine that the Government had not so much failed in succeeding, as it has succeeded in failing.

When we come to think of it, most of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's successes are of this negative order. The future historian of Canada will find him a puzzling subject to deal with. He will find that by contemporary public opinion Laurier occupied a big place in the thoughts of his fellow-countrymen; that he was by common consent a man of brilliant parts; but when the historian comes to write his chapter upon the great things accomplished by Sir Wilfrid, he will find that for very lack of material he has to make it as short as the celebrated essay on "The Snakes of Ireland," and very much to the same purpose.

He will find no such difficulty in dealing with the achievements of some other distinguished Canadian statesman. For instance take Sir Wilfrid's great opponent, Sir Charles Tupper—the historian can find plenty of interesting material in the records showing how the heroic energy, the pluck, the unselfish patriotism of Dr. Tupper saved the torrid hope of Confederation. Sir John A. Macdonald fought the great battle of protection against free trade and laid the foundations of the industrial prosperity of the several colonies they had welded into a nation; how in the face of the bitter opposition in uniting the Atlantic and Pacific shores of Canada by bands of steel. He can show how Macdonald and Tupper united the British North American Provinces politically by Confederation, industrially and commercially by the National Policy, and geographically by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Of Laurier what can the historian write? He will have to say that Laurier was the accident of an occasion; a statesman by courtesy, whose stateship consisted chiefly of a silver tongue and sunny smile; who could speak eloquently and ambiguously in two languages, and hold his tongue in neither. That a wave of race prejudice coinciding with an era of death, division and disaster in the ranks of his opponents, placed him in power. That his power was in opposition to the interests of the people. That not one great measure of reform or of national advancement stands to his credit or to the credit of his administration. That he clung weakly and humbly to a few years by the walking of the men whom he had deceived and manipulated during his whole public life. That a cruel fate made the professional parrot of the Old Liberal school; the head of the greatest aggregation of political impostors that ever disfigured the political uniform. That during his administration the electorate of Canada was debauched and corrupted as it had never been before.

As stated in the beginning of this article, the future historian of Canada must find the principal materials for the Laurier section in the record of Wilfrid's failures, and this need not be an uninteresting chapter. A chapter did we say? It is worthily

WELL KNOWN VIOLINIST

Traveled Extensively Throughout the Provinces—Interesting Statements Concerning His Experiences.

STELLARTON, N.B.—James R. Murray, a well known violinist, of this place, who has traveled extensively throughout the Provinces, makes this statement:

"I was running down in health and my weight fell off from 175 to 150 pounds. Prescriptions did me but little good. My trouble was called nervous dyspepsia. I resorted to Hood's Sarsaparilla and after taking five bottles I was greatly benefited. I feel as well now as ever in my life, and have increased in flesh so that I now weigh 177 pounds. I am well known in this part of the country, having followed my profession, that of a violin musician for the last 25 years. I gladly tell my friends what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. Before I began taking the medicine I did not have any ambition, but now all is changed and my dyspeptic trouble perfectly cured." JAMES R. MURRAY.

N.B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy any substitute. Be sure to get Hood's.

are the only pills to take of a volume. Our friend, the historian will have to say that Sir Wilfrid spent most of his public life in advocating free trade for Canada, and failed to get it.

That for a few years he fought for unrestricted reciprocity with the United States and failed to get it. For years he failed at the Conservative Government of Canada because they did not secure free access to "our great natural market to the South"; that he did his best to prevent his opponents from securing reciprocal advantages, by persistently insisting that the Liberals were disposed to offer the United States better terms than the Conservatives; and that when he got into power, after humbling Canada in the dust at Washington, he, as usual failed, and was sent empty away.

For such a man he pledged himself to reduce the expenditure in Canada, and in three years of office not only failed to redeem his pledge, but increased the expenditure by about four million per annum.

In Opposition he denounced the National Policy and pledged himself to sweep it out of existence. He failed to leave it to the Conservatives in power. A messenger at one of the city hotels made the money fly last night. It was raining in with a large handful of small silver when his pocket flew too. There was a scramble, but all, or the most part was got together in due course.

The little god of love turns away from a sickly, nervous, head-ache, back-ache, lifeless woman. Every woman should have the beauty, vivacity, and vigor of perfect health. The bright glow of health, bright eyes, clear skin, red lips are more attractive than any mere regularity of feature. A woman can't change the shape of her features but any woman may have the beauty of health. No healthy woman can be ugly. No sickly woman can be beautiful.

Regularity of the functions of the digestive system is the first essential to womanly happiness, comfort and beauty. Miss Laura Brooks, of Clifton, Hancock Co., Tenn., writes: "I thank God for such remedies as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery' for myself and friends. I honestly believe that had it not been for these wonderful medicines I would to-day be in my grave. I am sure that I could not have lived many days in the condition I was in at the time I first consulted you. I was only praying to die and be free from pain. I was simply a shadow, and we had lived almost everything, when, through a friend, I was advised to write to you, which I did, thinking all the while that it was only foolishness to think that such a case as mine could be cured. After the first week's treatment I felt just as you prescribed. I felt like another woman and I hardly believed that such a case as mine could be cured. I continued the treatment until I had used about seven bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' and now of the 'Discovery,' and now I am a well woman. I would have given any amount of money for just for the first bottle. I never know what I am worth now as I am free from pain, and during the time I feel just as well as I ever was, and am never confined to my room as I once was. I can do anything I want to, and I can go to any kind of work—something I could never do till this summer. Everybody who knows me thinks it wonderful that I am not sick any more. I thank God for this free of woman, this blessing of the 'Favorite Prescription.' The very same words are true to me. I am craving every day for more of it, and it is all improving. I can never tell you how I thank you, dear Doctor, for your kind advice and good, healthy letters to me."

A Poor Argument.

A New Boat.

Investigate the children.
Our school authorities are considering the advisability of putting into the law respecting the vaccination of the schoolchildren in view of the large number of small pox cases in various parts of Ontario. We hope that it will not be necessary to inflict the children at this season of the year. A little later when the weather is milder, after grip has subsided, would be the time.

A New Dental Parlor.
Dr. F. W. Ivory, D.D.S., L.D., has opened out rooms in the Bank of Commerce Building, Hunter street, opposite the Post Office. The operating room, which is in the front, is fitted up with all the latest appliances for modern dentistry. The waiting room has been tastefully and beautifully furnished, and forms an attractive addition to the office. The working room is situated in the rear.

Frozen Pipes.
There has been trouble in many houses in town during the cold snap, from frozen water and scarce pipes. During the very severe weather the frost went much deeper than it usually does, and in many places sealed up the pipes. The absence of snow from the ground is said to be accountable for it as the frost penetrated the ground to a deeper depth than in an ordinary winter. The Water Company are heavy sufferers.

"Bad News."
Last night the old but ever welcomed sensational drama, East Lynne, was put on at the Opera House. In spite of the inclement weather, the house was crowded and, last night is any criterion from which to judge to-night's attendance, strong proof will be given of the accuracy of a larger Opera House. The five acts of the play, were each vividly represented the interesting scenes being filled in with an entirely new selection of specialties. At the matinee this afternoon, the old time favorite "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be put on. "A Farmer's Daughter," a romantic comedy is billed to appear to-night.

BETHANY TABERNACLE

THE NEW BUILDING WILL BE OPENED TO-MORROW.

A New Structure—Interior Fittings—Short Account of Movement.

To-morrow morning, the new church on George st., known as the Bethany Tabernacle, will for the first time throw open its doors for public service. Externally, the new church, is a brick structure resting on a stone foundation, has a neat, cosy and solid appearance and both internally and externally reflects credit on the architect, Mr. Belcher. The contrast for the masonry work has been carried out by Mr. J. McInnes the work has been done to last. The superstructure of brick was put up under the direction of Mr. T. McInnes. Mr. Robt. McGregor was chief carpenter and Mr. T. H. Best acted as general overseer. The plumbing has been done by Mr. Adam Hall while the painting, necessary to a beautiful interior, was taken charge of by Messrs. Duncan and Gray. The building will be heated by a large furnace from the well-known firm of Pease, & Co. of Toronto. The church is seated in amphitheatrical style and a most modern form of opera chair has been put in presenting a comfortable and beautiful appearance. Between four and five hundred of these seats have been put in and what with extra chairs, it will be possible to seat upwards of 600 people. The chairs are the product of the Valley City Seating Co. of Dundas and have been put in under the direction of Mr. W. Clark, the hustling and enterprising representative. Below the Baptistry, which is below and somewhat back of the platform, a small store of special design, brought from Toronto has been placed. Heated water will flow from this store to the Baptistry.

BETHANY CHURCH.

Bethany Church is a Company of believers in the Lord Jesus Christ gathered together in His Name, to worship the father in Spirit and in truth, to exalt the Lord Jesus in His fullness as Savior, Sanctifier, Healer and Coming Lord (etc.). In Him dwelling all the fullness of the Godhead, both visibly and yet invisible in Him. Col. 2: 9, 10 also Cor. 1: 30, to honour the Holy Spirit as Guide and Sanctifying Comforter of His people to edify and strengthen one another in the faith of the Gospel and to win souls for Christ.

In government, similar to other independent churches, being entirely separate from, and independent of any outside ecclesiastical control, managing its own affairs and subject only to the Lord Jesus Christ, its head. It has no market office. It has Pastors, Elders and Deacons, who regulate the mode of worship and exercise an oversight over its membership, which is composed of only of persons who give credible evidence that they have been born again. The above church was organized in Peterborough over six years ago when Pastor Zimmerman of Bethany Church, Toronto took charge. He had labored as co-worker in the gospel with Pastor Salmons for two years after his ordination before coming here. The first meetings were held in the Opera House building; afterwards removing to a larger hall on Water street, from which hall they removed to their Tabernacle built this winter on George street which will be opened on Sunday March 13th. Rev. Mr. Hutton (late of Chicago (M. E. Church)) will preach at 10.30 a.m., 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. He will conduct special meetings for the month of March when various pastors from Toronto and Hamilton will assist of which further notice will be given.

Cobourg World—Wallis and Edwards Hearns, Peterboro, were brought by Constable Wright Hastings, to Cobourg a short time ago and lodged in a livery of Mr. F. L. Robinson, Peterboro, and drove to Henry Sharpe's Hastings, and were invited by some member of the family into the house. Sharpe was sick and his wife seeing that the presence of the young men distressed him ordered them to leave and upon their refusing to do so sent for her own who lived a short distance away. After consideration "scrapping" the objectionable visitors were ejected. For their fast driving on the streets of Hastings, Constable Wright had them up before Magistrate Theckery, for which they were each fined $5, including costs or 30 days in jail. For their belligerent disorderly around the premises of Henry Sharpe, they were each fined, including costs, $2.00 or twenty days in jail. Brewer paid his fine and was able to return to Peterborough Wednesday morning and Wallis and Edwards Hearns, on Wednesday afternoon, were brought to Cobourg.

New on Stage—A Good.

Many persons will remember a young Englishman named Dickson Morgan who spent some months in Peterborough about 10 or 12 years ago. Mr. Morgan, it is said, is now Lord Pregele, having succeeded to the estates and title of his uncle.

MICHAEL ANGELO.

The Fortnightly Club Listen to a Lecture on the Great Genius.

In spite of the sloppy streets, and rainy night, the Y.M.C.A. Hall, was filled last night by the members of the Fortnightly Club, to hear Prof. Fraser, of Trinity University, lecture on the subject of Michael Angelo.

Throughout the lecture, which was listened to with great interest, a number of views of Michael Angelo, and his great works were shown under the direction of Mr. Roy.

The lecturer stated that, there are certain names, which echo down through the distant ages, with undiminished strength. The name of Michael Angelo, was one of these.

He was born March 2nd, 1475, under what, in that superstitious age, was regarded as propitious planets. His home was in that beautiful section of country, lying to the east of Florence, and near the sunlit ridges of the Apennines. His parents belonged to noble rank and they early showed aversion to the natural tendencies, which, soon began to reveal themselves in the boyish Michael. With chalk, or charcoal, it mattered little which, the future painter gave promises of a brilliant future, that did not fail to develop. He was sent to school but neglected his studies, to associate with artists apprentices. From using crayons, he went from bad to worse in his father's opinion, and started to use brushes and colors. Finally, he was apprenticed to an artist for three years; but his great genius developing rapidly, soon placed him ahead of his master, and the relationship of apprentice soon became income and was broken off. The young Angelo, now commander of his attention to seeking employment, as a sculpturer, Lorenzo, and here again his genius in another direction, was revealed. Cold, dull marble, woke to life beneath his chisel and artist's hand. During this time, Angelo, had been living away from home; but in 1492, Lorenzo died, and he returned home.

In 1492, he went to Florence, which became his native city. In 1496, he set out for Rome, to seek a wider field for his genius. Here, he first turned his attention to seeking employment, as a sculpturer. His art did not lie in following the traditions of the past; but in his power in giving a living expression of the strongest and finest individual feelings. He was now in his twenty-fifth year, and had secured great wealth, which he lavished on his parents and the others of his family.

In 1501, he returned to Florence, where his great fame had preceded him with the result that he was instantly commissioned to execute a large statue, which he did, taking as his subject, "David," in the act of meeting Goliath, the Philistine. A commission from Pope Julius, for a massive tomb, recalled him to Rome. A hot quarrel with his patron, led him to leave Rome, and return to Florence, which he was afterwards on the point of leaving for Turkey, when a reconciliation was brought about and he returned to Rome.

He now received orders, to turn his attention from sculpture to painting, and although he had not touched a brush for years, he was ordered to do so. The great painting or series of paintings entitled "The Story of the Creation," was the result of this command.

In 1530, the sack of Rome took place and shortly afterwards by the besieging of Florence, the fortifications of which were left to be constructed on plans to be drawn out by Angelo, he now took up the profession of architect. From this siege, Michael Angelo escaped with his life, and after 1534, he never returned to Florence. The next commission came from Pope Paul III, and consisted of a painting of "The Last Judgment." In 1546, he commenced his great work on the massive dome of St. Peter's. For this work he would take no pay, claiming that he was working for the love of God. He lived to see his magnificent conceptions realized.

As a poet, Michael Angelo, takes a prominent place due especially to his sonnets. He was generous in disposition, and devoid of malice, but melancholy, insouciant, terribly honest and terrible in earnest. His life, and should be an inspiration to art and artists. In 1538, occurred the romance of Michael Angelo's life, when he met the beautiful, young girl, Sheriff Hall, acted as chairman, the meeting being opened by an instrumental piece by Mr. Rogers. At the close, a vote of thanks, moved by Rev. Mr. Symonds, seconded by Mr. Edwards, was tendered the lecturer.

Bar-Ten Born 1897.
The public are warned against a bright young man who has been doing the rounds of a certain street. This lad represents himself as the agent of a certain magazine (tells a pitiful tale of woe, and inaccurately collects subscriptions for the paper). Several ladies, some days ago, gave him the price, and that is the last they have seen of the boy and their money. Other kindhearted citizens should be on the lookout for him, and give him the chilly nudge.

Had a Joke on.
A number of people who were on the street last night were much amused at the swagger of an otherwise respectable-looking individual who had a "load on," but was by no means willing to let people know it, much less to hint that he was in the slightest degree unsteady. But when much whiskey is in it the truth will out. He was walking fast too, and appeared very much as one does when trying to walk a rail on the track without slipping off. He carried a cane, and with outstretched arm in pompous style the cane changed hands as it were, at every quick step, in order to be a ready support or preventative to a humiliating tumble. It was pretty good acting, but folks on the street "tumbled," if the one they were looking at did not.

Rig Drop in Furs!

Everything at Reduced Prices to make room for NEW SPRING GOODS.

Now is the time to buy.

The auctioneer is not expected to get anything but Cheap Prices for the class of goods he generally handles. If you were pulling up stakes and called a sale wouldn't you pick out the best of your stuff and let the rag-tag go at auction prices—for what they would bring? People who want to try how lucky they are sometimes DO get a bargain from the man who is here to-day and away to-morrow.

If you have money to burn, buy any old thing in the shape of Furs—but if you feel that ECONOMY is necessary—and STYLE is necessary—and want a Fur Garment that you can depend on—that will look well to-day, to-morrow, next week, next winter, spend your money at such a Fur store as ALEX. MELVILLE & CO'S. We're in town to stay and neighbour with you.

are seen everywhere. Heredity or overstudy renders them unfitted to cope with the responsibilities of life, susceptible to consumption or decline. Medicine has failed, and must fail, for they need food. Take cod liver oil? No! Their poor stomachs rebel. Take emulsions? No! They are equally distasteful. Nothing will effect a cure but Maltine with Cod Liver Oil. The oil, rendered palatable and easy of digestion, is quickly assimilated, and Maltine, equal in nutrition to the oil, and even surpassing it in energetic action upon the digestive processes, unite in producing increased weight, improved color, and that elasticity and buoyancy which herald returning health. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil has a remedial value ten times greater than emulsions. One of England's greatest physicians (Dr. Fothergill) says: "There is no remedy that can take the place of Maltine in cases of Debility and Nervous Prostration." Can be purchased of any druggist.

According to Mr. Pattullo, M. P.
E., the bonus system is the most evil known. It was the original tempter, the evil principle, the beginning of all municipal woes and troubles and the general and sure destroyer of mankind. Its trail was the trail of the serpent, and what it had not done of evil was unnumbered in municipal history. Its baneful effects were double-edged. It was cubic-edged, destroying him who gave and him who neither gave nor was given unto, even unto the third and fourth generation.
The system was un-British and un-Canadian, and every person in his heart of hearts shunned the evil as though it were a vile plague.

A B. COM OF 4-14-14

The retired contractor sighed as he got into his dress suit and thought of the elaborate dinner and the opera that was to come.
"Some day," he said, "I'll get redeem'd, an' then do you know what I'll do?"
"Something terrible, no doubt," replied his ambitious wife.
"I'll do it," he admitted, "but I can't believe it. What I'll do will be to throw away these high-priced cigars put in some old clothes, go out and come in by the back way, an' smoke a quar-pound of cut-up chewing tobacco in a copper pipe while I'm talking things over with the coachman in the barn."

ALMOST IN DESPAIR.

taking six bottles of this medicine she was completely cured." John Week-

MOLLY BAWN.

BY THE DUCHESS.

"Who hesitates is lost," quotes
Stafford, aloud, with an angry laugh at his own folly, and, walking deliberately back again, picks up the flower and presses it to his lips.

"I thought that little speech applied only to us poor women," says a soft voice above him, as, to his overcoming chagrin, Cecil's mischievous, lovable face peers down at him from the gallery overhead. "Have another flower, Sir Penrhony? You seem fond of them."

He throws a twin blossom to the
to the one he holds out to his shoulder as she speaks, with very accurate aim.
"It was yours," stammers Sir Pen-rhony, utterly taken aback.
"So it was," with an air of affected surprise, "which makes your behavior all the more astonishing.
Well, do not waste there kissing it all night, or you will catch cold, and then—what would I do?"

"What?"
"Deed of grief, most probably," with a little mocking laugh.
"Very probably. Yet you should pity me too, in that I have fallen so low as to have nothing better, given me a kiss. I am wasting my sweetness on—"

"Is it sweet?" asks she, wickedly.
At this they both laugh, a low, soft laugh, born of the hour and a fear of interruption, and perhaps a dread of being discovered that adds a certain zest to their meeting. Thus he says, still laughing, in answer to her words, "Try."

"No thank you," with a little nod.
"Curiosity is not my besetting sin, although I could not resist seeing how you would treat my parting gift a moment ago. Ah!" with a little suppressed laugh of the very fullest enjoyment, "you can not think what an interesting picture you made, almost tragic. First you stalked away from my unoffending rose with all the dignity of a thousand Spaniards; and then when you had gone sufficiently far to make your return effective, you returned, and, seizing upon the flower as though it were—let us say, for convenience's sake—myself, devoured it with kisses. I assure it was better than a play. Well," with a sigh, "I won't detain you any longer. I'm off to my slumbers."

"Don't go yet, Cecil. Wait one moment. I—have something to say to you."
"No doubt. A short time since you said the same thing. Were I to stay now you might, perhaps, finish that sneaking, insinuating tale you were hanging over me; and—I hate being taken to task."

"I will not. I swear I will never again attempt to avoid you about anything, experience having taught me the futility of such a course. Cecil, stay."

"Lady Stafford, if you please, Sir Penrhony," with a tormenting smile.

"Lady Stafford, then—anything—if you will only stay."
"I can't then. Where should I be with my hand pale?" she smiles.
"Fill me with horror. Why, I should love my empire. Sweet as parting is,
I, for one, would not lengthen it until to-morrow. Till then—farewell. And —Sir Penrhony—be sure you dream of me. I like being dreamed of by you."

"By whom?"
"My slaves," returns this coquette of all coquettes, with a last lingering glance and smile. After which she triumphantly disappears.

"There is no use disguising the fact any longer," groans Sir Penrhony in despair. He straightway carries off both himself and his cherished flowers to the shelter of his own room.

CHAPTER XIX.

I'll tell thee a part

Of the thoughts that start

To being when thou art nigh.

The next day is Sunday, and a very muggy, disagreeable one it proves.
There is an indication about it of irritating. A few drops of rain have here and there, a threatening of a storm, but nothing positive. Finally, at eleven o'clock, just as they had given up all hope of an improvement, it clears up in a degree—against its will—and allows two or three depressed and fearful sunbeams to struggle forth, rather with a view to dishearten the world than to brighten it.

Sunday at Herst is much the same as any other day. There are no rules, no restrictions. In the library may be found volumes of sermons waiting for those who may wish for them. The covers of these sermons are as clean and fresh to-day as when they were placed on their shelves, how many years ago, showing how amiably they have waited. You may play billiards if you like; you need not go to church if you don't like. Let someone when at Herst people always do—perhaps because they need it, or perhaps because there is such a dearth of amusements.

Molly, who as yet has escaped all explanation with Frederick, commends a new dress for church, and looking unusually lovely, finds almost all the others assembled before her in the hall, ready to start.

Laying her prayer-books upon a table, while with one hand she gathers up the tail of her long gown, she turns to say a word or two to Lady Stafford.

"At this moment both Luttrell and Shadwell move toward the bookcase, reaching them first, lays his hand upon them."

"You will carry them for me," says
Molly, with a bright smile to him.
and Luttrell, with a slight contraction of his brow, falls back again, and takes his place beside Lady Stafford.

"As the church lies at the end of a pleasant pathway through the woods, they elude to walk it; and so in two and three they make their way under the still beautiful trees."

"It is cold, is it not?" Molly says to Mrs. Darley once, when they come to an open part of the wood, where they can travel in a body. "Wonderfully so for September."

"Is it?" never mind the cold, or—anything," rejoins Mrs. Darley, affectedly, talking for the benefit of the devoted Melville, who walks beside her "adoring golden grains" in the shape of prayer-books and hymnals of all sorts and sizes. "If I have any one with me that suits me; that is, a sympathetic person."

NOTES OF ALL NATIONS.

The bank of England note is about 5 1/2 inches in dimensions, and is printed in black ink on Irish linen watermarked paper plain white, and with ragged edges.

The notes of the Bank de France are made of white, watermarked, printed, in blue and black, with numerous mythological and allegorical pictures and run in denominations from the 20-franc note to the 1,000 franc.

South American currency is about the same as the appearance of America, except that common brown and slate blue are the prevailing colors.

The German currency is rather arbitrary. The notes are printed in green and black.

The Chinese paper currency is in red, white and yellow paper, with gilt lettering and gorgeous little hand-drawn devices. The notes, to the ordinary financier, might pass for washing bills.

Italian notes are of all shapes, sizes and colors. The smaller bills—5 and 10-lire notes—are printed on white paper in pink, blue and carmine inks, and are ornamented with a finely engraved vignette of King Humbert.

The 100-ruble note of Russia is barred from top to bottom with all the colors of the rainbow, bordered as when shown through a prism. In the center, in bold relief, stands a large finely executed vignette of the Empress Catherine I. This is in black.

The other engraving is done in dark red light brown and black inks.
The Norwegian have a curious currency but it is rarely seen out of its own country, for the reason it circulates very little among the common people and the class that emigrate. These stick to their copper and shun the little cinnamon brown bills,
the work of their government.

The Austrian note is printed on light-colored thick paper, which shows none of the silk fibre marks or geometric lines used as a protection against counterfeiting.

HORSES AS CHICKEN FEED.

Over a thousand horses have in the last few months been sent out of San Jose and converted into chicken feed, writes a correspondent from the California city. Horses have never been so cheap since the Americans came into California as during the past 12 months. There were two reasons for this, namely, one the great number raised on the big ranches and the other the scarcity of food. There are always some old and decrepit horses about, and these are the ones that are sold for chicken-raising.

This industry is carried on there to a greater extent than in any other point in the State. With the growth of this industry came a demand for cheap feed for the chickens, particularly for meat, and men began to cook horsefeed and feed pack it in condensed shape—a sort of meat cake.

They bought the old and worthless horses or any other animal unfit for human food. This meat business grew, and the horsefeed was shipped to various points and sold by dealers in chicken supplies. It can be bought in San Jose.

With the growth of the business
there was a large demand for horses.
Agents were appointed at all busy cities or nearly busy to purchase worthless horses to be found in the market.

There seems to be some uncertainty about just what the Petaluma packers paid for the animals. At all events there is some difficulty in estimating the price. It seems, however, that the sale prices. Agents pay all the way from 25 cents to $3.50 the latter price only for large (heavy) horses. Of course they always buy them as cheaply as possible, but it appears they never let a reasonably large horse go away until they had bid high.

When a bunch of animals have been secured they are taken to Petaluma and delivered. There the skins are taken off and sold to the tannery;
the bones are preserved, and sold to the manufacturer of fertilizers, and the meat cooked and pressed into "cakes" for the chickens.

PRINCE OF WALES MAIL.

It keeps a couple of expert secretaries busy looking over the large mail which is every day sent to the Prince of Wales, in Marlborough House. These letters are read and thrown into a waste basket, or answered by the secretaries, unless they are from relatives or persons of importance, or unless they contain something of importance for the prince to see. Most of the letters never reach him. His daily mail comments largely of appeals for money.

By one post arrived the following: A request for a loan of £1,000 to enable a student of entomology to start for Africa; a petition from a poor old lady to provide a dowry for her daughter, who was about to be married; a pressing letter from French inventors of a new diving dress, begging the prince to do it and give into the same, when he next visited Paris, and a demand for money to redeem a workman's tools. Every day there are scores of letters connected with public ceremonies in which the prince takes a part, for every item in the program is submitted for his approval. Then there are the thousands and one social invitations requiring a reply, and unnum-bered appeals for money in aid of charities. The private letters for the prince are very numerous; for his relatives keep him in touch with all that interests them. His sister, the Empress Frederick, is a charming letter writer, and corresponds with the prince regularly.

IF THEY WERE NOT ROAYL.

The kings and princes of Europe are generally supposed to be dependent on their royal positions for their existence.
Some of them are, but many of them if they got out of the nobility business could turn themselves to some literary or manual occupation that could at least support life. Oscar II, King of Norway and Sweden, could apply himself to literature and find a fairly good market for his writings. The present Czar has not shown any uplift for anything yet except the king business, but his father, Alexander III would have been worth $100 a week to any museum manager as a "strong man."

He was an expert at bending polish lifting weights, etc. He could tear a pack of cards in two and break a coin with his fingers. The Queen of Portugal could at once set up as a medical doctor, for she is a graduate of a medical college. The Prince of Wales is an expert compositor and could set type with the best of them.

While the prince worked at the time the princess could take in dressmaking or give music lessons, at both of which she is well trained. As for the German Emperor, he would be embarrassed by his own versatility. He might choose to paint pictures, conduct orchestras, compose music, design public buildings, command in the army or navy—in fact,
what is there that William cannot do?

SIGNS OF IMPROVEMENT.

The gentleman who had rung the bell several times before the servant let him in was looking surprised and a trifle apprehensive when Mrs. By-king came into the room.
"I called," he explained, "to inquire about your husband's health. He and I belong to the same organization and several of the members desired me to call and see how he is getting along. We were very sorry to hear of his illness."

"It's very kind of you," she answered.
There was a crash which shook the chandelier.

"I think it will only be a day or two before he will be able to get up and go down town," she added.
The slamming of doors echoed heavily through the house.

"Has he been dangerously sick?"
"Not until to-day."
"But I understood you to say that he was convalescent?"

"I think I may say that he is so he won't well enough to be dangerous till this morning. But before noon he had discharged the trained nurse, quarrelled with the cook, half smashed a rocking chair against which he had stubbed his toe and thrown the carpet bird out of the window. Those are always hopeful symptoms with him, and I feel fairly justified in saying that he is convalescent."

THE LAST STRAW.

"Yes," said the business man, "I have given up trying to collect that little bill from Bilkins. You see, he is a pretty big fellow and he used to throw my collectors out."

"Then why don't you employ a woman collector. He wouldn't do that to a woman."

"That's what I thought. So I got one and sent her around, but she never came back."

"Why not?"
"He married her."

TO SEE A CONVICT WIFE
DR. WOLKENSTEIN, OF ST. PE-TERSBURG. GOING AROUND THE WORLD TO DO THIS.

There are times, indeed, when stone walls do not make a prison make nor iron bars a cage. The journey across the
the World of Dr. Vladimir Wolkenstein proves that, for he is now on his way to greet, for the first time in years, the wife that has long waited and watched through the gates of a Russian gauntlet for the coming of her husband.

The kind of Komunoff reaches after Wolkenstein in now in New York, but so great his fear of the minister's answers at St. Petersburg he will not even admit the object of his journey.

The story of this woman is one of many thousands perhaps. Against her brother the suspicion that she plotted against the Government. One day seventeen years ago, the police descended swiftly upon the Wolkensteins; the wife was arrested and judged in the Schlussburg fortress.

"You are a nihilist," they told her.
She protested her innocence. The child at her breast was taken from her, and she joined the hundred others waiting for a trial that meant only a step toward Siberia, or worse. The husband was dazed at the shock. After painful effort he got his child from the police, and then sought to save his wife. But all he did was futile.

For two years the mother awaited trial. Then one day, broken in health, but with mind and mother-love still strong and keen, she was brought into court. The testimony was produced, her only defence was denial, and at the end of the usual farce she was sentenced to death.

For some reason the authorities changed their decree. The woman should live and be held for life in solitary confinement at the Schlussburg fortress. That was fourteen years ago.

Wolkenstein lived on, hoping feebly.
Although a prosperous and prominent physician, he could do nothing to help her. A year ago there was a sudden pleading out of the Schlussburg pris-son. The woman was hurried from the fortress with her companions and taken under strong guard to Odessa.
There lay a Russian warship, upon which they were to sail for Saghalien Island off the coast of Japan. At the pier stood Dr. Wolkenstein. He looked over the ranks of the dreary, wan and wretched creatures led by, and could not see his wife. Then a guard pointed her out. The next instant the gray-haired, trembling creature was hunted aboard the ship, and he saw her no more.

To-day the husband is on his way to Saghalien again. From New York he will go to San Francisco, from thence to Japan.

A SUCCESSFUL FAILURE

The most surprising thing about the failure of the Dominion Government's attempt to negotiate a treaty with the United States in that zone of the ardent supporters of the Government profess to be surprised at it. From the comments made by them, one would imagine that the Government has not so much failed in succeeding,
as it has succeeded in failing.

When we come to think of it, most of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's successes are of this negative order. The future historian of Canada will find him a puzzling subject to deal with. He will find that by contemporary public opinion Laurier occupied a big place in the thoughts of his fellow-countrymen; that he was by common consent a man of brilliant parts; but when the historian comes to write his chapter upon the great things accomplished by Sir Wilfrid, he will find that for very lack of material he has to make it as short as the celebrated essay on "The banquet of Ireland"; and very much to the same purpose.

He will find no such difficulty in dealing with the achievements of some other distinguished Canadian statesmen. For instance take Sir Wilfrid's great opponent, Sir Charles Tupper—the historian can find plenty of interesting material in the records showing how the heroic energy, the pluck, the unselfish patriotism of Dr. Tupper saved the forlorn hope of Confederation; how he, with his great chieftain, Sir John Macdonald, fought the great battle of protection against free trade and laid the foundations of the industrial prosperity of the several colonies they had welded into a nation;
how in the face of the bitter opposition of the Liberal party he succeeded in uniting the Atlantic and Pacific shores of Canada by bands of steel.
He can show how Macdonald and Tupper united the British North American Provinces politically by Confederation; industrially and commercially by the National Policy; and geographically by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Of Laurier what can the historian write? He will have to say that Laurier was the accident of an accident; a statesman by courtesy, whose stature consisted chiefly of a silver tongue and sunny smile; who could speak eloquently and ambiguously in two languages, and hold his tongue in neither. That a wave of race prejudice coinciding with an era of death, disunion and disaster in the ranks of his opponents, placed him in power. That in power as in opposition he succeeded only in consistently failing. That not one great measure of reform or of national advancement stands to his credit or to the credit of his administration. That he clung reluctantly to office for a few years by walking humbly in some of the footprints of the men whom he had defied and maligned during his whole public life. That a cruel fate made the professional parlor of the Old Liberal school, the head of the greatest aggregation of political impostors that ever disabused the Windsor uniform. That during his administration the electorate of Canada was debauched and corrupted as it had never been before.

As stated in the beginning of this article, the future historian of Canada must find the principal material for the Laurier section in the record of Wilfrid's failures, and this need not be an uninteresting chapter.
A chapter it did say it is worthy of a volume. Our friend, the historian, will have to say:

That Sir Wilfrid spent most of his public life in advocating free trade for Canada, and failed to get it.

That for a few years he fought for unfettered reciprocity with the United States and failed to get it.

That for years he railed at the Conservative Governments of Canada because they did not secure free access to "our great natural market to the South"; that he did his best to prevent his opponents from securing reciprocital advantages, by persistently pretending that the Liberals were disposed to offer the United States better terms than the Conservatives; and that when he got into power, after humbling Canada in the dust at Washington, he, as usual failed, and was sent empty away.

For eighteen years he pledged himself to reduce the expenditure in Canada, and in three years of office not only failed to redeem his pledge, but increased the expenditure by about four millions per annum.

In Opposition he disclaimed against the national debt of Canada. In power he not only failed to reduce it, but increased it by more than seven millions.

In Opposition he denounced the National Policy and pledged himself to sweep it out of existence. He failed in Opposition and again fails in power.

In Opposition, who so eloquent in the denunciation of railway subsidy deals in power, the apologists for the Drummond county and Yukon deals. Failure again.

Is there, then, no great achievement for which the historian can give Sir Wilfrid Laurier credit? Unfortunately, yes! He prevented the British Government from granting preferential treatment to Canada; a measure that was as much in the military interests of the Empire as in the economic interest of the Canadian farmer.
We leave it to the historian to decide whether that was a success or a failure. Of course much depends upon what Sir Wilfrid was aiming at.

As a failure history must pronounce our Premier a marked success.—Montreal Star.

AN OLD COIN.

Judge C. G. Root, who resides near Washington bridge and practices law in Watertown, is the owner of an old coin that would gladden the heart of any collector to possess. It is a United States copper bearing the date of 1787, and was found by one of Judge Root's children in an old house in Milford that is said to be over two hundred years old. The face of the coin bears a sun dial design and the date. The word Fugio (I fly) and the inscription "Mind your business" also appear on the face. The reverse side contains a circle of thirteen links around an inner circle which contains the following inscription: "United States. We are one." Judge Root thinks he has a pretty valuable coin, but says he is open to all offers from collectors.

THE ARMY AND NAVY.

England Spent $221,669,500 in One Year.

RECENT POLITICAL CRISIS.

May be the Probable Cause of the Big Increases Announced.

The Pope is Getting Well—He Passed a Quiet Night and the Wound is Healing—Other Foreign News.

London, March 3.—The English Government require $6,675,000 for the army and navy beyond the amounts which Parliament voted last session for the current year, ending March 31 next. Of this sum $4,425,000 goes to the army, the balance for the navy being $2,250,000. The detailed figures of these supplementary estimates were issued recently, and will be submitted to the House of Commons as soon as the debate on the address has concluded.

Thus, the total expenditure upon the army for the financial year now approaching its close, which was estimated last April at slightly under nineteen millions and a quarter, will, according to the revised accounts, be actually $100,127,000. Subtracting one from the other, we have the amount of the supplementary estimate, already mentioned, $4,425,000. These net figures are, however, arrived at after deducting various repayments or appropriations from other resources amounting to $2,400,000, which would bring the gross charges unexpectedly thrown upon the War Department during the year up to $6,825,000.

The most interesting of these appropriations in aid is the repayment by the Government of Egypt of $1,975,000 of the money found from the British Eschquer for the Nile expedition.

Two important and impressive facts appear from the details of the new estimates. Large additional orders were given during the year, beyond what was originally contemplated, for field artillery and warlike stores, these exceeding half a million in the aggregate, and other portions of the excess are due to the strengthening of garrisons and armaments at various coaling stations. The combined figures may probably be taken as indicative of the unforeseen preparations which were prudent during the recent political crisis.

For the navy, the supplementary requirement of no quite half a million places the year's net cost of our first line of defence, originally estimated to be $118,692,000 at $121,142,000. The bulk of the avaral excess estimate is for material.

The revised combined cost of the army and navy for the year—an interesting fact for the "War against the movement, as well as for others—therefore stands as follows:

Army.....$100,527,500
Navy.....$121,142,000
Total.....$221,669,500

THE POPE IS GETTING WELL.

Rome March 3.—The following bulletin was issued at 9 o'clock this morning: "The Pope passed a quiet night, so that the patient was able to comply with the desire of his physicians and not change his position. His natural functions are normal and his general condition is good."

"When the bandages were removed it was found that the wound was healing and taking its regular course."

"The Pope takes food easily and digests sufficient nourishment."

"His temperature is 37 centigrade, respiration 22 and pulse 70."

Dr. Lepetit in an interview to-day is quoted as saying he thought the operation would perhaps be advantageous to the Pope's health and no one's life beyond the age he would have reached if the operation had not been performed.

A SCHOONER BURNED.

Manila, March 3.—The United States gunboat Concord has arrived here after a week's cruise along the west coast of the Island of Luzon. The only incident of her trip was the burning of a schooner, loaded with supplies for rebels, at Dagupan, the terminus of the railroad. The natives fled and abandoned the town when the gunboat anchored in the bay.

It is rumored here that a steamer with 20,000 stands of arms and ammunition which was bound for the Philippines has been seized in Japanese waters by the Japanese authorities. Aguinaldo's army is disheartened as the result of this recent seizure.

Many companies of the insurgents have retired to the mountains and will not head their men.

The latest news from Oeba is good. The rebels are now willing to work at reasonable wages. Under the native government they ask double pay. Vessels are now loading and business has been resumed.

JUMPED INTO THE RIVER.

Port Erie, Ont., March 3.—An unknown man was arrested yesterday evening as an insane person by Officer Griffin of the Ontario police and placed in a room in the Town Hall in charge of a constable here. Some time during the early morning he made his escape through a window and going directly to the river jumped in and was drowned. The body has not been recovered. He claimed that he had a brother-in-law in Picton, Ontario, named A. J. Farlick, a tailor.

HAVE 50 LIVES BEEN LOST?

Safety of the National Line Boat, Port Wellbourne, Disputed of.

New York, March 2.—The National Line freighter Port Wellbourne, which left this port Jan. 27 for London, has been practically despoiled of. She usually makes the trip in 13 or 15 days, but since the time she left New York no word has been received of her. Her commander was Capt. Smith and she carried a crew of about 50 men.

ANOTHER STEAMER MISSING.

Another vessel upon which the rate of insurance has been increased is the British steamer Croft, Captain Land, which left New York Jan. 29 for Leith and Dundee. She has not yet arrived. She carried a general cargo. The fact of her non-arrival is made more certain for the arrival of the Croft, which left New York on Feb. 9 and arrived at Portland, England, on the 26th and the Critic, which left New York on Feb. 8 and arrived at Dundee on the 23rd.

STR. MORAVIA WRECKED.

The Vessel ran on the Sands Near Sable Island.

MATE DIES FROM EXPOSURE

Other Members of the Crew are in a Bad Condition.

They Were all Night and Nearly one Day on the Water suffering Great Hardship.

Halifax, March 3.—The steamer Moravia has just arrived from Sable Island with a crew of the steamer Moravia on board. They were saved in two boats, one a life boat from the island, the other her own boat. They were all night and nearly one day on the water suffering great hardships.

Some of the crew were in an exhausted condition and had to be conveyed from the steamer to the wharf. The captain and crew of the steamer praise the Governor of Sable Island and the inhabitants there for their kindness.

The treacherous sands have swallowed her up, and all that now remains is the wreckage strewn along the shore. The ship was broken up in two hours after the attack. When she struck a heavy west wind was prevailing. The seas were breaking clean over her and she was setting fast in the sand. A stiff wind was blowing from the northeast and certain death faced her crew if they remained on the vessel any length of time. A few minutes after the last man left the Moravia took an awful plunge and apparently cracked amidst. Two hours after the masts had all gone by the board and the graveyard of the Atlantic claimed another victim, covering it completely from sight.

THE ESCAPE.

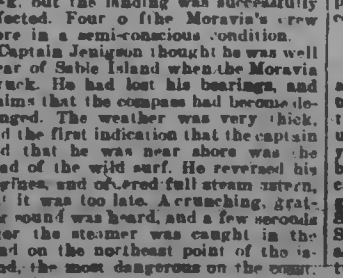

The men of the Moravia left the vessel in their own boat; all night the crew were tossed about by an angry sea. The weather was piercing cold. An effort was made to burn a light, but it was extinguished and was blown away. During the night the second officer became ill, dying shortly after from exposure. At daylight his remains were consigned to the deep.

The next day the lookout at Sable Island sighted the boat. Through wind and wave the men fought their way to the shore. The Moravia's crew, with only half of the latter were transferred to the lifeboat and an effort was made to reach the shore. It was a perilous task, but the landing was successfully effected. Four of the Moravia's crew were in a semi-conscious condition.

Captain Jenkinson thought he was well clear of Sable Island when the Moravia struck. He had lost his bearings, and claims that the compass had become deranged. The weather was very thick, and the first indication that the captain had that he was near shore was the head of the wind surf. He reversed his engines, and ordered full steam astern, but it was too late. A crashing, grating sound was heard, and a few seconds later the steamer was caught in the sand on the northeast point of the island, the most dangerous on the coast.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 5, 1899

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

At the sale at the Grand Central on Saturday the "bus" was sold to Mr. John Craig, of Lakefield for $48.

Saw in a Restaurant.

The police were called in to quell a disturbance in an up-town restaurant Saturday night and the cause and effects will likely be ventilated in the Police Court this morning.

A Severe Gale.

The severe gale of yesterday afternoon and night wrought considerable havoc around town. Electric light and telephone wires, signs, boards and improperly secured awnings suffered grievously. The storm was one of the worst since the late autumn of 1897.

Mark's Opera House.

The Bradburn Opera House, was crowded on Saturday night, when the Marks Brothers' Company, produced the comedy drama "A Farmer's Daughter." The company did clever work, and merited the applause which was showered upon them. To-night they will present the emotional standard drama "The Two Orphans."

The Haliburton Railway.

Mr. W. H. Leckart Gordon, representing the promoters, outlined the proposition before the Toronto Board of Trade, for the building of a railway from Haliburton, the present terminus of the G.T.R. to Mattawa, on the Ottawa River, by way of Whitby, on the O.A. & P. Railway. Mr. Gordon stated that, besides opening up 10,000 square miles of the fine timber lands in Ontario, the road would give a new route to Pembroke, 80 miles shorter than the present one from Toronto, and make Mattawa 36 miles nearer Toronto than Montreal. This would put Peterborough on the main line of the new route and make her the base of supplies for a great part of the Mattawa lumber camps, which annually take atleast $1,000,000 worth of supplies.

The Pigeon Creek Bridge.

The Pigeon Creek Independent says: A dicker is in progress between the town and county over the construction of a new bridge across Pigeon Creek. The cost of a new bridge is about ten thousand dollars, and the county would stand six-tenths if the town would stand three-tenths, and Ennis more one-tenth. Our council offer to pay $200 a year for 20 years on construction account. If the county would agree not to ask them for maintenance, so it stands. A number of persons are strongly in favor of an annual expenditure in filling in from each side of the lake. This would be permanent, and might be carried safely carried out for a considerable distance. The Pigeon Creek bridge could be treated in the same way for its entire length, with the greatest advantage. There is not a shadow of a doubt about the wisdom of treating Pigeon Creek in this way. A moderate expenditure every year, would soon give a permanent roadway.

A SHOCKING ACCIDENT

JAS. BROUGH INSTANTLY KILLED SATURDAY NIGHT

While driving a horse-drawn carriage, Mr. John Craig, of the Tremont House, Lakefield, also seriously injured—forever Bell became an injured passenger.

A shocking accident occurred on the Lakefield road Saturday night between nine and ten o'clock, resulting in the death of Mr. James Brough, hostler at the Grand Central Hotel. The big sale of furniture, etc., at the Grand Central Hotel, Saturday, indirectly connected with the accident. Mr. John Craig, of the Tremont House, Lakefield, attended the sale and bought the horse and 'bus belonging to the hotel. One of the horses is a vicious brute and in addition had the bad habit of shying and in consequence Mr. Craig engaged Mr. Brough, who was familiar with the team, to drive the outfit to Lakefield.

They left town about 8 p.m., both occupying the high seat in front. It appears that in making a rather sharp turn on the road, about two miles from Lakefield, the hind wheels slipped on some ice causing the horses to swerve. Brough was thrown violently from the vehicle, striking on his head of the frozen ground. Death was instantaneous and was due to a severe fracture of the skull. Mr. Craig was more fortunate, escaping with a few slight injuries. Brough's body was placed in a farmer's wagon and removed to Comstock's undertaking establishment, George street.

Coroner Bell was notified but decided that an inquest was unnecessary. The deceased had been employed at the Grand Central Hotel for the past eight or nine years and was well-known in town. He leaves a wife and seven children to mourn his loss. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved family.

The funeral will take place to-day at 10 a.m.

BROKE HIS COLLAR BONE.

Mr. Fred Dixon broke with a serious accident Saturday night.

Mr. Fred Dixon, the popular manager of Mr. W. H. Hill's insurance agency, will have to remember Saturday night's hockey match as long as he lives. He played with the redoubtable Thistles against the Gravelles and had the misfortune to be severely body checked during the progress of the game—the consequent fall on the ice breaking his collar bone.

The occurrence was purely accidental and it will be some time before Mr. Dixon will be able to resume his duties.

GRANITES VS. THISTLES

Curious Try Their Hand at Hockey—The Thistles Victorious.

Saturday night teams representing the Granite and Thistle Curling Clubs played a game of hockey at the rink and were cheered on to do duty by a large crowd of enthusiasts. The match developed many new points in the game and caused the spectators unlimited amusement.

The teams were composed as follows—
Granites: Geo. Giroux, captain, Jim Connell, A. J. McClelland, point, Alf. Terrill, Geo. Boucher, forwards, T. Ferguson, R. M. Hamilton, Dr. Neil, W. S. Hamilton, W. Thompson, A. Miller, Fred Dixon.
Thistles: Geo. Giroux, captain, Jim Connell, A. J. McClelland, point, Alf. Terrill, Geo. Boucher, forwards, T. Ferguson, R. M. Hamilton, Dr. Neil, W. S. Hamilton, W. Thompson, A. Miller, Fred Dixon.

The Thistles won the match by a score of 1 and 2 and are delighted over the result as the Granites were considered sure winners. It will be months before the individuals comprising the teams will be able to dispose with the use of court plaster and arnica.

LAST NIGHT'S FIRE ALARMS.

The Fire Ladder kept Busy Looking After Missing Chimneys.

The Fire Brigade was called out twice last night to suppress chimney fires caused no doubt by the extremely high wind prevailing.

The first alarm was turned in about 6 o'clock and the brigade responded to remarkably quick time. The offending chimney was located at the corner of London and Water streets and the fire quickly subdued.

Half an hour later the brigade was again called out—this time to extinguish a blazing chimney on a house on Charlotte street, opposite the rink. The promptness of the firemen in this instance averted what might have proved a serious conflagration.

It was promised to be a serious fire in a dwelling house on Park street—west end—was got under control by the inmates and the necessity of calling out the brigade thus averted.

The auctioneer is not expected to get anything but Cheap Prices for the skins of goods he generally handles. If you were pulling up stakes and called a sale wouldn't you pick out the best of your stuff and let the running go at auction prices—for what they would bring?

People who want to try how lucky they are sometimes DO get a Bargain from the man who is here to-day and away to-morrow. If you have money to burn, buy any old thing in the shape of Furs—but if you feel that ECONOMY is necessary—and STYLE is necessary—and want a Fur garment that you can depend on—that will look well to-day, to-morrow, next week, next winter, spend your money at such a Fur store as ALEX. MELVILLE & CO'S. We're in town to stay and neighbour with you.

VESTRYMEN ARE FULL OF HORROR

PROPOSAL TO INTRODUCE ROM- ISH IMAGES IN A CHURCH

Written From—The Statement Made by a St.
Saviour Vestryman in Referring to an Act of his Grandfather.

London, March 6.—That the lay and clerical mind has become thoroughly aroused over the ritualistic controversy is evidenced by reports of lively doings at a meeting of St. Saviour's Vestry, Southwark recently. A proposal was discussed to erect an altar screen, filled with images of the Madonna and various saints, in the newly-restored cathedral of South London. One of the opponents was Mr. Fry, and he proudly remarked: "My family has always disapproved of Romanising movements in the church and at the time of the Puritan commonwealth my grandfather pulled the vicar's nose across the table." Other times other manners. The discussion at Tuesday night's vestry arose through Mr. Wallace, the chairman announcing that the Dean and Chapter of the Collegiate Church of St. Saviour had given notice of their intention to apply for a faculty for the erection of an altar screen full of Roman Catholic images. The hair of some of the vestrymen stood on end at the terrible news, and they resolved instantly to march to the cathedral to see the design with their own eyes. With grim determination, as if on the way to see the fires of Smithfield, they proceeded to the church, and there returned to debate them. One member said he objected not only to the Madonna, but to all the saints on the screen, and did not see why the angels should be wearing what seemed to be Prince of Wales's feathers. Some of the saints and bishops designed on the altar screen were declared that such a screen would change a Protestant place of worship into a Chinese joss-house or a Hindoo temple. In the end the vestry decided by a majority of ten to four to oppose the grant of the faculty.

RUDYARD KIPLING.

SOME INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT THE GREAT AUTHOR WHO WAS SO NEAR THE POINT OF DEATH.

It is not known as yet whether Rudyard Kipling will still spend several months in Canada as he intended doing prior to his illness. The New England papers stated that he would and they ought to know as he lived several years in Brattleboro, Vt., and wrote and said very pleasant things about the Green Mountain Folk.

Kipling's only break during his residence in New England was made when he said that he was living in "the great pie belt," of America. It took Vermont a long time to forgive him for that insult, but gradually it not only forgave him, but admitted that a great pie belt might be very comfortable thing.

Rudyard Kipling while here, added several members to his family, large and small, and took home with him a wife who was Miss Halliester, a baby a sister-in-law and various other good American folk.

It is claimed that Kipling's real reason for deserting the land in which he was so comfortably situated and in which he was making so much money was a woman. He quarreled with one of his wife's male relatives, and to adjust the matter Kipling went home. That is the tale as it was told the writer.

Rudyard Kipling is such an interesting fellow that Vermont is anxious to own that any of her children ever differed from him. But Vermont did a great deal for Kipling while he was dying, and he will do well if he ever repays the great debt he owes the clear air and the inspiring sight of the blue hills.

Some of the best work of Kipling's lifetime was done while living in Brattleboro. He occupied an old-fashioned village cottage, larger than a farmhouse, yet by no means a villa. Here he lived day after day, and night after night. His daily diversion was walking, which he did daily, accompanied by a birch wood pipe which struck out of his mouth at all times.

At home he sat in his den, which was located in the southeast corner, on the first floor, and was luxuriously fitted out with Indian rugs, and wrote.

Kipling does not do all his writing in the house. While in Brattleboro he wrote a great deal leaning against a fence board. He jotted the words down, it is supposed, as they came into his mind, and took them home to be polished.

Kipling wrote as one inspired. No one can read his words and think them common place. Even those who do not sympathize with his characters, nor with his subjects, will say that they are unusual. Even when he says usual things he says them in an unusual way.

Rudyard Kipling has always been a great maker of money, yet a very prodigal one. He has refused more money than he has ever accepted.

Once when an inquisitive American editor wrote to him at Brattleboro asking him for a thousand words about the British navy, Kipling wrote:

"As an English subject I have none of the secrets of my country for sale." He also returned the check for $1,000 which accompanied the request.

Kipling is a short, stout fellow with eyes, which can look very pleasant, but as a general thing he looks quite savage. He scowls easily and writes with a frown upon his face. Yet he is very affable and replies pleasantly to all correspondence. His letters have a breezy tone that is quite refreshing when one is tired reading the stereotyped letter.

A publisher wrote to Mr. Kipling last fall for a short story or poem. Kipling replied thus in the third person:

"Mr. Kipling presents his compliments to Mr. Smith and regrets that he cannot write a word before spring. Mr. Kipling presents his springtime wishes to take the role of an amateur writer to see a Canadian winter, but it is doubtful if he gets there in time. He will have to think of Vermont's snow-covered hills and fancy them as his own."

Kipling's object in visiting this country is a lecture tour. The days of platform lectures are coming again, as shown by the fact that in the old days, the lecture has always been a profitable evening entertainment, but now it is running neck to neck with the drama. Kipling will tour, and then possibly settle down, for he loves this side of the water—though intensely English. He wants to live in Canada while he is a Canadian winter, but it is doubtful if he gets there in time.

He began his life by going from London to Lahore, India, to write on the Civil and Military Gazette. His father was at the head of the School of Arts in India and was the finest painter in that country. "On one occasion," says an old friend of the author "Mr. Kipling was called upon unexpectedly to take the role of an amateur member of an amateur theatrical cast and he did so with such a marvelous understanding that the entire cast was thunderstruck. He went at it like an old hand and the audience with him from the start. Everybody in Lahore advised him to go on the stage at once, but he refused and stayed by his pencil. I tell you it was the best piece of amateur acting I ever saw, and I begged him to follow the life of an actor, but he only laughed and continued to tell him the 'Glimpses of the Indian Forest' in his series. He always had a peculiar way of forming quick acquaintance, and he knew every man in Lahore, from the poorest to the richest. He never let a story escape him and his understanding of men and their secret motives has made it possible for him to give the world all sorts of literature."

So Kipling decided to write, and what might have been a poor actor became a great writer. His genius is the most generally admitted of any living writer of poetry and prose. It was urged at his time of Australia's appointment that Rudyard Kipling be brought forward as the poet laureate. But there was something incongruous about Kipling's works which led even his friends to believe that as laureate he would be disappointing. His work is too rough-hewn for strict court usage.

Rudyard Kipling has visited almost every city in America. And everywhere the great effort has been made to flatter him. But he refuses to come and rest. Diapers have been given for Mr. Kipling, but when the hour came the vacant chair stood there when reproached for not appearing Kipling would say: "But I told you I had an engagement."

"So you did, Mr. Kipling," the disappointed hostess would say, "but we hoped you would think better of it."

Kipling has many personal peculiarities. His Vermont neighbors discovered that.

He liked Vermont and declared that "there is nothing like Vermont air for babies."

The men who worked for him, like the carpenters, the plumbers, and the domestics, say that he is the kindest and most generous of employers. They also add that he pledges them to secrecy about his own daily life and the incidents of his household affairs.

He was not interested in public affairs, and never indicated any intention to become a citizen or to get interested in any of the matters of the local government.

One day he stopped a Chinaman at the depot at Brattleboro, and talked with him in Chinese for half an hour, to the amazement and admiration of Chinamen and bystanders generally.

He never shaved himself, but let the hair in a Brattleboro hotel attend to that duty for him.

He says "begad" and "damin" very often in his conversation, and one day he asked his parson, much to the mingled amusement and surprise of that worthy man whether he knew what "begad" meant. "That driveling idiot who cracks his joints," referring to some strange character that he had picked up about town.

In his school days young Kipling held a position upon the college paper, which often afforded him a chance to write the most ridiculous anecdotes concerning the professor, who was editor-in-chief, and other members of the faculty. Though the professor carefully examined all the manuscript before it went to print and was sure that all right, when the paper came out there would always be some amusing story in it about either himself or the other teachers. It was never found out who wrote the articles.

ADDRESS

The Keeley Institute

Most fascinating investigation of the age. Always ready to entertain. It requires no skill to operate it and reproduces the music of bands, orchestras, vocalists or instrumental ensembles. There is nothing like it for an evening's entertainment.

Other so-called talking machines reproduce only records of cut-and-dried subjects, specially prepared in a laboratory, but the Graphophone is not limited to such performances. On the Graphophone you can easily use and instantly reproduce records of the voice, or any sound. This is constantly available now interest and in change is ever fresh. The reproductions are clear and brilliant.

Graphophones are sold for $10 and up.

Manufactured under the patents of Bell, Gramophone and Edison. Our establishment is headquarters of the world for Talking Machines and Talking Machine Supplies. Write for catalogue.

DEAN NORMAN'S CASE

THE CANADIAN DIVINE CLAIMS THAT HE IS THE VICTIM OF BLACKMAIL.

Quebec, March 6.—The case of Very Rev. Dean Norman, dean of the Cathedral Chapter and rector of Quebec, has created a sensation throughout Canada. The charges brought against the distinguished divine are of an unprintable nature and much sympathy is felt for him among those who cannot believe the charges true. As a result he has been stripped of all his office and emoluments and he left Quebec. The dean claimed before he left that he is the victim of blackmail.

The charges alleged are the outcome of the murder of George Papin, a French Canadian, who was killed in 1897. Norman was a young man of 22 and was in company with a young man named Tanquet when the pair met George Papin driving with a girl. A dispute arose between Tanquet and Papin, and the latter in trying to shoot Tanquet killed accidentally, so he claims. Papin, Norman and one O'Brien were shortly afterwards arrested charged with the murder, and once $2,000 was found in their possession. As both men are tough on the spot, the investigation was at once started to discover how they came to have so much money in their possession. When hard pressed they admitted that they had received it as a bribe from a man named Norman. This astonishing confession was doubted until the dean himself admitted it and volunteered the information that he had paid these men in all $4,500, but declared that it was a case of blackmail. The lord bishop of Quebec on the confession of the dean at once demanded the latter's resignation. Dean Norman has departed and his whereabouts are now a mystery. An investigation into this extraordinary case has been in progress before Judge Chabert during the week and most startling evidence has been brought to light. Criminal prosecution will likely be taken up against Dean Norman if the authorities succeed in locating him.

Dean Norman is a man who has been held in the highest esteem for years. He is the son of the late Richard Norman, of London, England, and was born at Southborough, Kent, Eng., in 1876. He was educated at King's College, London, at Exeter College, and took an M.A. at Oxford, and was ordained deacon by the bishop of Oxford in 1893 and priest by the same prelate in 1895. His work in England was connected with higher education, he having been principal of St. Michael's College, Taunton, and warden of Radley College, successively. Owing to ill health he came to Canada in 1896 and remained here. He performed ministerial duties at Montreal in the Churches of St. John, St. James, St. Martha and Christ Church Cathedral. He became a member of the council of Lennoxville University in 1897 and vice-chancellor in 1898; canon of Montreal Cathedral the same year; fellow of McGill College in 1899; chaplain of Montreal Protestant School Board the same year; member of the Protestant Committee Board of Public Instruction 1894, and president of the Central Board of Diocesan 1895. He was appointed rector of Quebec in 1896 and later dean of the Cathedral of All Saints, which high position he held until last week. He received the degree of D.D. and also D.D. from Lennoxville University, and is an M.A. of Cambridge. Mr. Norman was for years president of the Montreal Art Association and was honorable secretary of the Anglican Provincial Synod of Canada in 1893. He was elected president of the Literary and Historical Society of Quebec in 1896 and re-elected in 1897.

He is the author of two volumes of sermons and of various pamphlets and lectures. On leaving Montreal in 1898 he was presented with a sword.

LINCOLN'S FAVORITE POEM.

The following beautiful poem was a particular favorite with President Lincoln, who often referred to it as one of the finest productions of the English language. It is related by Mr. F. B. Carpenter, the artist, that while engaged in painting Mr. Lincoln's portrait at the White House, the President said to him one evening: "The poem has been a great favorite with me for years. It was first shown to me when a young man by a friend. The beauty of it at once struck me, and I learned it by heart. It would give a great deal to know who wrote it, but I have never been able to ascertain."

Oh! why should the spirit of mortal be proud!
Like a swift-fitting meteor, a fast-flying cloud,
A flash of the lightning, a break of the wave,
Man passes from life to his rest in the grave.

The leaves of the oak and the willow shall fade,
Be scatter'd around and together be laid;
And the young and the old and the low and the high,
Shall mingle to dust and together shall die.

The child that a mother attended and loved,
The mother that infant's affection who proved,
The husband that mother and infant who blest—
Each, all, are away to their dwellings of rest.

The maid on whose cheek, on whose brow, in whose eye, Shone beauty and pleasure, her triumphs are by;
And the memory of those who have loved her and praised,
Are alike from the minds of the living erased.

The hand of the king that the scepter hath borne,
The brow of the priest that the mitre hath worn,
The eye of the sage, and the heart of the brave,
Are hidden and lost in the depths of the grave.

The peasant whose lot was to sow and to reap,
The herdman who climb'd with his goats to the steep,
The beggar who wander'd in search of his bread,
Have faded away like the grass that we tread.

The maid who enjoy'd the communion of Meave,
The sinner who dared to remain unrepentant,
The wise and the foolish, the guilty and the just,
Have quietly mingled their bones in the dust.

So the multitude goes, like the flower and the weed,
That wither away to let others succeed,
So the multitude comes, even those we behold,
To repeat every tale that hath often been told.

For we are the same our fathers have been;
We see the same sights that our fathers have seen,
We drink the same stream, and we tread the same soil,
And run the same course that our fathers have run.

The thoughts we are thinking our fathers would think;
From the death we are shrinking from they would shrink;
For the life we are clinging to, they would cling;
But it speeds from the earth like a bird on the wing.

They loved, but their story we cannot unfold;
They sorrow'd, but the heart of the haughty is cold;
They grieved, but no wail from their slumbers will come;
They joy'd, but the voice of their gladness is dumb.

They died—aye! they died; and we things that are now,
Who walk on the turf that lies over their brow,
Who make in their dwelling a raucous abode,
Meet the changes they met on their pilgrimage road.

Yes, hope and despondence, and pleasure and pain,
Are mingled together in sunshine and rain;
And the smile and the tear, the song and the dirge,
Still follow each other, like surge upon surge.

In the wink of an eye, 'tis the draught of a breath,
From the blossom of health to the paleness of death,
From the gladsome saloon to the bier and the shroud,
Oh! why should the spirit of mortal be proud!

Snap Shots With a Graphophone

The Graphophone is to the ear what the photographic camera is to the eye and more, for the graphophone catches instantly and preserves every tint and shade of sound. A most interesting use of a Graphophone is to make records of your friends' voices to be preserved for future use. You can catch the story of your jolly friend just as he told it, or the favorite song of some loved one, just as she sang it and have it reproduced perfectly at any time and as often as you please. Besides the Graphophone affords wonderful entertainment in the way of reproducing the music of bands, orchestras or vocal or instrumental soloists. No instrument will return so much in pleasure as the purchase of a Graphophone. It is the perfect talking machine. Write for catalogue No. 39 to the COLUMBIA GRAPHOPHONE COMPANY, No. 313 Main street, Buffalo, N.Y.

"I understand them," remarked the lawyer, "but you absolutely refuse to accept the legacy bequeathed you by your wife's will!"
"That's right," returned Mr. Hengstock. "This is the first chance I've ever had to oppose my wife's will, and I'm taking advantage of it."

A COSTLY TOY.

The most costly toy in the world is said to be a miniature railway system installed in the house of Percy H. Leigh, near Manchester, Eng. Its cost was $50,000. P. H. Leigh was a child, but a grown man, who has no professional connection with railways, but who for many years has amused with models of locomotive engines and various railway appliances. This Lilliputian railway traverses a great oblong, single-story building consisting of one chamber 90 feet in length by 30 feet in width added to Mr. Leigh's residence for the purpose of providing room for the miniature operation of the line. The road-bed of Mr. Leigh's is made of pick pine, raised three feet from the floor, and carries a track of a double line of rails 276 feet long. These rails, with a total length of 1200 feet, are fastened to 2,000 pine ties, 4 by 6 inches from chairs. All of the track-chairs, fish plates, bolts and nuts are exact miniatures of those used on regulation railways. The gauge is six inches. The locomotive is a duplicate of a small scale of the usual English railway engine, in five feet long and 18 inches high. This engine cost $1,500, and required nine months for its construction. The cars are in proportion to the locomotive, and are a charcoal fire, the engine, with three passenger coaches, or so many freight cars, can make six miles an hour on a straight portion on the track.

World's Most Powerful Man. It Russia the Oar's will is the only law, and it follows that he can name any man he likes as his successor—a barter for example. As a matter of fact, the Oars have lately observed the laws laid down by their predecessors, but they used not to do so and there is no power to compel them to do so.

The Oar commands an army of 2,532, 000 men, who are his subjects. He has a personal estate of more than 1,000,000 square miles of cultivated lands and forests, besides gold and silver mines in Siberia. His wealth is literally incalculable and probably inexhaustible. He is doubtless no account of his income, as they do in other monarchial countries.

Although the position of Oar may appear an enviable one, it has many disadvantages. The mortality among Oars is probably higher than among any other class of men. Peter III, grandson of Peter the Great, was murdered in 1762. Paul, son of Catherine II was murdered in 1801. Alexander II was assassinated by the nihilists in 1881. The late Oar Alexander III, died prematurely through the constant fear of assassination. The Oar possesses the most splendid collection of jewels of any person in the world—monarch or millionaire. These of course, are of more importance to his wife than to him.

AFRICA'S RAILROAD BRIDGE.

One of the grandest engineering works in the network of railways in Central and Western Africa is undoubtedly the bridge over the Yenisei. It will cost over $2,000,000 and will be the largest railway bridge in the world. It will be opened for traffic next May, a year before the date originally fixed. The material employed in the construction is stone and iron.

Poor, helpless, hopeless, sick, suffering, miserable woman. Sick because she doesn't really know why. Sick because the organs that make her a woman are not properly performing their functions and so are sending nerve messages with aches and pains and distress all over her quivering body.

Nine-tenths of women's sickness comes from disorder of the reproductive organs. The symptoms are various—the cause the same. Headache, backache, nervousness, palpitation, neuritis and all other troubles of women may nearly always be traced directly to disordered weakness or disease. When the most important organ of a woman's body is disordered her whole physical and mental system is upset. The only way to find comfort is to cure the real cause of the misery. Local doctors in general practice are frequently so hurried and rushed that they treat the symptoms and not the disease. They give woman medicine for headache when the headache is due to the reflex action of the uterus on the nerves. They may give her good medicine, but for the wrong disease. Thousands of women, after years of disordered health, have written to Dr. E. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., and now thank him for their recovered health and happiness. For over thirty years Dr. Pierce has been chief consulting physician of the "Female" Hospital and Surgical Institute. He has "cured" thirty years ago that he began to see his "Female" Prescription in his "pocket."

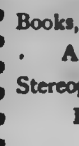

It is a medicine devised to cure one certain kind of disease—female disease. It brings ease and comfort and sleep. It restores perfect health. It fills the system with health, brightens the eyes, puts life and snap into the whole body. It is sold by most dealers in medicine. Don't take anything else. Nothing else is the same. Nothing else is "as good." Get what you get for. Patients' honest dealers.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

Wall Blown Down.
A heavy brick wall, about fifteen feet high, on the property of Mr. W. W. Robertson, 526 Water street, was blown down during Sunday's storm.

The Bank Tax.
The new government tax will fall pretty heavily on the banks. The amounts which the banks, having agencies in Peterborough, will contribute, is as follows: Montreal, $3,800; Toronto, $2,000; Commerce, $3,800; Ontario, $100.

The Two Orphans.
The Opera House, was comfortably filled last night, when the Marks Bros. company, presented the popular emotional drama "The Two Orphans." In their usual pleasing style, the specialists were varied, and added greatly to the evening's entertainment. Tonight they will produce the "Little Duchess."

War on Bats.
Mr. Street Inspector Ranney endeavored to make up for the non-appearance of the snow-plows on Sunday, and had men at work removing the snow and slush from the street crossings. Mr. Ranney should have authority over those who have the contracts of removing the snow from the walks. It would then be attended to.

Well Trained.
The junior hockey team which went to Fenelon Falls on Thursday last, and played the club of that village, desire the Times to thank the members of the latter club and their friends for the kind and gentlemanly treatment they received. Our ladies say that they could not have been more pleased. The expense money was paid over to the visiting club before the game started, thus enabling them to settle all their bills, and devote the evening to unalloyed pleasure. After the match the boys were accompanied to their hotel, and entertained royally, nothing being too good for them.

Purely an Oversight.
We are in receipt of a letter from an indignant subscriber at Fenelon Falls, calling attention to the fact that none of the Peterboro papers reported the defeat of the junior hockey team by the club of that village. Our correspondents go on to add: "I suppose if your mixed team of Chas and B. more had won the match you would have published a paragraph on the subject. As they were defeated by a country village club of young 'kids' it wasn't worthy of mention. So far as the great family journal is concerned, we plead guilty but offer in expiation, the fact that it was purely an oversight. We presume the reason our evening correspondents did not publish the item was because they have no readers in Fenelon Falls, and consequently don't care a continental how the little people of Little Niagara take it. But with this G. E. J. it is different. The people of Fenelon Falls look for the news in the Times, and do thou shalt all over the district, and naturally feel aggrieved over the absence of a record of this celebrated hockey match. The Fenelon Falls club is a 'corker' and we wouldn't be surprised if they make it hot for our Senators next season. The score stood 7 to 14 in favor of the village club."

Steam Car Market.

A committee of the Orilla Board of Trade has taken the market in hand, the object to build it up, induce a large attendance of farmers, and attract outside buyers. And the committee is doing good work. Peterborough market requires a steam car. People in the right place, but there are drawbacks. We cannot overcome. We should have practically a free market even at a sacrifice of the revenue derived from the sale of the tolls. Our council should give this matter earnest attention.

Stock Yard Address.

Mr. H. P. Kennedy, our enterprising live stock dealer has succeeded in forming a joint stock company for the purpose of erecting stock yards. To many this may seem to be a resurrection of the old scheme, but a talk with Mr. Kennedy will convince anyone that it is far from it. The stock yards would be erected in a place where there will be no residents to kick about the nuisance and every detail arranged in order to make them the most successful markets in the country. The Co. at present time has options on three desirable locations, and we hope that the idea will be encouraged in whatever way our council can do it.

VERY AMUSING.

Hockey Between the Guests of the Morgan and Oriental Hotels.

"Another hard one!" a Morgan House enthusiast yelled as his team left the ice last night, after giving the Orientals—the most remarkable defeat in years. When we say "remarkable" we mean what we say. Two thirds of the players were in our opinion strangers to skates, while three-ninths of two-thirds of the remainder knew as much about hockey as they did about the partition of the Chinese Empire. The history of the game is as follows:

Some few weeks ago, the men from the "Chinese"—we mean the Oriental Hotel, issued a broad challenge to the town to play any hockey game of a like qualification. They were put in training by "Lippy" Young, and were thought to have a dead cinch on all comers.

Secretary Kerr, of the P. H. C., who was a star boarder at the Morgan House, got it into his cranium that he would make the same idea into the cranium of "Slippery" Lund. What was the result? The same afternoon a special freezing apparatus was put into shape in Morgan's lane, and a splendid sheet of ice, so it is said, was formed—and the Morgans got out to practice. All the tricks in the business were learned then, and after getting a little bit confident they sent an acceptance of the "Chinamen's" challenge.

The two forces came together last night, and the finish has not finished echoing on the Rocky Mountains. Super-skip Kenner fell with a thud, with "Slippery" Lund on top of him. There was a general mix up, when out of the scrimmage came Morgan and the goal was scored by the Morgans, and "Lippy" Young said something about a dam-by the mill side. The remainder of the first half was no more than a succession of goals for the men from Water street, and at the end of half time the score was five to two.

During the second half, everything was looking very promising for the Morgans, and the Hardware store were kept busy for about a minutes shoveling out whitewash, but fortunately for the Chinamen, by a luck shot, Kenner did the trick, and scored in one goal for them making the final score for the game—Morgans 11; Orientals 1.

PRESIDENT McKINLEY TO THE COMMISSIONERS

MILITARY RULE WILL CONTINUE IN THE PHILIPPINES.

An Endeavor Must be Made to Ambulate the Condition of the Natives and Emphasize Just Intention.

Washington, March 7.—President McKinley's order to the Commissioners established in Manila to inquire into affairs in the Philippines has been published. The Commissioners, who are Jacob G. Schurman, Rear-Admiral Dewey, Major-General Otis, Charles Denby and Dean C. Worcester, are endowed with powers which are largely advisory, and military rule will continue for the present. The President's proclamation says:
The Commissioners are enjoined to meet in Manila, and to announce that, while military Government is to be maintained so long as necessary, efforts will be made to alleviate the burdens of taxation, to establish industrial and commercial prosperity, and to provide for the safety of persons and of property. The Commissioners will endeavor, without interference with the military authorities to ascertain what amelioration in the condition of the inhabitants and what improvement in public order may be practicable, and for this purpose they will study attentively the existing social and political state of the various populations, particularly as regards the forms of local government, the administration of justice, the collection of customs and other taxes, the means of transportation and the need of public improvement. It is my desire that in all their relations with the inhabitants of the islands the Commissioners exercise due respect for all the ideals, customs and institutions of the tribes and races which compose the population, emphasizing upon all occasions the just and beneficent intentions of the Government of the United States.

GUNBOAT CLEARS THE BANK.

Manila, March 7.—At daylight this morning, the enemy was discovered trying to mount a gun across the river from San Pedro, and the Sixth Artillery promptly shelled the rebel battery. Temporarily stopping work, the enemy poured a fusillade of musketry across the river, but a

THE TOLON EXPLOSION.

Paris, March 7.—The disaster resulting from the Tolon explosion of Sunday morning number 51 and 130 persons were injured. The reports that the catastrophe was the result of a crime are renewed. The Petit Journal asserts that a fuse 5 feet long has been found in the ruins of the magazine. M. Lockroy, Minister of Marine, in the course of an interview had with him by a representative of the Gaulois said that none of the theories advanced were admissible. "Imprudence on the part of the personnel," he added, "was impossible, as the explosion occurred several hours after the gates had been closed. The heating theory, too, is unsound, as the temperature of the buildings was always low and the air dry."

OTHERS HANGED FOR HIS CRIME.

A Terrible Conclusion by a Murderer About to be Executed.
Houston, Tex., March 3.—A negro named Pete Burton, who is to be hanged here March 24, has made a startling confession. He says that in addition to the murder of Gottlieb Meyer, wife and child, at Cypress, for which crime he is to be executed, he has killed four persons. Several persons have been accused for crimes he committed. His story has been partly corroborated.
Burton killed the Meyer family last summer while working on a farm. One child escaped and gave the alarm but it was several days before Burton was captured. He says that after committing the murder he eluded several posses and when he was arrested by an officer he talked him out of holding. Later he replied a deputy looking for him. He secreted himself, killed the officer and took his rifle. This was in July, 1900.
Others suffered for his crimes. Robinson killed the tank tender on the East Texas coast. He obtained $41,000. Robinson was convicted of this and hanged.
At Cold Springs he killed a peddler for which crime an innocent negro named Fisher was hanged, and his partner secured $700.
While escaping they reached Arkansas. Here his partner broke his leg, and realizing that he would be captured, he shot him.
The murder of the water tank tender, in addition to Robinson being legally executed, two women were lynched at Keno, Texas. One of them was a woman of Robinson. Both according to Burton, were innocent.

A BLIZZARD BLOWS THROUGH NEW YORK

THREE INCHES OF SNOW ARE UPON THE GROUND.

Large Fleets of Eastbound-Sailing Vessels Don't Like the Look of the Barometer and put Back to Port.

New York, March 7.—New Yorkers awoke this morning to find a March blizzard blowing thick and strong. Three inches of angry snow lay upon the ground, and fine damp particles as dense as a winter fog, in the grasp of a capricious wind that seemed to come fiercely from all directions at once, swept under umbrellas and into pockets and coat collars and made pedestrianism extremely uncomfortable. Street traffic was rendered difficult and vexing and the river pilots had anything but an easy time.

GENERAL BOOTH ON BOARD.

Perth, West Australia, March 7.—The German liner Prinz Regent Luitpold, which has arrived at Fremantle, reports an outbreak of smallpox on board. The passengers, some fifty, in number among whom is "General" Booth, have been placed in quarantine.

ENGLAND WILL CONSENT.

Rome, March 7.—According to news received by way of Biserta (Tunis), it is now certain that Great Britain will not oppose the French project of a railway across the desert of Sahara, by way of the very rich oasis of Ghardaia, which actually belongs to Tripoli. By means of this railway France proposes to make the port of Biserta the outlet for the products of her possessions in the Western Sudan.

TO POPULARIZE THE ARMY.

London, March 7.—With a view to popularizing the army in the provinces, the Commander-in-Chief has just sanctioned an autumn tournament, under the management of the officers responsible for the Islington Royal Military tournament. This new tournament will be held in turn in Manchester, Birmingham, Liverpool, Leeds, Glasgow and some other big cities and towns, but the first one is not yet settled for this year.

LUMBERMEN LOSE MONEY.

Heavy Floods Cause Loss and Discomfort in the U.S.

Cincinnati, March 7.—Notwithstanding the low temperature and high winds of last night the Ohio river continued steadily rising at the rate of two-tenths of a foot per hour, and at 8 a.m. reached 55 and five-tenths. Newport is the earliest sufferer from the high water, and already a considerable portion of her territory is flooded and families are compelled to leave their houses, or go to the upper stories.

Derivation, Ky., March 7.—An almost unprecedented loss follows the breaking up of boats in the Kentucky river. It is estimated that fully one million dollars worth of logs have been lost in this way at Jackson, Beattyville, Valleyview and other points. The Lexington and Eastern Railway has been a heavy loser. Above Clay City its tracks were submerged in some places to the depth of five feet, while in some places the tracks were washed away.

LINDSAY ROOTERS AMONG THE BEST

ONE OF THE SAFEST COCK FIGHTING RESORTS IN ONTARIO

What has been accomplished in a few years under the fostering care of Town Council and under the eye of the Police.

According to the ethics of "dead game sports" the province over Lindsay is a "bally", says the Post, having here the cockfighter is unmolested and sharpers may ply their trade with impunity; here operations may be conducted without resorting to troublesome methods for ensuring secrecy. What wonder, then, that Lindsay's reputation as a sport resort has gone abroad. True, the beginning was insignificant, but rich in promise for the future—a few false athletic tournaments, wrestling matches etc., were not happenings calculated to attract widespread attention, but they were stepping-stones to subsequent greatness. The slip then played had been carefully tended, and has since borne good fruit, in a sporting sense.

It is said that the Mexican "grange" is passionately addicted to the sport of cock-fighting because it awakens in him the lust for gory sights of the bull-ring transmitted by Spanish ancestors, and can be enjoyed more frequently and at smaller cost. Certainly it is not difficult to trace resemblance between the two sports—the bull with horns polished and sharpened to perforate man or beast and the bird, armed with razor-like spur to pierce its opponent. Hence the "granger" can plead the potency of transmitted blood and the stronger plea of a nationalized sport. The cock-fighter has no sentimental attachment for the sport—see follows it because of its money-making opportunities and its attractiveness as a betting medium.

The first few cocking mobs held in Lindsay and vicinity were conducted in guarded fashion; the attendance was confined mainly to the principals. This was because the outsiders were somewhat timid—they feared a descent by the police. But with immunity came growing boldness; when a fight had been pulled off within a stone's throw of Chief Bell's dwelling caution was cast to the winds and another, on a much more ambitious scale, was held in the Canoe Club barnhouse. The attendance was very large, betting was brisk, and whisky, beer, and light refreshments were dispensed over a well-appointed bar to the tune, it is said, of over $100.

At that meeting it was reported that over $1,200 changed hands. These followed several out-of-town sweeps, recently another took place in Bethany town hall and aroused a wave of indignation that will probably sweep away half of the township council at the next election; and as the losers were anxious for another go in the hope of winning back their money a return match was arranged for and held near town on Thursday night last.

It was a great battle, and was attended by the very cream of the cock-fighting aristocracy of Toronto, Peterborough, Kingston, and Lindsay, and by representatives of the elite of St. Catharines, Windsor, Buffalo and other places. The event took place in a barn north of Mr. R. Dark's farm about four miles from town, and some 300 persons were present. Town lividities did a rushing business, and towards midnight things began to present a business-like aspect. Some little concern was aroused before the sports left town by the news that Chief Bell had received instructions from Mayor Waters to stop the match at all hazards and arrest the principals, and the rumor was confirmed by that officer's appearance on Keat St., dressed as if determined to remain out all night. It was at first proposed to send a messenger to transfer the birds and outfit to another barn, but knowing devotees of the sport wished the other eye, gave

The Stock Yards.
Mr. H. P. Kennedy's stock yard scheme will be laid before the Council this afternoon at three o'clock.

Prices Reduced.
Sweeping reductions in corsets for this week only, at Miss Melville's, Hunter-st. 60c corsets reduced to 38c.

Wheeler Riders Beware.
Yesterday, two men each contributed $2 to the town exchequer for the fun of riding their wheels on the sidewalks. It may be worth this sum; but we scarcely think so.

Mills in Operation.
The two saw mills at Bridgenorth are running full blast, and turning out large supplies of lumber. Mr. Kelly's large mill has been in operation for some weeks, while Mr. Brumwell's only recently got started.

The Ice House.
Mr. Louis Fobert, the genial proprietor of the Chamong Park hotel, told the Times yesterday that the recent rains had turned Chamong lake into a sheet of glare ice, as beautiful as a mirror. The ice is over 30 inches thick, and never was stronger of better.

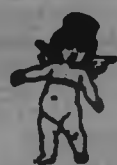

Scarlet Fever Cases.
A number of cases of scarlet fever exist in town, and precautions should be promptly taken to keep it from spreading. It is one of the most contagious of diseases, and if the patients are not isolated, would soon become epidemic. Parents, under the law, are compelled to report to Dr. Clarke, Medical Health Officer, under severe penalties.

Little Duke's Company.
"The Little Duke," was presented at the Opera House, last night, by the Marks Bros. Company. Its production was seen by a large and appreciative audience. May A. Bell, handles a familiar role in Laura, the Little Duke, and was repeatedly applauded. The specialties were good and contributed materially to the evening's amusement. At the matinee this afternoon "East Lynne" will be produced by special request. To-night "The Black Flag" will be put on the boards. This is one of their best plays, the cast requiring the entire strength of the company.

The Little Duke's Company.
There is no money while the Corporation speaks to better advantage or what the ratapatties acquire more cheerfully in than the grant of $300 to the Children's Aid Society. The care and comfort of the unsheltered and unprotected little ones, is a worthy object, and the granting of $300 by the Council on Monday night, was an act of popular wisdom. The amount of sorrow and suffering which the society has alleviated, places it away in the front rank, as a human benefactor. The Society has accomplished, and is still accomplishing a grand work in Peterborough, and we are glad to see the Council so regard it.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES CONVENTION.

PETERBORO VS. LINDSAY.

Lindsay Carriers Carry off the Peterboro vs. Lindsay Cup.

Yesterday was a field day amongst carriers, as it always is when our men meet their Lindsay friends on the ice. Three rinks from our sister town played in the Lindsay-Peterborough Cup competition here, and two rinks of Colts, played in Lindsay. The following is the result:

Flavelle, (skip), Lindsay 23
Whiten (skip), Peterborough 7

Majority for Lindsay
(Rev.) McMillan (skip), Lindsay 23
Dumble (skip), Peterborough 13

Majority for Lindsay
Dr. Boucher (skip) Peterborough 19
Edwards (skip), Lindsay 14

Majority for Peterborough 5

This gave Lindsay a total majority here of 20 shots. The two rinks skipped by Messrs. T. Ferguson and Knappman were up 10 and 6 shots respectively, which left Lindsay a winner all round by 4 shots.

There was a large number present to witness the match of our old friend Mr. J. D. Flavelle, play. He is a perfect carrier, and if his men are "on," his opponents have little show for the game. He seldom makes a mistake, and plays a winning game from the start.

Skip Whiten and some of his "back" played a hard luck. Mr. Whiten thinks his rink can beat Mr. Flavelle's if his men are in good fettle. We wish him luck.

Police Magistrate Dumble did his best to hold a, his end, but his opponents curled "rings" around him, and he was unable to submit a successful defence.

Hockey To-night.
A local hockey team will play Lindsay, to-night, in that town. Our boys will leave on the evening train, and return in the morning. They expect to come back with the scales of the Lindsayites appended to their clothes. The village to the north put up a fairly good game of curling at times, but know little about hockey having gained their imperfect education in this line from a club of "kids" at Fenton Falls. The Times sporting editor, will accompany the boys to-night, and see that they are treated to be best.

The Band Man.
Sir—I would like to draw the attention of the readers of the Times to the position of the band stand at Victoria Park. It is situated too far up on the hill, and the music is not harmonious to people below.

The stand should be lower down, or over in the place where the band stand is if the music is to be worth listening to.

I thank you, Mr. Editor for your space.

A Lover of Music.
Peterborough, March 7, 1899.

The Poetry Association.
Mr. Robert H. Leary and Mr. Wm. Collins, the energetic and popular Secretary addressed the Council on Monday evening asking for a grant to the Poetry Association to enable them to make the exhibition a success. The Council should deal liberally with the Association.

The annual Ontario Poultry Show will be held in Peterborough next year. The two much credit cannot be given to Collins and one or two others for securing us this boom. It will mean a large number of visitors in town for several days, and this cannot occur without benefit to the whole town and to the merchants in particular.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.
—Mrs. Geo. Paton has gone to Thomsville, Ga., to spend a couple of months with her son, Mr. B. B. Paton.

—It is said that the Canadian General Electric Company will erect during the coming summer a couple of large buildings.

—Master George Marks, son of Mr. R. W. Marks of Marks Bros. Dramatic Company, is attending school here.

—Mr. Frank Mercer, manager of Mr. R. H. Bruce's store, who was in town over Sunday, the guest of his sister, Mrs. R. Neil.

—Miss Reid, who is in charge of the dressmaking department at Messrs. Richard Hall & Co., has returned from vacation.

—Miss Stella Lemay, who has been visiting her sister Mr. H. LeBrun, for Toronto on Monday, for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Richard Gough, of Gough Bros.

—Mr. Ed. Berkett, known to the patrons of the lower waters as a steward on the City of Peterborough, is suffering from pneumonia, and is very low. He is stopping with his father-in-law, Mr. R. Jackson, Rice Lake.

—The Ashburham School board met last night. The board is authorized to make arrangements with the Peterborough Board of Education to have Ashburham attend the Collegiate Institute on the same terms as the town children.

Notes on the Streets.
Editor Morning Times.

Sir—I notice by the Times report of the Council meeting that the Canadian General Electric Company are endeavoring to secure pole rights on our streets.

Now, Mr. Editor, I feel that something should be done if possible to prevent one pretty street being destroyed in this way. I do not mean by this that obstacles should be placed in the way of the advancement of so important an industry as the Electric works, but I would emphasize the feeling in town that arrangements should be made to string all wires on one set of poles.

It may not be known to many that the Ontario Bell Telephone Company sold out to the Bell people, their poles were to pass into the possession of the town. Why was this done? It is the duty of the Council to take some action that prevent our streets being destroyed. Thanking you Mr. Editor, I am, &c.,

Ratagay
Peterboro, March 7, 1899.

—Inspector Ranney has two gangs of men at work re-planking the Smith-st. bridge, working from the two ends. The bridge has been in bad condition of late and several accidents have occurred.

The statement made in another column by a correspondent to the effect that the poles of the defunct Ontario Telephone Company were to have been the property of the town is incorrect. When the Ontario Telephone Company sold out, the Bell Company offered to remove the poles from the streets. Instead of this they sold them to the Light and Power Company. The town authorities were lax in not enforcing the terms of sale by taking over the poles for power purposes.

The Water Works.
The Council are to meet and confer with the directors of the Water Company, this afternoon at 3 o'clock, with a view of taking over the Water Works by the town. This is one of the most important matters that have ever come before our civic authorities. The meeting to-day is only a preliminary matter. The conditions of sale will have to be fully thrashed out in council and by the press. The Times will keep its readers fully informed on the subject.

The Printers Win.
A very interesting hockey match was pulled off at the Charlotte street rink last night between the employees of the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company, and the local printers. Both teams went in for to do or die and for a while it was hard to pick the winner. The printers, however, demonstrated their superiority, and won handily by a majority of 6 to 1. Roly Glover on the forward line played the star game for the printers. Heap at star point, was greatly in evidence, doing much to break up the "excellent combination work" of the machine men. Dobbin in goal is a wonder, and handles the hockey stick nearly as well as the best of the position. Bradburn played a fast game while Ferguson at point worked like a Trojan, and had it not been for his efforts the score would have been much larger than it was. "Sport" Crowley discharged the existing duties of referee to the satisfaction of everyone. The teams lined up as follows: Hamiltons, goal, P. McFadden; point, T. Ferguson; corner, R. Bradburn, forwards, J. Jefferson, J. Moore, C. Fitzgerald, B. Dawson. Printers, goal, F. Hobbin; point, F. Hubbs, corner, G. Heap; forwards, A. Terrill, H. Goldie, R. Glover, T. H. Glover. Referee W. Crowley. Umpires, J. Comstock, F. Lynch.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

Eight Worthy Bred. James R. Bred, Port Hope, D.D.G.M., Ontario district No. 12, officially visited Peterborough Lodge 185 A.P. & A. M. last night. A number of visiting brethren were present.

Advance in Wood. There seems to be a scarcity of dry wood, and as a result the prices are high. It is almost impossible to procure dry wood from the farmers, as little or none is coming to town.

The Union Bible Society meeting took place last night in the George Street Methodist church, when an eloquent and instructive address was delivered by Rev. Mr. Knowles of Oak. Mr. Knowles is the guest of Rev. Dr. Torrance.

Increasing Hardship. Mr. G. F. Marter, M. P. has given notice in the Legislature of a bill providing that before a liquor shop license shall be granted a petition signed by two-thirds of the rate-payers in the subdivision must be secured. At present such is the law with regard to tavern licenses. The road of the liquor vendor is becoming harder and harder.

Effects of Life in the Country. The Toronto Telegram says: "Walter Chasman, the corporal but speedy forward of the Listowel, took advantage of the out rates and came to town last night. He is looking the picture of health, and shows the effect of good country air. He says Listowel is one of the best towns in Canada to play in, but that they will have a swell team next season. He will go east to Peterborough and visit the farm, before returning to Listowel."

A Hockey Brawl. Our office lamp has taken to hockey and poetry and furnishes the following account of to-night's match between the Guelph team and the home club. "Just break the news to mother!" Our band begins to play. "Yell oh yell for Peterborough will win! Yell oh yell! Stand up all your yell! Yell oh yell for Peterborough skates like a!" There will be a hot time in the old town to-night.

Our Water Works. Under the efficient management of Mr. Henderson, the Water Company has made rapid advances during the past year. The Superintendent said that 800 feet of 6-in. pipe had been laid during the year, a total mileage of over 10 miles. There are now 127 hydrants on 11th street and 125 stop valves, two of each having been laid during the year. 50 services in Ashburnham, making a total in use of 900. The pumping plant, etc., are in good condition and have been approved of by the Board of Underwriters of the Insurance Association.

THE CATTLE YARDS.

Mr. H. P. Kennedy's New Scheme Before the Council.

Mr. H. P. Kennedy laid his new cattle yard scheme before a committee composed of the whole council yesterday afternoon. He said that he had organized a joint stock company with a subscribed capital of $25,000, $10,000 of which is paid up. The company propose to erect and operate suitable stock yards, provided the town will give them some assistance. What they propose is for the town to provide the site and have water, light and sewerage. The land selected is situated on the Monaghan road and Roman street, and is known as the Christy Estate. It comprises about eight acres and can be had for about $2000. It was absolutely necessary to have water and sewerage, in order to comply with the Health Act.

Mr. Kennedy went on to explain the advantages that Peterborough would derive from having properly conducted stock yards. He used a number of letters from stock men in the western states to show that there was considerable demand for our young stock. Some of these people are already large buyers of Mr. Kennedy's number taking as many as 1000, 2000 and even 3000 head of cattle in a season. It was ascertained that about 3500 feet of sewer would have to be constructed. The Water Company, Mr. Kennedy said, would carry the pipes to the yards for the sake of the revenue they would get. Most of the members present appeared to be in favor of assisting Mr. Kennedy, and a committee was appointed consisting of the Mayor and Aldermen Davidson and Langford to look into the matter and report at a meeting to be held this afternoon to which all drivers are to be invited to attend, so that the Council may have their views on the subject.

Only a Few Left. There are only a few copies left of the map of the County of Peterborough, published by the Times Printing Co. in paper 50c each; mounted with wooden rollers, $2.00. Procure one before too late.

The Parks Committee. The attention of the Park Committee is called to a letter in our Times of yesterday, re the head stand in Victoria Park. The stand which the band plays, is spoken of as an eyesore. The stand should be taken away altogether, and the old one enlarged.

Letter Writers. Letter writers who write for publication are reminded that the Times is not a ten page paper; that consequently the longer a letter is the longer it will have to wait. The Times welcome discussions on live topics through its columns but would argue brevity. If you have anything to say, by all means say it, but cut it as short as possible.

The Town and Water Works. Yesterday afternoon Messrs. R. A. McPherson, President; R. B. McKee, Vice-President and G. W. Hutton, Secretary of the Peterborough Water Works Company, accompanied by Mr. Henderson, the Chief Engineer, spent two hours with the Town Council with closed doors, discussing the proposed sale of the works to the town. The Town Engineer was instructed to go over the plant with view to verifying the figures submitted by the company and report to the Council.

Division Court Query. To the Editor of The Times. Sir,—What is the least amount of money a man can sue for in the Division Court?

Reply.—There is no restriction whatever as to the amount for which you may bring suit. It is almost a weekly occurrence with officers of the Division Courts to serve summonses in suits brought to recover amounts not exceeding $1; and in fact, since the first Division Court in this city, judgment was given for plaintiff in an action brought to recover 5 cents, the amount of a laundry bill. On the other hand one may not sue for more than $100 on an open account, or $200 with interest on a note or other negotiable.

Locality. Local newspapers should warn their business men against a rascal who is operating according to reports in the following Times as follows:—He goes into a store and claims to have the same name as the proprietor, and is afraid that things will get mixed up, as he is going into business there. In case of goods being delivered there by mistake, will the merchant please take charge of them until he comes for them. The stranger then goes to the wholesaler and orders a big bill of goods, usually jewelry. The goods are sent. The stranger comes along and takes them away. As the good-natured merchant had received the goods and allowed them to pass from his hands, he has to pay for them.

For Sale, To Rent or Exchange for Town Property. about nine acres of land, on which there is a two story brick house, and outbuildings, with all modern conveniences, situated near the old Methodist Cemetery on Victoria Avenue. The undersigned will rent of sell or exchange for town property. First-class place for a market gardener. J. B. Donald.

The Price of Bread.

To the Editor of The Times: Sir,—Is it not about time that the price of bread was reduced in accordance with the price of flour? Flour is now sold at 10 cents per 3-pound loaf and a barrel of flour produces 90 three-pound loaves, which at 10 cents per loaf, gives $9 for flour, which costs $1 per barrel for expenses. Bread at the present price of flour ought not to be sold for more than 7 cents per loaf.—Yours, etc., Peterborough, March 8, 1899.

FAIR PLAY.

The Ponton Car.

Some few days ago, says the Intelligence, R. M. E. G. Porter, counsel for Mr. W. H. Ponton, accused of robbing the Dominion Bank at Nanapanee, wrote the Attorney-General of Ontario in reference to the case, and asked for information as to what the Department intended to do in the matter. He has received a reply from the Deputy Attorney-General stating that the postponement of the trial until the Fall, giving various reasons for such a delay. Mr. Porter replied immediately to this communication, stating he was prepared to have the trial proceed at the Assizes this spring, and that he was not at all willing to accede to an adjournment. He thinks it is only just to his client that the trial should be proceeded with as soon as possible, and no postponement granted. The outcome of the correspondence will be awaited with interest.—Belleville Intelligence.

CHRISTIAN SYMPATHY AND KINDNESS

Has been the subject of much discussion and debate. It is a subject of great importance, and one that should be carefully considered. The following are some of the points raised in the discussion:

1. The importance of Christian sympathy and kindness in the home.

2. The importance of Christian sympathy and kindness in the community.

3. The importance of Christian sympathy and kindness in the world.

THE GREAT CENTRAL STATION IS COMPLETED

LONDON'S DIRECT LINE WITH THE NORTH.

A Station of 120 Acres—It Will Cost From $2,000,000 to $3,000,000. The New Line to 120 Miles Long.

London, March 8.—Next week will witness the opening of the Great Central Railway running between London and the north of England. The completion of this subject whereby the Great Central Railway will bring the industrial districts of Sheffield, Manchester and other northern cities into more direct and frequent communication with London, is one of the most important events in recent railway development. It is a decade since the managers of the east and west lines of traffic crossing England from Hull to Liverpool recognized the importance of affording them and the intermediate populous cities better facilities of communication with London, and of carrying on their own railroads goods that were being directed to other lines. Thus was the Manchester, Sheffield, and Lincolnshire extension through Staveley to Annesley, the new system began pushing its way southward. What is now termed the Great Central began at Annesley, and its southern connecting point is Quainton Road, when it joins the Metropolitan Railway to London. Practically the new line is divided into three sections. Annesley to Rugby, Rugby to Quainton Road and thence to London—a total of about 120 miles. Important terminal facilities have been secured in London. The Metropolitan company has doubled its tracks from Newenden to West Haverhill to accommodate the new system.

Few people have been able to realize all that is involved in the construction of the Terminal Station in the center of London. Not less than 150 acres of land is covered. Roads, streets and squares, houses, shops, and gardens from St. John's Wood Road on the south—the length of the Strand from Trafalgar Square to the Law Courts; an area greater than St. James' Park—have been required, yard, every foot, used, and used to within this area every yard, every the best advantage. The cost without the land will probably amount to $2,000,000 perhaps $3,000,000. The station is planned more or less after that of Charing Cross.

A SEA VOYAGE ON LAND

London, March 8.—The most remarkable feature of the Paris Exhibition of 1900 will be the "Maritime," which gives one all the sensations of a sea voyage. First of all, the vessel will be real, and the ship will be a special machinery that will be made to pitch and roll just as if it were at sea. The model of ocean will complete the illusion. Once the steamer is on the move in harmony with the development of the journey. There will be a full sea for the day, stars for the night, and black clouds, with thunder and lightning, to give the passengers all the sensations of a tempest. The itinerary of the journey will be from Marseilles to Constantinople, and the ship will stop at Algiers, Naples and other places on the way. The bridge of the steamer, it may be explained, rests on a pivot, spherical in the center, so as to allow the ship the take all the positions required in rolling and pitching, which are regulated by the alternative movements of pumps. Passengers who are not good sailors will go down under the bridge, and through the loopholes will see the panorama unfold itself. The commentators regard the Maritima as the leading feature of the Exposition.

"FALSE BOONOMOY."

Sanctiago, de Cuba, March 8.—Colonel Hood cables from Holguin that intense excitement prevails there, owing to the celebration of public works, and that a mass meeting has been held at which the action of the United States military authorities at Havana was condemned as "false boonomo," and as the result of centralization. One of the reasons for the hostility of the case Colonel Hood says he has issued indignant letters to 3,000 heads of families suddenly thrown out of employment. He fears there will be a large increase in the criminal classes of his district. Practically all the districts of the province have reached here. Meanwhile money enough is lying idle in the bank to pay all that is due and to keep the men at work. Colonel Hood has requested the use of the former Spanish gunboat Baraca, recently raised by the Americans as a lighthouse tender.

TO RECEIVE SAMPTON.

Kingston, Jamaica, March 8.—The United States gunboats Annapolis and Vicksburg have arrived here in advance of the other ships of the American squadron, and big preparations are being made by the civil and naval authorities for suitably entertaining Rear-Admiral Sampson and his officers during their visit to this port. Public sympathy with the United States is evidenced by the general display of American flags throughout the city and on the ships in port.

STRAINED RELATIONS.

Belgrade, March 8.—The relations between Russia and Serbia are of the most strained character. The Russian Minister, M. Shadovsk, has left Belgrade, after vainly endeavoring to persuade King Alexander I. and his father-in-law, King Milan I., and deny the latter's debts to Russia. The King openly snubbed Shadovsk by not inviting him to a court dinner. Russia is prepared to exert satisfaction.

Keep Shot With a Graphophone

The Graphophone is to the ear what the photographic camera is to the eye, and more, for the graphophone catches instantly and preserves every detail and shade of sound. A most interesting use of a Graphophone is to make records of your friends' voices to be preserved for future use. You can catch the story of your jolly friend just as he told it, or the favorite song of some loved one, just as she sang it, and have it reproduced perfectly at any time and as often as you please. Besides the Graphophone affords wonderful entertainment in the way of reproducing the music of banquets, or vocal or instrumental soloists. No excitement will return so much in pleasure as the purchase of a Graphophone. It is the perfect talking machine. Grand March Chapter Meet With the West. (John School Report.)

Barrie, March 8.—At last night's session of the Black Chapter of Ontario West the committee on correspondence in reporting on Grand Master Williams' address, arranged a surprise by a carefully worded paragraph in the Manitoba school question. The paragraph was applauded in many quarters, and was adopted along with the rest without discussion. It read as follows:

"We join the Right Worshipful Grand Master in his apprehensions relative to the satisfactory settlement of the Manitoba school question, and we believe we have reason to fear that the pledges of those who received support on the ground of promising satisfactory settlement have not been fulfilled, and that in consistency with the former position it should be insisted on that those who made fair promises of carrying out certain principles, failing in the same, should receive the same practical condemnation which was meted to those who were accused of favoring the continuation of the Roman Catholic schools in that province."

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The election of officers this morning was conducted by Col. Scott, and the newly-elected officers are as follows:

Grand Master—Marshall Thompson, Windsor.
Deputy Grand Master—T. W. Robinson, Stratford.
Junior Deputy Grand Master—W. J. Dunslop, Toronto.
Grand Chaplain—Rev. Wm. Walsh, Brampton.
Grand Treasurer—Edward Medcalf, Toronto.
Grand Comptroller—J. A. Hutton, Toronto.
Major Elliott, Galt St. Marie.
Grand Standard-bearer—W. J. Thompson, Fordwick; Jas. Wilson, Petrolia.
Grand Pursuivant—B. Mahood, Walsburg.

The chapter finished its business this morning, and is attending the Grand Orange Lodge, which is being held this afternoon. The principal feature of the session was, of course, the address of the Grand Master of Ontario West.

GRAND ORANGE LODGE.

Grand Master Jermyn gave his address and was followed by the grand secretary and grand treasurer's reports, after which committees were appointed and will report on these official documents to-night on in the morning.

The address of Mr. D. M. Jermyn, the Grand Master, welcomed the brethren to Barrie, and referred to the program being made by the order. It consisted:

Since we last met the continent of America has been startled by the declaration of war and the sound of mighty guns. That one of Britain's children should make war with one of the most Romanized nations in the world on account of her barbarous treatment of her own subjects is noteworthy, inasmuch as it leads us to the conclusion that Anglo-Saxons are destined to defend, to educate and enlighten the world. Let us take a look at the history of nations for the past two hundred years, and we find that every nation whose people are blinded by the errors of Rome have been gradually crumbling into decay, while the Protestant nations have each given forth a beacon light, shedding rays of sunshine and liberty in their path.

I cannot refrain from expressing the regret we all feel at the growth of ritualism in the Established Church of England. During recent years these practices have grown very rapidly, and an alarming has it become that the leaders of both political parties in Great Britain have felt called upon to denounce the conduct of a number of bishops and clergy. Sir Wm. Vernon Harcourt has taken a strong stand against the movement, and for a time it appeared as if a new political party would be brought forth for the purpose of suppressing what certainly must be considered a real danger to the church, and Protestantism. The Church of Rome was never more earnestly at work to overthrow Protestantism in Britain and to undo the work of the Reformation than she is at the present day. It is useless, therefore, for some to tell us that the end of Anglicanism is past, and that we should abandon it. My opinion is that so long as Rome lasts our society will be required. The Orange Association must ever remain as a sentinel on the watchtower, defending the liberties which are so dear to every free man.

We learn also of a society formed both in England and Canada, the object of which is to influence the Imperial Parliament to so amend the British constitution that a Roman Catholic could occupy the throne. Our gracious sovereign the Queen is the head of the Church. The Crown is bound to the heirs of her body, being Protestant. Therefore the amendment to my mind would be a fatal blow, and one against which every Orangeman must war. Not because a Roman Catholic could not be a good sovereign, but because Rome claims the right to dictate to beliefs and history would repeat itself. Let us therefore beware of such movements, and while we are willing to accord to every subject of Her Majesty equal rights with ourselves, we cannot consent to the hounding back to Rome what has taken so many lives and centuries to secure.

Grateful references were made to the deaths of Dalton McCarthy and the Rev. Father Chmiquy, pointing out how the latter remained firm in the faith during his last hours, on his deathbed refusing the offer of Archbishop Bruchet of Montreal to visit him. Had the reverend brother consented to the interview, judging from the Archbishop's remarks, the Church of Rome would have claimed a victory and the return of Father Chmiquy to her fold.

The splendid position of the Orange Mutual Benefit Fund, which has a neat surplus and an increasing membership, the great improvement in commerce, and the good work of the Festival were the subjects of closing allusions.

Montréal, March 8.—Radcliffe, the hangman, who has undertaken the task of hanging Cordelia Vian and Sam Parolow on Friday for the murder of Isadore Poirer, did not meet with a cordial reception in the village of Ste. Scholastique on his arrival there. All the public places of amusement refused to give him accommodation, and the private houses were much less inclined to take him. The people of the village are exclusively French-Canadian, and the carpenter who erected a gallows there eighteen years ago has been frowned down on ever since, as people are suspicious and look upon the money earned in such a manner as Judas money. Radcliffe was compelled to come to Montréal to get shelter, and will have to ride back and forth between here and Ste. Scholastique every day until after the hanging.

Resolves

Local newspapers should warn their business men against a racial war by spreading according to reports in the Morning Times as follows—He has been into a store and claims to have the same name as the proprietor, and is afraid that things will get mixed up, so he is going into business there. He came of goods being delivered there by mistake, will the merchant please take charge of them until he comes for them. The stranger that goes to the wholesaler and orders a big bill of goods, usually jewelry. The goods are sent. The sharper comes along and takes them away. As the goods are returned, the merchant has received the goods and allowed them to pass from his hands, he has to pay for them.

AN OLD MAID.

Her eyes, like quiet ponds, are clear:
Her parted lips are sweet and fair;
The frost of many a wintry year
Lies on her hair.

She has no memory of love:
I changed below in April moon,
Or whispered, "I am yours," beneath the boughs
Of rose-bright June.

She never planned for wedding gown:
This sweet old maiden true and good;
For her life led no sacred row
Of marriage bed.

Yet to the shadow of her side
The full-blown children press;
The known she mothers far and wide
The motherless.

The poor and suffering love her well:
Such ready sympathy she shows;
The sorrow burdened freely tell
Their woes.

For those who struggle, those who fall,
She has a kindly smile for all—
A cheering word,
A helping hand.

With fate she never wages strife:
"It must be what God knows best," Blissful and true.

She grows the path with flowers:
She turns the darkness into day;
And as the sun her hands in ours,
We can but say:

Dear friend, so rich in love and truth,
With large, warm heart, and steadfast
mind,
Twas well for some that in your youth
The man was blind.

DEED OF KINDNESS.

We had come upon an Indian flagging the banks of a creek, close under the steep sides of a mountain, and we charged at once and soon had possession of it. The warriors were away on an expedition, but a sub-chief, named Gray
Wolf, who was lame from a wound,
was in command. Our revolvers and saddles were put away, and we were opposed to, and in seeking to get away,
Gray Wolf was knocked down by a horse and rendered unconscious. He was one of the 25 persons we safely carried back to the fort, and as he was known to be one of the most bold-hearted of his tribe, his confinement was a rigorous one. He was placed in a cell
in the guardhouse, by himself, loaded down with arms, and all members of the guard on duty were permitted to stare at and outrage him; abuse him by word of mouth. Gray Wolf was a young man of dignity and pride, and the personal insult was more than the confinement, though he made no complaint in either case. He had been confined for three weeks when, as some of the guards told us, on the last day of the month, he was taken out of the cell and began a conversation in his own tongue.
It resulted in his showing us that the trousers were galling him, and of his asking protection from further insult. I treated to the delight of the soldiers the iron bars removed, and I got something from the hospital at-ward to soothe the broken flesh. I gave Gray Wolf news of his fellow prisoners and of his tribe outside, and the risk of capture spoiled out his prison fare with a part of my rations. I did these things
for him as I would have done them for any animal, and not because I sym-pathized with him as a human being.
An Indian may be technically called a human being, but it is nearer the truth to refer to him as a human devil. In getting the revolver released from his trousers I did him the turn he was due for. That night, with a white-wash tunnel standing only six feet away, Gray
Wolf tunneled under the basement logs
of his prison and made good his escape, and it was only by the grace of the stars that he escaped a court-martial. The fellow showed the devil in his nature, even as under his wagon in a teamster lying Gray Wolf paused to murder and scalp
him, and from that hour on a price was set upon his head and every soldier in the fort was determined to shoot him down, even if he offered to surrender.

Two months after the escape of Gray
Wolf, and while his tribe was still waiting a relentless warfare, I was ordered out of Fort Gray with a squad of troops to bridge a creek and to cross the Seven troopers and myself and ex-ec-uting the vigilance were thought abundantly able to take care of themselves, and two hours after leaving the fort we were hard at work. We owed a straight tree-trunk 25 feet long for one of the spring-poles of the bridge. Leaving my horse at his picket-pin I started out
alone in search of the right sort of tree.

I was on a forest-covered foothill, and as I was about to start, I was with masses of rock overtopping here and there. I was about 40 rods from
the men and just passing one of these outcrops when I was struck down. I saw the arm of an Indian and a club,
and then there was a crash and a legion
of fiery stars. It was perhaps five minutes before I opened my eyes, and found myself lying on the ground. The Indians, of whom there were three, then have heard of me through Gray Wolf,
for I was one of the two men at the post who could speak the Sioux dialect,
and one of them said to me:

"If you cry out we will kill you! Get up and come along."

I staggered about as I reached my feet, and one of them took my arm to help me along. With one leap I was up and the other bringing up the rear
we set off in a westerly direction, and were soon out of the hearing of the area of my comrades. For a time my head throbbed and I was almost blind, but my skull had been fractured, and we had gone a distance of two miles before
I fully realized that I was a captive.
The one holding my arm was the one who struck me with a club, and by and by I asked of him:

"Why didn't you use your tomahawk
instead of a club?"

"Did I want to kill you?" he laconically replied. "Have I not more fun in burning you at stake?"

"Who is your chief?"

"Gray Wolf chief of all now. He knows you. Go fast now and don't talk."

The Indians had their war paint on
and were well armed, and had perhaps
been skulking about for two or three days in hopes to get hold of a stray gier. After a rough walk of four miles
we came upon their ponies and a rough camp, and no time was lost in mounting
and getting away. I was ordered to behold one of the warriors, and they left my hands and feet entirely free.

While this was a favor to me, it did not add to my chances of escape. In fact, with an Indian ahead and another
behind, there was no show whatever.

At the first move on my part, as I would get a bullet through me. We rode about 30 miles in a northwesterly direction
and then reached the head village on the banks of White Clay creek.

A war party of 140 men under Gray Wolf was out, but the warriors, old men and boys at home numbered fully 500.

As we rode into camp there was great excitement, and I took a few personal abuse, but I was swiftly conducted through the crowd as I confined in a lodge in the center of the village.

It was three days before the band came in and during this interval I had a chance to complain of the way I had been treated.

MRS. DRIFTER'S SAY.

Mrs. Drifter grew confidential the other evening. Some of Drifter's friends had called, and the subject of her interest in the South came up.

"Of course, it is all right," said Mrs.
Drifter. "For Drifter, as I tell about the trials he endured when he was in the South, I never get a paper in Texas. I never get a such a time in my life. I expected the Drifter would come home to me, and full of holes some night. When I was down at his office, reading the papers, of that cunning little paper he got me
I used to make my blood run cold to hear those men talk about gun plays, and so had made up in somebody's head."

Drifter reassured me by telling me that the crack of a pistol did not always mean that somebody had been hit. But you know what a brave man Drifter is.
You don't, either. You say you don't know anything about the time he saved our lives down in Texas? I don't think I ever realized before just how courageous Drifter is. You know I have even a ranch not a herd of cattle
since I arrived in Texas, and I begged Drifter to take me where the real Pan handle cattle could be seen, so he took me out to the stockyards beyond Fort Worth.

"Times were very hard down
there, and the packing house was closed,
and there were no signs of life at the stockyards. We walked around and around the huge enclosure, and I tried to imagine what it must be like when the herds of Texas steers came in from the Panhandle. We had gone quite a little distance from the high board fence,
and were admiring the scenery, when some cows came strolling along. We stood watching and admiring them until about 50 or 75 had passed us, when at once these loomed up before us an immense Texas bull. His manner was dignified and masterful. He looked at us, elevated his head, sniffed, and my heart gave a jump.

"That was when Drifter and his bravery came to the front. It is needless to say that I was frightened.
I thought my last moment had come.
The fence of the stockyards must have been 50 feet high; at least it looked so to me. Drifter afterward said that it was not more than 15, but I know that the trees around it were not so high as the fence.
He grasped me by the hand and said:

"Little girl, run for the fence. I will stay here and protect you."

I was brought up in the country, and I know it is the height of foolishness to run from a wild animal, so I flatly refused. "If we are going to die, we will die together," Drifter said, "but the best thing to do is to back slowly away from that awful bull. We backed toward the fence, and the bull paced toward us, never taking his eyes off us.
I know I could hear Drifter's heart beat for many a heart have been anxious for me, for I was not afraid of anything."

"Get behind that tree," he said, "and his voice sounded as if it was away off somewhere, and I felt as if we were to be separated forever. Reassuringly
he said:

"I will see that he does not touch
you. With that he took out his little pocket knife, opened the blade, which was not over three inches long, and said: 'There!' with as much defiance in his tone as if he had been behind a stone barricade and armed with a Martini rifle. Somehow or other we got to the fence at last. It was evident that Drifter would not let me take any chances alone, for he got there as soon as I did, and if you ever saw two people climb a high fence in the quickest possible space of time, it was Mr. and Mrs.
Drifter.

"We sat there on the top of the fence until dark, and Drifter never let me out of the knife. I really believe that if the bull had attacked me Drifter would have stabbed him with that penknife.
In the evening, after I had mastered up enough, we made our way back, keeping close by the fence, until we reached a little hotel connected with the stockyards. Drifter never said a word about the adventure, and you would not have thought he had done anything remarkable, but I know that he saved my life from the wild Texas bull."

It took Mrs. Drifter's friends some time to rise to a proper appreciation of the courage displayed by her husband at that time of danger, and after she had fanned herself vigorously, she continued:

"You ought to get Drifter to tell you about the time he went out to the lake near Fort Worth. I was just dying for a sight of a body of water. It did seem to me as if I would dry up there in Texas unless I could get within sound of the ocean's roar, so Drifter did the best he could. He took me out to a pleasure resort about five miles from the city, at a place called Arlington.

"The people in the hotel told us in what direction to walk to the lake, and we walked. We kept on walking, and not a sign of a lake was to be seen.
At last we found our way back to the trolley line, and asked one of the railroad men where the Arlington lake was.

"Oh," he said, "I guess they have not turned the water on yet. There has been a crowd. Last Sunday there was a big excursion, then you could have seen the lake full of water."

"Turn the water on!" I exclaimed. "I thought they had turned on the water pump, and all that sort of thing."

"So they do, indeed," said the trolley man, but you know it's pretty dry country down here, and they can't afford to waste water on that lake unless there's a crowd."

Drifter looked up and said: "What we want to know is where the lake is and when there is any water."

"The trolley man was accommodating and he walked along with us, took me what he called a hill, and then pointed out a hole in the ground, about 50 feet round, and as dry as the hotel porch.
Of course, I was amused, but nevertheless less disappointed.

"Never mind," said Drifter. "I will take you for a sail on the Trinity River tomorrow. They are making now of running a line of boats up the Trinity from Galveston, and it will seem like old times to get on a real big excursion steamer."

"For the next week or two Trinity River navigation was thoroughly patented in the Texas papers. As soon as I could make out the principal difference between the river and the Trinity river of snags, I read that such boat No. 1 had accomplished wonders that snag boat No. 2 had just left Dallas, and I fairly ran for the Trinity requires no skill to op-

voice of the speaker, or any other voice, or instrumental sounds. There is nothing like it for an evening's entertainment.

Other so-called talking machines reproduce only records of cut-and-dried subjects, specially prepared in a laboratory. Let the Graphophone be limited to such performances. On the Graphophone you can easily make and instantly
reproduce records of the voice, or any sound.
Thus it constantly awakens new interest and its charm is ever fresh. The reproductions are

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 10, 1899

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

Weather Forecast.
Prob. Cloudy to fair and milder.

To Start from Hawkeston.
The Campbellford Herald, discussing the proposed line to Apsey and the back country, says that the line will be run from Hawkeston instead of Norwood, if built at all.

York Pioneers.
The York Pioneers, a society with headquarters in Toronto, propose to come to Peterborough this season on their annual excursion. The Pioneers were here about 16 or 18 years ago, and presented the town council with the picture of themselves which is now hanging in the council chamber. It is expected the Council will extend an official welcome to the visitors, many of whom are distinguished citizens of Toronto and York County.

Expected to be Performed.
William Hooper, brother of Reginald Hooper, of Port Hope, was in Peterborough last week and is positive that his brother now serving a life sentence in the Kingston Penitentiary for the murder of his wife, will be pardoned this summer. He states that the Minister of Justice is seriously considering the matter. The petition will not have as much weight with the Hon. Mr. Mills as the previous good conduct and standing of Hooper, and his conduct since his sentence was imposed.

Generous Liberator.
There are many in Toronto who give large sums to charitable objects, but none whose names appear in print on this connection more frequently than our late townsman, Mr. J. W. Flavell, who has just added $750 to the funds of the Newboys Home. Mr. Flavell lived here from childhood up to about ten years ago, when he went to the Queen City, and is now one of its wealthiest men. Mr. Flavell is also a former resident of Peterborough. Mr. Flavell was for years superintendent of the George Street Methodist Sunday School, and Mr. Flavell, who was a Miss Clara Ellsworth, was also a teacher, beloved and esteemed by all who came in contact with her.

"F. H. H. H."
There passed through Peterborough yesterday on her way to the Toronto General Hospital a child named Hunt, 12 years of age, who resides in 10 or 12 miles below Hawkeston with her aunt. She is suffering from a most peculiar and distressing skin disease, known as ichthyosis, or fish skin. With the exception of her face, almost the entire body of the child is covered with scales, resembling those of a fish. The skin of her hands is as dry as parchment and cracks upon the least exertion. In two years the disease has gradually spread over her entire body, having started upon the shins. There is no disease known to medical science which is more obstinate than ichthyosis. It is a disease passed from one generation to another, and once it makes its appearance the victim is sure of its company until death. The victim suffers but little pain further than that caused by the cracking of the skin, which becomes fearful, especially in cold weather. A daily bath in fish oil is the only known means of relief.

A ROAD TO THE NORTH.

The Burleigh Council Making a Move to Secure an Outlet.

By the report of the proceedings of the Burleigh Council published yesterday, it will be seen that the people of the north are determined to have a railway if possible, and are memorializing the Canadian Pacific Railway with a view to have a road constructed from Norwood by way of Apsey to Coe Hill, or some point on the line of the Banquet Ottawa Railway.

The people of Peterborough have only themselves to blame if this whole north country is cut away from us. The proposed line is said to be easy of construction and would give the C. P. R. entrance into an immense district, where minerals abound in vast quantities of other products are awaiting shipment. The Times would like to see a meeting of representatives from the north and our Council and Board of Trade. Some scheme might be formulated that would secure a line from Hawkeston north. Unless speedy action is taken it might be too late.

The License Fee.
Mr. Haveran, who represents the liquor interests, appeared before the Government on Monday and objected to the advance of the license fee, and on Tuesday he again talked the minister, opposing an increase in the hotel license fee, urging that in both cases the burden will fall upon the hotel men. It is hardly likely that any attention will be paid to Mr. Haveran's plea. In Peterborough the license will probably be $310.

The Conservative Leader.
Sir Charles Tupper, the Conservative chieftain, was seen for a few moments while passing through Peterborough yesterday on his way to Ottawa. Sir Charles, who looked hale and hearty, stated that he was satisfied that the country was weary of the present rulers. He spoke bitterly against the proposed changes in the law regarding the senatorial election, and said that it was a vicious attack on the foundation of confederation itself. Sir Charles said that Peterborough had always been a good Tory town and hoped it would always continue in the good old way. The veteran statesman gave our reporter a warm hand-shake as he hurried started, and waved his adieu to a few admirers who were gathered on the platform as the train disappeared in the distance.

Wooden Outrigger.
A George street merchant showed the Times a letter yesterday from a party offering to supply outriggers at one-quarter their regular price. The merchant to this appears in the fact that a firm of wood turners in Waterloo had been asked to produce a quantity of wooden outriggers. The man who left the order gave his name as Adolph Kraus and said the firm for which he was working would require several barrels of these imitation outriggers each week. The outriggers would be colored and finished in Toronto. Wooden outriggers unfinished are worth $3.50 a barrel. Finishers finish them up and sell them at 5 to 8 cents a piece, which is about one-quarter the price the real article brings. A story about a wholesale firm's assignment and the closing out of its big stock is the excuse advanced for selling a standard article at such a price. The deception is extremely hard to discover.

A Good Game.
The Lindsay Post, in commenting on the Lindsay-Peterborough hockey match says:—One of the closest and fastest games presented to the Lindsay spectators this winter was played last evening at the Skating Rink. The Peterborough team was composed largely of their senior men. The attendance was large, and the ice was in excellent condition. The combination work on both sides was good, and some brilliant rushes were made. The visitors as a team were evenly matched as to size and weight; their shooting and lifting was good, especially Hollingshead's, whose work was excellent. Their defence was almost perfect. They have a fast forward line. The home team was compelled to play a couple of junior men, owing to the illness of Taylor and Parkin. Mr. Ingram, of the Fenslow Falls team, seeing Lindsay's loss for men, kindly offered his services. Our defence men did some fine playing. Dr. Walters lifting and McMillan's stopping and checking were important features. The puck was flooded off at 9 o'clock and was a lively article for a few minutes, when Wiley made a rush, tossed to Ingram, and finally Paton managed to score. Soon after Lindsay scored another by Ingram, who played a star game in the forward line. The visitors made a grand rush, only to be stopped by Groom. The puck then reached Hollingshead, who in a lift and straight shot, scored, following with another, leaving a tie at half time, 2-2. Immediately after the home team added another. Peterborough followed with two more goals to their credit. Our boys were bound, however, to even matters, so with an excellent rush Ingram put it through amidst tremendous applause. Soon after time was up, the score standing 4-4. Watson's and Groom work as goalkeepers were good, both doing some fine stopping. Wiley, Shannon, Paton and Ingram played well together, putting up an excellent combination. Wiley made some brilliant rushes and found good support in Ingram. One thing particularly noticeable was that no rough play was indulged in, which is commendable.

PETERBORO BEATEN.

North Nationals did the Trick Last Night. Score 10-6.

The last hockey match of the season was played at the rink last night and from every point the game was fast and clean. Peterborough's team were beaten, not by superior play, but simply lack of condition. Ever since the Varsity game, the home team has not indulged in any practice hence not a single member of the team were in proper shape for the game and the players had to change places in order to get their wind. It is not necessary to state that this upped combination and other tricks which the boys exhibited in their championship matches.

On the other hand, the Nationals have just finished their last O.E.A. game and were in the pink of condition. Their combination was good and their defence strong. They are in every way a good lively team and will no doubt make a good showing against any of the Toronto septettes.

The following are the teams as they lined up before Referee Harry King. Nationals—Raymond, goal; Howitt, point; Morrison, cover point; Seale, Barber, Carmichael and Shields, forwards. Peterborough—Watson, goal; Reynolds, point; Hollingshead, cover point; Bellingham, Croomey, King, and Davidson, forwards.

Rev. R. Knowles, who delivered an eloquent address at the Bible Society meeting, on Wednesday received his early training at the Peterboro Collegiate Institute.

Little Miss Thompson.

The Marion Bros. Dramatic Company played "Little Miss Thompson" before a good audience last night. It was well presented, and captured the house. This popular company will engage in a performance in Peterborough tomorrow evening. To-night "Chick" will be presented.

Remond's work here.

As anticipated the council met yesterday afternoon and night. George Kennedy exemption of taxes and $100. The council also agreed to pay for one or eight at the entrance of the yards and to dig a cesspool. Mr. Kennedy promised to erect buildings to the value of $5,000. We are sure that the matter will be disposed of and that the stock yards will become a reality.

"That Fellow W. O. D."

A tall, heavy young man narrowly escaped a bad fall last night. Crossing George street just about the time the Opera was coming out and, while the crowd was passing close to the telephone pole at the corner of Charlotte street, he lost his footing and was thrown with considerable violence against the pole, striking it fair with his forehead, and partially stunning himself. His story at home was that "that despicable fellow Wood had given him one between the eyes." Two women passing at the moment screamed sympathetically.

Provincial Reference Library.

At a meeting held recently in Mr. Dumble's office, action was taken in reference to the formation of a Provincial Reference Library, which has its headquarters in Toronto. Mr. Fessenden, Principal of the Collegiate Institute, took the matter in hand and the result is that a committee was formed composed as follows:—Mr. Fessenden, Dr. Burnham, Inspector Walker, Mr. T. A. G. May, Mr. E. B. Edwards, (Rev. H. Symonds, Mrs. Kennedy, Mrs. Macfarlane Wilson, Miss Lundy and Miss Hilliday.) The books required are to be sent in boxes and returned at fixed dates.

The postal guide which will be issued shortly will announce that the class of mail matter hitherto sent as fourth class has been done away with and the former fifth class will in future be the fourth. The fourth class under the old classification consisted of packets closed against inspection and which might contain any class of documents, with all modern conveniences, situated near the old Methodist Cemetery on Victoria Avenue. Probable—Becoming unsettled with occasional rain.

To learn the shoe-fitting. One accustomed to sewing machine preferred. Apply to W. H. Anthony, Simcoe St.

Police Trial.
"Billy" Ponton is so well-known in Peterborough that many of our readers are thoroughly interested in him. It will therefore be disappointing for them to learn that his trial will not take place until next autumn. To those who believe in his innocence, this will mean unjust.

Peterborough's Advantages.
The Township Committee of Gravenhurst Town Council, in dealing with Orillia's offer to sell the town 100 horse power of electrical energy. Peterborough has many advantages over many towns and cities in having unlimited power at her doors, most of which are going to waste.

The T. F. C.
Mr. John Carnegie, under the auspices of the Trent Valley Osmol Association has prepared a very interesting pamphlet dealing with the interests and advantages of the proposed waterway. The pamphlet is now being sent to those interested, and presents conclusive arguments in favor of this route.

Cheap Oysters.
J. B. Oke special. One day only, Saturday, March 11th, 1899. To each and every purchaser of one quart or over of oysters we will give ten trading stamps. These oysters are the best, fresh from Baltimore by express yesterday. See ad page 3. J. B. Oke, 418 George Street, Peterborough, Saturday, March 11, 1899.

His Story.
A good story is told about a clerk in one of our leading dry goods emporiums. He went to Toronto during the fair, and walking arm-in-arm with a sweet-heart, met his employer when entering the fair grounds. He respectfully introduced him to her—"Mr. A. my sister." "Yes, yes," was the reply, "I know; she was mine once."

As seen from the Train.
While the noon Midland train from Lindsay was passing Peterborough yesterday, a horse driven by a gentleman in a fur coat, became frightened and ran away, throwing the driver heavily to the ground. Passengers could see the man lying seemingly stunned. The train was stopped, but as the inmates of a farm-house had gone to the man's assistance, and as the train had not struck him, there was no necessity to back up. The man was seen to rise and follow after his horse.

A Bare Visitor.
A woman residing on the west side of the river, says the Campbellford Herald, has been annoyed lately, by what she supposed was rats eating the vegetables, and she got a trap to catch them. A few days ago she heard something nibbling in the cellar, and on opening the door, to her surprise she saw an intruder which she immediately killed. She took the animal to a neighbor's house to learn its name, and when she was told it was a muskrat she almost wilted with fear at the thought of having attached it without assistance.

The Children's Aid Society have for adoption three children (Roman Catholic), a girl fifteen years of age, quick and capable, and two little girls, one six years of age, the other three. Also a girl, Protestant, eight years of age, studious and affectionate.

Our Boys to be Invited.
The Madoc fire company is making preparations for a great celebration May 24th. The Tampa Cadets of Toronto, and the fire company of Belleville, and Tweed and Madoc lacrosse teams have already been invited to take part. It is said that the Peterborough Fire Brigade will be invited to attend, and are likely to go.

Canadian Patents.
The following list of patents issued this week to Canadians has been handed us by Mr. C. H. Riches, solicitor of patents, Canada Life Bldg., Toronto:
Brintwell and Green, flour chest and mill; Burkett and Elliott, table; S. Spence, pen; W. H. Wyman, display cabinet; J. Drinker, zinc lock; T. H. Cooper, grain cleaner and separator; W. V. Chisholm, wrench; J. A. Dion, cooking utensil; R. C. Coff, ice-creper; J. Powley, invalid-bed.

The Band Concert.
The 57th Batt. band gave a free concert in the Market Hall last evening, and delighted a large and appreciative audience with their charming music. Since Mr. Glendon took charge as instructor the efficiency of the band had increased very much, until it now ranks without a doubt amongst the best musical organizations in the country. Last night's program was especially fine, and elicited much applause. All hope to see the band continue the free concerts.

A Bail for Harpers.
A writ for $2000 has been issued against the Toronto Type Foundry Co., Limited, at the instance of Mr. J. A. Harper of Peterborough for attempted seizure of the plant of Mr. Harper's printing office, and consequently closing of Mr. Harper's business. From what we know of the case, Mr. Harper has exceedingly strong grounds for seeking damages. It is just possible that Mr. Harper may return the compliment and put the Toronto concern out of business, an event which few persons who have had business relations with them would deplore. Mr. Harper has just beaten the Foundry Company on their suit, and stuck them for a heavy bill of costs. If the concern is compelled to back up a couple of thousands more, with a thousand or more additional costs, it would probably teach them to go a little slowly.

An Auto Race Fiasco.
Yesterday Col. Sam Hughes, M.P. of Lindsay, was in town, and dropped into the Times office. The Colonel, who has just retired from the newspaper business, has a natural liking for the editorial fellowship, and always is a welcome visitor to our sanctum. He was shown through our establishment "from cellar to garret," and expressed himself as being very much surprised at the large proportions of our plant and the number of our employees, which are, all told, in the neighborhood of 50. He had no idea that such an establishment as ours existed outside the larger cities. Touching on political subjects Colonel Hughes stated that the turn had come, and the Hardy Government were not likely to remain long in power. In Dominion politics, the next general elections would reveal the fact that the unfulfilled pledges, together with the unparalleled extravagance of the party, would cause them downfall.

Editor Morning Times.
Sir—Your story about my friend, Mr. Oulcutt and the duck shooting, reminds me of an occurrence that is worthy of a place in the columns of the Times.

Many of your readers will remember the case of the "court" in Peterborough. His "court" was noted the county over, and his decisions were frequently very sensational. On one occasion a peculiar case was before the judge, and after the evidence and arguments were all presented, the magistrate said—This case has been very ably argued on both sides, and there has been some very nice points of law brought up. I shall take three days to consider these points, but I shall eventually decide for the plaintiff. And he did.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES.

Happenings Around Town During the Past Twenty-four Hours.

—No police Court yesterday.

—The Marmora Herald is agitating for a chess board.

—A scarlet fever card was put up on Sherbrooke street yesterday.

—Several cases of scarlet fever and diphtheria are reported in Smith.

—Norwood has agreed to exempt any one starting a foundry in that village.

—The points game of the Thistle Curling Club was played off last night.

—The Lindsay Post says there will be a large exodus from Hamilton to the northwest this spring of Addington.

—Rev. Mr. Symonds will not hold his Bible class this afternoon, as he will be absent from town.

—Meetings are being held each afternoon, and evening at Bathany Tabernacle and are being well attended.

—The provincial grand Orange lodge of Ontario east will hold its annual meeting at Fort Hope on Wednesday, the 17th inst.

—R. H. Shanks, a Belleville boy, has been elected Grand Secretary of the Manitoba Grand Lodge of Oddfellows.

—The finance committee of the Lindsay council refused the Citizens' band application for the usual grant, as the boys are without a teacher at present.

—The Union Bank, Hastings, recently put in a new burglar proof safe. It is made of chilled steel and the opening of the door is regulated by a time lock.

—Lindsay Post: Mr. J. H. Brantford, Fenelon Falls, is now making trips to Peterborough with hogs for the Matthews Co. Yesterday he passed through with a double-deck—100 animals.

—Two amendments have been offered to the Game Law. One provides that deer may be shot in water, and is introduced by Mr. J. H. Brantford. Another provides for the shortening of the season for quail.

—Millbrook Cutmen-Herald: Mr. Thos. Grandy shipped a car-load of hogs to Peterboro to-day and two loads of stockers to Buffalo. Mr. John Kaskas shipped a load of cattle to Toronto. Mr. Isaac Richardson also shipped a car-load of hogs to Peterboro this week.

—Mr. A. C. Strickland, of Lakefield, spent Thursday in the woods with his gun. He returned in the evening bearing one solitary rabbit as the result of his efforts. We are not prepared to say whether the rabbit by Mr. A.'s unerring aim or not, but surmise that it did.

—Game Warden Tinsley, of Toronto, in his report, says there were 507 deputy wardens last season. There were 52 non-resident licenses granted, while the number of deer killed, reached 3,300. Mr. Tinsley gives some figures as to the number in favour of killing in water and those against it.

—The Havelock band held a successful concert in the Belmont town hall on the 25th ult. They intend holding another in the near future at Trent Bridge. What's the matter with Norwood band giving concerts at Westwood, South Dumfries and Warram. The people in these places would enjoy a good band concert.

—On Monday, a son of Mr. J. Barker, Appleton, had the misfortune of being run over by the street car and killed. The accident was caused by affixing down a hand sleigh while coasting down hill near Elgin (Thistle-tail's) school house. Mr. Coughlan was called and reduced the fracture. The boy is lying well.

—The changes in Westwood road at Steele's bridge, say the Havelock Standard, is certainly a great improvement on the old Comstock, and merits much credit to the Appleton Council and County Council. At both points substantial cast steel bridges have been erected, and the channel of the river once straightened.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.

—Mrs. A. R. Lamb left last night on a month's visit to friends in Omemee and Fenelon Falls.

—The Times was yesterday favored with a call from Col. Sam. Hughes, M.P.

—Hon. J. H. Hays passed through town yesterday on his way to Ottawa, and registered at the Snowden House.

—Senator and Mrs. Cox, of Toronto, are now in Lakewood, N.J., but Mrs. Cox will return to Toronto at Easter and spend some time there before going to Ottawa.

—Rev. H. Symonds was in Arthur last evening where he delivered one of a series of lectures in the Collegiate Institute. Mr. Symonds is a very popular and eloquent talker, as most of our readers know.

—Mr. Melville Strickland of Lakefield, was in town yesterday, where he met his uncle, Mr. H. Symonds, of Galt, who is on his way to his former home in Toronto. Mr. Symonds has for a number of years been in charge of the museum and museum at Galt.

—The Orillia Packet says—"Mr. T. A. S. Hay, C. E., has been appointed permanent engineer and superintendent of municipal works by the Peterborough Council." Mr. Hay spent a good deal of time in Orillia during the building of the Midland railway extension. Peterboro has secured a thoroughly capable engineer, who will give the work faithful and efficient attention, and bring to the management of the streets sound common sense and up-to-date and economical methods.

are seen everywhere. Heredity or overstudy renders them unfitted to cope with the responsibilities of life, susceptible to consumption or decline. Medicine has failed, and meat fails, for they need food. Take cod liver oil! No! Their poor stomachs rebel. Take emulsions? No! They are equally distasteful. Nothing will effect a cure but Maltine with Cod Liver Oil. The oil, rendered palatable and easy of digestion, is quickly assimilated, and Maltine, equal in nutrition to the oil, and even surpassing it in energetic action upon the digestive processes, unite in producing increased weight, improved color, and that elasticity and buoyancy which herald returning health. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil has a remedial value ten times greater than emulsions. One of England's greatest physicians (Dr. Fothergill) says: "There is no remedy that can take the place of Maltine in cases of Debility and Nervous Prostration." Can be purchased of any druggist.

STANDARD OIL CO.
AGAIN ATTACKED
BILL TO RAISE FLASH POINT
MENACES BRITISH TRADE.
Capital of $75,000,000—Combined of English and American Companies Possessing this Amount Proposed.
London, March 11.—The bill of Mr.
Harold James Beckett, Liberal, raising the flash-point of petroleum from 75 to 100, is the result of a bitter campaign waged by certain evening papers against the "deadly low flash," and incidentally against the Standard Oil Company of the United States, whose business would be enormously affected by the proposed legislation.
It comes before the House of Commons next Wednesday and will meet strong opposition, its opponents contending that the originators of the agitation against the American oils are the Scottish petroleum refiners. Moreover, it is shown that many of the accidents during the past year were not due to American oil but to Russian oil, whose test point is 103. The bill, it is declared, seeks to compel the public to use oils which apparently have been but little favored by the people up to now, and favors Russia at the expense of America. Three re-representatives of an American syndicate are over here negotiating for a combination of the English and American oil mills. They expect to carry the scheme through, and in about three months' time there will be the biggest trust ever formed on this side of the Atlantic, involving capital to the amount of about $75-000,000. The idea is that each side abandon competition on the other's ground and come to a working arrangement regarding the continental business, especially that of Southern Europe, in oil and seed cake. The oil milling industry here is confined to Hull, Liverpool and London. Hull is the principal center, but Liverpool has the largest concern of the kind in the world.

AN OMINOUS GAME.
London, March 11.—W. Fife, Jr., the yacht designer, has been in London frequently during the last few weeks, striding the lines of the Shamrock as she grows into shape. He has not modified his plans in the slightest detail, so he is evidently as pleased with his appearance as the actual boat is.
He was with the designer. The workmen have now succeeded in mounting the worst difficulties in working the manganese plates, several of which were ruined during the first attempts to do so. But the work is now proceeding smoothly and rapidly. It is expected, however, that the yacht could be ready if desired by the end of May. The Yachting World says:
"No fault can be found with the name of the American boat Golden Rod, but all the same it is unpleasantly suggestive of a beating for Sir Thomas Lipton."

TOMMY A. AND KIPLING.
London, March 11.—The newspapers here still pay considerable attention to the progress towards recovery of Rudyard Kipling. The Times on Friday printed a promising article of "The Barack-room Ballads," and supposed to be from "Tommy Atkins to Kipling on his illness." The last verse ran:
"We said that you were fighting 'ard
just as we know you would.
But we hardly 'eoped you'd turn his flank; they said you 'ardly could.
But the news 'as come this morning,
an' I'm writing here to say,
There's no British son more 'ep'ay than your old friend Thomas A."

THE QUEEN STARTS OUT.
London, March 11.—Queen Victoria started for the coast to-day. The Princess of Wales, Princess Victoria of Wales and Prince Charles of Denmark also left England for Paris, whence they will go to Marseilles and embark for a Mediterranean cruise.

ITALY'S ULTIMATUM.
Peking, March 11.—The Italian Minister has addressed a note to the Foreign Office taking back the Italian request for a concession, and notifiing the Foreign Office to accept it as a demand, adding that he was willing to enter into friendly negotiations, but insisting upon an answer within four days. The Chinese regard it in the nature of an ultimatum.

DEATH OF KING ALFRED.
London, March 11.—A national commemoration is proposed in 1901 of the one-thousandth anniversary of the death of King Alfred. The Queen has given the movement her patronage, and a statue of the king will be erected at Winchester. A committee has been formed in America to co-operate. King Alfred being the founder of England's navy, a naval display will be held, and the largest cannon ever cast in the world, to be launched in 1901, will be christened King Alfred. Wootton Bassett, the ancient residence of the English kings will be secured as a memorial museum.
The sum of $150,000 is asked.

PREPARING FOR AN ADVANCE.
Mexico, March 11.—315 p.m.—Extensive preparations are being made for a general advance shortly of the American forces. At daylight the rebels were caught working on enfilading a trench at Callicoon and were shelled by a battery. The last batch of Spanish soldiers embarked to-day.

AN ENGLISH SUNDAY PAPER.
London, March 11.—The Daily Telegraph announces that it will shortly start a Sunday edition. It will be only an experiment, and, except for the New York Herald's experiment. The Telegraph will be the first London paper to have a seven day's issue.

REVOLUTION FEARED AMONG PORTO RICANS
GEN. HENRY ASKS FOR THE FORCES TO BE DOUBLED
American Officers have Great Difficulty in Revolving their Minds from Wrecking Vengeance Upon Natives.

Chicago, March 11.—The Tribune says that the natives of Porto Rico are discontented with American rule, and that General Henry has asked for his forces to be doubled. "The conditions," he says, "are alarming. The people are clamoring for local self-government, for which they are no more fit than I am to run a locomotive.
The mode of discontent planted by professional agitators are growing, and can be kept down only by a strong force, ill-feeling between natives and American troops increases daily, and officers have to maintain great vigilance to prevent their men from wreaking vengeance for acts of violence. Private Burke, of the New York regiment, was treacherously murdered at Caguas by a Porto Rican, his head being cut off with a machete.
Private Fitzpatrick was brutally assaulted by the native police, who, in trying to arrest him without a warrant, clubbed him almost to death. These troubles are repeated all over the island."

New York, March 11.—Colonel William H. Hubbell, commander of the 47th Regiment, which has just returned from Porto Rico, says: "The Porto Ricans want independence." He declares that an insurrection of the natives of Porto Rico was bound to come sooner or later.
"Our first difficulties on the island," said he, "were caused by our suppression of a secret society known as the Black Hand, organized on the sameline as the Ku Klux. A plot was formed to enter our barracks by means of a boat, and the entire portion of the regiment at Caguas to the machete.
Fortunately the conspiracy was frustrated."

OUR BEST TREASURES.
Patriotic Appeal Made by Prof. Robertson
in His Annual Report.
Prof. Robertson, Dominion Commissioner of Agriculture and Dairying, in his report says: "Then as a people we are rich in the best blood, as well as the best traditions of the old lands of Europe. They have given of their most adventurous, enterprising, forceful and kindly children to settle in our Dominion."
"Let us sometimes forget the boundaries of our farm and of our parish and of our province, and rejoice in the fact that we are Canadians, citizens of no mean country. Let us believe in our nation, and show our belief in it and hope for it, not by empty words and bravado about the flag, but by laboring as each one of us is able and has a chance to labor, for her prosperity and welfare. It is sometimes thrown up to us that we are only five millions old, and what are we among so many on this continent. Yes, but if only five millions, then five millions of the very best in opportunity and blood, which the world can show."

"And let us not stop here in our patriotic allegiance; let us remember that we are part of the British Empire, whose flag is the emblem of freedom and liberty—that quality of liberty with a push upward for each one to make the most of himself where-ever it is planted. While Great Britain is the banker of all nations and has grown rich, it is not by conquering other lands through force of arms, but by making things and doing things which they needed, and wanted, and by exchanging the skill and labor of her sons and daughters for their material wealth. Our nation has enriched the world while nourishing herself, and for at least two centuries has stood off the banker of all nations and all who claimed asylum within her bounds, the lion of heartlessness, sacred and free for the individual family. In doing our duty in our several places, in Manitoba and elsewhere, by laboring earnestly, faithfully and wisely, we shall thus best advance the interests of the Empire and humanity, and prove ourselves in some measure worthy of the privilege of living in this favored land."

FOUGHT FOR THEIR LIVES.
Harrowing Battle With Fire by the Crew on Board the Steamer Selkirk.
Vancouver, B. C., March 11.—The steamer Selkirk was saved from destruction by fire at Nanaimo Wednesday night by the Nanaimo fire brigade, and when the fire had been apparently extinguished, after doing some $500 worth of damage, the Fraser River freight only was discharged, and a cargo of dynamite and mixed merchandise taken on for Vancouver the morning. When nearing Vancouver the fire, which had apparently been smoldering from Wednesday night, broke out afresh.
With her cargo of explosives the steamer was in great danger. The flames were making tremendous headway, but Capt. Simett, realizing that the collapse of the main mast, the safety of their lives as well as the vessel, ordered them all to him and spoke brief, encouraging words, instructing them on their several duties, and enjoining them to be cool and firm. The captain and crew then fought the flames silently, and heroically, being dead in its most frightful form to keep the fire from the dynamite. Just before Vancouver was reached the fire was under control, and the smoke begrimed deck and rigging. The captain and crew smiled and laughed with the white hands over their struggle with the flames;
but there was a hysterical ring in their laughter, which explained more plainly than words the horror of the half-hour's struggle with the fire—

C.P.R. HAS A SURPLUS OF FOUR MILLIONS
This is shown in the Annual Report Just Issued.

Montreal, March 11.—The report which will be submitted in April 5th to the directors of the C. P. R. has been issued to shareholders, and among other things, states—Although the gross earnings for the year were beyond those of 1897, the net earnings show a comparatively small increase. This was due in part to the rate war, but in great part to the long-continued rains following the harvest in the North West, which prevented the thrashing and harvesting and marketing of grain until within a few weeks of the close of the season. Two hundred and eighty miles of principal lines were relaid during the year with steel rails, weighing 73 pounds per yard, the piece of the 50 and 60 pound rails.
The application of automatic couplers and air brake, to your freight equipment is well advanced, and the end of this heavy expense will soon be reached.

The acquisition of the Columbia and Western Railway has been carried out, and extension westward from Hudson to the Boundary Creek mining district 100 miles, is now well advanced, and is expected to be completed about mid-summer. The company will acquire in connection with this line 1,600,000 acres of land from the province of British Columbia, but it is probable that this grant will be converted into a cash subsidy.
You will be asked to improve expenditures for improvements of percentage of way of aggregating $1,500, 000; for additional station, yard and terminal facilities at Montreal, Vancouver and other points, $788,187; for the completion of air-brake and automatic coupler equipment, $806, 010; for branch lines to mines in connection with the Crow's Nest line, $300,000, and to authorize the purchase of rolling stock to the extent of $1,000,000, as the traffic of the company may require.

Your directors are glad to be able to report a continued and marked improvement in earnings, which for the year, were $48,808,000, as against $47,744,000 in 1897, and $48,808,000 as against $47,744,000 in 1897, and $48,808,000 in 1897.
The balance sheet shows that the gross earnings for the year were $56,184,977; working expenses, $15, 063,005, making the net earnings $41, 121,972. The working expenses for the year amounted to 59.84 per cent. of the gross earnings, and the net earnings to 40.16 per cent., as compared with 57.16 and 42.84 per cent. respectively in 1897. The earnings per passenger, per mile were 1.52 cents, and per ton of freight per mile 0.76 cents as against 1.52 and 0.76 cents respectively in 1897.

ASCARE ARTIST AT WORK
It May be Expected That Someone at Washington has Landed Him Up.

Buffalo, March 11.—An evening paper published the following despatches from Washington to-day.
There is grave danger of an armed collision between the American and Canadian miners in the Porcupine River region, on the boundary between Alaska and British territory.
This is a part of the Alaskan boundary that is not in any diplomatic dispute. It is defined clearly by the treaty and follows the 141st meridian of west longitude. The location of this meridian and the boundary is merely a matter of surveying.
The situation is so serious that upon information contained in a letter from Gov. Brady of Alaska to the Secretary of the Interior, the Secretary of State has called the attention of the British Government to the action of the admiral, and has asked to have them reverted to their own territory.
It is not believed that the British Government has in any way supported his trespassers, but it has been suggested that the Canadian Government has shown a disposition to disregard the rights of the United States even to the extent of claiming with the home Government in London, has probably committed at the action of the Dominion miners.

It is, officials think, perhaps secretly encouraged the Canadian miners, with the view of claiming rights in the Porcupine region, which would only be conceded in return for a port, and the cession of territory in the southern part of Alaska, so as to give an entrance to the Klondike from the Pacific through British territory.
It is believed here that Great Britain will recall the Canadians, and it is hoped that this will be done before any trouble occurs.

G.T.R. ENGINES IN COLLISION.
Five People are Seriously Injured and Twenty Hurt.

Grangers, Ind., March 11.—Two Grand Trunk engines collided here last night as the result of which the following persons were injured—
—DOWNY, engineer, badly hurt.
JAMES ELLIOTT, Erie, Pa., thought to be fatally hurt.
MR. FRED W. REMSLEY, Toronto, Ont., injuries probably fatal.
—Bentley, laborer, sustaining a ride, fatally hurt.
—LYNCH, fireman, serious.
The collision occurred near the intersection of the Grand Trunk and the Big Four tracks. A westbound passenger and an eastbound freight met on the Grand Trunk, the freight having a signal to sidetrack. The switch was thrown but seems to have been tampered with and at this juncture the rear brakes refused to operate. The collision followed. A score of passengers were bruised somewhat, but only those named above were seriously wounded.
Grangers is about fifty miles east of Chicago on the Grand Trunk station, and the G. T. R. station that collided is about 10 miles from the city.
Inquiry of six persons of the names of Grangers or Elmhurst in the city failed to elicit any information as to the lady above referred to. It would appear that a mistake may have been made in obtaining her address.

LATEST NEWS FROM
THE BUSY CAPITAL
WHAT PARLIAMENT WILL DO
NEXT SESSION.

Official Announcement of the Ministry Presented for the Opening—The Thompson Wreath Scandal.

Ottawa, March 11.—The coming session promises to be a busy one so far as private legislation is concerned. So far the Parliamentary solutions number 101. Of these 40 are for acts of incorporation; 52 amendments to acts of incorporation; 6 divorces; 1 winding-up act, and 2 for the extension of letter patent. The total number of railway bills to date is 50, which 12 relate to the Yukon district.

As for the government measures,
the insolvency bill is a standing promise and may be proceeded with during the session in view of the death of government measures. The Franchise act will have to be amended and sundry bills will doubtless be introduced by ministers to amend administrative acts. There is just a possibility also that a "redistribution" act will be brought in.

OPENING OF PARLIAMENT.
The official announcement of the military procedure for the opening of parliament next Thursday is as follows—
"The officers of the headquarters staff will meet the major general commanding within the main entrance at 2.40 p.m., review order."
The officers commanding the Ottawa brigade will detail the following troops who will parade in winter uniform: The Princess Louise Dragoon Guards will furnish an escort of 1 captain, 2 subalterns, 1 squadron sergeant major, 3 sergeants, 3 corporals, 1 trumpeter, 27 privates, 30 horses, to parade at Government House at 2.30 o'clock p.m. to accompany His Excellency to the houses of parliament, and return.

"The 2nd Ottawa field battery of the following strength: 1 major or captain, 21 sergeants, 1 sergeant major, 1 sergeant, 1 quarter-master sergeant, 6 sergeants, 6 corporals, 6 bombardiers, 18 gunners, 1 trumpeter, will fire salutes of 19 guns from the garison guns in Nepean point battery, the first salute to be fired upon the arrival of His Excellency at the houses of parliament, and the second upon His Excellency's departure therefrom.

"The Governor General's Foot Guards will furnish a guard of honor of 1 captain, 2 lieutenants or 2nd lieutenants, 4 sergeants, 1 corporal, 99 privates, with band and colours, who will parade at the entrance to the houses of parliament at 2.45 o'clock p.m., and remain until dismissed."

TIME THIS STOPPED.
The Kingston Canadian Freeman has revived the Sir John Thompson memorial wreath scandal in a way that again calls for refutation. The Freeman proposes to receive and acknowledge subscriptions from "the Catholics of Canada" to a fund sufficient to pay off the indebtedness for the wreath in question, so as to remove this outrage on the memory of the deceased premier, and "put Messrs. Bowell, Eaton, & Co. at the back of chains for their unparalleled act of meanness."
The fact is that in refusing to pay the bill for the floral tribute the ministers were simply refusing to submit to the most glaring extortion. They ordered Davidson, of Montreal, since deceased, a memorial wreath to be placed on the tier of their late leader as the personal tribute of the ministers. Besides the wreath, it was subsequently decided to have a floral stand prepared for its reception. The latter was ordered of Davidson on account of the government. For this stand the bill was sent in for $1,000 which the government refused to pay on the ground that the price was exorbitant. He was, however, given $500.
Davidson then brought suit to recover the balance. Mr. C. Serin, of Ottawa, and the leading florists of Montreal, were called in as experts, and after making most liberal allowance for every expense, testified that the stand was worth $750, and that sum was allowed by the court. In other words, Davidson, who had already been overpaid $150, was still claiming $1,000 more, to which he was not entitled.
The bill for the wreath ordered by the minister was made out on a still more extravagant scale, nine hundred dollars being asked for it. An expert florist has estimated that it would be well paid for at $100. It is because those who ordered the wreath refused to pay fully nine times its value, that all this the bullying and abuse to which the Freeman has, unwittingly, perhaps, lent itself, is being heaped upon the ex-ministers named.

The Federal Life Assurance Company.

SEVENTEENTH ANNUAL STATEMENT.

The seventeenth annual meeting of the Shareholders of The Federal Life Assurance Company of Canada was held at the Head Office, Hamilton, on the 7th inst. In the absence of the President, Mr. Beatty, Mr. William Kerha, First Vice-President, occupied the chair, and Mr. David Dexter acted as Secretary. The following report and financial statement was submitted by the Directors.

The Directors have pleasure in submitting for the information and approval of the shareholders, the following report of the business of the Company, together with a statement of Receipts and Disbursements for the year, which closed on 31st December 1898, and of the Assets and Liabilities on that date.

New business consisted of fourteen hundred and fifty-nine applications for insurance, aggregating $2,248,850, of which thirteen hundred and eighty-one applications, for $2,114,232, were accepted, applications for $134,618 having been rejected or held for further information.

Annual premiums to the amount of $12,731.50 were also received.

In the past year, as in the preceding year, fully ninety per cent. of the new business written by this Company was on its investment plans. This, and the fact that the advent of three additional and well-equipped competitors in the field within the past two years, has not diminished the share of new business which this Company has been able to secure, indicates the continued growth of feeling in favor of investment insurance rather than towards other forms of investment on which interest earnings are depreciating steadily.

The income of the Company shows a gratifying increase over previous years, and the addition of $143,351.14 to the assets is especially noticeable, the total assets having risen to $866,283.41, exclusive of guarantee capital.

The security of the policy-holders, including guarantee capital, amounted to $1,752,263.41, and the liabilities for reserves and all outstanding claims, $751,232.20, showing a surplus of $1,001,031.21. Executive or unallocated guarantee capital, for $115,575 on fifty-seven lives became claims through death, of which amount the Company was re-insured for $7,000. Including cash dividends and dividends applied to the reduction of premiums ($9,783.32), with maturity endowments for $4,600, the total payments to policy-holders amounted to $143,702.25.

In accordance with instructions received from the shareholders at the last annual meeting, your Directors applied for and obtained from the Parliament of Canada a special act of incorporation, changing the name of the Company to The Federal Life Assurance Company of Canada, and granting enlarged powers for business and investment in and out of Canada.

The investments of the Company have been carefully looked after, and have yielded for years past the best results reported by any company doing business in this country. Expenses have been kept within reasonable limits, while due effort is being made for new business. The chief officers and agents of the Company are entitled to much credit for their able representation of the Company's interest. The office staff have also proved faithful in the Company's service.

The accompanying certificate from the Auditors vouches for the correctness of the statements submitted herewith, all accounts, securities and vouchers having been examined by them.

AUDITORS' REPORT.

To the President and Directors of the Federal Life Assurance Company: Gentlemen,—We have made a careful audit of the books of your company for the year ending 31st December, 1898, and have certified their correctness.

The securities have been inspected and compared with the ledger accounts and found to agree therewith. The financial position of your company, as on 31st December, is indicated by the accompanying statement.

H. S. STEPHENS,
SHERMAN & TOWNSEND, Auditors.

Hamilton, March 1st, 1899.
In moving the adoption of the Director's Report, Mr. Kerha referred to the steady and substantial growth of the Company's business, the large increase from year to year in its income, assets and surplus. He stated that while the expenditure had been decreased 6.56 per cent. in the last year, the assets of the Company had increased 19.90 per cent. the net surplus 37.92 per cent., and the reserve funds 21.24 per cent., the capital and assets having now reached $1,466,283.41.

He quoted from the December number of The Economist to show that the Company had so carefully managed the investment of funds so as to earn a better rate of interest in each of the past eight years than the average rate earned by all of the Canadian life insurance companies. The rate earned by The Federal in 1897—the last year in which the average can be obtained from the report of the Superintendent of Insurance—was 5.64 per cent., and the average rate earned by all of the Canadian companies 4.48 per cent.

After the adoption of the Directors' report an interesting report of the mortality experience of the Company, and of the history of medical examinations for life insurance, was read by Mr. Maxwell, Director. Mr. Kerha, in congratulatory remarks regarding the substantial progress of the Company, and regarding the management were made by several of the shareholders.

A vote of thanks to the officers, agents and office staff was responded to by Mr. David Dexter, the Managing Director.

The retiring members of the Company were re-elected, with the addition of T. E. Macpherson, Esq., M. P. The Auditors were re-appointed.

Railway Committee Meet.

At a special meeting of the Railway Committee of the Toronto Board of Trade on Thursday afternoon, Mr. W. H. Lockhart Gordon, representing the promoters, laid before the members the proposition for the extension of the Haliburton railway. Mr. Gordon pointed out that the bill now before the Legislature sought power to build a road from Haliburton, the present terminus of the Midland division of the G. T. R. from Lindsay to Mattawa, on the Ottawa river, and Parry Sound railway. He emphasized the following advantages that would accrue in Toronto: It would open up 10,000 square miles of some of the finest timberland in Ontario, and across the Ottawa river 15,000 square miles in Quebec. It would connect with the C. P. R., which runs by the Quebec side of Ottawa river from Mattawa to the foot of Lake Temiscamingue. The length of the railway would be 108 miles from Haliburton to Mattawa, 90 miles from Mattawa to Lake Temiscamingue, and 50 miles more to the head of the lake. It would open up a country 150 miles north of Toronto, and give a new route to Pembroke 80 miles shorter than the present one from Toronto, and make Mattawa 85 miles nearer Toronto than Montreal. At least $1,000,000 worth of supplies are now distributed from Mattawa to the lumber camps in that neighborhood, a great part of which would, if the railway were built, be purchased in Toronto.

The expense, the engineers had reported, would not be any more per mile from Haliburton to Mattawa than the Midland had cost from Lindsay to Haliburton. The road and the G. T. R. was part of the scheme proposed by the late George Laflamme, and he had always strongly advocated railways running north and south tributary to Toronto, rather than east and west, that would carry the trade through the city.

The committee approved of the scheme, and will give their moral support to the bill.

J. Pierpont in New York.

A New York despatch of the 8th says: "The World" today says: J. Pierpont returned yesterday on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse. He went aboard two months ago to secure assent of the Reading's English stockholders to a plan that the Vanderbilts, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, Maxwell of the New Jersey Central, and W. H. Truesdale, of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western companies, had formulated a consolidation of all the great western coal interests under one management. Mr. Morgan, when seen soon after his arrival, was very reluctant regarding his work in London. It is understood that his efforts have been successful. From men with whom he has talked, and who have been in cable touch with him during his absence, a general explanation of the plan was heard. Hundreds of millions of dollars have been brought into one combination. A pro-rata division of the coal output and of the profits has been outlined, though months will be required to finally adjust all the details. It is estimated that fully $3,200,000 will be saved annually in operating expenses. The companies said to be in the big deal are the Reading, Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, Pennsylvania, New York, Lake Erie & Western Coal and Railroad Company, Central Railroad of New Jersey, New York, Susquehanna & Western Railway, Schuylkill and Susquehanna Railroad Company, with a combined capital of more than $800,000,000.

This will probably have an effect on coal prices, but the People's Coal Company are not in the combine and, therefore, their prices will not be affected thereby.

And a Good Gospel, Too.

There are men in this town who earn good wages, who make the best of things, who take their annual holidays, who wear good clothes, whose wives never know what it is to have one dollar of spending money in the year. There are women in this town who get up before six o'clock in the morning, light the fire, prepare the breakfast, so that their husbands can get to work at seven o'clock, who look after household duties, mend their children's clothes, patch and turn the dress in which they were wedded until it hardly holds together, in order to look respectable when they go out, whose husbands complain when asked for money to buy the children's shoes. Here indeed is a subject for our ministers to deal with. "The gospel of treating wives as they deserve to be treated," would make a drawing announcement, but it would be better for our ministers to take their congregations unawares, because if they previously announced their subject all the mean husbands would likely stop at home.

A Guide for Good Reading.

Sir,—I think sufficient attention is not given in our schools to the teaching of the English language and the cultivation of taste among pupils for reading the best and highest standards of English literature. I would suggest that the management of our schools take up a course of supplementary reading for the senior classes the readings to comprise works not included in the text books now in use. No work in the schools could be more important than the creating a taste for good reading. The pupils should be made acquainted with the best authors in the English language, and should be taught to read their works critically. The works of Shakespeare and of Scott, particularly Macbeth and the Lady of the Lake. These works should be read thoroughly and systematically in the class. In this way only could the pupils learn to grasp the great themes dealt with by these authors, and understand the situations used in building up the whole story. By cultivating a taste for reading in such a way, more good would be derived by the pupils in after years, than by any other course in their education. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your space, I am, Sir, Very truly,

DANGERS REAL AND FANCIED.

The average woman will scream with terror at the sight of an innocent little mouse, and then complacently sit down and suffer in silence with diseases that are destroying her youth, her beauty, her very life. She will unconsciously resign herself to the woes and miseries of female troubles, which are to be dreaded a thousand times more than a tiny mouse. It is gratifying to know that untold numbers of women are being restored to perfect vigor and strength by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures all uterine disorders. The exact name of the disease doesn't amount to a row of pins. If it is in the woman's organs, "Favorite Prescription" will heal it out and cure it. It is a medicine that will act directly upon it, and restore the organs to perfectly healthy action. It prepares the girl to become a woman; the wife to become a mother, the middle-aged to pass the "turn of life" in safety. It is not a "cure-all" but a medicine that cures what it is made to cure. It is the world-famous specialist in the treatment of disorders of women. Any reader of this paper may consult Dr. Pierce free by mail. Write him if your local physicians do not seem to understand your case.

Mrs. W. J. Kiddle of Elm Dale Park, (Baltimore, Md.) writes: "During the past year I suffered much from nervous prostration, and my health was very poor. I was unable to do any work, and my system was very weak. I had been told that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was a good medicine, and I decided to try it. I bought a bottle and began to take it. I felt much better in a few days, and my health was gradually restored. I am now able to do all my work, and my system is in good health. I feel that I owe my recovery to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I can recommend it to all who are suffering from nervous prostration, or any other disorder of the female system. It is a truly wonderful medicine, and I feel that I have found a great blessing in it. I am now a healthy and happy woman, and I feel that I owe my recovery to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I can recommend it to all who are suffering from nervous prostration, or any other disorder of the female system. Weather Forecast.
Probable—Becoming unsettled with occasional rain.

Girl Wanted.
To learn the shoe-fitting. One accustomed to sewing machine preferred. Apply to W. H. Anthony, Simcoe st.

Purse Found.
A small advertisement in the Times of a lost purse, one inscription, secured an owner. Everybody reads the Times.

Some Large Orders.
The Times bindery recently received orders for blank books which will require over two tons of paper. It pays to keep up-to-date machinery and plant.

Woman's Banner Bore.
A correspondent writes: "A young man in this place took his girl out for a cutter ride and she fell out while he drove a mile or two before he noticed that she was missing. You can bet such a thing never happens around Peterboro'. The horse might fall out of the shafts and not be missed, but the girl, never."

Orange and True Blues.
The Orangemen and True Blues of this district will celebrate the Twelfth July in Lakeland this year, and promise to be a successful affair. A large number of invitations have been sent out, and the Secretary of the Committee has already received a number of replies from different lodges, stating that they will be present. One lodge will turn out over one hundred strong.

To our Correspondents.
Scarcely a day passes but somebody with a grievance requests us to rip somebody up the back. We don't rip. Who has ever heard of anybody tearing their shirts, and making enemies just to help the editor out of trouble? Nobody. If you are badly used have the manhood to fight your own battles. Editors have learned by experience that individuals whose axes they grind often use these axes to chop the stuff out of the editor. If you have anything to say to a man through the medium of the press take it to the editor, put your name on it, and let us go to Gallagher, but don't ask the editor to father your grievances.

Shoddy Peddlers.
The public are warned against a gang of shoddy peddlers who are going through the country with a lot of their shoddy cloths. If the people want clothes they should patronize the town merchants, who are reduced to the Times, or some other reputable newspaper, on whom the can depend, and from whom, if goods are not as represented, they can get their money back. These peddlers offer goods which they claim are English and Scotch tweeds at what they may be reduced prices, but which in reality are not worth half what they ask for them. They also tell all kinds of stories to help make a sale. This is the third visit of these peddlers to this country, and the lessons taught by their previous visits should be enough to make the farmers give them the cold shoulder.

Popular Candidate.
Mr. Lionel King is a candidate for the office of Vice-President of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, and it is not out of place for the Times to remark that no better man could be found for the position. Mr. King has always been identified with Canadian hockey—and we are in saying that no better choice could possibly be made for the position of second officer than he. He is immensely popular, not only at home, but throughout the entire province.

We hope to see Lionel King Vice-President and then President.

The Mail and Empire says—A large number of enthusiastic supporters of our national game waited on Mr. Lionel King, of Peterborough, on Thursday last, urging him to be a candidate for the office of 2nd Vice-President of the C.L.A. A telegram was received from him last night, saying he would be a candidate.

The eastern section of Ontario are justly entitled to a representation among the officers of the Association, and no more popular or deserving candidate could have been chosen.

Accident—A Serious One.
A peculiar accident occurred on George-st., at the corner of Simcoe, which was witnessed by a number of people. Mr. Fry, a farmer of North Monaghan, was driving around the corner with a sleigh, on which he had loaded a seedling which he had purchased at the shop of Mr. Success.

The seedling was mounted on the box of the sleigh with the pole pointed up into the air over the driver's head. On turning at Orchard & Walsh's corner, the pole or tongue caught on a wire overhead, and the horses continued the pole was pulled up until it pointed almost vertically into the air. Then it slipped in some way and descended with great force, striking Mr. Fry, who was driving and who had not noticed that anything was wrong, squarely between the shoulders. He was knocked almost senseless by the heavy blow and was unable to rally for some time. A man had to be secured to drive him home. He was very fortunate in not being struck on the head, or he might have been injured. A runaway was narrowly averted.

Victims—Peterborough.
George Dunlop, of the Colportage Mission of Algoma and the Northwest is making his annual visit to Peterborough in the interest of the 15th years work of the mission in that district nearly 17,000 scriptures and almost a hundred of various localities or many hundreds of miles, among laborers at various occupations, and among Indians and settlers accompanied with religious services and distribution of religious tracts, etc., also many cases of Abolition publication have been sent where it have been impossible to visit. Also 31 various editions of scriptural publications have been printed by the mission for its work in 5 languages and 4 others are in progress of completion, to be Ogilby and English for the use of the Indians. Also many thousands of the mission stock of scriptures and books have been supplied in other parts of the land. The Missionary gratefully acknowledge the receipt of $20.00 contributed in Peterborough last year, there being many liabilities attending the work renewed assistance is respectfully solicited for its continuance and enlargement.

THE CHEESEMAKERS MEET CONFERENCE OF MEN WHO MAKE CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Prof. Hart of Kingston Delivers an Instructive Address—Treatment of Milk in the Production of Butter.

The annual convention of the cheesemakers of the Peterborough district opened on Saturday morning in the Council chamber. The President of the Association, Mr. F. E. Kline, of Lakeland, presided, and introduced the first speaker, Prof. Hart, Superintendent of the Kingston Dairy School.

PROF. HART'S ADDRESS.

Prof. Hart opened his remarks by stating that the winter creamery business in Canada was a comparatively recent origin. In 1880 the speaker was sent by Prof. Robertson to Mount Elgin, Ontario, to make butter in the first winter creamery opened in Ontario. Since then the business has increased by leaps and bounds until at present Canada is exporting large quantities of butter to the British market. During the season just closed about one-third more butter was shipped to Great Britain than during the previous winter. Trifles have been good, and this had a stimulating effect on the producers. Farmers are breeding better cattle, building better stable accommodation, and are feeding better rations for the production of winter milk. A great many now are having their cows "come in" in the fall. This means a more abundant flow in the winter months, and when the cows go on pasture in the spring they give a fair yield of milk during the summer, and enjoy a well-earned rest when the work on the farm is most pressing. Milk from fresh cows contains larger globules of fat, and more of the finer flavoring oils of the butter than milk from the stripper or farrow cows. A creamery should be so managed that the work of churning should be finished before the milk commences to come in in order not to keep the farmers waiting on their skim milk. So soon as sufficient milk is in the factory to run the separator it should be started. If the operator should run out of milk before separating has been entirely finished he should turn water into the machine and close off part of the steam so that the separator does not run too fast till more milk comes in. Tests should be taken of the skim milk frequently throughout the run. The skim milk should be treated every day in order not to leave more than the minimum amount of fat in it. The skim milk should not contain more than one-tenth of one per cent. butter fat. Special skim milk bottles should be used.

Not long ago the speaker was requested to test a sample of skim milk in a creamery not one hundred miles from Kingston. It contained one-half of one per cent of fat—five times as much as it should have. It is such work as this on the part of creamery operators that discourages the winter dairying business and as long as such conditions exist there will be work for the dairy schools.

Not long ago the speaker was requested to test a sample of skim milk in a creamery not one hundred miles from Kingston. It contained one-half of one per cent of fat—five times as much as it should have. It is such work as this on the part of creamery operators that discourages the winter dairying business and as long as such conditions exist there will be work for the dairy schools.

Pasteurization was not advisable in the summer, as it drove off the delicate cream from the milk. In the winter pasteurization abated the stable taints, etc., in milk, but this did not have to be combated in summer.

The cream from milk would be better if the milk was heated to 150° than if it was only 100°.

In churning the cream should be fairly rich and diluted with water. This made it separate and rise faster. It would not do to churn "lowly," as when done rapidly it was far more complete. A churn should be run at about sixty revolutions. The cream should not be carried around with the churn. It should be allowed to drop. Churning should take between 45 minutes and an hour. Don't full the churn too full. It is better to do two small churnings than one which is too large.

Winter dairying is a great help to the cheese business, as if too much cheese is sent to England the price will be lowered and then, again, milk which will make good butter will be used for cheese. Winter cheese is not needed on the English market. In making butter in the winter we work if only once. Butter should not be chilled by being worked with very cold water. It should be allowed to cool. One working is enough, as too much water will remove some of the delicate flavoring oils. Butter should be salted in the churn and then left for two or three hours before being worked. Milk should be cooled down to 40° or 50° degrees and when about to ripen the temperature should be raised to 60° or 65°.

The matters of coloring received considerable of the speaker's attention. He advised getting a color card and exercising care to have every churning exactly the same shade.

An endeavor should be made to have the milk brought to the dairy three times a week. If the milk was only separated twice a week the flavor would go off and much of it become rancid.

At the close of Prof. Hart's address a large number of questions were asked principally in connection with pasteurization.

The afternoon session of the convention opened at 1.30 p.m. and was addressed on cheesemaking by Mr. Fullow, also of the Kingston Dairy School. Report on Tuesday.

PETERBOROUGH MARCH 14, 1899

A PROGRESSIVE INSTITUTION.
The shareholders of the Provincial Building and Loan Association must feel exceedingly gratified at the report presented at the sixth annual general meeting, which took place at the hotel office of the institution, on Wednesday last. The sum of $100,000, necessary to enable the association to issue debentures, has been fully subscribed. Over $90,000 has been transferred from the association's account to profit and loss account. The securities held by the association have received particular attention during the past year. At the close of 1898 the association had $18 mortgages in force, in sworn valuation of $1,246,232. The annual expenses of the association for 1898 were nearly $4000 less than 1897, showing the strictest economy had been practiced. The meeting was a most satisfactory one, every shareholder being thoroughly satisfied that the business of the institution was being conducted in a most able and economical manner. To Messrs. Davis, is the phenomenal successful institution mainly due.

AFTER OHTARIO MONEY.
A few weeks ago Toronto was celebrating for the reconstruction of a railway from that city to Oshawa, or some other port on Georgian Bay, as the essential part of the project was that the taxpayers of the Dominion should pay the cost. There were already several railways connecting Georgian Bay with Lake Ontario, but it had been discovered that an air-line would shorten the distance to Toronto by 50 miles, and to effect that saving the large sums of grain, the Toronto taxpayers would like to subject the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific to the competition of a new road, built and run with public money. If, incidentally, they could destroy the use of the Welland Canal and deprive the old railways of freight between Toronto and Detroit, so much the better, from the Toronto point of view. The one idea that was uppermost was that the grain of the North-west should be hauled at Toronto. That scheme had its day. A few days ago, another was on the carpet. A deputation of Toronto men waited on the Ontario Government to apply for an extension of the promised subsidy for the Parry Sound and Sudbury Railway from $5,000 to $5,000 per mile, on for a third grant in addition to the subsidy, and for a subsidy at the same rate for an extension of the road westward from Parry Sound to the Severn River. It was pointed out that the distance by rail from Toronto to Winnipeg could be reduced 70 miles by upping $5,000,000 on the projected new road, and that the Toronto men with one accord, endorsed the scheme.

Mr. Hardy did not, as he might very properly have done, tell the deputations that it is no time to grant railway subsidies when the Province revenue is so deficient that new and most popular taxes are about to be imposed upon the people. He did not mention that the strongest opposition to these new taxes has come from citizens of Toronto. He did not even say that Parry Sound and Sudbury are already provided with railways, and that Ontario cannot afford to spend millions of dollars to duplicate existing lines, which have been subsidized by the Province.

If the design to open up Northern Ontario for settlement and development, the proper place to lay new railways is north of the Canadian Pacific, and not south of that road. Mayor Shaw says he found good land in the Temiskaming district. A branch from Lake Temiskamingue to North Bay would connect with both the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific. But that would not suit the Toronto boomers, who are probably more interested in bonus-broking than in the development of the country. The money of Ontario taxpayers can be put to better use than that of helping such schemes.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.
It is well enough for our George-st. trailer plate contemporary to say "Spring is upon us; but wait till the whistling bluebirds make a note of it."

The bonus principle is admitted to be evil. Being an evil, it is cutting off one's nose to spite one's face, to encourage bonuses in order to make a few people part with a share of their unearned increment.—Guelph Herald.
Worse still, old man; it makes them part with their hard-earned increment not to pay their just share of civic burdens but to enrich private adventurers. The bonus system is wrong, root and branch; wrong whether as applied to cities and towns through local tax laws, or to favored industries through the national tariff. It is time it was ended.

LADY SALISBURY.

One of the Most Interesting and Capable Women in England

One of the most interesting and most capable women in England is Lady Salisbury, wife of the Tory premier. As a political hostess her equal can scarcely be found and through her tact many politicians have been kept in the paths comfortable to her husband's views. The story of her life is interesting and romantic.

Lady Salisbury was the daughter of Hon. Sir Edward Hall Alderson, baron of the exchequer, and as Miss Alderson Lord Robert Cecil fell in love with her. Lord Robert's father disapproved of the marriage, and straightway the young people took the matter into their own hands and were married. Because of this Sir Robert's father would have nothing to do with them, and the young man was forced to turn to newspaper work to support his wife. In his early work as well as in his political duties his wife helped him greatly by acting as his amanuensis. The first eight years of Lady Salisbury's married life was spent in this way, until on the death of his brother Lord Robert Cecil became Lord Chamberlain, and journalism was put aside for the work of the politician. It was at the time that Lady Salisbury took upon herself the duties of a political hostess—duties which became her well. She was shrewd, practical and of steady judgement, and when her husband succeeded to the marquisate she took her position as the mistress of Hatfield House with distinction. Four times Lord Salisbury has been foreign secretary and three times prime minister, so that Lady Salisbury's political and social duties have been by no means light.

Among those favored folk who know Lady Salisbury in private life she is greatly beloved for her kindly sympathy and the steadfastness of her regard. The hauteur which she bears so well as the wife of the English premier in political circles vanishes at home. Like Mrs. Gladstone, Lady Salisbury has no love for the "smart set" in society. Of late years the parties at Hatfield have been composed largely of members of the family; but when she was younger Lady Salisbury delighted

Shoddy Peddlers.
The public are warned against a gang of shoddy peddlers who are going through the country with a lot of their shoddy clothes. If the people want clothes they should patronize the town merchants, who advertise in the Times, or some other reputable newspaper, on whom the cost can depend, and from whom, if goods are not as represented, they can get their money back. These peddlers offer goods which they claim are English and Scotch tweeds at what they say are reduced prices, but which in reality are not worth half what they ask for them. They also tell all kinds of stories to help make a sale. This is the third visit of these peddlers to this country, and the lessons taught by their previous visits should be enough to make the farmers give them the cold shoulder.

LATEST NEWS FROM
THE BUSY CAPITAL

WHAT PARLIAMENT WILL DO NEXT SESSION.

Official Announcement of the Military Proceedings for the Opening—The Thompson Wreath Scandal.

Ottawa, March 11.—The coming session promises to be a busy one so far as private legislation is concerned. So far the Parliamentary notices number 101. Of these 40 are for acts of incorporation; 52 amendments to acts of incorporation; 6 divorces; 1 a winding-up act, and 2 for the extension of letter patent. The total number of railway bills to date is 50, which 12 relate to the Yukon district.

As for the government measures, the insolvency bill is a standing promise and may be proceeded with during the session in view of the death of government measures. The franchise act will have to be amended and sundry bills will doubtless be introduced by ministers to amend administrative acts. There is just a possibility also that a "redistribution" act will be brought in.

OPENING OF PARLIAMENT.

The official announcement of the military procedure for the opening of parliament next Thursday is as follows:—

"The officers of the headquarters staff will meet the major general commanding within the main entrance at 2:40 p.m., review order.

The officers commanding the Ottawa brigade will detail the following troops who will parade in winter uniform: The Princess Louise Dragoon Guards will furnish an escort of 1 captain, 2 subalterns, 1 squadron sergeant major, 3 sergeants, 3 corporals, 1 trumpeter, 27 privates, 38 horses, to parade at Government House at 2:30 o'clock p.m. to accompany His Excellency to the houses of parliament, and return.

"The 2nd Ottawa field battery of the following strength: 1 major or captain, 1 lieutenant, 1 sergeant-major, 1 sergeant, 1 quartermaster sergeant, 6 sergeants, 6 corporals, 6 bombardiers, 18 gunners, 1 trumpeter, will fire salutes of 19 guns from the garrison guns in Nepean point battery. The first salute to be fired upon the arrival of His Excellency at the houses of parliament, and the second upon His Excellency's departure therefrom.

TIME THIS STOPPED

The Kingston Canadian Freeman has revived the Sir John Thompson memorial wreath scandal in a way that again calls for reiteration. The Freeman proposes to receive and acknowledge subscriptions from "the Catholics of Canada" to a stand sufficient to pay off the indebtedness for the wreath in question, so as to remove this outrage on the memory of the deceased premier, and "put Messrs. Howell, Foster, et al to the blush of shame for their unparliamentary conduct."

The fact is that in refusing to pay the bill for the floral tribute the ministers were simply refusing to submit to the most glaring extortion. They ordered Davidson, of Montreal, since deceased, a memorial wreath, to be placed on the bier of their leader as the personal tribute of the ministers. Besides the wreath, it was subsequently decided to have a floral stand prepared for its reception. The latter was ordered of Davidson on account of the government. For this stand the bill was sent in for $1,000 which the government refused to pay on the ground that the price was exorbitant. He was, however, given $900. Davidson then brought suit to recover the balance. Mr. C. Scrimm, of Ottawa, and the leading florists of Montreal, were called in as experts, and after making most liberal allowance for every expense, testified that the stand was worth $750, and that sum was allowed by the courts. In other words, Davidson, who had already been overpaid $150, was still claiming $1,000 more, to which he was not entitled.

The bill for the wreath ordered by the minister was made out on a still more extravagant scale, nine hundred dollars being asked for it. An expert florist has estimated that it would be well paid for at $100. It is because those who ordered the wreath refused to pay fully nine times its value that all this the bullying and abuse to which the Freeman has, unwittingly, perhaps, lent itself, is being heaped upon the ex-ministers named.

A HINT TO THE FORCE

Major-General Hutton has seen fit to incorporate in the militia order of Thursday, the following paragraph from Regulations and Orders, 189, for general information: "Deliberations or discussions by officers or soldiers with the object of conveying praise, censure or any mark of approbation towards their superiors or others in Her Majesty's service, are prohibited. The publication of laudatory orders on officers or soldiers, or station or relinquishing an appointment is forbidden. Commanding officers are to refuse to allow subscriptions for testimonials in any shape or on being removed from their corps. Every officer will be held responsible should he allow himself to be compelled by officers or soldiers, who are serving, or who have served, under his command by means of presents or plate, swords, etc., or by any collective expression of their opinion."

The changes in Westwood road at Steele's bridge, says the Havelock Standard, is certainly a great improvement on the old Comstock, and merits much credit to the Ashcroft Council and Company Council. At both points substantial cast steel bridges have been erected and the channel of the river on a straightened.

A RECIPE.

If you wish to have fun
Make a wheel made for one
But if looking for trouble
Hide one that is double.
And thus to be happy
Stay single through life:
But if looking for trouble,
Just get you a wife.

MRS. DRIFTER'S SAY.

Mrs. Drifter grew confidential the other evening. Some of Drifter's friends had called, and the subject of his adventures in the South came up. "Of course, it is all right," said Mrs. Drifter, "for Drifter to tell about the trials he endured when he was the editor of a paper in Texas. I never put in such a time in my life. I expected that Drifter would come home to me about full of holes some night. When I was down at his office reading the proofs of that cunning little paper he got out it used to make my blood run cold to hear those men talk about gun plays and so had made up in somebody's saloon."

"Drifter reassured me by telling me that the crack of a pistol did not always mean that somebody had been hit. But you know what a brave man Drifter is. No, you don't, either. You say you don't know anything about the time he saved our lives down in Texas? I don't think I ever realized before just how courageous Drifter is. You know I had not seen a ranch nor a herd of cattle since I arrived in Texas, and I begged Drifter to take me where the real Panhandle cattle could be seen, so he took me out to the stockyards beyond Fort Worth."

"Times were very, very hard down there, and the packing house was closed and there were no signs of life at the stockyards. We walked around and around the huge inclosure and I tried to imagine what it must be like when the herds of Texas steers came in from the Panhandle. We had gone quite a little distance from the high board fence, and were admiring the scenery, when some cows came strolling along. We stood watching and admiring them until about 50 or 75 had passed on, when all at once there loomed up before us an enormous Texas bull. His manner was dignified and masterful. He looked at us, elevated his head, snuffed, and my heart gave a jump."

"That was when Drifter and his in-born bravery came to the front. It is needless to say that I was frightened. I thought my last moment had come. The fence of the stockyards must have been 50 feet high; at least it looked so to me. Drifter afterward said that it was not more than 15, but I know that the trees around it were not so high as the fence. He grasped me by the hand and said: "Little girl, run for the fence. I will stay here and protect you."

"I was brought up in the country, and I know it is the height of foolishness to run from a wild animal, so I sat myself down and told him I would die together. Drifter, said I, 'but the best thing to do is to back slowly away from that awful bull.' We backed toward the fence, and the bull paced toward us never taking his eyes off us. I know I could hear Drifter's heart beat, but it must have been anxiety for me, for he is not afraid of anything."

"Oh, behind that tree," he said, "and his voice sounded as if it was away off somewhere, and I felt as if we were to be separated forever. Reassuringly he said: "I will see that he does not touch you." With that he took out his little pocket knife, opened the blade, which was not over three inches long, and said: "There! with a much defined line in his tone as if he had been behind a stone barricade and armed with a Martini rifle. Somehow or other we got to that fence at last. It was evident that Drifter would not let me take any chances alone, for he got there as soon as I did, and if you ever saw two people climb a high fence in the quickest possible space of time, it was Mr. and Mrs. Drifter."

"We sat there on the top of the fence until dusk, and Drifter never let go of the knife. I really believe that if the bull had reached me Drifter would have stabbed him with that penknife. In the evening, after I had mustered up courage enough, we made our way, keeping close by the fence, until we reached a little hotel connected with the stockyards. Drifter never said a word about the adventure, and you would not have thought he had done anything remarkable, but I know that he saved my life from the wild Texas bull."

It took Mrs. Drifter's friends some time to rise to a proper appreciation of the courage displayed by her husband, and after a dinner, and after she had fanned herself vigorously, she continued: "You ought to get Drifter to tell you about the time he went out to the lake near Fort Worth. I was just a little bit of a body of water. It did seem to me as if I would dry up there in Texas unless I could get within sound of the ocean's roar, so Drifter did the deed of a dinner, and after he had fanned herself vigorously, she continued: "You ought to get Drifter to tell you about the time he went out to the lake near Fort Worth. The Band.
A letter in this issue suggesting that the next band concert be given in the drill shed. The idea is a good one, and we hope Mr. Clifton and the band will fall in with the idea.

A warrant issued.
Professor Hugh Campbell, the photographer, who is well-known in Peterborough, having practiced his "profession" for some months here, was to have appeared in Toronto, for trial, charged with fortune telling, but he did not show up when his name was called. A bench warrant was issued for his arrest.

Complaints have reached the Times regarding apples and nails that are everywhere sticking up out of the sidewalks. One lady told our reporter that she had the sole almost torn from her shoe by one of these spikes. Mr. Hannay, our efficient street inspector, will so doubt send a man to drive these galls in.

The Band.
Sir, I suggest that as the Market Hall is altogether too small to hold the immense crowd which would turn out to hear the band, the Drill Shed be used for the next concert. Let the last programme be repeated. It will well stand it, for the music was delightful, as all present can testify. To the Times, which everybody reads, will confer a favor by inserting this. Peterborough March 13.

Preparing for Summer.
A meeting of the shareholders of the Peterborough Navigation Company is called for this afternoon, to appoint officers and make arrangements for the coming season.

A very interesting breach of promise suit has been entered in the High Court of Justice, by a young lady, who claims $2,000 as a salary for her wounded feelings, and blighted hopes from a well-known young benefactor. The case has been before the Master-in-ordinary, and several witnesses have been examined.

The Armour Case.
Mr. E. B. Edwards, will be in Ottawa this week attending Supreme Court, where an appeal from Judge Burbridge's decision in the Armour case has been carried by the Dominion Government. The case is that in which Judge Armour refused to accept the amount of damages awarded him by the Trent Valley Canal valuers in connection with the matter of a certain portion of lands being expropriated for that waterway.

The Police Should Intervene.
A respected citizen was struck with a ball of ice on Saturday night on his way home from business, by a couple of men, who ran away as soon as they threw the missile. The blow was a severe one, and left an ugly black mark on the side of the victim's head. This is not the only case of the kind that has occurred lately, a man living in the west end, having had his collar bone broken by a party of hoodlums, who ran his way home after midnight.

Under a Straw Hat.
Mr. Henry Ayres, a well-known farmer of Fenelon township, and a nephew of Mr. Wm. Ayres, of Peterborough, narrowly escaped a terrible death one day recently. Having lost the weight of snow and ice upon a straw hat built on a framework of poles and rails threatened to lead to its collapse, he went underneath with a post to prop it up; but the instant he touched one of the supports the structure gave way and the man fell upon him. For a time he was partially unconscious, but finally managed to make his way by the shattered flooring and timbers. He was badly crushed about the left hip, but the injury will not have permanent effects. Naturally he has been receiving the congratulations of many friends upon his exceedingly narrow escape from a horrible death.

Abolish Bonuses.
Mr. Andrew Pattullo's resolution, which was withdrawn in the House to put an end to the bonusing of manufacturers by municipalities was supported by a speech which is simply unanswerable. Mr. Pattullo lives in a town (Woodstock) which paid a bonus of $25,000 to the Stewart foundry away from Hamilton, and when he says that most of the municipalities which have given bonuses would have been better off if they had kept the money, he tells a truth within his personal knowledge. The bonus system is cruel and unjust to labour will be endorsed by the men who have been forcibly removed from place to place to keep their jobs; in many cases forced to dispose of their homes at a sacrifice, and to leave friends and neighbors to whom they were warmly attached. The bonus system upsets real estate values, and Mr. Pattullo contended that it has been very injurious to manufacturers by inducing men to go into a business for which they were not adapted, and thereby promoting imprudent competition. Mr. Pattullo proposed that the anti-bonus law of the Legislature shall in future mean something, and that it shall not be regarded as a matter of course that any municipality applying for a special Act to legalize a bonus shall get it. Hon. C. W. Ross spoke approvingly of Mr. Pattullo's argument, as also did many others. But the time is not yet come for a radical change, although it cannot long be postponed.

Freedom's Bill Temporarily.
The Kingston News says. In reference to the recent defeat sustained by the Peterborough hockey team, it may be remembered that at the beginning of the season the Peterborough players hinted that the three championships would likely go to their town. Alas for them! they counted their chickens before they were hatched, and were defeated on all sides. The "Peterborough" people were not satisfied to wait till they came up before the Frontenac team before commenting on them, but at the outset called the Kingston team "back numbers." Nevertheless the Frontenacs were lucky enough numbers to land the intermediate championship. Even aided by the celebrated billiard-table rink, the Peterborough team were not able to pile up a lead enough in their O.H.A. games to keep ahead. There is something the O.H.A. Executive should do next season, and that is see that the Peterborough people provide a fair-sized rink, or arrange that the Peterborough hockey team play all their games away from home. In the race between the Frontenac H. and Peterborough Colts for the junior championship, the Peterborough team ran up a majority of 6 goals on their billiard-table, which they would never have got on a decent ice surface. Neither Queen's nor Frontenac made any boasts about going to defeat rival teams, and that coal press did not say they can play hockey, and of the trophies, have the two leading ones in their safe keeping till the year 1900.

The preserve, Mr. Frank Crandell, intends to liberate them about April 1st. Teachers will be on the lookout for the birds on Mount.

—There is trouble ahead for the camping fraternity if a bill introduced in the local legislature by Mr. John Richardson, M.P.P., for East York, passes the house. It authorizes municipalities to pass by-laws prohibiting people from camping on highways and vacant lands without the consent of the owner, and offenders may be arrested without a warrant.

—We are informed, says the Hawke's Standard, on good authority that as soon as weather permits, extensive repairs are to be made in the C.P.R. yards in this place. The existing facilities will be improved at a cost of $60,000, and the three sidings, south of the ice house will be lengthened at a cost of $725. Other minor improvements around the yard will also be made.

The Leamington News says—Mr. W. A. Shaw, an old friend of the editor, came in the Saturday train to travel for Ontario Newcomer & Co., piano manufacturers. He congratulated himself on having sold already several of the celebrated Newcomer pianos in our town. Mr. Shaw considers Leamington one of the prettiest towns he has ever seen from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Mr. Shaw is son of the Rev. W. H. Shaw, South Woodville.

The fact that advertisements are read is illustrated in the sad case of a soldier who furnished a testimonial for publication the other day to the effect that he had been cured of a perfect health by a certain brand of pills. He had been drawing a pension of $20 a month and the pension ceased shortly after the testimonial appeared. The Pension Department opined that a man who had been completely cured was not entitled to aid from Uncle Sam.

—An old Pioneer Gone.

Death claimed one of the oldest and most respected citizens of the district on Tuesday last, in the person of Mr. James Kearney, who died at the residence of his son, P. A. Kearney, Esq., Young's Point, in the 56th year of his age. He had been ailing from an attack of grippe for about two months and the week before his death he was stricken with paralysis. The deceased gentleman was born in Donegal, Ireland, and came to Canada in 1852 in the sailing ship "Mayflower."

He was a member of the Mackenzie Rebellion in 1837, and was married in 1838 to Miss Honora Young, who he survived 23 years. Socially the distinguished trait of the deceased was his unbounded hospitality, in which he was only second to himself. This feature made their home known to a wide circle of friends, and in distant parts, and they enjoyed the lasting esteem and regard of all with whom they associated. To the family and friends it will be consoling to know how hearty were the tributes of honour to his memory by all creeds, and to reflect that in all his residence amongst us not a single blot or stain rested on his character. He leaves a family of two sons and two daughters to mourn his loss—Mrs. L. G. Robert of Channing Park, Mrs. W. F. Condon, of Michigan, and Messrs. P. A. and J. E. Kearney of Young's Point. On Tuesday morning last at eleven o'clock the largely attended funeral proceeded to St. Mary's church where Rev. Father Fitzpatrick officiated at the solemn mass, the musical part of the programme being rendered with effect. After mass had been celebrated Rev. Father Fitzpatrick preached an eloquent and impressive sermon, after which the remains were conducted to the cemetery and there in the shadow of the church the deceased gentleman was laid to sleep. His last long sleep by the side of his mother's and wife's graves. The pallbearers were Messrs. E. Phelan, Peterborough; M. Elliott, O. Young, R. White, P. P. Young and W. McFarlane Young's Point. Requiescat in Peace.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 15, 1899

RAFFLES.

The Times notices that a fume has been made in a western Ontario because a bicycle was recently raffled in a saloon, and neither the proprietor of the saloon nor any of the terribly wicked people who took "chances" on the wheel have been hanged.

The law against raffling is very severe; but unfortunately for those who believe that the raffle is sinful, the same law which directs the infliction of heavy penalties upon those who raffled in saloons or in dwelling houses, or on the street, permits raffling in connection with churches. The law is much like the foot act, or the local option liquor law, which makes it a punishable misdemeanor to sell whisky on one side of the street, while it is perfectly legal to sell the same beverage on the other side of the same street.

So the law which is intended to punish the man who raffles in a saloon, acknowledges the same man's legal right to raffle in the basement of a church, or in any other place if the profit of the "gamblings" are devoted to the Lord's work. It is a little difficult for the public to make this distinction. The ordinary, unprejudiced man, who sees that it is legal, it is even held by the church authorities that it is highly creditable to take a cabot at a bicycle when the raffie is conducted under the auspices of the church, finds it difficult and perhaps impossible to induce himself to see that there is any very great crime in taking a chance in a bicycle raffie under less sacred auspices.

The law against raffling is a glaring piece of sectional legislation, which punishes one man to fine and imprisonment for doing the thing which his neighbor may not only do legally, but may in the doing of it, earn a reputation for liberality in a good cause.

Raffling is either right or wrong. If it be right, the law should acknowledge the fact; if it be wrong, there should be no exception made. What is wrong and illegal in a saloon should not be right in the sacred house of God.

It is often an easy matter for extremists to get a law passed; but if that law does not recommend itself to the good sense of the bulk of the people, it is extremely difficult to have it enforced, and no law which punishes the same act legal in one house and illegal in another house, can ensure the respect of the sensible people.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

So far the Weather Bureau has justified plenty of drafts on its flannel drawer.

On the principle that misery loves company, when the thermometer fell yesterday it was a big come down for this country.

Although news from the West would indicate that though some of the railroads and highways are blocked, it is not as any harder for spring to come in.

MOLLY BAWN.

BY THE DUCHESS.

"Now, do go on, Mr. Potts, I am dying to hear about it," declares Molly.

"Well, my uncle died," begins Potts, "all his furniture was sold by auction. And there was a mirror in the drawing-room my mother had always had a tremendous fancy for."

"And my mother was always in the habit of wearing a black bonnet," quotes Sir Penrhony, gravely. "I know it by heart."

"If you do you may as well tell it yourself," says Potts, much offended.

"Never mind him, Plantagenet; do go on," says Molly impatiently.

"Well, she was in the habit of wearing a black bonnet, as it happens," says Mr. Potts, with suppressed ire; "but just before the auction she bought a new one, and it was pink."

"Oh, why on earth don't you say blue?" exclaims Luttrel, with a groan.

"Because it was pink, I suppose I know my mother's bonnet better than you."

"But, my dear fellow, think of her complexion! And at first, I assure you you always used to make it blue."

"I differ with you," puts in Sir Penrhony, politely. "I always understood it was a sea-green."

"It was pink," reiterates Plantagenet firmly. "Well, we had a cook who was very fond of my mother—"

"I thought it was a footman. And it really was a footman, you know," says Luttrel, reproachfully.

"The butler, you mean, Luttrel," exclaims Sir Penrhony, with exaggerated astonishment at his friend's want of memory.

"And she, having most unluckily heard my mother say she feared she could not attend the auction, made up her mind to go herself and at all hazards secure the coveted mirror for her."

"And she didn't know my mother had on the new sea-green bonnet," Sir Penrhony breaks in, with growing excitement.

"No, she didn't," says Mr. Potts, growing excited too. "So she started, as my uncle's—the cook, I mean—and as soon as the mirror was put up began bidding away for it like a steam-engine. And presently some one in a pink bonnet began bidding too, and that they were bidding away against each other, the cook not knowing the bonnet, and my mother not being able to see the cook, she was so hemmed in by the crowd, until presently it was knocked down to my mother—who is a sort of person who would rather die than give up—"

"would you believe it?" winds up Mr. Potts, nearly choking with delight over the misfortune of his maternal relative, "she had given five pounds more for the mirror than she need have done!"

"They all laugh, Sir Penrhony and Luttrel with a very suspicious mirth. "Poor Mrs. Potts!" says Molly.

"Oh, she didn't mind. When she had relieved herself by blowing up the cook she laughed more than any of us. But it was a long time before the 'governor' could be brought to see the joke. You know he paid for it," says Plantagenet, naively.

"Moral: never buy a new bonnet," says Sir Penrhony.

"Or keep an affectionate cook," says Luttrel.

"Or go to an auction," says Philip. "It is a very instructive tale: it is all moral!"

"The reason I so much admire it, I know no one such an adept at pointing out morals and adorning a tale as our Plantagenet."

"Mr. Potts smiles superiorly. "I think the edification reaped with you and Luttrel," he says, with cutting sarcasm, answering Sir Penrhony.

"Potts, you aren't half done! Tell us another. Your splendid resources can't be yet exhausted," says Philip.

"Yes, do, Potts, and wake me when you come to the point," seconds Sir Penrhony, warmly, sinking into an arm-chair and gracefully disposing an antimacassar over his head.

"A capital idea," murmurs Luttrel. "It will give us all a hint when we are expected to laugh."

"Oh, you can chaff as you like," exclaims Mr. Potts, much aggrieved; "but I wonder if I went to sleep in an arm-chair which you would carry on the conversation."

"Not one of them," declares Cecil, with conviction; "we should die of mere insultation were it not for you!"

"I really think you are all jealous of me," says Plantagenet, greatly fortified. "I consider myself by far the most interesting of them all, and the most—"

"Say it, Potts; don't be shy," says Sir Penrhony, raising a corner of the antimacassar, so as to give his friends the full encouragement of one whole eye. "Fascinating! I feel sure, will be the right word in the right place here!"

"It would indeed. I know nobody so really entertaining as Plantagenet," says Cecil, warmly.

"Your ladyship's judgement is always sound, I submit to it," returns Sir Penrhony, rising to make a well-timed bow.

Weak and Run Down, With Heart and Kidneys in Bad Condition—Restored by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I was very much run down, having been sick for several months. I had been trying different remedies which did me no good. I would have severe spells of coughing that would leave me prostrate. I was told that my lungs were affected, and my heart and kidneys were in a bad condition. In fact, it seemed as though every organ was out of order. I felt that something must be done and my brother advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I procured a bottle and began taking it. Before it was half gone I felt that it was helping me. I continued its use and it has made me a new woman. I cannot praise it too highly." Mrs. SUMMERS, 217 Ossington Avenue, Toronto, Ontario.

grain has assumed its sober garb of brown; a general carliness in every where. The leaves are falling, not now in careful couples of one or two, but in whole showers, slowly, sorrowfully, as though loath to quit the sighing branches, their last faint rustling making their death-song.

Molly's visit has drawn to an end. Her joyous month is over. To-day a letter from her brother reminding her of her promise to return in a week, home life, all the calm pleasure she will gain, yet bringing with it a little sting, as she remembers all the gay and laughing hours that she must leave. For indeed her time at Heret has proved a good time.

"I have a letter from my brother, grandpapa; he thinks it is time I should return," she says, accounting the old man as he takes his solitary walk up and down one of the shaded paths. "Do you find it so dull here?" asks he, sharply, turning to read her face. To be continued.

Victims of Catarrh Will Rejoice

to read the following Testimonials from other sufferers in their own city, who have freed themselves from the dread disease by the use of INDIAN CATARRH CURE:

MR. MORRIS. "I had Indian Catarrh Cure in my case of Catarrh, complicated by Le Gripe, in my family. Such recovered rapidly, one being in less than 5 weeks and I used no other medicine. I can say nothing but good of Indian Catarrh Cure."

ALLAN G. CRAWFORD, 270 St. Antoine St., Montreal.

TESTIMONIAL II. W. James, St. John St., Montreal says: "Only those who have Catarrh can comprehend the pain and misery I experienced while suffering from Catarrh. Indian Catarrh Cure has removed the disease completely. I feel a new man."

Read the above statements and then ask yourself "Why should not I too be cured?" Do not delay. Every day this deadly CATARRH is taking a stronger hold on you, and Le Gripe aggravates it. We cure any form of Catarrh. Ask your druggist for Indian Catarrh Cure, or send direct to

are seen everywhere. Heredity or overstudy renders them unfitted to cope with the responsibilities of life, susceptible to consumption or decline. Medicine has failed, and must fail, for they need food. Take cod liver oil? No! Their poor stomachs rebel. Take emulsions? No! They are equally distasteful. Nothing will effect a cure but Maltine with Cod Liver Oil. The oil, rendered palatable and easy of digestion, is quickly assimilated, and Maltine, equal in nutrition to the oil, and even surpassing it in energetic action upon the digestive processes, unite in producing increased weight, improved color, and that elasticity and buoyancy which herald returning health. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil has a remedial value ten times greater than emulsions. One of England's greatest physicians (Dr. Fothergill) says: "There is no remedy that can take the place of Maltine in cases of Debility and Nervous Prostration." Can be purchased of any druggist.

The Greatest Wonder of the Age—Rheumatism Cured.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid in the blood. This acid is poisonous matter and nothing more than the waste, worn-out matter—the ashes, so to speak, of the fire that burns when you think, speak, act or work. This acid matter is borne in the dark current of the veins back from all parts of the body to the heart, to be forced through the kidneys for purification, and this process constantly forming must be filtered out of the blood. If not, this poison will gather in all the muscles and joints of human body, and to remove it has so far defied the skill of all physicians up to the present day. The Great is the only thing that has ever been known to effect a perfect cure. It is a new thing to the white man but an ancient thing to the North American Indian. This medicine contains no drugs and is made purely of roots, herbs, barks, seeds and flowers gathered by the dusky sons of the forest. Six bottles of this medicine are guaranteed to cure any case of Rheumatism, no matter how long standing, or money will be refunded. This remedy is the best and most reliable of all remedies for Rheumatism, and is a healthy action at once, causing them to throw the poisonous matter off, and therefore it must be recognized also as a kidney cure.

A Running Scrofula Sore of Twenty Years' Standing.
This is to certify that I had the Rheumatism for many years, and it was in my side and kidneys, and would run down my leg for twenty-seven years; the itching and burning at times was almost unbearable. I employed Dr. Parrodis, Dr. Demond, Dr. Thompson and Dr. Lee, all of Coatcook. They all claimed my blood had been tainted and that I could not be cured. Last April I got a bottle of that great North American Indian Rheumatic Cure, and today I am a well man; my rheumatism has all left, the pain in my kidneys is completely gone, and my leg has healed up. I will take my oath that this is true. I believe that this remedy is the best blood purifier in the world.

Great Excitement in Montreal.

When the people saw a guarantee given by Lyman Knox & Co., Kerry Watson & Co., Lyman Knox & Co., to all the retail druggists in Canada authorizing them to sell Smith's Indian Rheumatic and Kidney Cure, and Smith's Indian Ough Syrup and Grippa Killer to all of their customers and guarantee to cure or refund the money, then all the druggists in Ottawa, Toronto and other smaller cities saw the guarantee and at once began offering to guarantee these wonderful remedies to cure or refund the money. What a Commence Traveller Says

I had rheumatism for twenty years. I could hardly walk or work or sleep. I was in great agony. I tried a good many medicines and home remedies but no relief. I got some of Smith's North American Indian Rheumatic and Kidney Cure and it cured me of all my pains. I would not be put back where I was before for ten thousand dollars. It has made me a happy man. I advise any of my friends who have this terrible disease to try this remedy; it is a guarantee to humanity.

Testimony of a Prominent Montreal Druggist

Wm. Smith, Esq.,
Dear Sir,—On the bottles of Smith's Rheumatic Cure you had in your year ago, I gave you for a trial to see what I knew had been a matter of rheumatism for years. He was laid up periodically every two or three months, so bad he had to go to bed. He took two bottles of your Rheumatic Cure and nine months afterwards he had a return of the disease. I shall always recommend your Rheumatic Cure, and I have great faith in it.
Yours sincerely,
JOHN T. LYONS,
Chr. Craig and Henry etc.,

New Fishing Bill.
Many persons in Peterborough are deeply interested in the new fishing bill which the government are to introduce this week. Bass will be made a commercial fish, and in future no person may catch them with nets. Pickering is also considered, but it was finally decided that no stringent measure should be taken yet. Certain districts will be set apart where commercial fishing shall not be carried on. One of these districts will be Lake Nipissing. There will be other districts so arranged.

Disfranchisement.
In the work of the Y.M.C.A. the provinces of Ontario and Quebec are divided into districts. An interesting program comprising three sessions, has been prepared with subjects embracing general association work. A large delegation is expected to attend from the Peterborough Association. —Lindsay Post: The biggest baby ever born in Canada came into the world on Friday last at Montreal. It weighed exactly eighteen pounds, and one ounce. We think our contemporary is mistaken. We have faint recollection that a baby was born some years ago, to Mrs. and Mr. Wm. O'Brien, the esteemed and popular Clerk of the town of St. John, that weighed an ounce or two more than the Montreal infant.

A Profitable Talk.
We have always believed that people with a good thing to sell, could profitably advertise it. It has occurred to us that we might take a little of our own prescription in advance. We have something on the market which is a decided bargain, and gives more for the money than any of our competitors. We shall use this space to tell you some of the good things about the Morning Times and why you should subscribe for it and send it to your friends. We believe the Times is the best paper published in Eastern Ontario. Its editors have had many years experience, and everything that hard work and a reasonable expenditure of money can do to make a good paper, is freely given. We do not claim to cover the whole world, but we do intend to give all that is going on in that fit to print.

With a Good Thing.
The Government's High School Bill has been introduced. It provides, among other things, that the High School course shall be as follows:

1. A general course consisting of advanced instruction in the ordinary branches of an English education.
2. A commercial course consisting of bookkeeping and commercial transactions, business forms and usage, stenography and typewriting may be taken at the option of trustees.
3. A science course consisting of the elements of physics and chemistry in their relation to the productive industries of the province.
4. A course in agriculture consisting of the chemistry of the soil, the botany of the farm, and garden, entomology and the elements of geology and mineralogy.
5. An artizan course, consisting of 5. freehand, model, and mechanical drawing and decorative designs.
6. A teachers course, consisting of such subjects not included in the ordinary course as may be prescribed by the Education Department for teachers' non-professional certification.
7. A matriculation course consisting of such subjects as may be prescribed for matriculation into the University of Toronto.

What a Good Thing.
This great family journal dislikes being imposed upon, and resents any thing in that direction. Yesterday our friend Mr. Snowden snatched down in the Editor's cash chair. He said he dropped in to give us an item of news, and as he unfolded his story no one would have thought by gazing on his truthful and honest looking countenance, that he was loading us with anything but the gospel truth. He said last summer when he and Tom Boddy were out fishing in Columbia Canal, he dropped his brain new, full jewelled 18 carat, gold watch in the water, but could not recover it. The other day a party who lives in the neighborhood of the canal, did some fishing through a hole in the ice and caught a number of bass which were brought to town and found their way to the Snowden house. On opening one of these fish Mr. Snowden's watch was recovered, and the strange part of the story is that it had not lost a minute. The watch was a stem winder and the winding of the fish kept the watch wound up, and was going all the time. Mr. S. as soon as he had finished his story, pulled himself together, arose to his feet, and strode out of the room without a smile.

—Mrs. J. W. Martin, who has been in Peterboro visiting friends, has returned to Kingston.

—Mrs. Bridgman is down from Toronto for a few days visiting at the residence of her brother, Dr. Caldwell.

—Rev. J. W. Kelly, rector of St. Joseph's, Donora, who had to remain in Toronto most of the winter is about again. He was in Kingston last week and spent a few days with his old friend, Archbishop Gauthier. The reverend gentleman states that the Archbishop received the pallium at the same time as the Archbishop of Quebec, and will invest himself with the sacred symbol of the Archbishop's episcopal dignity in the presence of the prelates of his clergy and people on Holy Thursday, when His Grace, like all other bishops in Catholic Christendom will officiate at solemn mass, in his cathedral, in honour of the institution of the blessed Eucharist.

—Last Night's Fighting Watch.
The match, the final one of the season, took place last night between the rink of the Thistles and six rinks of the Granite. It was closely contested throughout and resulted in a victory for the Thistles by 10 shots the only Granite rink up being that that skipped by Judge Weller.

—To the North-west.
Yesterday the regular weekly settlers' excursion left for the North-West. A special was freight left town at 9:30 yesterday morning for Toronto to join the big excursion which left there last night. Among those who left morning was Mr. Henry Walker of Walker & Co., grocers, who is taking up farming in Manitoba. Two cars of settlers' effects, six horses, being included in the list, were attached to the train. The car loads were also taken on at Monrovia, two at Burketon and one at Myrtle. Settlers from Norwood and points east go by way of Orleton Place.

Disappeared at Night.
The family of Mr. James Hall, of Douro, are in great trouble in consequence of the mysterious disappearance last night of a daughter, Miss Jane Hall. It appears that Miss Hall left the house some time during the night after the family had retired and it is impossible to find any trace of her. The fact that she has been in a melancholy state of mind recently and left without other clothing than her nightgown gives rise to the most serious apprehensions. Mr. John Hall, Lieutenant in the 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoon, brother of the missing young lady, was in town this morning making enquiries about his sister. Up till late last night no word of the missing girl has been announced.

Peterboro's Bill.
The Globe yesterday, had the following:

"The bill respecting the towns of Peterboro provoked a great deal of discussion, which ultimately resulted in the unanimous decision to accept Mr. Colquhoun's suggestion that the representatives of opposing interests be allowed to stand on their feet. Mayor Davis represented the town of Peterboro, and there were also present Warden Hawthorne, County Councilors Shaw and J. Foster, Rev. O'Connor, of Ennismore, Mr. E. Bradburn, A. G. Stewart, Ald. Davidson, Ald. E. H. D. Hall. The bill confers the right, loaning the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Co., Limited, and authorizes the corporation to develop water power and generate electricity."

"Messrs. Carnegie and Hazlett, representing the existing power companies opposed the second clause. Mayor Davis agreed to confine the operations of the town to generating electric power for the purpose of the municipality."

"Mr. Pattullo contended that if the town of Peterboro is authorized to embark in a municipal electric plant every other municipality should be given the same privilege and that the powers, if granted, should be carefully restricted."

RECENT MOVE OF CATHOLICS IS STRONGLY DENOUNCED.

"So Far, but no Farther"—These are Words Inspired by the Progress of Rome in the United States.

Port Hope, March 15.—The Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East commenced its fortieth annual session here this afternoon, Right Worshipful Grand Master Albert A. Bradley of Port Hope in the chair. In his annual address the Grand Master said among other things—

"Rome is ever busy to get control of the destinies of our Dominion. Her priests and bishops, as their latest move, are undertaking to have the Coronation Oath remodelled to suit the Pope. Organisers and Protestants generally have never had to face a more formidable proposal than the one advanced by the so-called Catholic Truth Society—a society more dangerous than even the Fenian Brotherhood, because they are opposed to violence, and seek by persuasion and flattery, mock frankness and professedly British loyalty, to further

The Grand Secretary, Mr. F. M. Clarke, in his annual report, said—

THE LUMBER SUPPLY.

J.W. Booth, of Ottawa, Says There is a Good Outlook for the Year.
— Ottawa, March 15.—Mr. J. R. Booth said to-day: "The coming lumber year will be fully as good as last. The number of logs taken out this winter in the timber limits of the Upper Ottawa is quite as large as that of any previous year and the quality of lumber is just as good in every respect. It is folly for the people to speak of the supply decreasing. The limits on the Upper Ottawa are practically inexhaustible, and there are thousands of acres of land extremely rich in pine and other woods which make the best lumber that have never yet been explored. No doubt during the coming year many new limits will be opened up. The pulpwod industry also is commencing to ac-an important part in Canadian trade, particularly along the north shores of the Ottawa. The quantity of spruce and poplar wood taken out yearly for this purpose is something enormous, and the supply can never run out. The trace in this case promises to be larger than ever."

Did you ever See a Snow Storm in Summer?

We never did; but we have seen the clouds at this time of the year so covered with dandruff that it looked as if it had been out in a regular snow-storm.

No need of this snow-storm. As the summer sun would melt the falling snow so will

Ayer's Hair Vigor

melt these flakes of dandruff in the scalp. It goes further than this; it prevents their formation. It has still other properties; it will restore color to gray hair in just ten times out of every ten cases.

And it does even more; it feeds and nourishes the roots of the hair. Thin hair becomes thick hair; and short hair becomes long hair.

We have a book on the Hair and Scalp. It is yours, for the asking.

If you do not obtain all the benefits you expect from the use of the Vigor, write the doctor about it. Probably there is some difficulty with your general system which may be easily remedied.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH MARCH 16, 1899

THE WAY TO GET AHEAD.

This letter from a young fellow of the neighborhood is worthy of attention:

"I am a young man 21 years of age, and during my youth my education was neglected because of necessity, but I should like to become a journalist. Now, how can I acquire the rudiments of a journalistic education and fit myself for that profession? I am at present employed in the newspaper business, being a distributor for one of the wholesale newsdealers. My hours are so that I may study four hours per day. I should imagine that at this rate I could soon fit myself for a beginner."

If you have so much leisure for study, why have you not already improved it to make up the deficiencies of your early education? There have been a great many men of intellectual distinction who started out, with no greater advantages than you have had. Andrew Johnston, President of the United States, did not even learn to read and write until he had nearly passed through his apprenticeship to the tailor's trade. Horace Greeley, the New York journalist, was born on a farm and of parents who were poor. His years of schooling were few, for he was fifteen when he was apprenticed to a printer, and before that time he had worked on his father's farm. The Editor of the Morning Times, also sprung from very humble but poor ancestors, and look at this G. F. J. under his brainy management.

How, then, could such distinguished men get ahead, and yet you remain behind complaining of your fate? They had no more opportunities for education than you have had, and, yet, at your age, Andrew Johnston had begun his political career, and Horace Greeley had gone to New York as a journeyman printer of remarkable accomplishments, and with a well-earned mind, so that two years later, or when he was twenty-three, he was editor of the New Yorker, so famous as a political journal, while twenty-five years ago the editor of this G. F. J. could not give his check for a $100, and now he can write it for a cool hundred thousand, and not a bank in the world will honor it.

One great reason of their success, young man, was that they improved their hours of leisure, and did not ask other people whether by so doing they could gain any specific end. Each of them was as poor as you are, but for that very reason they acquired habits of industry and frugality, and from their boyhood to manhood understood that they must depend on themselves for advancement. They knew that they could not afford to waste any of their time, however it might be with the children of the rich, who have help from the outside, in the way of money and influence to help them along; otherwise Johnston would probably have died a tailor and Greeley a printer, and the editor of this G. F. J. would have probably sought a position in some bank.

It is true that these were men of extraordinary natural abilities, and that, no matter how hard he should work, our correspondent might never win their distinction. Probably God had not made him for it. The high peaks are few, and the average is a comparatively low level. But he will never rise to even a moderate elevation if he does not put to profitable use those four hours a day. They constitute about one-fourth of his working life, and he cannot afford to throw them away if he has the ambition to get up higher. Perhaps he cannot to employ them as to fit himself for literary work on a newspaper. He begins late. He has much to learn; but his industry and his abstinence from frivolous pleasures that absorb his earnings will bring their sure reward. He will be better off at study, and study will be far less exhausting to him than the pleasures with which the run of young men of his condition employ their leisure.

As to the preparation for journalism, it consists of the whole range of acquirement. The wiser, the better informed a man is, and the higher his moral and intellectual elevation, the more he is fitted for journalism.

A STORY OF NAPOLEON.

He Liberated a Scotchman at Ouchamps Request.

Napoleon had at one time many admirers in England, especially among the commercial classes, who suffered deeply from the war, but he alienated the sympathy of all such by his cruel arrest of the English who were in France at the time of the rupture of the peace of Amiens, in 1804. Some 15,000 English of both sexes were thus detained in irons in captivity, till the close of the war, and hardly a family in the middle and upper classes but had to bewail the absence of some friend or connection.

Yet in individual cases Napoleon showed some magnanimity. A young Scotchman, one Robert Hendry, from Glasgow, a scientific dyer and chemist, had taken advantage of the peace to visit the great manufacturing houses of France, and he was staying at Jouy, where Oberkampf had established a huge cotton printing factory, when war suddenly broke out. Hendry was thereupon constituted prisoner by the authorities, but allowed to remain on parole at Jouy.

Napoleon one day visited the factory unexpectedly, accompanied by Josephine. He made a rapid progress through the works. Villages and work people, the last numbering 1,400, assembled to witness his departure, cheering the carriage and shouting still louder when the emperor was seen to take the cross from his own breast and affix it to that of the modest Ouchamps. Lamey painted the scene, and the picture is still to be found upon the walls of Versailles. But Oberkampf had still something to ask. Napoleon smiled propitiously, but made a very free when he heard the petition, which was for the release of the prisoner. "An Englishman?" "No, sir, a Scotchman!" His mother—his sisters depend on his love. "Well, he shall be free, then," said the emperor.—Household World.

MOLLY BAWN.

BY THE DUCHESS.

"Dull! No indeed. How should it? I shall always remember my visit to you as one of the happy events of my life!"

"Then remain a little longer," he growls, ungraciously. "The others have consented to prolong their stay, why should not you? Write to your mother, Mr. Mawerene to that effect. I can not breathe in an empty house! It is my wish, my desire that you shall stay," he finishes, irritably, this being one of his painful days.

So it is settled. She will obey this crabbed veteran's behest and enjoy a little more of the goods the gods have provided for her before returning to her quiet home.

"You will not desert us in our increased calamities, Molly, will you?" asks Cecil, half an hour later, as Molly enters the common boudoir, where Lady Stafford and Marcia sit alone, the men being absent with their guns, and Mrs. Harley consequently in the blues. "Where have you been? We quite fancied you have taken a lesson out of poor dear Maudie's book and retired to your couch. Do you stay on at Horst?" She glances up anxiously from her painting as she speaks.

"Yes, Grandpa has asked me to put off my departure for a while. So I shall. I have just written to John to say so, and ask him if I may accept this second invitation."

"Do you think it likely he will refuse?" Marcia asks, unpleasantly.

"He may. But when I represent to him how terribly his obduracy will distress you all, should he insist on my return, I feel sure he will relent," retorts Molly, nonchalantly.

"Now that Mr. Amherst has induced us to stay, don't you think he might do something to vary the entertainment?" says Cecil, in a faintly injured tone. Shooting in all very well, of course, for those who like it; and so in tennis; and so are early hours; but tu quoque perdit. I confess I hate my bed until the small hours are upon me. Nothing but a good night's sleep for instance! Do you think he would, Marcia, if he was asked?"

"How can I say?"

"Would you ask him, dear?"

"Well, I don't think I would," replies Marcia, with a rather forced laugh; "for this reason, that it would be to ask him to vary the entertainment as well as ask him for the moon, if there is one thing he distinctly abhors, it is a ball."

"But he might go to bed early, if he wished," persists Cecil; "none of us would interfere or find fault with his going to bed early. I don't see why our enjoyment would put him out in the least, if he would only be reasonable. I declare I have a great mind to ask him myself."

"Do," says Molly, eagerly, who is struck by his admiration at the entire idea, having never yet been to a really large ball.

"I would rather somebody else tried it first," confesses Cecil, with a frank laugh. "A hundred times I have made up my mind to ask a favor of him, but when I found myself face to face with him, and he fixed me with his eagle eye, I quailed. Molly, you are a new importation; try your luck."

"Well, I don't mind if I do," says Molly valiantly. "He can't say worse than 'No' and here he is, coming slowly along the balcony. Shall I seize the present opportunity and storm the citadel out of hand? I am sure if I wait I shall be like Bob Acres and find my courage oozing out through my fingers."

"Then don't say Cecil. 'If he motions you badly, I promise to interfere.'"

"Molly steps on to the balcony, and looking down, awaits the slow and languid approach of her grandfather. Just as he arrives beneath her she bends over until he, attracted by her presence, looks up.

"He is leaning down upon him, bent on conquest, and has a blood-red rose in her hand. She waves it lightly to and fro, as though uncertain, as though dallying about giving utterance to some thought that pines for freedom.

"Have a rose, grandpa!" says Molly, stooping still further over the iron railing, with her sweet face as pale as the dead and gone Eleanor. As she speaks she drops the flower, and he, dexterously, by some fortunate chance, catches it.

"Well done!" cries she, with a gay laugh, clapping her hands. "feeling surprised, wholly amused, at his misadventure. 'Yet, stay, grandpa, do not go so soon. I have a favor to ask of you.'"

"Well?"

"We have been discussing something delightful for the last five minutes, something downright delicious, but I can do nothing without you. Will you help us grandpa?" she says, gazing all this with the prettiest grace, gazing undaunted into the soul of the rose raised to hers.

"Why are you the spokeswoman?" demands he, in a tone that makes the deeply attentive Cecil growl aloud.

"Well—because I really don't believe I know why, except that I choose to."

"I shall always remember my visit to you as one of the happy events of my life!"

"Then remain a little longer," he growls, ungraciously. "The others have consented to prolong their stay, why should not you? Write to your mother, Mr. Mawerene to that effect. to be so. But grant me this my first request! Ah! do, now, grandpa."

The sweet cooing of the Irish "Ah!" penetrates even this withered old heart.

"What is this wonderful thing you would have me do?" asks he, some of the accumulated verities of years disappearing from his face, while Lady Stafford, from behind the curtain looks on, trembling with fear for the success of her scheme, and Marcia listens and watches with envious rage.

"We want you to—give a ball," says Molly, boldly, with a little gasp, keeping her large eyes fixed in eager anxiety upon his face, while her pretty parted lips seemed still to entreat.

"Say 'yes' to me, grandpa."

How refuse so tender a pleading? How bring the blink that a 'no' must impose upon her lovely face? To be continued.

They are two grand books, and every intelligent man in Ontario who is not a lawyer, should in justice to himself have both these books, and will try them if they get an opportunity.

These books are not luxuries, but actual necessities, and every man who sees them will try if he has that much money.

They are the CHEAPEST LAW BOOKS in Canada. Take an agency for these books and push the work for two months and you will be $100 BETTER OFF.

Agents wanted in every county and township between Toronto and Ottawa except Peterborough, which is being successfully worked.

There is MORE MONEY in a good book than anything else you can handle, and it does not require capital.

Write at once, set terms, and make the money that is going.

Did you ever See a SNOW Storm in SUMMER?

We never did; but we have seen the clothing at this time of the year so covered with dandruff that it looked as if it had been out in a regular snow-storm.

No need of this snow-storm.

As the summer sun would melt the falling snow so will

Ayer's Hair Vigor

melt these flakes of dandruff in the scalp. It goes further than this: it prevents their formation. It has still other properties: it will restore color to gray hair in just ten times out of every ten cases.

And it does even more: it feeds and nourishes the roots of the hair. This hair becomes thick and short hair becomes long hair.

We have a book on the Hair and Scalp. It is yours, for the asking.

If you do not obtain all the benefits you expect from the use of the Vigor, write the doctor about it. Probably there is some difficulty with your general system, which may be easily remedied.

JAMES HOWIE, THE SPY, JUMPS INTO THE SEA

HE FIGURED IN THE CHINA-JAPANESE WAR.

Tried to Burn the Japanese Fleet—But a Premature Explosion Banished His Fumes.

New York, March 14.—James Howie, an American, who tried to blow up the Japanese fleet during the war with China, has committed suicide, according to advices received here to-day from a Washington despatch to The Journal.

Howie's adventurous career reads like a romance from the middle ages, and his exploits during the Chinese war made him known the world over. At the breaking out of hostilities Howie offered his services to the Chinese, and they were quickly accepted. With a comrade named Brown, he was sent as a spy to Japan. They visited a number of camps, arsenals and navy yards, and secured a mass of valuable information, but they fell under suspicion in Kobe, and were at once arrested. They were allowed enough, however, to have no incriminating evidence upon them, and the Japanese were obliged to release them first making them take an oath not to give aid to the Chinese.

Disregarding his oath, Howie escaped from Japan and made his way to China, where he conceived the daring plot that made him famous. It was his plan to set adrift a quantity of explosives that would be swept by the tide around the Japanese fleet and then fired by a cannonade from distance.

He loaded a fleet of a dozen hulks near Chee Fow with high explosives, but before his work was finished a premature explosion wrecked his hulks and his hopes.

Howie took an active part in the defence of Wei-Hau-Hei and at its capture fell into the hands of the enemy.

His health and fortune affected his mind a few months ago. He started on a voyage to Shanghai, hoping to restore his health, but brooding over his hard luck made him violently insane during the voyage, and he was heavily armed. Breaking from his guards one day he planged overboard and was seen no more.

THE CHEESE MEN IN CONVENTION

MR. C. G. PUBLON'S INTERESTING ADDRESS.

Feeling Room: What he has to say in this little room will be a few words of business interest.

At the afternoon session of the Cheesemakers' convention on Saturday the first business taken up was that of the election of officers. Mr. F. E. Oline, the popular and painstaking President was again unanimously elected to that office and Mr. Geo. Gillespie was elected secretary-treasurer.

Those present at the convention were Messrs. J. A. Oakley, Hastings; J. L. Hatton, Warsaw; W. Oakley, Hastings; J. F. Winkbeck, Leamside; S. Lowry, Highland Grove; D. J. Cameron, Westwood; C. Roberts, Burnley; J. Tomlin, Alderville; P. Spence, S. Dummar; P. E. Kline, Lakeside; R. Thurston, Dundas; R. Howson, Carletonville; A. Wilson, Young's Point; D. Wood, Fowler's Corners; Wm. Wood, Peterboro; R. English, Lakeside; J. P. Andrews, Keene; K. S. Spence, South Dummar; E. Wood, Grapetown; J. Wood, Westwood; J. Riddell, Bensford; J. Tomlin, Alderville; — Squires, Norwood; Geo. Repwick, Villiers; P. Rutherford, Stilleboro; T. Borland, Keene; W. Weir, Lang; H. Crow and J. Chittick, Peterboro; H. Elliott, Fowler's Corners; J. W. Wood, Kinnisnore; T. Graham, Warsaw; C. H. Moore, Peterboro; Wm. Thompson, Jernyn; J. Bryan, Westwood; W. Pavier Graystock; E. E. Kline, Lakeside.

Mr. Kline in a few opening remarks urged that if a good quality cheese was to be produced the milk and a well regulated temperature in the curing room must be obtained. Many cheesemakers thought when a cheese was put in the curing room they were through with it. In reality they were only half through with it. Too much importance could not be attached to the curing of the cheese. A sub-earth duct was no use unless a proper curing room was possessed.

MR. A. G. PUBLON, of the Provincial Dairy School, Kingston, was then introduced. He stated in opening that he would have been pleased to see some of the ladies present and also more of the patients who had been so much interested as the makers.

Last year he had spoken on the subject of making "Good cheese from good milk." He did not intend telling the makers this year how to make good cheese from bad milk, because it can not be done. He warned the makers against taking in any bad milk. In Montreal recently he had observed that some of the cheese there from Peterboro was as fine as any he had ever put a trifle in.

Before starting to make cheese in the spring the maker should be sure the factory was in good condition. The demand now was for cheese of clean body and a sweet, nutty flavor. The first necessity was good milk. It should be of a quality which would not show much acid inside of three hours. Cheese could not be made from over-ripe milk. There was nothing more necessary in the manufacture of cheese than having milk at the right acidity when making. This lay with the patrons and they should be educated to send in the right kind of milk. If it came in over-ripe the patrons must cool it. Soft, silky cheese could only result from a good moist curd. Flavor was also a strong point and it could not be procured from over-ripe milk.

In coloring, the maker must be guided by the buyer. Cheese makers used too much starter and the cheese was, consequently, of a bitter flavor.

A starter should be used when the milk requires it. For instance when the milk comes in very sweet or very grainy, makers sometimes use the starter for the purpose of getting the milk ready for the ripener. Cheesemaking is a work of fermentation, and a starter will therefore flavor it. It requires a lot of skill to handle a starter successfully.

Rape, turnip or leak gave a poor flavor to the milk. The curd must be so well cooked before the acid is discernable that is not mussy, and should be discernable in two hours.

Dampness of the weather affected the cooking of the curd, and there were so many conditions to be taken into account that the speaker could not advise as to how high to cook it.

Equality in the size of curds, was a necessity. If the sizes were different, the kinds of cheese were different and this would be shown up on the ripener. The curd contained moisture according to its size, and fermentation was carried on in the same manner.

In fast working milk, it should be thickened as soon as possible with more ripener in order that the curd might be cut as soon as possible, and the moisture expelled before there was too much acid. In this case the curd should be cut very fine—almost as fine as wheat. The whey might also be drawn off and water run in. If the curd was being cooked at 100 the curd was being cooked at 100 the water should be about 10 degrees. If the cheese was put into a curing room at a temperature of eighty degrees, it could not be sweet and nutty. An ordinary curing room would not do, no matter how well the cheese was made. A lower temperature was necessary. If a cool curing room could be procured, then the cheese must be made to suit the high temperature. This cheese, would not of course, be as silky or sweet as was desirable, but it would keep better.

In following one system, in making cheese, every requirement of that system must be followed most minutely. One little deviation would often mean a bad coat a point.

If there was a sub-earth duct in connection with the factory, the ventilation must be good. At the temperature of 65 degrees the lactic acid germ did the best work. When the temperature was higher, the conditions were more in favor of the filth germs, and the flavor would deteriorate.

A curing room built with six thick-panes of lumber with paper between was perfection. In it the temperature could be kept at 65 degrees without ice.

The patrons should learn that they must take special care of their milk when the weather changed. Cheese made for cold storage should be made quite firm and less moist. For the starter there should be a can that can be covered up. It be made of tin and fit into a larger one of galvanized iron. The space between could be filled with water. One per cent of the starter should be put in the milk. The milk ought to be at 75 degrees, and then cooled down to 60. A starter should be propagated and not kept for more than two weeks. Only perfect milk should be used to make the starter, and the starter should never be used unless when absolutely necessary.

In closing Mr. Publon the rats to become rusty.

Mr. Wm. Clouston was called upon for a few words. In opening he stated that the Peterboro cheese stood as high as any in Canada, as evidenced by the number of buyers who attended the Board meetings. The speaker has always sympathized with the makers. He thought that they were asked to take too much risk for their remuneration, which they received. It was not fair to pay the cheesemaker so small a wage, and then ask him to shoulder all the responsibility if anything went wrong with the cheese. Some buyers were inclined to be very critical in taking the cheese, particularly if the market had fallen after it had been purchased. After a make had been reduced it was subjected to a very severe test. It had to lie in the factory for some time and then, after being sent to Montreal it would often remain in the hot freight sheds for several days before being shipped. All this had a bad effect on the cheese and the maker had to stand the brunt of it. In closing Mr. Clouston again referred to the matter of having cool curing rooms.

President Kline brought up the matter of the appointment of an instructor. He thought there would be no need of an instructor if every factory was equipped with a Habbcock tester.

Mr. Publon thought that an instructor's time would be all taken up instructing without inspecting. After considerable discussion it was decided by a large majority that it would be preferable to have a Government instructor rather than a local man.

Before the close of the convention votes of thanks were passed to Messrs. Hart and Publon for their instructive addresses, and to the council for allowing the cheesemakers to use the council chamber.

HON. J. F. WOOD DEAD.

Ex-Cabinet Minister Succumbs at the Queen's Hotel this Morning.

Toronto, March 14.—The Hon. John Fisher Wood, Q.C., Comptroller of Customs in the late Conservative Administration of Sir Charles Tupper, died suddenly this morning at the Queen's Hotel in this city.

Deceased arrived in the city yesterday morning from Brockville, Ont., leaving his home in his usual good health. During the earlier portion of the day he loitered about the hotel corridors, and later on after luncheon went up town, ostensibly to the Ontario Legislative Buildings. Returning, he spent a portion of the evening before retiring chatting with a number of casual acquaintances, including ex-Mayor Adolphe Meunier, of Hamilton, N.Y. In delivering a piece of baggage the hotel night porter knocked upon the door of Mr. Wood's room at 7:30 o'clock this morning. No response was forthcoming, and entering the room the employee discovered deceased dead in bed.

Dr. Wilcox, of Ottawa, was hurriedly summoned. He pronounced death due to heart failure.

Undertaker W. H. Stone, 345 Yonge street, took charge of the remains. The body will be sent to Brockville to-night. When seen by the News Mr. Meunier said he had spoken to the deceased in the upper corridor shortly before retiring to his apartment. Mr. Wood apparently was in excellent health and was buoyant and cheerful as on many other occasions. Deep regret was shown among guests of the hotel at the news. Hon. N. Clarke Wallace, who was in the hotel, being very much moved by the tidings.

Soap Shot With a Graphophone

The Graphophone is to the ear what the photograph camera is to the eye and more, for the graphophone catches instantly and preserves every tint and shade of sound. A most interesting use of a Graphophone is to make records of your friends' voices to be preserved for future use. You can catch the story of your jolly friend just as he told it, or the favorite song of some loved one, just as she sang it and have it reproduced perfectly at any time and as often as you please. Besides the Graphophone affords wonderful entertainment in the way of reproducing the music of human voices or vocal or instrumental soloists. No investment will return so much pleasure as the purchase of a Graphophone. It is the perfect talking machine. A BIG MONOPOLY

MERITS WITH DEFEAT

A GREAT ELECTRICAL COMBINE DISALLOWED.

An Enormous Scheme—It was Proposed by the General Power Distributing Co. to supply an Area of 3,000 Miles.

London, March 14.—The battle of the trusts is being fought in England, no less than in the United States, but so far the victory is with the public, inasmuch as the British policy is, as far as possible, to frown upon the attempts to interfere with freedom by means of combines! By its rejection of the general power distributing bill Parliament has once shown that it is the faithful guardian of the public welfare. The General Power Distributing Company proposes to establish a central generating station upon an enormous scale at Workop, Lincs-shire, and to supply electricity over an area of 2,000 square miles in the counties of Yorkshire, Nottinghamshire and Lincolnshire. [The area scheduled would have included such important towns as Nottingham, Sheffield, Doncaster and Derby. Now, in many of the towns concerned, the municipalities are already supplying current, and have bought out private companies.] It would obviously have been grossly unjust to the ratepayers and to the municipalities to do what is tantamount to replacing these companies—to give a huge concern the right to tear up streets and impede traffic, a nuisance which is keenly felt in London. The rejection of the bill is, therefore, meeting with popular favor.

POPE HAS FAINTING FITS.

Choate, presented his son, Mr. Joseph H. Choate, Jr., Mr. Spencer Eddy, who was private secretary to Colonel John May when the latter was United States Ambassador here, and United States Consul General Calhoun.

MRS. DRIFTER'S SAY

"Of course, it's all right," said Mr. Drifter, "for I tell about my trials here whenever he was the editor of a paper in Texas. I never put such a thing in my life. I expected that Drifter would come home to me full of holes some night. When I was down at his office reading the press of that cunning little paper he got out of it what he wanted to say. I could hear those men talk about gun plays and so had made up in somebody's a head."

Drifter reassured me by telling me that the crack of a pistol did not always mean that somebody had been hit. But you know what a brave man Drifter is. Mr. von dem Yon say you don't know anything about the time I saved our lives down in Texas? I don't think I ever realized before just how courageous I was. I saw some men not even a ranch nor a herd of cattle since I arrived in Texas, and I begged Drifter to take me where the real Panhandle cattle could be seen, so he took me to the stockyards beyond Fort Worth.

"Times were very, very hard down there, and the packing house was closed, and the cattle were all at the stockyards. We walked around up around the huge inclosure, and I tried to imagine what it must be like when the herds of Texas cattle come from the Panhandle. We had gone quite a little distance from the high board fence and were admiring the scenery, when some one came along and stood watching and admiring them until about 50 or 75 had passed us, when at once there boomed up before us a tall, thin Texas lout. His manner was dignified and masterful. He looked as, elevated his head, snuffed, and we heard came a jump.

"That was when Drifter and his little braver came to the front. It is needless to say that I was frightened, though my last moment had come. The fence of the stockyards must have been 50 feet high, and I was so close to Drifter afterward said that it was no more than 15, but I know that the tree around it were not so high as the fence. He pressed me by the hand and said:—

"'Little girl, run for the fence. I will stay here and protect you.'"

"I was brought up in the country, and I have been so frightened all my life to run from a wild animal, that I refused. 'If we are going to die, we will die together,' Drifter," said I, "but that is not the way to do it. I will run from that awful bull. We backed toward the fence, and the bull paced toward us, never taking his eyes off us. I know I could hear Drifter's heart beat, but I must have been so mad for he is not so afraid of anything."

"Get behind that tree, he said, and his voice sounded as if it was away from him."

Manila, March 12.—(U.S.N.)—At 7 o'clock this morning, hearing the insurgent bugles sounding, Scott's battery deployed three machine guns into the woods on the left of the Pasing church. No reply was made, and at 7:30 the 2nd regular infantry advanced upon they encountered a number of enemy. This fire was sustained with great accuracy. The line then wheeled toward Pasing. The troops followed the roads, while the machine guns and company de Bay assisted in suppressing the fire on the left flank. Three rebel cannons were captured on the river. The rebel sharpshooters at Calocan continue active, but no casualties are reported.

Bombay, March 14.—A telegram from Fort St. Patrick in the Narmada valley states that a successful attack was made on the British garrison at the hands of the leader Captain Bepel. One hundred prisoners were taken, 3,000 cattle were captured, and nine villages were destroyed. The British force, which numbered 100 men, lost two men wounded, while of the Chaurikans eight were killed.

WOULD REMOVE IRRITATION.

London, March 14.—It is stated that the chairman of the Bar of New York has suggested that the removal of the United States have been named by the chair of the Medical-Legal Society as a committee to memorialize His Majesty, for the release of Mrs. Drifter, who is being held in England (The Justice of England of England has declared his conviction that reached a little hotel connected with the workyards. Drifter never said a word about the matter, but she has since have thought he had done anything remarkable, but I know that he said my life from the time I was born.

"I met Mrs. Drifter's friends some time to rise to a proper appreciation of the courage displayed by her husband in his fight for the cause of the oppressed. I have known her since she has fanned herself vigorously, she continued.

"You ought to get Drifter to tell you about the time he went out to meet Fort Worth. I was just dying for a sight of a body of water. It did seem to me as if I would dry up there. I had been told that the water of the ocean's roar, so Drifter did the best he could. He took me out to a pleasure resort about five miles from Fort Worth. I was just dying for the trolley cars run there, and the company made a great fuss over the Arlington lake. I told Drifter that I was just dying for it. I could spend a few hours in a sailboat out there. At any rate, I would see a body of water once again."

ought to be released; (2) that this sort of international courtesy would be a source of great irritation among American people, whose sympathy for their countrywoman is widespread and intense.

M. DE WITTE ON PROTECTION.

St. Petersburg, March 14.—The Minister of Finance, M. de Witte, addressing the commission charged with the regulation of the corn trade to-day, said the cost of production was felt by all classes, and he urged the promotion of an influx of foreign capital as being the best way to get rid of the corn famine. "If," he said, "it would lead to the creation of industries in Russia, instead of compelling the country to continue importing for-and I said: "Now, Drifter, let us start right out on that lake as quick as possible. The people in the hotel are waiting for us to get out on the water, and we walked. We kept on walking, and not a sign of a lake was to be seen. At last we found our way back to the trolley line, and where the Arlington lake was supposed to be.

"Oh, he said, 'I guess they have not turned the water on yet. There isn't much of a crowd. Last Sunday there was a big crowd, and you could have seen the tall fall of water.'

"Turn the water on!" I exclaimed. "I thought they advertised sailboats and pond lilies and all that sort of thing."

"That's the way," said the trolley man, "but you know it's pretty dry country down here, and they can't afford to waste water on that lake unless there's a crowd."

Drifter said: "What? You to know

On the wrecked steamer, Castilian, was a case of boots consisting of four dachshund, made by Messrs. Strickland & Co., boot builders, Lakeside. They were insured for $500, so that the loss will not be heavy.

Our Bag Worker.
Mr. J. H. Branden, of McDougall, Brandon, and Astoria, arrived in town yesterday with a "double-decker" of bags for the Matthews Company. Mr. Stewart, the local buyer, also went in to the same company a number purchased on the market.

Last Night's Lecture.
The Lecture last night in St. John's Church was particularly interesting and instructive. Notwithstanding the unfavorable weather, quite a number turned out to listen to Rev. A. J. Reed, who spoke on "Nicholas Ferrer and his times."

New Postal Regulations.
The new Canadian postal guide is now in the hands of the Queen's printer. It will be ready for distribution in a few days. Hereafter the postmasters will be compelled to send to the post office all letters which have the appearance of being a dupe or that are marked "bad debts," etc.

Our Jinn's a Vow.
Toronto Telegram—There is no visible act in the public career of Mr. J. R. Stratton, to serve as a basis for the gentleman's strange delusion that he is a Liberal. This great family journal always held a fair average opinion of our friend, Jimmy, but now he has gone away up in our good graces.

Wood Lake Bridge.
The county deputation, headed by Warden Hawthorne and Rev. O'Connor, of Hamilton, waited upon the Ontario Government Tuesday morning and asked for a grant towards the construction of the new bridge across Chemung Lake. A strong case was made out by the deputation, and the members of the Government promised to consider the request. If the Government can be persuaded that this is a colonization road, a grant will be forthcoming; otherwise it will not.

Lecture at Belleville.
A respectable audience gathered in our best church edifice to listen to a lecture by Rev. Newton Hill of Belleville, and to music by the choir. The subject of the lecture was "The Tongue—its use and abuse." The lecture was humorous and practical, and was highly appreciated. Mr. Hill may be sure of a warm welcome should he favor us with another lecture which is not improbable. Mr. Hill is an old friend of the missionary's and formerly pastor of the late Mrs. Winder's family, on the Thornbury circuit. The musical part of the program was also very enjoyable.

PETERBORO'S BILL.

The Bill Passes the Committee Considerably Altered.

On Wednesday last the representatives of the several interests affected by the "bill respecting the Town of Peterboro," now before the Ontario Legislature, who went to Toronto to appear before the Private Bills Committee, returned to town, all parties apparently well satisfied with the decision arrived at as to the form in which the bill should pass.

Messrs. Mayor Davis and Aldermen R. S. Davidson and E. H. D. Hall, were present on behalf of the town; Mr. Richard Hall on behalf of the Dickson Company; Mr. John Carnegie on behalf of the Auburn Co.; and Messrs. A. Stevenson and T. E. Bradburn on behalf of the Light and Power Co. They were introduced by Mr. Stratton. A meeting of the Committee was held on Monday night and the provisions of the bill were discussed and on Tuesday at noon, when the parties concerned again appeared before the committee.

It was claimed that the bill in its original shape asked two extensive powers, equivalent for a blanket application for choice of all the power between Peterboro and Burleigh. The committee considered the scope of the bill too wide and it was finally agreed by all parties concerned that the bill be amended so as to permit the town, instead of acquiring the waterworks, dam and works, to utilize the surplus, over that necessary for lighting, for purposes of supplying power. It is probable that the bill will pass in its amended form, having passed the trying ordeal of the Private Bills Committee.

Fishery Inspector.
It is understood that Mr. Joseph Yelland has been appointed Fishery Overseer for the Stony Lake waters, a position formerly held by Mr. Geo. Fitzgerald, of Smith's. Mr. Yelland's appointment is very satisfactory to the people and he will make an efficient officer. His predecessor was the most popular officer that has ever held the position, and he has a worthy successor in our friend "Joe" Yelland.

Great Encampment in Frierborough Over a Guarantee.

And we also will sell Smith's Cough Syrup and Grip Killer with the proprietor's guarantee that one bottle will cure any case of Cough or Grip and in case of these remedies failing to help the money will be refunded. A sworn statement will be required. J. D. Tully, H. E. Edmonds, E. S. Macdonald, Wm. Madill, Ormond & Walsh, James Lynch, John Nugent.

A Suggestion.
A correspondent in another column suggests that early action be taken to mitigate the evils of the caterpillar and to employ the police force for the purpose. The editor of this G. F. J. is rather afraid that the Chief and P. C. Adams, for instance, would not prove successful as climbers. Their training has not been altogether in that direction, and we greatly fear, if the Chief, for instance, secured a perch in the limb of some lofty tree in his efforts to reach the caterpillars he might slip and fall, and the result would be a appalling. Chances are that the windows in the vicinity would rattle and houses rock as if by an earthquake. No, we don't think much of our correspondent's suggestion.

The Caterpillars.
Editor Morning Times.
Sir—The Town Council should take early action in regard to caterpillars. My idea is to let the contract to some one to remove the "brackets" from the trees in Peterborough for a lump sum, and the contractor could employ an "army" of boys and do the job quickly. The work could be done under the supervision of Mr. English, the Chief of Police and the Street Inspector, dividing the town into districts for the purpose. Indeed, Mr. Editor, if the police were put at the work altogether for a few weeks, it would not affect the morality of the community, for thanks to the services of the force, the town is quiet and free from rowdiness. For days together our worthy Police Magistrate has no case to "put on"—not even a drunk, which goes to show that the "force" could be used to make a combined and vigorous attack on the caterpillars, without provoking any serious outbreak or disorder.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your space, I am, etc.

That Liquor Tax.

Editor Morning Times.
Sir—We have been not a little startled at the large extra tax that the Ontario Government proposes placing on the liquor traffic. There are thousands in the province, no doubt, who would be glad to see the liquor traffic taxed out of existence, while possibly, an equally large number will fail to see the justice of this extra tax. However, this may be, there are doubtless many who like myself would not object to the extra tax provided that a large percentage thereof be intended to be used for the purpose of mitigating, to some extent, at least some of the disastrous results of this traffic. Justice would seem to require this.

—The Ontario Government commission, a few days ago, recommended that the treatment of intemperance be undertaken by the Government and that an special tax be levied upon the liquor traffic to meet the necessary expense of a goodly portion of this proposed extra tax. It is not difficult to see the scientific treatment of the poor inebriate, surely both prohibitionists and anti-prohibitionists, both Grits and Tories, will feel like saying—if not in language loud and strong—at least most heartily—Amen.

JUSTICE.

Mr. Stratton's Bill.
Mr. J. R. Stratton, has introduced a bill in the Local Legislature respecting local improvements undertaken by municipal councils. It provides that in the case of any work undertaken by a municipal corporation under the Municipal Act relating to improvements to be paid for by local rate not more than two-thirds of the cost of such work shall be chargeable in any case against the property immediately benefited thereby. The remainder of the cost of such improvement shall be chargeable to the municipality generally, and shall be assessed upon the whole rateable property of the municipality and collected in the same year in which the improvement is made. This proportion of such cost chargeable to the municipality generally shall be in lieu of the amount chargeable to the municipality for work at street intersections, flagstone allowances, and all other items and allowances for which the ratepayers are liable under any of the said sections relating to the construction of works as local improvements. It further provides that the council of any county, upon the application of the owners of lands wholly within the limits of any town or incorporated village in the county may by-law withdraw such lands, or any portion thereof, from the town or village, and annex the same to some adjoining municipality and that the town or village, and the owners of the lands or in case of dispute, upon such terms as may have been determined by the county judge, whose award shall be final. The by-law shall define the bounds of the property intended for the town or village, but the town or village shall not by such change of boundaries be reduced in population below the number of 750 souls.

A SCOTCH LAKE BURSTS ITS BOUNDS POURS 82,000,000 GALLONS UP- ON THE FIELDS.

The Damage is $200,000—Tons of Wheat Buried Against Houses, Gardens Buried in Mud, a Main Road Torn Up

London, March 15.—The embankment of Loch Glow, Kinross-shire, Scotland, burst recently and flooded the country for an area of three miles, doing great damage to cottage property and the grain and meal mills. There were 82,000,000 gallons in the loch, and the embankment which burst was constructed two years ago in order to treble the capacity of the natural reservoir. The embankment gave way for a distance of thirty feet and the water burst through the gap on to the Cleish road. The noise created by the rush of water was tremendous, and could be heard as if proceeding from a caldron. Fortunately the surrounding country is mostly pastoral. After the water had subsided a little a good idea of the devastation could be gained. The well-cultivated fields and gardens of the cottagers presented a terrible sight, the mud being silted up, while tons of stones from the quarry over which the water rushed had been buried against the houses. Carts, machinery, and field implements were buried in the mud, and the main road to Kinross was torn up to a depth of four feet. At the grain mill the walls were wrecked, the wheel broken, and the stone was beaped up as high as the roof. Some narrow escapes occurred but only one person was seriously injured. The damage is estimated at $300,000.

WANT FRENCH INTERVENTION.

London, March 15.—A special despatch from Madrid says Premier Sagasta, in an interview just published here, spoke in favor of the intervention of France for the purpose of obtaining permission from the United States for Spain to resume direct negotiations for the release of the Spanish prisoners held by the Philippine rebels.

TO RAISE THE FLASH POINT.

London, March 15.—In the House of Commons today Mr. Harold James Reckitt, Liberal, moved the second reading of the bill raising the flash-point of petroleum from 73 to 100°. In so doing he said that it would not add appreciably to the cost as the New York firm had offered to supply oil at 100 flash-point at half-cent per gallon dearer than the present price. Mr. Henry Kimber, Conservative member for Wandsworth, moved the rejection of the bill on the ground that it was "swayed protection at the expense of American oils," and Mr. Robert Grant Webster, Conservative, asked how the bill would be considered in the United States, adding: "We ought not to injure a nation which is at present becoming more and more friendly towards us." The petroleum bill was rejected by a vote of 244 to 159.

EXPLOSION ON A CRUISER.

Devonport, Eng., March 15.—The British first-class cruiser Terrible has arrived here from Malta, and reports that a boiler explosion on her Monday killed a stoker, fatally injured another man and badly scalded several others. The Terrible is a sister ship of the Powerful. The latter, which is now in Manila Bay, has been most unfortunate, having experienced a continuous series of accidents and breakdowns since she was launched. The British first-class cruiser Terrible and Powerful are steel-plate vessels of 11,200 tons displacement and 500 feet long.

RHODES WINS EVERYBODY.

Berlin, March 15.—Both Emperor William and ex-Emperor Augusta Victoria, besides Baron Von Bulow, the Foreign Minister, and other Ministers, with their wives, attended the banquet given by Sir Cecil Rhodes, the British Ambassador, to Mr. Cecil Rhodes, who appears to have personally impressed everybody from the Emperor downwards. With the exception of the extreme Agrarian and Conservative papers, the whole press praises him. The Emperor is said to regard him as "just the sort of man that Germany wants." It is understood that the Rhodesian scheme of the Transvaal, in which the Emperor and his telegram played so prominent a part, has been reached, and that the Kaiser and Rhodes have buried the hatchet.

The Tageblatt says that a contract has been concluded between the German Government and Mr. Cecil Rhodes for the construction of telegraphic lines in German East Africa, and the paper adds a contract for building a railroad through the same territory is upon the point of conclusion, only a few details remaining to be settled.

THE PREFERENTIAL TARIFF.

London, March 15.—The Washington correspondent for the Standard is publishing figures here in disproof of Mr. Chamberlain's assertion in the House of Commons, on Friday, as to the value of the Canadian tariff to British traders. The correspondent shows that the English increase of 6 per cent. under the preferential tariff during the seven months ended in January last was offset by a United States increase of 15 per cent. as compared with a similar period in 1897-98, and 40 per cent. as compared with 1896-97. Hence The Standard correspondent argues that Canada's preference to England has been of no commercial advantage to Canada, while there is urgent need for tariff concessions by Canada to the States on a strictly commercial basis. Mr. Chamberlain contends that the period has been too short to judge of the full effect of the tariff.

Mr. Stratton's Bill.

Mr. J. R. Stratton, has introduced a bill in the Local Legislature respecting local improvements undertaken by municipal councils. It provides that in the case of any work undertaken by a municipal corporation under the Municipal Act relating to improvements to be paid for by local rate not more than two-thirds of the cost of such work shall be chargeable in any case against the property immediately benefited thereby, and the remainder of the cost of such improvement shall be chargeable to the municipality generally, and shall be assessed upon the whole rateable property of the municipality and collected in the same year in which the improvement is made. This proportion of such cost chargeable to the municipality generally shall be in lieu of the amount chargeable to the municipality for work at street intersections, drainage allowances, and all other special allowances for which the corporation would otherwise be liable under any of the said sections relating to the construction of works as local improvements. It further provides that the county council of any county, upon the application of the owners of lands wholly used for farming purposes lying within the limits of any town or incorporated village in the county may by by-law withdraw such lands, or any portion thereof, from the town or village, and annex the same to some adjoining municipality and that of the town or village, and the owners of the lands or in case of dispute, upon such terms as may have been determined by the county judge, whose award shall be final. The by-law shall define the limits of the land intended for the town or village, but the town or village shall not by such change of boundaries be reduced in population below the number of 750 souls.

TEN CARGO VESSELS LOST.

Three Hundred Lives and $7,500,000 in Freight Were Lost.

New York, March 15.—It now seems almost certain that ten freight steamships have been lost on the Atlantic in recent storms. This involves the loss of more than three hundred lives and $7,500,000 of capital. Of course there yet remains a chance that some of the vessels have been rescued by slow going sailing vessels bound for distant ports, or that one or two of the missing ships may still be drifting, disabled, far away from the usual lanes of ocean travel, but the possibilities are heavily against that hope. It is said that the rate of re-insurance in missing boats is ninety per cent. All perhaps went down in the fearful hurricane of February 2. Here are the names:

Allegheny—American, Captain McGilley, loaded with wheat, bulk from Halifax, Jan. 26, for Dover; J. Jackenback, owner.

Arman—British, Captain J. P. Baxter, timber laden, sailed from Portland, Maine, Jan. 27, for London; Thompson Light.

City of Wakefield—British, Captain Townsend, grain and general merchandise, from Norfolk, Jan. 24, for Rotterdam.

Croft—British, Captain Lang, grain and general merchandise, from New York Jan. 26, for Lethbridge, Alberta.

City of Wakefield—British, Captain J. H. Wooley, cotton, from Savannah, Jan. 23, for Liverpool.

Laughton—British, Captain Holman, grain and cotton, from Norfolk, Jan. 23, for Copenhagen.

Mercury—German, Captain Frede, oil in bulk, from New York, Jan. 25, for Hamburg.

Oberon—British, Captain Leely, grain, from Baltimore, Jan. 25, for Antwerp.

Victoria—British, Captain C. G. Payne, grain from Norfolk, Jan. 24, for Ningo.

Heavy Dog Tax Introduced.

Editor Morning Times.
Sir,—It's quite welcome surprise to read the government's proposal to tax everything in sight. That should be an eye-opener to those seeking special legislation for granting bonuses to corporations. I was under the impression that railroad already paid taxes to the municipalities through which they run, except in cases where the municipality had granted exemption. Now, supposing the government's proposed bill becomes law. The government will in and in fact taxes on property that cannot be taxed by the city for the next 72 years. Then ask any railroad employee if he has any idea of what way the proposed tax will be paid. By the railroad? No. By the employees being squeezed. The Ontario government with its hungry herd of office seekers, which have been provided for, appears to be about to place on the last straw that breaks the camel's back. Struck by lightning could not have created greater astonishment or surprise, when the news of the government's proposal was received here. And what better argument could have been produced for the passage of Mr. Pattullo's bill. I hope the government will in this instance take their own medicine. At the same time I would be on the part of the farmers of this country and the public generally to suggest a means for the government to help itself, as well as do something for the public good. Say, for instance, the dog tax might be raised to ten dollars a year on all dogs in city, town, or county on all but good useful collie dogs kept on farms (not more than one on a farm), and twenty dollars each on all female dogs, half of the said tax to belong to the municipality in which it is collected, the other half to belong to the provincial government. Then the farmers will produce more mutton and wool and become richer, instead of running down I think the majority of us would like to see them that way.

VERITAS
Cambridge, March 15.

The Liquor Tax.

Editor Morning Times.
Sir.—We have been not a little startled at the large extra tax that the Ontario Government proposes placing on the liquor traffic. There are thousands in the province, no doubt, who would be glad to see the liquor traffic taxed out of existence, while possibly, an equally large number will fail to see the justice of this extra tax. However, this may be, there are doubtless many who, like myself, would not object to the extra tax provided that a large percentage thereof be applied to be used for the purpose of mitigating, to some extent, at least some of the disastrous results of this traffic. Justice would seem to require this. Did not a Government commission, a few days ago, recommend that the treatment of industrial be undertaken by the Government and that a special tax be levied upon the liquor traffic to meet the necessary expenses? If a goodly portion of this proposed extra tax be intended for the scientific treatment of the poor inebriate, surely both prohibitionists and anti-prohibitionists, both Grits and Tories, will feel like saying—if not in language, loud and strong—at least most heartily—Amen.

JUSTICE.

A correspondent in another column suggests that early action be taken to mitigate the evils of the caterpillar pest, and proposes to employ the police force for the purpose. The editor of this G. F. J. is rather afraid that the Chief and P. C. Adams, for instance, would not prove successful as climbers. Their training has not been altogether in that direction, and we greatly fear, if the Chief, for instance, secured a perch in the limb of some lofty tree in his efforts to reach the caterpillars he might slip and fall, and the result would be a painful, if not a fatal, one. The windows in the vicinity would rattle and houses rock as if by an earthquake. No, we don't think much of our correspondent's suggestion.

THE CHAMKANIS DEFEATED.

Bombay, March 14.—A telegram from Fort Parachinar in the Kuram Valley states that a successful attack was made on the Chamkanis by the forces under Captain Keppel. One hundred prisoners were taken, 3,000 cattle were captured, and nine villages were destroyed. The British force, which was assisted by two Turi Lawkars, numbering 500 men, lost two men wounded, while of the Chamkanis eight were killed.

WOULD REMOVE IRRITATION.

London, March 14.—It is stated that the chairman of the Bar of New York and six Supreme Court judges of the United States have been named by the chair of the Medico-Legal Society as a committee to monitor Mrs. Maybrick, for the release of Mrs. Maybrick, on the ground (1) that the Lord Chief Justice of England of England has declared his conviction that she has been wrongly imprisoned, and ought to be released; (2) that this of international courtesy would remove a source of great irritation among Americans, whose sympathy for their countrywoman is widespread and intense.

M. DE WITTE ON PROTECTION.

St. Petersburg, March 14.—The Minister of Finance, M. De Witte, addressing the commission charged with the regulation of the corn trade today, said the cost of production was felt by all classes, and he urged the promotion of an influx of foreign capital as being the best way to get rid of this cost, because, he pointed out, it would lead to the creation of industries in Russia, instead of compelling the country to continue importing foreign products to the amount of hundreds of millions.

RHODES GETS A CONTRACT.

Berlin, March 14.—The Tageblatt says that a contract has been concluded between the German Government and Mr. Cecil Rhodes, the British South African magnate, for the construction of a telegraph line in German East Africa, and the paper adds a contract for building a railroad through the same territory is upon the point of conclusion, only a few details remaining to be settled.

THE CASTILIAN ABANDONED.

Hallifax, N.S., March 14.—Latest reports from Yarmouth say the waves are breaking over the stern of the Castilian, which is almost submerged. The steamer has listed badly to starboard and her railing is under water. The captain of the vessel sent by the dry dock people with wrecking gear has abandoned all attempts to save the steamer. Saving of her is impossible.

Keep Notes With a Graphophone.

The Graphophone is to the ear what the photographic camera is to the eye and more, for the graphophone catches instantly and preserves exactly what is said or sung. A most interesting use of a Graphophone is to make records of your friends' voices to be preserved for future use. You can catch the story of your jolly friend just as he told it, or the favorite song of some loved one, just as he sang it, and have it reproduced perfectly at any time and as often as you please. Besides the Graphophone affords wonderful entertainment in the way of reproducing the music of bands, orchestras or vocal or instrumental soloists. No investment will return so much in pleasure as the purchase of a Graphophone. It is the perfect talking machine. Two emblems and Bakers.

Dear Sir,—Now that "the great white plague," Consumption, has been declared to be contagious by the most scientific minds of the day, it behooves us on all sides to be on the alert against the spread of the disease, but which, alas, is spreading with frightful rapidity, through the ignorance and carelessness of people. The subjoined article, taken from the Toronto World, is timely, and ought to call for the consideration and prompt action of our City Fathers. Not only should the matter of handling the bread be looked after, as recommended, but a rigid inspection should be enjoined in the process of baking, as I am informed by those who are competent to judge, that diseases are frequently contracted from disease bakers, or the want of cleanliness in the preparation of the dough. A novel improvement in baking has been made by some of the most prominent bakers in Berlin, which is the natural consequence of the increasing tendency to employ hygienic methods in every trade dealing with food and food supplies, and it is to be hoped that Toronto bakers will not be long in following suit. While rolls have long been delivered in paper bags to customers, it has always been the rule to handle bread with the fingers, and to hand bread through a number of hands before delivery at customer's door, there to be received by the bare, often healthy man, of good appearance, and well thought of, to be cut off in the bloom of life and happiness, is a shock to the whole community. He leaves a young wife and family to mourn his loss.

not so clean hands of the servant. The recent improvement, which has been covered by patents, consists of using paper bags the exact shape of the various sizes of bread turned out by a baker. These bags are open at both ends, and being slightly longer than the loaf is shoved from the oven straight into the bag. This cover will protect the bread from any pollution after it leaves the oven, for it is kept in the paper bag and not only while being handled in the bakery and by the delivery man, but it can be kept there while the loaf is being used, being cut at one end as the loaf gets shorter. The new system has found a very quick spread, and the best bakers, who at once introduced the new improvement gained by its adoption. Since the use of the baker can be printed in the outside of the bag without interfering with usefulness, it may be a good advertisement to adopt such a plan here as well.

A Practical Religion.

Sir,—I noticed one of our local ministers addressed his hearers the other evening on the subject of a religion for Sundays and another for week days. His address was to business men. Now, Mr. Editor, I am bold enough to say that a business man is practically and wants a practical religion. He takes little interest in its creeds, prayer books, forms and ceremonies. Both business man and minister have separated religion from business, whereas God joined them together. The business man though mentally rejecting orthodox so-called, yet because of certain considerations conforms outwardly. What are these considerations? First, business considerations. He sees that connection with a strong and well established congregation is helpful in business; second, he sees that through a fashionable church his has access to certain social circles; third, the influence of his family compels him to identify himself with churches in which he has no faith and which do not satisfy his spiritual life. The business man has to learn that religion is to be men, true to his own convictions; that his business and his complete religious, in his business is the very test of his worth, it is how he unfolds his higher life, it is the measure of his soul's salvation. If the women of his family understood that salvation was, they would do long to save his soul in a mythical heaven by making him a hypocrite and would do more to help him to foster and generous to them in his employ. They would accomplish the true salvation of the man. If the business man himself looked upon his business as a part of the divine plan for the unfolding of the best and noblest in mankind, he would find that his business would become his religion and his religion his business. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am, etc.,

March 14.

DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION

Makes Weak Women Strong, And Sick Women Well.

It is made from a formula of Dr. R. V. Pierce, the celebrated specialist in diseases of women at Buffalo, N. Y. It is a strictly temperance medicine, containing neither alcohol, opium or other narcotic poison. It is a protective and does not create a craving for intoxicating stimulants or deadly narcotics. It cures irregularities, displacements, drains, ulcerations, inflammation, headache, backache and nervousness. It prepares the way for almost painless maternity, and insures robustness to the newborn. It cures women at home and does away with obnoxious questioning and local examinations.

Some medicine dealers offer substitutes when you ask for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. They insist on a substitute in appearance as nearly as possible, but they are not the same. Beware of thirty years' experience.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., writes: "I had been sick for seven years, not in bed, but just dragging myself around. At last I took three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and five of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and it is impossible to describe how much the good medicine did for me."

Neither the "Discovery" nor the "Favorite Prescription" contains any alcohol, opium or other narcotic.

Last Night's Hockey Game

A friendly game of hockey was played at the Charlton street rink last night between the Lindsay Onts and the Peterborough team, in a victory for the local team by a score of 10 to 2.

Our Small Fox Cases

Coburg complains bitterly because the Ontario Government would allow only $850 towards the expenses of the small fox case last autumn, being $500 short of what this case cost the town. Peterborough has had two small fox outbreaks in the last instance the disease being imported. It cost this municipality several thousands of dollars, not one cent of which was paid by the Government. It evidently pays to kick.

Canadian Post-Office

The following list of patents issued this week to Canadians has been handed over by C. H. Ritchie, solicitor-at-law, Canada Life Bldg., Toronto: Davis, William & Charles, cupholder for dental use; J. A. Plante, cigarette gas apparatus; Smith & Macpherson, dynamite throwing box; Weller & Weller, knife polishing machine; W. W. O'Connor, artificial light shade; E. Herbert, door check; H. E. Forwood, telephone dial and register; A. A. Dickson, treating hydrous rock.

Post Office Rules

On in Owen Sound the post office staff have adopted a set of rules for the guidance of the public, which might be applicable to other offices as well. "No letters will be delivered until they are received. If you don't get a letter or a paper on the day you expect, have the postmaster look through all the boxes and down cellar. It might be there somewhere, and the postmaster likes to hunt for it just to please you. If your friend don't write you the postmaster, he is to blame. If he tells you there is no mail for you, put on a grave countenance and say there ought to be some. He is probably hiding your mail for the pleasure of having you call two or three times a day. Ask him to look again."

Revision of the Game Law

The Ontario Government has in contemplation a revision of the game laws of the province. Among the more important changes is the repeal of the clause prohibiting the killing of deer whilst in the water. Hon. Mr. Gibbons said 3,000 circulars were sent out by the Chief Game Warden relative to this. Not more than 500 or 600 answers were received and those were conflicting. The commissioners, after discussing the subject and having in mind the strong views held by a great majority of the people, came to the conclusion that the clause prohibiting the shooting of deer in the water should be repealed. The increase in the number of deer in the western part of the province has been great since the enforcement of the law for the protection of game that Mr. Gibbons was in hopes that there might be an open season for moose in 1900. Other fur-bearing animals had greatly increased in number through the operation of the game laws. All possible hunting during 1898 for the collection of birds' nests, and eggs will be called in. The Government claims that these permits have been greatly abused.

"DADDY'S DARLING."

A COMEDY DRAMA PRESENTED AT THE OPERA HOUSE LAST NIGHT.

By an Aggregation of Local Talent—A Large and Enthusiastic Audience—A Grand Financial Success.

The Opera House was crowded to the doors by a large and enthusiastic audience last night when the Catholic Literary Society presented a comedy-drama entitled "Daddy's Darling," accompanied with vocal and instrumental specialties. While the leading characters were very creditably interpreted considering that the piece was in the hands of a local aggregation of talent, it was alarmingly weak in many parts, and the association would be wise in the future to confine their efforts to the vocal and instrumental line, in which it might be said they excel. Miss Lillie Simpson as the heroine was enthusiastically received, and sustained her well-known reputation as an elocutionist of no mean calibre. Unfortunately they killed their best man in the first act—Thos. Bagley, whose delineation of and make-up, as Capt. Joe Ruggles, was if anything many degrees better than might reasonably be expected in the hands of an amateur. Dick Simpson, as Horney Moore, proved a favorite with the house, both in his character and dancing and in rapidly following in the footsteps of his brother Dan. The character of James Ruggles, an old man, was very creditably impersonated by Miss Annie Simpson, whose perhaps displayed very historic talent than any of the cast. Miss Fannie Holmes' interpretation of the wicked hag was also very pleasing, and Oscar Oshea as the villain's accomplice elicited much amusement.

The piece was agreeably interspersed with exceedingly creditable specialties, which might be said to be the cream of the evening's entertainment. Miss Lillie Bell's (of Kene) execution on the violin was charmingly clean and sweet, and called forth prolonged applause. A quartette in character by Misses N. Lewis, Florence and Lavina Halliwell and Frank Dwyer was very clever indeed, while Little Nellie and Ed. Graham in dance brought down the house. Little Carrie White's number—a waltz and dance—was one of the most pleasing features of the event and the little lot's efforts were enthusiastically received and show great promise. The following is the programme—

KILLED BY POISON

A Young Child Dies Through Taking "Rough on Rats."

Yesterday a child of Mr. John Drew, 390 Sherbrooke street, died from the effects of a dose of "Rough on Rats." It appears that the little one, who was only a year old, went into Mr. Tremblay's, the next door neighbor, where it had been in the habit of going, (the two houses being connected) and got hold of the bottle, containing the poison. It must have returned home at once, for the poor little thing became so ill that medical attendance was secured. This was at 10.30 a.m. The child died at 4.10 in the afternoon in great agony. No blame is attached to anyone. The unfortunate occurrence is deplored by many who knew the little Mamma, and who deeply mourn her sad death.

are seen everywhere. Heredity or overstudy renders them unfitted to cope with the responsibilities of life, susceptible to consumption or decline. Medicine has failed, and must fail, for they need food. Take cod liver oil? No! Their poor stomachs rebel. Take emulsions? No! They are equally distasteful. Nothing will effect a cure but Maltine with Cod Liver Oil. The oil, rendered palatable and easy of digestion, is quickly assimilated, and Maltine, equal in nutrition to the oil, and even surpassing it in energetic action upon the digestive processes, unite in producing increased weight, improved color, and that elasticity and buoyancy which herald returning health. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil has a remedial value ten times greater than emulsions. One of England's greatest physicians (Dr. Ferrer) says: "There is no remedy that can take the place of Maltine in cases of Debility and Nervous Prostration." Can be purchased of any druggist.

CZAR NICHOLAS OF RUSSIA SHEDS TEARS

A FINNISH PROTEST GREATLY AGITATES HIM.

"He can Change His Mind"—This was the Reply of the Grand Duke When Demanded that Nicholas was Breaking his Oath.

London, March 18.—The spectacle of the Czar of all the Russias bursting into tears is a most edifying one, and the edification was granted recently to the Secretary of State for Finland, when, on behalf of the Finnish Senate, representatives of which Nicholas had refused to receive, he offered a protest against the taking away of the country's constitution by a recent imperial manifesto. The Czar was greatly agitated, and when the remonstrance was presented he burst into angry tears. He protested that he was unable to understand the Senate's contention that the fundamental laws of Finland would be infringed under the new order of things. The Secretary of State was unable to obtain any satisfaction and he returned to Helsinki to report his unsuccessful mission.

It may be explained that this same official had served on the Russian committee which drew up the fatal proclamation. The Grand Duke Michael was president of the committee, and the Finnish Secretary recommended with him on the course proposed, which, as he pointed out, involved a breach of the Czar's oath. "An Emperor can change his mind," was the Grand Duke's answer. During the committee's deliberations the Secretary of State went to the Czar to offer his resignation. "No, don't resign," said the Czar. "Can't you see that I am as greatly troubled as any of you?"

The excitement in Finland is intense. Even the school children are discussing the situation, and the workmen stop in their work to debate the latest rumors. The current issues of the

FOURTEEN KILLED

Forty Persons Missing—The Scene After the Fire.

New York, March 18.—The most complete list of casualties at the Windsor hotel fire shows that fourteen persons were killed and possibly fifteen, without attempting to speculate on the bodies in the ruins. Forty persons are missing. Fifty-two names are in the list of injured, whose whereabouts are known.

Three fire engines and a hundred policemen remained all night about the building. These engines poured six large streams of water on the flames which would start up at intervals in spite of the firemen.

EXPLOSIONS OF GAS.

Little explosions occurred frequently from escaping gas, the pipes having been smashed all over the lower part of the building, the only portion that was left. Citizens were kept a block away from the ruins, as pieces of walls were falling every now and then, and there was danger that the wall at the back of the building and the 46th street wall might fall at any time. The wall on the rear side, seven stories high, was still standing, but it looked as though it might fall with the first stiff breeze. The wall on the 47th street side was about five stories high, and that in front of Fifth avenue was about the same height. The walls had breaks in them, and their jagged tops heightened the hideous appearance of the ruins behind them, which smoked and steamed and emitted a bad stench.

STREETS BLOCKED.

Fifth avenue and 46th and 47th streets were impassable. They were filled with debris, and in many instances flagpoles had been broken by the great crash of stone and brick. Gangs of men were kept all the night at the ruins ready to begin the search for bodies at the earliest moment when work should be possible. It was said that it might be noon before the continual outbursts of flame would cease and the heat leave the trampled debris. At about 8 o'clock men were set to work on the 46th street side tearing down the threatened wall.

ALARM APPARATUS DEFECTIVE.

Edward Killen, a milkman, said today that he saw the inception of the fire. He was watching the St. Patrick lay parade, when he saw a curtain take fire. He ran into the hotel and tried to send in an alarm by means of the hotel automatic box, but it would not work. Then he ran into the street, ringing an alarm there, and returned to the hotel. He said that a corporal and a private of the Astor battery ran in with him. They found the fire burning up through the air shaft. He and the other two men got down the hotel fire hose and played it on the main stairway, which had caught fire and which they flooded with water. Their efforts were unavailing, and they had to give it up when the flames came up to them.

RESCUED FIVE PERSONS.

Policeman Charles Lirbold said he rescued five persons from the fire. He got four men out from the lower floors and carried a fifth man down on his shoulders. He heard a woman on the fifth floor, but though he tried to get to her he was unable to do so, and he had to hurry out of the building.

THRILLING RESCUES.

New York, March 18.—One of the most remarkable incidents in the hour of thrilling experiences was that in which the cool courage displayed by Edward P. Wells, who, with his wife and daughter, was a guest in the hotel, was the means of saving all three. Mr. Wells is past middle age, and is a resident of Jamestown, N.D. He and his wife and daughter had hardly time to realize that something had gone wrong when the smoke rolled in through the corridor and their escape was cut off in that direction.

The window was now the only hope and to jump meant certain death. In this emergency Mr. Wells brought his family to remain calm and he then proceeded with great deliberation to measure the chances of escape. He first laid out

Forty Persons Missing—The Scene After the Fire.

New York, March 18.—The most complete list of casualties at the Windsor hotel fire shows that fourteen persons were killed and possibly fifteen, without attempting to speculate on the bodies in the ruins. Forty persons are missing. Fifty-two names are in the list of injured, whose whereabouts are known.

Three fire engines and a hundred policemen remained all night about the building. These engines poured six large streams of water on the flames which would start up at intervals in spite of the firemen.

EXPLOSIONS OF GAS.

Little explosions occurred frequently from escaping gas, the pipes having been smashed all over the lower part of the building, the only portion that was left. Citizens were kept a block away from the ruins, as pieces of walls were falling every now and then, and there was danger that the wall at the back of the building and the 46th street wall might fall at any time. The wall on the rear side, seven stories high, was still standing, but it looked as though it might fall with the first stiff breeze. The wall on the 47th street side was about five stories high, and that in front of Fifth avenue was about the same height. The walls had breaks in them, and their jagged tops heightened the hideous appearance of the ruins behind them, which smoked and steamed and emitted a bad stench.

STREETS BLOCKED.

Fifth avenue and 46th and 47th streets were impassable. They were filled with debris, and in many instances flagpoles had been broken by the great crash of stone and brick. Gangs of men were kept all the night at the ruins ready to begin the search for bodies at the earliest moment when work should be possible. It was said that it might be noon before the continual outbursts of flame would cease and the heat leave the trampled debris. At about 8 o'clock men were set to work on the 46th street side tearing down the threatened wall.

ALARM APPARATUS DEFECTIVE.

Edward Killen, a milkman, said today that he saw the inception of the fire. He was watching the St. Patrick lay parade, when he saw a curtain take fire. He ran into the hotel and tried to send in an alarm by means of the hotel automatic box, but it would not work. Then he ran into the street, ringing an alarm there, and returned to the hotel. He said that a corporal and a private of the Astor battery ran in with him. They found the fire burning up through the air shaft. He and the other two men got down the hotel fire hose and played it on the main stairway, which had caught fire and which they flooded with water. Their efforts were unavailing, and they had to give it up when the flames came up to them.

RESCUED FIVE PERSONS.

Policeman Charles Lirbold said he rescued five persons from the fire. He got four men out from the lower floors and carried a fifth man down on his shoulders. He heard a woman on the fifth floor, but though he tried to get to her he was unable to do so, and he had to hurry out of the building.

THRILLING RESCUES.

New York, March 18.—One of the most remarkable incidents in the hour of thrilling experiences was that in which the cool courage displayed by Edward P. Wells, who, with his wife and daughter, was a guest in the hotel, was the means of saving all three. Mr. Wells is past middle age, and is a resident of Jamestown, N.D. He and his wife and daughter had hardly time to realize that something had gone wrong when the smoke rolled in through the corridor and their escape was cut off in that direction.

The window was now the only hope and to jump meant certain death. In this emergency Mr. Wells brought his family to remain calm and he then proceeded with great deliberation to measure the chances of escape. He first laid out

OTTAWA MERCHANT DECEIVED HIS CREDITORS.

Pierre Robson Will Spend Three Months in Castle Kibbee—Rates to be Advanced—Bail for Arraignment.

Ottawa, March 18.—Judge Montgomery yesterday delivered judgement on the motion of Mr. J. E. O'Meara to commit to jail Pierre Robson for evasive answers given by him in an examination in connection with his estate and for failure to produce papers in connection therewith. Judge Montgomery upholds the contention of the prosecutor and orders that Robson be committed to jail for three months.

Some time ago the defendant, who conducted a dry goods store on Sparks street became insolvent and an enquiry was held at which Robson was examined and refused to give information that was sought for. The assignee Mr. A. P. Mutchmor, and the creditors, through their counsel, Mr. J. E. O'Meara, moved for a commitment some time ago and the above is the judgement.

By arrangement of counsel Robson will not be imprisoned before the first of May in order to give him opportunity to institute an appeal.

Mr. Robson has secured the legal services of Mr. Ayleworth, Q.C., of Toronto, who will appeal the case.

RATES TO BE ADVANCED.

An advance in the beneficiary rates was agreed upon after a spirited discussion yesterday by the members of the Grand Lodge. It was also decided to change the age graduation from five years to one year.

Mr. R. Patching was elected chairman of the general purpose committee and Mr. Frank Vipond, secretary.

Senator Vidal was introduced in Grand Lodge and given a hearty reception by the delegates, after which he was escorted to a seat on the platform.

A resolution of greeting to local Irishmen was passed and conveyed through St. Patrick's Literary Society.

The question of Grand lodge carrying members of defunct subordinate lodges also came up for discussion, and was being warmly debated when the lodge adjourned for lunch.

RAILWAY FOR ARRIVAL.

According to the present indications, Arranport is to have further railway facilities.

Mr. W. J. McKenna, of that town, now in the city, states that a line is being projected to Mile Lake, a distance of thirty miles. This will tap splendid deposits of iron ore and afford shipping facilities. Besides this a great supply of pulp wood is available for manufacture, and the lumbering and agricultural interests will also be served by this line. It is stated that the chief promoter is Mr. J. M. Bell, of Almonte, who has the necessary capital at his call. This road with the resources it opens up is bound to create a boom in Arranport.

The O. & A. P. R. has already got the town a considerable impetus.

In Supreme Court yesterday an appeal from an order of Mr. Justice Gwynne in chambers granting leave to appeal was argued by Oler, Q.C., in the case of Requehard vs. The Imperial Oil Co., Almonte, Q.C. Contra. In this case the appellant had gone to the Divisional court from the judgement at the trial, in which the Ontario statute prohibits a further appeal to the Court of Appeal except by special leave and the application to the supreme court judge in chambers was based on two grounds, first, that the Divisional court was in the case the final court of resort in the province and the appeal lay as of right; secondly, that if this were not of right not so leave of appeal or appeal should be granted. Judge Gwynne held that there was an appeal as of right and also gave leave to appeal per se. The full court without pronouncing on the first ground held that there was an appeal from the judge in chambers granting leave to appeal per se and the order therefore stood.

The arguments then preceded in the appeal by The Queen as Chief Justice Armour.

THE ASSAULT.

The assurers are required to adopt this new method of ascertaining the amount of insurable personality owned by each ratepayer. They are to issue a circular giving the legal definition of personality, accompanied with a request to give statement of the amount owned. One of these circulars is issued to each business and other owners of personality, and failure to fill it out renders the offender liable to a fine. Isn't it time our assurers were at it?

The Liquor License.

Editor Morning Times.

Mr. W. W. W. kindly give me space in your valuable paper to make a suggestion on the temperance people of the town. Would it not be a good idea to have a deputations wait on the License Commissioners when they meet on April 1st, with a view to having the number of licenses decreased and all saloon licenses cut off. I see in Orillia this is done and the Commissioners are forced to act in conformity with the wishes of the people.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, I am, etc.,

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 20, 1899

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

License Commission.
The Board of License Commissioners met on April 1st, when the matter of granting licenses for the ensuing year will be considered. A writer suggests in another column the advisability of bringing pressure to bear on the Board to have a reduction made in the number of licenses. We will see what we will see.

A Case for the Support.
A case will come up before County Police Magistrate Edmondson at the Court House today, in which some Edmondson people will figure as witnesses. Mrs. Daniel McGinnis is suing her husband, who lives at the other end of Mud Lake Bridge, for non-support. A short time ago she had him up for assault, and was forced to leave him.

Paid to Full.
Mr. W. J. Green received word yesterday afternoon that Lewis E. Gillespie, who was reported to Peterborough Lodge No. 111 I.O.O.F., of being very ill in Penn Hospital, East Pittsburgh, Pa., on Friday last, died on Saturday night. His body will be forwarded to Bethany for interment. Particulars of funeral will be announced later.

Scared Over Speculation.
"The number of cases of typhoid fever in town is fully fifty," said a prominent physician to a Times reporter yesterday. "The trouble appears to be a result of carelessness," continued the medical man, "as children in many cases they had taken the disease and of course it soon spread. Fortunately however, it is an exceedingly mild type, and no deaths are reported."

How in Ashburham.
Mr. David Conroy, the "Douro bank" was severely assaulted in a hotel in Ashburham on Friday. He was it is said, badly bruised, and otherwise maltreated. The trouble arose over a real estate transaction, and Mr. Conroy got the best of it. Much sympathy is expressed for Mr. Conroy, who was clearly in the right, and who gave no cause for the punishment received. County Attorney Wood has taken the case up, and the details will be thrashed out before County Police Magistrate Edmondson as soon as appears and served.

The Old Lady.
The Orillia Packet thus discourages on Mr. Lionel King's candidature for the second vice-presidency of the O.L.A.—"Lionel King of Peterborough has announced that he will oppose Boutwell Knapp for the Second Vice-Presidency of the Canadian Lacrosse Association. There has been no love lost between the two since the big row of last summer and Lionel is likely looking for a chance to get even. Under the circumstances he is not likely to prove a very formidable opponent." Our contemporary is in error. Mr. King has no antipathy to Mr. Knapp; he may and no doubt has a thorough contempt for that individual, but that if all. The less said about Mr. Knapp's attitude to last summer's lacrosse matches the better his chances will be for the position he is seeking.

The scrap, referred to in Saturday's issue, which took place between Albert Crouter and A. Blodgett, was held in the Police Court on Saturday. The magistrate discharged Blodgett and found Crouter $5 and costs. In justice to Mr. Overland the Times desires to state that the row did not take place in that hotel, but in the yard in the rear. Mr. Overland is careful to allow no rowdiness on his premises, and this case was one that he had no control over and could not stop.

An Amusing Case.
An amusing incident occurred a few days ago in a Peterboro hotel, in which a young lady was the innocent victim. It appears that the lady in question had gone to the bathroom. While engaged in the luxury of the bath, her clothing, which had been deposited in a little dressing room adjoining, and which forms part of the bath room, was removed and hung up in a clothes closet by a new maid, who was cleaning up the rooms. The unfortunate lady, when she came to dress, as may be imagined, was startled by the absence of her garments, every stitch having been taken. She had nothing left to wear but her bath robe, and as the chambermaid had departed, she was obliged to talk over the transaction to a guest in the room opposite, before relief came.

A Word About the Times.
No stronger proof exists of the fact that about 150,000 coupons were received at this office in connection with the 10th Annual Teacher Competition, just concluded. These coupons are here to be seen by any that may care to take the trouble to drop in and look at them. When it is borne in mind that a comparatively small proportion of our readers took any interest in this competition, and practically only the school children whose parents are subscribers to the Times, sent in coupons, it will be seen how literally true the statement is that "everybody reads the Times." When the pupils of the schools will send in over an eighth of a million slips of paper, cut from an eighth of a million copies of the Times, it means that nearly half of the thousands of eyes scan the paper. We know there are individuals in town who for humors and other reasons seek to belittle this fact, and to such we would say—back up your mere assertions by proof. The Times mailing lists are printed and open at all times for the inspection of our advertising patrons. An examination of these lists will prove conclusively that "everybody reads the Times."

Orillia is importing electric power from a distance and the Council of that town has concluded to use aluminum instead of copper wire for the transmission of the power. Not only do they believe that aluminum will prove fully as good as copper, but they are to receive a guarantee from the makers of the aluminum wire, the Pittsburgh Reduction Co., the sole manufacturers of this class of wire, that it will prove equal to copper in conductivity, tensile strength, durability and general efficiency. The female strength of the wire to be used will be 29,000 pounds; the male, whereas copper of the same size would have a strength of 15,500 pounds. The wire will be about one-third thicker than the copper wire specified, but will weigh a little less than half, so that it will cost nearly twice as much per lb., including the duty, it will actually cost less. Owing to its lightness the poles can be placed farther apart, reducing a saving in that way also, and at the same time reducing unreasonably the danger of grounding. The change was suggested through the price in the price of copper since the tenders were put in, and from 15 to about 20 cents a pound. This is on the 38,000 pounds that would be required would have meant a difference to the contractors of about $1,500.

Tax Exemption.
Pattullo, M.P.P., moved in the Ontario Legislature the second reading of his bill to amend the Municipal Act respecting tax exemptions. The object of the bill, Mr. Pattullo explained, was to put an end to tax exemptions to industries unless sanctioned by a vote of the ratepayers. It was now customary in many places when a factory's term of exemption from taxes was expiring, for the municipal council to grant a renewal of it. The effect of this arrangement was that many concerns obtained what was practically a perpetual exemption from taxation. The citizens paid more than their fair share of the taxes, while rich manufacturers escaped most free. These renewals of exemptions, which are simply bonuses in another form, Mr. Pattullo said, were generally not got without considerable wirepulling. Municipalities, or rather municipal councils were simply held up and forced to grant renewals by threats that the manufacturers would move away. He suggested a commission of the House, irrespective of politics, to report on the subject of assessment. Mr. Pattullo has a level head, and the Times cordially endorses his efforts to emancipate the people from the burdens complained of.

It is better to preserve health than to cure disease. Therefore, keep your blood pure with Hood's Sarsaparilla and be always well.

They told the conductor that they were out for a "time" and did not appear to be troubled over their discovery. They left the train at Peterboro and probably boarded the next west-bound train.

THE EDITOR'S REMARKS.
Editor Morning Times.
—Sir:—Would you be kind enough to let the public know through the columns of the Times the political complexion of Mr. J. W. Bennett and the two gentlemen associated with him as judges on the debate at the Y. M. C. A. rooms a few evenings ago. I am told that the whole trio are Liberals, but I cannot believe it. I know the result of the debate for the information of its readers.
Yours, etc.,
A SUPPORTER TO THE Y.M.C.A.

March 15.
—So far as the great family journal is concerned we are never afraid to publish anything that is in the interests of the people. As to the political standing of the gentlemen in question, we are told, by those who claim to know, that all three are Reformers. Mr. Bennett we know is a staunch Liberal, and no doubt expects some day to get his reward in the shape of a superior court judgeship or senatorship.—The Editor.

POLITICS IN THE Y.M.C.A.
Editor Morning Times.
—Sir:—The warning which the Times gave the managers of the Y.M.C.A. to avoid political questions, was not heeded, and the result is that a good deal of feeling has been aroused over the result of the recent political debate.
I think, Mr. Editor that it was a mistake to allow political questions to be publicly discussed in such a place as the Y.M.C.A. hall. There could be no question as to the question which was discussed that would be satisfactory.
As a friend and a well-wisher of the Y.M.C.A. I hope that there will be no further mistakes of this kind.
By giving the above space in your valuable and widely read paper,
I am, etc.,
NORTH-ENDER.

March 15.
DARGENT'S DEBATE.
Editor Morning Times.
—Sir:—It amused me not a little to read in the columns of the Times that the political debate which took place in the Y.M.C.A. was a fake. I do not mean to say that the debate was a fake, but the verdict which was arrived at. The subject debated was whether or not the Laurier Government at Ottawa deserves the confidence of the people or something to that effect. Now, Mr. I was present and listened to the arguments pro and con, and when the judges retired I naturally thought a decision entirely different would have been given. But the reason for the extraordinary verdict, in the face of the other facts, was the presence of Messrs. Ray and Hill, who was not hard to find. The entire staff of judges—three in number—were Grits. They were not even decent enough to put one Conservative on as judge—perhaps that he would smother the other two. Holy smoke! it makes my flesh creep when I think of the money taken to carry favor with the political leaders.
My advice to the Y.M.C.A. managers is to leave politics alone. We do not want a Grit machine in the guise of the Y.M.C.A.
Yours truly,
FAIR PLAY.

FOURTEEN KILLED

Fourty Persons Missing—The Scene After the Fire.

New York, March 18.—The most complete list of casualties at the Windsor hotel fire shows that fourteen persons were killed and possibly fifteen, without attempting to calculate on the bodies in the ruins. Forty persons are missing. Fifty-two names are in the list of injured, whose whereabouts are known.

Three fire engines and a hundred policemen remained all night about the building. These engines poured six large streams of water on the flames which would start up at intervals in spite of the firemen.

EXPLOSIONS OF GAS.

Little explosions occurred frequently from escaping gas, the pipes having been smashed all over the lower part of the building, the only portion that was left. Citizens were kept away from the ruins, as pieces of walls were falling every now and then, and there was danger that the wall at the back of the building might fall at any time. The wall on the rear side, seven stories high, was still standing, but it looked as though it might fall with the first stiff breeze. The wall on the 47th street side was about two stories high, and that in front of Fifth avenue was about the same height. The walls had breaks in them, and their jagged tops heightened the hideous appearance of the ruins behind them, which smoked and steamed and emitted a bad stench.

STREETS BLOCKED.

Fifth avenue and 46th and 47th streets were impassable. They were filled with debris, and in many instances flagstones had been broken by the great crash of stone and brick. Causes of most were kept all night at the ruins ready to begin the search for bodies at the earliest moment, such work should be possible. It was said that it might be noon before the continual outbursts of flame would cease and the heat leave the tangled debris. At about 9 o'clock men were seen working on the 46th street side tearing down the threatened wall.

ALARM APPARATUS DEFECTIVE.

Edward Killen, a milkman, said today that he saw the inception of the fire. He was watching the St. Patrick lay parade, when he saw a curtain take fire. He ran into the hotel and tried to sound an alarm by means of the hotel automatic box, but it would not work. Then he ran into the street, sounding an alarm there, and returned to the hotel. He said that a corporal and a privates of the Astor battery ran in with him. They found the fire burning up through the air shaft. He and the other two men got down the hotel fire hose and played streams on the main stairway, which had caught fire and which they flooded with water. Their efforts were unavailing, and they had to give it up when the flames came up to them.

RESCUED FIVE PERSONS.

Policeman Charles Lirland says he rescued five persons from the fire. He got four men out from the lower floors and carried a fifth man down on his shoulders. He heard a woman on the fifth floor, but though he tried to get to her he was unable to do so, and he had to hurry out of the building.

THRILLING RESCUES.

New York, March 18.—One of the most remarkable incidents in the hour of thrilling experiences was that in which the cool courage displayed by Edward F. Wells, who, with his wife and daughter, was in the hotel, was the means of saving all three. Mr. Wells is past middle age, and is a resident of Jamestown, N.Y. He and his wife and daughter had hardly time to realize that something bad was about to happen when the smoke rolled in through the corridor and their escape was cut off in that direction.

The window was now the only hope and to jump meant certain death. In this emergency Mr. Wells brought his family to remain calm and he then proceeded with great deliberation to measure the chances of escape. He first laid out

THE FIRE ESCAPE ROPE.
In the room until he saw that it would reach the ground and hauling it back, he quickly but securely fastened it about his daughter's waist.

He then lifted her from the bed and lowered it to the ground. He wound the rope tightly about his hands and braced his feet against the wall of the room, meanwhile slowly paying out the rope at the end of which dangled the almost insensible body of his daughter. Smoke came about out at intervals from the windows below, but the passage of the girl was not retarded, and in a few seconds she had reached the ground.

COOL AMIDST DANGER.

There she was quickly taken care of by firemen, who released her, and the rope was quickly hauled back by Mr. Wells, and exactly the same performance was gone through with in the case of his wife, who had meanwhile stood at his side at the window the rope back after he had seen his family in safety, and then he made preparations for his own descent.

He recognized, seemingly, that it would be impossible for him to go down hand-over-hand, and knowing the lacerations that would result if he slid down the rope, he first carefully tied up his hands in towels, and then, clambering over the window sill and swinging clear, he shot down like lightning, but there were ready hands below to break the fall, and when the bandages had been removed from the man's hands, it was found that he had not even a blister on them.

The Windsor was built under the old laws in 1871. It did not have a fire escape on it until 1885. The owners in 1882 were ordered to put on fire escapes. They did not comply with the order for nearly three years. Again in 1892, this department directed that additional fire escapes be put on, but that order was not obeyed until 1893.

"I do not consider that the Windsor Hotel was a safe place for people to live, for the reason it was built under the laws that made cheap buildings possible and protected that sort of work."

"We cannot touch fully a dozen hotels that would go up as quickly as did the Windsor. If we should say anything against them there would promptly be talk of blackmail. Then the laws also take particular care of vested rights."

Aluminum Instead of Copper.

Orlins is importing electric power from a distance and the Council of that town has concluded to use aluminum instead of copper wire for the transmission of the power. Not only do they believe that aluminum will prove fully as good as copper, but they are to receive a guarantee from the makers of the aluminum wire, the Pittsburgh Reduction Co., the sole manufacturers of this class of wire, that it will prove equal to copper in conductivity, tensile strength, durability and general efficiency. The tensile strength of the wire as he used will be 29,000 pounds to the inch, whereas copper of the grade proposed would have a strength of 15,500 pounds. The wire will be about one-third thicker than the copper wire specified, but will weigh a little less than half, so that it will cost nearly twice as much per lb. including the duty. It will actually cost less. Owing to its lightness, the poles can be placed farther apart, effecting a saving in that way also, and at the same time reducing proportionately the danger of grounding. The change was suggested through the rise in the price of copper since the tenders were put in, and from 15 to about 20 cents a pound. This is on the 38,000 pounds that would be required would have meant a difference to the contractors of about $1,500.

Successful Operations.

Some few weeks ago, John Johnston, of North Verulam, was sent to the Nichol's Hospital, suffering from a case of strangulated hernia, which is a break in the inner lining that supports the bowels, through which a portion, more or less, of the bowel protrude. It was not expected that he would recover, but after an operation by Dr. McCallough, the protrusion was put back and the rupture or break in the lining was made. The case was in very bad condition when operated upon, and the recovery has been retarded by the formation of an abscess, but a report received this week from the Hospital states that Johnston is gaining in flesh rapidly and doing well. Johnston, Mr. Wm. Irwin, of Dundee, came to the village for advice, being scarcely able to move. After an examination Dr. Russell arranged by telegraph for his admission to the Hospital, and he went off immediately. The operation in his case was much larger than Johnston's, but Dr. McCallough at once performed a most skillful and successful operation. The rupture was on the left side, and so large was the protruding bowel that an incision of several inches had to be made. The bowel had formed several adhesions that had to be liberated, and one of the peculiarities of the case was that the vermiform appendix, which should be on the right hand side was firmly adhered to the bowel, and was part of the protrusion at the rupture. The operations by skilled surgeons are most astonishing. There was a mass deliberately cut open; his bowels trimmed, cleaned, and coiled comfortably into his hold in neat shape, and a few hours after the operation his temperature was only a trifle over normal, and twenty-four hours after he was right as a fiddle. —Edinburgh Independent.

Tax Exemptions.

Pattullo, M.P.P., moved in the Ontario Legislature the second reading of his bill to amend the Municipal Act respecting tax exemptions. The object of the bill, Mr. Pattullo explained, was to put an end to tax exemptions to individuals unless sanctioned by a vote of the ratepayers. It was now customary in many places when a "factory" term of exemption from taxes was expiring, for the municipal council to grant a renewal of it. The effect of this arrangement was that many concerns obtained what was practically a perpetual exemption from taxation. The citizens paid more than their fair share of the taxes, while rich manufacturers escaped their share. These requests of exemptions, which are simply bonuses in another form, Mr. Pattullo said, were generally not got without considerable wirepulling. Municipalities, or rather municipal councils were simply held up and forced to grant renewals by threats that the manufacturers would move away. He suggested a commission of the House, irrespective of politics, to report on the subject of assessment. Mr. Pattullo has a level head, and the Times cordially endorses his efforts to emancipate the people from the burdens complained of.

A most interesting use of a Graphophone is to make records of your friends' voices to be preserved for future use. You can catch the story of your jolly friend just as he told it, or the fervent song of some loved one, just as she sang it and have it reproduced perfectly at any time and as often as you please. Besides, the Graphophone affords wonderful entertainment in the way of reproducing the music of bands, orchestras or vocal or instrumental soloists. A Good Idea.
A letter from Mr. R. J. Kidd appears in another column, and is worthy of the attention of our City Fathers. Mr. Kidd's idea is to have the names of the streets stamped in the pavement on each street corner. The Times cordially endorses the idea.

The Snow Ploughs.
Many complaints have been made regarding the way the snow ploughing is being done. No less than seven letters on the subject have been received by the Times. The contractors surely have had an easy time this winter, and they should have attended to their duties early on Sunday morning.

Editor Morning Times.
Sir, I read with pleasure the letter in yesterday's Times, regarding the liquor license. The Board of Commissioners are subject to the will of the people, and it is the wish of the people to reduce the number of licenses. The commissioners will not doubt do so. Temperance people have the name of being inconsiderate, and it therefore behooves them to make a move in the direction indicated by your correspondent.

Young Ladies.
The young ladies in Peterborough are having a great deal of pleasure these days at the expense of a young gentleman acquaintance. Some time ago the young gentleman's sister gave a house party, and after its conclusion drove home in a covered carriage with two young ladies who had been reared from childhood. It was pouring down rain when they reached the thoroughfare upon which the girls resided, but in the politest manner possible he stopped at the corner, within a few blocks from the other, and alighted them to alight and make their way home as best they could. The following day some of the young ladies in the neighborhood held an indignation meeting and decided to start a subscription at once to erect a suitable sign at the street corner, setting forth the fact that it was "Young Corner," and giving the history from which the name arose. The movement has met with hearty success, and quite a liberal sum has been secured, although it is doubtful if it will be carried out, after all.

SPECIAL MEETING OF THE COUNCIL

SNOW CLEARERS NOT INCLINED TO WORK.

Many complaints lodged—Council decides to take action. The snow is not to be left for the men of the Council.

A special meeting of the Town Council was called for yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. In the absence of Mayor Davis, Alderman McWilliams occupied the chair. Aldermen Shaw, Corkery, Langford, Davidson, and Deane were present and made up a quorum.

WON'T WORK.

Chairman McWilliams announced that the object of calling the meeting was to consider complaints made regarding the systematic manner in which certain officials succeed in avoiding the proper performance of their duties. The men employed to clear the snow from the sidewalks have for some time neglected to do so in anything like reasonable time. Ratepayers complain that the plows are not put in operation before ten or eleven o'clock of the morning after a night's fall of snow. Considerable friction exists among the workmen, and not one of them is willing to do a hand's turn without knowing the why and the wherefore, and sometimes have flatly refused to turn out.

The chief complaints considered were those regarding clearing away of snow on Saturday and Sunday last. Mr. Rennie pleaded sickness and thus removed responsibility from his shoulders.

Before examining the workmen, who were assembled in adjoining room the council primed itself with a preliminary discussion of the matter. Ald. Davidson:—We want men who do their work without being told to do it. I don't think one of them turned out early on Sunday morning.

Ald. Corkery:—Someone was out on Simpson street at 7 a.m.

Ald. Deane:—At 10.45 a.m. no plow had passed my house.

Mr. Rennie:—The men seemed to be slow in turning out, they always wait for instructions.

Mr. Breckenridge was the first to speak. He usually turned out about 5.30 a.m., and was sure that he turned out at that time last Saturday and Sunday.

He considered it dangerous to commence work earlier, owing to the darkness.

A CURIOUS BOX.

"The horse would walk into the ditch, and there we would be in a box." Ald. Davidson:—There's a difference between a box and a ditch. Mr. Breckenridge, against whose work complaints have been made, departed with a clear conscience. Mr. Montgomery next took the stand. His "beat" extends from Charlotte street, and west as far as the boundary. He also turned out early, and without being notified. His evidence elicited the information that, out of the "five" horses owned by the town, only three are available for work on the snow plows. The two horses purchased from Mr. Dixon are considered too light and are not used to single-bladedness, but always travel together. One of these horses has a nail in his foot.

Mr. Kennedy was next placed on the rack, but, not being a regular employee, was allowed to depart with only trifling injuries. He claimed to have covered his beat twice before eleven o'clock Sunday morning. Kennedy was charged with clearing away the snow in out of the way places, and neglecting more important localities. Kennedy turned out at four a.m.

Ald. Mayor McWilliams reported having seen Mr. Blodgett, the contractor who was on duty clearing away snow, that he could not find time to attend to the Council meeting.

MUST SLEEP ON DUTY.

Ald. Davidson:—According to the evidence, these men appear to work both day and night. Ald. Langford:—Times are run very loose—things are rotten.

It appears that the men are not like Dixon's team, they don't pull well together. Aldermen Langford recommended the suspension of the whole batch, as the only way out of the difficulty.

If we are individuals employed them, we would superintend every one of them. Alderman Davidson considered that the superintendence allowance would not be overburdening. As Mr. Blodgett's contract calls for the work to be done after every fall of snow, some of the members were in favor of cancelling the contract, but the canny Scotch blood prevailed, and the matter was referred to an investigating committee with power to take any action its members may deem proper.

The treasurer was instructed to pay Mr. Wiley's account of $12 for tables purchased.

—To-day is the vernal or spring equinox when the sun arrives at the half-way point in its journey northward. The night and day will then be of equal length.

—The Canadian Land Co. control about 350,000 acres in Haliburton county, and it is estimated that the stocks of birch, maple, basswood and black ash growing thereon are worth one million dollars and the value is constantly growing.

—Belleville failed to get its bill to honor "The Canadian Brasserie Carre Company" through the Private Bills Committee—it was regarded as a straight bid to induce a carpet company to remove from Elora to the City.

—A wood famine is imminent—not a stick of hardwood is available from the yards, and soft wood is fast disappearing. Many of the large manufacturers have secured their summer supply in advance while others have been compelled to use coal. Nearly all the wood at present cut along the lakes has been bought up by private parties and prices will be high next season.

—Belleville's City Council have decided to purchase a steam road roller and also to put in an electric fire alarm system at a cost of about $3,000. On Thursday, by a vote of 25 to 16, Midland carried the by-law to give a bonus of $50,000 to the Canadian Furriers' Company of Montreal, to help in the establishment of charcoal pig iron smelting works which are to cost $250,000 and to be begun forthwith.

—Mr. E. W. Hamilton has been confined to his residence, Auburn House, for some time, consequent upon an attack of rheumatism in the shoulders. In the list of ladies presented at the great social function of the Capital, Miss's first "drawing room," appears the name of Mrs. James Kennedy, Peterborough.

The Omeens Mirror says—Mr. Art Reid, of Peterborough, one of our former citizens, spent last week visiting his many friends and acquaintances at this place.

Among the provincial appointments just gazetted is that of James Pegg, of Newmarket, appointed bailiff of the Second Division Court of Peterborough.

—Miss Anne Sanderson, who resided with her parents at the corner of McDonald and Aymer streets, died at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Deceased has been in poor health for some little time, finally succumbing to lung trouble.

A Good Prior for Land.

Mr. John Garbutt, ar., has purchased the farm of Mr. F. Elliott, lot 18, con. 4, in Smith, at the rate of $60 an acre. As the farm adjoins Mr. Garbutt's property at the rear, it makes a very fine estate indeed. Mr. Elliott is retaining twenty-five acres upon which he will reside for the present.

A Good Idea.

Sir:—As everybody appears to read the Times, I generally use the paper when I want everybody to read what I have to say.

It would suggest, Mr. Editor, when the work of laying new granolithic walks is resumed in the spring, that the names of the both streets be impressed in the walks on the corners of the streets. That could be done by making the letters in V shaped grooves, while the cement is in a soft state. As it might be done in brass as shown in front of Peterborough Hardware Company's premises; of course the other would be almost as good, and would cost practically nothing. The names of the streets would be there as long as the pavement lasted, and according to ex-councillor Dawson they would last forever and ten years longer.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am, etc.,

DUCKS FOR LIVERPOOL MARKET

AN ENORMOUS DUCK FARM NEAR BOTANY BAY.

Four Tons of Ducks by each steamer. White Aylesbury are the best kind to raise. Cable News.

Liverpool, March 21.—"During the proper season four tons weight of ducks by every mail steamer would find a ready sale in Liverpool alone."

This was the opinion arrived at as the result of inquiries made in this country on behalf of a New South Wales farmer a couple of years ago, the inquiries being supplemented by one or two trial shipments of ducks.

On the strength of that opinion an enormous duck farm has been started in the historic neighborhood of Botany Bay, and on which a very full and interesting account has just been issued by the Department of Agriculture at Sydney, through whom Board of Exports the trial shipments were made.

The farm was started at the end of 1896 by Mr. Ellis, the present owner, who leased five acres of land for the purpose. He had but little to commence with except good health, his first capital being $750 he had borrowed.

At the end of last year (1898) he owned the five acres as well as a further acre which he had just purchased. His output of ducks in 1898 would be from 10,000 to 12,000, besides a large quantity of eggs. The whole business is growing rapidly, and when the report was written the sum of $1,500 was being spent in improvements and in permanent buildings and fences.

Two kinds of ducks are kept—white Aylesbury and Muscovy—but as the latter with their dark bills are disliked in the English markets, Aylesbury will be the chief ones kept in the future.

BAD ACCIDENT AT ROCKLAND

Catastrophe at W. C. Edwards' Mill Caused by the Collapse of a Scaffold.

Rockland, March 21.—The life was crushed out of four unfortunate workmen, who were engaged in reconstructing a sawdust burner in the W. C. Edwards mill at Rockland yesterday afternoon, by the collapse of a scaffold loaded with bricks.

The dead are—Louis Rochin, Henry Indrymple, Eugene D. Chesney, Archie Stewart.

Another workman named Xavier Frappier was taken out after having been under the debris for four hours. He appears to be not seriously injured, and is able to talk.

The place where the men were working is a large sawdust burner, similar to that owned by the W. C. Edwards company at New Edinburgh. For some days the work of taking down the old brick building has been going on and was facilitated by erecting scaffolds in the interior of the burner and placing the old bricks on these. The men had just finished their midday meal and had entered at the bottom of the burner when the interior scaffolding gave way and precipitated tons of brick and other material upon them.

Frappier was taken out alive and shortly after the remaining party came out. The remains of the three victims had not been taken out at 8.30 last night, but the rescuers were working on heroically.

Dr. Ferguson is attending the injuries of Mr. Frappier and he will recover.

Although sorrow and desolation have been carried into the four homes in the quiet village of Rockland, the catastrophe might have been worse as the last minutes more between fifteen and twenty men would have been in the interior of the shaft to rescue work. It appears that too much material had been left on the scaffold and some slight jarring of the men's entrance caused the supports to vibrate and finally gave way.

Mr. Edwards has four children, Stewart three and Lemcham one. The whole village, where the unfortunate men were well-known residents and highly respected.

THE GRAND TRUNK SYSTEM

Has Been Greatly Improved the Past Year, Report by the Main Line.

Montreal, March 21.—Few people realize the amount of reconstruction that has taken place along the Grand Trunk system during the past year, under the able supervision of Mr. F. H. McLaughlin, general superintendent. No less than 255 miles of steel rails of the standard 80 lbs. were laid on the Grand Trunk during 1898, and most of these were placed on the main line in Ontario and Quebec. The 80-lb. rails just referred to replaced others from 65 to 70 lbs. and 240 miles of the latter were replaced on lines carrying lighter traffic, so it will be seen that almost 500 miles of Grand Trunk have been greatly strengthened and improved during last year.

There were also laid a fraction over 60 miles of new side-track, 54 of these being at stations, etc., and 12 for the use of manufacturing establishments in different parts of the country.

Another important feature was the great number of new bridges, placed in place all that had been laid over 25 years old. Steel and wooden bridges were replaced by new steel bridges of the very latest modern construction, their total length being 21-230 feet, or 108 feet over four miles.

The number of running feet included in this wonderful achievement includes, of course, the 25 spans, equal to 6562 feet of the new Victoria, which it does not include the Niagara bridge, which was completed in 1897. The record of the year also shows that 35 wooden bridges and trestles, possessing a total length of 2861 feet, as well as 10 wooden overhead wagon wagon bridges, the whole being 1108 feet long, were completely rebuilt, most of these being on the branch lines.

The Grand Trunk laid during 1898 no less than 1,768,333 cross-ties, being an increase of half a million over 1897, this being explained by the management's desire to strengthen the main lines by all possible means, and properly prepare them for the very much heavier freight traffic and traffic which they will have to support in the near future.

For instance, the ties on parts of the road have been laid at intervals of 2000 a mile, whereas 2500 used to suffice. As much as 312 miles of ballast—24 in gravel and 50 in cinders—have to be placed to the credit of the Grand Trunk for 1898, while 61 wooden, stone and pipe culverts were also renewed in stone during the year.

Sixteen stations, eight freight sheds two coal chutes and twelve motive power buildings were erected, while sixty stations, nine freight sheds and nine motive power structures were remodelled, painted and repaired.

Eleven of the new stations were built in Ontario and Quebec, one in Maine and five in the State of Michigan.

The above is sufficient to show what has been done in 1898, and it is understood that still greater things will be attempted in 1899.

COMMONS AND SENATE DISCUSS THE ADDRESS.

The Address in Reply Moved—Sir Charles Spence: Proceedings in the Senate. 100 Water St., Peterborough.

Ottawa, March 21.—The business of the session was fairly begun yesterday afternoon, when at three o'clock Mr. Speaker took the chair. There was a good attendance of members on both sides, but for the opening of the debate on the address, rather a slim representation in the gallery.

Fifteen minutes sufficed for the preliminary routine, and then the new member for East Prince, P.E.I., got up, fortified by applause from the government benches, to move the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

Mr. Bell, after acknowledging the honor conferred upon him in being chosen to move the address in reply to the speech from the throne, went on to deal with the subjects therein mentioned. Nobody, he contended, could deny the prosperity of the country. From $259,000,000 in 1896 the volume of trade had grown to $304,000,000 last year, an increase of $45,000,000 in two years, while the Conservatives in eighteen years had only increased the trade $67,000,000. During the eight months of the present year Canada's trade had increased $12,000,000 in volume, so that the total increase for the fiscal year would likely be an increase of $40,000,000, as compared with 1898.

Compared with the United States Canada has enjoyed a prosperity twenty times greater than her neighbor. "And," continued the mover, "if there are any who still hug the delusion that Canada is dependent for its prosperity on the United States this fact should enlighten them."

Compared with the United States Canada has enjoyed a prosperity twenty times greater than her neighbor. "And," continued the mover, "if there are any who still hug the delusion that Canada is dependent for its prosperity on the United States this fact should enlighten them."

THE WASHINGTON FIASCO

Coming to the paragraph in the speech which spoke of the international commission, the mover, after paying a sincere tribute to the memory of Lord Hershbell, proceeded to say that while not in possession of all the facts connected with it, there were some that the public knew of, and these he would deal with. In the first place it was known that the commission met six months, and that they had made an honest, earnest and persistent effort to settle the various causes of difference between the two countries. In this they merited the approval of everybody without regard to party. The Canadians also laid down the policy that we should settle all the differences or none, in other words that the difference should be pooled. That, he thought, was the policy to leave and not removed was the same as leaving all unsettled.

It was said of the Americans, and said truly, that they were a selfish people, and drove a hard bargain. Still they couldn't be laid out and he looked to the strong national sense of honor behind that selfishness to bring it under control, so that this question at issue would be satisfactorily settled.

NEW LIBERAL SENTIMENT

Dealing with postal reform, Mr. Bell praised the postmaster-general for the reduction of domestic and imperial rates. Mr. Wilfrid Laurier, he said, had reduced the deficit of 1898 from $781,000 to $47,000, so that the reduction to two cents would not bring the deficit back to more than half the deficit of his predecessor in office; and before long the deficit would cease altogether owing to the increased postal business.

His effects like that of the preferential tariff, would be to intensify the sentimental relations between England and Canada. There was a time when there was considerable sentiment in favor of annexation. There was none now. At that time, too, there was a strong feeling in favor of commercial union. "Where will you find it today?" he asked.

"Nowhere," responded a voice from the opposition. And another added, "That's not shot from your own side, isn't it?"

The talk of independence, said Mr. Bell in conclusion, was a thing of the past. Canadians were today all in favor of imperial connection, proud of being Canadians, but prouder still of belonging to the greatest empire the world has seen.

THE SPOONER

Mr. Martineau, the new member for Montserrat, seconded the address speaking in French. He confined himself to the subjects charged upon him by the speech from the throne and gave the government all credit for the prosperity of the country.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER.

Sir Charles Tupper arose at 4.30 to reply, amidst the enthusiastic cheers of the opposition, to the address in complimentary terms to the speech of the mover and the seconder. He said he had listened with especial satisfaction to Mr. Bell's declaration that Canada occupied a position independent of the United States. It was a sentiment which the opposition at all events heartily endorsed. He regarded with satisfaction also the statement that the proposition of the United States in regard to the Alaska boundary was a memorable one, for it was one that no man of either party would regard as other than an invasion of those principles of international law and justice that every country has a right to expect from another.

In their proposition," said Sir Charles, "that they would only consent to arbitration if the representative of Her Majesty's government would agree that what ever the finding was the United States should remain in possession of what the arbitration might find belonged to Canada, the United States took an attitude which no British subject, on this side of the Atlantic or on the other, with a single spark of independence in him, would submit to. And in that, I trust, the right hon. gentleman has behind him the hearty and unanimous support of every member of the house." (Hear, hear.)

LORD HERSHELL'S FUNERAL OBSEQUIES.

THE EMINENT STATESMAN BURIED YESTERDAY.

London, March 21.—Funeral services over the remains of the late Lord Hershbell, who died at Washington on March 1, took place to-day in Westminster Abbey.

A procession of carriages formed this morning at the residence of the deceased, Grosvenor Gardens, to which the body was conveyed yesterday on its arrival here from Portland, to which place it was brought from New York by the British cruiser Talbot.

At the residence the caasket was placed in the elaborate glass paneled hearse and the procession proceeded to Westminster Abbey. There the body was met by the dean, clergy and the choir.

THE SENATE

In the senate the address was moved by Hon. Mr. Kerr, the new senator from Colburn, who, at the outset expressed his gratitude to the government for appointing him, and alluded to his life-long attachment to Sir Wilfrid Laurier. On the whole Mr. Kerr seemed glad to be there.

Proceeding to deal with the speech Senator Kerr extended a hearty welcome to the new Governor-General and Lady Minto, who were in the gallery. He also had a kindly word to say of Lord and Lady Aberdeen.

London, March 21.—Funeral services over the remains of the late Lord Hershbell, who died at Washington on March 1, took place to-day in Westminster Abbey.

A procession of carriages formed this morning at the residence of the deceased, Grosvenor Gardens, to which the body was conveyed yesterday on its arrival here from Portland, to which place it was brought from New York by the British cruiser Talbot.

At the residence the caasket was placed in the elaborate glass paneled hearse and the procession proceeded to Westminster Abbey. There the body was met by the dean, clergy and the choir.

THE SENATE

In the senate the address was moved by Hon. Mr. Kerr, the new senator from Colburn, who, at the outset expressed his gratitude to the government for appointing him, and alluded to his life-long attachment to Sir Wilfrid Laurier. On the whole Mr. Kerr seemed glad to be there.

Proceeding to deal with the speech Senator Kerr extended a hearty welcome to the new Governor-General and Lady Minto, who were in the gallery. He also had a kindly word to say of Lord and Lady Aberdeen.

Word has been received of the death at Hildburgh, Pa., of Mr. Lewis E. Gillespie, a former resident of Peterborough. He lived here a couple of years ago and was employed at the Canadian General Electric works. He was much esteemed by those who knew him.

A Horse Fall.
While Mr. Hunt, son of Engineer Hunt of the C.P.R. was walking along the track on Sunday last, he was struck by an engine and thrown to the ground. His coat, which caught in the wheels, was torn completely off his back. Marvellous to relate, Mr. Hunt escaped without a scratch, although considerably shook up.

Over Coach's Trouble.
A steer driven by a fifteen year old boy caused considerable excitement on George street yesterday afternoon. When opposite the C. P. R. station the animal became excited and turned on its driver, making things lively in the vicinity for a short time, stampeding people in every direction.

WANT LIQUOR LICENSES.

Eleventh Hotel and Four Teap Licenses Applied For

Nineteen applications for tavern licenses have so far been received by the commissioners, one for wholesale privileges and three for shop licenses. There are likely to be several more. Those who have applied for hotel licenses are—

Montreal House—Harry Laroque.
Clunan House—P. Chasen.
Oxford House—W. H. Bowman.

Southern Hotel—C. Laroque.

City Hotel—C. Laroque.

White House—Robert White.

National Hotel—Frank White.

Palace Hotel—LeBrun & Feleber.

Johnston House—E. Phelan.

C. P. R. Hotel—Wm. Overend.

Oriental Hotel—George Graham.

Peterborough House—John Clancy.

Carow House—J. Carow.

American House—J. Crough.

St. James House—P. Morgan.

Scott House—Wm. Croft.

Commercial House—J. Rhea.

Little Windsor—A. Rowntree.

Alex. Elliott (wholesale).

E. Brown & Company (shop).

George Mitchell (shop).

Henry & Company (shop).

It will be seen that there is a decrease of four licenses over last year. The Grand Central's license will probably go to the Southern Hotel, and the Malton license of the Boregas will not be renewed. The re-opening of the Southern Hotel, will be a good thing, as it was very convenient for those coming in last night on the C. P. R., who could not afford to stay at one of the large hotels.

A Man Wanted.

We want a man, with good address, to work on salary. Apply at the Times office.

Y. W. C. A. Concert.

The Y. W. C. A. concert held last evening proved an immense success. Mr. Garvill very ably performed the arduous duties of chairman. Mr. Deatmiston opened the program with a piano solo, followed by Mr. Mulligan and Miss Harkin with vocal solos. Miss Bell's violin playing was really excellent, as also was Mrs. Shorey's and Miss Belle's vocal duet. Miss McCuba officiated at the piano in a very acceptable manner.

Peterborough Wins.

Three rinks of the Peterborough Curling club journeyed to Lindsay on Monday and played against three rinks from the Lindsay rink. The contest commenced at 7 p.m., sharp, and a fair crowd which included many local enthusiasts. The play was keen from the start, and the many neat shots were vigorously applauded by the appreciative on-lookers. Peterborough won by 8 shots.

The return match was played on Peterborough ice yesterday afternoon and went to Lindsay by one shot.

This leaves Peterborough winners on the round by 7 shots.

Mr. Sullivan's Willingness to Donate.

The millinery opening at Messrs. J. Sutcliffe and Sons' new premises to-day should receive a centre of attraction to all the ladies in town. The display of ladies' spring hats in all the latest styles, arranged by Miss Peterson and staff in the millinery department, is undoubtedly deserving of special attention. Mr. J. A. Sutcliffe, the manager, deserves indeed great praise for the energetic manner in which he has pushed arrangements to completion. A ball house spent in the various departments will well reward every lady in Peterborough. Mr. Sutcliffe extends a hearty invitation to all.

The Proposed Electric Power from Burleigh Falls.

The proposal to bring electric power from Burleigh Falls, to Peterborough, is not likely to alter the plans of the Council in regard to acquiring the water works dam, and thus provide our own power. Those who are "dickering" with the promoter of the Burleigh Falls scheme, should not forget that the waterworks dam, now the power, under the new bill, to take over the water works and the large water power in connection, and supply the town with light and power at merely nominal prices. The ratepayers will, of course, have to approve of the scheme before the money can be obtained. The present Burleigh Falls power scheme, looks to us as a forlorn hope.

A New Parrot Story.

A maiden lady of Cornwall owned a parrot, which, somehow, acquired the disagreeable habit of shrieking at frequent intervals. "I wish the old bird would die," this annoyed the lady's owner, who spoke to her curate about it. "I think we rectify the matter," replied the good man. "I also have a parrot, and he is a right-tongued bird, having been brought up in the way he should go. I will lend you my parrot, and I trust his influence will reform that depraved bird of yours." The curate's parrot was placed in the same room with the wicked one, and as soon as the two had become accustomed to each other the lady bird remarked, "I wish the old bird would die." Whereupon the curate's bird rolled up his eyes and in solemn accents added: "We bewitch thee to hear us, good Lord!" The story got out in the parish, and for several Sundays it was necessary to omit the Litany at the church services.

happenings Around Town During the Past Twenty-four Hours.

Everything was quiet at the police court to-day.

Spring sessions open on Tuesday, April 4th.

A few wild geese have been seen on the river.

—Rev. H. Symonds will lecture on "Japan and the Missionary Problem" in St. Luke's church to-night.

—There is at present more snow on the level in this district than at any time this season.

—Alex. Marks, one of the Marks Bros., actors, and Miss Anglin, a member of the company, have been married at Kalamazoo, Mich.

—Mr. Tob Fitzgerald has a gang of men at work cutting hardwood at Burdall's, Otonabee. Dry, and even green wood, is very scarce.

—St. Patrick is partly so honored for ridding his island of ordinary land serpents. (What a chance for fame our Councilmen have in ridding the corporation of some of its serpents.)

—Whitby council, encouraged by the opinion recently obtained from lawyer A. H. Blake, has instructed the town auditor to make a demand on the Grand Trunk Railway Co. for $50,000 for breach of contract.

—Lindsay Post—The Collegiate Institute closed at noon to-day, the pupils alleging that they could not return owing to the drifted state of the walks. The council should discipline some of the snowplow men—they need it badly.

A string of twenty-four empty freight cars, which left here for Lindsay during the big storm, had been broken and most of the cars left at way stations on account of the drift.

Representatives of Corinthian Lodge, Peterborough; Clement Lodge, Lakefield, and Keene Lodge, A.F. & A.M., went to Port Hope yesterday to attend a class of instruction.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL

Altherton Neill was in Toronto yesterday on business.

Miss Atkinson, of Lindsay, is visiting friends in town.

Mr. R. P. Gough, of Toronto, is in town for a few days.

The Rev. Mr. Munt, of Kilmount, formerly of Peterborough, is visiting friends in town. Mr. Munt is well and favorably known.

Rev. Mr. Carson, of Pembroke, has returned home after spending a pleasant visit with his aunt, Mrs. Edward Cookson, 508 Aylmer street.

Mr. James Peggelly, of Norwood, has been appointed bailiff of the second division Court of the County of Peterborough, in succession to the late Mr. A. R. Anderson.

Mr. James Anderson of Toronto, dropped into The Times office to-day.

Mr. H. Crowe, of Drummer, has left to attend the dairy school at Kingston.

We are glad to note that Mr. Hubert McElin has somewhat recovered from his rather severe illness. He expects to be all right again in the course of a week or so.

His Old Path.

The fact that Mr. Stratton's bicycle path bill does not impose upon municipalities the burden of construction and maintenance of the paths, is a great reason for its acceptance.

It is rather, one of the strongest reasons why it should be rejected. Bicyclists will have the right to the use of the paths only on payment of the fee, those fees going for the maintenance of the paths. But the bicyclists in common with all other classes have the right to good roads.

up to the use of those roads without having to pay special fees over and above the usual rates, nor to wear special badges. If, however, the bicyclists insist to be so tagged and taxed, that fact will be urged by municipal councillors against the general demand for good roads, and farmers and other owners of vehicles may be sent away with the reply that if they want their part of the roads made good, they also must pay a special fee and wear their own particular badge. In fact the operation of the provisions of the Stratton bill would have a tendency altogether to discourage the construction of good roads. It would discourage that movement which is already taking form and which it is so desirable, should be carried out for the benefit of all classes and not

The Libel Law Amendment.

Kingston Times.

We sincerely hope that the amendment will pass. Security for costs must now be given where the action against the newspaper is a civil one. If the action is criminal, there is practically no security for costs to the publisher, however unwarranted the action may be proved to be.

Hamilton Herald.

If a poor man has a good ground for an action for libel against a newspaper, he will have no difficulty in finding security for costs, whether the alleged libel does or does not involve a criminal charge, his lawyer will see to that part of the business. The repeal of the section is absolutely necessary to the protection of publishers, and it is to be hoped that this measure of justice will not be denied.

London Free Press.

This clause enables impetuous persons to bring actions against newspapers without giving security for costs where the alleged libel involves a criminal charge, and to enjoy the sport of the legal game without incurring the risk of paying the expenses where they lost. The Ottawa Citizen has of late successfully defeated three libel suits, two within the past six months, and has been compelled in each case to pay its own costs of defence. In none of these cases was the Ottawa saved from being mulcted by the provisions that security for costs may be ordered, even where a criminal charge is involved, in case the judge is satisfied that the action is "trivial or frivolous." That provision is practically useless to protect newspapers from speculative attacks.

Stratford Beacon.

This is a most desirable change and it is to be hoped that the bill will pass. It is easy for a lawyer to twist almost anything into a criminal charge, inferred or imputed. Most libel suits of this nature are brought in the names of parties who are financially worthless, and no matter whether this publisher wins or loses he is stuck for heavy bills of costs.

are seen everywhere. Heredity or overstudy renders them unfitted to cope with the responsibilities of life, susceptible to consumption or decline. Medicine has failed, and must fail, for they need food. Take cod liver oil? No! Their poor stomachs rebel. Take emulsions? No! They are equally distasteful. Nothing will effect a cure but Maltine with Cod Liver Oil. The oil, rendered palatable and easy of digestion, is quickly assimilated, and Maltine, equal in nutrition to the oil, and even surpassing it in energetic action upon the digestive processes, unite in producing increased weight, improved color, and that elasticity and buoyancy which herald returning health. Maltine with Cod Liver Oil has a remedial value ten times greater than emulsions. One of England's greatest physicians (Dr. Fothergill) says: "There is no remedy that can take the place of Maltine in cases of Debility and Nervous Prostration." Can be purchased of any druggist.

While the men feel they are entitled to an increase, they have no intention of striking.

"Dysentery among horses is quite prevalent," said a well-known veterinary surgeon yesterday. "This disease affects the horse the same as man, and is contracted through the same cause. Horses which are not taken proper care of will contract the disease. The animal should never be put into the stable after a drive on a cold day without being thoroughly rubbed down and comfortably blanketed."

PIERCE FIGHT WITH TOURAREGES

WANDERING ARABS ATTACK A FRENCH EXPEDITION.

One Hundred Men Killed—Europeans Suffer These Losses and Loss Part of Their Goods.

Algiers, March 22.—La Telegraphie Algerienne announces that a number of Arabs arrived at Ghardaia yesterday, and that they were raiding the country. Ghardaia is situated about 300 miles south of Algiers, in the Sahara. It is further announced that a party of Touaregs recently attacked an European expedition which was on its way to air, in the Sahara, and that after a fierce fight the Touaregs were beaten off, but the expedition lost one hundred men killed and part of its caravan was captured. The paper mentioned adds that the expedition must be Fourou-Lays mission, which is said to be the only European expedition at the present moment in the Sahara. When last heard from it had arrived at the town of Assi. It is said, in conclusion, there are certain other grave indications tending to confirm the news.

1,000 CARS TO BE BUILT BY THE C. A. R.

They will be used to carry Western Grain—Train Canceled—Wiggins on the Storm—Laurier's Reply

Ottawa, March 22.—The speech of Sir Charles Tupper, leader of the Opposition, and the reply thereto by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Premier, were the absorbing subject in the city to-day. Sir Wilfrid is adversely criticized by many for his personal attack on Sir Charles. Mr. Tupper's speech, following the Premier, was a masterly effort.

WILL REPRESENT SPAIN.

Madrid, March 22.—The Queen Regent has signed the decree giving M. Jules Cambon, the French Ambassador at Washington, full power to represent Spain at the exchange of the ratifications of the treaty of peace with the United States.

TWO CONFLICTING THEORIES.

Paris, March 22.—According to an official statement regarding the explosion last evening in a laboratory attached to the War Department, it occurred in the course of experiments mixing gases intended to light railway cars. Another account says it was due to experiments made for the ascertaining the cause of the Toulon and Bourges explosions by mixing different kinds of powder, and that it shows that the Toulon catastrophe was the result of carelessness. Seven persons were injured, three of them seriously, by last night's explosion.

ADDRESS TO THE FILIPINOS.

Manila, March 22.—The address to the natives of the Philippine Islands, drafted by the American Commission in behalf of the United States Government, and embodying the views of the President, has been made public. The salient points are these: "It assures the population of powers of self-government. It explains that the U.S. has assumed international obligations, which make it responsible to the whole world for the stable government. The Commission is to suggest the establishment of such an overment as shall suit the Filipinos and be consistent with United States interests. The President's wish is to establish a government such as will render the natives capable of administering their foreign affairs under American control. The protection of the United States is not to be exercised in any spirit of tyranny or vengeance. The United States is bound to restore peace and order to the islands, and to place their arms and place their trust in the government that emancipated them. The majority of the Commissioners incline toward giving the Filipinos a sort of tribal or provincial local autonomy under a central American Government, which will be military until a purely civil system is proved to be feasible. It is hoped that the greater number of intelligent natives will desert the insurgent cause after the next defeat of their arms."

A SCARE AT NEGROES.

Holio, March 22.—A scare is reported in the Island of Negros. Upward of 500 Spanish soldiers have arrived at Holio, and state that a native tribe, twenty thousand strong, living on the Montecano river twenty miles south of Bacolod, threaten to destroy the plantations and crops. They are mostly equipped with spears and bows. The Spaniards requested arms from General Miller.

YORK COUNTY'S BILL HAS BEEN REJECTED

MUNICIPAL COMMITTEE OF LEGISLATURE THROW IT OUT.

Wanted to Stop the Stampede—But the Committee did not Believe in Enlarging the Municipalities of Their Share.

Toronto, March 22.—The Municipal Committee of the Ontario Legislature has rejected the bill presented by the County of York so far as its main feature went. The chief proposal in the bill was that where towns separate from the county without the county's consent, they should not share in the county assets. A number of municipalities during the past few years have been separating from the county, and the county authorities are seeking some means of stopping the stampede or, at any rate, of minimizing the loss entailed by these desertions.

ANOTHER FATAL FIRE

Two Women Lost Their Lives and 26 Others are Seriously Injured.

Omaha, Neb., March 22.—Comparatively insignificant in material destruction, but appalling in its harvest of death and suffering was a fire that partially destroyed the Patterson block at Seventeenth and Douglas streets this afternoon. Two of its victims have passed away, one more is not expected to live and about twenty-five others are suffering from broken limbs and burned flesh.

WIGGINS ON THE STORM.

Prof. Wiggins doesn't think the blizzard of the past few days much of a storm. It is a mere circumstance have been some times, he says even in the middle of April. "The present one has been coming," he remarked, "for fully a week. It gathered first in the Black Sea and has been traveling westward ever since and is now on its way to the Gulf of Mexico. It has been coming on like an immense cart wheel—it is a cyclone; one generally forms when the sun crosses the celestial equator. We are led to expect the equinoctial storm, but when I predict them people laugh, and say that the heavenly bodies cannot create them."

WILL BANQUET HIM.

Mr. H. A. Belmont, M.P., is to be banqueted by the Liberals of Ottawa at the Russell House at a convenient date in the near future. This was decided upon at a meeting of representatives of the several Liberal clubs of the city, held in Mr. Stewart's office Monday evening.

HIS CONDITION SERIOUS.

Mr. Frappier, the survivor of the Rockland fatality, is more seriously injured than was at first supposed. The lower part of the body is badly bruised and his condition is not very encouraging. Mr. Ferguson of Rockland will operate an incision at nine o'clock to-day.

THE NEW LOCOMOTIVES.

One thousand freight cars of large capacity will be built in Ottawa this year, necessitating the employment of a very large staff of skilled workmen. The cars will be manufactured in the new shops now in course of erection on the west end of the city. The company has placed orders for an immense stock of iron, steel, car wheels and axles and lumber to be used for the above purpose. Work is being rushed on the car and machine shops and if the present plans are carried out operations will be commenced on the first of May.

PETERBOROUGH MARCH 23, 1899

MR. STRATTON'S BICYCLE BILL.

Mr. Stratton, has introduced a bill in the Ontario Legislature, providing for the construction of bicycle paths alongside highways. The principles of the bill have already been published by the Times. As usual, when Mr. Stratton has anything before the House, he is sure to meet with the opposition of a section of the Toronto press, particularly the Star and Telegram. Perhaps it is because Mr. Stratton is a journalist that the antipathy of these papers is aroused? Or perhaps they are afraid that Mr. Stratton will one day become the head of the government in which event Toronto will cease to rule the rest of the province. At any rate the bicycle bill is a good and will carry in spite of the noisy opposition of the papers above referred to.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

(Lots of the tramp are like some of the plans for the island's betterment; they won't work.)

(Lots of men, who stand around the corners on sunny days, are like the Street Railway; they won't work.)

The winter is sufficiently open, however, to admit of the Easter hat being worn in the near distance.

Whether that United States coffee trust is capitalized at $30,000,000 or much less, its object is to get the dead wood on the general public.

Belts and corsets made from human skins are now said to be used in England. History records a case of dermoids being made from such material, but this beats the drum.

If the efforts at dirigible balloons and submarine boats for military purposes are successful, then in a way, war may be said to disappear from the face of the earth.

Of the many morals of the New York fire, most of which will be soon forgotten, there is one that each individual can apply personally. That is, never go to bed in a strange hotel without making yourself acquainted with a means of exit. People frequently enter an elevator with a bell boy, ride up several stories, then tramp through corridors till they have no idea of where they are, and apt to rush headlong in all directions save the right one. Another point well worthy of being remembered is the fact that if a cloth well saturated with water be placed over the mouth and nostrils, one can breathe surrounded by smoke. A pillow case or sheet worked in the wash basin will answer.

MOLLY BAWN.

BY THE DUCHESS.

"Potts, hand me some nails," exclaimed Lowry, impatiently. "Who is on another ladder close by, and has been an attentive and disgusted listener; 'Potts, hand me some nails,' exclaiming Potts, who stands lost in contemplation of Grainger. 'Look sharp, can't you? And tell me what think of this,' pointing to his design on the wall. 'Is it all your fancy painted in?' 'Is it lovely and divine?' Answer."

"Very sour, I think," returns Mr. Potts, hitting off Grainger's voice to a society, while maintaining a countenance sufficiently innocent to border on the imbecile.

Both Sir Penrhyn and Lowry laugh immoderately, while Cecil turns away to hide the smile that may betray her. Grainger himself is the only one wholly unconscious of any joke. He smiles, indeed, genially, because they smile, and happily refrains from inquiry of any sort.

Meantime in the tea-room—that opens off the supper-room, where the others are engaged—Molly and Philip are busy arranging bouquets chosen from among a basketful of flowers that has just been brought in by one of the under-gardeners.

Philip is on his knees, almost at Molly's feet, while she bends over him searching for the choicest buds.

"What a lovely ring!" says Philip, presently, staying in his task to take her hand and examine the diamond that glitters on it. "Was it a present?"

"Of course. Where could such a 'beggar-maid' as I am get money enough to buy such a ring?"

"Will you think me rude if I ask you the every-day name of your King Ophelia?"

"Then tell me where you got it?"

"What a question! I might. Perhaps it is the little letter that seals my engagement to him. Perhaps it isn't."

"Yes you may just now—"

"About that eccentric king? Well, I spoke truly. Royalty has not yet thrown itself at my feet. Still," coquettishly, "that is no reason why I should look coldly upon all commoners."

"Be serious Molly, for one moment," he retreats, the look of passionate earnestness she so much dislikes coming over his face, darkening instead of brightening it. "Sometimes I am half mad with doubt. Tell me the truth, now, here. Are you engaged? Is there anything between you and—Luttrell?"

The spirit of mischief she laid hold of Molly. She sees nothing at all for Shadwell. Of all the men who had met at Luttrell's, he attracts her least. She scarcely understands the wild love with which she has inspired him; she cannot sympathize with his emotion.

"Well, if you compel me to confess it," she says, lowering her eyes, "there is."

"It is true, then?" cries he, rising to his feet and turning deathly pale. "My fears did not deceive me."

"Quite true. There is a whole long room 'between me' and Mr. Luttrell and—dropping her voice—"you." Here she laughs merrily and with all her heart. To her it is a jest, no more.

"How a woman—the very best woman—loves to torture!" exclaims he, anger and relief struggling in his tone. "Oh, that I dared believe that letter part of your sentence, that I could not stand between you and all the world!"

"Fain would I climb, but that I fear to fall," quotes Molly, jestingly. "You know the answer! If thy heart fail thee, do not climb at all."

"Is that a challenge?" demands he, going nearer to her.

"I don't know," waving him back. "Hear the oracle again. I feel strong at appropriate rhyme to-night—"

"He either feels his fate too much, Or his deserts are small, Who fears to put it to the touch, To win or lose it all."

They are quite alone. Some one has given the door leading to the adjoining apartment a push that has entirely closed it. Molly, in her white evening gown and pale-blue ribbons, with a bunch of her favorite roses at her breast, is looking up at him, a little mocking smile upon her lips. He is cold, perhaps a shade amazed, without one particle of sentiment.

"I fear nothing," cries Philip, in a low impassioned tone, made unwieldy bold by her words, raising her hands.

The Death Sentence. The wretched prisoner who listens to the reading of his death warrant is not more surely doomed than the man who is threatened with dread consumption.

The child that is born with a shallow, narrow chest; the youth who daily croaches over a cold desk; the mechanic who toils in an atmosphere of dust, and the woman whose household duties constantly restrict her to the close, heated atmosphere of her home, all live under the blighting shadow of consumption. There is but one sure protection against this wholesale murderer of men—a sound healthy body; pure, rich, red blood; and clear, clear breathing organs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes a man hungry, and really hungry men are usually healthy. But that isn't the whole matter—you may eat all you want with food, and if the grate is clogged with cinders and the chimney with soot, you will have no fire. The "Golden Medical Discovery" gets that fuel burning—that the life-giving elements of the food are absorbed into the blood, and that new, healthy tissues are built up in the breathing organs. It prevents consumption by curing all the abnormal conditions which, if neglected lead up to consumption.

Mrs. Josie K. Clark, of Haverhill, Shelby Co., Mo., writes: "I had despaired of ever getting well. I had been in bed twelve years, and could not get up, much less, could not, and everything I ate distressed me; bowels constipated, was very nervous, depressed and despondent. I have taken Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and my health is now good."

Constipation disappears while you sleep when you take Dr. Pierce's Pills.

THE DEBATE ON THE ADDRESS.

Sir Charles Tupper, speaking upon the Senate "Reform" Proposal: I feel that in my last year, almost my last months of my life, I would be glad to be freed from the labours of my position, but I would be faithful to my country if I did not concentrate every hour of my life to meet this dire attempt to subvert the institutions of this country."

and pressing warm, unwelcome kisses on them; whether I win or lose, I will speak now. Yet what shall I tell you that you do not already know? I love you, my dear, my darling! Oh, Molly! do not look at me coldly! Do me!"

"Don't be earnest, Philip," interrupts she, with a frown, and a sudden change of tone, raising her head and regarding him with distasteful hauteur; "there is nothing I detest so much; and your earnestness worries me especially. When I spoke I was merely jesting, as you must have known. I do not want your love. I have told you so before. Let my hands go, Philip; your touch is hateful to me."

He drops her hands as though they burned him; and she, with flushed face and frowning brow, turns abruptly away, leaving him alone, angered, hurt, but still adoring.

Ten minutes later her heart—a tender one—mingles her tears with his, and she comes back to him, and she will return and make such reparation as lies in her power.

With a light step she returns to the tea-room where she left him, and looking gently in, finds he has neither stirred nor raised his head since her cruel words cut him to the heart. Ten minutes—a long time—and all consumed in thoughts of her! Feeling still more contrite, she approaches him.

To be continued.

WEST AFRICAN CANNIBALS.

A Savage People Who Regard Human Flesh as superior to all other.

P. A. McCann, an Englishman who has spent 19 years in West Africa, seven of which were passed in close contact with the Mpongwe, gives some interesting descriptions of their cannibalistic habits and customs.

They quite believed, he said, that the white men ate white men as they themselves eat their fellow blacks. The Mpongwe cannibals of the most pronounced type, they inhabit the lower reaches of the Gabon and Kibira rivers. Although they kill game for food they much prefer human meat to any other. When questioned about the practice they speak freely about it without embarrassment.

Human flesh, they say, has a flavor about it, which is entirely absent in any other kind of meat. They eat all enemies they kill or capture in war, the latter are tortured before being put to death. In fighting with an enemy who has pressed them hard and caused them much loss, the bodies are eaten very soon after capture and when the heat of war is upon them.

The bodies of enemies killed by stealth they generally treat differently for not being excited by hard fighting or looting. They deliberately wait for the pleasure of the eating will afford them, and go more leisurely about the preparation of the meat. The flesh having been cut up is cooked in plantain leaves. The method of doing this is as follows: Several leaves of the plantain tree are cut at the base of their shafts from the trunk of the tree and the midriff of the leaf, which is thick and full of sap, and so prevents the leaf from bending easily, is dexterously pared down with a single cut of the knife. The leaf is then held over the fire and under the influence of the heat softens and becomes as flexible as cloth. All the leaves are treated like this, and are afterwards put one on the top of the other, and then gathered up so as to form a basin-like receptacle. A quantity of human meat, cut into small pieces, is then placed in this. Some water and dikka fat, made from the fatty kernels of the seeds of the Mangifera Gabonensis, is added; after which the leaves are gathered together at the top, and tied round with the fibrous strips cut from the midriff when preparing the leaves. The bundle is then placed over a slow fire for seven or eight hours, and the flavor of the meat thus cooked, according to Mpongwe "connoisseurs," surpasses everything in the world's bill of fare.

Snaps Shots With a Graphophone.

The Graphophone is to the ear what the photographic camera is to the eye and more, for the graphophone catches instantly and preserves every tint and shade of sound. A most interesting use of a Graphophone is to make records of your friends' voices to be preserved for future use. You can catch the story of your jolly friend just as he told it, or the favorite song of some loved one, just as she sang it and have it reproduced perfectly at any time it is reproduced perfectly at any time.

COMMONS AND SENATE DISCUSS THE ADDRESS.

The Address in Reply Nov. 8—Mr. Charles Speech. Proceeding to the Senate—Mr. Co. Mr. McRae D. 2.

Ottawa, March 21st.—The business of the session was fairly begun yesterday afternoon, when at three o'clock Mr. Speaker took the chair. There was a good attendance of members on both sides, but for the opening of the debate on the address, rather a slim representation in the gallery.

Fifteen minutes sufficed for the preliminary routine, and then the new member for East Prince, P.E.I., got up, fortified by applause from the government benches, to move the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

Mr. Bell, after acknowledging the honor conferred upon him in being chosen to move the address in reply to the speech from the throne, went on to deal with the subjects therein mentioned. "Nobody," he contended, could deny the prosperity of the country. From $239,000,000 in 1896 the volume of trade had grown to $384,000,000 last year, an increase of $145,000,000 in two years, while the Conservatives in eighteen years had only increased the trade $67,000,000. During the eight months of the present year Canada's trade had increased $12,000,000 in volume, so that the total increase for the fiscal year would likely be an increase of $40,000,000, as compared with 1898.

Compared with the United States Canada has enjoyed a prosperity twenty times greater than her neighbor. "And," continued the mover, "if there are any who still hug the delusion that Canada is dependent for its prosperity on the United States this fact should enlighten them."

THE WASHINGTON FIASCO.

Coming to the paragraph in the speech which spoke of the International Commission, the mover, after paying a sincere tribute to the memory of Lord Herschell, proceeded to say that while not in possession of all the facts connected with it, there were some that the public knew of, and these he would deal with. In the first place it was known that the commissioners sat six months, and that they had made an honest, earnest and persistent effort to settle the various causes of difference between the two countries. In this they merited the approbation of everybody without regard to party. The Canadians also laid down the policy that we should settle all the differences or none, in other words that the differences should be pooled. That, he thought, was wise, because to leave one not removed was the same as leaving all unsettled.

It was said of the Americans, and said truly, that they were a selfish people, and drove a hard bargain. Still they couldn't be bulldozed, and he looked to the strong national sense of honor behind that selfishness to bring it under control. So that this question at issue would yet be satisfactorily settled.

NEW LIBERAL SENTIMENT.

Dealings with postal reform. Mr. Bell praised the postmaster-general for the reduction of domestic and imperial rates. Mr. Mulock, he said, had reduced the deficit of 1898 from $781,000 to $17,000, so that the reduction of two cents would not bring the deficit back to more than half the deficit of his predecessors in office, and before long the deficit would cease altogether owing to the increased postal business. Its effects like that of the preferential tariff, would be to intensify the sentimental relations between England and Canada. There was a time when there was considerable sentiment in favor of annexation. There was none of it to-day. At one time, too, there was a strong feeling in favor of commercial union. "Where will you find it to-day?" he asked.

"Nowhere," responded a voice from the opposition. And another added, indicating Sir Richard Cartwright, "That's hot shot from your own side; isn't it?"

The talk of independence, said Mr. Bell in conclusion, was also a thing of the past. Canadians were today all in favor of imperial connection, proud of being Canadians, but proud also of belonging to the greatest empire the world has ever known.

THE SECOND.

Mr. Martineau, the new member for Montserrat, seconded the address speaking in French. He confined himself to the subjects dealt upon in the speech from the throne and gave the government all credit for the prosperity of the country.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER.

Sir Charles Tupper arose at 4.30 to reply, amidst the enthusiastic cheers of the opposition. After alluding in complimentary terms to the speeches of the mover and the seconder, he said he had listened with special satisfaction to Mr. Bell's declaration that Canada occupies a position independent of the United States. It was a sentiment which the opposition, at all events heartily endorsed. He regarded with satisfaction also the statement that the proposition of the United States in regard to the Alaska boundary was a dishonorable one, for it was one that no man of either party would regard as other than an invasion of those principles of international law and justice that every country has a right to expect from another.

"In their proposition," said Sir Charles, "that they would only consent to arbitration if the representatives of His Majesty's government would agree that what ever the finding was the United States should remain in possession of what the arbitration might find belonged to Canada, the United States took an attitude which no British subject, on this side of the Atlantic or on the other, with a single spark of independence in him, would submit to. And in that, I trust the right hon. gentleman has behind him the hearty and unanimous support of every member of the house." (Hear, hear.)

MR. SUTTON'S SPEECH.

Not long since, Sir Charles continued, Mr. Sutton made a speech in which he said the tariff was now a dead issue, and if the Conservatives should get in power it was one they wouldn't change much. And why should they? Sir Charles asked. Was it not their own tariff that instead was the opinion expressed by an eminent Liberal in Winnipeg at a meeting called to discuss Mr. Sutton's statement. But the editor of the Winnipeg Tribune, the member of L'Espresso, was not easily satisfied. Mr. Richardson wanted to know if any Liberal could say that the reduction of a cent a gallon on the coal oil duty, of twelve and a half per cent. on binder twine, and also making barbed wire free, giving a 12 1-2 per cent. preference to British goods, was carrying out the Liberal pledge to reduce the tariff on free trade as they had it in England? Sir Charles would leave it to hon. gentlemen opposite to answer their followers. It might be as the first named Winnipeg Liberal said, the government having been alarmed at the free trade utterance of Mr. Fielding and Mr. Sutton to counteract it.

WASHINGTON COMMISSION.

Dealing with the Anglo-American rapprochement, Sir Charles said that after England's action towards the United States in the recent Spanish war, it was impossible the Americans should not have felt grateful to Great Britain. For himself he had believed there never was a more opportune time for a conference to settle the differences between Canada and the United States, and when he learned the conference was about to assume of his attendance he intended a political tour in Quebec last in any way it might embarrass the position of the government. It was the traditional policy of the Conservative party to put the country before party. Hear hear. Now, however, the objection to refrain from criticism no longer existed.

THE SENATE.

In the senate the address was moved by Hon. Mr. Kerr, the new senator from Cobourg, who, at the outset expressed his gratitude to the government for appointing him; and alluded to his life-long attachment to Sir Wilfrid Laurier. On the whole Mr. Kerr seemed glad to be there.

Proceeding to deal with the speech Senator Kerr extended a hearty welcome to the new Governor-General and Lady Kate who were no strangers to Canada. He also had a kindly word to say of Lord and Lady Aberdeen.

He had heard the redistribution bill referred to in the speech, called a gerrymander. He objected to the term as un-Canadian. He was sure the government had no intention of introducing a gerrymander. At any rate, he himself was not prepared to support any such measure.

THE OPPOSITION LEADER.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell was glad to note the reference in the remarks of the mover to the question of the General. Lord Minto, he said, had come to Canada years ago as a soldier when he risked his life in the performance of his duties as a soldier. This fact, he thought, entitled him to the respect and affection of all Canadians. (Cheers.) Sir Mackenzie admitted all that had been said about the prosperity of the country, but said that the conditions referred to by them over of the address as forwarded by the Conservatives before the present government came into office, would have been realized had the government carried out the pledges it made to the electors.

WASHINGTON NEGOTIATIONS.

Toussing upon the negotiations at Washington he blamed the government and especially the premier, for the attitude taken by the American commissioners on the question of the Alaska boundary. The utterances of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the house last session when he said that the United States would take good care to hold on to the towns of Icy and Skagway, were calculated to induce the Americans to take the position they did take. And yet when Sir Charles Tupper had appointed out to the premier the effect his words would have on future negotiations and asked him to withdraw them, Sir Wilfrid had refused.

A MOTORMAN'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of the late Mr. Halshire Lauson, a well-known employee of the Ottawa Electric Railway company, took place Sunday afternoon from his late residence, 90 Sherwood street, to Nora Dame cemetery. The funeral was under the direction of the Rev. Canon of Peterborough. Mr. Lauson's death occurred at the age of 37, after a year's illness from inflammation of the brain, which developed into consumption. Deceased, who had been a resident of Ottawa for 32 years, was employed as motorman on the electric railway, previous to which he worked for Mr. J. Landreville. He leaves a wife and three children. His father and two brothers reside in Hull.

CARS CRASHED IN COLLISION.

The electric cars were delayed for half an hour yesterday morning on Sparks street, owing to a collision. Riders street car No. 366, in charge of Mr. O'Neill, was just leaving the corner of Sparks and streets when the mail car was run out from the post office alley. O'Neill applied the brakes on his car at once; but owing to the icy condition of the track they did not take effect and the collision resulted. The drivers of both cars were badly smashed and several windows broken.

THE GRAND TRUNK SYSTEM

Has Been Greatly Improved the Past Year. Report to the Public.

Montreal, March 21.—Few people realize the amount of reconstruction that has taken place along the Grand Trunk system, during the past year, under the able supervision of Mr. F. H. McGuire, general superintendent. No less than 255 miles of steel rails of the standard 60 lbs. were laid on the Grand Trunk during 1898, and most of these were placed on the main line to Ontario and Quebec. The 60-lb. rails just referred to replaced others from 55 to 70 lbs. and 240 miles of the latter were replaced on lines carrying lighter traffic, so it will be seen that almost 500 miles of Grand Trunk have been greatly strengthened and improved during last year. There were also a fraction over 66 miles of new sidetrack, 51 of these being at stations, etc., and 12 for the use of manufacturing establishments in different parts of the country.

Another important feature was the great number of new bridges placed in position during the year. No less than 85 light iron, steel and wooden bridges were replaced by new steel bridges of the very best modern description, their total length being 21,238 feet, or 168 feet per four miles.

The number of running feet included in this wonderful achievement inclusive of trestles, the 25 spans, equal to 6592 feet of the new Victoria, but it does not include the Niagara bridge, which was completed in 1897. The record of the year also shows that 35 wooden bridges and trestles, possessing a total length of 2061 feet, as well as 10 wooden overhead wagon wagon bridges, the whole being 1198 feet long, were completely rebuilt, most of these being on the branch lines.

The Grand Trunk laid during 1898 no less than 1,750,000 cross-ties, being an increase of half a million over 1897, this being explained by the management's desire to strengthen the main lines by all possible means, and properly prepare them for the very much heavier locomotive and traffic which they will have to support in the near future.

For instance, the ties on parts of the main line have been laid at the rate of 3000 a mile, where 2550 used to suffice. As much as 312 miles of blasting—262 in gravel and 50 in cinders—have to be placed to the credit of the Grand Trunk for 1898, while 61 wooden, stone and pipe culverts were also renewed in stone during the year. Sixteen stations, eight freight sheds, two coal chutes and twelve motive power buildings were erected, while sixty stations, nine freight sheds and nine motive power structures were remodelled, painted and repaired. Eleven of the new stations were built in Ontario and Quebec, one in Maine and five in the State of Michigan.

The above is sufficient to show what has been done in 1898, and it is understood that still greater things will be attempted in 1899.

MORE BODIES

A Hundred Men at Work on the Eastern Slopes of Water Playing Recently.

New York, March 21.—Workmen digging in the ruins of the Hotel Windsor came upon a human body early to-day, near where the ladies' entrance on the 46th street side of the hotel had been. The remains were those of a woman. The head all but the lower jaw had been consumed. The body was very badly mangled. A molar on the right side of the face and another on the left side had been filled with gold. This makes fourteen bodies which have been identified. Of the 22 names on the register of the hotel only 23 are not accounted for.

A hundred men worked all night on the ruins. In many places the debris was too hot to remove, and streams of water were played on them incessantly. A number of pieces of bodies were found during the night being charred and broken and separated from one another, some with pieces of burned flesh on them. Early this morning the workmen digging on the 46th avenue side near the entrance where the first traces of bodies were found came upon a piece of pelvis weighing about two pounds. Later a workman found what seemed to be the kneecap of a child, with pieces of the joining bones. It was dug up on the 46th street side. A pile of damaged clothing was found here. In trying to separate the pieces the workmen found inside the clothing what was believed to be mangled, burned and crushed flesh and bones. The whole mass was put in coffins and taken to the morgue. There was brought to light during the night a great assortment of trinkets, coins, silk handkerchiefs, umbrella handles, cuff buttons, stick-pins, etc.

Part of the trunk of another body found on the 46th avenue side of the ruins at 10.15 o'clock. Beside it was a thigh bone and another bone that could not be classified.

Send five cents to Ripans Chemical Co., 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50, 52, 54, 56, 58, 60, 62, 64, 66, 68, 70, 72, 74, 76, 78, 80, 82, 84, 86, 88, 90, 92, 94, 96, 98, 100, 102, 104, 106, 108, 110, 112, 114, 116, 118, 120, 122, 124, 126, 128, 130, 132, 134, 136, 138, 140, 142, 144, 146, 148, 150, 152, 154, 156, 158, 160, 162, 164, 166, 168, 170, 172, 174, 176, 178, 180, 182, 184, 186, 188, 190, 192, 194, 196, 198, 200, 202, 204, 206, 208, 210, 212, 214, 216, 218, 220, 222, 224, 226, 228, 230, 232, 234, 236, 238, 240, 242, 244, 246, 248, 250, 252, 254, 256, 258, 260, 262, 264, 266, 268, 270, 272, 274, 276, 278, 280, 282, 284, 286, 288, 290, 292, 294, 296, 298, 300, 302, 304, 306, 308, 310, 312, 314, 316, 318, 320, 322, 324, 326, 328, 330, 332, 334, 336, 338, 340, 342, 344, 346, 348, 350, 352, 354, 356, 358, 360, 362, 364, 366, 368, 370, 372, 374, 376, 378, 380, 382, 384, 386, 388, 390, 392, 394, 396, 398, 400, 402, 404, 406, 408, 410, 412, 414, 416, 418, 420, 422, 424, 426, 428, 430, 432, 434, 436, 438, 440, 442, 444, 446, 448, 450, 452, 454, 456, 458, 460, 462, 464, 466, 468, 470, 472, 474, 476, 478, 480, 482, 484, 486, 488, 490, 492, 494, 496, 498, 500, 502, 504, 506, 508, 510, 512, 514, 516, 518, 520, 522, 524, 526, 528, 530, 532, 534, 536, 538, 540, 542, 544, 546, 548, 550, 552, 554, 556, 558, 560, 562, 564, 566, 568, 570, 572, 574, 576, 578, 580, 582, 584, 586, 588, 590, 592, 594, 596, 598, 600, 602, 604, 606, 608, 610, 612, 614, 616, 618, 620, 622, 624, 626, 628, 630, 632, 634, 636, 638, 640, 642, 644, 646, 648, 650, 652, 654, 656, 658, 660, 662, 664, 666, 668, 670, 672, 674, 676, 678, 680, 682, 684, 686, 688, 690, 692, 694, 696, 698, 700, 702, 704, 706, 708, 710, 712, 714, 716, 718, 720, 722, 724, 726, 728, 730, 732, 734, 736, 738, 740, 742, 744, 746, 748, 750, 752, 754, 756, 758, 760, 762, 764, 766, 768, 770, 772, 774, 776, 778, 780, 782, 784, 786, 788, 790, 792, 794, 796, 798, 800, 802, 804, 806, 808, 810, 812, 814, 816, 818, 820, 822, 824, 826, 828, 830, 832, 834, 836, 838, 840, 842, 844, 846, 848, 850, 852, 854, 856, 858, 860, 862, 864, 866, 868, 870, 872, 874, 876, 878, 880, 882, 884, 886, 888, 890, 892, 894, 896, 898, 900, 902, 904, 906, 908, 910, 912, 914, 916, 918, 920, 922, 924, 926, 928, 930, 932, 934, 936, 938, 940, 942, 944, 946, 948, 950, 952, 954, 956, 958, 960, 962, 964, 966, 968, 970, 972, 974, 976, 978, 980, 982, 984, 986, 988, 990, 992, 994, 996, 998, 1000, 1002, 1004, 1006, 1008, 1010, 1012, 1014, 1016, 1018, 1020, 1022, 1024, 1026, 1028, 1030, 1032, 1034, 1036, 1038, 1040, 1042, 1044, 1046, 1048, 1050, 1052, 1054, 1056, 1058, 1060, 1062, 1064, 1066, 1068, 1070, 1072, 1074, 1076, 1078, 1080, 1082, 1084, 1086, 1088, 1090, 1092, 1094, 1096, 1098, 1100, 1102, 1104, 1106, 1108, 1110, 1112, 1114, 1116, 1118, 1120, 1122, 1124, 1126, 1128, 1130, 1132, 1134, 1136, 1138, 1140, 1142, 1144, 1146, 1148, 1150, 1152, 1154, 1156, 1158, 1160, 1162, 1164, 1166, 1168, 1170, 1172, 1174, 1176, 1178, 1180, 1182, 1184, 1186, 1188, 1190, 1192, 1194, 1196, 1198, 1200, 1202, 1204, 1206, 1208, 1210, 1212, 1214, 1216, 1218, 1220, 1222, 1224, 1226, 1228, 1230, 1232, 1234, 1236, 1238, 1240, 1242, 1244, 1246, 1248, 1250, 1252, 1254, 1256, 1258, 1260, 1262, 1264, 1266, 1268, 1270, 1272, 1274, 1276, 1278, 1280, 1282, 1284, 1286, 1288, 1290, 1292, 1294, 1296, 1298, 1300, 1302, 1304, 1306, 1308, 1310, 1312, 1314, 1316, 1318, 1320, 1322, 1324, 1326, 1328, 1330, 1332, 1334, 1336, 1338, 1340, 1342, 1344, 1346, 1348, 1350, 1352, 1354, 1356, 1358, 1360, 1362, 1364, 1366, 1368, 1370, 1372, 1374, 1376, 1378, 1380, 1382, 1384, 1386, 1388, 1390, 1392, 1394, 1396, 1398, 1400, 1402, 1404, 1406, 1408, 1410, 1412, 1414, 1416, 1418, 1420, 1422, 1424, 1426, 1428, 1430, 1432, 1434, 1436, 1438, 1440, 1442, 1444, 1446, 1448, 1450, 1452, 1454, 1456, 1458, 1460, 1462, 1464, 1466, 1468, 1470, 1472, 1474, 1476, 1478, 1480, 1482, 1484, 1486, 1488, 1490, 1492, 1494, 1496

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 28, 1899

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

A Man Wanted.
We want a man, with good address, to work on salary. Apply at the Times office.

County Map.
Only a few copies of the new map of the County of Peterborough left, and will be sold cheap. Handily mounted on rollers for wall, 2; paper, 50c.

Shantymen's Return.
Shantymen returning from the north, say there is still but very little snow and four feet of snow in the woods. The water in the lakes and rivers promises to be unusually high this spring.

Big Law Suit.
The Times has been informed that a big law suit is likely to result in connection with the sale of the effects of the Grand Central. The rumor is current that Adams & Burns, Toronto, regard the action of the Toronto as irregular, and will ask $50,000 damages.

A Cold Bath.
Yesterday afternoon a citizen who undertook to make a short cut to Ashburnham over the Little Lake, walked into a hole in the ice, where ice harvester had been working. He might have perished but for the timely assistance which arrived to answer his cries for help.

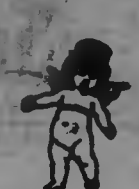

A New Boat.
The Peterborough Canoe Company has received an order for a steam yacht 42 feet long by 8 feet beam. The boat will be propelled by a twelve horse power steam engine. It is intended to run in connection with a water line in the mining districts of British Columbia.

No More Saloons.
After the first of May there will be no more licensed saloons in Ontario. Every drinking place must have accommodations for a certain number of travellers; in other words only hotels will be granted licenses to sell in small quantities, to be consumed on the premises.

Lost Snow Plow.
Lindsay is having a time over her snow ploughing, and the Post in referring to the matter, speaks of the men as being lazy, and calls on the council to "hit" on them. As Peterborough has done so far as Peterborough is concerned, the mistake is that the Council has not given Mr. Ranney, the Street Inspector, authority to suspend and even dismiss them for neglect of duty. Had the council done this at the outset there would have been no trouble. What is the use of a "town" if it has no authority to dismiss, and is not made responsible?

Dead at Niagara Falls.
Mr. Wm. Macfarlane, who is employed by the Peter Hamilton Company, received the sad tidings yesterday of the death of his brother, Wellington, at Niagara Falls. The deceased, who was only about twenty years of age, is well-known in Peterborough, where he was born and brought up. He left Peterborough last September to accept a position at Niagara Falls. He had been employed by the Peterborough Canoe Co. for some months, before he went west. Mrs. Macfarlane, who lost a daughter in July last, has the sympathy of her many friends in Peterborough.

Miss Bolton's death which took place on the 16th, was very sudden. She had for some time been complaining of ill health, but it was not considered serious. On Thursday last she went to the bath room for the purpose of taking a bath and died on the floor, where she had evidently had sunk down when the fatal attack came on. THE LINDSAY CURRIER.

Rev. Mr. March in his sermon to the Lindsay curriers; this refers to them— "He was pleased indeed to welcome to his church, the members of the Lindsay Currier Club, whose presence was not alone known throughout Ontario, but from the Atlantic to the Pacific—indeed, all that many people at a distance know about Lindsay is that it is the home of famous curriers of whom they hear much. He felt honored in having been elected chaplain of the Club for a second term. He knew the members and could say that they endeavored not merely to win, but to develop strong, robust men, imbued with a love for honest, manly competition men who could take soundly and bravely defeat heroically. Exercise develops and builds up the young men, and refreshes and invigorates the seniors. Thus inuring their bodies to withstand disease and the weaknesses incident to increasing years, exercises its good for the individual, for the community, and the nation, as thereby the men of the nation are better fitted to protect their quality in the time of need. Better still, exercise develops the mind as well as the body, and by that means gives man a more complete education."

Spring tiredness is due to an impoverished condition of the blood and is cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, which enriches the blood.

FIERCE FIGHT WITH TOURAREGES

WANDERING ARABS ATTACK A FRENCH EXPEDITION.

One Hundred Men Killed—European Officer Killed—Losses and Loss Part of Their Goods.

Algiers, March 22.—La Telegramme Algerian announces that a number of Arabs arrived at Ghardeia yesterday, and that they were raiding the country. Ghardeia is situated about 300 miles south of Algiers, in the Sahara. It is further announced that a party of Touraregs recently attacked an European expedition which was on its way to air in the Sahara, and that after a fierce fight the Touraregs were beaten off, but the expedition lost one hundred men killed and part of its caravan was captured. The paper mentioned adds that the expedition must be Fourou-Lany mission, which is said to be the only European expedition at the present moment in the Sahara. When last heard from it had arrived at the town of Assouf. It is said, in conclusion, there are certain other grave indications tending to confirm the news.

A UNITED DEMAND.

Peking, March 22.—The British, German and American Ministers at Peking have addressed notes to the Tung-Li-Yamen demanding a settlement of the Shanghai foreign settlement extension question, the French minister, M. Pichon, agreeing to withdraw the protest of the French Consul against the extensions on the condition that the proposed extensions do not include that portion of the land forming the immediate hinterland of the present French concession.

LINCOLN SPRING MEETING.

London, March 22.—The Brockley stakes, at the third day's racing of the Lincoln spring meeting, to-day were won by Hukot. Styria, with Sloan up, was second, and Crowther was third. Fourteen horses ran. The betting was 9 to 4 against Styria. The Doddington stakes were won by Mr. E. Curzon's 6-year-old chestnut colt Flaxus, Mr. Warton's Johnny Sands was second, and Sir R. Walde Griffiths' 6-year-old bay horse Eileen Aigra, ridden by Ted Sloan and the favorite was third in a field of five.

TWO CONFLICTING THEORIES.

Paris, March 22.—According to an official statement regarding the explosion last evening in a laboratory attached to the War Department, it occurred in the course of experiments mixing gases intended to light railway cars. Another account says it was due to experiments made for the ascertaining the cause of the Toulouse and Bourges explosions by mixing different kinds of powder, and that it shows that the Toulouse catastrophe was the result of carelessness. Seven persons were injured, three of them seriously, by last night's explosion.

ADDRESS TO THE FILIPINOS.

Manila, March 22.—The address to the natives of the Philippine Islands, drafted by the American Commission in behalf of the United States Government, and embodying the views of the President, has been made public. The salient points are these: "It assures the population of powers of self-government. It explains that the U.S. has assumed international obligations which make it responsible to the whole civilized world for stable government. The Commission is to suggest the establishment of such an government as shall suit the Filipinos and be consistent with United States interests. The President's wish is to establish a government such as will render the natives capable of administering their foreign affairs under American control. The protection of the United States is not to be exercised in the spirit of tyranny or vengeance. The United States is bound to restore peace. All insurgents are invited to lay down their arms and place their trust in the Government that emancipated them. The majority of the Commission incline toward giving the Filipinos a sort of tribal or provincial local autonomy under a central American Government, which will be military until a purely civil system is proved to be feasible. It is hoped that the greater number of intelligent natives will desert the insurgent cause after the next defeat of their arms.

A SCARE AT NEGROES.

Upward of 30 Spanish refugee planters have arrived at Holio, and state that a native tribe, twenty thousand strong, living on the Montecos river twenty miles south of Braolad, threaten to destroy the Haciendas and crops. ANOTHER FATAL FIRE

Two Women Lost Their Lives and 30 Others are Seriously Injured.

Omaha, Neb., March 22.—Comparatively insignificant in material destruction, but appalling in its harvest of death and suffering was a fire that partially destroyed the Patterson block at Seventeenth and Douglas streets this afternoon. Two of its victims have passed away, one more is not expected to live and about twenty-five others are suffering from broken limbs and burned flesh.

The fire originated from a gasoline stove explosion in a room in the rear of the third floor of the building and next to the elevator shaft. It was not discovered until it had spread to the adjoining apartments and the entire floor was filled with smoke and flames. About twenty members of the women's lodge of Maccopees were attending a committee meeting in the front waiting room on the same floor. They were unconscious of danger until a janitor threw open the door and told them to get out before the flames cut them off. The warning came too late. The fire swept through the door and down the single stairway. Those nearest the door fled through the blinding smoke and reached the street with hands and faces burned and blistered. The rest faced a solid wall of flame. There was fire escape at the south front of the building, but none of them thought of it. They rushed panic-stricken to the windows through which the smoke was already pouring. The fire scarcely a foot behind them, caught their clothing and scorched their faces. In another instant, the spectators attracted by the clouds of smoke were horror-stricken to see one after another spring from the open window and fall heavily to the pavement. Not one arose. They were quickly carried into the office of a physician across the street. Most of them were bleeding from severe cuts and bruises and all were burned till their skin hung in shreds. As fast as dressings could be applied the victims were taken to the Oakhurst hospital. Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Schammel died without recovering consciousness.

Aside from the fatalities and the injuries to persons, the fire was not a serious one. The loss will not exceed $50,000, half of which was on the building.

While a freight on the C.P.R., in charge of Conductor Williams, was hastening towards Peterborough, running 30 miles an hour, the engineer noticed far ahead a large dog jumping about and acting very peculiarly. The dog's actions were so singular that the engineer shut off steam, bringing his train under control, and as he secured the point the dog stood and barked at the train, and then with a yelp started for a farmer's home some distance away. The engineer then noticed something red between the rails and he reversed and brought his train to an abrupt stop within ten feet of a pretty flax-haired boy dressed in a red frock, possibly two years old. Conductor Williams, who had made his way to the front, jumped off and seized the child in his arms. The youngster laughing and crowing and patting the kindhearted face in glee as he strode off the track. Meanwhile toward the train came a woman running from the farmer's house as if distracted. It proved to be the child's mother, whose attention had been attracted by the yelping and howling of the dog and she rushed toward the track, fearful that the little one had been killed. The family could not understand how the child had strayed so far so quickly.

They will be used to carry Western Grain—Train cancelled—Wiggins on the Storm—Lawler's Reply

Ottawa, March 22.—The speech of Sir Charles Tupper, leader of the Opposition, and the reply thereto by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Premier, were the absorbing subject in the city to-day. Sir Wilfrid is adversely criticized by many for his personal attack on Sir Charles. Mr. Foster's speech, following the Premier, was a masterly effort.

HAD HIS ARM CUT OFF.

P. J. Sullivan, a young man employed in Farrell's mill at Lorne, had his arm cut off by a saw yesterday. Sullivan was not accustomed to the machine which he was running, and in some way came in contact with the saw. Dr. Prichard of Wakefield, attended to the injured man.

WIGGINS ON THE STORM.

Prof. Wiggins doesn't think the blizzard of the past few days much of a storm. It is a mere circumstance have been worse ones, he says even in the middle of April. "The present one has been coming," he remarked, "for fully a week. It gathered first in the Black Sea and has been travelling westward ever since and is now on its way to the Gulf of Mexico. It has been coming on like an immense cart wheel—it is a cyclone; one generally forms when the sun crosses the celestial equator. We are led to expect the equinoctial storm, but when I predict them people laugh, and say that the heavenly bodies cannot create them."

WILL BANQUET HIM.

Mr. N. A. Belcourt, M.P., is to be banqueted by the Liberals of Ottawa at the Russell House at a convenient date in the near future. This was decided upon at a meeting of representatives of the several Liberal clubs of the city, held in Mr. E. Stewart's office Monday evening.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the other members of the cabinet will be invited guests.

HIS CONDITION SERIOUS.

Mr. Freppier, the survivor of the Rockland fatality, is more seriously injured than was at first supposed. The lower part of the body is badly bruised and his condition is not very encouraging. Dr. Ferguson of Rockland will open an inquest at nine o'clock to-day.

There were three others in the burner or just entering when the crash came. Of these J. Levesque and Archie Beaton were slightly bruised about the feet, but Alex. Laviolette escaped unharmed.

THE NEW LOCOMOTIVES.

One thousand freight cars of large capacity will be built in Ottawa this year, necessitating the employment of a very large staff of skilled workmen. The cars will be manufactured in the new shops now in course of erection by the Booth system of railways and the company has placed orders for an immense stock of iron, steel, car wheels and seasoned lumber to be used for the above purpose. Work is being rushed on the car and machine shops and if the present plans are carried out, operations will be commenced on the first of May.

The snow shops will be lighted, heated and run altogether by electricity thus doing away with the dust and smoke, which usually is a disagreeable feature of such concerns, especially to residents of the locality. The company has just placed an order for ten more new engines for freight purposes. Speaking to a Ottawa reporter, a prominent official of the road stated this morning that phenomenal from the opening to the close of navigation. It is expected that 15,000,000 bushels of grain will pass through Ottawa during the season. Active preparations are now being made at Detroit Harbor for the opening of navigation early next month.

TRAIN WAS CANCELLED.

The Gettysburg Valley train which leaves the city at 4:30 was cancelled Monday night owing to the severity of the storm. Early Monday morning a snow plow went over the line but found impossible to make any progress. The management therefore deemed it advisable to cancel the train. The plow returned to the city yesterday morning and the road is now clear.

The C.P.R. have come out with flying colors during the recent big storm. Superintendent H. B. Spencer states that the storm was by far the worst they have had to contend with this winter. All passenger trains were run with double headers, and extra crews with snow ploughs were at work day and night. On the company's new line the drifts were immense but the ploughs did their work well and all trains ran on schedule time.

A BIG GRAIN ELEVATOR.

Quebec, March 22.—Mr. J. A. Macdonald, of Chicago, has left the city after having been here a couple of days on business with the directors of the Great Northern Railway in connection with the proposed grain elevator to serve the Port of Quebec. The elevator will be a very large one—1,000,000 bushels capacity—and it is intended to be built on the site given by the harbor commissioners between the Custom House and the Point A. Quay wharf. This site is so favorably situated that the elevator will be able to load and discharge the largest tonnage.

SESSIONAL NOTES.

Mr. G. L. Foster, acting warden of Kingston penitentiary, is in the city staying at the Windsor. The speakers in the address debate in the senate yesterday were Hon. David Mills, and Hon. Mr. Ferguson, and Hon. Senator Beaton.

Both party conferences have been postponed until Thursday on account of the Dominion alliance meeting this morning.

According to the trade and navigation returns the amount of customs duty collected in 1897 equalled $2.6 per head of the population. In 1898 it rose to $4.32 per head, the highest point it has reached since the tariff revision of 1893.

Going Home to Mr.
There passed through Peterborough on Wednesday last on the O. P. R., an aged Swedish couple en route for their native land, after a sojourn of upwards of thirty years in Minnesota. Both were considerable over eighty years of age, and their one desire seemed to be to reach as quickly as possible the land where their childhood days were passed, and where they hope to spend the evening of their lives. They have several sons in Minnesota, all of whom own large and well cultivated farms. The couple attracted considerable attention in the train. They are accompanied by one of their granddaughters, who is looking after their welfare.

A Growing Industry.
The Peterborough Canoe Company is a growing industry and under the management of Colonel Rogers, the concern has become an important factor in building up the town. The manufacture of canoes and boats of every description is the chief business of the Company, but there is a season when boat-building is not necessary, and Col. Rogers, in order to keep his men fully employed the year round, began the manufacture of furniture, and entered into a regular planing mill business. With modern machinery plenty of room, and the best of workmen, the business is rapidly growing. The Company has piles of orders ahead, and more coming in every day. As mentioned in our issue of yesterday, as order for the building of a steamer was received this week from British Columbia.

How it happened.
As an evidence of the truth of the statement that "everybody knows the Times," we will mention a little circumstance that occurred on Wednesday last. In our issue of that day a list of those who were to apply for hotel licenses appeared in these columns, but through an error the name of Mr. Joseph Armstrong, of the Bowdys was omitted. Mr. Armstrong went to Omeenee on the early train, and the first thing he heard when he arrived, was that he was not to get a license. On his return he was beset by inquiries as to why his name was not amongst those who were seeking a license. Over twenty persons, who were more or less interested, called at the Times office to ask about it, and the great family journal, which everybody reads, and in justice to Mr. Armstrong, and in order to keep that gentleman from premature demise, is obliged to explain the mistake.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

An Admirer of the Work Shows What it Might do.

"One of the natural trade routes between the Georgian Bay and the St. Lawrence is the Trent Valley Canal." This was the statement made by Mr. Richard Porter of Toronto, to the Ottawa Press this morning. "When opened for traffic, barges can be loaded at the Georgian Bay and proceed through to Montreal without transfer. During the past season grain has been carried from Chicago and Duluth to Parry Sound for from 75c to 90c per 100 bushels, or about $9 per 1000 bushels, and be carried by the Trent Valley Canal when completed for one-half cent per bushel to Montreal, delivering grain in Montreal from Chicago, for 2 3/4c per bushel. Lumber can also be carried by this route from the Georgian Bay to Montreal, at $1 per thousand, and the forest products in proportion. The rates on lumber from Buffalo to New York, by canal is one dollar per thousand, for 500 miles. Canada if she expects to control the trade of the west, down the St. Lawrence must open up and complete the international transportation routes. The country has lost millions of dollars of traffic earnings, by reason of this canal not being completed forty years ago, when work was first commenced. During the year 1898 only about 9 per cent of the grain trade of the west passed down to Montreal, compared to the receipts at Buffalo. The receipts for that year were Montreal, twenty four million (including Ontario grain) and Buffalo, two hundred and fifteen million bushels. For 1898, the receipts at Buffalo, over 253 million bushels and Montreal about 40 million. From this it is quite safe to predict that within ten years the receipts at these points will exceed five hundred million bushels, of which the St. Lawrence route should control at least one half, instead of nine per cent, as in 1898. Central Ontario is clamoring for the completion of the work, which the present government will complete. For the past twenty years, governments have been spasmodically doing parts of the work which has been of little benefit to the country. With an estimated surplus in the treasury of four million, there is no reason why the work should not be completed."

Graphophone to Rent.
We keep a stock of graphophones to rent. They are just the thing for an evening's entertainment; where you have a number of friends at your house. These talking machines are the finest made. Only $2 for an evening.

Our Windows.

The proposed bill for the abolition of tax exemptions on church and educational institutions will be considered by the Municipal Bill Committee of the Legislature this morning at ten o'clock. Deputations of those opposed to the proposed legislation will be heard over eight o'clock, and the committee will meet on the ground floor of the west wing of the Parliament Buildings in the vicinity of the committee room, half an hour earlier. The Peterborough members, we hope, will record their votes against exemptions of every description.

No Small Black Bass.
The Game Department have taken action against a number of sportsmen who have been offering for sale very small black bass this winter. The Department want the small fish left alone. They are too small to sell the department says. All the dealers have been warned to cease buying the small fish and offering them for sale. Blacksmoke basses will be claimed as a sporting fish. This will mean that none of these fish may be taken by net. Very few small bass are offered for sale in Peterborough.

How it happened.
People have wondered why it was that so few citizens visited Canada during the past three or four winters. The reason is that the United States government exacted a return duty on the circus plant. This duty was so stiff that few shows could afford to leave the country and return again. It is a poor show that is not worth a couple of hundred thousand dollars. This would mean a duty of about $70,000 to be paid on re-entering the country. This duty has been entirely removed, so that the coming season will be profitable to the circusmen, and as Peterborough is a good show town, we are sure of our share.

Farmer's Sons and Mining Labor.
The Times is in receipt of a letter from Mr. Wm. O'Brien, the popular son, who are assessed as such, are liable for Statute Labor tax. Under the law, as it stands at present, farmers' sons are obliged to submit to the Statute Labor tax, notwithstanding that they may appear as joint owners with their fathers. Mr. Straton, however, who is ever on the alert to remedy anything that looks like evil, saw that there was room for amendment on this point, and accordingly introduced a bill, into the Legislature, which, we are pleased to say, has passed the committee, freeing farmers' sons from liability in regard to Statute Labor. The desirability of such an amendment to the Municipal Act was pointed out in the columns of this paper some time since, and we have no doubt that our clever representative in the Toronto house received his inspiration in this way.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES.

Happenings Around Town During the Past Twenty-four Hours.

Mr. R. S. Mills of Omeenee, is visiting with friends in town.

The water in the rivers and lakes promises to be very high this spring.

Rev. Arthur Gask of Gore's Landing, preached last night in All Saints' church.

The Bachelors of Omeenee intend to give a grand ball in the opera house there shortly after Easter.

A young man who was under arrest for disorderly conduct, was discharged by Police Magistrate Dumble yesterday morning.

The genial Mr. Tob Fitzgerald treated the children of the Harwood home to their annual sleigh drive on Tuesday afternoon.

A number of candidates belonging to the Oddfellows of Pontypool and Hawdock received the three degrees by the Peterboro Lodge, No. 111, degree team last night.

Owing to the evangelistic meetings being held in the Charlotte church, the choir practice last night took place at the residence of Mr. A. L. Davis.

Wheat is very scarce in town. On application to one of the town woodwards the Charity Board could not get a limited quantity of dry hardware.

The members of the Welland Bicycle Club have endorsed Mr. Stratton's bicycle bill, and requested Mr. Gorman, member for the county to support it.

A hen owned by Mr. Wm. Fleming, jr., of Ashburn, hatched a brood of chickens on the 18th. The early chicks to get the worm. (And is first to get the axe.)

Mr. Justice Street gave judgment regarding the release from custody of Peter Black, who was sentenced to be held for two months in default of $1000 sureties by Magistrate Dumble a few days ago.

At the annual meeting of the Presbyterian Home Mission committee at Toronto yesterday Messrs. J. H. Edmiston and J. H. Sharp were the students appointed for the mission fields of the Peterborough Presbytery for the coming summer.

The Ministerial Association of Stouffville has passed a resolution in opposition to the practice of taking corpses to the church, and have asked people to discontinue asking for this procedure, and also to refrain from funeral services on the day of the burial. This seems to us somewhat of an innovation.

Our P. W. Note.
Mr. Fox, M. P., tried to get a bill through the Ontario Legislature cutting the salaries paid to police magistrates in two. The Premier made a stand against it in committee, and the bill was accordingly thrown out.

The Spanish-American War.
The Sons of England engaged the vivacious for two entertainments, one of which took place in their hall last night, to a good audience. The audience were well pleased with the exhibition.

Single Tax Society.
Those interested in the movement for the purchase of the Water Works and Electric Light and Power by the Corporation should hear the Hon. J. S. Crosby in the Opera House, on March 28th. He will discuss the principles involved in the question of municipal ownership of public franchises.

A Case of Appendicitis.
Yesterday afternoon Freddie Clegg, a young lad of thirteen years of age, was taken to (Nichols) Hospital suffering from a 24 attack of appendicitis. It was thought as it was a first attack that an operation would not be necessary, but this morning he died. Dr. Belliday, who had charge of the case, thought it best to operate. The patient is now lying as well as can be expected.

Interment in Peterboro.
The funeral of the late Mrs. C. F. Thompson, formerly of Peterborough, took place to the Little Lake cemetery on the arrival of the noon train from the north yesterday. Rev. J. C. Davidson conducting the service. The deceased lady was a former resident of Quebec. She married Mr. C. F. Thompson and they lived for some years at Harwood and had numerous friends in Peterborough. The family has been living in the last year or so near Hallsborough, where the death took place.

Iron Moulders' Hall.
The editor of this great family journal is a recipient of an invitation to attend the ninth annual ball of the Iron Moulders' Association, and it is altogether probable that our readers will find themselves a little short of the brainy articles and French phrases in these columns until this event is over. We are forced to admit that our Presbyterian lag is not familiar with the twists and turns of the modern two-step, or is our knowledge of the basket outline and French phrases as perfect as it should be. This is due to the fact that in our youth, the editor of this paper, devoted his energies to preparing himself for the exalted position of conducting the brightest, brainiest and best newspaper in Eastern Ontario.

A Coming Event.
The excellent choir of the George Street Methodist Church have announced a concert, to take place in the church on the evening of April 4th. Three magnificent choruses will be given by the choir, assisted by local talent and strengthened by the full instruments of the Peterborough orchestra. Mr. G. Bruce Bradley, tenor, of Toronto, and Mrs. Chambers will each contribute vocal selections. The first is a favorite in Toronto musical circles, while the latter is so well known in Peterborough as to require no eulogy from us. The orchestra will consist of the following musicians: Miss Maude, Miss Fox, Miss Barclay, and Messrs. Butcher, Lusk, Miller, Sketch, Harvey, Adams, Westlake and Staples. Miss Grant, organist of St. Andrews' Church, will play the accompaniment. Mr. Grenville Kleiser, the well-known reader and improvisator, will add interest and variety to the programme. Mr. Kleiser has been particularly successful in this season's engagement, and comes better equipped than ever to delight an audience. Names of the date, April 4th. Admission, 25 cents.

ARBITRATION TO BE SUGGESTED

TO THE PEACE CONFERENCE BY THE AMERICANS.

Won't Hammer Invention. Neither by the United States nor in England Will This be Done.

New York, March 23.—There is reason to believe that an important proposition looking to the settlement of international disputes by arbitration will be advanced at the coming disarmament conference by the American delegates. Sir Julian Pauncefote has been advised of his appointment as senior member of the British delegation. The British Minister to The Hague will also be made a member. M. de Staal, the Russian Ambassador to Great Britain and leading representative of the Czar at the Conference will be assisted by Professor Martens, professor of international law in the University of St. Petersburg, and probably by the Russian Minister at The Hague.

Following the policy which it seems likely that all the nations will adopt the President will accredit the Minister to the Netherlands as one of the American delegates. Ambassador White and Tower will probably be the other members of the American delegation. It was explained by a diplomat having knowledge of the present program of the Russian Government that upon the assembling of the delegates a committee will be appointed to determine the subjects to come before the conference, and the order in which they shall be considered.

THE AMERICAN POSITION.
So far as the proposition for a general disarmament of the nations of the world is concerned, it will be the duty of the American delegates to explain and to show that the United States both from a moral and military standpoint is far below the armament it should have; and besides, it was explained to me that this Government does not intend to hamper in any way the inventive faculty of the people of this country. Nor is it expected that Great Britain will do so. In fact, most important result which the official aspect of the conference will be the adoption of some plan for the reference of disputes to general arbitration, and the United States will have a plan of this character, as well as other nations.

The administration is strongly in favor of arbitration as the means of settlement of disputes between nations and, while it appreciates that there are a number of controversies that can only be settled by war, it is still believed that many questions which arise and are causes of much friction can be arbitrated. The President is committed to international arbitration by his inaugural address, and by subsequent declarations, but his Administration has not attempted to negotiate arbitration treaties—for one reason, because of the imminence of war with Spain, and the occurrence of the conference at the House it is thought by the officials that the time has come when the Administration can put itself on record before the world as favoring arbitration.

LIVERPOOL SPRING CUP.
London, March 23.—At the Liverpool

spring meeting to-day the Liverpool Spring Cup was won by Lord William Somerset's Gladstone, with Sloan up. There was a dead heat between Lord Derby's Crestfallen and Mr. Fairlie's Chubb forward place, and they divided the stakes. Nine horses started.

The Union Jack Stakes were won by W. E. Oakley's chestnut colt Begladine, and whether information had reached the Foreign Office concerning collisions arising out of the dispute in reply, the Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, the Right Hon. William St. John Broderick, said proposals for a motus vivendi had been made to the United States Government and they were now under consideration. The Government, Mr. Broderick continued, had no news of a collision.

THE ALASKAN BOUNDARY.

London, March 23.—In the House of Commons to-day Mr. James Francis Hogan, anti-Parnellite, asked whether a motus vivendi had been arrived at in the matter of the Alaskan boundary, and whether information had reached the Foreign Office concerning collisions arising out of the dispute in reply, the Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, the Right Hon. William St. John Broderick, said proposals for a motus vivendi had been made to the United States Government and they were now under consideration. The Government, Mr. Broderick continued, had no news of a collision.

THE BIRTH RATE.

A French-Canadian Paper Discusses the Subject.

Montreal, March 23.—The Ontario birth rate, which formed the subject of an interesting debate of the last Provincial Anglican Synod, gives The Minerva an opportunity for making a eulogy of the French-Canadian mother. It points out that a classification of births in this year's report by counties has confirmed what was said in the Synod last year, namely, that in all those places where population is composed for the most part of French-Canadians or Europeans the birth rate is larger than elsewhere, although the number of marriages is, in some instances smaller. Where, on the other hand, the population, more condensed, is specially of Anglo-Saxon origin, the number of births decreases. The director of the Ontario statistics does not fear to attribute the decrease of births to a decrease in public morals. The Minerva then adds—

"It is known that the neighboring Province is already largely populated with French-Canadians. Were it not for our compatriots, who maintain the Ontario birth rate to somewhat the same level as that of France, that rate would come down to the level and perhaps below the level of Vermont, Maine and New Hampshire. If these conditions do not change, it is certain that gradually the Province of Ontario will be populated with our compatriots, and the moralizing may, perhaps, take place in the neighboring States. The solution of the problem is quite simple. To increase the birth rate, the levels of morals must be raised. Now, true morality is based on the true religion; it is no use to run a wild goose chase. What contributes most efficiently to maintain a birth rate among us is the confessional. Naturally our neighbors will seek every kind of remedy except this one. They will not exceed. The experiment has been made. So far as we are concerned, let us not forget that if we count for something in this land of America we owe it much less to our great-grandfathers than to the French-Canadian mother of the family."

ly, that valiant creature of God, who accepts with courage all the responsibilities of married life, and makes it a glory to raise a large family, thus giving odd children to the church and good citizens of the State. It was the Catholic French-Canadian mother of the family that made of us a people, and who, with time and the help of God, will perhaps make us a nation."

WHO WILL CONTEST HON. MR. WOOD'S SEAT?

POLITICIANS SPOKEN OF AS LIKELY TO RUN.

Monteith Gets His Seat at Last—The Violent Partisan who Barred Him Out at Last Gives Way.

Brookville, March 23.—Politicians are already discussing the prospects for the seat in the Dominion House of Commons made vacant by the death of Hon. John F. Wood.

The Ontario constituency of Brookville is said to have been gerrymandered for the late Hon. C. F. Fraser. The Reform township of Yonge and Ewerot were added to the city proper and the township of Kitley, a Conservative stronghold, was over to Leeds county, which was also of that political stripe. The Dominion constituency consists of Brookville proper and Kitley and Elizabethtown townships. The vote at general elections of 1896 was as follows:—Hon. J. F. Wood (Conservative), 1,781; James Cummins (Liberal), 1,549; Wm. J. Cluff (P.P.A.), 148.

THOSE AVAILABLE.

The Conservatives have a number of prominent men who are available for a contest. The three most talked about are John Calbert who was defeated at the Ontario elections last year; Dr. Moore, a popular physician of Brookville, and R. J. Jelly, ex-warden of Leeds county, who contested the Ontario seat unsuccessfully some years ago against the present Sheriff Dunn. The Liberals are planning their faith on Geo. P. Graham, M.P.P. It is proposed that he resign his seat. In view of the difference in political complexion of the constituencies Mr. Graham will have a much more difficult task he had in his Provincial campaign.

MONTEITH GIVEN HIS SEAT.

Nelson Monteith, M.P.P. for South Perth, will be introduced into the Legislature this afternoon, and given his seat on the Opposition side of the House. The returning officer, who is described by the Conservatives as a violent Liberal partisan, and whose conduct was the subject of an inquiry in the House yesterday, has at last realized his sense of duty and has made the declarations necessary for Mr. Monteith's appearance in the Assembly.

WEST ELGIN INSPECTION.

The West Elgin election inspection of ballots, which was to have taken place to-day at Osgoode Hall, will not commence until 10.30 o'clock to-morrow morning, the lawyers so being ready to go on. The inspection will be practically a recount, as this will be the first time the ballots have been handled since the deputy-returning officer sealed them in envelopes. The Conservatives charge that all the deputies named did not officiate, their places being taken by strangers, who stuffed the ballot boxes. A searching examination will be made. Court of Appeal Registrar Cartwright will preside over the deliberations of the lawyers. The inspection is expected to last all day.

Valuable Heirloom.

The most valuable handkerchief in all the European courts belongs to Queen Margherita of Italy, and it is at the same time the most costly, being valued at $50,000. In making this marvel three artists worked constantly for more than twenty years. It is so fine that were the eyes closed and the handkerchief passed across and a person of the most acute sensibility to feel anything. The Queen keeps it religiously in a tiny jewel case of gold in the form and just the size of an ordinary bean pod. The Queen of England owns a which almost equals this. It was a wedding gift from India, and is so fine and light that the whole dress can be placed in a small fan box. On this fine person worked 10 years. The Queen's collection of lace is worth $375,000, and that of the Princess of Wales is not far behind, as it is now valued at $250,000. Her stock in the business increased by the legacy of her mother, the late Queen of Denmark. Though ex-Empress Eugenie lost many pieces of great value on her flight from the Tuileries, still she has a considerable, and what she has is beautiful. One piece alone cost about $25,000 a yard. The lace of the Vatican are rated at $675,000.

The Four Nations.

With natural advantages second only to France, if second, the Italians are the poorest, the most wretched people in Europe. With a soil incomparably richer than Germany, the Italians are compelled to scatter all over the face of the earth to gain their daily bread. In Venice, the salt tax deprives the people of pure water and you may see them working their meagre rations in the waters of the Lagoon into which the sewerage of the city is infiltrated. When the belated French broke out into revolution in 1789 they were not more impoverished than the Italians of to-day. And yet we are carrying on the same system of taxation as Italy and must get where they are when "our land is all gone into the hands of landlords as their is! How much better is our system of taxation—and where will it leave us? Where land speculators and mining syndicates gobble up all of our town sites, broad acres of prairie farm land and our mining districts. Surely we are on the best path of the past, and history has no lessons for those who do not stop to think.

IN SOCIETY

AGENCY Little conveniences are now used in sending out invitations to children's parties. The invitations are printed with the monogram of the mother, and the required form. The Times Job Rooms have an up to date supply of all kinds of stationery.

Miss Helen Hall entertained a number of her young friends at herself Hall's handsome residence, Hunter street, on Wednesday evening last.

Miss Jessie Morrow gave a card party on Thursday evening, at the home of her parents, Furness Street, and King street. The young people spent a most enjoyable evening.

Mr. J. W. Leonard and Mrs. Leonard left Toronto yesterday morning by private car for Detroit. Mrs. Leonard will also visit Chicago and Minneapolis before returning home.

Lady Aberdeen in London recently spoke with the warmest admiration of the women of Canada and of their work in many noble causes. She was also specially struck by the work of Mrs. Drummond, wife of the Hon. George A. Drummond of Montreal, (and sister of Mr. W. D. Parker of the Ontario Bank, Peterborough) whom she described as "uniting with a most distinguished presence and a great personal charm, gifts of rare sequence," but at the same time being "with all her endowments" first and foremost a home woman. She also mentioned that she entertained a special hope that Mrs. Drummond and Mrs. Boomer of London should be able to go over for the great International Congress in London this June. She described Mrs. Boomer as another delightful speaker, who has a great gift of humor and of expressing things in a way of her own which Lady Aberdeen appreciates.

Miss Fair, of Peterborough, is visiting under the parental roof at Millbrook this week.

"Oak Hill" the charming home of Miss Abbe, was the scene of a brilliant gathering on Thursday night, when the lady gave an "at home" to her friends. The spacious parlours were crowded with guests from 8 to 10.30. The decorations were charming and the music superb.

A merry laughing party drove to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy, Ontario, last night, and were delightfully entertained by the hostess.

Huntley, but beautiful, yesterday lured Hall and myself to revel in the spring display with the lady. First we looked for an hour or more over some shirts at Hall's which were as beautiful and elegant as need be. We wandered our way to Cressman's where goods equally handsome are to be seen. I notice especially that the bottom in the fashion journals have inserted vests, the breadth of trimming over the shoulders following out the idea in the same material, the edges of ruffles being bordered with ruffles of chiffon. Those on muslin embroidery were especially attractive. I also observed the great fondness for tucking, this being used wherever possible to join yokes, or as a skirt trimming in clusters, alternating with rows of lace. Everything is very airy in design, the long graceful outlines being carried well into sweeping trains and tasses.

From gowns to sunshades is not such a far cry, and I want to mention particularly the lovely ones on exhibition in rose and eel crepe, with bow knot trimming formed by shirred baby ribbons of black. There has not been a season when anything so lovely has been seen; also those of pumpernickel silk in tulip designs with broadened handles in the form of tulips appeal to the summary taste for the floral in feminine attire. I think the summer girl of 1899 will be a joy to the

Traveled Extensively Throughout the Province - Interesting Statements Concerning His Experiences.

STELLANTON, N.B. - James R. Murray, a well known violinist, of this place, who has traveled extensively throughout the Province, makes this statement:

"I was running down in health and my weight fell off from 175 to 150 pounds. Prescriptions did me but little good. My trouble was called nervous dyspepsia. I resorted to Hood's Sarsaparilla and after taking five bottles I was greatly benefited. I feel as well now as ever in my life, and have increased in flesh so that I now weigh 177 pounds. I am well known in this part of the country, having followed my profession, that of a violin musician for the last 25 years. I gladly tell my friends what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. Before I began taking the medicine I did not have any ambition, but now all is changed and my dyspeptic trouble perfectly cured." JAMES R. MURRAY.

N.B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy any substitute. Be sure to get Hood's.

Hood's Pills are the only pills to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

THE MILLINERY OPENING

The home dressmaker may find it useful to know that when bodies are used instead of being buttoned or buttoned the eyelet holes through which the cords are passed should be made in a narrow space between two whole bones stripes. The whole bones on each side of the row of eyelets prevents the cords from wrinkling the bodice. The pieces are made very prepared, but the bodice need not be supported in place until the eyelets are made, as it is much easier to make the latter before the material is stiffened. Very small, round whole bones are most often used for the stiffening, as they adapt themselves more readily to the curves of the figure than do the flat ones, which will only bend backward and forward. Princess evening gowns are nearly always lined, it is necessary to use them with firm material, so that they may be slowly drawn in around the figure, for a princess gown which does not fit properly is an utter failure. The lining, like the outside, must have no seam at the waist, and the seams where the pieces of the bodice are joined should be well stitched in many places and pressed open. Sleeveless bodices are made very high under the arms, and the armholes are kept as small as possible around the edge of the decolletage a cord is run in, which is drawn tight after the bodice is put on, to keep the edge close against the shoulders.

Pet kittens are included in the invitations for the kitten party, the latest juvenile diversion, and are ribboned and attired for the function as fitting their introduction to society of cats of high degree. The hostess welcomes each little guest and its particular kitten, and presents the latter with a tiny bell as pendant for its neck ribbon.

The nursery or playroom is usually selected for the frolic that ensues, when kittens - white, black, gray, tortoiseshell, mottled and angora - roll, tumble and play to the amusement of child laughter, shouts of glee and the scolding of small feet. Following this, while the tired pussies take out naps, the children partake of their supper from a table in another room. This is a beautifully laid and flower-decked in their honor and the menu as dainty as possible, including sandwiches, cakes, ice cream, bonbons, milk and cream. Now comes the most important event of the party - the service of light refreshments to the beloved kittens. Preparatory to this each little boy and girl take their special pets in their arms, while prettily decorated little bowls filled with milk are placed in a row on the floor. This done, the kittens are released, and with paws of satisfaction and lapping of pink rose-leaf tongues proceed to enjoy the feast. The conditions upon which the prizes are awarded are awarded are many, and illustrate the value of manners even in kittenhood.

The pussy first dips her nose in the bowl, keeping her paws demurely on the floor meanwhile, receives first prize - the very prettiest of the china

THE MILLINERY OPENING

The home dressmaker may find it useful to know that when bodies are used instead of being buttoned or buttoned the eyelet holes through which the cords are passed should be made in a narrow space between two whole bones stripes. The whole bones on each side of the row of eyelets prevents the cords from wrinkling the bodice. The pieces are made very prepared, but the bodice need not be supported in place until the eyelets are made, as it is much easier to make the latter before the material is stiffened. Very small, round whole bones are most often used for the stiffening, as they adapt themselves more readily to the curves of the figure than do the flat ones, which will only bend backward and forward. Be Clean and Live!

Paine's Celery Compound

Is Nature's Great System Cleanser.

The Spring Medicine Recommended by the Ablest Physicians.

In all well-known mills, factories and mechanical establishments it is customary to close down for a short time each year in order to repair machinery. Unless this faithfully attended to there will be irregularity in work, serious breaks, disasters and heavy financial losses.

It is the same with the human body. Its varied, complex and delicate machinery has been running without repairs for perhaps many years with disordered nerves, diseased liver and kidneys, and blood charged with poisons and germs and impurities. The human organs and machinery jarring, weakened and working fitfully and irregularly must be strengthened and made a harmonious whole, of the entire fabric will soon break down.

This annual work of cleansing and repairing is always successfully accomplished when men and women make use of Paine's Celery Compound.

Amongst the first and most pleasing results that come from the use of Paine's Celery Compound in March is pure, rich, bright red blood that courses through the entire system, carrying true life and strength to every part. Food matters, eruptions, pimples, salt rheum and eczema are banished; the skin becomes clear, the eyes bright, the brain active, and the step firm and elastic.

Paine's Celery Compound is the one and only spring medicine and cleanser that people can implicitly trust for a health restorer; it is the choice of physicians, and one best people proclaim the glad news that "it makes people well."

Hood's Sarsaparilla never disappoints. It may be taken for impure and impoverished blood with perfect confidence that it will cure.

FLIGHTY DREAM FROM GAY PARKE

A FRENCHMAN MAPS OUT A SCHEME TO TAKE BRITAIN.

The Prince Gets Shabby-Gilded Youth Complains that the Note Apparent in the Swiss He Goes West.

London, March 25.—In spite of the signing of the Anglo-French agreement regarding Africa, one of the leading topics of the week on both sides of the channel, has been an article published in the Revue des Deux Mondes seriously outlining a fresh scheme for the invasion of Great Britain. It proposes that 1,500 steamships be built and collected in the canal and rivers leading to the French coast, that each of them be armed with two quick-firing guns, and that they convey an army of 170,000 men and 500 cannons with the necessary ammunition, stores, etc. The cost of their construction is estimated at $20,000,000, and the plan is to be provided with torpedoes to keep off hostile ships, while the quick-firing guns are to repulse torpedo boat attacks. The writer of the article says there will be no difficulty in getting the boats across, pointing out that Napoleon had a far more difficult task at Wagram, where he crossed the Danube in the face of the Austrian army. AGUINALDO'S ARMY HAS BEEN CORNERED

HEAVY LOSSES SUSTAINED BY BOTH SIDES.

Insurgent Fight Fiercely but are Separated and Fought to Flight. The Official Report from Gen. Ota.

Washington, March 25.—Gen. Ota's description of the battle is contained in the following cablegram received at the War Department this morning:
Manila, March 25.—McArthur, with two brigades, commenced advance on Noraliches, northwest of Calocan, in center of the insurgent lines, at daybreak this morning, advancing rapidly and successfully, suffering little; from Noraliches, McArthur will swing to left, and strike north of Polo; Wheaton's brigade fronting Calocan will press forward at the proper time; Hall's brigade, on the old line, north of Pasig, is demonstrating west of the pumping station. Enemy 12,000 strong on the line. I am endeavoring to take fraction in reverse.—OTIS.

THE LOSSES.

Manila, March 25.—3.45 p.m.—The American loss reported up to noon to day was 8 men killed and about 70 men wounded. The loss of the enemy was heavier than during any previous engagement.

5.50 p.m.—The American loss is conservatively estimated at 16 killed and 130 wounded.

LASTED 24 HOURS.

Washington, March 25.—It was stated at the War Department that the expression of Gen. Ota: "Am endeavoring to take fraction in reverse" means that while making a feint at the front that he intends to swing to the rear and attack the enemy on the left.

In computing the time at Manila when the fighting began it is said that the battle has been in progress more than 30 hours. War Department officials do not attempt to conceal the fact that the fighting has been very severe, and that the American losses are, no doubt, quite heavy.

STORY OF THE BATTLE.

Manila, March 25.—Noon.—The movements of the United States troops to-day swept the natives back towards Malabon. Gen. H. G. Ota's brigade is in front of Lolome, where there is a stretch of a mile through open country. The natives' trenches in the edge of the woods are four feet deep, and furnish a good head cover. The United States troops advanced on the double quick, yelling fiercely, and occasionally dropping in the grass and firing a volley.

A HOT SPOT.

The Montano and Kanana troops met the hottest resistance in a strip from which the rebels have greatly worried the Americans recently during the night-time. Ninety minutes after the start—at 6 o'clock—the whole front far a distance of three miles to the north had been cleared. Gen. Hale's brigade had completely swept in a northwesterly direction, routing the enemy and burning the town of San Francisco del Monte and a number of scattered huts.

THEY SANG "COMRADES."

The Americans who were wounded endured their injuries bravely, one group which had been brought into the combat singing "Comrades." The Peninsular troops took nine prisoners among them a great, naked captain of the Marabou tribe and one Japanese. All the prisoners were greatly terrified, expecting to be executed immediately.

ADVANCED IN THE DARK.

Manila, March 25.—3.45 p.m.—Elaborate preparations were made for the movement. Under the cover of the darkness, Gen. Ota's and Gen. Hale's brigades left their trenches and advanced close upon the enemy's line without being detected. At 4 o'clock the United States troops met the fiercest resistance in the history of the campaign. The natives, armed with their bows and arrows, and their spears, fought bravely, but were finally driven back.

NINETY PER CENT.

Of the people afflicted with some form of cancer, and this cancer a variety of diseases. The reason why these diseases occur when all others are left in the fact that it effectively expels the humor. Scrofula, salt rheum, boils and all eruptions are permanently cured by this great medicine.

The Ontario Conservative members met Friday morning at the request of Mr. Samuel Barber for organization purposes only. Mr. Barber laid his plan of campaign before the meeting.

SUFFERED FROM HEAT.

Manila, March 25.—Late in the afternoon the Montana regiment and the third artillery had crossed Tagbayan river, going in a north westerly direction towards Polo and General McArthur, with the remainder of General Ota's and General Hale's brigades, was moving along south of the river, in a position to attack either Noraliches or Polo being within two miles of Noraliches, and five miles from Polo.
General Hall's brigade moved to the right, protecting General Hale's right, meeting with strong opposition. The Oregon regiment, and part of the Utah battery held the extreme left.

PROROGATION NEXT SATURDAY.

Premier Hardy States that the House May Finish by Next Week.

Toronto, March 25.—The session of the Ontario Legislature was devoted this morning to Government business, several bills passing committee stage, including Mr. Harcourt's revenue bill. Col. Matheson asked whether the Mutual Reserve Fund Association of New York would be taxed like other companies, as the Mutual Reserve Fund Association was practically on the same footing as the Foresters and other fraternal societies, and should not be taxed on its whole collection.
Hon. Mr. Harcourt said that the Mutual Reserve was a purely commercial enterprise, and had no claim whatever to be treated like the fraternal societies.

ALASKA POSTAL SERVICE.

U. S. is Going to Have a Way of Getting Mail to the Far North

Washington, March 25.—An all-American mail route to Alaska from Prince William's Sound to Circum, through the Copper River region, has been determined on by the postal authorities, and the Post-Master has issued a circular for proposals for the service. Postoffice Inspector Wayland has been detailed to accompany the departmental expedition to start from Seattle, April 1, and will establish postoffices at the various military stations to be located. The contracts for the new service will be received up to April 30 for letter mail only, the compensation to be graded according to the weights carried. The service is to connect with the regular monthly mails by steamboat, which has been contracted for, beginning April 1, and to be regularly kept up through the year. The new route will be run from Valdez through Copper Centre, Skagway, Telling, Seward and Eagle, a total of 500 miles. The contract provides for one round trip a month from October next to June 30, 1902, with a 90 days' running time each way during the first year and 80 days each way thereafter. Contractors are required to provide sufficient relay stations, reindeer, dog teams and other equipment.

BANK IS ON TOP IN PONTON CASE.*JUSTICE ARMOUR ORDERS THE CIVIL ACTION TO GO ON.

The Case is set for hearing at the Assizes, which opens on Monday—Ponton's Lawyer is appealing.

There is a big fight on in the high courts between W. H. Ponton, the ex-bank clerk of Napanea, and the Dunlop Bank as to whether or not the civil action for $55,000 damages brought by the young man against the bank for alleged false arrest and malicious prosecution should be tried before Ponton is given his second trial on the charge of assisting to rob the bank at Napanea.

At present the bank is on top.
Recently Ponton's counsel secured an order from the Master at Belleville postponing the civil action, which is set down for the Cobourg Assizes which begin on Monday, until after the criminal trial. To-day at Osgoode Hall A. B. Aylsworth, Q.C., for the bank, appealed against the order of Chief Justice Armour of the Queen's Bench Division. C. J. Holman appeared for Ponton, and the argument hinged on the bearing the criminal and civil cases bore one another. His Lordship held that neither case was anything to do with each other and sustained the appeal, setting aside the Belleville order and necessitating the civil trial being heard next week.

Mr. Holman received word subsequently from his principals to carry the case to a higher court, and accordingly he has entered an appeal with the Divisional Court.

Snap shot with a Graphophone
The Graphophone is to the ear what the photograph is to the eye and more, for the graphophone catches instantly and preserves every tint and shade of sound. A most interesting use of a Graphophone is to make records of your friends' voices to be preserved for future use. You can catch the story of your jolly friend just as he told it, or the favorite song of some loved one, just as she sang it and have it reproduced perfectly at any time and as often as you please. Besides the Graphophone affords wonderful entertainment in the way of reproducing the music of bands, orchestras or vocal or instrumental soloists. No investment will return so much in pleasure as the purchase of a Graphophone. It is the perfect talking machine. Write for catalogue No. 20

CONSPICUOUS FIGURES.

Men. G. A. Cox and Mr. A. J. Kenny in New York—Financial Institutions of Canada.

Among other notable visitors from other countries to New York just now, says the Financial World, are the Hon. George A. Cox and Mr. J. J. Kenny, respectively President and Vice-President of the British America Assurance Company and the Western Assurance Company, both of Toronto, Canada. Mr. Cox is also the President of the Canadian Bank Commerce, also of Toronto, an institution having a capital-pay-up of $6,000,000, and assets of about $35,000,- 000, at this present writing. It is the largest and most important financial institution of Canada, and has branches in every city of importance in Canada and correspondents all over the world. Mr. Cox is also largely interested in the Canada Life Assurance Company of Hamilton, Ontario, and has for many years been a director of that company. The offices of the company are in Toronto—a very wise step, indeed, as we look at it. Naturally enough, however, the residents of Hamilton are considerably grieved over this proposed change of base, which has not at all to be wondered at, in view of the fact that the company has assets of something like $20,000,000, but Toronto is vastly the better city for headquarters of such an institution. It will be seen that Mr. Cox is one of the foremost and most influential figures in the business and financial life of Canada. He is well known in New York, also, and highly respected. Mr. Kenny is just as conspicuous in fire underwriting matters —an acknowledged leader in his profession.

The Very Latest.
White the editor of this great journal was seated in the private parlour of the Bowdoin House, the other evening, where two or three travelers were spinning yarns; a man, who was seated in the place in front of me, was spinning a yarn of the most extraordinary kind. "One day," said the proprietor of this popular hostelry, "I took a notion to run down and see what they were doing at Ottawa. I had never seen the House in session, and as things were quiet at home,
I concluded to accompany him. Arriving at the Capital, I had tea and then wandered up Parliament hill. It was then about 9 p.m. I got a seat in the gallery, where I could see and hear everything that was going on. Presently my attention was drawn by the Premier, Sir John Macdonald. Huge of frame, he was particularly huge of feet, and those extremities were rendered the more conspicuous in those days of boots being encased in laced shoes.
On this occasion there seemed to be an amount of pain in those feet proportionate to their size. The Premier kept one upon his knee, rubbing it with an anguished expression, and periodically exchanging for the other foot.
After while he unlaced his shoes and drew them off. Then the rubbing of his aching toes continued for a time as before. But no relief came, and at last, to my utter amazement and amusement, he slowly divested himself of a long blue woollen stocking, and taking a huge jack-knife, he proceeded liberally to pare his corns in the Parliament of the Dominion of Canada."

AN OLD MAID.

Her eyes, the quiet pools, are clear;
Her placid face is sweet and fair;
The frost of many a vanished year
Lies on her hair.

She has no memories of vows
Exchanged below an April moon.
Or whispered converse 'neath the boughs
Of rose-bright June.

She never planned her wedding gown—
The old maiden true and good;
For her life held no sacred crown
Of motherhood.

Yet to the shelter of her side
The little orphan children press;
The known and unknown far and wide
The motherless.

The poor and suffering love her well—
Such ready sympathy she shows;
The sorrow-burdened freely tell
To her woes.

For those who stumble, those who fall,
Her heart with gentlest rub is stirred;
She has a kindly smile for all—
A cheering word.

With fate she never wages strife;
"It must be right, since God knows best";
And so she lives her usual life,
Blissing and blest.

She shows the thorny path with flowers;
She turns the darkness into day;
And as we close her hands in ours,
We can but say:

Thou friend, so rich in love and truth,
With error, wrong and grief and Twas well for some that in your youth
The men were blinders.

—E. Matheson, in "Chambers' Journal."

DEED OF KINDNESS.

We had come upon an Indian village
along the banks of a creek close under
the steep sides of a mountain, and we
charged at once and soon had possession.
Most of the warriors were away on an expedition, but a sub-chief named Gray
Wolf, who was lame from a wound,
was in command. Our revolvers and swords made quick work of those who opposed us, and, in seeking to get away,
Gray Wolf was knocked down by a horse and rendered unconscious. He was one of the 25 prisoners we safely conveyed back to the fort, and as he was known to be one of the most bloodthirsty of his tribe his confinement was a rigorous one. He was placed in a cell
in the guardhouse by himself, loaded down with irons, and all members of the guard on duty were permitted to stare at and outrageously abuse him by word of mouth. Gray Wolf was a young man of dignity and pride, and he perhaps felt the insults more than the confinement, though he made no complaint in either case. He had been confined for three weeks when, as sergeant of the guard, I looked in on him one day and
began a conversation in his own tongue.
It resulted in his showing me that the irons were galling him, and of his request for protection from further insult.
I reported to the officer of the day and the irons were removed, and I got some salve from the hospital steward to soothe the broken flesh. I gave Gray Wolf news of his fellow-prisoners and
of his tribe outside, and at the risk of censure spliced out his prison fare with a part of my ration. I did these things for him as I would have done them for a wild animal, and not because I sym-pathized with him as a human being.
An Indian may be technically called a human being, but it is never the truth to refer to him as a human being. In getting the redskin released from his irons I did him the turn he was longing for. That night, with a wide awake sentinel standing only six feet away, Gray Wolf turned under the blanket of his prison and made good his escape, and it was only by a close shave that I escaped a court-martial. The fellow showed the devil in his nature even as he did. Coming across a teamster lying under his wagon in a drunken stupor
Gray Wolf paused to murder and scalp
him, and from that hour on a price was set on his head and every soldier in the west was determined to shoot him
down, even if he offered to surrender.

Two months after the escape of Gray
Wolf, and while his tribe was still wangling a reluctant warfare, I was ordered out of Fort Gray with a squad of troopers to bridge a creek about five miles away. No Indians had been seen with-
in ten miles of the fort, and we knew
for a fact that the main body of them were raiding 50 miles to the west.
Seven troopers full, armed and exercising due vigilance, were thought abundantly to take the case of them lives, and two hours after leaving the fort we were hard at work. We needed a straight tree-trunk 28 feet long for one of the string-logs of the bridge. Leaving my horse at his pick-pin I started out to saw in search of the right sort of tree.
We were on a forest-covered foothill
with masses of rock outcropping here
and there. I was about 40 rods from the fort and just passing one of these outcrops when I was struck down. I saw the arm of an Indian and a club,
and then there was a crash and a legion of angry stars. It was perhaps five minutes before I opened my eyes and found myself lying in the ground. The Indians, of whom there were three, must have heard of me through Gray Wolf,
for I was one of the two men at the post who could speak the Sioux dialect,
and one of them said to me:

"If you cry out we will kill you! Get up and come along."

I got up as I reached my feet, and one of them took my arm to help me along. With one leading the way and the other bringing up the rear we went on a westerly direction, and were soon out of hearing of the fort and my comrades. For a time my head throbed and ached so that I thought my skull had been fractured, and I knew not where I was or what I was doing.
I fully realized that I was a captive.
The one holding my arm was the one
who had struck me with a club, and by his arm I was held.

"Why didn't you use your tomahawk
instead of a club?"

"Don't want to kill you," he honorably replied. "I have more fun in turning you at stake."

"Who is your chief?"

"Gray Wolf, chief of all now. He knows you. Go fast now and don't talk."

The Indians had their war paint on,
and were well armed, and had perhap-
been skulking about for two or three days in hopes to get hold of a stray trooper. After a short walk of four miles we came upon that point and a rough camp, and no time was lost in mounting and getting away. I was ordered up by hand one of the warriors, and they left my hands and feet entirely free.
While this was a favor to me, it did not add to my chances of escape. Instead, with an Indian ahead and an other behind, there was no show whatever.
At the first move on my part, as I was warned over and over again, I would be a bullet for the next man. We rode along in a loose line, the center of the village was three days before the band came to, and during this interval I had nothing to complain of in the way of food or treatment.

STAGE PROPERTY OF POLITICIANS

JAMES MURRAY SPEAKS OF THE FRENCH SHORE QUESTION

French Government Have Expended $20,000,000 in Stamping Out an Almost Defunct Enterprise—Small Fishery.

St. John's, Nfld., March 24.—James Murray, in an interview on the French shore question, treats it from the standpoint of an old residential merchant of many years' experience in the trade of the colony, and also in a former member of the Legislature for one of the districts of the treaty coast.

"The French shore question," he said, "is merely a stage property of the politicians, brought out into prominence or run back into obscurity, just as it suits their schemes and needs."

"There is enough substantial basis for the French grievance, in fact, to swear by, and barely enough to keep it from becoming extinct altogether. Were it not for the periodical efforts of local politicians to galvanize it into renewed life the French fishery would have died out long ago."

SMALL IN VALUE.

"The total value of codfish caught on the French shore last year did not exceed $25,000, and the lobster fishery $70,000. The whole fishery in value did not pay the cost of fitting out the French fishing fleet."

"The French public money has been spent like water in bolstering up this claim. They have spent equal to $50,000,000 of public money during the last fifty years in stamping out this almost defunct enterprise, and this enormous expenditure has been concealed from the French people."

"From $30 to $40 per man for codfish is the average earning per man on the French shore, and were it not for the lobster cod fishery would have been abandoned years ago."

"At 50 years' purchase the total value of the catch would not exceed $2,000,000, and the utmost profit in that would not exceed ten percent."

THE CANADA DELAYED.

Quebec, March 24.—The Dominion Line steamer Canada, from Boston for Liverpool, arrived here 36 hours late, owing to the fact that during a gale on Sunday last, 1,000 miles from Ireland, her starboard engine became disabled through a crack in the main steam pipe. The Canada then proceeded with her port engine and made 13 knots, and arrived here without further incident. Later she sailed for Liverpool.

PREPARING FOR BATTLE.

Manila, March 24.—4:25 p.m.—Two Spanish prisoners who have escaped from Polo to the lines of the Kanakas regiment report that the Filipinos have concentrated their forces at Malabon and Polo. They say that only Aguinaldo's body-guard is at Malabon, and that the rebel leaders apparently intend to disperse to the swamps and mountains. The rebels were putting their boys in front, believing that the holmen's charms would avert the bullets. The boys of the Filipinos greatly outnumber the rifles in their hands. The rebels are further said to have admitted that they could not stand the American shells and bayonet charges. Stories of a shortage of food and supplies among the rebels are confirmed. The enemy are fortifying Malabon. A small body emerged from cover yesterday and fired upon the Kanakas regiment, fatally wounding two men.

SIMPLY NOTICE TO QUIT

How the French Banks Look at Hon. Mr. Harcourt's Tax Scheme.

Montreal, March 23.—(Special).—There is going to be trouble if Hon. Mr. Harcourt persists in his scheme for taxing banks. This evening Mr. McEwen, President of the Canadian Bankers' Association and manager of the Quebec Bank, in company with Mr. Tancred Beauregard of the Jacques Cartier Bank, left for Toronto on a very important mission.

After a full meeting of all the Montreal bankers, it was decided to forward a petition to the Treasurer of Ontario, asking him to adopt a modified scheme of taxation. They declare that, while no objection can be offered to an equitable system of taxation, the Harcourt project is a most unjust one, and facts and figures are given to support the bankers' contentions.

There is another feature of the question which might just as well be ventilated in the press as to be daily referred to here in Montreal banking circles. The banking fraternity have declared openly that the tax scheme of the Ontario Government was invented in collusion with a certain big bank in Toronto, and that, while the tax falls with exceeding heaviness upon small banks, the big concern just mentioned escapes with a light amendment. The French banks doing business in Ontario except Mr. Harcourt's scheme as a notice to get out of the province, and the papers friendly to the Quebec Government are already showing their teeth.

The Patrie, for instance, calls the Harcourt Government's attention to the bill and asks if it would not be worth while to consider what can be done in the way of a retaliatory measure.

All agree here that the taxation on capital is wrong, and the following figures will show how unjust the whole business is—

The Banque Ville Marie, for instance, which has one branch in the sister province, that of Avonmore, pays $570, or as much as the Canadian Bank of Commerce pays for its six branches in Toronto.

Then the Hochelaga Bank, with its one branch pays $1800, the Jacques Cartier Bank $900 and the Banque Nationale $1300.

Of course, no one pretends that the tax is aimed particularly at the French banks, but the idea of taxing a capital is practically a notice to the French Canadian banks to quit doing business in the Province of Ontario. Then, it also looks strange to see the Bank of Montreal with a capital of $12,000,000, paying a tax of $3600, while the merchants Bank of Canada with half the capital, pays a tax of $3600. The Harcourt tax leaves $2,375 from the Bank of British North America, $2000 from the Molsons and $2200 from the Quebec Bank.

The interview to-morrow between Hon. Mr. Harcourt and the Montreal bankers will, therefore, be of the utmost importance.

MANIFESTO WINS.

Aged Horse Owned by J. G. Bullitt—Appears in the Trophy.

London, March 24.—The Grand National Steeplechase was won by J. G. Bullitt's aged horse Manifesto Ford of Tyne came second, and Ellemann third. Nineteen horses started. The betting was 5 to 1 against Manifesto, 40 to 1 against Ford of Tyne, and 20 to 1 against Ellemann.

As a sporting event the Grand National is scarcely less popular in England than the Derby. In a way, it is even more so, as the horses which take part in it were often recruited from the hunting field of else they receive their early education with the hounds in the every hunting district in England has some interest in the race. Many such have embryo Grand National winners in their very midst. Then, too, a jumping race is always dear to the sporting public, and the Grand National is the oldest and most celebrated jump event in the world. The Antares course at Liverpool, over which it is run, is four miles and 656 yards in length, and the various jumps such as Becker's brook, have become world-famous for their stiffness and difficulty. The race is worth about $10,000 to the winner, besides a trophy valued at $500. The history of the Grand National goes back to 1830, although it had its origin in a steeplechase run near Aintree February 2, 1836. This race was over a course about two miles in length, and the conditions were "a succession of ten sovereigns each, with 10 added for horses of all denominations, twelve stone each, gentlemen riders, the winner to be sold for 200 sovereigns if demanded." The winner was a celebrated horse, ridden by a celebrated Captain Becker, after whom Becker's brook, one of the most formidable obstacles in the Grand National course was afterwards named.

In 1839 the Grand National was instituted. The conditions of the race were "a succession of ten sovereigns each, one hundred added, twelve stone each; gentlemen riders, four miles across country; second horse to save his stakes; the winner to pay ten sovereigns towards expenses; to ride to open a gate or ride through a gateway or more than 100 yards along any road, footpath or driveway." The winners of the event since 1835 are:

1835—Bouquet.
1836—Old Joe.
1837—Cock.
1838—Frigate.
1839—Frigate.
1840—Frigate.
1841—Come Away.
1842—Foster O'Flynn.
1843—Cloister.
1844—Why Not.
1845—Wild Man From Borneo.
1846—The Scourer.
1847—Manifesto.
1848—Droghda.

London, March 24.—There was a poor attendance at the inter-university field sports held at the Queen's Club to-day, owing to the bitter cold weather. The track, however, was good but rather hard. A strong wind up the track was much against the runners in distance races.

The following are the results:
One hundred yards dash—Thomas, Oxford, 12-5 sec.
Half-mile run—Graham, Cambridge, in 59-5 sec.

AN OTTAWA EDITOR SOUNDLY THRASHED

A LIVELY TIME ON PARLIAMENT HILL.

The Editor of a Blander Weekly Sheet Receives the Thrashing Which He Has Long Merited by His Conduct.

Ottawa, March 24.—For several years past a weekly paper called the Tribune has been published in Ottawa as the organ of certain interests.

Since the beginning of the year the Tribune has been devoting most of its attention to Aid. Morris, leader of the civil reform movement, City Solicitor McVeety, and Mr. E. W. Morrison, editor of the Citizen. Nothing was so mean, untruthful or abusive in the shape of statement or innuendo to connect with the names of these men. But the preferred target of the Tribune editor was Mr. Morrison.

GETTING HOT.

To be selected for special attention from such a source was an honor which the editor of the Citizen appreciated, and while the vilification and scurrility was directed exclusively against himself it was ignored as beneath contempt. This was unpleasant to the little sheet and the references to Mr. Morrison became more disgraceful in their character from day to day, until they urgently demanded the only reply that could be accorded to allegations coming from such a source. On Monday evening Mr. Morrison decided to hunt up the editor of the Tribune and warn him that any further attacks would be regarded as a case belli and be followed by the administering of a thrashing.

THE SCRAP ON THE HILL.

About eight o'clock Monday night, Mr. Morrison and Mr. Carrique left the parliament buildings and proceeded down the walk toward Wellington street. Before reaching the first steps, Mr. Morrison stopped to speak to Mr. A. T. Wood, M.P. from Hamilton, Carrique proceeding slowly. Mr. Morrison saw a man approaching whom he thought was Wrightson of the Tribune. Excusing himself to Mr. Wood, he walked down and stopped him, asking if his name was Wrightson. The man said yes, and Mr. Morrison introduced himself. He then said that the Tribune had been pursuing him for some months, and he took this opportunity of advising Mr. Wrightson that this man he supposed Wrightson said some thing to the effect that he did not pursue taking Morrison's feelings into consideration in running the Tribune, and a supercilious smile appeared on his face.

Morrison put his hand on Wrightson's chest to emphasize what he had previously said, and as he did this, Wrightson drew back his hand, apparently to strike Morrison. At that instant Morrison struck out, landing on Wrightson's jaw, knocking him to the ground. At this time Carrique was about ten yards away, but when he saw that there was trouble, he walked up to the men.

Morrison punched Wrightson several times on the face, but the latter got to his feet, and his head clinched on the neck. Wrightson was retreating, crying for police and help. He yelled for a chance, and Morrison, thinking that he wanted to retaliate, showed him away from him, but it was not a chance to retaliate he wanted, for he ran for his life, running about fifty yards down the west walk of the bank, and then he turned back. Morrison followed and grabbed him by the coat collar, turned him round, and hit him in the face. Wrightson immediately dove into a snow bank, his head sinking two feet beneath the surface. Morrison pulled him out of the bank, stood on his feet, and with a few well directed blows, knocked him to the ground again.

He was lying on his back when four Dominion police arrived, and took their names. At the commencement of the encounter, there was no crowd, but Mr. Morrison and Mr. Wrightson and as soon as the first blow was struck Morrison dropped his riding crop, and it was picked up by one of the policemen.

THE TRIBUNE VERSION.

Later in the day the Tribune published the following remarkable version of what it alleged occurred on the Hill.

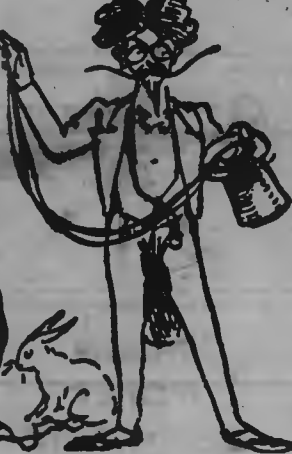

"Mr. Rathbone, business manager of the Tribune, was recalled from Montreal yesterday by a telegram and returned home to find his partner, and friend, Mr. J. R. Wrightson, beaten, beaten, and bruised beyond recognition. As far as can be learned, Mr. Wrightson was proceeding up Parliament Hill on Monday evening about eight o'clock, when he was set upon by a man named Morrison, editor of the Citizen, and another person named Carrique. The fellows threw Mr. Wrightson to the ground, without warning, and then kicked and beat him until his friends would not know him. Nothing was mentioned of this matter in the daily papers, and it is alleged the Citizen management had the publication of the outrage suppressed. This morning Morrison, accompanied by Bob McCready, the football player, called at the Tribune office and threatened the business manager that anything about the outrage was published he would break the said business manager's head. A threat from this source, however, does not count for much. The matter of this outrage shall be probed to the core and Hamilton footpads must be taught that they are not going to run Ottawa—that way."

Yesterday afternoon a policeman was on guard at the Tribune office at the request of the manager of the paper and escorted him home in the evening.

Pontion Express Acquittal.

It is evident that "Billy" Pontion relies on the jury at his coming trial to acquit him on the charge of robbing the Dominion Bank at Napanee. His advisers are astute enough to force the weight that his acquittal will carry with the courts in his civil action for $50,000 against the Bank for alleged false arrest, and with this fact in mind Pontion last week applied for the postponement of his suit. The application was granted. The Bank has made application to have the order set aside and the action tried at the coming session.

It is claimed that the corporation should see that gates are placed at railway crossings. Our experience in corporation law suits is not at all satisfactory.

Red All Glom.
March isn't all gloom. One of its cheering developments is the steady increase of business amongst our local industries. Every industry in town is doing well, and orders are ahead of anything before seen in Peterborough. Even the excellent job printing and bookbinding departments of trade, and is receiving stocks of orders both locally and from a distance, all of which goes to show that the country has entered upon an era of prosperity.

The People Say
That everybody reads the Times. That the stars plow did their duty yesterday morning. That people do not usually sleigh to church on King Sunday. That winter has lingered in the lap of spring quite long enough. That the millinery establishments are doing a good business, especially those whose advertisements appear in the Times. That the roads in the country are in a sloppy condition.

The Little-British Refrigerating Co. of Montreal, have completed their contract with the Geo. Matthews Co. here for installing the new ice making and refrigerating plant in the company's factory. The machinery is all erected and now undergoing preliminary tests. The work has so far advanced that the engine room and machinery are both ready for the painters and tinsmiths for the work are asked for in advertisement in another column. This will do away with the necessity of harvesting ice in winter as heretofore.

A Word About Survivors.
We invited heretofore to pay special attention to the Saturday Times and want the paper will contain a large quantity of original matter. BURLINGHAM FALLS.

Electric Syndicate Asking for Tenders for Dam and Power House.

Most of the readers of this journal are aware of the proposed Burlingame Falls power and light transmission scheme, by which power and light generated at the Falls will be transmitted by way of Lakefield to Peterboro, and also to Lindsay. Mr. J. Alex. Culverwell, the manager and promoter of the syndicate, has been in Peterboro for some time, working the matter up and making contracts for electric light and power. He claims to have met with very great success, and states that the works are assured. A meeting of the syndicate took place in Toronto on Friday, and arrangements were made to ask for tenders for a concrete dam and power house at Perry's gorge immediately. An advertisement regarding these tenders appears in another column. The syndicate's reports, have reasons for congratulating themselves on the outlook as already a revenue of some $25,000 has been secured in Peterboro and Lindsay, which includes the corporation lighting contract for streets for a term of ten years being a small part of the revenue expected, which will amount to some $10,000 to $50,000 yearly. The Burlingame Falls power has been reported upon by hydraulic engineers, and they have estimated the minimum flow and that only during August and September to be 3000 horse power, but with the magnificent reservoir immediately at its door this will be increased to some 4800 horse power during ten hours of the day, the water being stored during the night.

The enterprise has been also reported upon as being not only feasible but also as a commercially successful scheme by three of the most prominent electrical engineers in Canada and the States. Mr. F. W. Barrett, of Toronto, the treasurer of the Luxfer Prism Co., who is chairman of the Burlingame Falls Electric Syndicate was in Peterboro last week to consult with Mr. Culverwell, regarding operations and to confer with some prominent Peterboro gentlemen who are interesting themselves in a financial way in the enterprise. He is greatly pleased with the outlook and states that there will be no trouble in securing the balance of the capital required to complete the whole enterprise for supplying electric light and power to Lindsay, Oranmore, Lakefield and Peterboro. Mr. Barrett, along with his associate, Mr. Horne, has made negotiations for the Luxfer Prism Company in Canada, England and the States, of some three million dollars.

Among the syndicate are included the following gentlemen, namely: Messrs. F. W. Barrett, J. Alex. Culverwell and Dr. Edward Adams of Toronto, and Wm. Flavell of Lindsay.

To Recover $5,000
Judge Morgan of Toronto, on Friday last, reserved judgment in the action of Mr. Alex. Elliott, of Peterboro, against J. B. Hay, of Toronto, to recover $5,000 on a promissory note. Messrs. Elliott and Hay were on the Board of Directors of the Toronto Smelting Company, operating in the county of Hastings, and Hay has been given the note to settle an account of the company.

To March Now.
Mr. Wm. Cresswell, foreman for the Boyd Co., Bobaygon, came up from that village to-day and went north on the Toronto train, says the Lindsay Post. He informed our reporter that the firm's camp in Glamorgan township broke up last Saturday, not, as is usually the case, because of lack of snow, but because there is too much of it in the woods to permit of economical drawing, and other firms in the north country are suspending operations for the same reason. Mr. Cresswell is now preparing for the spring drive, and has a gang of a dozen men at work repairing the firm's main and subways through which the logs will have to pass to reach the main channel of the Burnt River. As previously stated, he has contracted to deliver Boyd's logs at Fenton Falls for a stated sum per 1,000 feet, and has also entered into an arrangement with several Lindsay firms.

The Concert of April 4th.
The programme for the concert in George-st. church on April 4th is being hammered into fine shape. The choir will sing the "Gloria" from Mozart's first mass, "Benedictus" and "Agnus Dei" by Woodward. The accompaniments will be given by Miss Grant, organist of St. Andrew's church. The orchestra will include Messrs. Maude, Fox and Barclay and Messrs. Butcher, Lamb, Miller, Staples, Smith, Harvey and Adams, making a very strong and effective instrumentation. Notes will be contributed by foreign talent, including Mrs. Chamberlain, a well-known pianist in Peterboro, and Mr. R. Bradley, tenor of Toronto, who is a son of Mrs. Bradley, the famous soprano and teacher. Mr. Kleiser, the entertainer and impersonator, will also contribute selections from his admirable repertoire, the whole making up a program that will be well worth hearing. Some further reference will be made during the week to the general affairs. Admission to the concert, 25 cents.

The Anchor Mill.
A few of the employees in the spinning and carding rooms of the Anchor Woolen Mills, to the number of twenty-two, quit work on Friday the trouble arising over a question as to whether they would receive pay for time they were not working. When the anchor loom stopped the water wheels and power was "off," or machinery broke down, the boys could not work, and they demanded pay for the time when the mill was not running. This, it is understood, was refused. It is not in the nature of a strike, as the running of the mill is not interfered with, and the places of those who left are being refilled.

Mr. Mansley spent a day with a bundle of copies of the Morning Times on the station platform and tossed him a quarter for half a dozen copies, after which he re-entered his car. Everybody reads the Times.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 28, 1899

MOV. GEO. A. COX.
The "policy holders association" of the Canada Life Assurance Company is making a vigorous kick against the control of Hon. G. A. Cox, who holds more than half the stock. In deference to the demands of the policy holders, a bill to give a voice to the policy holders in the management of the company is to be submitted to parliament at the instance of Mr. Cox and other stockholders, but the bill does not go far enough to satisfy the policy holders' association.

The latter have issued a circular which says that Mr. Cox's bill on behalf of the policyholders who contributed the $2,000,000 of assets shall elect six directors, while stockholders having only $125,000 paid-up capital, shall elect none. A policyholder shall take no part in the election of directors. General Meeting (beyond voting for six directors); that a policyholder, however large his policy, shall have but one vote, while the old acts are allowed to stand so that a stockholder will have one vote for every $50 of paid-up capital; that 30 days notice must be given to the secretary, nominating policy holder directors, while there is no such provision as to stockholders; that for the first election of policy holders' directors the present board shall appoint the scrutineers; that in the event of a vacancy in the policy holders' directors it shall be filled by the remainder of the whole board, thus giving the appointment to the nine directors elected by the stockholders; and that the election of policy holders' directors shall take place before the election by stockholders.

Five of the bill as follows:—The directors by them shall have the control of the question of the portion of profits (not exceeding ten per cent. thereof) to be allocated to the shareholders. Hitherto, they have, for obvious reasons, prudently taken only three per cent. which, however, has enabled them to pay themselves generous dividends, averaging 30 per cent. per annum, on their small capital of $125,000. If they should exercise their full power under clause 15, they could pay themselves dividends at the rate of 100 per cent. per annum.

The circular concludes:—The present board (Mr. Cox's) claims that the stockholders should have a majority of the future board. This might be conceded by policyholders if the old limitation of 40 votes by any one stockholder were restored, but policy holders cannot overlook the fact that as matters now stand, the majority, or stockholders' directors, would be elected, not by the influence of the shareholders at large, but virtually by Mr. Cox.

Mr. Cox has done more to make the Canada Life what it is today, than the Hamilton clique will admit. His success in getting the company to move its headquarters to Toronto, has stirred up the enmity of a section of the policy holders, who are interested in keeping the head office in Hamilton. No doubt parliament will take all this into account, when the bill comes before the committee.

MOLLY BAWN.

BY THE DUCHESS.

About four o'clock the next day—being that of the ball—Sir Penhony strolling along the west corridor, comes to a standstill before Cecilia's door, which happens to be wide open. He looks in, and is standing so as to be seen, clad in the memorable white dressing-gown of the evening before, making a careful choice between two bracelets she holds in her hands.

"Is that the garment in which you no much distinguished yourself last night?" Sir Penhony can not help asking; and, with a little start and blush, she raises her eyes.
"Is it you?" she says smiling. "Yes, this is the identical robe. Won't you be so good to take it to the laundry? You are quite welcome. If you have nothing better to do you can stay with me and talk to me for a little."

"I have plenty to do," coming in and closing the door; "but nothing I would not gladly throw over to accept an invitation from you."

"Dear me! What a charming speech! What a courteous you would have made. Consider yourself doubly welcome. I address pretty speeches, when addressed to myself. Now, sit there while I decide on what jewelry I shall wear to-night."

"So this is her sanctum," thinks her husband, glancing round. What a dainty nest it is, with its innumerable feminine fineries, its piano, its pretty pink-and-blue cretonne, its wealth of flowers, although the season is of the coldest and blindest.

A cosy fire burns brightly in the wall opposite to an open door, through which one catches a glimpse of the bedroom beyond, decked out in all its pink and white glory. There is a very sociable little clock, a table strewn with books and colored silks, and mirrors everywhere.

As for Cecil herself, with honest admiration her husband carefully regards her. What a pretty woman she is! full of all the tender graces, the lovable caprices, that wake the heart of fondness.

How charming a person to come to in grief or trouble, or even in one's glumest mood! How full of gaiety, yet immeasurable tenderness is her speaking face! Verily there is a depth of sympathy to be found in a pretty woman that a plain one can never learn.

Her white gown becomes her a merveille, and fits her to perfection. She can not be called fat, but an certainly she can not be called thin. When people speak of her with praise they never fail to mention the "pretty roundness" of her figure.

Her hair has partly come undone, and hangs in a fair, loose coil, rather lower than usual, upon her neck. This suits her, making still softer her sweet though piquant face.

Her white and jeweled fingers are busy in the case before her, with the puffed brow she sighs over the difficulty of making a wise and becoming choice in precious stones for the evening's triumph.

At last—a set of sapphires having gained the day—she lays the casket aside and turns to her husband, while wondering with delicate amusement on the subject of his thoughts during these past few minutes.

He has been thinking of her, no doubt. Her snowy wrapper, with all its dainty frills and bows, is eminently becoming. Yes, beyond all question he has been indulging in sentimental regrets.

Sir Penhony's first remark rather dispels the illusion.
"The old boy puts you up very comfortably down there, don't he?" he says, in a terribly prosaic tone.

Is that all? Does he mean admiring the furniture during all these eloquent moments of silence, instead of her and her innumerable charms? Insufferable!

"He do," responds she, dryly, with a careful adaptation of his English. Sir Penhony raises his eyebrows at affected astonishment, and then they both laugh.

"I do not hope you are not going to say rude things to me about last night," she says, still smiling.

"No. You may remember once before on a very similar occasion, I told you I should never again look at you, the simple reason that I considered it language thrown away. I was right as the sequel proved. Besides, the extreme bewitchment of your toilet altogether disarmed me. Fly the bye, when do you return to town?"

"Next week. And you?"

"Next week. And you?"

"Next week. And you?"

"Next week. And you?"

"Next week. And you?"

"Next week. And you?"

"Next week. And you?"

"Next week. And you?"

"Next week. And you?"

"Next week. And you?"

"Next week. And you?"

"Next week. And you?"

"Next week. And you?"

"Next week. And you?"

"I shall go—when you go. May I call on you there?"

"Indeed you may. I like you well enough," says her ladyship, with unassuming frankness, "to wish you for my friend."

"Why should we not be more than friends, Cecil?" says Stafford, going up to her and taking both her hands in a warm affectionate clasp. "Just consider how we two are situated—you are bound to me forever, until death shall kindly step in to relieve you of me, and I am bound to you as closely. Why, then, should we not accept our position, and make our lives ones?"

"You should have thought of all this before."

"How could I? Think what a deception you practiced on me when wedding that miserable picture. I confess I abhor ugliness. And then, your own conditions, what could I do, but abide by them?"

"But that was not one of them," hastily. "I did not believe you would have wished to live with a man you neither earnestly loved nor feared."

"Perhaps not," laughing. "Sometimes I hardly know myself what I do want. But we are not very well as we are. I dare say, had we been living together for the past three years, I should now dislike each other cordially—as do Maud Darley and her husband."

"Impossible! Maud Darley is one person and you are quite another; while I—well—with a smile—I honestly confess I fancy myself rather more than poor Henry Darley."

"But that is not the case," Cecil positively. "and—let me say—two great points against him. Yes, on consideration, you are an improvement on Henry Darley." Then with a sudden change of tone, she says, "Does all this mean that you love me?"

PRISON LIFE FOR 60 YEARS

REMARKABLE CAREER OF PENNSYLVANIA BURGLAR.

Has served 44 years in the Eastern Penitentiary on 15 different convictions.

There are many men who have spent 60 years in prison, but few who have spent this length of time on 15 convictions. Sixty years put in on short term sentences is a most remarkable record.

George Henry, Pennsylvania burglar, is now about 70 years old, and he has not been out of prison more than six months at a time since he was let in his early teens. He did 51 years in the Eastern Penitentiary on 15 different convictions.

For many years he was poor, and he had no friends. He came out last fall after serving a five-year sentence and during the winter was placed in an almshouse, but that almost immediately because they had "placed him among a lot of other fellows, who would not stand it. Professionally he has been a failure. He never stole large sums of money because he never went in for any big game only once and then he only got $500 out of $95,000.

He always thought he was smart enough to steal and get away with it, but he always "got the collar."

He is the only man who ever escaped from the Eastern Penitentiary. Ordinarily it is as difficult for a man to get out of that institution as for a bird to get out of a cage.

His story of the escape is very interesting. He tells it as follows:—

"There was no fixing guards or getting solid with anybody inside because I was broke, and didn't have the stuff for it. It was making me sick in my cell, hearing some that was my cell."

The back door of the cell opened into its own little exercise yard, as they do to-day.

The night watchman on his rounds came into each yard and tried the cell door. If it was locked, all right, he went on. Of course the front door opened into the corridor inside.

"Well I had strips of cane until I had enough to plait into a rope strong enough to hold my weight, and was able to keep it stowed away all right without being piped off."

I got it and played with the lock of the door that opened into the yard until I fitted it, and was ready to open it when the time came. But the whole thing depended on locking the door again. I got out, and for, if the watchman came along and found it open, he'd look in, find me gone and turn loose with an alarm. That meant the collar for me before I could break into the street.

"But I pulled it off all right on one night. I picked the lock as soon as the watchman had gone by, got out in the yard, and looked the door behind me. Then I knew I wouldn't be missed before morning, because the cell doors were locked all right, front and back. I had my cane rope, got up on the wall of my yard, followed it around to the abatement of the main outside wall, and let myself down by my piece of string."

"I got away all right. The yards weren't lighted by electricity in those days, as they are now, which made it easier. And other things ain't as ready to hand."

"But my getting out did me no good, for I went to Ohio and almost immediately got in for six years there and was then brought back to finish my sentence in the Eastern Penitentiary."

"But I did the trick in the same way, two different times. I got the collar, but they'd have pinched me just the same if I hadn't broken out. It was all the same thing, except the loss of commutation time, when I got the collar, and had to finish my sentence."

"Some people have me mixed up with the man that went out handed up in a garbage barrel, and the niggers who made a break by digging and getting into the sewer. They were fished out and pitched after they'd crawled two blocks, because the sewer rats were so near to eating 'em up that they had to stop."

niggers had to equal for help. The man in the barrel was one of the Molly Maguires. These other stories about me are pipedreams."

Black began by stealing on the impulse when he was a boy, and went from there to the Eastern Penitentiary. I ended by becoming a reformed convict. Once sent to prison his path was out for life, and his soul followed him.

"This was in the House of Correction at the age of 19; went from there to the Eastern Penitentiary and was a colporteur of his own father until the two quarrels so that they had to be separated."

"To get a job a man must have a recommendation, and if a man is a discharged convict no one wants to help him. Society expects men to reform and then starves him by refusing all help to him. A man will not starve if he can steal, any day in the week."

"You can't lay down any fixed rules. I have men working for me, and have secured positions for others, who have done 10, 20, 30, 40 years' time, and I trust them with every penny I have."

"I was turned out of a prison in Illinois once, with two dollars to begin life with. Nobody in town would give me anything. I'd be arrested if I looked around long. It was 100 miles to St. Louis where I had friends, and wasn't able to walk. Everybody knew where I'd been by the end of my job."

"I resolved to square the thing and knock out an honest living. But what was I to do, strapped high and dry? I ended by breaking a ship chandler's shop and getting away safely with $500."

"They all resolved to go straight when they got out, but stealing is easy, work can't be found, and they're not going to be caught this time."

Now Adams Law.

The new game law has been introduced into the Legislature. The bill requires every person when hunting to carry his license on his person, and he will be obliged to exhibit the license at all reasonable times. The penalty will be $100 for each offence.

Animals are not hunted or killed with firearms during the season for the protection of partridge or grouse. The sale or exposure for sale of game, no matter where killed or produced, is prohibited during the season for the protection of partridge or grouse.

During the season for the protection of partridge or grouse, no person shall be permitted to hunt or kill any animal during the season for the protection of partridge or grouse.

The exception allowing sale is not, however, to apply to snipe, woodcock or partridge until September 15th, 1900, and not to snipe, woodcock or quail until the 15th of October of the same year. The bill contains provisions relating to the issue of licenses for the preservation of game in cold storage to the owners of cold-storage premises on payment of a fee of $5. Hotels, restaurants or clubs may not supply game at any meals for which a charge is made during the close season, except under the authority of a license to be issued by the chief warden.

The residence of Mr. Esau Tucker, Anstruther, was the scene of a very pretty event on Tuesday, 11th inst., when, in the presence of a large company of friends and relatives, Mr. Tucker, who is the eldest son of the late Wm. Tucker, one of the most respected and successful of the early pioneers of the Aspley district, was united in the bonds of matrimony to Mrs. Susan Mann, second daughter of Mrs. John Staples, Burleigh.

One of the most worthy families that ever settled in the district. Rev. R. MacKnight, B.A., officiated in the service. Afterwards a delicious dinner was enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Tucker are making a bridal tour to the County of Kent, and are in the heartiest wishes for their prosperity.

Rev. Robert Wallace, of Toronto, who many years ago was stationed at Keweenaw, is dead. He was the father of Rev. Prof. Wallace, of the College, Toronto, and who was pastor of the George Street Methodist Church, Peterborough.

A Trip to Europe.
The Times would suggest to the management of the County Prussia Association, the idea of arranging an European trip next year, during the Fair Exhibition. A trip of this kind would be popular, and no doubt could be made cheap enough to enable newspaper men of moderate means to take it.

Special Session Possible.
It is altogether probable that a special meeting of the County Council will be called at an early date to consider what is to be done in reference to the Mill Lake Bridge. The bridge will probably be in bad shape after the ice disappears, and some decision will be necessary either to repair it or build a new one.

The Auburn Mills.

The impression has gone abroad that there is a strike out at the Auburn Mills, and that the mills are practically shut down. This is incorrect. The number of employees that quit work (because they were not for four hours when the mill was shut down, owing to a boiler leak) has in no way interfered with the operation of the mill, others being put on in their place. Mr. Kennedy authorizes the Times to state that perfect harmony exists between the management and the employees.

At Home of Mr. Ward.
The Toronto Telegram says: James R. Stratton may not have brought a Cabinet position to the town which gave him political life and career for him as a fund mother should, but the election of the most riding can boast to their brethren in the east that their James has occupied the chair in committee, and Thomas Ward, though twenty-three years in the House, has not. Gradually Stratton's fame is spreading. He handled Harcourt's bill to supplement the revenue of the province dexterously, even read the clause affecting loss companies, without a break in his words.

PETERBORO'S SURPLUS POWER

The efforts now being made by the Burleigh Falls Power Company to bring their power and light to Peterborough and thence to Lindsay, has stirred the Peterborough Light and Power Company to action. The latter saw that if the Burleigh Falls scheme went through, they would have a very formidable competitor to deal with, and they decided that they were in a better position to supply Lindsay with electric force than their opponents.

When the new power station is erected here the company will have a surplus of power, which may be well utilized in supplying Lindsay's needs. The distance is only about 28 miles and the proposition to transmit the power that the distance is quite feasible. Negotiations have been in progress between the Peterborough Light and Power Co. and the manager of the Lindsay lighting concern, and the result is that there is every probability of the scheme being closed. It will mean no extra expense at the station here, while at the Lindsay end the station may be closed, and the company there use the Peterborough power. By this arrangement economical conditions will be at once secured that will show cheaper lighting.

Death occurred on Sunday of Mr. Wm. McWhin, aged 24 years, at the family residence, Stewart street, Ashburnham. Consumption was the cause of death, and the deceased had the disease but a few days previous to his demise. The funeral takes place tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The deceased was beloved by all who knew him, and beloved by his intimate acquaintances.

Mr. Richard McKenzie, who for the past two years has been superintendent at the gas works, died last Sunday in Toronto. Mr. McKenzie had been ailing for some time, suffering with chronic catarrh, or throat trouble. About two weeks ago he left here and went to Toronto, where he gradually grew worse until the end came. He was a native of Scotland, about thirty-five years of age and a quiet industrious citizen. He leaves a wife to mourn his demise.

The only safety.
In avoiding the causes and conditions of disease and keeping the whole body constantly in a state of health, it is most essential that the blood be kept pure. Disease originates in impurities in the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great safeguard of health because it makes the blood rich and pure and thus strengthens and fortifies the system. Thousands of people take Hood's Sarsaparilla at the change of seasons and whenever the system needs the help of a tonic and blood purifying medicine, and it keeps them in perfect health.

No other medicine has such a record of cures as Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is constantly curing eczema, rheumatism, dyspepsia, salt rheum, that tired feeling and other troubles that are caused or promoted by impure blood, a low state of the system. If you keep your blood pure with Hood's Sarsaparilla you may be well, while others who neglect this precaution or experiment with unknown preparations, are suffering the consequences of their thoughtlessness and folly.

The case against Robert Heffernan and Thomas Heffernan, for assaulting David O'Connell, of Ashburnham, which was to have come before Tolson Magistrate Edmunds yesterday, was settled out of court. It will be remembered that the defendants had a dispute with Mr. O'Connell over some real estate transaction, and they struck, kicked and otherwise mistreated the complainant. In fact it was said by those who witnessed the scrap that Mr. O'Connell was pummeled and pounded and used as a mop, until the Heffernans got weary and languid with the violence of the exercise. When County Constable O'Connell got wind of it, he went to the scene and served on all the parties and those who witnessed the little unpleasantness to attend a matinee before Judge Edmunds. Mr. O'Connell, who is one of those warm-hearted Irishmen that never says mad more than a few hours at a time, related just before the case was called and presented to have the charges withdrawn on payment of all costs and doctor's bill, amounting to about $40 or $50.

Kingston Chief of Police is to receive $400 per year hereafter.

Death of a Woman and Her Daughter.
Belleville Intelligence: "A few days ago Miss Hungerford, daughter of Ald. Hungerford, whilst engaged in some household duties, removed from her finger a diamond and turquoise ring, placing them on the stand for the time being. When she went to secure them again she was surprised to find them missing, and diligent inquiries failed to reveal their whereabouts. In the glass display was a girl named Lily Duesberry, who, although a very quiet, demure and well-mannered girl, was reported to be the guilty party. One of the rings being found upon her hand, while a smaller brother was wearing the other. She was brought before the Police Magistrate, and, after receiving severe reprimand and promising to do better in the future, she was allowed to go upon a suspended sentence of one month in jail."

ANOTHER TUNNEL UNDER THE THAMES

LONDON COUNTY COUNCIL TO CONSIDER THE SCHEME.

Over Two Thousand People Would be Benefited by Project to Erect Sewerage to Accommodate Them.

London, March 27.—The Bridges Committee of the London County Council will place before the Council next week an important scheme for the construction of a tunnel under the River Thames between Rotherhithe and Shadwell. It is to cost no less than $11,125,000. The Bridges Committee have, however, yet to devise a scheme for debouching of 2200 people, who will be displaced by the works, and until this can be decided upon nothing can be settled. At a meeting of the Rotherhithe Vestry it was unanimously agreed to report to the L.C.C. on a scheme for a large lunatic asylum long since condemned, and to construct upon this site blocks of tenements of one, two and three rooms. This scheme has been accepted by the L.C.C., and they have agreed to pay half the cost, $75,000, but Rotherhithe Vestry, not being satisfied with this sum have applied to the Council to meet the whole cost $150,000. These houses will by no means be sufficient, and vacant sites have yet to be decided upon. The tunnel would, of course, be of immense service to Rotherhithe, as at present the people have either to cross the Thames at Tower Bridge or by the Blackwell tunnel.

A HEAVY DEATH RATE.

London, March 27.—The Cairo correspondent of the Morning Leader writes:—The death rate among the British troops engaged in the last campaign has not exceeded 15 to 20 per cent. Although this is serious, the increased percentage was due to the number of dervishes killed at Omdurman who could not be buried, being thrown down into the Nile. As the Nile furnishes water for drinking and cooking, an epidemic of typhoid broke out.

HE STOOD ON HIS HEAD.

London, March 27.—At Brompton County Court, London, George Fitch claimed from Thomas Black the sum of $35, the result of a wagon of $35 with the defendant that he should stand on his head for the space of ten minutes. A referee was appointed, and he performed the feat. The defendant, however, refusing to pay on the ground that he stood on his head only nine minutes. A verdict for the plaintiff was given with costs.

CONSCRIPTION OF ENGLAND.

London, March 27.—There is a strong feeling among some of the Service members that unless the general prospects of recruiting improve it may eventually be necessary to put in force the law making the ballot for the militia compulsory, though this would not doubt be done in some modified shape, so as to render the burden on the country as light as possible. This view is not confined to one side of the house.

SNAKES IN IRELAND.

London, March 27.—On the eve of St. Patrick's day came the intelligence that a snake had been found in Ireland. While the popular legend that St. Patrick banished all snakes from the Emerald Isle still holds good among the peasantry, naturalists have long been exercised over the reasons for their absence. Various theories have been put forth to account for the curious circumstance. The theory, however, which is in default of a better has been generally accepted, that the climate is too damp and cold. Now a subscriber to the Daily Mail has written claiming to have discovered a large snake in Ireland, the length of which he says is exactly 4 ft. 2 1/2 in. The discovery could not have been made at a more opportune time. It is a pity that the destruction of a legend and a new terror is added to Irish rural life.

MR. BRODRICK'S HUMOR.

London, March 27.—The Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Mr. H. John Brodrick, is developing an incisive humor. Speaking at a Cambridge University Club dinner, Mr. Brodrick remarked that the Liberals had well chosen their leader. Sir H. Campbell-Bannerman was a man universally liked. He had no old Parliamentary hand, and had explained to the House of Commons more than once that the most honorable thing for a member of Parliament to do was to sit upon a fence. Laughter. He, Mr. Brodrick, once heard a University sermon described as of the Bible and water order, and as regarded Home Rule Sir H. Campbell-Bannerman's salvation was of that order. He wished with one eye at Lord Rosebery and with the other at Mr. Lebourne. He delivered admirable Imperialist sentiment, but like the man in the Gilbertian opera, his head was Conservative while his legs were Radical and carried him into the wrong lobby. He advocated our advance in the South to please Sir Edward Grey and voted against it to please Mr. Morley.

M. BROCKMAN IS DEAD.

Paris, March 27.—M. Brockman, the novelist, who wrote many books in collaboration with M. Chatrian, died at Lunville, aged 77.

With the death of M. Emile Brockman disappears the surviving collaborator of one of the most remarkable literary partnerships the world has ever seen. The other partner, M. Chatrian, died in 1890. Under the style of Brockman-Chatrian both authors began to write in 1868, and such was their unity of style and composition that no one suspected that the double name concealed a double personality.

Their first success was made in 1876 by a series of works delineating the manners of German folk, and later dealing with the military glories of the Revolution and the Empire. Their most successful play was "L'Ami Fritz," which was produced in Paris and a literary storm raised by the figure.

The partnership, which has lasted 40 years ended yesterday. M. Chatrian's secretary published details concerning their differences in the Figaro. The publication was adjudged defamatory by M. Brockman, who not only brought an action against the journal, but against his former partner as well. The action against M. Chatrian was put aside, but the Figaro was condemned to pay damages and costs.

DEAD ARE NOW TWENTY-SIX

Mrs. Mimmam, 60 years old, of Bellevue Hospital, died at Bellevue Hospital to-night. This brings the total of dead up to 26.

New York, March 27.—Mrs. Martha K. Simmons, 50 years old, of Frederick, Md., one of the victims of the Windsor Hotel fire, died at Bellevue Hospital to-night. This brings the total of dead up to 26.

Another body, the second of the day, was found at 9:15 o'clock to-night under some steam pipes in the arched way of the first party wall of the basement, 30 feet north of 46th street. The body was wholly unrecognizable. Only the trunk, ribcage and some pieces of flesh clinging to the bones remained. The body was lying wedged under some twisted steam pipes and great difficulty was experienced in getting it free. It was sent to the morgue.

Work at the Windsor Hotel ruins proceeded somewhat more rapidly today. The letter of President Murphy of the Board of Health to the contractor the day previous seemed to have awakened him to the necessity of rapid work, and a larger force of men was put to work today.

Warren F. Lehman, proprietor of the Windsor, said to-day: "I wish it understood that the unidentified dead taken from the ruins of Potter's Field just where they will be buried cannot say yet. I received a letter today from Charles Vanderbilt offering a plot in the Stuyvesant Hollow cemetery for the burial of the victims, and another from Stephen Morris offering a plot in Green Lawn cemetery. Long Island. This goes to show that the public would not permit any needless expense if I would."

"One error I wish to correct, and that is the statement that I have been followed by fire. The impression seems to prevail that several hotels have been burned under my management. That is not true. The Windsor was the first hotel that was ever burned under my management. I was not proprietor or manager of the hotel at Newport or Albany when they burned. I also wish to state that absolutely every precaution that man could take had been provided against fire in the Windsor Hotel."

Besides the Graphophone offers wonderful entertainment in the way of reproducing the music of bands, orchestras or vocal or instrumental soloists. LATEST NEWS FROM THE BUSY CAPITOL

CITIZENS REFUSED TO AID THE LATE S. MILLS.

As Mr. Lay Bying in the Court—Ottawa Man Suddenly in Detroit—Sections May Come.

Ottawa, March, 27.—One short hour on Saturday afternoon sufficed to draw into conclusion the inquest into the facts connected with the death of the late Samuel Mills, and, at the end of that time, the jury brought in a verdict of death from natural causes. The idea that there had been any unpleasantness existing in the Mills household, as well as the allegation that Mrs. Mills had turned her husband out of the house the night of his death, were entirely refuted. On the contrary, it was shown, by the evidence of those best able to state the facts, that the family associations were most harmonious. Indeed, Mrs. Gorman, a daughter of the deceased, wept piteously, while recounting the uniform kindness of her lamented father.

Most startling was the statement made by Leopold J. Smallwood, a youth of about sixteen years of age, and Mr. J. B. Langlois, a middle-aged engineer. It seems almost incredible to think that they could have given what they described without going out of their way to render some assistance. About two o'clock last Tuesday night the boy was proceeding along Wilbrod street when he saw Mr. Mills sitting beside the coal shed near the Granite company's works. The deceased was evidently helpless, and, as a consequence, said nothing. Smallwood hastily passed on his way. Considerably over an hour later, Langlois came out of his house. He saw a dark object lying partially buried in the snow, which was falling thickly at the time. But he did not stop to examine the spot; he, too, passed on. The next morning the unfortunate victim was found lying on the spot where the dark object had lain.

Mrs. Gorman told how her father had suffered from a stroke of apoplexy in the spring of 1894, and was attended by Dr. Church, who had said that it would be a mere chance if he recovered. Since then Mr. Mills had suffered from heart trouble.

DIED FAR FROM HOME.

Yesterday afternoon Chief Powell received a telegram from Mr. Agast Timberholm, of Detroit, announcing the sudden death of Mr. Francis C. Kurnum, son of Senator Clemenow, which occurred Saturday night. Mr. Clemenow left Ottawa Thursday night for Detroit on business in connection with his mining factory, conducted under the name of Powell and Clemenow. He registered at the Wayne hotel and was apparently in the best of health and spirits. Saturday night before retiring he chatted with the clerk of the hotel and securing the key of his room went upstairs. Shortly after Mr. Clemenow entered his room some of the guests heard groans coming from the room, and at once notified the office. The door was opened and Mr. Clemenow was found lying on the floor. He was placed on the bed and medical aid summoned, but he passed away before the physician's arrival. Death was due to cerebral hemorrhage.

The deceased was about 47 years of age, and a gentleman greatly respected by all who knew him. He had always resided in Ottawa and in addition to looking after his father's business, was a member of the mining firm of Powell and Clemenow at the Detroit factory. He was a native of Detroit and would leave Detroit on the midnight train to accompany the remains home. The remains will arrive here on the Toronto train this evening. Chief Powell will meet the remains on this side of Toronto.

SECTIONS MAY UNITE.

The inspector of schools of the County of Carleton has been informed by the department of education of the limitation of the provincial government to introduce legislation during the present session that it is claimed will be of great advantage in promoting education in the rural districts throughout the province. At the present time is scattered sections where there are too few pupils to warrant the establishment of a school or a very weak one, if any, little opportunity is afforded for an educational training. It is now proposed to empower such sections to unite and the trustees will be empowered to raise a certain portion of money each year to provide for the conveyance of pupils by carriage from the remote districts to a central school. Several districts in the county of Carleton will be advantageously affected by the new arrangement, which will be put in effect in connection with a bill now before the legislature.

THE AUBURN STRIKE.

Statements of the Employees and of the Management.

A deputations of striking employees of the Auburn Woollen Mills waited on the Times yesterday for the purpose of placing their grievances before the public through the columns of The Times. The spokesman, stated that the paragraph in the Times as to perfect harmony existing between the employees and the management was incorrect. He said that the very opposite is the case. The men complain bitterly of the system of fines existing which in some cases has been known to entirely eat up the wages of an employee on pay day. This, however, Mr. Melrose admitted, were exceptional cases. The Times suggested to the deputations that the public were not likely to look favorably on their conduct from the fact that they quit work over so trifling a matter. It stated that Mr. Kennedy refused payment of four hours' time when the mill was shut down on account of another loss.

On reply Mr. Melrose said that this brought the trouble to a head, but they had 10 per cent. reduction made on their wages some four years ago, and the employees thought this should be restored. If this was done, the hands that were out would go to work. The mills were now flooded with orders, and it was, he claimed, an opportune time for the old rate to be restored. Mr. Kennedy, who was subsequently seen by the Times, stated that the mills were suffering no inconvenience whatever in consequence of some of the young hands quitting work. He said that while business was brisk and many orders were received, prices were low and no money was being made by the company. Indeed, Mr. Kennedy went to state, this was the worst season, financially, that the mills have experienced in many years. As to the rate of wages, he stated that employees of his company received more than any other mill in the country. We did not attach any importance to the statements of this man who are out. The mill had all the force of help it needed, and he was not worried over the future.

TREASURER'S REPORT.
To the Officers and Members of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club.
Gentlemen,—I have the report of the standing of the club for last season. I have to say that we are about the same position financially as we were at last meeting.

The receipts during the season were $543.40. The expenses during the season were $544.50, having a deficit of $1.10. These amounts don't include the expenses as the secretary arranged these, which swayed themselves. There are outstanding accounts amounting to about $180.00. This is not as satisfactory a report as we would like to have printed but, looking at the standing of other clubs in the C.L.A., we are in a fairly good condition, and if a good series of games is arranged for the coming summer all accounts can be paid without much trouble.

The Committee wish to thank those who contributed financially to the support of the team. They believe that the game should boom this year, and hope to see all the old members as well as the younger players turn out in fine form.

On behalf of the Finance Committee,
R. M. GLOVER,
Treasurer.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.
Gentlemen—Your Executive Committee has to congratulate you on the success of the past season, during which many interesting games were played on the home grounds, the local team winning all matches in Peterborough and one with Brampton, in the early part of the season, when four of the senior men were off the team. The Club tied Orillia for the championship of the district and though beaten out had the gratification of knowing that it was the Association to win the game. The financial support of the club was not sufficient to enable the Treasurer to report a cash balance but as the interest in the national game seems to be reviving in Peterborough, it is hoped that next season will see the matches patronized to such an extent as to enable the expenses to be met.

Some very promising new blood will be found on the field this year and the club hopes to be even still further advanced on the championship list than it has been in the last two years.

Nearly all the members of the old team, it is hoped, will be available with the exception of Messrs. Mooney and Hogarth, who finished their courses at the college and returned east in the fall. Both players came to town as students and voluntarily offered their services to the club playing throughout the season in a manner which did much to strengthen the team. Your Committee would recommend that a vote of thanks be extended to those gentlemen for the services which they so cheerfully rendered.

The Committee also desire to draw attention to the fact that the large majority of those attending the matches are of the gentler sex and would urge that, if possible, better accommodations be provided for them, the stand not being sufficiently large for the purpose for which it is intended.

Last year the Y.M.C.A. were allowed to use the grounds in the afternoon and for three evenings in each week in return for the privilege the members of the lacrosse club were allowed the use of the gymnasium and baths. If possible a similar arrangement shall be made this year.

The club looks forward with anticipation to another Rochester trip this year and the management hopes to be able to make arrangements for an outing in western Ontario by taking advantage of the cheap rates offered through the medium of the Agricultural Society's excursion to Guelph in June.

Many new clubs are affiliating with the C.L.A. this year and, as Mr. Lionel King has announced his candidature for the second vice-presidency, it behooves the club to rally strongly to the support of the Association and place a strong team in the field. Under the circumstances all the old players are asked to stand loyally by the club in an supreme effort to win the championship.

ALF TERRILL, Secretary.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

NOTES.

Mr. Fred Sullivan was elected treasurer.

The Grounds Committee will arrange for a field.

A vote of thanks was tendered to Messrs. P. J. Mooney and D. Hogarth who kindly offered their services to the team last summer.

The candidature of Mr. Lionel King for the office of 2nd Vice-President had the unanimous approval of the meeting.

The Secretary was authorized to open up communication with outside

AMERICANS ADVANCE TOWARDS MALOLOS.

Rebels are Driven Beyond Bocave—United States Troops Meet With but Slight Resistance.

DESOLATION OF WAR VISIBLE ALL OVER THE COUNTRY.

Country Between Manila and Maricao Presents the Aspect of a Cyclone—Swept Area—Dead Bodies of Natives Found Everywhere

Manila, March 29.—(Noon).—The American army advanced at six o'clock this morning, sweeping toward three miles before ten o'clock and driving the rebels beyond Bocave, to the east of Baguio and on the railroad leading to Malolos. Our troops met with but slight resistance. Information reaches here that indicates the insurgent capital has been moved from Malolos to San Fernando.

HORRORS OF WAR.

The country between Maricao and Manila presents a picture of desolation. Smoke is curling from hundreds of tiny heaps and the remains of trees and houses torn by shrapnel are to be seen everywhere. The general appearance of the country is as if it had been swept by a cyclone. The roads are strewn with furniture and clothing dropped in flight by the Filipinos. The only people remaining behind are a few aged persons, too infirm to escape. The majority of them are living on the generosity of our soldiers.

Bodies of dead Filipinos are stranded in the shadows of the river or are crawling to die or were left in the wake of the hurriedly retreating army. These bodies give forth a horrible odor, but there is no time to bury them.

The inhabitants who fled from Maricao and Mayagayay left in such a panic that on the tables our soldiers found spread money and valuables and in the rooms were trunks containing other property of value. They were not molested by the American soldiers, but the Chinese, who slip in between the

THE TERRIBLE'S TERRIBLE TIME

FIVE EXPLOSIONS ON BOARD A BRITISH CRUISER.

Three Weeks of Torment—The British Cruiser Tube Came One Death and Serious Injury—The Vessel May Prove a Worthless One.

Portsmouth, March 29.—The British first-class cruiser Terrible arrived here recently after one of the most eventful voyages on record. She landed her body of Stoker Edward Sullivan, who received fatal injuries from an explosion at sea. During three weeks the engine-room company have had a most harrowing experience. On five different occasions tubes in the Belleville water tube boilers, with which the ship is fitted, burst, and in order to prevent serious disaster fires had to be drawn out of three boilers, which were then disconnected. The culminating point was reached when the explosion, which cost Sullivan's life occurred. After this the stokers became positively afraid to go into the stokehold. There was no shirking of work, but the men felt that they carried their lives in their hands, for they never knew at what moment an explosion might occur.

The engineer officers had the same misgivings, but said nothing about it, and by their example encouraged the men to stick to their work. The whole voyage home seemed to have been an exhibition of quiet, splendid pluck on the part of the cruiser's engine officers and stoker ratings. A secret inquiry into the failure of the tubes has been made. Opinions are unfavorable to the future usefulness of the Terrible as freely expressed, especially as her sister ship the Powerful now on the China station is giving endless trouble.

The verdict of a jury has exonerated the officers of the Terrible from blame for the death of the stoker while recommending that the use of the tubing be discontinued.

THE CHALLENGER SHAMROCK.

London, March 29.—Sir Thomas Lipton, owner of the challenger for the America cup, says the Shamrock will probably be launched during the first week of June.

HONORS FOR MARCHAND.

Paris, March 29.—Captain Marchand is to be converted into a warship. It is rumored that M. Cambon, French Ambassador, at the U. S., will be replaced by someone who will counteract England's growing influence with America.

TO TAKE OVER THE PHILIPPINES.

London, March 29.—The Birmingham Post says that the United States at the beginning of February, "proposed that Great Britain take over the Philippine Islands, upon certain conditions." But, it is added, "this feeling has altered greatly since the heavy fighting, although it is said beyond a doubt that the United States would at one time have been very glad to exchange or otherwise disburden themselves of the permanent charge of the islands."

A GRUESOME HEARTHRUG.

London, March 29.—A woman told a Tottenham magistrate that her son during the late campaign on the Indian frontier made a large hearthrug out of the clothes of his slain comrades and sent it home to her. Being in want of money, she pledged it with a local pawnbroker, and while in his keeping it was badly damaged by rats. She estimated the value of the hearthrug at £10 and the damage at £5. The applicant asked for a summons against the pawnbroker for allowing the rug to become damaged.

G. F. R. SHAREHOLDERS.

London, March 29.—The meeting of the shareholders of the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada to-day, unanimously adopted the report. There was no incident of note.

MARAUDERS TEAR UP RAILS.

Ottawa, March 29.—The date of completion of the Great Canadian Railway is at present extremely problematical. "Should it be finished within the next ten years it will be a matter of regret to all concerned, for unforeseen difficulties and obstacles have arisen which make any program at all well-nigh impossible. On the Manchurian section the contractors and Chinese robber bands have entered into a sort of tacit understanding that the former will be allowed to complete their contracts with the Government for a consideration. The Chinese marauders then tear up the rails, and undo the work that has been done. This has been going on for some months, and the Government officials are at their wits' end as to how to put a stop to these outrages.

CAUSE OF WRECK.

Captain Barrett and First Officer McAllister of the Castilian B. & O. Responsible. Halifax, N.S., March 29.—Capt. Barrett and First Officer McAllister, of the wrecked Castilian, are censured by the court of inquiry which investigated the disaster to the Atlas liner on the Ganant Rock ledge on March 12, but the court refrains from interfering with their civil suit. The latter was decided upon by the court in view of Capt. Barrett's long and successful service in Atlantic navigation, and also in consideration of certain circumstances attending the disaster which had a partial bearing on its cause. One of these was the exceptional strong current running in the Bay of Fundy at the time the Castilian ran on the rocks. The court says this had something to do with carrying the steamer out of her course, but not to change it to such a serious extent. To Capt. Barrett's errors of judgment the wreck is largely attributed in the decision which was delivered to-day by Commander O. G. V. Shila, R.N.R., chairman of the court of inquiry, who finds that the ship was stopped when it found a shoal, but the captain placed too much faith in his compass.

BROWN SENTENCED TO DEATH

London Jury Finds Guilty of Murdering Constable Twobey.

London, March 29.—At a quarter to 2 o'clock this afternoon the jury returned to court with a verdict of "Guilty" against Marion Brown, the "pig-lag," for the murder of Constable Twobey, and Justice MacMahon sentenced him to be hanged on May 17th next.

The trial of Marion Brown for the murder of P. C. Twobey was concluded yesterday at 1 o'clock. Some 90 witnesses were examined for the Crown, but not one for the defence. Mr. P. Phillips made a pathetic appeal for the prisoner which occupied four hours. At times during the address the prisoner sobbed like a child. W. Lout, Q. C., spoke two hours on behalf of the Crown and the court rose at 8 o'clock. This morning Justice MacMahon addressed the jury for two hours, and the case was given to the jury at 11.30. Throughout the prolonged trial there has been an abnormal attendance of ladies, and not withstanding this not the least evidence of sympathy for the prisoner has been noticed.

SADNESS AT THIS WEDDING

At Death's Door Frank Postlethwaite Weds May Frances Haynes.

Toronto, March 29.—Love laughs at the ill of this world, and verifies the old Roman saying, "Amor vincit omnia." "Love beats everything." The strength of two loving hearts was shown on Monday afternoon, when May Frances Haynes and Frank Postlethwaite were married.

The groom lay at his father's house dying of consumption. The doctor says he cannot live out the week. The bride was young and robust, and so filled with Cupid's power that she insisted on the ceremony.

Rev. Alexander Williams, rector of St. John's Church, performed the ceremony at 102 Wellington-place, two City Harbor Master's home. Ten of the intimate relatives of the contracting parties were present, but the circumstances were so sad that instead of merry-making, those present could scarcely restrain their tears.

The courtship has lasted six years. Mr. Postlethwaite having first met his wife in Chicago. She is the daughter of George H. Haynes, formerly of Belleville, but now of Cleveland. She was a niece of the late Ald. George Gillespie.

TRUST COMPANIES WON

Legislature Declined to Impose Extra Tax on Shareholders.

Toronto, March 29.—In the Legislature yesterday afternoon the question of the amendment of the Toronto Trusts' Companies Act led to a short debate, a condensed edition of the two days' debate in the Private Bills Committee. When the bill came up for a third reading Mr. Carscaddon brought in the following amendment:

"The Corporation being insufficient to pay its debt and liability, the shareholders of the mid Toronto General Trusts' Corporation shall be liable for the deficiency to an amount equal to the value of the shares held by them in addition to any amount not paid up on such shares."

Mr. Carscaddon reproduced his arguments stating that the corporations were endeavoring to relieve themselves from large amounts of liabilities, that a corporation holding $20,000,000 in trust should not be permitted to engage in any speculative enterprise, and that the remedy should be made to reduce the stock, still other securities had been added. The corporation was not like a bank, which was subject to double liability, for it was subject to inspection, limited its investment and cannot issue debentures.

Early Way Meeting.

Detroit, March 29.—That there will be a spring running meeting at Highland Park, there now seems to be little doubt, although at Mr. Henry's office it is said that the matter has not been settled. The Highland Park Club is interested in Canadian racing to the extent that it would like to see all the trucks do well, so there would be no grounds for complaint that it is hogging. With this in view Farmer and others have about decided to bring the horses here the first week in May and gather up a little loose change. The arrangement comes through the American Stock Farm of Lexington, which says:

Manager Farmer is considering the advisability of giving a 12-meeting at Highland Park, Detroit, from May 3 to May 18, closing just in time for the horses to reach Toronto for the opening day there on May 29. Mr. Farmer's idea, in giving this meeting previous to the opening of the regular Canadian circuit is to give the horsemen an opportunity to break the horses to reach Toronto for the opening day there on May 29. ADVANTAGES OF NEW ONTARIO ABLY SET FORTH.

Rich Mineral Country—Big Area of Good Farming Land—Dependence from the District—Seasonal Notes.

Ottawa, March 29.—The illustrious resources of newer Ontario and the exceptional inducements which that country affords to intending settlers were eloquently portrayed and freely illustrated at the mass meeting held in the city hall last night under the auspices of the delegation now in the city for the purpose of promoting the colonization of the district. There was a good attendance, considering the unfavorable weather, and great interest was manifested by all. Mayor Payment presided and opened the meeting with a brief speech.

Mr. W. J. Poupore, M.P., the first speaker referred at some length to the resources of newer Ontario, which, in his opinion, were unsurpassed by any country in the world. The district, with which he had considerable acquaintance, was rich in mineral deposits of immeasurable extent and wealth. The government of Canada, he thought, could do nothing better than to assist the schemes now on foot for the development of the resources of this section of the country.

Alluding to the Georgian Bay canal scheme, Mr. Poupore said that when it was accomplished the port of Ontario now undeveloped would furnish an immense volume of traffic from the interior to the seaboard and develop an immense industry in transportation.

Mr. D. F. Barker, of Port Arthur, delivered an interesting speech, illustrated with maps and descriptive of the western country and its resources. Speaking of the rich mineral deposits of newer Ontario he said that there was sufficient iron ore to provide for a yearly output of eighteen million tons equal in richness to any ore produced in the United States. Yet on account of the absence of railway communication, transport was rendered an impossibility. The new district which it was proposed to develop comprised 17,000 square miles and 75 per cent of the acreage of the province. The fact of the importance of the country being recognized was evidenced by the action of the Ontario government, which had decided to subsidize 700 miles of railway in that district. He had no doubt that the future development of the country would result in the establishment of immense smelting works in Ottawa and other cities. In addition to the vast mineral resources the country was also excellently suited for agricultural purposes. Out of the 17,000 square miles of land uncultivated, a quarter of it was available for agricultural pursuits.

Dr. Bell, of the Geological survey, also spoke stating that the investigations made by the department showed the country to be one of the finest in Canada, eminently suited for agricultural purposes.

SESSIONAL NOTES.

Mr. Powell in moving Mr. W. H. Lynch's report on the Yukon.

Hon. Cliffordifton, was in his report yesterday having recovered from his indisposition.

Hon. Mr. Wainwright, general assistant of the Grand Trunk, is in the city on departmental business.

Hon. Lyman M. Jones, manager of the Massey Harris company, is in the city seeing members of the government.

Mr. Cameron wants to know what the government is going to do about the vote of the Quebec legislatures.

Contrary to expectations, the Easter recess will begin on Friday instead of Thursday as when the house adjourns Thursday night the premier will be leaving to return home, but it is adjourned to Tuesday.

In reply to a question put by the leader of the opposition, Sir Wilfrid Laurier told in the house yesterday that the copy of the auditor-general's report so far handed in to the Bureau had been printed, but there was some yet to be supplied.

The following militia order, dated yesterday, will probably cause some speculation as to its incentive. The general officer commanding desires that it shall be clearly understood by all concerned that all officers appointed temporarily or otherwise to command military districts, are for the time being, in their military capacity as such representing himself. The general officer commanding holds himself responsible for all their military actions, for which they are accountable to him.

Headed to a Stiffened Grip.

Montreal, March 29.—This city is experiencing another March blizzard this morning. The heavy rain which continued all night was succeeded at an early hour by a heavy fall of snow, and after several inches had fallen, the storm assumed the character of an old time blizzard, though the temperature is very mild. The streets are in an awful state, pedestrians navigating with difficulty and kept deep by slush. Car traffic is kept up, but with much difficulty. The trucks are veritable lakes of slush, many motors being destroyed in consequence. Owing to the lateness of the season and the quantity of snow, there is much fear of a flood, should the weather suddenly change to warm spring weather, which is usual at this late date.

FILIPINOS FIGHT BRAVELY FOR THEIR LIBERTY.

They Moved on Meriloa Yesterday, but Were Repulsed
With Severe Loss—American Loss Was Five Killed and Fourteen Wounded.

SOUTH DAKOTAS MADE SEVERAL BRILLIANT CHARGES

They Lost Ten Killed and Eleven Wounded, Including Three Lieutenants—A Trench Cleared of Natives Who Left Ninety of Their Number Dead—American Soldiers Enjoying Excellent Health.

Manila, March 28.—The gunboat Laguna de Bay attacked the insurgents at Bulacan. Three Americans were wounded. MacArthur's division has crossed the Marikina river and is advancing northward. The insurgents attacked the Americans last evening at Marikina, but were repulsed with severe loss. Our loss was five killed and 14 wounded.

Later Garcia, a native general, came down from Dagupan by train with one thousand riflemen and four thousand Boymen and took positions at Marikina. A river was between the Americans and the insurgent forces. The South Dakota volunteers and the 3rd Artillery, acting as infantry, were thrown forward. The South Dakotas charged brilliantly across an open space on the east of the railway (the edge of some woods). They lost ten killed and eleven wounded, including three lieutenants. The 3rd Artillery on the right of the railroad charged and lost nine men wounded, two mortally.

On the left the insurgents in a trench east of the river offered a stubborn resistance. Lieut. Critchlow, with two guns of the Utah battery, and Lieut. Davis, with a navy coil gun, forced thirty insurgents in a long trench on the opposite side of the river to surrender at close quarters of one hundred yards. The rest of the insurgents got out with severe loss. Ninety dead insurgents were counted.

THE OFFICIAL DESPATCH.

Manila, March 28.—MacArthur had severe fighting yesterday afternoon beyond Marikina. The insurgents, led by Garcia, fought against Spanish troops of Aguinaldo, brought from Marikina. Rejected as my withdrawal. Adjutant Lion and Lieutenant Adams and Morrison and four enlisted men of that regiment killed; Lieut. McLaughlin and 22 enlisted men wounded; 100 yesterday mostly confined to this regiment. Partial destruction of railroads, which is being rapidly repaired, impedes MacArthur's progress. Supply railway trains have now reached Marikina and MacArthur is in Bulacan river, where great execution was done yesterday. They will relieve pressure on MacArthur's front materially. Troops in excellent condition and spirits. Proclamation signed Luna, general-in-chief insurgent forces, directs all towns abandoned be burned. In consequence thereof much country north in flames. (Signed) Oila.

WENT THROUGH THE ISLAND.

Chicago, March 28.—G. P. Farrell, captain and assistant surgeon of the 1st California Volunteer is in Chicago. He was selected last October to make a tour of investigation extending from Manila to Dagupan. He has traversed the country where the Americans are now fighting, and in speaking of the locality said: "The railway line extends up the middle of the valley along which our troops have been advancing. The country in which recent operations have taken place is very flat and is simply a succession of rice fields. Between this valley and the sea is a low range of hills and on the other hand is the coast range of mountains, perhaps five thousand or six thousand feet high. The rice fields are quite small and are separated by dikes."

to that they can be forced. The natives use the dikes for trenches, retreating from one to another, and thus in shortening a position they can close the fields and thus hinder the advance of our men.

THE FINAL RESULT.

There will be several pitched battles and then Aguinaldo's army will be dispersed, but the American army in the Philippines will have to contend with guerrilla warfare for several years to come.

"How did you happen to make a trip through the islands?"

"It was found advisable to ascertain what the natives in the interior were doing, and what seemed to be their attitude towards the Americans. The American officers in uniform who had attempted to traverse this part of the country had been arrested and sent back, so I traveled as a civilian."

That was late in October. As I am of English birth, I allowed the natives to believe that I was an Englishman. In addition to that I spoke Spanish and found little difficulty in getting along, although I was continually stopped and questioned. At every town the soldiers demanded of me a pass from Aguinaldo. The fact that Aguinaldo was mentioned everywhere and that he was regarded as their leader gave me some idea of his influence in the island. Everywhere I found the natives arming themselves and drilling constantly. Even the little boys were marching up and down the streets and being drilled, and I never saw more military enthusiasm in any country. Of course the drilling was very awkward and the discipline was poor. The fact that new arms were being distributed showed that the natives were in a policy of preparation was being put in effect. It is evident that the natives have competent engineers with them, for their trenches have been well constructed and so arranged that soldiers can retreat from one to another without putting themselves to danger.

Aguinaldo impressed me as a very shrewd leader. He was exceedingly suspicious of the Americans, and I found the greatest difficulty in getting any information out of him."

A RATE WAR NOT PROBABLE

That is what S. P. R. For the U. S. Navy.

Montreal, March 27.—Mr. James O'Brien, assistant to the vice-president of the Canadian Pacific, leaves tomorrow for Winnipeg, having been appointed general superintendent of the western division, his jurisdiction extending from Fort William to the summit of the Rockies, on the main line, as well as the Crow's Nest Railway to the foot of Kootenay Lake. Mr. O'Brien has been connected with the C.P.R. since 1888, and is considered a very able official.

Mr. McNicholl, general passenger manager of the C.P.R., returned this morning from the St. Paul meeting. He states the trouble between the Great Northern and the central transcontinental lines.

The Great Northern inaugurated special colonization rates as an inducement to open vast tracts of agricultural lands along their line. The rates are very attractive. The cover is appropriate, and the colored illustrations for Theodore Robert's poem are something new for a Canadian periodical. The stories are contributed by Joanna E. Wood, W. A. Fraser, Bessie Bell, Margaret O'Grady, J. O'Higgins and Margaret O'Grady.

Sir Louis H. Davies writes feelingly of the late Lord Herschell in an article which shows the national character of this magazine. Judge Ernest, gives many interesting facts about the late Lord Herschell, and his famous Revere's Rivers of Revolutionary Times. There is also a full page portrait of this man who was afterwards governor of Michilimackinac, and was tried by court-martial in Montreal in 1793. Major-General Strachan writes of the Niagara Canal, and William Thorpe on the possibilities of closer union between the West Indies and Canada. There is a two-page article of Thomas Shaughnessy, the famous railroad magnate; a short article on Easter and many other attractive features.

Magnificent illustrations make the Easter number of The Canadian Magazine very attractive. Quinlan's Race

James Ernest Caldwell. Quinlan is a farmer on the tenth line lives. Of a township somewhere to the north of here. Many a boiling day, in mid-July he gives To the hay-field, working-eating like a steam. So he says himself, and he ought to know. Though you may not like the phrase it has got to go.

Quinlan's of a thrifty turn, likewise somewhat gay. And the two he sometimes couples on the quay. Not a man who drives the road can outstep him any way. He could buy a Jew out cheap and sell him dear. So he says himself, and he ought to know. If you don't believe it, still it has to go.

Quinlan lives on hay or (lest that should mystify). As the land is low it's his most paying crop; When you see a lead go by, piled half way to the sky. You may know the price and Quinlan's on the top. So he says himself, and he ought to know. Though you don't believe it, or this will go.

Quinlan to the city took a lead last fall. (Everybody else was sticking to the plough). So to tell it well was no special trick at all. Twenty dollars by the ton, fresh from the mow. So he says himself, and he ought to know. Never stick at trifles—best to let it go.

Quinlan took his dinner, feeling mighty well; For his load had fetched a pretty well; What he sampled after suits me not to tell. Riding home he later on began to nod. So he says himself, and he ought to know. On a point like this, don't quibble, but let it go.

Quinlan heard the whistle of a coming train— Like a trumpet blast every nerve sent a thrill. To his morning horses Quinlan gave a nod. They settled to their maddest gallop with a will. So he says himself, and he ought to know. 'Twas a sight and a fright to see that wagon go!

Quinlan standing up with his knees a-bend. Yelling—shouting on the lines with might and main; Every board the wagon gave seemed like to be its end. While racing for the crossing with the train. So he says himself, and he ought to know. Racing for such deadly stakes wouldn't Quinlan go!

Quinlan beat the train, he did, by half a length; But the front wheels barely crossed the track when—crash! Like a thunder-bolt of quite unusual strength. The engine gave the binder wheels a smash! So he says himself, and he ought to know. Flying down the rail-track, see those hind wheels go!

Quinlan journeyed homeward, Roman-chariot-wise. Wearing all the while a look of gravity profound— Though a thousand times in future occasions should arise when he would never racing with a train will be the downfall! So he says himself, and he ought to know. Racing for the crossing, who but fools would go!

An Easter Number.

Magnificent illustrations make the Easter number of The Canadian Magazine very attractive. The cover is appropriate, and the colored illustrations for Theodore Robert's poem are something new for a Canadian periodical. The stories are contributed by Joanna E. Wood, W. A. Fraser, Bessie Bell, Margaret O'Grady, J. O'Higgins and Margaret O'Grady.

Sir Louis H. Davies writes feelingly of the late Lord Herschell in an article which shows the national character of this magazine. Judge Ernest, gives many interesting facts about the late Lord Herschell, and his famous Revere's Rivers of Revolutionary Times. There is also a full page portrait of this man who was afterwards governor of Michilimackinac, and was tried by court-martial in Montreal in 1793. Major-General Strachan writes of the Niagara Canal, and William Thorpe on the possibilities of closer union between the West Indies and Canada. There is a two-page article of Thomas Shaughnessy, the famous railroad magnate; a short article on Easter and many other attractive features.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

On account of Good Friday being a holiday, there will be no issue of the Times in the morning.

Stricken With Paralysis.
The many friends of Mr. R. H. Green, ex-Minister of the Crown, will be sorry to learn that he has suffered two strokes of paralysis, and is now very low. He had the first stroke on Sunday last, and the second on Tuesday.

Lumbering Operations.
The lumbering business this year in this district is at high water mark. The Dickson Company cut will be in the neighborhood of twelve millions, and if the new cuts are active too soon, it may reach even higher figures. Mr. Alf. Macdonald is talking out about three million feet from his limits, in an increase of about two million over last year.

See From the Little Lake.
The Times has received a letter enquiring if ice vendors are allowed to fill their ice houses with ice cut from the Little Lake. There is no law that we know of to prevent them. When the snow emptied into the river above the Lake, there was ground for reasonable objections. Now, however, the coverage is carried down below the locks, so that the water of the lake should be fairly good.

HON. MR. TARTE CONVERTED

The Minister of Public Works Wants the Trent Canal Finished.

Speaking in the House of Commons yesterday Hon. Mr. Tarte, referring to public works proposed and in process of construction, referred to the Trent Valley canal as follows, according to the Globe's report.

"A good deal has been said also in reference to the Trent Valley system; a good deal has been said against the project. I made an inspection of that system during the last recess, and I have come down here a convert; I am glad to say that in my opinion the Trent Valley Canal work is not the building of a canal; it is the saving of a magnificent series of lakes and waterways. It would be in my humble opinion, a fatal mistake and a blunder to think for a single moment of not proceeding with that national work."

"Mr. Hughes—Will you push it through?"

"Hon. Mr. Tarte—To the best of my ability; but, of course, I hope that the hon. gentleman will have enough influence on the other side of the House that they will not accuse us of crimes when we go on with the work."

The Belleville Water Works

The city of Belleville, have just purchased the water works from the Company for $119,444.78. Peterborough will no doubt follow suit later on.

Frailty of Man's Nature.
Mr. J. B. Olin has sold his fruit and fish business to Mr. R. A. Dalton, of Barrie, who took possession today. Mr. Dalton has had twenty-five years experience in this line of business and intends to keep a well-equipped store in all lines. The Times extends a hearty welcome to Mr. Dalton to Peterborough.

A Chance for Progress.
Electrons will be found in advertisement of Messrs. F. X. O'Rourke & Co., of the Erie Street, Toronto, which is worthy of the attention of our readers. This well-known and enterprising firm have a tremendous stock of goods, which they are disposing of at prices never before heard of in Canada. The stock has been slightly damaged by fire and smoke, and comprises a large portion of the Green-shield stock in Montreal. This large wholesale house, it will be remembered, was recently injured by fire, and the stock was sold by public auction by order of the insurance companies. Read the advertisement for yourselves.

Get in Time.
The Times is informed that a movement is on foot to wind up the curling season by a grand bonspiel between the Grits and Tories on good Friday. We have no idea that the match will be played, but it would be a sufficient number of Tories to make up five or six risks. And as for their opponents, if Grit office holders are barred from playing, as is proposed, they would certainly be in the same box as the Tories. Whether plan would be to line up the office seekers and holders as opposing forces, we would have Col. H. C. Rogers, postmaster, for instance, skipping a risk against a risk skipped by Dr. Bell. Mr. Frank Bell, Clerk of the Division Court, would no doubt run up against Skip B. W. Barrett, and Mr. J. B. McWilliam would have to play a risk of skips. The only difficulty would be to secure ice. It would take a sheet as large as the Lake Ontario to enable them all to play at once.

This firm erected a flour mill on the spot now occupied by the factory of the Ontario Cement Company. The subsequently built a shingle mill on the Otonabee side of the river, just above the locks bridge. In politics Mr. Sperry was a Liberal, and his religion a Methodist, having been a constant member of the George street church. He was for many years a member of the School Board and served for several years on the Town Council. He was twice married. His first wife was Miss Cooke, of Camden, N.Y., who died in 1861. Fraser, of Norwood, and Mrs. Hugh Barran, of Smith's Falls. The deceased was a gentleman who was universally respected, having earned the esteem of his fellow citizens by his integrity and uprightness of character.

The Leading Wheel. Yesterday the Times was favored with a call from Mr. R. E. McCall, representing the Gendron Manufacturing Company, Limited, Toronto, who was in town looking after the fine exhibit made by that company at the Y.M.C.A. rooms. Mr. McCall said that the Gendron wheel was the most perfect machine of its kind in existence, and the prospects were that we would see a number of their wheels world-wide this year. The Company has appointed Messrs. J. J. The advertisement of the Company will appear in a few days.

A Baritone Accident.
On Tuesday evening, shortly after seven o'clock, Inspector Oromption, of Toronto, who is in Peterboro on a periodical official visit, fell on the corner of Hunter and George streets, and as a consequence striking his head, is suffering from concussion of the brain. The Inspector and his assistant were returning in a hack from Mr. J. E. Carter's residence, where they had been dining and at the corner of Hunter and George-sts, the Inspector alighted from the carriage, in order to get some papers from his room at the Oriental Hotel, before resuming work. Just as he stepped on the crossing, he turned to address Mr. Carter, and losing his footing fell, striking his head heavily on the ice. He was picked up in a dazed condition and taken, to his room, where he lay unconscious until yesterday morning. He is now, we are glad to say, recovering, and will, we hope, soon be on his feet again.

The practice of the "Cool Town Bells" was well attended last night and the colored gentlemen are getting their various parts down to perfection. Mr. Stain, the general manager, informs us that the company will start to play the surrounding towns in a week or so.

CHANNEL STEAMER STELLA SPLITS ON CASKETS

Latest Particulars of the Disaster Show That Over Eighty People Went Down with the Steamer.

STELLA STRUCK WHILE MAKING SPEED THROUGH A FOG

A Few Survivors Escaped in Boats, but Only One Officer was Rescued—Perfect Order Prevailed—Heartrending Scenes—The Cause.

Southampton, April 1.—The passenger steamer Stella, plying between this port and the Channel Islands, crashed upon the dreaded Casket rocks, off the island of Alderney, on Thursday afternoon in a dense fog, and foundered in a few minutes, her boilers exploding with a tremendous report as she went down. It is estimated that over eighty persons were drowned. The coasting steamer Lynx, which brought the news of the disaster here, picked up four boats and forty persons belonging to the Stella.

The second officer of the steamer, who was among those rescued, says that a collapsible boat was launched full of people, but he thinks she struck the rocks, owing to the fog. Another steamer has picked up a boat containing 15 persons, including twenty women who escaped from the wrecked steamer. They have been landed here.

The Stella, which belongs to the London & Southwestern Railway Company, left Southampton at noon on Thursday conveying the first daylight excursion of the season to the Channel Islands. There were about 140 passengers on board, taking an Easter holiday, and the crew numbered 42 men.

FOGGY WEATHER.

The weather was foggy but all went well until the afternoon, when the fog became most dense. At 4 o'clock the Casket suddenly loomed up through the fog bank, and the steamer almost immediately afterwards struck amidships. The captain, seeing that the Stella was fast sinking, ordered the lifeboats to be launched. His instructions were carried out with the utmost clarity, and the women and children were embarked in the boats. Then the captain ordered the men to look after themselves.

A survivor states that he and 25 others put off from the Stella in a small boat. The sea was calm, but there was a big swirl around the rocks. When this boat was a short distance away from the wreck the boilers of the Stella burst with a terrific explosion, and the vessel disappeared stern foremost in the sea. The last thing the survivor saw was the figure of the captain of the Stella, standing calmly on the bridge and giving his last orders. The captain perished with his vessel, owing to the very great suction caused by the sinking steamer.

TREMENDOUS SUCTION.

Continuing the survivor referred to said: "The suction was so tremendous that we thought our boat would be engulfed. I saw five boats and the collapsible boat, besides our boat, leave the wreck. They contained altogether between 80 and 100 hundred passengers. Five of the boats were soon lost to view, but we took a boat filled with women in tow, and the occupants of our boat took the oars in turn and rowed all night long until most of us dropped asleep, thoroughly exhausted. We sighted a sailboat at 8 o'clock in the morning, but the Great Western Railway Company's steamer Lynx, from Weymouth, had meanwhile been in sight. She bore down on us and took us all on board. She eventually landed us at Guernsey."

The Great Western Railroad Company's steamer Vera, from Southampton, picked up forty others of the survivors, and landed them at Guernsey.

THOSE DROWNED.

According to the latest estimates of the officials of the London & Southwestern Railway Company, not more than 70 persons were drowned, out of 220 on board the Stella, when she struck on the rocks. Other reports, however, place the number of drowned much higher.

The disaster caused intense excitement in the island of Guernsey and here. There were harrowing scenes at the office of the London & Southwestern railway at both places. Many Guernsey families lost relatives.

Up to noon yesterday 120 passengers had been accounted for. The steamers Vera and Honfleur are cruising in the vicinity of the wreck.

SPEED NOT LESSENED.

A survivor of the Stella named Bush says the speed of the vessel in the fog was not diminished, though the fog whistles were sounded. Bush adds that at 3:30 a.m. the engineer showed him in the engine room a dial registering a speed of 18 1/2 knots, and that the vessel struck within 25 minutes afterwards.

Bush further asserts that two lifeboats were sunk with the steamer, which, after resting on the rocks for ten or fifteen minutes, split in two and disappeared.

Continuing, Bush said: "When the Stella disappeared clinging to pieces of wreckage or cabin furniture, and crying piteously for help. All the passengers and crew had been provided with life belts, and there was little panic as the ship sank. I first slipped into the water and then swam to one of the boats, into which I was helped. We rowed rapidly in the direction of Guernsey, but seven hours later we found our selves near the scene of the wreck, and saw dozens of persons clinging to the rocks."

The boat in which Bush was a passenger was afterwards picked up by the Lynx.

PERFECT ORDER.

The passenger all agree that perfect order and discipline prevailed on board the Stella. The crew promptly took up their stations when the steamer struck, and the life belts and lowered the boats. The scene at the moment of the sinking of the vessel was heart-rending. Women were screaming and praying, and people were clinging to spars and other wreckage in all directions. Those who had succeeded in getting into the boats had a narrow escape from being engulfed on account of the suction caused by the sinking vessel. The voice of Captain Brooks from the bridge was frequently heard urging the rowers to pull for their lives. Life boats were adrift for fifteen hours, during which time their occupants were without food or water, and as their clothes were drenched they suffered greatly.

THE CAUSE.

The disaster is generally attributed to the high speed at which the steamer was travelling in the fog. The second mate was the only officer of the Stella who was saved. The captain and the other officers, most of the crew, and many other passengers sank with the steamer. A boat in charge of the chief officer capsized and almost all its occupants were drowned. A few of them were picked up by other boats.

The sole survivor of the Heathpool says her crew numbered 16 men. They left Guernsey on Thursday, and collided with an unknown vessel yesterday evening. The Heathpool commenced to sink immediately, and her captain calling out to the other vessel, a larger ship, to slow down, but the latter swung around and apparently proceeded on. The survivor jumped into the water and clung to a lifeboat until picked up.

Toronto, April 1.—The Wall-Street Journal, says that Col. James McNaught & Redding, 35 Nassau street, New York, and Mr. H. H. Melville, of Boston, have placed bonds necessary for the completion of the Great Northern Railway of Canada. This road is to be part of a line extending from Duluth to Liverpool via Georgian Bay, Lake Huron, Ontario and Quebec. The railroad portion of the line will be 655 miles long and all has been built except 88 miles. A contract for the construction of these 88 miles has just been given by the Great Northern Construction Company, composed of Barry & McRae of Toronto, who undertake to complete to whole line, including the bridge over the Ottawa river, and to deliver it to the company ready for traffic by July 1900. The contract price is understood to be $1,000,000.

The line runs through a stretch of country having a fair local business. There are two very important water powers available, and 135 manufacturing establishments are already on the line of road. The Great Northern line proper is 172 miles long. The remainder of the railroad route is composed of the Canadian Atlantic and the Quebec and Lake St. John lines.

The company has made arrangements to build steamers to run from Duluth to Georgian Bay and has substantially completed arrangements for a ocean line from Quebec to Liverpool. The Quebec Harbor Board has given an exemption from harbor dues for a number of years, and has granted a free site for a large grain elevator.

ENGLISH CHANNEL WRECKS.

Earlier Signalled by Three Collisions and Great Loss of Life.

Dover, Eng., April 1.—The British steamer Ethelinda is off Hungness, proceeding slowly and not under control, according to the signal flying. She has canvas about her bows and her boats are hanging over her sides. She has signalled that she has been in collision with an unknown vessel, possibly the Ethelinda, which is commanded by Captain Harrison. Left Buenos Ayres on February 25 for Antwerp.

HEATHPOOL GOES DOWN.

Brighton, Eng., April 1.—The British steam collier Heathpool from Sunderland for St. Nazaire, France, was run down and sunk yesterday evening off Beachy Head. Only one of her crew was saved. The Heathpool was a steamer of 600 tons, built at Sunderland in 1885, and owned by the Lamport Collieries (Limited), Newcastle. She was 210 feet long, had 32 feet 3 inches beam and was 14 feet 5 inches deep.

PONTOS STRUCK AMIDSHIPS.

Dover, Eng., April 1.—The German steamer Pontos from Rosario about Feb 24 has been sunk in the channel off Beachy Head. Twelve men were killed and the German steamer in a boat were picked up exhausted and have been landed here. The captain and 19 of the crew have been landed at Hastings.

It appears that the Star of New Zealand ran into the Pontos during the darkness of the early morning, striking her amidships. Twelve men were killed and the German steamer in a boat were picked up exhausted and have been landed here. The captain and 19 of the crew have been landed at Hastings.

A large up-channel steamer has signalled that she has received twelve of the crew and six passengers of the Pontos. Thus all the crew, numbering 30 men, and all the passengers of the sunken steamer have been rescued.

AFFIDAVITS IN THE PONTON CASE

TESTIMONY IN APPLICATION FOR A CHANGE OF VENUE.

Eleven of the Twelve Jurors Say That They Were Not Influenced by Any Notes That Might Have Been Made.

Toronto, April 1.—Mr. Justice Robertson appeared at Osgoode Hall at 11 o'clock this morning to hear argument in the application of the Crown for a change of venue in the Ponton case. Ponton had made changes in his Toronto counsel, having turned over his affairs to the firm of Beatty, Blackstock & Co. Mr. McKay of that firm was present, and asked for an adjournment on the ground of unfamiliarity with the case, he having been only put in possession of the papers some twenty minutes before. His Lordship reminded him that the matter had been hanging fire for some time at Ponton's request, and the court's engagements were such argument must be gone on to-day. He gave Mr. McKay until 5 o'clock to prepare his case. Mr. Leighton McCarthy, M.P., appeared for the Crown, and Deputy Attorney-General Cartwright was present as an interested spectator.

CASE FOR THE CROWN.

The Crown has filed a number of affidavits proving that it is impossible to get a fair and impartial trial in Napanea, while the opposite side file 30 affidavits saying that it is not only a possibility, but an actuality. Sheriff Hawley, of Lennox and Addington, Vincent Detective Greer, Provincial Constable McIlwain, who had charge of the jury; Hector Charlesworth, of the Mail and Empire staff, and Chief of Police Adams testify as to seriousness of the demonstration on the final night of the trial. They believe the jury were intimidated by the noise and yelling of the crowd outside the court house, and, furthermore, several threats against the judge were made, necessitating the reading of the riot act. Mr. McIlwain said he was appealed to for protection by jurymen and Mr. Charlesworth states that it was necessary for him to secure police protection, as threats of violence had been made against him because he did not co-operate with his favor of Ponton.

PONTON'S DEFENCE.

Against the array of defence Ponton presented a statement by himself to the effect that his financial position will not permit of any change of place of trial. Most of his witnesses are of Napanea, and he could not afford to take them anywhere else. He admitted that at the last trial the Crown contributed $450 to cover his costs. His lawyer, E. Gav Porter, said there was no demonstration, no threats of violence, nor any unlawful conduct at Napanea. The noise alleged could not be heard by the jurymen, and could not have intimidated them. A resolution of the Town Council of Napanea to the effect that the trial should be held there was also filed. Col. W. N. Ponton, and Nelson J. S. E. de la Cruz, gave testimony on similar lines.

Ponton also produced affidavits from eleven of his 12 jurymen saying that they had not been influenced by any noise or demonstration, and 19 of the 11 said that a fair trial could be had in Napanea. Edward Kaylor declined to have that clause inserted in his affidavit. Those who were willing including: Anthony McDougall (Crown), John Hapkins, Harvey E. Smith, Thos. Chas. Thos. Hamilton, James Blisset, Wm. Wilson, Neil Millson, Charles Palmerston and Bernard Dougard. One of the jurymen's affidavits said that he believed none of his fellow jurymen had been influenced except John Hapkins, who told him he thought the judge was trying him (Hapkins) and sentencing him to be crazy.

It was stated in Napanea yesterday that this man Hapkins had gone insane since the trial.

Henry Holden and George E. Pare the two confessed robbers commented through High Constable Sile to say change the Crown might see fit.

Relief Steamer Ashore.

The Captains are Again the Scene of an Accident.

Southampton, April 1.—The London and Southwestern Railway Company's steamer Southwestern, which was sent to search for the wreck of the Stella, was struck on the Casket rocks on Thursday afternoon, west of the last night.

The news of the disaster to the Southwestern was received by a message from the signal station at Cape La Hague on the coast of Normandy, opposite Aurigny Island, in the same district as the Casket rocks. The message said the Southwestern was ashore in that vicinity with her hull stove in. The crew remained on board.

English Navy Shoots Badly

Percentage of Hits is Far Below that of the Americans.

London, April 1.—The victories of the United States have caused general discussion in the English navy as to shooting. It would appear from figures which are being quoted that the claim of the Americans to be the best shot in the world is not far from being substantiated, and English officers are accordingly moving in the direction of increasing their own efficiency by new practices. Mr. H. W. Wilson, the well-known naval expert, points out that in 1897 the crack ship of the American navy, the Philadelphia, and the very high figure of 92 per cent. of hits, while it is stated that all the ships which fought in Admiral Sampson's fleet at Santiago had records from 75 to 90 per cent. These figures are fairly remarkably high in the practice of 1898 the crack ship was the Texas, with a record of 93.

The English crack fleet, the Mediterranean, fired 280 rounds with a big gun and made only 30 per cent. of hits.

Several admirals have recognized the danger of the situation and are setting an example in improving gunnery. Admiral Harris, for instance, has issued an order that target practice shall be carried out in his presence, and that so much of the practice shall be devoted to the use of the new 12-inch gun as to show the effect of the new gun on the old gun.

It is view of the fact that English shooting is not all that it should be, it is satisfactory to see that Mr. Goschen in the present estimates has increased by £100,000 the grant for ammunition to be used in practice.

Steamship Owners are Sorry

They Criticise the Admiralty for Withdrawing the Subsidies.

London, April 1.—The announcement of the withdrawal of the Government's subsidies to the Cunard Line steamers Lucania and Campania has created intense interest. The withdrawal means a heavy loss to the Cunard Line and also to the White Star Line, from which the subsidies are also to be withdrawn. In fact it means especially hard on the White Star Line, whose steamer Oceanic will be sent in compliance with the British Admiralty requirements. The Admiralty view of the case seems to be that Great Britain is rapidly losing her sailing tonnage and replacing it with steamships, which will have the effect of confining ocean traffic to well-known routes and that in the event of hostilities these routes would be still further simplified, so the problem of commercial defence mainly concerns the protection of the great overseas routes. The Admiralty proposes to accomplish this partly by flying squadrons operating from bases commanding these routes. This view, however, is criticised here, and the newspapers quote Captain Mahan and Admiral Sampson as showing the immense service auxiliary cruisers, as scouts, can do for regular squadrons. Admiral Sampson's statement that the American Line steamers proved unfeasible in the late war with Spain is particularly referred to.

High Court of Justice.

List of Cases to Come Before the Court This Week.

The spring sittings of the High Court of Justice will open in the Court House to-morrow, Tuesday at 1 p.m. There are seven cases to be disposed of as follows—

Young v. Andrews—jury case—W. J. Young charged Harry T. Andrews with seduction of Ellen Young, his sister, in 1897, and claimed $5,000 and costs. The defendant denies that he seduced Ellen Young or caused her to become pregnant, and claims $5,000 damages for words alleged to be uttered by Wm. J. Young injurious to the reputation of the defendant. D. O'Connor for plaintiff; Gen. J. Sharkey for defendant.

James v. Armstrong—jury case—Florence James, an infant under twenty-five years of age, claims that W. H. G. Armstrong and wife, Mary Ann Armstrong wrote a letter to her, in which they charged plaintiff with gross immorality. Plaintiff asks $1,000 damages and costs. Defendants deny writing the letter, with any such meaning as plaintiff claims is expressed, and state that letter was written with malicious intent. R. B. Stone for plaintiff; Stratton & Hall for defendant.

Harper v. Toronto Type Foundry Co.—jury case—This case has been in the courts for some time. J. A. Harper asks for $2,000 damages as the result of alleged wrongful dealing on part of defendants. Defendants claim set-off equal to judgment obtained by them against plaintiff. A. P. Poussette for plaintiff; Ryckman, Kirkpatrick and Kerr for defendant.

Stanton v. Stanton—Martha Stanton charges her husband, Edward Stanton with adultery with one Minnie Stewart, and refused to live with him. She asks that the court grant alimony and such other relief as the case justifies. The defendant denies the charges made. The parties live in Caran. Demistoun Peck & Stevenson for plaintiff; E. B. Edwards for defendant.

Dover v. Dennis, Carruthers, Burnham, et al.—This case arises out of the Burnham estate trouble. The plaintiffs, Agnes and Violet Dover, claim that Henry Dennis, Thos. Carruthers and John Burnham, as executors for the estate of the late Stephen Dover, were negligent in their administration and that $8,000 was thus lost to the plaintiffs. They ask that defendants be ordered to make an account of all their dealings as executors. The defendants deny all charges and claim that plaintiffs were fully aware of all dealings. They ask that case be dismissed. E. B. Edwards for plaintiffs; Hall & Haynes and Demistoun Peck & Stevenson for defendants.

Boyes v. Boyes—Stephen Boyes, of Smith, for the reconveyance to himself of certain lands deeded over him to his son, W. A. Boyes, of Smith, claiming breach of agreement on part of defendant. E. B. Edwards for plaintiff; Stratton & Hall for defendant.

The Last Bequest.—The Currier bequest on good Friday, between six rinks composed of Grits and six of Tories, as most of readers know, resulted in favor of the former by a majority of four shots. That was about the size of Mr. Hardy's majority after the general elections, and like his, will probably grow as time rolls on. Alderman Davidson's risk had a majority of 15 shots over his Tory opponents, while Mr. Bond Bay, for the Tories was 15 up. The editor of this great family journal has been requested to state that there are six rinks of independent shots who claim to be able to wipe the ice with the winners, either for fun, money or morality. This is a fair statement to betting, but we are inclined to put up a few hundred dollars on the match, even if we are obliged to hypothesize some of our Turkish bonds to raise the wherewithal to do so.

Not Yet Disclosed.

The Times was informed on Saturday that the Gilmore Company were likely to re-open their mills at Trenton this season. On enquiring at the Crown Timber Office here, Mr. McWilliams stated that the Company had no logs, and therefore the story about the mills being re-opened this season could not be true. It is possible, however, that the Company may resume operations at Trenton, in which case vast quantities of logs would pass down our river. These logs would pass over the celebrated trestleway, which the Gilmore Company built at a cost of half a million dollars.

Honors for an Ark Hero.

Some weeks ago Rev. W. H. Adams of Orono, applied to the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain for the award of a pension to Mr. Henry Gason, of Trachon, who is, so far as known, the only survivor of H.M.S. Investigator, which sailed from Plymouth on Jan. 30, 1859, in search of Sir John Franklin. Last Thursday he received letters from the Lords of the Admiralty and from Ottawa, which state that a pension of one shilling a day was awarded to Mr. Gason on the first day of the present month, and that the necessary steps will be taken to enable him to draw this pension.

CLAIMS TO MAKE GOLD.

A New York Society Who Says He Makes What He Says.

The latest sensational development in the field of science is the turning of silver into gold by mechanical and chemical processes. In the fall of 1897 a reverend gentleman in New England was going to make gold as cheap as real estate by causing the sea to give up her gold. He is now a fugitive from justice and his legal representatives are trying to settle with his dopes. There have been so many frauds of the Keesley motor nature that every one is suspicious of this character as mentioned with a smile and thought of as a scheme of a man who wants to get rich easily and quickly.

Everybody supposed the day of selling gold bricks was past, and as a matter of fact no one except rural incense abroad in great cities was ever supposed to purchase them. Now it seems the United States assay office in New York has been purchasing gold bricks or bars from a Dr. Stephen H. Keesley in New York, and these precious things the assay office is manufacturing in its laboratory on Broadway. For a year or two he has brought a number of these bars to the assay office two or three times a month, and has passed his goods for gold prices, although he does not claim that he is selling gold. He is quite satisfied if the assay office will let it in gold and are willing to buy it for gold.

His process is secret only in part. His raw material is Mexican silver dollars. Briefly, his method is that of subjecting the silver dollar to an extremely cold temperature and at the same time pounding it with a tremendous hammer. The result of this operation is a change in the molecular organization of the material. The molecules are driven closer together, and, for all he knows, are pulverized by each other. Being intensely cold the metal contracts and therefore assumes a higher specific gravity than silver. It is no longer silver, for its very nature has been changed. It is another substance which the assay office is pleased to call gold, and the clever doctor is pleased to have them call it so.

If you have never studied natural philosophy and know nothing of the molecular theory you cannot understand anything about this wonderful discovery, and if you are thoroughly proficient in all the branches of science you may not understand it. The only thing about it that the ordinary reader can understand is that this man sells a substance which the assay office calls gold and he claims to take it from Mexican silver dollars. He may have made one of the most wonderful discoveries of the ages and he may be a deep schemer with an eye for big game.

DESTRUCTION IS NEAR

European Scientists Predict Some Mighty Disasters for 1900.

Prof. Rudolph Felt, of Vienna, is one of the noted scientists of Europe and a world-renowned authority on earthquakes and meteorological conditions. There are few people however, who will not hope that the predictions of disasters he has made for 1900 will not come true. Another prediction that will soon be verified or disproved is that toward the end of March there will be "earthquakes and destroying hailstorms." If this latter prediction proves true, then indeed may people generally feel anxious for his other predictions for the year are alarming and almost forecast the doom of the human race.

In July and August he predicts "tidal waves, destroying the Eastern coast of America, Florida and California are to become islands through a submarine earthquake." For November he predicts almost the doom of our planet. He says the earth will "come in contact with the comet, known to astronomers as the comet of 1892 and that our planet will be not absolutely, partially destroyed."

In speaking of his predictions Prof. Felt says: "My theories are simply scientific investigations into machine anatomy. The interior of the earth is filled with a matter mass, similar to the flow just like the waters of the ocean between the surface of the earth and this motion mass, which is slowly cooling, there is only a shell of an average of 18 miles of thickness. In some places this shell is thinner, and here the confined forces escape in the form of gas. But not finding such an outlet, through the influence of the mass a great tidal wave sweeps round the inner crust of the earth and produces the terrible phenomena known as earthquakes."

Prof. Felt has forecast many seismic disturbances, notably the earthquake at Zante in 1893.

THE UNKIN CORD.

There is an unseen cord that binds the whole wide world together. Through every human life it winds. This one mysterious tether. It links all races and all lands. Throughout their span allotted. And death alone unties the strand. Which God Himself has knotted. However humble be your lot. However your hands are fettered. You cannot think a noble thought. But all the world is bettered. With every impulse, deed, or word. Wherein love blends with duty. A message speeds along the cord. That gives the earth more beauty. Your unkin thought, your selfish deed.

In felt in hardest places. There are no solitudes where greed And wrong can hide their faces. There are no separate lives, the chain. Too subtle for our seeing. Under us all upon the plain Of universal being.

Soap Shows With a Graphophone.

The Graphophone is to the ear what the photograph is to the eye and more, for the graphophone catches instantly and preserves every faint shade of sound. A most interesting use of a Graphophone is to make records of your friends' voices to be preserved for future use. You can catch the story of your jolly friend just as he told it, or the favorite song of some loved one, just as she sang it and have it reproduced perfectly at any time and as often as you please. Besides the Graphophone affords wonderful entertainment in the way of reproducing the music of the past. No instrument or mechanical device has ever been so perfect as a Graphophone. It is the perfect talking machine. Write for catalogue No. 39 to the COLUMBIA PHONOGRAPH COMPANY, No. 413 Main street, Buffalo, N.Y.

An Earl's Remorse.

The youngest of England's colonial governors is Earl Beauchamp, who was recently appointed governor and commander-in-chief of New South Wales. He is only 27 years old and on numerous occasions has given evidence of a very resolute mind.

Three years ago the earl fell in love and with one of his mother's maids. The announcement of his intention to marry the girl shocked his family and his intimate friends and great pressure was brought to bear to induce him to abandon his resolve. But he remained steadfast. When it was objected that his sweetheart was not accomplished he replied by sending her abroad to be educated. She is now completing her education. And now the Queen sends him to distant New South Wales, with it rumored the hope that the career of office may cause him to change his matrimonial purpose. It is doubtful, however, if they will, for the earl is self-willed. For the sake of a good romance it is to be hoped that the earl will cling to his original intention.

Earl Beauchamp, though young, has had an interesting life. At the age of 22 and with an income of $150,000 a year, he deserted his mansion in Mayfair and took up his abode with the poor in the Whitechapel slums of London. He felt it to be his duty. Night after night he held mission service in the open air and preached God and humanity. Criticism of his course did not swerve him.

Neither did it influence his action at Oxford, where, as the great debater, he was a radical of radicals. And later as a firm unionist he defied his party leader, took a strong independent stand and sat with the progressive party in the London School Board.

Earl Beauchamp is bearing, appearance and accomplishments is the deal of what a young aristocrat should be. He is tall, fair and distinguished looking, with a seriousness in his speech and actions that makes him seem older than his years. Though a poet and a dreamer, he is practical in his plans, and to all his efforts he brings a conspicuous determination.

In 1895 he was elected mayor of Worcester, and two years later, as member for Flimsbury, took his seat on the London School Board.

His father had been lord steward of the royal household, paymaster-general of the army and lord of the admiralty.

"To Do Ill Costs More Than to Do Well."

This "wise saw" might properly read, "It costs more to BE ill than to BE well." The source of all health is rich, strong blood. It is to the body what the mighty streams are to the earth. If the blood is pure, the body thrives; if the blood is weak or impoverished, then every pulse-beat carries weakness instead of strength.

Why make the cost of living more than it need be? Purify your blood and give your constitution a chance to do its level best. The only perfect blood purifier and vigor-maker in existence is the world-famous Hood's Sarsaparilla. It brings good, perfect health. It never disappoints.

Ernest's Story.—"After several years a running sore was left on my nose. Took Hood's Sarsaparilla and it cured me. My brother was also cured by it of eczema in his face." Ella Coleman, Burdett, N. B.

Robert's Story.—"My mother, Mrs. John Reid, shared with bowel trouble for four years and tried different doctors, but obtained no relief until she began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Three bottles of this medicine entirely cured her." Lester Reid, Tracy Station, N. B.

A Good Medicine.—"We have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla in our family as a spring medicine and used Hood's Pills for biliousness and found both medicines very effective. For impure blood we know Hood's Sarsaparilla is a good medicine." R. J. Frazier, publisher, New, Alwood, Ont.

Loss of Appetite.—"I was in poor health, troubled with indigestion and loss of appetite. I was completely run down. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and after while I felt much better. Hood's Sarsaparilla built me up." Emma A. Rossett, Old Chatham, N. B.

Dyspepsia.—"For twelve years I was dyspeptic and broken in health, had terrible pains in my back and was unable to work. When I had taken three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla I recovered my health. I strongly recommend it." J. B. Mason, 208 8th Street, Oswego, N. Y.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Never Disappoints.

Hood's Pills cure liver, bile, and indigestion and only cost one dollar with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Nowwooders are rejoicing over the fact that another foundry will soon be in full blast in that place. Mr. R. J. Stuart took the matter up some time ago and formed a joint stock company with sufficient capital to carry out his plan. Mr. J. H. Brantford, will manage the business. The trustees, among whom are: H. G. Buck, J. B. Pearce, P. W. Reynolds, R. J. Stuart, W. E. Roxburgh, and others, have purchased the property on Peterboro st., lately occupied by M. P. Doherty, as a hotel.

The Burlington Power Scheme.

Mr. J. A. Culverwell, manager of the Burlington-Peterboro Electric Company, is highly elated over the future prospects of the company. He states that syndicate has term contracts of five and ten years in Lindsey for private lighting, including the corporation lighting for ten years which together make half of the total revenue of the present electric company. He predicts this he states that he holds power contracts for ten years for the greater part of all the possible power in Lindsey. He reports that prominent gentlemen in Lindsey assert that as the purpose of assisting the town on the current they feel sure they will have at least eighty-five per cent of the total lighting of Lindsey. A committee of half a dozen of the most prominent men in Lindsey have been appointed by the townsmen to see the purpose of assisting the town in completing the undertaking.

C. P. R. to Amherst.

The following letter appears in the Norwood Register, and speaks for itself. It emphasizes the suggestion made by the Times that immediate action should be taken by our Board of Trade and Commerce to secure the extension of the road for Lakefield northward. Here is the article referred to—

Dear Sir,—Will you permit me through the medium of your valuable publication, "The Register," to bring a matter before your readers, which is of the utmost importance, not only to the townships north of you but to your own thriving little town. At the January session of the County Council the County Engineer brought forward by our worthy representative of that honorable body, Mr. T. G. Eastland, "That the C.P.R. company be memorialized to take into consideration the construction of a branch line from Norwood north to the village of Appleton, thereby securing our own local council has taken the matter up and has petitioned the company to the same end.

I think if some of your public spirited citizens would also take an interest in it that beyond long direct communication by a railroad, between us, would be an established fact. As Peterborough is our County Town I have always held that there is where the should start for here. That should be our market and also the base of all our supplies, which would be a considerable item annually. The consumption of flour alone being somewhere about $10,000.00. But I am sorry to say that Peterboro town line not only our, or the resources which mean wealth to any town in communication with us by railroad, of much importance, or she would have made a move are this to get the desired communication. At a meeting held here it was unanimously resolved that steps should be taken to open a line from Norwood. The proposed branch would leave the main line at or near the boundary between the townships of Belmont, Danvers and Appleton and by following the boundary northward would open up one of the finest routes for sportsmen and tourists to the province. Long Lake, Stony Lake, Keweenaw, with its blue mountains, beautiful scenery and good fishing and hunting, which up to the present time has enjoyed but by few, could will be reached with ease by this line if constructed. Jack's Lake would also be taken and thereby open another pretty summer resort which would give the Stony Lake Islanders a little more room, and rest, in a few more years it will be overcrowded in the summer months, and those that go there for a quiet rest from the business of the city will not get the repose which they have been accustomed to in years gone by. This country must have railroad connection with some place at the front. Why not with Norwood? Would it not help to build the town? Our hardwood timber, which is almost inexhaustible, is of the greatest value if it could be transported, pulp wood, cordwood, telegraph poles, ties, bark, barrel headings, staves, lumber of all descriptions, live stock, and farm produce, all would be shipped to your town by this proposed route. Through this, other industries of which you have not at the present time, would open. Factories would be built, and every branch of business would receive such an impetus on the forward march that it would in a few years place Norwood on the list of the cities of Ontario. The pioneer settlers here have been out comfortable homes for themselves under many hardships; trials and privations, have been here in making their present farms. Is it not now time that they reap their just reward by getting communication to a good market by easy transportation? What is the good of all their hard work in clearing the land to raise crops, which in order to get to market must be hauled many miles over rough roads?

Another thing that we have here is the hidden wealth of minerals that cannot now be taken out of the bowels of the earth for lack of transportation.

Editor, I am afraid that I have already trespassing too much on your space or I would urge further claims that this country has for a railroad. I have had 17 years experience in this back country, and I have carefully watched its development and now plainly see that the time is ripe for immediate connection with the outside world. I have the interests of the community at heart and shall leave no stone unturned to gain our object. I appeal to you, Mr. Editor, for your kind assistance in bringing this matter prominently before your citizens, showing that by helping us, they will be helping their own town. Unity is strength, and a united effort will bring success. My sincere hope is that before a great lapse of time we shall hear that the wheels of the locomotive borne in upon the breeze and be able to say, "Here comes the train from Norwood."

Thanking you in prospective for your kindness in inserting this, I remain

Yours truly,

PETTON SHEWEN.

A correspondent writing to the Times says that some law should be passed to prevent boys from smoking cigarettes. He thinks that boys who are designed to this habit should be punished. The writer would like to see the law quickly than by finding the usual cigarettes to minors. The habit among boys of smoking cigarettes was never as prevalent in Peterborough as it is at present.

$1500 SHAKESPEARE COTTAGE

Built a New House, Not and Old Design.

This is the second in the series of ten illustrated architectural articles running in our Daily and Weekly editions, prepared especially by the well known architect, Mr. Charles Willard Leighton, for the Times.

There is "nothing new under the sun" but there is much improvement in the old, especially in the architecture of modern low cost houses.

The original conception of Gothic, Italian, Queen Anne, Colonial and other standard styles of architecture were very crude and almost impossible to ally practically to the accommodation desired in small cottages and low cost residences for the suburbs and country building. But of late years as architects have exhausted their resources in patchy affects of "box" houses, they have drawn for detail on ancient designs. Much of this is marvellous as it has enhanced the picturesque appearance of our towns, much of it has been condemned by the owner-builder who has not seen the goal of the architect's idea but derides a Colonial affect or a Shakespearean panel which is used only to enhance the beauty of an otherwise plain house because the whole scheme of Colonial or Shakespearean architecture has not been carried throughout the design. If it had been, the effect might be ludicrous whereas the simple suggestion is attractive.

The design illustrating this article, (referring to the perspective view) will also illustrate the foregoing ideas for, whereas the cement or pebble dash panels of the second story and the balcony leading windows of the first and second story are pure features of the Shakespearean architecture, yet the entire design is not a pure example of the Shakespearean period. If the design was not enhanced by these beautiful effects, its appearance would be exceedingly plain and heavy. If, at the other extreme, the Shakespearean effect was wrought in every feature, the exterior would present anything but a pleasing appearance and the interior arrangement would be as unattractive to the resident. As it is desired, the exterior view presents a most pleasing effect and by reference to the floor plans, one sees a compact and commodious dwelling that can be built for less than one would suppose and which can be modified, altered or extended for a larger family than the floor plans show.

The foundations are of red brick faced with buff or mottled brick above grade. Cellar under the dining room, hall and parlor, the floor of which is covered with concrete three inches thick with cally well tamped and a six inch cinder bed before receiving cement. The ceiling may be plastered if required. The kitchen extension is placed on piers and the space between the piers filled in with lattice work causing a good circulation of air thus doing away with any dampness or wet rot which would certainly occur if the cellar were enclosed in brick walls. The wall of the first story are finished in best hard plaster and the interior trim and doors are of first quality white pine free from all large and loose knots and rifts and well seasoned. In entering we find seats at the side of the porch, and here we might well state that the veranda would be enlarged by extending the porch both sides of the house and yet not detract from the beauty of the exterior but rather add to it.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

The Ice Still Good.
Mr. F. G. Young, of Young's Point, told the Times on Saturday that the ice on the lake was 30 inches thick. Twenty or thirty teams crossed Clear Lake with wood and farm produce on Saturday.

Preparing for the F.V.F.
The Montreal Star says: "It is said that Hon. Mr. Blair, the Minister of Railways and Canals, has decided to build a milk-bus elevator in the harbor of Montreal, in connection with the Intercolonial Railway. Mr. Blair so doubt intends to handle the produce which will find its way to Montreal from the great and woolly west when the Trent Valley canal is completed."

Young Canada.
That the modern youngster is more up to date than his father, is quite evident. It is astonishing how quickly little folks become familiar with events as published in the newspapers, and how much they understand of them. On Sunday, while a teacher in the George Street Methodist Church Sunday School was instructing her class, she turned to one of her pupils and asked: "Jimmy," she said, "who was it killed the Philistines?" "Samson," said Jimmy, without hesitation. But Walter Smith's head was raised in an indignant protest. "Was not," he declared, without waiting to be asked about it, "Samson wasn't there at all. It was Achish."

JOYOUS EASTER-TIDE.

How the Day Was Celebrated in the Churches on Yesterday.

Yesterday, the anniversary of the first glorious Easter day, when with Christ, the victory over death and the grave began, was a day of special rejoicing in the whole of Christendom. In every church in town Easter-tide of 1899 was celebrated by special services in memory of the first resurrection of Him crucified; and appropriate sermons delivered, pointing to the last great Easter, when Christ's victory will be completed and the dead shall rise again. The celebrations in the Anglican churches and St. Peter's Cathedral, were of a specially joyful nature; beautiful services were held, joyous hymns and anthems were sung, and bright Easter thoughts passed from friend to friend and from clergy to congregation. The collections also for special purposes provided to be exceedingly liberal.

AT ST. JOHN'S.

Holy Communion was celebrated at 7 and 8 a.m., and 12.15, with Morning Prayer and singing at 10 o'clock. Evening and sermon was held in the evening at 7 p.m. The attendance was large at all services. The altar, chancel, reading desk, pulpit and baptismal font were beautifully decorated with plants and cut flowers, emblematic of the rising life and spotless, pure and glorified body after resurrection. The beautiful anthems prepared by the choir for this special festival were very creditably rendered and the work of the chorister boys was particularly pleasing. The services all through were heartily enjoyed by all present. As previously announced the collections were in aid of the Sunday School building fund, and were very liberally responded to. The morning collection amounted to $436.00 and that in the evening to $55.00 making a total of $491.00. It might be here stated that great credit is due Mr. R. M. Donahoe for his indefatigable efforts in this matter; he has personally canvassed a large number of the congregations in behalf of this fund, and his clear and logical solicitation has no doubt been mainly instrumental in securing many a dollar which would otherwise have been missed. In the afternoon a children's service was held in the church and was largely attended. A liberal collection was taken up in aid of the Indian children of the North West.

AT ALL SAINTS.

Holy Communion was celebrated in the morning at 8.30 and after 11 o'clock Morning Prayer. At 7 p.m. a Choral Evening service was held at the choir excelled themselves. Their singing was indeed excellent, and everyone present expressed their pleasure at the effective manner in which they had sung a very difficult service, especially so far as organization and not accident to choir service. The attendance at both Morning Prayer and Evening was unusually large. The collection taken up in aid of redressing the church debt amounted to $175.00, and the Wardens, Messrs. Fuller and McPherson are to be complimented upon so liberal response to their appeals. The church was very prettily decorated.

AT ST. PETER'S.

Low Masses were celebrated at 8 and 9.15 a.m., and High Mass at 10.30, and 1.15 a.m., and High Mass at 10.30. The decorations were exceedingly elaborate, and the singing, as usual, of a high class order, and very pleasing. The collections were phenomenally large, as also was the attendance, both morning and evening.

Later Spring Than This.

The Times was asked the other day if there is any record of a more backward spring than the present one. Yes, the editor of this F.V. distinctly remembers the spring of 1888, (although very young at the time). On the 6th of April at that year snow fell in various places from one to six feet deep. The circumstance was impressed upon our minds from the fact that the snow prevented our attending church on Sunday.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES.

Happenings Around Town During the Past Twenty-four Hours.

—Saturday was April fool's day.

—The Board of Education meets to-morrow evening.

—The steamer on the inland waters were out before this time last year.

—In a wages case at the police court Saturday morning Geo. Dalg was ordered to pay a boy $3.55 due by him.

—St. Andrew's church Easter services have secured the Ranters for a concert on Monday, April 10th.

—An abstract blast among some papers at the rear caused a little excitement in Salisbury's book store Saturday.

—Mr. T. A. S. Hay, the newly-appointed superintendent of municipal works, started upon his duties in the service of the town Saturday.

—Lindsay Post.—Mr. J. A. Culverwell, manager of the Burleigh Falls Lindsay-Peterborough Power Co., is in town today on business connected with that important enterprise.

—The Board of License Commissioners for East Peterborough will hold a meeting at their rooms in Peterborough on Saturday, the 8th of April, at 9 o'clock a.m., for the issuing of liquor licenses for the year 1898-1900.

—Within the past two weeks the price of Manila hemp has advanced $40 a ton, and it is believed that this figure will be still further increased. The prospects are that the Canadian farmer will have to pay a pretty high price for binder twine this summer. Consumers of rope and twine will also have to pay more for these articles than they have ever done before, in recent years at any rate.

—The time is at hand for a general cleaning up of the town. All the trash thrown out in the back yards during the winter should be disposed of before the sun animates the countless millions of microbes, bacilli and other disease producers. Don't forget the cellar. See to it that no decayed vegetation remains there. Don't be afraid of using plenty of lime. Remember that the worst flies have a close relation to dirt and filth.

—The men employed by the Rathbarn Company to work in the lumber camps of Stanhope and McIntosh townships have put in a busy winter. The season has been favorable for lumbering, and the men have been busy in that region to make good sleighing, and it will be some time before it melts away, as it is reported to be four feet deep. The Rathbarn Co. will bring down through the lakes and rivers this summer a flotage of logs.

—A new cheese and butter factory is being erected at Campbellford this spring. The building will be a two story brick, 50 by 80 feet with stone foundation. Attached to it will be a boiler house 12 by 20 feet. It will be supplied with a 20 horse power engine, had a boiler of 20 horse power. The machinery will be run by steam power, heated by steam, and lighted by electricity or acetylene gas. The two separators and all the other machinery of the butter factory now in use will be removed to the new building, while it will be necessary to add a quantity of new machinery. All the refuse of the factory will be carried into the river. The new building is to be completed throughout and ready for operation on the first of May.

The Late Ellen Henderson.

A particularly sad death is that of Miss Ellen Henderson, daughter of Mr. D. D. Henderson, of Oromocto, which also occurred at the Nicholls Hospital on Tuesday last, after an illness of only a few days. On Sunday of last week she was in the best of health and accompanied the family to church. In the evening she was attacked with severe pains in the abdominal region. The usual domestic remedies, such as poisons, etc., were applied and relief was afforded, but shortly afterwards the pain returned and medical assistance was procured, and the trouble diagnosed as appendicitis. The young lady was taken to Nicholls Hospital, where an operation was performed, but the disease was too far advanced before the operation had been performed, and death ensued as above. The funeral takes place today at 3 o'clock from the family residence, lot 27, in the 8th concession of Oromocto, to the Roman cemetery.

The Late James Gordon.
The death took place on Friday, March 31st, of Mr. James Gordon, at the family residence, Peterborough, about fifteen years ago from the vicinity of Kenna. His wife died some two years ago. A number of children survive, four being married daughters who reside in town. The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon at three o'clock. Interment takes place in the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

Mr. John Masters, a former resident of Peterborough, died at Toronto on Friday. The deceased who was about 55 years of age, was employed for fourteen years as engineer at Mr. D. Bellingham's Furniture Factory, and recently had to retire on account of ill health. The funeral takes place today at the arrival of the 11 C.P.R. Express from Toronto.

CHANNEL STEAMER STELLA, SPLITS ON CASKETS

Latest Particulars of the Disaster Show That Over Eighty People Went Down with the Steamer.

STELLA STRUCK WHILE MAKING SPEED THROUGH A FOG

A Few Survivors Escaped in Boats, but Only One Officer was Rescued—Perfect Order Prevailed—Heartrending Scenes—The Cause.

Southampton, April 1.—The passenger steamer Stella, plying between this port and the Channel Islands, crashed upon the dreaded Casket rocks, off the Island of Alderney, on Thursday afternoon in a dense fog, and foundered in three minutes, her boilers exploding with a tremendous report as she went down. It is estimated that over eighty persons were drowned. The coasting steamer Llyn, which brought the news of the disaster here, picked up four boats and forty persons belonging to the Stella.

The second officer of the steamer, who was among those rescued, says that a collapsible boat was launched full of people, but he thinks she struck on the rocks, owing to the fog. Another steamer has picked up a boat containing 55 persons, including twenty women who escaped from the wrecked steamer. They have been landed here.

FOGGY WEATHER.

The weather was foggy but all went well until the afternoon, when the fog became most dense. At 4 o'clock the Casket suddenly loomed up through the fog bank, and the steamer almost immediately afterwards struck amidships. The captain, seeing that the Stella was fast sinking, ordered the lifeboats to be launched. His instructions were carried out with the utmost clarity, and the women and children were embarked in the boats. Then the captain told the men to look after themselves.

A survivor states that he and 25 others put off from the Stella in a small boat. The sea was calm, but there was a big swirl around the rocks. When this boat was a short distance away from the wreck the boilers of the Stella burst with a terrific explosion, and the vessel disappeared stern first, most in the sea. The last thing the survivor saw was the figure of the captain on the bridge and giving his last orders. The captain perished with his vessel, owing to the very great suction caused by the sinking steamer.

TREMENDOUS SCTION.

Continuing the survivor referred to said: "The suction was so tremendous that we thought our boat would be engulfed. I saw five boats and the collapsible boat, besides our boat, leave the wreck. They contained altogether between 50 and 100 hundred passengers. Five of the boats were soon lost to view, but we took a boat filled with women in tow, and the occupants of our boat took the oars in turn and rowed all night long until most of us dropped asleep, thoroughly exhausted. We sighted a sailboat at 6 o'clock in the morning, but the Great Western Railway Company's steamer Llyn, from Weymouth, had meanwhile been in sight. She bore down on us and took us all on board. She eventually landed us at Guernsey."

The Great Western Railway Company's steamer Vera, from Southampton, picked up forty others of the survivors, and landed them at Guernsey.

THOSE DROWNED.

According to the latest estimates of the officials of the London & Southwestern Railway Company, not more than 70 persons were drowned, out of 225 on board the Stella, whereas the other reports, however, place the number of drowned much higher.

The disaster caused intense excitement in the Island of Guernsey and here. There were harrowing scenes at the office of the London & Southwestern railway at both places. Many Guernsey families lost relatives.

Up to noon yesterday 130 passengers had been accounted for. The steamers Vera and Hemfear are cruising in the vicinity of the wreck.

SPEED NOT LESSENED.

A survivor of the Stella named Bush says the speed of the vessel in the fog was not diminished, though the fog whistles were sounded. Bush adds that at 3.30 a.m. the engineer showed him in the engine room a dial registering a speed of 18 1/2 knots, and that the vessel struck within 25 minutes afterwards.

Bush further asserts that two lifeboats were sunk with the steamer, which, after resting on the rocks for ten or fifteen minutes, split in two and disappeared. Continuing, Bush said: "When the Stella disappeared clinging to pieces of wreckage or cabin furniture, and crying piteously for help. All the passengers and crew had been provided with life belts, and there was little panic as the ship sank. I first slipped into the water and then swam to one of the boats, into which I was helped. We rowed supposedly in the direction of Guernsey, but seven hours later we found our selves near the scene of the wreck, and saw dozens of persons clinging to the rocks."

The boat in which Bush was a passenger was afterwards picked up by the Llyn.

PERFECT ORDER.

The passenger call agree that perfect order and discipline prevailed on board the Stella. The crew promptly took up their stations when the steamer struck, and the life belts and lowered the boats. The scene at the moment of the sinking of the vessel was heartrending. Women were screaming and praying and people were clinging to spars and other wreckage in all directions. Those who had succeeded in getting into the boats had a narrow escape from being engulfed on account of the suction caused by the sinking vessel. The voice of Captain Hooks from the bridge was frequently heard urging the rowers to pull for their lives. Two boats were struck for fifteen hours, during which time their occupants were without food or water, and as their clothes were drenched they suffered greatly.

THE CAUSE.

The disaster is generally attributed to the high speed at which the steamer was travelling in the fog. The second mate was the only officer of the Stella who was saved. The captain and the other officers, most of the crew, and many other passengers sank with the Stella. A boat in charge of the chief officer capsized and almost all its occupants were drowned. A few of them were picked up by other boats. The sole survivor of the lifeboat says her crew numbered 15 men. They left Southampton on Thursday, and on Friday evening the lifeboat commenced to sink immediately, and her captain calling out to the other vessels larger ship, to slow down, but the latter swung around and apparently proceeded. The survivor jumped into the water and clung to a lifeboat until picked up.

20th Annual Report of the Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada

The annual meeting of this Company was held at their head office Montreal on March 2, in the absence of the President through illness, the Vice-President, Hon. A. W. Ogilvie, occupied the chair.

The following report was submitted: The proposals for new assurance numbered 23,605, for $13,919,448.00. The policies written were $1,457, for $14,588,551; while those paid for numbered 18,722, for $19,800,572. The assurance actually put in force were thus in excess of those of the preceding twelve months by 1,616, for $119,612, were larger both in number and amount than for any previous year in the Company's history. The total assurance in force at the close of the year were 44,853, for $49,488,485.00, an increase of 7,705 policies, for $4,700,000.00, over the corresponding figures of 1897.

The net premium income was $1,903,812.12, as against $1,861,622.41 in 1897. Of the first-earned amount $449,134.05 consisted of premiums on new policies, the balance of $1,454,678.07 being carried over from the previous year. The total income was $3,227,913.06.

The claims by death which arose during the year were under 440 policies on 410 lives, amounting $467,928.19. This is an increase of but $34,432.00, and is well within the predictions of the mortality tables. In addition 75 accidental assurances for $9,538.25 matured by survival.

The assets are now $8,211,911.81 having been increased $808,540.37 during the year. The surplus over all liabilities to policy-holders, according to the Company's standard of valuation (the American Table, with 4 per cent. interest), is $509,806.59. The following figures show the Company's position, according to the various standards usually employed.

Hm. Table, with 4 per cent. interest..... $359,208.26
American Table, with 4 per cent. interest..... 555,230.49
Dominion Government standard (Hm. with 4 1/2 per cent. interest)..... 734,038.06

Application has been made to Parliament for an extension of the Company's powers in the matter of investments, corresponding to those already enjoyed by most British and American offices. It being believed by the directors that the time has come when the interest of policy-holders, some of the legislative restrictions on the investments of Canadian life companies should be removed.

Branch office buildings have been completed during the year at Ottawa and Hamilton, and one has recently been begun at Sherbrooke. It is the policy of the directors to gradually erect a number of such small but choice edifices at the leading centres of the Company's business, where rent would otherwise be paid. They believe that this course is preferable to that of having but one or two mammoth structures in the larger cities.

The Chairman, in moving the adoption of the report, pointed out that the increase in the income from premiums, interest, and rents, amounted to nearly $1,000,000; that the growth in assets exceeded $900,000, and in assurance in force $4,700,000, the total now assured by the Company being about exactly $50,000,000. The Company's assets had been examined most thoroughly by a committee of the board, and found to be exactly as set forth in the report.

Mr. S. H. Brier seconded the motion, and drew attention to the gratifying fact that after paying out nearly $900,000 in cash profits to the policy-holders, there still remained a surplus of $629,838 over all liabilities and capital stock according to the Dominion Government standard.

Mr. James Tuckwell referred to the fact that a large contingency fund had been accumulated by the manner in which the Company writes down its investments. He was sure that stockholders and policy-holders would agree that this was decidedly the wisest course, even though the interest rate might appear to suffer for a time.

After remarks by Mr. J. C. Troy and Mr. W. B. Baber (the Company's representative in Barbados, W. I.), Mr. Charles Alexander moved, and Mr. David McFarlane seconded, a vote of thanks to the Directors, Officers, and Agency Staff for their work during the year, which was replied to by Hon. A. W. Ogilvie.

The retiring Directors were unanimously re-elected.

Eclipse Soap

Have you noticed the difference between good and bad soap? One hurts your hands and eats up your linen and shrinks your flannels. Eclipse does none of these things—simply washes without injury. Try a bar from your grocer.

Often in the morning there comes a feeling of weariness, indescribable; not exactly ill, nor fit to work, but too near well to remain idle. A Ripans Tabule taken at night, before retiring, or just after dinner, has been known to drive away that weariness for months.

MOLLY BAWN.

BY THE DUCHESS.

With his mind quite made up, he waits through two dances silently, almost motionless, with his back against a friendly wall, hardly taking note of anything that is going on around him, until such time as he can claim another dance from Molly.

"This is our dance," Lettrel says, in a hard tone, standing before her, with compressed lips and a pale face. "Never mind your card. I know it is ours," he says, and offering her his arm, leads her, not to the ball-room, but on to a balcony, from which the gateway can be reached by means of a stage.

Before descending he says—always in the same unconcerning tone, "Are you cold? Shall I fetch you a shawl?"

And she answers, "No, thank you, I think the night warm," being for the moment carried away by the strangeness and determination of his manner.

When they get to the garden, and still he has not spoken, she breaks the silence.

"What is it, Molly?" she asks lightly. "I am all curiosity. I never saw you look so queer."

"Angry?" she says, thinking there is room for anger. "I have brought you here to tell you—I will not cut you to my engagement with you—an hour longer."

Silence follows this declaration—a dead silence, broken only by the voice of the night and the faint sweet dreamy sound of one of Gung's waltzes as it steals through the air to where they stand.

They seem to move, and are far away from each other in the narrow gateway. A few beams from the illuminated house fall across their feet; one more adventurous than the rest, has lighted on Molly's face, and lingers there, regardless of various mountings.

How changed it is! All the soft sweetness, the gentleness of it, that characterized it a moment since, is gone. All the girlish happiness and excitement of a first ball have vanished. She is cold, rigid, as one turned to stone. Indignation lies within her lovely eyes.

"I admit you have taken me by surprise," she says, slowly. "It is customary, is it not, for the one who breaks an engagement to assign some reason for so doing?"

"It is. You shall hear my reason. Half an hour ago I stood at that window, pointing to it, and saw you in the shrubbery—with—Shadwell."

"Yes and then?"

"Then?" she says, with a movement full of passion he says his hands upon her shoulders and turns her lightly so that the ray which has wandered once more rests upon her face. "Let me look at you," he says, leaning over her heavily, eyes carry out your deception to its end. Its end, mark you; for you shall never again deceive me. I have had enough of it. It is over. My love for you has died."

"Beyond all doubt it had an easy death," replies she, calmly. "There could never have been much life in it. But all this is beside the question. I have yet to learn my crime. I have yet to learn what awful inequality in the fact of my being with Philip Shadwell."

"You are wonderfully innocent," with a sneer. "Do you think that my slight has failed me?"

"Still I do not understand," she says, drawing herself up, with a proud gesture. "What is it to me whether you or it the world saw me with Philip? Explain yourself."

"I will," in a low voice, almost choked with passion and despair. "You will understand when I tell you I saw him with his arms around you—"

you—you submitted—you— And then—I saw him—him you! That I should live to see it of you!"

"Did you see him him me?" still calmly. "Your eyesight is invulnerable."

"Ah! you no longer deny it! In your latest heart and doubt you are laughing at me, poor fool that I have been. How many other times have you kissed him? I wonder when I was not by to see?"

"Whatever faults you may have had, I omitted you of brutality," says she, in a low, carefully suppressed tone.

"You never loved me. For that one matter at least you were honest; you never pretended to love me. And yet I was mad enough to think that after a time I should gain the love of a flirt—a coquette."

"You were mad to care for the love of a flirt—a coquette?"

"I have been blind all these past weeks," goes on he, unheeding, determined not to see (what all the world, no doubt, too plainly saw) what there was between you and Shadwell. But I am blind no longer. I am glad—yes, thankful."

"You were mad to care for the love of a flirt—a coquette?"

"I am thankful, too, but for another reason. I feel grateful that your suspicions have caused you to break off our engagement. And now that it is broken—irrevocably so—let me tell you that for once your prudence has played you false. I admit that Philip played his arm around me (but not unasked, as you would have it); I admit he stooped to kiss me, but, cry me Molly, with sudden passion that leaves her pale as an early snowdrop, "I do not admit to kissing me. Unlucky, worthless flirt, coquette, as you think me, I have not yet fallen so low as to let one man kiss me while promising to keep faith with another."

"You say this—after?"

"I do. And who in this world dare give me the lie? Remember, Molly, I have given you enough already. Do not go too far. You have chosen to insult me. Be it so. I forgive you. But, for the future, let me see, and hear, and know as little of you as possible."

"Stand back, sir!" cries she, with an air of majesty and with an imperious gesture raising one white arm, that she now in the dark night to wave him to one side. "From henceforth, remember, I am deaf when you address me."

TALES OF THE WIRE.

THRILLING EXPERIENCES IN THE LIVES OF OPERATORS.

And Some Remarkable Instances of Courage and Self-Protection.

One does not usually associate the duties of a telegraph operator with adventure or heroism and yet some of the tales of the key have had some thrilling experiences in the line of their business. Only a couple of weeks ago the newspapers told the story of an operator who dragged himself to the instrument, after his horse had been mangled in, was lifted up by his brother and taken to another station intelligence which resulted in a passenger train being held and a collision with probable tremendous loss of life averted. Other stories of remarkable courage and daring on the part of operators are numerous.

In 1887 Jim Oliver, 18 years old, was night and day at a little station of McNeill, Tex. on the International & Great Northern road. He was at work as usual at 6 o'clock in the evening, as August 14, 1887, was not much of a job—hardly enough of a job to keep him awake—and after the north bound passenger train had stopped for a minute at 10:45 and pulled out, he put in the long hours until daylight dreaming how he should spend his money when he got rich.

At 9 o'clock he was stooping over his instrument talking with the girl operator at Tyler, 60 miles up the line, and making her in the most approved telegraph fashion. Suddenly he heard a door open and then the shuffling of feet. He rose to confront four large bearded men, each of whom wore a black mask over the upper part of the face. They grasped him, without saying a word, threw him to the floor, tied his hands and feet with cord and threw him upon the telegraph table. Lying over him one of them stuffed a particularly coarse and dirty handkerchief into his mouth. Then they fell to talking of what they would do to the passenger train when they got the Oliver's wire. They had been muzzled a little by his fall and subsequent rough treatment and he found breathing difficult, but he rallied in a little while. As his self-possession came to him he realized that although his arms were strapped tightly to his sides, he had fallen in such a position that his right hand rested on the key. His body lay over it and by moving it gently he found that its sound was deadened. He began immediately a noiseless but rapid call to Austin. Soon the Oliver started out a messenger. It took him one then a minute to tick off:

"Four train robbers in the office. Have got me tied. For God's sake stop No. 23. They are waiting for it."

In five minutes it seemed to him he heard the answer. "All right. Matter will be fixed."

Meanwhile the four men stood about the room and talked. It was evidently their intention to board the train as soon as it stopped, terrorize the engineer and go through the passengers. For one hour they waited. Then they came upon the table breathing heavily through his nostrils and wondering if he would be able to remain here all night. At 10:45 he thought he heard the hum of an approaching train. But was sure that he was mistaken. Two minutes later there was no longer room for doubt. No. 23 was coming in on time. It came in. As it stopped the four train robbers made a break for the door. Between the two and the door the train robbers made a break for the door. Between the two and the door the train robbers made a break for the door.

FUN OF A PASTRY COOK

Made a Fortune Gambling, Lost It and Was a Cook Again in Six Weeks.

"Did you notice that tall, amiable-looking young man that just passed through?" asked the clerk of a hotel in a western city of a guest. "No! Well, he is our pastry cook, and he is a good one, too. But the special point is that he has just passed through one of the most thrilling experiences that fall to the lot of a man in this country."

Just six weeks ago he was employed here. The morning after he signed the weekly pay roll he reported for duty, but complained of being ill, borrowed $5 from a fellow servant with which to purchase some medicine, and was excused for the day. He had lost his wages the night before at King's River instead of purchasing medicine with the borrowed $5, he again tempted fate, and by midnight had $450. He resigned his job, repaid the $5, and started out for blood with a $450 limit.

At the end of his second sitting he had about $2,000. He kept at it for two weeks, by which time his "roll" contained $10,000. The legislative assembly was about to open and he decided to embark in business, as he said he had a premonition that his lucky streak was rapidly nearing an end, and he purchased a restaurant down Main street for $6,000, and spent the other $1,000 in improvements. He was soon enjoying a prosperous business.

But he had the fever, and could not endure the slow and sure method of money making, and upon receiving a good offer for his establishment he accepted it and started a far game over a saloon, and was fairly making money. In fact, it seemed that everything he touched turned gold. In the course of another two weeks some other lucky men came along and the cook was taken down the line for nearly $12,000 in one night. He then sold out, and with his remaining three or four thousand proceeded to "back the tiger." He lasted only about ten days, when he applied to us for his old job, and, as I said before, he is a good culinary artist and he was restored. Disgraced with himself! No, he is as happy as a lark, and the only reference he made to his ups and downs was, "This sporting life is tawdry, ain't it?"

PRINGLE & MOORE

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, APRIL 1, 1890

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

Reporter Wanted.
We require the services of a young man, having a good education, as Junior reporter, on the Times. Apply at the business office.

To Whom It May Concern.
On and after Monday, April 8th, 1890, the book account of the firm of J. B. Oke & Co. will be at R. R. Philip & Co., 278 George Street. In the absence of J. B. Oke, Messrs. R. R. Philip, Mr. Harry Bradshaw or Mr. R. R. Philip will give receipts for any amount paid.
J. B. OKE.

Mr. Oke's Change.
The many friends in Peterborough of Mr. J. B. Oke, will be pleased to learn that he will retain an interest in the business carried on by Messrs. Philip & Company, and while he expects to be on the road a good deal of the time, his headquarters and home will be in Peterborough. Mr. Oke, during his residence here, has become deservedly popular.

Canada Tobacco.
Mr. W. A. Shaw, who has been travelling through Western Ontario, in the interests of the Newcomb Piano Company, returned home on Saturday. Mr. Shaw has been up to the tobacco growing parts of the West, and has attended a number of public meetings held in the interests of the tobacco growers. He listened to Mr. Wagon, of Lexington, on that gentleman's return from England—where he had been exhibiting samples of the Canadian tobacco, with a view of opening up the market. Mr. Shaw says that the speaker promised good prices for the weed and a good market for all that can be grown in Canada. Mr. Shaw thinks that farmers here should get into the tobacco growing business, as he finds the climate as suitable in the east as it is in the west.

Receive your evening,

LITTLE LOCAL LINES.

Happenings Around Town During the Past Twenty-four Hours.

—Everybody reads the Times.
—Board of Education meets to-night.
—The annual meeting of the Board of Trade is called for this evening.
—Lindsey has secured an industry in the shape of a tanning establishment employing 20 hands. Exemption for ten years has been granted.

—The council of Fenelon Falls is corresponding with the Wilson Car-bide Works of St. Catharines, the proprietors of which are looking for a new location with ample water power.

—Mr. Louis Tubert told the Times yesterday that teams were crossing Champlain Lake at the ice as usual, and would continue to do so for some time, as the ice was over 30 inches thick.

—Several establishments for the manufacture of underwear are being erected in various parts of the country. The Peterboro Company is now in full swing, while the proposed Lindsey factory is only in its incipient stages.

—An unknown disease is killing off the boys around Belleville. A local inspector pronounced it tuberculosis, but an inspector sent by the Government from Montreal declared it to be neither hog cholera nor tuberculosis. In the meantime the boys continue to die.

—Conductor Jack Lathbridge, who recently completed his 31st year of railroad service, is one of the first of the Midland division conductors, as has been stated. The first passenger conductor was Mr. J. P. Fink, now station agent at Lorneville, who was conductor on the Midland as far as 1878 when the Port Hope, Lindsay and Beaverton road—at least 25 years ago. Another of the early conductors was Mr. Bradley, with running between Toronto and Port Hope.

—Bobcats are independent. Mr. Wm. Cresswell, foreman of forest operations for M. Boyd & Co. has made arrangements for "driving" the Burnt River this season. Several hundred men have been on the river, and Mr. Cresswell is confident that the tree can be brought down the river under no management, and by one force of men at less expense than by each firm having their own crew. Mr. Cresswell has contracted with most of the firms, and it is quite likely that all will fall in line. M. Boyd & Co. will have about three million feet to bring down.

COMMERCIAL AND SOCIAL.

Miss Kitty Hurley left yesterday for a holiday visit to Toronto.

Rev. Father Phelps, of Lindsay, was in town yesterday.

Mr. Hudson, of Perth, formerly of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, spent Easter in town.

Rev. Father Joseph O'Sullivan and Rev. Father Frank O'Sullivan went down to Campbellford for a visit yesterday.

Dr. T. P. McCullough, of Peterborough, spent Good Friday in town, the guest of his cousin, Mrs. T. O. McRobert, Lindsay Post.

Mr. Murray, manager for Canada, of the Mutual Reserve Life Assurance Company, of New York, is registered at the Savoy Hotel.

Mr. Harry Grubbe, of Brockville, spent Easter with his parents in town.

Messrs. Carnegie and Dumble left for Montreal in the interest of the Great canal yesterday.

Mr. M. G. Walker, leaves town today for Winnipeg. He will remain in the service of the Gould Bicycle Company and will push their interests in the prairie provinces. Mr. Walker was perhaps the fastest wheelman in town and won many honors on the road.

Mr. H. A. Walker, formerly of the local Red Bird agency for many years, is also in Winnipeg at present.

Money Spent.
Has any one ever stopped to seriously consider how much money has been frittered away in patchwork side-walks and road-beds in Peterborough, say, during the past twenty-five years? Should any one do so he will be surprised that Mr. McWilliams' scheme of permanent public walks was not taken up and acted upon a quarter of a century ago.

Lindsay Board of Trade.
The Lindsay Board of Trade is sending a delegation to Ottawa with a view to having the Government make an appropriation for cleaning and straightening the river between Lindsay and Sturgeon Lake. The work is much needed, and it might be supplemented by raising the dam on either foot. No further damage would be done to the shores by raising the dam another foot or even eighteen inches, and it would be much less expensive than dredging.

Mr. Martin's Enterprise.
Mr. Martin, the enterprising proprietor of the Best Cash Grocery, is not behind the times. In addition to keeping the choicest goods, which he sells at the lowest prices, he is giving a beautiful ladies' gold watch and chain to the person who will make the closest guess to the number of beans in a jar in the window. Every ten cent purchase brings a vote. The watch is a very handsome one, has a solid gold case, 18 carats fine, and is valued at $65. Mr. Martin has an up-to-date store and is a liberal advertiser. He has the faculty of making friends quickly, and his success is assured.

A School Bank.
The Brantford school board purposes introducing a savings bank system into the public schools for the inculcation of thrift. The Brantford Reporter names at large number of American educational authorities whose opinions are highly favorable to the practice. Among the cities where it has been tried successfully are Grand Rapids, Mich., Chester, Pa., Atlantic City, N.J., Norristown, Pa., Camden, N.J., and Pittsburgh, Pa. The United States Commissioner of Education, Dr. W. F. Harris, strongly recommends it. Brantford's system goes into effect on April 10th, and the experiment will be worth watching by Peterboro people.

Christian Endeavour.
The eight annual convention of the affiliated societies of Peterborough County Christian Endeavour Union opened yesterday. The first session was held at the Y.M.C.A. hall yesterday evening, with the president, Rev. J. E. Moore, P.B., in the chair and the delegates assembled there again in the afternoon. There is a large attendance of delegates. An evening session was held at 7:30 o'clock in the Charlotte-st. church, which was unusually interesting. At 7:30 there was a devotional service. This was followed at 8 o'clock by the presidential address, and at 8:15 Rev. Elliott S. Rowe, of Toronto, president of the provincial union, a well-known speaker addressed the gathering.

After the Ball.
The ninth annual ball of the Moulders Union took place last night in the Mechanics' Hall. The hall was beautifully decorated, and the music by the orchestra was excellent. The executive committee of the moulders did their utmost to make the affair a successful one and they succeeded beyond their highest expectations. A host of ladies and gentlemen came flocking to the dance from Peterboro and adjoining points. The floor was in splendid condition and with the brilliant light, the pretty dresses of the ladies and the irresistible charms of good music everyone had a good time. The supper was provided by Mr. J. W. Archibald, who performed the exacting duties of master of ceremonies to the satisfaction of everyone. The moulders have always been noted for their successful dances and now that it is over we can truly say that they have scored again.

SPORTING TOWN.

Editor Morning Times.
Sir,—A good deal has been said about killing deer in and out of water. The following which I clip from a paper apply fits:

"The discussion of the deer question enlightens us. We now know what a 'sportsman' is, and what a 'pothunter' or 'butcher' is. A 'sportsman' is a man who lives in a city—Canadian city or American city. He has several houses, valued by himself at two or three thousand dollars each, half a dozen rifles valued each at many dollars, and an elaborate outfit of clothes with many pockets. He doesn't care for the deer, but delights in the sport of killing deer by hunting them on dry land and then pursuing them with the high priced dogs. The other fellow catches venison. He is perhaps a settler and not a very good shot. He has a $5 rifle and a 50 cent dog. He proves venison to fat pork, and gets it the easiest way. The easiest way is to kill the deer in the water, where a sure job can be made of it."

I think most of your readers will agree with the above.
Yours truly,
Sportsman.

BUSINESS

THERE is every reason why this store should do better for you than you can do elsewhere. Selling strictly for cash means no losses. Cash to buy with means better buying. You don't find the manufacturers or warehouse men, when they have a line to sacrifice, anxious to let a credit buyer have the first chance.

That's one reason why so many lines can be sold here at seemingly impossible prices.

THE MACFARLANE WILSON CO.

LIMITED

Direct Importers

The Literary Committee will announce the subject to be discussed and at outline for study two or three weeks before the meeting, that the members may cultivate their minds, for the best literature. Under this direction a special course of reading will be suggested, also systematic Bible studies.

They will also seek to have publications of the "twelve" circulated widely that the members may have broader views of "Bible" work.

Social evenings in charge of the Social Department will be held as often as possible, care being taken to prevent formality or formalism of the program will be experiments in dramatization of some of the laws and stories of ancient times, such as analysis of some common superstitions, the examination of a flower, etc. All these gatherings will be made as informal as possible. The committee will, if convenient, arrange for an exchange of visits with a neighboring Society and will also once a year give a reunion reception to the old folks. Under this department will be formed a bicycle, walking, skating, etc. club, at which all the members should be members. It is recognized as a very important feature. A choir and leader will conduct a short song service at the commencement of each meeting, and will provide all the music for the program, thus saving out each member the labor of the members. Indeed in this or the other department it will seldom be found necessary to go outside the Society for help if we have only the eyes to discover it.

Immediately after the election of officers the committee will meet and organize for work. Each committee will have its own special organization and each member gives a definite work to perform. Committee meetings will be held regularly at least once a month, and in some cases more frequently, at the home of one of the members. Invitations will never fail to be given to all the members to attend committee meetings, meeting of reading circle or club meeting.

And who can estimate the influence of such a society. Its members go abroad into the every day affairs of life and their influence is felt everywhere. In business circles, among the poor and wealthy, in society, among school men, all will realize and confess this perhaps only in their hearts, that these young men, whose foundations are built on the everlasting Rock of Ages, have indeed found the "Pearl of Great Price."

A prisoner, a convict, a fugitive and the daughter of a reigning prince were among the 4,000 persons arrested for theft in Paris last year. Perhaps if the nation were turned back far enough in the times when the thieves were acquired by theft in the first instance.

Keep Coughing

We know of nothing better to ease the lining of your throat and lungs. It is better than anything to ease bronchitis and pneumonia. Only keep it up long enough and you will succeed in reducing your weight, losing your appetite, bringing on a slow fever and making everything exactly right for the germs of consumption.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

cures coughs of every kind. An ordinary cough disappears in a single night. The hacking coughs of bronchitis are soon completely mastered. And, if not too far along, the coughs of consumption are completely cured.

Ask your druggist for one of Dr. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral Plaster.

It will aid the action of the Cherry Pectoral.

PETERBOROUGH APRIL 5, 1899

ROBERT LEGISLATION.

A fine example of modern legislation has just been furnished at Albany. A Brooklyn man has patented a design for a package for use in dispensing poisons, consisting of a box or bottle, octagonal in shape, with serrated edges, and having impressed on it the emblem of a skull and crossbones. The idea is not a bad one; the philanthropic inventor wished to see it in general use.

He is something of a politician himself, and associating with him two other politicians, they had a bill passed in the Legislature directing, under penalty, that all druggists in dispensing any poisonous substance should employ "a box or bottle, octagonal in shape, with serrated edges, and having impressed on it the emblem of a skull and crossbones."

In other words, the use of the Brooklyn man's patented device, thus exactly described, is to be made compulsory, to the evident advantage of the Brooklyn man and his copartners, who are men of influence with the machine. Not unanimately, the druggists have asked Governor Roosevelt to veto this "strike," and he will probably comply with their request.

GOES AND COMES.

About the only break they are making in the debate over the address at Ottawa, is one that is stopping the wheels of legislation.

The Toronto Star tells of a billiard who visited the house of John M. Wheeler, a carpenter, at 80 Edward street, where everything in the house except the billiard table, on an $8 rent account. Even the billiard table was taken on a billiard table and wife on a billiard table. The billiard table exceeded the law and no proceedings are taken against him a popular subscription could easily be raised to pay the fine of some able-bodied man who would kick him down George street from Bloor to the Kaplans, and dump him into the bay, as near the mouth of the sewer as possible.

MOLLY BAWN.

BY THE DUCHESS.

She sweeps past him into the house without further glance or word, leaving him, half mad with doubt and self-reproach, to pace the gardens until far into the morning. When he does re-enter the ballroom he finds it almost deserted. Nearly all the guests have taken their departure. Dancing is growing half-hearted; conversation is being kept away from those that still remain.

The first person he sees—with Phillip beside her—is Molly, radiant, smiling, even more than usually gay. Two crimson spots burned upon either cheek, making her large eyes seem larger, and bright as gleaming stars.

When Mr. Luttrell with concentrated bitterness stands transfixed at some little distance from her, realizing how small a thing to her is this rupture between them, that is threatening to break his heart, she, looking up, sees him.

Turning to her companion, she whispers something to him in a low tone and then she laughs—soft, rippling laugh, full of mirth and music. There go the chimes again, says Mr. Potts, who has just come up, alluding to Molly's little cruel outburst of merriment. "I never saw Miss Luttrell in such good form as she is in tonight. Oh! what a day we are having! I wish it were all to come again."

"Platagene, you grow dally more dissipated," says Cecil Stafford, severely. "A little boy like you should be in your bed hours ago, instead of which you have been allowed to sit up until half past four, and—"

"And still I am not 'dissipated'! How could I be when you did me out of that solitary dance you promised me? I really believed, when I asked you with such politeness in the early part of the evening to keep that one green spot in your memory for me, you would have done so."

"Did I forget you?" ramorously. "Well, don't blame me. Mr. Lowry would keep my card for me, and, as a natural consequence, it was lost. After that how was it possible for me to keep to my engagements?" "I think it was a delightful ball," Molly says, with perhaps a shade too much emphasis. "I never in all my life enjoyed myself so well."

"Lucky you," says Cecil. "Had I been allowed I should perhaps have been happy too, but with a glance at Stafford, who is looking the very personification of languid indifference, when people allow their tempers to get the better of them, they are the patient, with an eloquent sigh.

"I hope you are not incohering me," says Lowry, who is at her elbow, with a smile that awakes in Stafford a mild longing to strangle him.

"Oh no!" sweetly. "How could you think of it? I am not ungrateful, and I know how careful you tried to make my evening a pleasant one."

"If I succeeded it is more than I dare hope for," returns he, in a low tone, intended for her ear alone. She smiles at him, and holds out her arm, that he may re-fasten the eighth button of her glove that has mysteriously come undone. Her fingers over doing it. He is, indeed, strangely awkward, and finds an uncomfortable difficulty in fastening the refractory button to go into its proper place.

"Shall we be home here for the remainder of the night, or seek our beds?" asks Sir Penrhyn, impatiently. "I honestly confess the charms of that eldest Miss Milborne's completely used me up. Too much of a good thing is good for nothing, and she is tall. Do some of the rest of you feel fatigued? I know women's passion for conquest is not easily satisfied," with a slight sneer; "but at five o'clock in the morning one might surely call a truce."

They agree with him, and separate even the faintest guest having disappeared by this time, with a last assurance of how intensely they have enjoyed their evening, though when they reach their chambers a few of them give way to such despair and disappointment as rather gives the lie to their expressions of pleasure.

Poor Molly, in spite of her false gaiety—put on to mask the wounded pride, the new sentiment of which fills her with dismay—finds her self upon her bed and cries away all the remaining hours that rest between her and her maid's morning visit.

"Alas how easily things go wrong! A slight touch of a him too long. For how much less—for the mere suspicion of a kiss—have things gone wrong with her! How manner is from all her anticipated pleasure, how poor a fruition has been had. Now that she and her lover are irrevocably separated she remembers, with many pangs and self-reproach how tender and true and honest he has proved himself in all his dealings with her; and, although she can not accuse herself of actual active hostility toward him, a hidden voice reminds her how lightly and with what persistent carelessness she accepted all his love, and how indifferently she made return.

With a desire to ease the heartache she is enduring, she tries, in vain, to encourage a writhing feeling toward him, calling to mind how ready he was to believe her false, how easily he flung her off, for what, after all, was but a fancied offense. But the very agony of this fury as he did so, disarms her, recollecting as she does every change and all the passionate disappointments of it.

"Oh, that she had repulsed Phillip on the instant when first he took her hand, as it had been, under heart to do but for the misery he showed that for the moment she was free. Mercy on such occasions is only cruel kindness, so she now thinks—and has been her own undoing. And besides, what is his misery to her?

Christian Women.

In the days of N.

was cut into the flesh of those where they died a horrible, but fertile, mately speedy death. The world has progressed, but ignorance still condemns thousands of innocent women to an equally painful and more lingering death.

The woman who day after day is tortured by headaches, despondency, irritability, nervousness, lassitude, weak back, pains and dragging sensations in the abdomen and similar symptoms, suffers a martyrdom that not even a Nero could invent. Not one doctor in a thousand will attribute these troubles to the right cause—weakness or disease of the sensitive female organs, yet almost without exception there lies the trouble.

And there is just one known remedy that reaches every case.

It is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives new strength and vitality to the organs long harassed by weakness and disease. It promptly heals inflammation and ulceration, stops weeping drains and restores the health and vigor of youth. It fits for women's ailments, and other ailments, and restores the health and vigor of youth. It fits for women's ailments, and other ailments, and restores the health and vigor of youth.

PETERBOROUGH, APRIL 6, 1899

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

Gravelly sidewalks.
A meeting of the Board of Works will be held on Tuesday evening, April 11th, to consider on what streets gravelly sidewalks will be constructed this year and ratemakers who desire such sidewalks will be heard at the meeting.

Children's Aid Society.
The Board of Management of the Children's Aid Society would thank the following kind contributors: Miss Goss, hat, quilt, clothing; Miss Poussette, boys' clothing; Miss Edith Mason, girl's dress; Mrs. Beck, Rev. H. by-monda, Mrs. Walsh, Miss M. Dickson, Mrs. Garvin and Miss Bredia, membership for 1899, each, $1.

Ontario Educational Association.
The Ontario Educational Association is meeting in Toronto this week.
Among those in attendance from town and vicinity are Inspector J. C. Brown,
Mr. Peter Gillespie, Miss E. J. Aldridge,
Miss M. Allen and Miss E. J. Aldridge,
Peterborough; Miss M. H. Campbell,
Kearns, Miss Lettie Miller, Grayston;
Mr. R. P. Blaylock, Balldobro, and Mr.
W. E. Roxburgh, Norwood.

The Street Railway.
The Council are after the Street Railway. From what the Times could gather at the City Hall, some members of the Council propose to tear up the tracks, and thus bring matters to a close. The Times would suggest a less emphatic way of dealing with the company. A law suit would not be very palatable to the ratemakers, and this will assuredly be the result of such action is taken by the corporation. The railway is, after all, better than no road at all, as it affords thousands of our ratemakers opportunities for a refreshing ride on the hot summer days.
The matter will come before the Council to-morrow afternoon.

Change in the Firm.
The growth and development of the business carried on by Messrs. Fairweather & Company, hat and fur-riers, has necessitated the taking in of a partner, and Mr. Thomas Harris, who has for some years been in charge of the Peterborough branch, has been promoted. Mr. Harris is an exceptionally clever young business man, and will make a success of anything he takes hold of. We wish the new firm every success.

The Cavalry Mess.
The officers of the local cavalry gave a very enjoyable smoker in their rooms on Tuesday evening. The Times was not invited, so that we are unable to present our readers with a report. It may be gratifying to one or two individuals, whom we could name, to thus slight this great family journal (it is not the first time that these people forget that it is the thousands who read the paper that have reason to kick at the intersection and premeditated insult.
We are not blaming the officers; they are not aware that one or two of the men, whom they are taught to regard with esteem, are worthy of that regard, and have soul and small that it could not be discovered with a microscope.

Navigation Notes.
—The steamer Atlantic is being thoroughly overhauled.
—The ice in the Little Lake is commencing to show signs of decay.
—Capt. Lane, it is expected, will again command the City of Peterborough, this season.
—Capt. Chas. Calcutt is changing the boiler of the Holman from a wood burner to a coal burner.
—The steamers Beaver and North Star are being got ready for the opening of navigation.
—Steamers will be able to come down as far as Auburn as soon as the Lakefield end of the canal is completed, which, it is expected, will be early this season.

an egg is full of wheat.
—Sweeping Reductions in corsets, for this week only, at Miss McNelly's, Hunter-st., 50c corsets reduced to 25 cents.

Rev. Mr. Storey's work in Peterboro is bearing fruit. The names of sixtyone persons wishing to unite with the George street church had been sent in to the pastor during the last few weeks, and on Sunday last, at the close of the morning service, most of those were present, and were publicly received into the membership of that church. It was a very impressive service and that the labors of the pastor has not been in vain.

appeared before the Montreal Board of Trade on Tuesday afternoon and both gentlemen gave addresses on the subject of the canal. The witness said: "They came well supplied with logic and literature and persuasive eloquence, and interested many Mon-trealers in completion of the project." The witness publishes a column article on the canal from an interview with the delegates, and papers show that Messrs. Carnegie and Dumble have made active promoters. They are not expected home for some days. The Mail and Empire also referred to the addresses of Messrs.
Dumble and Carnegie in somewhat ecological terms.

The Cavalry Mess.
The officers of the local cavalry
gave a very enjoyable smoker in their rooms on Tuesday evening. The Times was not invited, so that we are unable to present our readers
with a report. It may be gratifying
to one or two individuals, whom we could name, to thus slight this great
family journal (it is not the first time that these people forget that it is the thousands who read the paper
that have reason to kick at the intersection and premeditated insult.
We are not blaming the officers; they are not aware that one or two of the men, whom they are taught to regard with esteem, are worthy of
that regard, and have soul and small
that it could not be discovered with
a microscope.

—The steamer Atlantic is being thoroughly overhauled.
—The ice in the Little Lake is commencing to show signs of decay.
—Capt. Lane, it is expected, will again command the City of Peterborough, this season.
—Capt. Chas. Calcutt is changing the boiler of the Holman from a wood
burner to a coal burner.
—The steamers Beaver and North Star are being got ready for the opening of navigation.
—Steamers will be able to come down as far as Auburn as soon as the Lakefield end of the canal is completed, which, it is expected, will
be early this season.

A CASH BUSINESS

AN ACTIVE BUSINESS

There is every reason why this store should do better for you than you can do elsewhere. Selling strictly for cash means no losses.
Cash to buy with means better buying. You don't find the manufacturers or warehouse men, when they have a line to sacrifice, anxious to let a credit buyer have the first chance.

That's one reason why so many lines can be sold here at seemingly impossible prices.

The spring session of the High Court of Justice was continued to-day, the suit of Harper vs. Toronto Type Foundry

Court. Messrs. Fournelle, Q. C., and was put in. The case was concluded yesterday afternoon. His Lordship reserved

The case was enlarged till next Tuesday.

J. SUTCLIFFE & SONS
SUCCESSORS TO R. H. KELLS & CO.

MR. STRATTON AND THE CABINET.

Our Honorable Member Likely to Get a Portfolio.

The rumors of an impending reconstruction of the Ontario Cabinet, which were made public in the latter part of the week, have not subsided since its announcement. The Premier was stated by the knowing ones as one of those likely to retire, and his declaration in the House that next session he would be found in his place came as a surprise to many.

It is said to be probable, however,
that two members of the present Cabinet will retire before the next session of the Legislature, says the Mail and Empire. These are Mr.
Harcourt, the Provincial Treasurer, and Mr. Hart, the Commissioner of Public Works.

The resignation of the latter may be expected at any time, according to the statements current in the corridors of the Parliament buildings. The Premier's differences with Hon. Mr. Harcourt over the License bill have been straightened out, and Mr. Hart is said to regard his Treasurer as a man altogether too much inclined to lean on others, and as one lacking personal initiative and energy. Therefore it seems probable, and is openly stated, that in a few months' time
the Treasurer will be shelled.

The business of filling the vacancies that may take place is of course a matter for the Government. It seems probable that the new Ministers will be chosen from among the sitting members of the House. The Government is not at all anxious to open constituencies for new men in the present unsettled condition of political affairs in this province. During the past session there were three members of the House who took a pre-eminently active part in the proceedings, and figured more extensively in the debates than the junior Ministers of the Crown. These were Messrs. Connors, Stratton, and Pattullo. Mr. Stratton was constantly put up to speak in a semi-official capacity for the Government, and Mr. Connors prepared speeches on every important question before the House.

He, it is stated, is to be the successor of Hon. Wm. Hart as representative of the Irish Catholic electors, and also of New Ontario interests, which have lately been clamouring for recognition by the Government.
If Mr. Connors enters the Cabinet he will probably be required to take over, in connection with his position as Commissioner of Public Works, a portion of the work now done by the Commissioner of Crown Lands, Hon. J. M. Gibson. The work of the latter is enormous, and it is said that Mr. Gibson's health cannot stand the strain. Either the Mines Department or some other of the various branches of the Crown Lands Department would be placed under
Mr. Connors's supervision.

The most probable successor of Mr.
Harcourt seems to be Mr. Stratton of West Peterborough, but this transfer is not likely to take place as soon as the only just mentioned.

At present the Premier is planning a short sojourn for purposes of recuperation, and Hon. Mr. Ross is also contemplating a holiday.

The Opera House.
Paul Casanova, the young romantic actor, opened a three-night engagement at the opera house last night with his new scenic and electrical production of "Faust." Mr. Casanova, as the Prince of Evil, is a clever and entertaining, and has received the praise of press and public for his excellent versatile and conscientious work. As Marguerite, Miss Taylor, with her winning ways and musical voice, gives an ideal portrayal of this character, and Ulysses Davis as "Faust," by his clever work, has proved himself to be an artist. Plain Martha and the rest of the characters are all in clever hands. The scenic and electrical effects are of the highest order, the House and Garden scenes having both received special praise.

A Free Library.
Editor MorningTimes.
Sir,—I remember correctly, I read an address to the electors last December printed in the Times in which one of our present Aldermen promised to take steps to secure for the town a free library. Now, Mr.
Editor, as your very influential and widely read journal takes a leading part in promoting everything that is for the general good and as a free library is, I believe, one of the great blessings to the people, I suggest that you take this matter up. A free public library is a huge school room for the people. It teaches them to be better citizens and gives them a truer conception of life, and the duties they owe to each other.

It is not up against free libraries that they encourage general reading.
We know little better reading, except perhaps fairy tales. My fairy tale and novel like, right and wrong in history, adventure times in a hundred; generally is promoted; romantic is ideal; the view are simplified, the virtues are glorified, unpleasant and unselfishness are held up to admiration, cowardice, brutality, spite and greed are repudiated; love is kind of all, hate and violence are condemned. The body who reads fairy tales will hardly grow up mean and small in mental stature. The mass of women who reads novels is more liberal to give than to receive moral fiber. The facts of history and geography and science may contain a heap less than in humanism and refining and broadening than the true of fiction, while from the great modern Scott and Hugo, Tolstoi and Thackeray, Dickens, Hawthorne, Con-cor, Balzac, the light shines of a yid-or and more inspiring life than the best of so-called history can show.

Every thoughtful man knows that history is the most valuable thing. Not reporters agree in a story of what they saw in the West, but yet, historians present to us as facts the legends of a thousand years ago. History, itself, always, they must of society and geography have been thus in their time.

Therefore, I say let Mr. McWilliam proceed with his good work, and he will have the good will of at least one citizen.
Peterboro, April 2.

EXAMPLE IS BETTER THAN PRE-CEPT.
These cautionary proverbs, or old saws, which are used as preface to all of the Hood Farmville advertising in thousands of papers throughout the country, are evidence of a new and original style of advertising both planning and effective. The Hood firm is to be congratulated on so clearly adapting such wisdom as his filtered down through centuries. Another charming thing about this Hood advertising is the unique type they are using.

The Stratford Herald speaks of a tendency to promote pork factories till they become as numerous as cheese factories. Well, why not? If they are properly conducted, and can turn out a bag of bacon suitable for the British market, there is little danger of the business being overdone. The one thing needed is to keep up the standard of the product.

HOW THE ENGLISH CAN WORST THE AMERICANS

The Daily Mail Suggests a System of Profit-Sharing, with the Introduction of the Best Machinery.

ENGLAND SUFFERING FROM LACK OF STRENUOUSNESS

This is the Cause Why American Engineering Firms are Underbidding the British in Their Own Field—Other European News.

London, April 8.—The strenuousness of English firms respecting the awarding of the Alhambra bridge contract to a Philadelphia firm is causing concern in English engineering circles, and the attempt to explain America's success by glut of work here do not harmonize with the complaints from English firms who have not received orders which have been sent to America. As the St. James Gazette puts it: "If the British manufacturers have as much work that they cannot accept contracts they are to be congratulated. But, in that case, it is difficult to see why they are complaining."

ENGINES ARE GOOD ONES.

The fact is that industrial circles here recognize that these contracts mean more than mere evanescent competition, as to the case of American engineer the railroad authorities here have conceived the very highest opinion of American work. This comes out by his statement of Manager Goss of the locomotive department of the Great Northern Railway, which recently received engines from America. He said: "Apart from the fact that American builders are able to make more speedy delivery than the English, there is no doubt whatever that American engines are of the highest excellence, and their present features and improvements are of such utility as to attract the custom of English companies."

THE REASON.

The Daily Mail taking up the question, urged a system of profit-sharing, with the introduction of the newest and best machinery, as the method whereby America can be caught and worsted. Though the paper adds: "We must own that the nation is in some degree suffering from lack of strenuousness both in employers and employees."

A representative of the Associated Press has had a conversation with the Secretary of the Engineer's Society, and his statements bear out the impression that considerable apprehension is felt here at the prospect of an American invasion. He said: "We certainly regret the transference of work essentially belonging to our market, and it would be affection to deny there is indignation and much comment of the state of affairs. We hope it will prove only a temporary transference, but you know the danger."

Nice, April 8.—Queen Victoria is enjoying remarkable health on the Riviera. She is improving in strength daily drives out nearly every afternoon, and often, when seeing a picturesque spot, along the route, alights for the purpose of taking tea in the open air. She made an interesting visit to the Monastery of Lachet, accompanied by the young Princess and Princeps who are with her. The whole party visited the queer old chapel, which is the scene of yearly pilgrimages, where miraculous cures are said to take place. The Father Superior received Her Majesty and presented her with a sample of the famous liquor distilled by the monks. The Queen made a donation to the monastery and purchased various souvenirs of her visit.

BIG RUSH OF EMIGRANTS.

London, April 8.—The emigrant season opened this week with the usual rush. The steamers have average passengers booked several weeks ahead, and it is calculated that the sum of $1,000,000 will be paid to the emigrant companies. The Teutonic, Canada, Utopia and Campania sailing within four days, take together two thousand Irish emigrants. The Teutonic's contingent is 800, and even then she will have to leave sixty behind, as there are no berths available for them.

BATTLE OF SUNDAY PAPERS.

London, April 8.—The battle of the Sunday papers will begin to-morrow when both The Daily Mail and The Daily Telegraph will try to outvie each other with their first number. Both of them will present a brilliant array of contributors. The Sunday Mail will have articles by General Lord Kitchener, on Khartoum; Hail Jaine, the Earl of Romilly, on his reasons for becoming an actor; Ranjitsingh, the famous Anglo-Indian cricketer, and Clement Scott, who has finally severed his long connection with the Daily Telegraph. On the other hand, The Sunday Telegraph has enlisted Sir Edwin Arnold, T. P. O'Connor, Miss Bradlow, H. D. Traill, William L. Courtney and Bennett Burleigh. In the meanwhile there have been numerous protests against Sunday labor.

GAMBLING PAYS WELL.

London, April 8.—The Casino at Monte Carlo wound up its financial year on March 31 with a total income of $5,580,000, being an increase of $200,000 over 1998. The season opened badly, with a shortage, compared with 1997, of over $200,000 at the end of January. But such a rush set in during February and March that the receipts not only recovered the lost ground, but established a record. The tables have been exceptionally fortunate. There have been few lucky players. A wealthy Yorkshireman was one of the luckiest. He plunged considerably for three weeks and took away $75,000. A Russian Count made the sensational coup of the season, winning $70,000 in a single night. The most remarkable event was the turning up of 33 seven times in succession, and nobody backed it.

WHERE THE MONEY GOES.

The revenue will be absorbed by the payment to the Prince of Monaco and the expenses of the principality, and the maintenance of the Casino, $2,250,000, the remainder $3,330,000 going to the shareholders, at an interest of $35 per share, whose value, originally $1,000, and now $855, rose $5 on the announcement of the year's working. The Prince of Monaco now receives $600,000 yearly from the concession, and will get a lump sum of $5,000,000 extra for the renewal of the concession, which expires in 1913. The Prince is now estimated at $10,000,000. The house of Monaco was practically penniless in 1856, when Baron Blaud arrived there from Hamburg with the idea of establishing a Casino.

EXPORTS INCREASE.

London, April 8.—The statement of the Board of Trade for the month of March shows a decrease of $9,602,000 in imports and an increase of $7,370,000 in exports.

A. A. Anniversary.

It is now fourteen years since the advent of the Salvation Army in Peterborough. Anniversary meetings of a very special character are to be held, beginning Friday, April 14th, continuing until the following Tuesday. Brigadier Frederick, Editor in Chief of the Army publications in Canada, accompanied by seven invited officers from Toronto will conduct them.

The Real Cause.

The bicycle stores are increasingly numerous; things, but the two, and are in full swing during these evenings. Many of our youth possess a machine to roam from street to street, admiring the latest novelties and trade in trike. Life insurance agents complain that it is hard to get rides now, for the young men are plying their earnings in wheels, cameras, etc., in the place of putting something by for the time of marriage. This is a fact, and the paragraph is justly for the benefit of the parliamentary committee, which has been set off to investigate the cause of the decline in the percentage of marriages and births.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, but placed in his hands by an "East India" missionary, the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all the chest and lung affections; also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints. Having tested this wonderful curative power in thousands of cases, and desiring to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge to all who wish it, a recipe for the cure, in English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail, by addressing, with stamp, enclosing this paper, W. A. Noyes, 529 Powers block Rochester, N.Y.

THE VISITORS VIEWS.

Buffalo, N. Y., April 8.—Mayor Diehl and the Commissioners of Public Works returned last night from their gas plant investigation junket to Toronto. At their arrival offices this morning they expressed themselves as greatly pleased with the trip, and it seems from the tenor of their remarks that the municipal gas plant project has been boosted considerably by the visit. The party inspected the coal and water gas plants in the Canadian city, and was shown the voluminous plans which have been prepared by the Economical Gas Apparatus Construction Company for Buffalo's proposed plant. The plans are to be forwarded to this city next week, and the commissioners will introduce a resolution in the common council providing for the purchase of a site.

Commissioner Maher this morning said, "I was immensely pleased with the water gas plant visited by Toronto. I learned that water gas can be manufactured much cheaper than coal gas, and I shall favor the use of that process for our proposed plant." Commissioner Healy is also ardently in favor of municipal ownership. Lamp Inspector Siegison says that he noticed that in Toronto the gas which is furnished at the municipal plant gives a 22-candle power light while in Buffalo we are getting only 18-candle power.

Mayor Diehl was much impressed with the successful system on which Toronto municipal plant is run, and seems to favor the municipal idea.

CHANGE OF VENUE IN PONTON CASE.

Mr. Justice Robertson Intimates That the Trial Will be Held Here.

Toronto, April 8.—Mr. Justice Robertson heard argument at Oglethorpe this morning in connection with the application of the Crown to have the venue changed in the Ponton case from Naples, and when counsel had concluded his local plea intimating that he would grant the request and that Toronto would likely be the location of the second trial of the young man for the alleged robbery of $30,000 from the Dominion Bank branch at Naples. The judge laid it down at the commencement of proceedings that argument was not necessary on the question of selection of a fair and honest jury either from the town of Naples or the county of Lennox and Addington. That was admitted. He advised counsel to argue the effect of the venue change on the trial of the case. He said that the final evening of the first trial at Naples.

Mr. Leighton McCarthy, M. P., for the Crown spoke on the line of the affidavit filed, showing that it was impossible to obtain a fair trial in the town. The judge evidently tried to intimidate the jury, but whether they were or not will never be known. The Crown did not desire the court to go through a similar experience to that of the presiding judge on the occasion of Mr. Justice Ferguson. Mr. Wallace Bennett, who appeared for Ponton, argued that his client had an inherent right to be tried in Naples, and that the demonstration of the last trial, which was minimized considerably, was not at all likely to be repeated. The main point, he thought, for the judge's consideration was the effect on the jury and the defense, saying that they had not been intimidated by the noise of the crowd. It was a stain on the fair name of Naples to change the venue.

The learned judge hinted that it was his intention to make a change and asked for suggestions as to the place of trial. The Crown mentioned the town of Toronto, and the defense suggested White and the defense suggested that they could not agree on a location, but he would confer with his brethren on the bench as to the best place to try the case. He added that Toronto, which had been used until now by Mr. B. E. O'Brien, Q.C., would be the probable location.

"At least a fair trial can be obtained here," observed the court. His Lordship intimated that a change of venue had entirely up to the Crown's willingness to supply the money for the payment of the witnesses of all the witnesses for the defense. Counsel said that the Crown would abide by any order made by the court.

CROWN HAS NEW EVIDENCE.

Provincial Justice Fries returned last night from the east where he has been at work on the Ponton case, gathering new evidence, which the Crown expects to put in at its next trial and which, it is reported, will strengthen the testimony already offered. D. D. G. was a ring man, but he denies the published report that he went to the penitentiary to see the prisoner Mackie on his denial of the penitentiary at all. The Crown witnesses are all ready to stand court when called upon.

A third party. New York, April 8.—Out of the thirty-three pedestrians who began a thirty-four hour "go-as-you-please" race on a specially prepared tannery saw-dust covered track in the Grand Central Palace at ten o'clock last night, twenty-three men remained in the race at nine o'clock this morning. Charles W. Daming, of Lakewood, had had enough of the hot pace at the end of four miles, and withdrew. Shortly after midnight Edwards, a local pedestrian, fell from exhaustion and was carried to his dressing room. He was not the only case of over-exertion, as John J. Skelly, of Poughkeepsie, fell, and as soon as a physician had examined him, Skelly's friends took him away to a nearby hotel. As the race went on the old timers showed up to the best advantage. Such men as Cartwright, Guerrero, Haggman, Golden, Glick, Sunday and Elson were always prominent in the front. Skelly is the oldest contestant in the race, being 58 years old.

LUMBERMEN DEMAND RECIPROCITY OF TARIFFS

Willing to Have Fair Trade With the United States, But They Strongly Object to the Present System.

EFFECT OF THE HOSTILE DINGLEY TARIFF POINTED OUT

One Member of the Government Shows That He Still Clings to the Old Free Trade Theories—Manitoba's Yearning for Cheap Yankee Stuff.

Ottawa, April 8.—A large and representative deputation from the Ontario lumber interests waited upon the Premier and several of his colleagues, including Hon. Messrs. Blair, Mulock, Scott, Paterson and Mills, this morning to lay before the Government a request for the imposition of an import duty of $2 a thousand on pine lumber from the United States equal to the charge on Canadian pine going into the United States, of twenty-five cents a thousand on shingles and thirty cents on this.

TO STRIKE BACK.

Among the members of Parliament present were, Messrs. John Charlton, Sproule, Cargill, McCormick, McCleary, Bennett and Hughes. The deputation was introduced by Mr. John Bennett, of Toronto, who was the first speaker, and briefly explained the purpose of the deputation. What they wanted was to strike back at the United States in as gentle a way as possible. He showed that in 1898 the lumber exports from Ontario off to the extent of $5,000,000. There was a decrease of 16 per cent. in our exports of lumber, and an increase of 24 per cent. in the imports.

NIMBLE JUSTICE.

James Scott, of the Georgian Bay Lumber Company, urged economic consideration in favor of the reform. It was not in the spirit of retaliation to the United States that he would have the duty imposed, but simply as a measure of justice to ourselves.

FOR THE O.J.C.

Horses That are Coming to Toronto from the South.

Memphis, April 8.—Some of the most prominent horsemen here on this the opening day of the meeting have decided to go to the Ontario Jockey Club's meet at Toronto, and they consider that as their horses will be far advanced in training they will bring back with them most of the large purses.

P. M. Clevell, who will race there for the first time, has a formidable string, including Ben Frost, Tony Home, Ganebrandt, Achies, Asmagne, Whelan, Dr. G. Merry, Monarch, Lavarine, Herwell, Protus, Forester, Red Admiral, Shindown and Wreath.

H. N. Rorer has a well-known teamer Ben Frost, Sister Clara, Gil Fordham, Bing Hinger, Tom Calvert, Teutonic, Bonnard and Petit Maitre. These horses will be shipped to Toronto about a week before the meeting opens there, so that they may become at least partially acclimatized before the racing begins.

A BUTLER SUSPECTED.

Belief That the Fire in New York was of incendiary Origin. New York, April 8.—A large crowd gathered to-day around the ruins of the Andrews house, where yesterday twelve persons were burned to death.

With the exception of Jennie Burns and the injured were reported to be dead. It will be noted by the police that the fire was started by a woman, and that she was seen to enter the house shortly before midnight on Thursday. Her story is somewhat rambling, and the police say that she has made several contradictory statements. Foley's American is not borne out by the other servants as far as can be ascertained.

Mr. Ludgate's Wisdom.

Mr. Theodore Ludgate, lessee of Peckham's Island, Vancouver harbour, has returned the lease to the Government at Ottawa. He does not desire to retain it if the occupation of the island is likely to prove detrimental to the interests of Vancouver and the country. Mr. Ludgate, who is a native of Peterborough, has sold wisely, we think.

Mr. John Waldie, ex-M.P., wanted our Canadian interests placed on at least an equal footing with the American. It cost as much in Canada to manufacture lumber as it did in the United States.

MANITOBA IMPORTS.

Charles Beck, of Pennsylvania, was the next speaker, and was followed by D. C. Cameron, of Red Portage, who presented the case at considerable length. Manitoba imports of lumber from the United States last year, he said, amounted to $5,000,000. The lumbermen considered that free trade in lumber such as is in the conditions to-day was an injustice to our lumbermen, and deprived them of their trade. Where Ontario contained billions of feet of splendid lumber which it only needed the market to dispose of at profitable rates. The effect of this duty would not be to increase prices for with increased competition afforded by railways, prices to buyers would rather be lowered. The trade in any case must be divided but the only effect of the present law in Manitoba was to help along the Minnesota lumbermen. The C.P.R. would not reduce its rates for lumber sent to the United States for the reason that the step would be met by similar lowering of the figures from the American side of the border.

J. D. Gundry representing the British Columbia Lumber Association, spoke in a similar strain in favor of meeting the American duty with a similar rate.

The Premier intimated that the Government would first afford a hearing to those representing the consumers, after which an answer would be given.

A SHORTAGE OF $2,500 IN INNISFIL TOWNSHIP.

An Audit of the Treasurer's Books Reveals This Deficit.

Lefroy, Ont., April 8.—At a meeting of the Innisfil Township Council held here to-day, Rev. Webb presented the report of the special auditor on the town's books. The documents show a deficit of about $2,500, most of the shortage being in connection with non-resident taxes. Early this year the treasurer resigned, but was re-appointed shortly afterwards at the request of one of the most influential ratepayers asked the Government to send a young Provincial Auditor Long. That of last year half a day in a cursory examination of the cash and bank books, and finding the balance all right reported accordingly. Subsequent information, however, backed up, it is said, by private letters to the Attorney-General, caused him to withdraw his report, and the Council then appointed John Macdonald, banker of Innisfil, to audit the books for the sixteen years on which the present treasurer has held office. Mr. Macdonald finished his report yesterday and handed his report to the clerk and treasurer. The treasurer, who has also been the clerk for twenty years, has always enjoyed the respect and confidence of the ratepayers of Innisfil, and, according to his own statement, on so much of his will to do better, but at a time when a shortage occurred the work he had to do, only $400 a year he was given to him for the arduous duties of clerk and treasurer, with loads amounting to $10,000.

Heaven's Lumbering Operations.

The cut of forest produce this year has been unusually large. The marked increase in prices induced a general rush to the woods. In the regular lumber camps the cut has been large. The timbers at Camp Lake have taken out fifteen millions instead of thirty-eight last year, but that was an exceptional cut. The Dickson Co. have cut on the Grand Lake tract over twelve millions. Mr. Macdonald will bring out three millions and M. Boyd Company about three millions. Owing to the improvements in the times there is confident expectation of an increased demand for lumber at better prices. In Toronto the price of first class black birch has advanced $5 a thousand. Ordinary building material is also advancing, for both in the States and Canada there is more building than has been the case for years. Sawwood, black ash, and maple are in demand for furniture purposes, and bird's eye maple, which so much is used for fuel in the north country, is realizing a very high price. The price of telegraph poles has gone up about ten per cent., and the prospects are in favor of a further rise. Many of the settlers who are in range of the railway have been taking advantage for pulp wood, cedar posts, etc., and hemlock bark, for the prices have been good, and throughout the winter everybody has been busy. The prospects of the trade in forest produce were never better.

PORTO RICANS ARE DESTITUTE

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND WITH OUT BREAD OR MEAT.

Thirty-Nine Have Died—And Three Were in
One District Only—Short Coffee Crop and Brazilian Competition the Cause.

New York, April 7.—The Herald says: Brigadier-General Roy Stone will go to Washington, tomorrow, where he will call the attention of the President to the starvation and distress in Porto Rico. He thinks that the desperate state of the people may lead to insurrection if relief is not forthcoming. He has just returned from a tour of ten days through the interior of the island. During his tour he saw a Porto Rican, as a member of General Miles' staff.

"Persons are dying of starvation all through the interior," said General Stone last evening. "In the district of Aguas Buenas there were many deaths. The judge in the district of Comerio showed me a book in which he had recorded the names of many who had died from lack of food."

"General Grant reported thirty-nine deaths from starvation in one district. I saw hundreds of natives emaciated and weak. When I left Porto Rico there were one hundred thousand persons there who had had neither bread nor meat for two weeks."

"This state of affairs is largely due to the short coffee crop and the ruinous competition of Brazil. Porto Rico coffee is selling at from seven to eight cents at the ports, and the transportation takes nearly all of this sum. There is no profit for the owners of the plantations. Indeed, I saw many plantations overgrown with weeds."

"The natives cannot get money to buy the necessities of life. Major-General Henry is issuing rations and is doing everything in his power to alleviate the distress."

"It is difficult to reach the interior. The supplies are sent to military posts and distributed as well as possible. Still Major-General Henry cannot do this in this way. His money derived from the customs will give out soon. He cannot make this people do an act of charity. He has found work for at least 5,000 men in road building. With good roads and a means of getting out of the interior with fruits and vegetables, something can be done to develop the island."

"Another element contributing to the distress of the Porto Ricans is the fact that the United States continues to levy duty upon them, whereas they had free trade with Spain. Yet with all their suffering the Porto Ricans are patient and loyal. They make no complaint against the United States. I am informed, though, that there were Spanish emissaries among them. With all their suffering the people of Porto Rico speak with pride of allegiance to the United States. By removing the duties giving employment to the people, developing the means of transportation and giving liberal franchises, I think that much can be done to improve the state of affairs in the island."

CHANGE OF VENUE IN PONTON CASE.

Mr. Justice Robertson Estimates That the Trial Will be Held Here.

Toronto, April 8.—Mr. Justice Robertson heard argument at O'Connell Hall this morning in connection with the application of the Crown to have the venue changed in the Ponton case from Naperville, and when counsel had completed his leading testimony that he would grant the request and that Toronto would likely be the location of the second trial of the young man for the alleged robbery of $30,000 from the Ponton Bank branch at Naperville. The judge laid it down at the commencement of proceedings that argument was not necessary on the question of selection of a fair and honest jury either from the town of Naperville or the county of Lennox and Addington. That was admitted. He advised counsel to argue the effect of the riotous demonstration that took place on the final evening of the first trial at Naperville.

Mr. Leishon McCarthy, T. P. for the Crown, spoke on the line of the affidavit filed, showing that it was impossible to obtain a fair trial in the town. The motion was tried to intimidate the jury but whether they succeeded or not will never be known. The Crown did not desire the court to go through a similar experience to that of the preceding judge on that occasion. Mr. Justice Robertson, however, Mr. Wallace Neill, who appeared for Ponton, argued that his client had an inherent right to be tried in Naperville and that the demonstration of the last trial, which he minimized considerably, was not at all likely to occur again. The motion was tried to intimidate the jury but whether they succeeded or not will never be known. The Crown did not desire the court to go through a similar experience to that of the preceding judge on that occasion.

Mr. Wallace Neill, who appeared for Ponton, argued that his client had an inherent right to be tried in Naperville and that the demonstration of the last trial, which he minimized considerably, was not at all likely to occur again. The motion was tried to intimidate the jury but whether they succeeded or not will never be known. The Crown did not desire the court to go through a similar experience to that of the preceding judge on that occasion.

The learned judge hinted that it was his intention to make a change and asked for suggestions as to the place of trial. The Crown mentioned Perth and Whitby and the defense Kingston, but as they could not agree his Lordship said he would confer with his brethren on the bench as to the best place to try the case. He added that Toronto, which had been mentioned to him by Mr. R. B. O'Leary, Q.C., would be the probable location.

"At least a fair trial can be obtained here," observed the court. His Lordship is of the opinion that a change of venue is entirely warranted. The Crown's willingness to supply the funds for the payment of the witnesses of all the witnesses for the defense. Counsel said that the Crown would abide by any order made by the court.

CROWN HAS NEW EVIDENCE.

Provincial Detective Green returned last night from the east where he has been at work on the Ponton case, gathering new evidence, which the Crown expects to put in at the next trial and which it is reported will strengthen the testimony already given. D. E. Green was at Kingston, but he denies the published report that he went to the neighborhood to see the prisoner. He says he was called to the attention of all the Crown witnesses on all ready to attend court when called upon.

A SHORTAGE OF $2,500
IN INVERKEITH TOWNSHIP

The Inverkeith Township Council, at a special meeting held last night, decided to raise the rate of the township from 10 to 12 cents per acre, in order to meet the deficit of about $2,500, most of the shortage being in connection with the non-redeemed taxes.

Early this year the township was real-estate, but was re-appointed shortly afterwards at the request of some of the most influential ratepayers asked the Council to send a Provincial Auditor to audit the township's accounts. The audit of the last year was completed yesterday and the report was received and found to be correct. The township's accounts were audited by the Provincial Auditor, who has also been the clerk for twenty years and has always enjoyed the respect and confidence of the ratepayers. MRS. DRIFTER SAYS

Mrs. Drifter grew confidential the other evening. Some of Drifter's friends called, and the subject of his adventure in the South came up.

"Of course, it is all right," said Mrs. Drifter. "For Drifter to tell about his trials he endured when he was the victim of a paper in Texas. I never met in such a time in my life. I expected the Drifter would come home to me, but I was not at all sure. When I was at the office reading the proofs of that cunning little paper he got on a road to make my blood run cold to hear those men talk about gun plays and so had made up in somebody's name."

"Drifter reassured me by telling me that the crack of a pistol did not always mean that somebody had been hit. But you know what a brave man Drifter is. He was not, either. You say you don't know anything about the time he saved our lives down in Texas. I don't think I ever realized before just how courageous Drifter is. You know I had not seen a ranch, nor a herd of cattle since I arrived in Texas, and I begged Drifter to take me where the real Panhandle cattle could be seen, so he took me out to the stockyards beyond Fort Worth."

"That was when Drifter and his men bravery came to the front. It is needless to say that I was frightened. I thought my last moment had come. The fence of the stockyards must have been 50 feet high; at least it looked so to me. Drifter afterward said that it was not more than 15, but I know that the fence around it were not so high as the fence. He grasped me by the hand and said: 'Little girl, run for the fence. I will protect you.'"

"I was brought up in the country, and I know it is the height of foolishness to run from a wild animal, so I satly refused. 'If we are going to die, we will die together,' Drifter said. I thought best thing to do is to back slowly away from that awful bull. We backed toward the fence, and the bull paced to and fro, never taking his eyes off us. I know I could hear Drifter's heart beat, but it must have been anxiety for me, for he is not afraid of anything."

"Get behind that tree," he said, and his voice sounded as if it was away somewhere, and I felt as if we were to be separated forever. Reassuringly he said: 'I will see that he does not touch you.' With that he took out his little pocket knife, opened the blade, which was not over three inches long, and said: 'There! With as much defiance in his tone as if he had been a blind stone barricade and armed with a Martini rifle. Somehow or other we got to that fence at last. It was evident that Drifter would not let us take any chances alone, for he got there as soon as I did, and if you ever saw two people hush a high fence in the quickest possible space of time, it was Mr. and Mrs. Drifter."

"We sat there on the top of the fence until dusk, and Drifter never let go of his knife. I really believe that if the bull had attacked Drifter would have stabbed him with that penknife. In the evening, after I had mustered up courage enough, we made our way, keeping close to the fence, until we reached a little house connected with the stockyards. Drifter never said a word about the adventure, and you would not have thought he had done anything remarkable, but I know that he saved my life from the wild Texas bull."

"It took Mrs. Drifter's friends some time to rise to a proper appreciation of the courage displayed by her husband in that time of danger, and after she had found herself vigorously, she continued: 'You ought to get Drifter to tell you about the time he went out to the lake at Fort Worth. I was just drinking a sight of a body of water. It did seem to me as if I would dry up there in Texas unless I could get within sound of the ocean's roar. Drifter did the best he could. He took me out to a house about five miles from the city, at a place called Arlington. The road was very rough, and the company made a great fuss over the trip. I told Drifter I would be satisfied if I could spend a few hours in a comfortable room. At any rate, I would see a body of water once again in my life."

"Well, we had our dinner at the hotel and I said: 'Now, Drifter, let us get right on that lake as quick as we can.' The people at the hotel told us what direction to walk to the lake, and we walked. We kept on walking, and not a sign of a lake was to be seen. We went on for a long way, and the only line, and one of the railroad men where the Arlington lake was. 'Oh,' he said, 'these things have not turned the water on yet. There isn't much of a crowd. Last Sunday there was a big excursion, then you could have seen the lake full of water.'

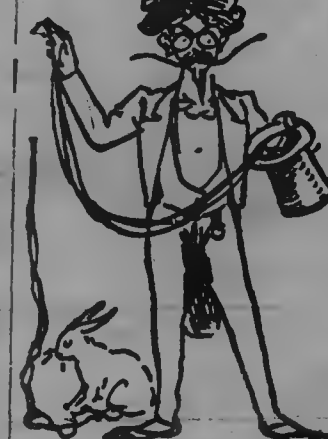

"Turn the water on," I exclaimed. I thought they possessed switches and paid like and all that sort of thing. 'So they do,' he said, 'but the trouble is, you don't know it's pretty difficult to turn down here, and they can't afford to waste water on that lake unless there's a crowd.' Drifter bristled up and said: 'What we want to know is where the lake is and where there is any water.'

"The trolley man was accommodating. He walked along with us, took us up what he called a hill, and then pointed at a hole in the ground about 50 yards east and as dry as the hotel porch. Of course, I was amused, but nevertheless disappointed."

"Never mind," said Drifter. 'I will take you for a mile on the Trinity River some afternoon. They are talking now of running a line of boats on the Trinity from Galveston, and it will seem like old times to get on a real big excursion steamer.'

"For the next week or two Trinity River navigation was thoroughly advertised in the Texas papers. As near as I could make out, the principal difficulty seemed to be that they were clearing the river of snags. I read that snag boat No. 1 had a complicated wender; that snag boat No. 2 had lost its pilot, and I fairly revelled in the anticipation of a trip on the broad bosom of the Trinity. Then the newspapers began to print columns about the 'dred' of rain, and it was reported that the snag boats were tied up, owing to the weather."

The GRAPHOPHONE

Most fascinating invention of the age. Always ready to entertain. It requires no skill to operate it and reproduces the music of bands, orchestras, vocalists or instrumental soloists. There is nothing like it for an evening's entertainment.

Other so-called talking machines reproduce only records of dried-up voices, specially prepared in a laboratory, but the Graphophone is not limited to such artificial records. On the Graphophone you can easily make and instantly
reproduce records of the voice, or any sound.
This is commonly known as the "talking machine" and is the most perfect and reliable of all.

HOSTILE NATIVES SUBDUED BY THE BRITISH

The English Force had Several Quick-firing Guns with Them
Which Inflicted Serious Loss on the Enemy.

THE NATIVES TO THE NUMBER OF 1,500 SURRENDERED

Major Leonard, With the Victorious Troops, is Marching Inland, and Making Across the Country for New Calabar.

Liverpool, April 9.—News from the river Opo shows that the Niger Coast Protectorate troops, whilst going into the Ibo country, met with serious opposition when a couple of days out. This was about twenty-five miles from Opo, where British troops were confronted by several thousand armed natives.

After a severe engagement the British captured the town. The enemy fled, but returned next morning, and to the number of 1,500 surrendered to the British. They also brought in their arms, which consisted, chiefly of flint-lock guns. This tribe would never allow the whites to go into their country, and at their caprice trade was stopped from time to time.

The Protectorate force had several quick-firing guns with them, which inflicted serious loss on the natives.
The white officers endeavored to bring the people to a parley first,
and avoid fighting.

Two of the Protectorate force were killed and several wounded. Captain MacKenzie, who held the distinguish-service order, and lately served in India, died on his way home.

Major Leonard, with the victorious troops, is marching inland, and making across country for New Calabar.
He does not expect to meet with any further opposition. A vast stretch of country is being opened up by this expedition.

The scene of the fighting is not, of course, within the territory of the Niger Company, but in a region under Government administration. The country is situated immediately behind the coast, west of Akassa, the port at the chief mouth of the Niger.

READY TO REIGN.

Gotha, April 10.—In the Diet to-day
a declaration from the Duke of Sax-Coburg and Gotha was read, in which the former announced that he was prepared, in view of the death recently of Prince Alfred of Sax-Coburg and Gotha, son and heir of the reigning Duke, to assume the government of the Duchy should a contingency arrive.

THE MANOUBIA LOST.

Port Au Prince, Hayti, April 10.—
The French steamer Manoubia, belonging to the Trans-Atlantic Company, has been wrecked off Cape d' Aimault. The passengers and crew were saved, but the steamer and her cargo were lost. The Manoubia was a steamer of 552 tons net, engaged in the West Indian trade. She was built in 1890, was 237 feet long, had 29 feet 6 inches beam and was 21 feet deep.

The Manoubia was captured by the United States auxiliary cruiser Erie off the south coast of Porto Rico on July 24 last, during the war with Spain, and taken to Charleston. She was held there as a prize for about ten days, and was then ordered released by the United States Government.

ESTERDAY DENIES IT ALL.

Maria, April 10.—The Matin this morning publishes reports of interviews with Comte Esterhazy, who, referring to the testimony of General Roget, before the Court of Cas-sation in the Dreyfus proceedings, says Roget's accusations are ridiculous, while Major Hartmann was mistaken in saying the he (Esterhazy) went to the manoeuvres at Momy or was present at the Chalons Champe test of the calibre cannon.

It was not he, he declares, who gave the London Daily Chronicle the letters sent to President Faure. These letters were dictated to him.

The statement printed in The London Observer yesterday morning, that he told the proprietors of that paper that he wrote the bordereau under orders, and that Dreyfus did not write it, Comte Esterhazy characterizes as a ridiculous invention.

100,000 WORKMEN REPRESENTED.
London, April 9.—A conference on old-age pensions attended by representatives of trades unions, trade friendly, and other economic societies of the Midland counties, was held at Birmingham recently. It was estimated that about 100,000 workmen were represented.

Mr. Chamberlain, who had been invited, wrote regretting his inability to attend, and said that while there was marked difference of opinion as to the line on which a remedy could be found, any discussion which was calculated to throw light on the question would be most valuable, and he should watch with interest for the report of the proceedings.

The chief speaker was Mr. Charles Booth, who said, the essentials of a non-contributory scheme, such as he favored, were that the cost must be borne by general taxation, and the benefit should be for all who claimed their assistance from the State. These conditions would not check, but rather stimulate the accumulation of property. Insurance would still be needed, and its provision facilitated. Earnings by the old and rates of wages generally, would not be affected. Charity would become less fraudulent. The poor law might be reformed, and out-relief abolished.

A resolution was passed approving
Mr. Booth's scheme on the subject.

THE SAMOAN COMMISSIONER.
Washington, April 10.—The President has selected Bartlett Trapp, of South Dakota, formerly Minister to Austria, as the United States representative on the Samoan joint commission.

CROCKER CALLED.

The Investigators of New York's Police Call the Bluff of the Boss.

New York, April 10.—The second day's session of the police investigation committee commenced to-day.

Rumors that extraordinary revelations followed by arrests of prominent persons would ensue within a week or so were current, though it was scarcely believed that these could develop until the committee and consultants further with the work.

Among those in the court-room as witnesses waiting to be called, were Chas. O. Police Deputy, Captain Pius, Frank Crocker, ex-Chief of Police, and Capt. Conroy.

Surprise was created when Mr.
McDonough, counsel for the defense, said that he would call a witness who was a detective in the police force, and was about to testify that he had been engaged to serve as a spy.

Dr. McDonough who represents the city department, then rose, and after announcing that Frank Crocker was a court and had not been served with a subpoena, created a little stir by adding:

"Mr. Richard Crocker desires me to say that he will be at the disposal of the investigation committee at any time up to the 15th of April, when he is to sail for Europe."

Mr. Crocker promptly accepted the challenge and requested that Richard Crocker be present to testify next Friday.

HOW CANADA IS LOSING

Beneficial Emigrants from Britain are Lost Away to America.

Halifax, April 10.—J. Haddett, travelling passenger and immigration agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway in Great Britain, was a passenger on the steamer Vancouver, which arrived to-day from Liverpool. Mr.
Haddett is on his way to Manitoba and the Northwest in charge of a large party of leading English agriculturists.

At present the outlook for immigration is bad. During the winter the efforts of agents were attended with fairly satisfactory results, but now the Government of Queensland is offering free passage to desirable agriculturists and their servants, and the outlook for Canada is not of the brightest.

Mr. Haddett had in his possession information obtained from the other side which shows that strong efforts are being put forth in order to induce colonists to go to Queensland. The Government has already granted £25, 000 for free passages and an additional sum of £25,000 will shortly be voted for the same purpose. The effects of these movements have been quickly felt. Arrangements have been made with steamship companies to carry fifty passengers each trip, but so great is the rush that special vessels are being chartered, and the first of these will sail with 300 of the very best farmers and their families.

Mr. Haddett was informed by letter at Halifax that many who have intended coming this way will now proceed for Australia, and unless the Canadian Government takes a determined stand, the best class of people will cease coming here altogether.

Mr. Haddett, it may be stated, was the man who induced the first company of German settlers to leave Michigan for Canada, and when informed this morning that the good work was growing, he seemed much pleased. He will return to England about the last of next month, and will endeavor to check the stampede to the antipodes.

of foul gas occurred in the Veda Roca

VOLUNTEERS TIRED OF FIGHTING.

Manila, April 10.—Though hundreds of Filipinos are daily returning to their homes and are desirous of resuming peacetime pursuits, and though the proclamation issued by the United States Philippine Commission has given an impetus to this movement, the war is far from ended. One of the foremost American generals said recently: "We will need a hundred thousand soldiers in the Philippines before the Americans control the islands, and a majority of the army are of his opinion."

It is generally considered that great reinforcements are necessary, and it is thought that it would have a better effect upon the natives to crush them American supremacy of colonial and quickly than to temporize with them.

And the stories told by prisoners and deadly natives suggest that a majority of the natives would be glad to quit, but that there are enough pro-American revolutionaries left to make a country with a hundred thousand men, and to remove the natives for years to come, come high Americans may, but the revolution would wage a campaign of money in staying at Agulnada and his clique of influential Filipinos.

TOO OPTIMISTIC.

Foreigners in Manila think the Americans are too optimistic as to the expects of the proclamation. They say that the weakness of the proclamation is in the fact that the natives have to deal with the Spaniards, and that they are unable to realize what is words mean, and that the purpose of its promise is anything but a scare.

A majority of the United States volunteers are eager to return home, and "we did not expect to fight again," is a remark that is constantly heard. The volunteers consider their enlistment "to the close of the war," to apply to the war with Spain, and which is relieved by regulars.

The Spanish system of defending Manila by a line of block houses may be adopted by the American authorities here during the wet season, as it requires fewer men than the trench defences, and lessens the chances of such men among the defenders. Lieut.
Stearns, of the Idaho regiment, a brother of the Governor of Idaho, has been placed on trial by court martial for calling Major Higgins a coward, in the presence of his company. It is expected that he will be dismissed from the service.

U.S. AND BRITISH SAILORS KILLED BY SAMOANS.

An Anglo-American Expedition Caught in an Ambush and are Forced to Retreat to the Beach.

COMMANDING OFFICER, LIEUT. FREEMAN, WAS SLAIN.

The Bodies of the Whites Were Decapitated by Mataafa's Warriors, of Whom Forty are Killed and Many Wounded.

Apa, Samoa, April 12.—A party of 106 British and United States sailors were forced to retreat to the beach after having been caught in an ambush on a Samoan plantation that day. The expedition was led by Lieut. Freeman of the British cruiser Tauranga, and he and Lieut. Andaleo and Ensign Monaghan, of the U.S. cruiser, Philadelphia were left dead on the field. Ensign Monaghan remained to assist Lieut. Andaleo, and was shot in retreating. Two British and two United States sailors were also killed. The natives engaged were some of Mataafa's warriors and they were the heads of the chief officers. The natives lost 40 killed.

The manager of the German plantation has been arrested and detained on board the Tauranga, on charges of declaring he was seen during the fight among the natives.

In a previous engagement 27 of Mataafa's warriors were killed, and there were no casualties among the Europeans here.

It is estimated that about eight hundred warriors attacked the Anglo-American party from ambush.

On the arrival of the British cruiser Tauranga at Apa, the British and United States Consuls issued a proclamation to give Mataafa a last chance and the French priests also used their influence, but all efforts failed and the rebels continued their depredations. Property was destroyed and bridges and roads were barricaded. On March 29 the enemy was sighted at Mafuigi and machine guns and a seven-pounder were used. The friendly also attacked the enemy during the latter's retreat and several rebels were killed or wounded.

PROTEST AGAINST BARBARIY.

The friendly parties on board through Apa, which made Captain Stuart so furious that he went to the King and threatened to shoot any man found taking hands. The King then issued a proclamation forbidding the practice.

The German Consul wrote to Admiral Kautz asking if two great Christian nations approved of this inhuman and barbarous practice against the laws of Christianity and the decorum of the supreme court. The Admiral replied agreeing with the Consul as to the inhumanity of the practice pointed out by the German.

Consul of the supreme court. The Supreme Court of January that there was to be no bloodshed, and said the custom was an old Samoan one, but first made known to the world ten years ago.

FEELING IN LONDON.

London, April 12.—The despatches from Samoa, created considerable sensation in official circles and among the general public. The newspapers sent out large placards printed with such startling announcements as, "British and American forces routed," "German treachery," etc.

The German Ambassador here, Count Von Hatzfeldt-Wildenburg, said, "This news is indeed grave, and it is unfortunate, too, at this moment that anything should occur to endanger the negotiations for the settlement that we were glad to feel would soon have arrived. Of course, I cannot discuss the particulars given in this despatch, but the occurrence is certainly very unfortunate."

The Pall Mall Gazette says, "The locality of the engagement, or rather, ambush, is stated to have been a German plantation, and there is the unpleasant suggestion of treachery upon the part of a German subject. The incident apart from the loss of life, is deeply deplorable. The situation was already full of anxiety to the Government at home, while on the spot the feeling was high, though it will be kept well under control. The Cabinet at London, Washington and Berlin could well have been spared this latest development. We may be assured that order will be maintained and the united efforts of the English and United States commanders, but even their efforts will not clear them of the electricity, which is fast accumulating at Apa."

Washington, April 12.—The news from Samoa was received here with a feeling of apprehension. There was a refusal on the part of the highest officials to discuss the event. The Secretary of the German Embassy called early in the day upon Secretary Hay, neither of the officials would discuss anything as to the nature of the exchange that took place.

The arrest and detention by the British naval officials of a German subject is one of the most dangerous features of the controversy. It is said that the Consuls of the three powers claim extra-territorial jurisdiction involving the right to try the subjects of their respective countries for any alleged offences committed. Under this practice the German Consul, Rome, may demand the surrender of the German subject. If the man is guilty it is considered improbable that the British will yield and upon some adequate guarantee that he is to be sufficiently punished. It is not believed likely that Rome will make such a promise.

At the British and German Embassies the news of another bloody conflict in Samoa was received with deep concern. Sir Julian Pauncefote expressed his profound regret at the collision at a moment when he had hoped the trouble was in a fair way to adjustment. Mr. Elliot, the British High Commissioner to Samoa, deplored the event. The British officials were quite confident, however, that the chances of a settlement would not be destroyed by this affair, although they might be somewhat embarrassed. A sharp difference has developed between the British and German Foreign Offices as to getting the high commissioner off for Samoa on the 19th. Lord Salisbury says the commissioner cannot be instructed by telegram as to get away on the 19th. The British view is that there is no chance of getting away until next month. The following official German view was given to the Associated Press.

"After Germany and the United States had arrived at such an understanding that the commission could have left San Francisco on the 19th, England raised new difficulties of such complicated nature that they cannot be dealt with telegraphically. Germany feels justified under these circumstances to hold the name of her commissioner back. The Berlin press that Germany would demand satisfaction for the arbitrary action of Admiral Kautz is not credited in official German circles, and seems to be a malicious invention."

HAPPY THOUGHTS.

Book of German literature, in the original in his own country, the name of the idea of using words and ideas as a prefix to a pleasant introduction of the virtues of American's Greatest Medicine. These quaint quotations often fit the words of the day with startling accuracy and the moral is easily drawn with natural good to show's superiority.

JUDGE REFUSED TO HOLD COURT

HE INSISTS ON PROPER COURT ATTENTIONS.

Mrs. John Goth Killed—Unknown Man Meets Death in the Woods—G.A. & P.A. Ry. Will Get the Grain Trade.

Ottawa, April 12.—Judge Montgomery went out to Richmond to hold court. But he came within an ace of not fulfilling his engagement. When he ascended the dais he found that no ink had been provided. This omission somewhat rattled his honor's judicial dignity, and he took his departure, refusing to hold court. Some time afterward one or two of the lawyers present found him at the hotel and induced him to take up the cases in which they were interested. The judge agreed to do this but would go no further. The court was adjourned until June, when it is expected, some ink may have been obtained.

MRS. JOHN GOTH KILLED.

Mrs. John Goth, wife of a prominent farmer of Marlboro, met a terrible death in a runaway near Malakoff yesterday. In trying to escape from a frightened animal, she fell from her carriage, breaking her neck and crushing in the skull. Death was instantaneous.

Early in the morning Mr. and Mrs. Goth and their little daughter left home and were driving towards Malakoff, when the horse suddenly became frightened at some object and soon got beyond control of the driver. The animal took in the side of the road and the rig collided with a log, throwing out Mr. Goth and the little girl. Mrs. Goth kept to her seat, however, and made frantic efforts to stop the frightened animal, but failing in this she jumped, striking on her head. She was found dead by the roadside when her husband reached the spot.

Mr. Goth and the little girl escaped with a severe shaking up.

The victim of the accident was a married woman, and a daughter of Mr. William Montgomery, of Goodtown. She leaves besides her husband four children to mourn her untimely demise.

KILLED IN THE WOODS.

A despatch was received in Hull yesterday from Cologne stating that a man named Proulx had been killed there yesterday while engaged in the lumbering industry. No further particulars were given as to who the unfortunate fellow was, or in whose camp he was working. It is stated that a man named Charles Proulx, living on Chaudiere street, left to take part in the river drives last week. The police are endeavoring to ascertain whether this is the man or not.

In the meantime steps have been taken to secure further particulars. It is probable that as the men went on work but a short time ago Proulx's home connections are not known. The word has been received from the men themselves since they left for the work, so that the authorities are at rest in the matter.

WILL GET GRAIN TRADE.

The area of prosperity felt throughout the continent has reached the Canadian Northwest in a marked form. Mr. O. A. Bawit, of the Northern Elevator company, in conversation with a Ottawa reporter at the Russell station, the unusually good wheat crop of the last few years was attracting a very large number of Ontario farmers, as well as many from the United States. Grazing was also proving very profitable and attracting the attention of many, on account of the good prices cattle were bringing. Mr. Bawit's company operates 120 elevators at Winnipeg and other towns and cities throughout the province. The total capacity of these elevators is about 2,000,000 bushels.

He states that there need be no great cry over the choice of a new Canadian route for the handling of the grain as the country, when settled, could keep many lines busy, both water and rail.

Mr. Bawit expressed surprise at the large quantity of grain carried by the O. A. and P. R. and connecting lines last year, and stated if the rates were right this route would get all it could handle in the grain line. At present the output of the Northern Elevator company is shipped by way of Port William to Buffalo, but the opening of the St. Lawrence canal and completion of the Booth system of railways would remedy this and keep the traffic in Canada.

Of the Georgian Bay canal scheme, Mr. Bawit could not speak, as he had not as yet given the subject much study.

CHARGED WITH ASSAULT.

A Warrant Issued for the Arrest of Robert Morgan.

A session of the county police court was called for yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mr. Robert Morgan was summoned to answer to the charge of assault preferred against him by Mr. John Strain, of Ashburnham.

Mr. Strain says that on Saturday last the accused entered McAllister's mill where Mr. Strain is employed, and while his back was turned he seized Morgan and assaulted him. He further states that the accused has dogged his footsteps to and from work, and declares he was threatened to take his life.

Mr. Strain and the witness were in court promptly at 2 o'clock, and Magistrate Edmondson after waiting for twenty minutes for the accused to turn up, issued a warrant for his arrest and placed it in the hands of County Constable Ouchman.

THE POPE AND RITUALISM.

He is Anxious to Arrange a Great Conversion of Ritualists—Other Foreign News.

London, April 12.—The Pope has ordered Cardinal Vaughan to come to Rome to report personally as to the English Ritualistic movement. The Pope is anxious to see a decided return to Catholicism before he dies, and wishes to arrange a great conversion of Ritualists en masse. His English advisers, however, advocate a continuance of the waiting policy.

ARE HOSTILE TO ENGLAND.

St. Petersburg, April 12.—Amid much talk about the defenses of India against the Russians it is interesting to note the result of investigations which have been made from the Russian point. Recently a lecture, entitled "Military Sketches of India," was delivered here by Captain Novitsky in the presence of nearly all the highest military authorities of the capital. The lecturer gave the results of his personal investigation during a stay of four months in the country last year. Captain Novitsky pointed out the low degree of education among the native officers and the absence of any Government measures for improving their wretched condition. He then read a short strategic account of the North-western region of India, dwelling more fully upon British Baluchistan and the Kyber Pass. The review showed that the fortification of the Northwest frontier was unsatisfactory, and in a very different state from that in which it had been represented from English sources. According to Captain Novitsky, the attitude towards the English of the Indian natives is hostile. The feeling of the natives towards Russia was not what the majority of Russians imagined to be. The natives had heard very little about Russia, and what they had heard was false and unfavorable.

KING HUMBERT IN SARDINIA.

Cagliari, Island of Sardinia, April 12.—The King and Queen of Italy arrived here to-day and were received with enthusiasm. Salutes were fired from the ships and forts and all the war vessels were brilliantly decorated. The officers of the French and Italian fleets attended the theatre yesterday morning. The Marseillaise and Italian national hymns were played amid the frantic cheers of the audience and the waving of French and Italian flags.

A PEOPLE'S PARLIAMENT.

London, April 12.—Sir Thomas Henry Gwynne, Bart., senior whip of the anti-Parnellite party and member of Parliament for the West Division of Kerry, has written a letter to the Government papers suggesting that such of the Irish County Councils as their first meeting appoint two delegates to meet in Dublin for the purpose of considering matters of national interest and thus form "a people's parliament."

MONUMENTS TO HARON HIRSCH.

Vienna, April 12.—A rumor is current in Vienna this morning that monuments to the late philanthropist Baron de Hirsch, will be raised at Budapest, Buda, and Lemberg, Galicia, the funds being obtained from public subscription. This phenomenal departure is taken here as indicating more strongly than any other circumstance has done, how much Baron de Hirsch accomplished for his race. (Through the Austro-Hungarian Empire no monument has ever been raised to a Jew.)

They Died Together.

Ottawa, N.B., April 12.—Mrs. Daisy O'Neill and Mrs. Overy, who have recently had trouble with their husbands, decided to die together last night, and took thirty grains of morphine with fatal results. They were each 23 years old and came here from Burlington, Iowa.

Killed a Cat.

At the police court yesterday morning a young lad was charged with killing a cat within a corporation. It appears that the neighborhood in which the boy resides had been troubled by a cat, and the youngsters decided to end its career. The magistrate in giving the boy some sound advice, referred to the lamentable accident which occurred in town last year by which a young lady lost her life through the careless handling of a rifle, she allowed the boy to go.

Interested in School Children.

Augusta Caspers, a florist and nurseryman of Rochelle, Ont., believes that the world's record for regular attendance at school belongs to his family. He has three children attending public school who have made the following remarkable records:

Ella Caspers, sixth grade, has been perfect in attendance 16 terms, or five years and one term.

Floyd Caspers, sixth grade, has been perfect in attendance 15 terms or five years. He has not missed a day or been tardy since he entered school.

If another man in the United States or Canada has children who hold a better record in the matter of attendance at school Mr. Caspers would like to hear from him.

FILIPINOS FALL BACK AND BURN VILLAGES

GENERAL WHEATON'S ARTILLERY SHELLS THEM.

After Some Resistance He Captures Two Strongholds of the Rebels who are Driven up the Mountain Side.

Manila, April 12.—General Wheaton started at daylight with the Tenth Pennsylvania and the Second Oregon Regiments and two guns to drive the rebels from the American right flank between the railroad and the foothills. He fought with a slight resistance near Santa Maria, and had one man wounded.

But the enemy bolted when shelled by the artillery, and burned and abandoned the town of Santa Maria, where a thousand rebels were reported to have concentrated. During the rest of the day the enemy was in full retreat towards the mountains, burning the villages behind the retreating force. Occasionally a few of the rebels dropped to the rear and fired at head-advancing American troops from the jungle, apparently with the idea that this would check our advance and cover the retreat of the Filipinos. But finding these tactics ineffectual, these rebels scrambled after the main body.

The American guard along the railroad has been materially strengthened, and it is not likely the rebels will succeed in getting in the future to as close quarters as they did yesterday, even if they return from the mountains.

TWO VILLAGES CAPTURED.

Manila, April 12.—Lawton's command captured the village of Pagagan and Lumban yesterday with some resistance at the latter place. The mouth of the river commanded by Lumban, was effectively blockaded against the entrance of the gunboats. The shells from the Laguna de Bay drove most of the insurgents to flight up the mountain side. A small force remained in an old church offering resistance until it was rushed by the troops. About fifty were captured, and several killed. There was one casualty among the Americans, that being an arm wound.

Six launches and two canoes were captured in the river. The river mouth was to be dredged today, and the obstructions removed. Santa Cruz and Pagagan are now guarded by the men of the Fourth Cavalry. Part of the Fourteenth Infantry, with General Lawton, is in Lumban.

WHAT OTIS SAYS.

Manila, April 12.—Adjutant General, Washington, yesterday in the morning Lawton pursued insurgents toward from Santa Cruz, dispersing them. Captured all the sugar vessels in the lake trade and Spanish gunboat. He is now endeavoring to pass them from river, where camped, into lake. Wheaton drove the enemy on miles to eastward of railway line of communications with Malolos. Lawton and Wheaton's casualties few and slight, as enemy made no stand. Notified by Spain she will evacuate Mindoro and Polio moon.

Manila April 12.—While it is probable that there is an end to the long struggle in the Philippines between the Americans and the Filipinos, the war is not at an end by any means.

It is the universal opinion among army men here that it will require presence of 50,000 American troops to occupy the territory that has been taken and to keep open communication among the islands.

General Lawton's advance promises to meet with a burning resistance. Trenches are built by the enemy from town to town. On all sides the rebels are in a high communication by means of signal fires. They avoid being caught in a trap and are quick to harass the flank. Since the 25th the enemy's losses have not been more than double ours.

Our kindness to the rebel wounded and prisoners does not allay the dogged animosity. Only a small portion of the population of the north have returned to their homes. Only the deceased and aged remained in Santa Cruz. Aguinaldo is reported to be in San Fernando and still in the hands of the defense of the new capital and of Calumpit.

PETITION TO PARDON BROWN THE MURDERER.

Spiritual Advisor of the Condemned Man is Making Signatures.

London, Ont., April 12.—Rev. Dr. Robert Johnston, the spiritual advisor of the condemned murderer Maria Brown and Mr. McPhillips, the prisoner's counsel, are circulating a petition for the commutation of the death sentence of the prisoner. There is a great diversity of opinion amongst the legal fraternity concerning the justice of the verdict. The majority of the influential lawyers have refused to sign the petition, on the ground that the evidence fully justified the verdict, and Brown premeditated the murder of every officer of the law in his or any other country who interfered with him. About 80 legal men have signed the petition—some because they are opposed to capital punishment, and others as an act of courtesy to Mr. McPhillips. The general feeling is that justice should be allowed to take its course. The majority of lawyers who have not signed the petition say that crime for which Brown was convicted is not one of "premeditated" murder, the word should be struck from the code instantly.

IS YOUR HAIR TURNING GRAY?

What does your mirror say? Does it tell you of some little speck of gray? Are you glancing? Do your friends of the same age show this loss of power also?

Just remember that gray hair never becomes darker without help, while dark hair rapidly becomes gray when once the change begins.

Ayer's
Hair

will bring back to your hair the color of youth. It never fails. It is just as sure as that heat melts snow, or that water freezes ice.

It cleanses the scalp also and prevents the formation of dandruff. It feeds and nourishes the bulbs of the hair making them produce a luxuriant growth. It stops the hair from falling out and gives a fine soft finish to the hair as well.

We have a book on the Hair and Scalp which you may obtain free by mail. It contains all the latest facts on the subject of the hair, and is a most valuable work. Address, Dr. J. C. Ayer, Lowell, Mass.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Sir Willard is a man of refined manners and agreeable ways, but he is not an angel.

After his experiences with Greece, Turkey now expects to have a fat thing of it with Bulgaria.

It is no quiet in the Philippines that it is possible to hear the running of Filipinos' breathless pants. Many of them do not wear any other kind.

Should Spain have no better luck in raising her navy than we have had in raising her road cars, the name is hard.

Brookville is a big pill manufacturing town. Hon. Peter White may find some pretty bitter ones before he is through with that burg.

Evidently not hotels alone need fire escapes in the big cities like New York, where even the better classes of private residences are high buildings are packed close together.

When the speaker of the evening at the Young Liberal banquet in Toronto mentioned the "honored name of Mackenzie" the banqueters do not know whether they were cheering the dead associate of Edward Blake or the living partner of Dan Meun.

Harvest Wanted.

For a few weeks to go to the country and care for a young girl who has recently had an operation performed on her eyes. Duties light. Apply to Miss Graham, care Drawer C. of the Times office.

Telephone to Rent.

Curios Made to Order.

It will probably cause the curiosity collector, who has spent much of his time and money in gathering what he supposed to be priceless works of art, a pang to know that his treasures can be reproduced for a mere nothing. A well-known car expert makes the statement that certain factories exist in Europe for the manufacture of all kinds of work of art that are likely to attract the collector. Modern articles of china are stamped with old marks cleverly that even experts have been deceived. Arms and armor are treated with acids which eat away the metal, thus producing the same effect as the ravages of time. Carved ivories are stained with oils to make them yellow, and are subjected to heat to make them crack. Pieces of furniture have been drilled to represent the worm holes, and so on, until in time these will be very little in the way of curios which are in themselves really curious.

It is rare, however, for such spurious articles to get into a respectable dealer's hands. As a rule, they are sent to auction rooms, where they are quickly bought up by amateurs who imagine they are driving a sharp bargain and walk away with, to all appearances, a perfect gem, with which they are supremely happy until undeceived.

MOLLY BAWN.

BY THE DUCHESS.

I like a man to be jealous, in reason. Though when Sir Penrhyn walked out from behind that hedge looking as if he could with pleasure devour me and Talbot at a bite, I confess I could gladly dispense with the quality in him. You should have seen his face, for once I was honestly frightened.

"Poor Cecil it must have been a shock. And all because that tire some young man wouldn't go away."

"Just so. All might have been well had he only seen things in a reasonable light. Oh, I was so angry! The most charming of your charms, Molly," says Cecil, warmly, "is your ability to sympathize with one. You feel so thoroughly with and for me; and you never reason your remarks with unpalatable truths. You never say, I told you so, or, I knew how it would be, or didn't I warn you? or anything else equally objectionable. I really would rather a person boxed my ears outright than give way to such phrases as those, pretending they know all about a catastrophe, after it has happened. And," says her ladyship, with a positive sigh, "you might, perhaps, had you so chosen, have secured me of flirting a little bit with that stupid Talbot."

"Well, indeed, perhaps I might, dear," says Molly, innocently.

"What are you going to play the traitor after all that flattery and if so, what am I to say to you about your daring refusal to encourage Captain Shadowell?"

"I wonder if I did encourage him?" says Molly, contritely. "At first, perhaps, unconsciously. But lately, I am sure I didn't. Do you know Cecil, I positively dislike him! He is so far and so silent, and still persistent. But when a man keeps on saying he is miserable for love of you, and that you are the cause of all his distress, and that he would as soon be dead as alive, because you can not return his affection, how can one help feeling a little sorry for him?"

"I don't feel in the least sorry for Talbot. I thought him extremely unpleasant and impertinent, and bore with all my heart he is very unhappy to-night, because it will do him good."

"Cecil, how cruel you are!" "Well, by what right does he go about making fierce love to married women compelling them to listen to his nonsense, whether they like it or not, and getting them into scrapes? I don't break my heart over Sir Penrhyn, but I certainly do not wish him to think badly of me."

"At least," says Molly, relapsing again into the blues, "you may have consolation. You can not lose Sir Penrhyn."

"That might also be looked on as a disadvantage. Still, I suppose there is some benefit to be gained from my position," says Cecil, meditatively.

"My lover, if he is indeed my lover, can not play the false knight with me; he is mine to love and to ride away. There are no breakers ahead for me. He is mine irrevocably, no matter how horribly he may desire to escape. But you need not envy me; it is sweeter to be as you are, to have a man you without the shadow of a tear. He is not lost to you."

"Effectually. What! do you think I would submit to be again engaged to a man who could fling me off for a chimera, a mere tick of the imagination? If he were to beg my pardon on his knees, if he were to acknowledge every word he said to me a lie, I would not look at him again."

"I always said your pride would be your bane," says Cecil, reprovingly. Now, just think how far happier you would be if you were friends with him again, and think of nothing else. What is pride in comparison with comfort? Have you forgiven Sir Penrhyn?"

"Freely. But he won't forgive me."

"Have you forgiven him the first great crime of all, his indifference toward his bride?"

"No," confesses her ladyship, smiling; "not yet."

"Ah! then don't blame me. I could have killed myself when I cried," says Molly, referring again to the past, with a little angry shiver; "but I felt so sorry for my poor, pretty innocent ring. And he looked so handsome, so determined, when he flung it in the fire, with his eyes quite dark and his figure drawn up, and—and I could not help wondering," says Molly, with a little tremble in her tone, "who next would love him—and who—be—would love."

"I never thought you was so fond of him, dear," says Cecil, laying her hand softly on her friend's.

"Not I, until I lost him," murmurs poor Molly, with a vain attempt at composure. Two tears fall heavily into her lap; a sob escapes her.

"Now you are going to cry again," interposes Cecil, with busy but kindly warning. "Don't. Be it not going to fall in love with any one so long as you are single, take my word for it. Nonsense my dear cheer yourself with the certainty that he is at this moment eating his heart out, because he knows better than I do that though there may be many women for the moment, there is only one Molly Bawn in the world."

This reflection, although consolatory, has not the desired effect. Instead of drying her eyes and declaring herself glad that Talbot is unhappy, Molly grows more and more afflicted every moment.

"My dear girl," exclaims Lady Bradford, as a last resource, "do pray think of your complexion. I have finished crying; I shall give way no more, because I wish to look my best to-morrow, to let him see what a charming person he has chosen to quarrel with. And my tears are not so destructive as yours, because mine arise from vexation, yours from feeling."

FILIPINOS FALL BACK AND BURN VILLAGES

GENERAL WHEATONS ARTILLERY SHELLS THEM.

After some resistance he captures two strongholds of the rebels who are driven up the mountain side.

Manila, April 12.—General Wheaton started at daylight with the Tenth Pennsylvania and the Second Oregon Regiments and two guns to drive the rebels from the American right flank between the railroad and the foothills. He might with a slight resistance near Santa Maria, and had one man wounded.

But the enemy bolted when shelled by the artillery, and burned and abandoned the town of Santa Maria, where a thousand rebels were reported to have concentrated. During the rest of the day the enemy was in full retreat towards the mountains, burning the villages behind the retreating force. Occasionally a few of the rebels dropped to the rear and fired at advancing American troops from the jungle, apparently with the idea that this would check our advance and cover the retreat of the Filipinos. But finally these tactics proved ineffectual, these rebels scrambled after the main body.

TWO VILLAGES CAPTURED.

Manila, April 12.—Lawton's command captured the village of Pagayan and Lumban yesterday with some resistance at the latter place. The mouth of the river commanded by Lumban was effectually blockaded against the entrance of the gunboats. The shells from the Laguna de Bay drove most of the insurgents to flight up the mountain side. A small force remained in an old church offering resistance until it was rushed by the troops. About fifty were captured, and several killed. There was one casualty among the Americans, that being an arm wound.

Six launches and two sampans were captured in the river. The river mouth was to be dredged to-day, and the obstructions removed. Santa Cruz and Pagayan are now guarded by the men of the Fourth Cavalry. Part of the Fourteenth Infantry, with General Lawton, is in Lumban.

WHAT OTIS SAYS.

Manila April 12.—Adjutant General, Washington.—Yesterday in the lake region Lawton pursued insurgents eastward from Santa Cruz, driving them from the lake trade and Spanish gunboat. He is now endeavoring to pass them from river, where concealed, into lake.

Wheaton drove the enemy on miles eastward of railway line of communication with Manila. Lawton and Wheaton's casualties few and slight, a enemy made no stand. Notified by Spain she will evacuate Mindoro and Polo soon.

OTIS.

Manila April 12.—While it is probable that there is an end to the insurgent movements in the Philippines between the Americans and the Filipinos, the war is not at an end by any means. It is the universal opinion among army men here that it will require presence of 50,000 American troops to occupy the territory that has been taken and to keep open communication among the islands.

General Lawton's advance promises to meet with a harassing resistance. Trenches are built by the enemy from town to town. On all sides the rebels are in niches communicating by means of signal fires. They avoid being caught in a trap and are quick to harass the flank. Since the 25th the enemy's losses have not been more than double ours.

Our kindness to the rebel wounded and prisoners does not allay the dogged enmity. Only a small portion of the population of the north have returned to their homes. Only the dunces and aged remained in Santa Cruz. Aguinaldo is reported to be in San Francisco and still in absolute charge of the defence of the new capital and of Cebu.

THE POPE AND RITUALISM.

He is Anxious to Arrange a Great Festival of Ritualism. Other Foreign News.

London, April 12.—The Pope has ordered Cardinal Vaughan to come to Rome to report personally as to the English Ritualistic movement. The Pope is anxious to see a decided return to Catholicism before he dies, and will have to arrange a great festival of Ritualists on a mass scale. His English address is a surprise. "Ritualism" is a subject of the waiting policy.

ARE HOSTILE TO ENGLAND.

St. Petersburg, April 12.—Amid much talk about the defenses of India against the Russians it is interesting to note the result of investigation which have been made from the Russian point. Recently a lecture, entitled "Military Sketches of India," was delivered here by Captain Novitsky in the presence of nearly all the highest military authorities of the capital. The lecturer gave a realistic picture of the military situation in India. He pointed out the low degree of education among the native officers and the absence of any Government measures for improving their condition. He then read a historical account of the North-Western region of India, dwelling more fully upon British Baluchistan and the Kyber Pass. The review showed that the fortification of the Northwest frontier was unsatisfactory, and in a very different state from that of the Russian Empire. The lecturer said that he had heard very little about Russia, and what they had heard was false and unfavorable.

KING HUMBERT IN SARDINIA.

Genoa, April 12.—The King and Queen of Italy arrived here to-day and were received with enthusiasm. Salutes were fired from the ships and forts and all the war vessels were brilliantly decorated. The officers of the French and Italian fleets attended the shore yesterday morning. The Marseillaise and Italian national hymns were played and the French and Italian flags were hoisted and the waving of French and Italian flags.

"A PEOPLE'S PARLIAMENT."

London, April 12.—Sir Thomas Henry Gratton Edmonds, Bart., senior whip of the anti-Parnellite party and member of Parliament for the West Division of Kerry, has written a letter to the Government papers suggesting that each of the Irish County Councils at their first meeting appoint two delegates to meet in Dublin for the purpose of considering matters of national interest and thus form "a people's parliament."

MONUMENTS TO BARON HIRSCH.

Vienna, April 12.—A rumor is current in Vienna to-day morning that monuments to the late philanthropist Baron de Hirsch, will be raised at Budapest, Hungary, and Lemberg, Galicia, the funds being obtained from public subscription. This phenomenal feat is taken here as indicating more strongly than any other circumstance has done, how much Baron de Hirsch accomplished for his race. Throughout the Austro-Hungarian Empire no monument has ever been raised to a Jew.

PETITION TO PARDON BROWN THE MURDERER.

Spiritual Adviser of the Condemned Man is Taking Signatures.

London, Ont., April 12.—Rev. Dr. Robert Johnston, the spiritual adviser of the condemned murderer Marion Brown and Mr. McPhillips, the prisoner's counsel, are circulating a petition for the commutation of the death sentence of the prisoner. There is a great diversity of opinion among the legal fraternity concerning the justice of the verdict. The majority of the influential lawyers have refused to sign the petition on the ground that the evidence fully justified the verdict, and Brown premeditated the murder of every officer of the law in this or any other country who interfered with him. About 30 legal men have signed the petition, however, because they are opposed to capital punishment, and others as an act of courtesy to Mr. McPhillips. The general feeling is that justice should be allowed to take its course. The majority of lawyers who have not signed the petition say that the crime for which Brown was convicted is not one of "premeditated" murder, the word should be struck from the code instantly.

U.S. AND BRITISH SAILORS KILLED BY SAMOANS.

An Anglo-American Expedition Caught in an Ambush and are Forced to Retreat to the Beach.

COMMANDING OFFICER, LIEUT. FREEMAN, WAS SLAIN.

The Bodies of the Whites Were Decapitated by Mataafa's Warriors, of Whom Forty are Killed and Many Wounded.

Apia, Samoa, April 12.—A party of 106 British and United States sailors were forced to retreat to the beach after having been caught in an ambush on a German plantation that day. The expedition was led by Lieut. Freeman of the British cruiser Tauranga, and he and Lieut. Andesdale and Ensign Monaghan, of the U.S. cruiser, Philadelphia were left dead on the field. Ensign Monaghan remained to assist Lieut. Landis, and was shot in retreating. Two British and two United States sailors were also killed. The natives engaged were some of Mataafa's warriors and they severed the heads of the dead officers. The natives lost 40 killed.

The manager of the German plantation has been arrested and detained on board the Tauranga, on affidavits declaring he was seen during the fight among the natives.

In a previous engagement 27 of Mataafa's warriors were killed, and there were no casualties among the European forces.

It is estimated that about eight hundred warriors attacked the Anglo-American party from ambush.

On the arrival of the British cruiser Tauranga at Apia the British and United States Consuls issued a proclamation to give Mataafa a last chance and the French priests also used their influence, but all efforts failed and the rebels continued their depredations. Property was destroyed and bridges and roads were barricaded. On March 29 the enemy was sighted at Maguigi and machine guns and a seven-pounder were used. The friendly also attacked the enemy during the latter's retreat and several rebels were killed or wounded.

The friendly carried one head through Apia, which made Captain Stuart so furious that he went to the King and threatened to shoot any man found taking heads. The King then issued a proclamation forbidding the practice.

The German Consul wrote to Admiral Kautz asking if two great Christian nations approved of this inhuman and barbarous practice against the laws of Christianity and the decorum of the supreme court. The Admiral replied agreeing with the Consul as to the inhumanity of the practice pointed out by the German incident apart from the loss of life, is deeply deplorable. The situation was already full of anxiety to the Government at home, while on the spot racial feeling runs high, though it will be kept well under control. The Cabinet at London, Washington and Berlin could well have been spared this latest development. We may be assured that order will be maintained on board by the united efforts of the English and United States commanders, but even their efforts will not clear the air of the electricity which is fast accumulating at Apia.

Washington, April 12.—The news from Samoa was received here with a feeling of approaching dismay. There was a refusal on the part of the higher officials to discuss the event. The Secretary of the German Embassy called early in the day upon Secretary Hay. Neither of the officials would discuss anything as to the nature of the exchange that took place.

The arrest and detention by the British naval officials of a German subject is one of the most dangerous features of the controversy. It is said that the Consuls of the three powers claim extra-territorial jurisdiction involving the right to try the Consul of the supreme court. The Supreme Court of January that there was to be no bloodshed, and said the custom was an old Samoan one, but first made known to the world ten years ago.

FEELING IN LONDON.

London, April 12.—The despatches from Samoa, created considerable sensation in official circles and among the general public. The newspapers sent out large placards printed with such startling announcements as, "British and American forces routed," "German treachery," etc.

The German Ambassador here, Count Von Hatzfeldt-Wildenburg, said, "This news is indeed grave, and it is unfortunate, too, at this moment, that anything should occur to endanger the negotiations for the settlement that we were glad to feel would soon have arrived. Of course, I cannot discuss the particulars given in this despatch, but the occurrence is certainly very unfortunate."

The Pall Mall Gazette says, "The locality of the engagement, or rather, ambush, is stated to have been a German plantation, and there is the unpleasant suggestion of treachery upon the part of a German subject. The subjects of their respective countries for any alleged offences committed. Under this practice the German Consul, Rome, may demand the surrender of the German subject. If the man is guilty, it is considered probable that the British will yield unless upon some adequate guarantee that he is to be sufficiently punished. It is not believed likely that Rome will make such a promise."

At the British and German Embassies the news of another bloody conflict in Samoa was received with deep concern. Sir Julian Pauncefote expressed his profound regret at the collision at a moment when he had hoped the trouble was in a fair way to adjustment. Mr. Eliot, the British High Commissioner to Samoa, deplored the event. The British officials were quite confident, however, that the chances of a settlement would not be destroyed by this affair, although they might be somewhat embarrassed.

A sharp difference has developed between the British and German Foreign Offices as to getting the high commissioner off for Samoa on the 19th. Lord Salisbury says the commissioner cannot be instructed by telegraph so as to get away on the 19th. The British view is that there is no chance of getting away until next month. The following official German view was given to the Associated Press.

"After Germany and the United States had arrived at such an understanding that the commission could have left San Francisco on the 19th, England raises new difficulties of such complicated nature that they cannot be dealt with telegraphically. Germany feels justified under these circumstances to hold the name of her commissioner back. The Berlin news that Germany would demand satisfaction for the arbitrary action of Admiral Kautz is not credited in official German circles, and seems to be a malicious invention."

Berlin Germany and are extremely good taste.

They went astray some 3 weeks ago and the Railway Co failed to trace them, as they were refused the maker authorized his agent to rid him of them and sacrificed his profit and a slice of the cost. So they are priced at one third (1/3) less than the intended selling price.

FOUR DAYS SERVICES.

The Fourteenth Anniversary of the Salvation Army in Peterborough.

It is now fourteen years since the Salvation Army began its operations in Peterborough. There is no calculating the good that has been done.
It has worked its way up through misunderstanding—in some cases persecution until today it has the sincere respect of all the right thinking persons in the community. Hundreds have in its meetings been there-way to the feet of the world's Redeemer. Some of these became soldiers in the Army, and have kept true to their vows; others have joined different churches. The work today is in a healthy state, and the Army has much to thank God for, as well as Peterborough at large. It is fitting that the anniversary should be celebrated in a manner worthy of its fourteen years of toil and success. No thought of the officers in charge, and they have secured the services of eight or nine of the most talented in Toronto to come for four days special meetings. The first of these will be to-night, when the local corps will have a reception at the O.P.R. and a welcome meeting in the barracks. Brigadier Frederick Edith of the War Cry, who is in charge of the party, has been an officer for over ten years. He was converted in the early days of the Army in Winnipeg, and has occupied some very important positions in the Army—at one time had charge of the trade operations, and Provincial officer for British Columbia and north west States. He became Editor of the War Cry last year, for which his natural gifts and talents admirably fit him.

Staff Capt. Morris, with his brother Capt. Arthur, forms two more of the company. The Morris boys are well known, having almost since childhood been engaged in the Army work.
Their praying and singing always attracting large crowds. Staff Capt.
Morris is now private secretary to Miss Booth.

Adj. Page, sub-editor of the War Cry, is a clever, talented girl, and her coming will add much to the interest of the meetings.

Ena. Attwell, also of the editorial Department, has been an officer for years. He was fitting himself for a profession when he became converted and offered himself for the Army work.

Captains Lemon, Morris and Arnold make up the party. All these officers are musicians and form the pick of the famous Toronto Staff-Band.

There will be special programmes of singing and music arranged for every meeting. A string quartette will be among the attractions, and the violin solo of Capt. Arnold deserves special mention.

THE LOVING SHADOWS.
The anniversary of the death of the late Mr. Dutton will be a most unique and instructive as well as an interesting service. It is a new departure in the Army, and has only been recently introduced in Toronto, where it has met with exceptional success. Peterborough citizens will avail themselves of this exceptional treat, and a crowded house is expected. Don't forget the Wal-come meeting is tonight, beginning the four days' celebrations of the Anniversary.

Navigation Notes.
—The Little Lake is practically clear of ice, as is also the river below the locks.

—The steamer Eclipse will make her first trip next week.

—The steamer Majestic at Young's Point, is undergoing a thorough overhauling.

—Captain Reynolds's new boat, which is being built by the Police at Toronto has not yet been delivered at Lindsay, preparatory to putting in the machinery.

—Mr. Thomas Robinson, Fenelon Falls, proposes to build a handsome steam yacht.

—The steamers Beaver and North Star are being put in good shape for the coming season.

—Lindsay Post. It has taken several days to make proper arrangements for the raising of the Sir Orandella, but this morning Messrs. Harry Walters and Frank Orandell completed their preparations, and the steam pump was started. It removed the water from the hull in a few hours, and the staunch craft now floats buoyantly on the Sauge, care having been taken to replace the plug which caused the trouble.

—Oranges, Lemons, Bananas and Coconuts, very cheap at "The Spot Cash."

MR. DUTTON HONORED.

Mr. R. A. Dutton Entertained at Barrie on his Departure for Peterborough.

Mr. R. A. Dutton, who recently succeeded the work of Mr. J. B. Oake, went up to Barrie on Monday last to bring his family to Peterborough. The citizens of Barrie took advantage of his presence to give very appreciative expression of the high esteem in which he was held.

He was entertained at a banquet at the Wellington Hotel during which the health of the honored guest was enthusiastically honored by the representative gathering of citizens. During the evening the following address was read:

To R. A. Dutton, Esq., Having learnt with great regret of your departure—from out midst to become a resident of Peterborough, we your late fellow citizens feel that we cannot allow the occasion to pass by without in some way showing both tangibly and otherwise our appreciation of your many good qualities, guiding influence and assistance in the management of the affairs and best interests of this town.

After enjoying your citizenship for a period of upwards of twenty-five years during which time you have always shown yourself to be fully alive to our needs and have taken active part in all public affairs, as well in business as in sport, we know only too well that your presence amongst us will create a void which it will be hard, indeed, to fill. Your energetic manner of carrying to a successful end all your undertakings, whether in the domain of sport or business, will commend you to your newly found fellow citizens in Peterborough and cannot but crown your efforts in your new home with unqualified success, and there will be for you as many and true friends as you are now leaving. The ability to plan your plans, energy and a good methodical way of pre-arranging details, together with honesty of purpose, and above all exceptional enterprise, have been your characteristics here and will no doubt continue to bring to a successful issue all your undertakings.

Let us assure you that although in future you will be absent in body you will be ever present with us in mind, and your removal will, as the poet puts it only "drag at each remote an embarrassing chain."

It is your every success and prosperity that your new home and hope and trust that you, Mrs. Dutton and the children will be long spared to enjoy the pleasures of the hills and to often return to the many friends you are now leaving.

Hoping you and Mrs. Dutton will accept the small presents we now offer.
Barrie, April 13th, 1899.

The presents mentioned were a handsome gold headed cane for Mr.
Dutton and a gold watch for Mrs.
Dutton.

Mr. Dutton acknowledged the honors he had received and in a brief speech to be highly pleased with the good name he leaves behind and he will have no occasion to find fault with the welcome Peterborough will give a worthy new citizen.

A Paper-Hanging Machine.
Paper can now be hung by means of a machine. The machine has a roll of paper in the middle, and a paste reservoir with a feeder placed so as to engage the wrong side of the paper. The roll of paper is fastened to the bottom of the wall and the machine started up the wall, being held in place by the operator. A roller follows the paper and unwinds and presses it against the wall.
When the top of the wall is reached the operator pulls a string which cuts the paper off from the roll.

DEATH OF STANLEY BRADD.

A Bright and Promising Young Life Ended
Under sad Circumstances.

It is with sorrow we are obliged to chronicle the death of Stanley Bradd, only son of Dr. F. J. Bradd, which sad event occurred at the family residence, Stewart street, at four o'clock yesterday morning. The circumstances attending his illness were such as to make it particularly sad. About the end of January he was stricken down with influenza of the brain, and for some days his life hung by a thread.
He had been connected with the Junior hockey club, and it was thought for a time that his illness was due to some injury received at a match, but his condition was so serious. After some days he rallied, and so far recovered that he was able to come down stairs, but again grew weak, and gradually sunk until death ended his sufferings, at the age of sixteen years.

He was one of the brightest students in the Colligate Institute, and was popular with his teachers and com-pansions, and beloved by those who knew him intimately. He was a steady fond of athletic sports, being connected with the Colts Hockey Club, and the Rueby football team.

The bereaved father, mother and two sisters have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community in the sad and heavy loss.

The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery.

A Good Investment.
Elsewhere will be found a large advertisement of the Telford-Yukon Mining Company, Limited, which earners will do well to carefully peruse. The opportunity for so safe and profitable an investment does not occur every day.

"The Jewels of Hope."

Is there any sadder or more pathetic spectacle in this world than that of the poor woman weighed down with suffering who is at last convinced in her very soul that there is no more hope of healthy happiness on this earth? Or is there on the other hand any more delightful and inspiring picture than that of the same woman when the spirit of renewed life comes to her again and holds up before her the jewels of hope, and the regal garments of rejuvenation, health and happy complete womanhood?

"I had been a sufferer for more than one year with severe depressing pains in my womb," says Mrs. Anna L. Mathews, a lady living at 30 Broadway, New York, N. Y. "I was thankful to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. 'I seemed to have no life or energy. I was always in such misery."

"At times I suffered so much I thought that death would be better for me. I had tried doctors and different kinds of medicines but all failed to do me any good. I commenced to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and also his 'Pills,' and had only taken one bottle when I felt much better. When I had taken four I felt entirely well. I continued to take it and today I am in every way a well woman, and I have found that life is worth living. To all women who suffer with any womb trouble I would recommend this medicine. I thank the Lord that such a doctor as Dr. Pierce was born."

"Delicate, pain-scravy women need not hesitate to write to Dr. Pierce. All communications are accepted in absolute confidence; never published without express permission; and always answered with the earnest consideration to give the best possible advice of which a life-long professional experience is capable. Such advice is absolutely free."

There is a rumor that summer is coming, but the authorities apparently do not intend to spring it upon us.

As claiming to be the captain of the Philippine ship of state, Aguinaldo is certainly a skipper.

So very much is claimed for this new discovery of liquid air that it is possible it may be used to run the Keely motor.

If the Philippines soon become American, the fact that they may run for the official will compensate for their running other ways as at present.

Legislation may be slow other ways, but many bills have been passed.

A Watertown, N. Y., policeman locked up a man who was suffering from pneumonia, in the belief that he had delirium tremens. The man died. We suppose you can't expect policemen to be medical graduates, but most people should know that even delirium tremens comes within the scope of the physician rather than the jailer.

MOLLY BAWN.

BY THE DUCHESS.

"Why did you not think of all this while there was yet time?"

"One drifts—until it is too late to seek for remedies. My heaviest misfortune lies in the fact that I can not root you from my heart."

"A terrible misfortune, no doubt, with a little angry flash from her azure eyes, 'but one that time will cure.'"

"Will it?" "Will it?" "Shall I indeed lose to forget you, Molly, to look back upon my brief but happy past as an idle dream? I hardly hope so much."

"And would you waste all your best days," asked she, in tones that trembled ever so little, "in thinking of me? Remember all you said, all you meant, how thankful you were to find me out in time?"

"And will you condemn me for ever because of a few words spoken in a moment of despair and terrible disappointment?" pleads he. "I acknowledge my fault, I was wrong; I was too hasty. I behaved like a brute, if you will, but then I believe I had grounds for fear. When once I saw your face, heard your voice, looked into your eyes, I knew how false my accusations were; but then it was too late."

"Too late, indeed?"

"How calmly you can say it!" with exquisite reproach. "Have five minutes blotted out five months? Did you know all the anguish I endured on seeing you with—Shadwell—I think you might forgive me."

"I might, but I could not forget. Would I again consent to be at the mercy of one who without a question pronounced me guilty? A thousand times no!"

"Say at once you are glad to be rid of me," breaks he in, bitterly, stung by her persistent coldness.

"You are forgetting your original purpose," she says, after a slight pause, declining to notice his last remark. "Was there not something you wished to say to me?"

"Yes," rousing himself with an impatient sigh. "Molly," blanching a little, and trying to read her face, with all his heart in his eyes, are you going to marry Shadwell?"

"I have no intention of doing so," she replies, with her brows pale again. "I have no intention of doing so."

HOLLAND.

The Huis Ten Bosch, House in the Wood, which Queen Wilhelmina has placed at the disposal of the peace conference, is interesting from an artistic point of view, and has many rooms of special artistic value. The rectangular room and the orange room are decorated with paintings by Jordaens, Houthorst, Levens, Van Thulden, Zantman, all of which reproduce scenes from the life of Prince Frederick Henry of Orange, besides allegorical pictures representing his triumph over evil temptations. There is a Chinese room decorated with rice paper tapestry of the beginning of the last century; a Japanese room resplendent with rare works of art from the Mikado's country; a dining-room the walls of which are decorated with mythological scenes by De Wit. In all probability the orange room will be devoted to the sittings of the peace conference. This room has a ceiling forty-five feet from the floor, and is lighted by a huge glass cupola. According to the latest information the conference will be divided into three sections. The first will deal with the question of disarmament—that is to say, the reduction of the standing armies to a peace footing—the second section will deal with questions concerning international arbitration; the third will deal with all incidental questions. Each one will have its autonomy, and its own president, as will hand in its report to the full conference, which will discuss the reports in full session. The three presidents will sit as arbitrators on any questions upon which the conference may be equally divided.

ENGLAND.

Sidney Lee, one of the greatest Shakespearean authorities of the present day, says that very few of the first Shakespeare folios are to be found in England, since the collectors in the United States have always been among the first to bid for any that happened to be in the market.

Some of the most interesting copies of first folios of Shakespeare are at the present time in the United States. Mr. Quaritch says that "perfect copies are usually sold by us dealers to American collectors"—one of the principal reasons why they get dearer and rarer every year. The first folio, that of Nov. 8, 1623, was printed by William Jaggard. One of the rarest copies of this folio known, a presentation copy from the printer, Jaggard, is in Mr. Lee's possession. The arms stamped in the binding, fragments of which are in the original state, prove that Jaggard gave the book to Augustine Vincent, an officer of the Herald's College. Vincent and Jaggard were on very friendly terms at the time both had been furiously denounced by Ralph Brooke, a colleague of Vincent at the Herald's College, who had also displayed great hostility to Shakespeare, asserting that the poet had not right to the coat armor granted him by the heralds of 1559. In 1623 Vincent published and Jaggard printed a book exposing Brooke's ignorance and perversity of temper, and Jaggard himself inserted an amazingly caustic tirade against Brooke because in his campaign of reckless abuse Brooke had questioned Jaggard's competence as a printer. A year later, to celebrate Brooke's discomfiture, Jaggard presented his fellow-officer, Vincent, with what was obviously one of the earliest impression of his great enterprise.

An old physician, retired from practice, had placed in his hands by an East India missionary, the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and lung affections; also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility, and all Nervous Complaints. Having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, and desiring to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who wish it, a recipe in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail, by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. Noves, 820 Powers block Rochester, N.Y.

The backward season has somewhat affected business interests and merchants have not been quite so busy as they would like. The stock of the late I. C. Carvetti purchased by H. Sherin at 57 on the dollar is however being very rapidly disposed of.

A large new building on Queen St. is being erected by Mr. Webster. A place of the old bakery, which has been torn down.

H. Calder is also erecting a new livery stable on Water street. This will make the fourth establishment of the kind in the village.

The finishing touches are being put on Mr. R. Payne's new residence on Queen street, and there are rumours of other intended building operations this summer.

The assessment roll has been completed and shows a substantial increase. The assessment, however, shows a falling off of 62.

The navigation season was opened last Friday by the steamer Sunbeam making a trip to Young's Point. She returned with a load of lumber from the mill there.

The frame of Capt. Reynolds' new steamer, under contract from the Bertram Co., of Toronto, should have been delivered here some weeks since and the delay may be the occasion of serious loss to the owner.

A new installation of Acetylene gas in the residence of ex-Mr. Lillierap is giving great satisfaction.

The price of electric light is coming down to a more reasonable figure.

Farmers are getting anxious at the delay in spring operations; there is an active demand for cows and calves the latter being especially sought for many farmers intending to raise the young stock in place of sending milk to the factory.

Schools have re-opened, and the pupils at the "Grove" have also returned from their Easter holidays.

There is considerable interest among home owners in and near the village as to the development of the Berleigh Falls Power Co.'s plans. If a satisfactory system of incandescent lighting were available at a low cost. A considerable number of residents would take advantage.

The reproductions are clear and brilliant.

Preparing for Operations.

Work in the lower sections of the

this summer. The contractors, Messrs.

have secured two locomotives, which will be used at the last lock. Mr.

A Coming Event.

Our readers will be pleased to learn

The choir will be assisted by Mr. Alex. M.

Peterborough will no doubt be greet-

The Captives.

Alderman Savers deserves credit for the way he is after the caterpillar. He had a force of four men and adepts

the ringlets of nests. If this is fol-

the Department of Agriculture, Toronbut not otherwise. When one nest is removed ten remain hidden in the branches.

Y.M.C.A. BOARD MEETING.

A Satisfactory Financial Statement—Other Reports Received.

The Y.M.C.A. Board of Directors held their monthly meeting on Thursday evening. It was deeply interesting and helpful. The following were present:
Dr. Scott, president; Messrs. Peter Hamilton, H. P. Kennedy; C. A. Mallett, A. L. Grover, A. E. Dixon, P.
Adams, A. Parker, H. C. Stabler, A.
O. McCallum, B. Anderson, F. H.
Martin, G. H. Williamson, general secretary; J. M. McFadden, physical director; and W. H. Symonds, provincial secretary.

A most satisfactory statement was made regarding the finances, and a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the Ladies' Auxiliary for their handsome donation of $425.

Satisfactory reports of the different departments were given by Mr. Mc-Callum, chairman of physical work committee; A. E. Dixon, educational department; and B. Anderson for religious work department.

Mr. Symonds gave a brief and pointed address on the work for young men.

Resolutions of thanks were passed expressing gratitude to the Ladies' Auxiliary, and to the teachers of the evening educational classes.

A resolution was also recorded respecting the departure of the Rev.
V. Y. Stevenson, who was a member of the Board.

By a unanimous vote Mr. Williamson, the secretary was elected to attend the International Y. M. C. A.
Convention at Grand Rapids, Mich., in May. About 1,000 delegates will attend from different parts of North America.

Thanks were expressed in several short addresses to Mr. Symonds, provincial secretary, for his services, and also the Provincial Committee.

A Decided Success.

At a meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Ladies' Auxiliary held on Thursday, a report of the Bazaar was read and the ladies voted $425 to assist the Board in liquidating the budget for the year. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to all who had assisted in making the Bazaar so grand a success.
So many assisted that it is impossible to give a list of the names. The ladies met again the first Thursday in May.

The First Horseless Wagon.

The horseless carriage is coming this way. A Beaverton man, Mr.
Alex. Dobson, will be the first in this district to experiment with the anti-that Mr. Dobson is talking of placing an automobile wagon on the route between his mill and the station. It won't be long until we have the horseless carriage on all leading stage lines in the country.

Baby in Court.

A good thing was got off by Justice Robertson, who presided at the spring Court of Assizes in Peterborough, in Toronto the other day.
The case of Thomas Tweddle, of Huron-land Creek, against Alexander Mil-lot, a lusty young farmer of Huron-land, was begun. The action was for unintended damage for an alleged corruption in which the plaintiff's daughter and an infant in arms figure prominently. The infant bawled loudly.

"You'd better put out your junior counsel, hadn't you?" suggested His Lordship to Barrister John McEllough, "wisdom," he added, "you intend to file it."

The infant was put out and the jury soon after brought in a verdict for $750, probably due to the presence of the junior counsel.

Adyson who will ride a bicycle on the board walk at a dark night and whistle for pedestrians to get out of their way, money'll always be plentiful. This is being done frequently in some of our back streets.

The lithographs for the "Coon Town Swindle" have arrived and will be put on the boards shortly. They are very attractive in design and sure to attract the public eye. The boys had a good practice last night and are showing up well.

The Young Men's Guild of St. Andrew's church held their regular monthly meeting on Thursday evening and a very profitable time was spent.
The Rev. Mr. Potter read a paper on the proper use of time, which was greatly appreciated by the present company.

The whirling cat truck may come,
the horseless carriage, too;
The elements may do the work that horses now must do;
But as long as men keep striving on for fortune or for fame,
You will find that money'll always make the more so, just the same.

Lindsay Post, Messrs. Pringle,
Glenhugh & Audin from Toronto Falls, shipped a carload of cattle to the Toronto market this morning.
Mr. J. H. Branson, a member of the firm, says the supply of stock keeps up wonderfully well considering the heavy shipments. A great many farmers have sold their cattle during the winter, and some fine fat export animals will be placed on the market in the course of the next month. The scarcity of "dewon" puts shows that farmers are raising their calves this spring.

Fire at Newwood.

At 9 o'clock Thursday night, fire was discovered in Mr. J. Davidson's beautiful brick residence on Queen street.
In less than two hours the house with all its contents including valuable library, was burned to the ground. Loss partially covered by insurance in the Royal and Alliance. The cause of the fire is supposed to have been defective furnace pipes.

Funeral of Mr. Clark.

Special meetings of Peterborough
I.O.O.F., were held Thursday evening to discuss arrangements for the funeral of the late Dr. John Clarke.
As at present arranged the bearers will consist of a brother Odell, a brother Forester, and two private citizens. The body will be placed in the vault at the Little Lake cemetery.

The Board of Trade.

The attention of the Board of Trade is called to the following from the Orillia paper, which speaks for itself. "The manufacturers of Orillia are looking round for a new location. The firm's representative here, Mr. Geo.
A. Bender, says it is intended to double the capacity of the works, and advise the Board of Trade and the Council to acquire the site of the remains of the shops to Orillia." Mr.
Quartermaster, the new Secretary, should long no time in writing to the organ people. Peterborough is far better situated for a business of this kind than Orillia or almost any other place in the province.

REUSE.

(Correspondence of the Times.)
—A lady from the country one day last week entered a store in this village and asked to look at some stockings.
Harry, the obliging clerk, inquired what number she required. "Only one pair this time, but if I like them I will buy some more next time I come in." "Oh," says Harry, "I mean what number do you wear? Young man ain't you ashamed to ask such a question. Do you suppose because I live in the country that I go mooching around with one stocking? I mean number I wear in two, of course. Doyon think I'm a heathen, and do I hobble around like a woman with only one leg?" After some time he managed to make her understand that he only wanted to know the size of the stockings she required. She then told him that she guessed about eleven inches would do for the foot, and as to the rest it didn't matter much Harry made a sale. He then took a room of fil-lous minutes for a good laugh.

THE OYSTER.

President Leggett, at the meeting of the Lime Juice Club on Saturday night last, warned the members to eat no oysters. He was asked to give an explanation of this contagion. Well says Leggett, "it appears that the bivalve structure of the animal's digestion has become affected by a species of parietal conglomeration which results in the vitality of the muscular forces of the alimentary canal produce a paralysis of the oyster's nervous and digestive functions to such an extent as to render it unfit for human food."
In order to run no risk the members decided to eat no oysters until the contagion abated.

A "DARNED" GOOD JOKE.

A young gentleman of this village called on a lady friend last Monday night. At the time of his visit she was engaged in darning stockings.

having a goose egg in one of them, to keep the hole in shape or for some similar purpose. When the caller made his appearance she hurriedly dropped her work on a chair and invited him to be seated, and although he does not cover a great deal of surface when he is seated, he managed to sit down on the stocking and goose egg and the darning needle all at once. He only sat a short time. He got up and darned the stocking and the goose egg and the darning needle all at once, and when the pain had subsided a little and he was not the egg wiped off his pants he said: "It was one of the richest and at the same time most pointed experiences he had ever met within the whole course of his eventful career."

TWO WELSHMEN WERE ARRESTED.

COLONISTS SEIZED BY THE GOVERNOR OF RAWSON.

London, April 15.—The Herald Cymru, the leading Welsh newspaper, publishes today startling and sensational news forwarded by its Patagonian correspondent of the effect that upon the departure of President Rose for Gaiman Valley, the Argentine Governor Mr. Rawson sent his officers to the settlement with instructions to arrest the chairman and clerk of the local council on a charge of being concerned in sending Mr. Lloyd ap Iwan and Mr. T. R. Phillips to the British Government to seek protection.

The arrest took place on Sunday, and the prisoners were taken whilst at public worship in the Welsh chapel. Several other leading colonists were subsequently summoned to Rawson, and cross-examined. This has caused very considerable uneasiness, and many meetings were held, followed by some disturbances. Some of the leading colonists waited upon Admiral Garcia, commanding the Argentine fleet at Montevideo, and the sympathies of them and admitted the justice of their claims. He was heartily cheered by the colonists when visiting the affected districts.

NORTH DAKOTANS FALL INTO AN AMBUSH.

ONE SOLDIER OUT OF EIGHT NOT INJURED.

One Hundred and Fifty Filipino Killed on Monday—Native Drive Spanish Prisoners into Santa Cruz.

Manila, April 15.—Starting in an easterly direction along the road of Pananghara, a party of sixty sharpshooters under Lieut. Southern, of the Washington regiment came upon a trench across the road about a mile out of Santa Cruz. Lieut. Southern was wounded.

The Americans then advanced, with the mountain guns and the 14th Infantry battalion in the centre, the 1st and 2nd battalions of the First North Dakota Infantry on the right, and the 3rd battalion of the First North Dakota Infantry on the left, both flanking. The trench was carried without loss to the Americans.

PANANGHARAN DESERTED.

Pananghara was found deserted.

Four monuments on the border of the village celebrate the proclamation of Filipino independence issued last year and glorify Aguinaldo, the hero of the revolution.

One Filipino was killed and five were wounded in the encounter beyond Longas. This was an ambush. Eight men of the North Dakota regiment, moving in single file through the woods, received a volley from a clump of bushes about fifty feet away. Only one got off unhurt. He dragged a comrade with four bullets in his body to the main force and then led the troops back to the point of attack.

The Filipinos were easily scattered. Additional Filipino dead found north of Santa Cruz swell the number of the enemy killed on Monday to 150, including Paolo Aguirre, one of the leaders and 12 officers.

AT BAYONETS POINT.

According to the statement of some of the prisoners, the Filipinos drove a hundred Spanish prisoners and 12 priests into that area at the point of the bayonet on Sunday night. Four other priests died of starvation. It appears that the Filipino forces at Santa Cruz consisted of 300 rifles and a thousand bolos. As he lacks sufficient troops for training General Lawton will withdraw from the town entered. Not a house has been burned, the only confiscation being of pigs and chickens. It is hoped that this respect for property will convince the natives of the intentions of the Americans. At Pananghara a woman was found hidden in a basket and a youth buried in mud, except as to his head. Both were given food and money to their great astonishment.

TRISONERS RELEASED.

All non-combatants are released with American proclamations to the effect that their friends and all church valuables are forwarded to the archbishop. Lieut. Brooke has brought to Manila one of the captured steamers with five of the American dead, 10 of the wounded and 50 sick. Most of the sick attribute their disorders to the Cuban campaign. Through the treachery or ignorance of the Filipino pilot the steamer was stranded a whole day, the provisions failed and there was some suffering.

THE SERPENTS DEADLY STING.

Cure for it said to be found in inoculation.

Comparatively few persons die from snake bites in the United States in the course of a year, yet if a list of all the victims could be secured it would be found to be of proportions large enough to demand attention. Most of the deaths from snake bites in this country occur in the southwest and the rattlesnake is the chief offender. The mortality from snake bites, however, is spread over such a vast territory and is so small in comparison with the death rate from other causes, that accurate statistics regarding it are not readily secured. In the south and central America, and in India, the deaths caused by serpents are so numerous that the subject is attracting popular attention. In India alone 20,000 deaths yearly from the bite of the cobra are attributed to the bite of venomous serpents.

ALL RECORDS BROKEN.

London, April 15.—The Easter season of the theaters opened on the whole, auspiciously. Two genuine successes were to be assured. Finero has again secured a victory by his "Gay Lord Quix" in the success of the hour at the Globe. This advance booking is said to beat all records. Charles Wyndham has also met with such success with "Hedderley Chambers." The "Tyranny of Tears" will open his new theater with it.

POORHOUSE BURNED DOWN.

Four Lives Lost, and Inmates Have Scarcely Escaped.

Chatham, N.B., April 15.—A terrible fire first occurred here last night when the County Poorhouse was burned to the ground and four lives lost. The flames broke out at midnight. There were thirty persons sleeping in the building, besides the keeper and matron. Mr. and Mrs. Templeton, with their servant. The local fire brigade could do nothing to save the house, which with a new barn and several out-buildings was entirely destroyed. The bodies of the three men have been found and a fourth is missing. The four men lost were Owen McLean, Henry Hobb, John McIntyre and Thom. Black, all advanced in years. Nearly all the other inmates had narrow escapes from death and some were burned and branded. Extreme difficulty was experienced in getting some of the delinquent patients out of the burning building.

PONTON CASE IS TO BE TRIED AT TORONTO.

Change of Venue from Napanee Granted by Mr. Justice Robertson.

Toronto, April 15.—At Osgoode Hall today Mr. Justice Robertson handed down formal judgment changing the venue of the Ponton case from Napanee to Toronto, as his Lordship intimated at the argument a week ago. The case began in this city on May 15 with Mr. Justice Robertson presiding during the first week. The week of May 22 Mr. Justice Street will be on the bench, and the week of the 29th Mr. Justice Falconbridge will preside.

The application for the change was made by the Crown. His Lordship said that he believed the mob that gathered about the court house and Mr. Justice Ferguson on the night of the trial at Napanee were assembled there for some other than unlawful purpose, and he thought the Sheriff acted wisely and properly in reading the Riot Act on that occasion. The judge noted the absence of precedent in the circumstances of the case; it was something that never had been adjudicated upon before in Canada. The demonstration by the mob was what prompted the change. There was no question about the jury. So far as they were concerned a fair trial could be obtained in Napanee but he did not think it advisable to waste a recurrence of the disturbances by lawless persons.

EAST PETERBOROUGH LICENSES.

Consideration of Two Applications Postponed Until Next Meeting.

At a meeting of the East Peterborough License Commissioners held in Peterborough on Saturday licenses were granted to the following: Wm. Dineen, Daniel Flynn and John McMillan, Havelock; D. Gratton, Burleigh Falls; Margaret McGregor, Norwood; Peter Fletcher and Michael Kennedy, Kempe John Dougherty, Westwood; Fred Morgan, Warsaw; James Armstrong, Mount Julian (6 months).

The consideration of the licenses of Margaret Clancy, Norwood, and John Morgan, McCracken's Landing, were laid over until next meeting of the board.

President Arthur Once Had to Enter the White House by This Unpleasant Way.

An amusing story is told of President Arthur regarding an occurrence which happened during the last year of his occupancy of the White House. He was one of the most princely chief executives who ever filled that high office. He entertained lavishly and dined out quite frequently. President Arthur kept late hours and the ushers who were on duty at the White House at times went to sleep, depending on the noise of the carriage wheels and the horses' hoofs to wake them before the President could reach the door. One night a dinner was given in General Arthur's honor by the governor of the Soldier's Home, and it was 2:30 in the morning before he returned. The four ushers and policemen went to sleep, three of them in an ante-room, and the fourth went to the basement to indulge in a short nap. While the guardians of the peace were asleep snow began falling, and the President's carriage sped noiselessly to the mansion, and, of course the ushers slept on. No footman was on the box, and on finding the doors locked the President rang the bell, but failed to receive any response. After trying for several minutes to arouse some one he raised one of the windows and climbed in. Finding the men asleep, the President took the carriage robes and spread them over the men and retired. Before daylight the ushers awoke and were startled to learn the President had found they were negligent.

A LONG-LOST PEOPLE.

An Arizona Ruin That Was a Ruin 900 Years Ago.

One of the most ancient ruins in the United States—a ruin that was a ruin four centuries ago—exists in southern Arizona. When the Spaniards, Coronado, thinking for blood and empire, penetrated the region in the 16th century he came upon a vast ruin which he called "Chichilticale," red house. When it was built and by whom is one of the secrets that time has not yet solved. It is known, however, that an original race of comparatively advanced civilization inhabited that region in the dim mist of the past and then faded forever from view leaving no clue to their identity. Many of their works, however, remain such as the red house, and in the ruins that are scattered over a wide area are many instruments that denote the stage of the civilization of makers. Pottery, stone arrow-heads, highly polished bone awls, perfect shell bracelets, axes, picks, bowls of copper and bells made of alloy of copper and silver have been unearthed. All told in this region, in the vicinity of Casa Grande, the ruins of no less than 27 buried cities have been found.

Seattle a Thousand Feet.

Seattle, April 15.—A special from Wellington says. While a rotary snow plow was clearing the Great Northern track this side of Madison, it was struck by an avalanche and dashed thousands of feet down a canyon. All have been dug out of the snow but one. Four men were injured, three probably fatal. About 170 men are searching for the missing man. The injured have been taken to Everett. It is expected to have the track cleared in 12 hours.

Survive Wanted.

For a few weeks to go to the country and care for a young girl who has recently had a operation performed on her eyes. Duties light. Apply to Miss Graham, care Drawer C, or at the Times office.

G. T. R. EMPLOYEES ARE OUT ON STRIKE.

ONE HUNDRED FREIGHT HAND-LEERS LEAVE WORK.

They Also Complain That Their Hours Are Too Long—Striking from 12 to 14 and Even 17 Hours per Day.

Toronto, April 15.—The Grand Trunk freight handlers, the men who load the lorries at the freight houses, went out on strike today, for higher wages. For some time past the men, who number 100, have been agitating for an increase. They appointed a committee to interview Supt. Fitzhugh and lay the matter before him. They pointed out that they were only paid 17-1/2 cents an hour; that rents were rising in the city, that the general cost of living was increasing, and asked for an increase of 1 cent per hour, to 12-1/2 cents.

LONG HOURS.

They also pointed out that the number of hours they have to work are unusually long, running from 12 to 14 and even 17 hours per day, some having to work till 2:30 Sunday morning.

REFUSED THE REQUEST.

Supt. Fitzhugh refused the request. He told the men that they were getting the usual rate of wages for their class of work, and those who were dissatisfied could leave.

The men pointed out that in Montreal the handlers were getting $1.25 for 10 hours, and gave the superintendent a week to consider. It expired today and the men went out at noon.

The company tried to replace the men, but the freight checkers, numbering about a dozen, refused to work with new men and went out in sympathy.

Seattle, April 15.—A special from Wellington says. While a rotary snow plow was clearing the Great Northern track this side of Madison, it was struck by an avalanche and dashed thousands of feet down a canyon. All have been dug out of the snow but one. Four men were injured, three probably fatal. About 170 men are searching for the missing man. The injured have been taken to Everett. It is expected to have the track cleared in 12 hours.

Survive Wanted.

For a few weeks to go to the country and care for a young girl who has recently had a operation performed on her eyes. Duties light. Apply to Miss Graham, care Drawer C, or at the Times office.

WHISKY.

Why whisky in large quantities should be a cure for rattlesnake bites seems as yet as yet, but that many cases of liberal doses of whisky have saved the lives of men bitten by rattlers cannot be doubted.

Half Sick Half Well

Many persons have their good day and their bad day. Others are about half sick all the time. They have headaches, backache, and are restless and nervous. Food does not taste good, and the digestion is poor; the skin is dry and scaly and discolored with pimples or eruptions; sleep brings no rest and work is a burden.

What is the cause of all this? Impure blood.

And the remedy?

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

It clears out the channels through which poisons are carried from the body. When all impurities are removed from the blood nature takes right hold and completes the cure.

If there is constipation, take Ayer's Pills. They awaken the drooping action of the liver; they cure biliousness.

Write to our Boston office for the complete particulars of this medicine. It is sold by all druggists.

MOLLY BAWN.

BY THE DUCHESS.

"Let my hand go, Mr. Luttrell," says the girl with a dry sob. Is it anger, or grief, or pride? "You had me once, and you would not keep me. You shall never again have the chance of throwing me over, be assured of that."

She draws her fingers from his burning clasp, and once more turns away, with her eyes bent carefully upon the carpet, lest he shall notice the tears that threaten to overflow them. She walks resolutely but slowly past where he is standing, with folded arms, leaning against the wall, toward the door.

Just as her fingers close on the handle the locomotive is aware of footsteps on the outside coming leisurely toward her.

Instinctively she shrinks backward, casts a hasty, horrified glance at her dressing-gown, her bare feet, her loosened hair; then, with a movement full of confidence mingled with fear, she hastens back to Luttrell, who too has heard the disconcerting sound, and glances up at him appealingly.

"There is somebody coming," she breathes, in a terrified whisper. The footstep comes nearer, nearer still; they reach the very threshold, and then pause. Will their owner come in?

In the fear and agony and doubt of the moment, Molly lays her two white hands upon her bosom and stands listening intently, with wide-open gleaming eyes, too frightened to move or make any attempt at concealment; while Luttrell, although alarmed for her, can not withdraw his gaze from her lovely face.

Somewhat hand steals along the door as though searching for the handle. With renewed hope Luttrell instantly blows out both the candles near him, reducing the room to utter darkness, and draws Molly behind the window curtains.

There is a breathless pause. The door opens slowly. With a gasp that can almost be heard, Molly puts out one hand in the darkness, and lays it heavily upon Luttrell's arm. His fingers close over it.

"Hu! not a word," whispers he.

"Oh, I am so frightened," returns she.

His heart has begun to beat madly. To feel her so close to him, although unwelcome for accident, is dangerously sweet. By a supreme effort he keeps himself from taking her in his arms and giving her one last embrace, but the hour, the hour, the situation, all alike forbid. So he only tightens his clasp upon her hand and another's a sigh between his lips.

Whoever the intruder may be, he, she, or it, is without light; no truth-compelling ray illumines the gloom; and presently, after a slight hesitation, the door is closed again, and the footstep goes lightly, cautiously, away through the hall, leaving them once more alone in the long, dark, ghostly drawing-room.

Molly draws her hand hurriedly away from his, and mooring quietly from Luttrell's side, breathes a sigh, half relief, half embarrassment; while he, groping his way to the writing-table, finds a match, and, striking it, throws light upon the scene again.

At the moment Molly emerges from the curtains, with a heightened color and eyes, sweet but ashamed, that positively refuse to meet his.

"I suppose I can trust you—to say nothing of all this?" she murmurs, unsteadily.

"I suppose you can," haughtily. His heart is still throbbing passionately; almost, he fears, each separate beat can be heard in the oppressive stillness.

"Good-night," says Molly, slowly.

Shyly, and still without meeting his gaze, she holds out her hand. He takes it, softly, reverently, and, emboldened by the gentleness of her expression, says, impulsively:

"Answer me a last question, darling, answer me—Are you going to marry Philip?"

And she answers, also impulsively: "No."

His face changes; hope once more shines within his blue eyes. Involuntarily he draws up his tall, slight figure to its full height, with a light, airy gesture that bespeaks returning confidence; then he glances longingly, first at Molly's downcast face, then at the small hand that lies trembling in his own.

"May I?" he asks, and, receiving no demur, scoops and kisses it warmly, once, twice, thrice, with fervent devotion.

"My dear, how long you have been!" says Cecil, when at length the fair turns to her room. "I thought you were never coming. Where have you been?"

"In the drawing-room; and oh, Cecil, he was there. And he would keep time, asking me question after question."

"I dare say," says Cecil, looking over her shoulder. "That blue negligee is tremendously becoming. No doubt he has still a good many questions he would like to put to you. And you call yourself a nice, decorous, well-behaved girl?"

"What is silly? You have yet to hear the 'decorous' and thrilling part of my tale. Just as we were in the middle of a most animated discussion, what do you think happened? Somebody actually came to the door and tried to open it. In an instant Tedcastle blew out both our candles and drew me behind the curtains."

"Curiouser and curiouser," said Alice. "I begin to think I'm in Wonderland. Go on. The plot thickens; the improbability deepens. It grows more interesting at every word."

"The somebody," whoever it was, opened the door, looked in, fortunately without a light, or we might have been discovered, and—"

"You fainted, of course," says Cecil, who is consumed with laughter. To be continued.

QUAINT SAYINGS.

It is interesting and instructive to read bright and well constructed advertisements. Messrs. O. L. Hood & Co., of Sarnaparilla fame, must have been at a great feast and taken everything home with them. They are using a bright selection of quaint old sayings and proverbs as the starters on a series of clever advertisements, wherein the proverbs are neatly turned and paraphrased to fit the subject matter. The public like these breezy advertisements as it reminds of other proverbs and opens up discussion.

Tea in Russia.

Among the few things for which Russia is famous, tea occupies a prominent place, and of course, a prominent place, both on account of its quality and mode of preparation and consumption. In the first place, there is no such thing as Russian tea, in the literal sense of the word. It is entirely an article imported from China, which country will probably continue for a long time to be the chief source of tea supply for the Russian market.

Tea in Russia is very dear, but this is due to the heavy expenses of transport and custom duties. The Russians drink enormous quantities of tea, sufficient to furnish a small Englishman. The poor people—and, alas! the Russian people are the poorest in existence—used the so-called "brick" tea. This is the cheapest sort, being mixed with the stems and compressed by some adhesive gum into dry cakes of various sizes resembling in its appearance "plug" tobacco. This tea which would probably prove poisonous to anyone else, is consumed by the Russian workmen at the average rate of about twenty sticks or tumbler a day; the Russian statesman being quite equal to five of the little thimbles of cups used in England at afternoon tea. Indeed, a Russian won't be satisfied until "seduk pot" (seduk pot) or "the strength" (the strength) breaks out, according to the popular saying. Taking into consideration that black, sour or bitter, brick-like bread, raw onions, garlic, dry leather-like fish, and strongly salted herring are usually the chief articles of food of the people at large, must not wonder at the enormous quantity of hot tea needed to still a Russian's thirst, and help on his digestion.

The inferior sort of tea is, besides, very cheap, but, of course, it is not the "brick" tea used by the poor man, but the "world-wide" reputation, but that is in among the middle and upper classes. In such households tea at the price of 10 or 12 per pound is quite an ordinary thing, while in wealthier families 15 to 16 per pound is frequently paid. There are choice sorts of tea which are sold even at twenty rubles per pound, but of these only a few leaves are used to add an extra deliciousness to the ordinary tea. The high quality of the tea itself, brought overland and most carefully packed, is the chief reason of its superiority over the teas in use in Western Europe.

But apart from these, the Russian method of preparing it goes a long way to contribute to the fine taste of the beverage. In this process the famous "samovar" plays the principal part, and a word or two of explanation will not be amiss. The "samovar" is in the shape of a large boiler, the water in it is usually made of brass or copper, but there are also silver samovars, the inside being lined with another metal. In the middle there is a kind of chimney or fire receptacle, the top of which is filled with boiling water. A piece of lemon or milk is added according to taste, and sugar is put into the glass, or used "à la russe."

There is no "respectable" household in Russia, without one or more samovars. The utensil is turned out by the million. This, the Russian chef, is particularly famous for this article. The samovar is in use three or four times a day, but only once, indeed, it is kept boiling the whole day long. The samovar may be really be termed the Russian hearth and fire-side. Around it the family and guests assemble, drinking tea and chatting for hours. Its steaming and cheerful humming are as much to the Russian ear, accustomed as it is to the sound from earliest childhood. Even when leaving their native soil for far distant lands, when luggage has to be reduced to a minimum, the indispensable samovar is never left behind, and in the new country of their adoption it forms frequently a melancholy link with the past.

"DEATH IN THE POT."

"Death in the pot." That sentence condenses the story of a tragedy. A little family gathering. A fine dinner cooked in the large copper kettle long disused, and the entire family poisoned by the accumulated vermin. The story was told by the newspapers from one end of the land to the other. But it was soon forgotten. The moral of it is, that the pot of food, put into a foul vessel, instead of ministering to life may become a minister of death.

If the stomach is diseased it is like the poisonous kettle, which takes everything that goes into it. The symptoms are irregular appetite, undue fullness after eating, distressed feeling in the stomach, of fluttering and sinking sensations, palpitation, dizziness, ringing in ears, sour or bitter risings and constipation. Not all these symptoms may be present at the same time, but any of them shows disease in the digestive or alimentary tract.

The intimate relation of the stomach to the blood, heart, liver and lungs makes it a medical maxim to explore the causes of obscure diseases to "start with the stomach." It is upon this principle that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery effects so many and such remarkable cures. It cleanses the stomach and the system is cleared. It increases the action of the blood making glands, and the body is enriched by the purified blood. It strengthens the digestive or nutritive organs and these strengthen the whole body by increasing the quantity and quality of its nourishment. It carries off the poisonous, effete matter. In this way it re-establishes health, banishing the bodily ills, which are but symptoms of the stomach's condition.

All medicine dealers call "Golden Medical Discovery." If they try to substitute something else, it is because "something else" is better. Insist on "Golden Medical Discovery" if you want to be cured.

THE BLOOMIN' BRITISH LION.

J. Wiley Owen in Buffalo News. We are often heard the British lion roar, And are seen 'im lash 'is tail along the shore; We 'ave 'ad some cause to doubt 'im, 'An 'ave said hard things about 'im, But by jove we're not a-doin' that no more.

We 'ave switched 'im bloomin' tail in times that's past, An 'ave grabbed 'im by the mane an' aid 'im fast; We 'ave struck 'im with disdain, an' 'ave made 'im owl with pain, But we're thinkin' now we've done it for the last.

Now, we're tryin' not to cross 'im in the least; We'd rather like to treat 'im to a feast; We want to pat 'is 'ead, For, in spite of all we've said, We kind of like the bloomin' British beast.

We want to get right up and shake 'is paw, An' praise 'im for the workin' of 'is jaw; 'Is mane may need a trim, But we'll not go back on 'im, Though 'e likes 'is meat an' some-times takes it raw.

Then we'll 'ave a line beneath our eagle's wing, An' the other end around the lion fling, An' we ope they'll live in peace, An' never seek release From the hearth-encircling Hanglo-Bison ring.

THREE YEARS WITH A COFFIN.

Remarkable story of a Georgia woman who kept a corpse in the house.

Milledgeville, Ga., April 14.—There just died here, the third and last husband of a woman whose life was a continuous performance of romance, money making and idiosyncrasy. Joseph E. Bivins was the third choice, whose death has brought out the strange story. One of the peculiarities of the woman who became his wife was her action in causing the body of her second husband to be embalmed and placed in a coffin in her room, where every day for three years she gazed through the glass at the dead face.

The woman before the war of the Rebellion conducted a modest establishment in Atlanta. She was one day visited by an eccentric millionaire of the place, John Pitts by name. I have vaguely decided that I must be married, says Mr. Pitts. I am well off, I am in a position to make any woman a good husband. Will you be that woman?

The marriage was celebrated a few hours later. They lived happily until the outbreak of the war, when Mr. Pitts entered the service of the Confederacy and never came back. After a number of years spent by Mrs. Pitts in watching and mourning she gave her husband up for dead and assumed control of the vast property. Mrs. Pitts met in Atlanta, in 1896, a Mr. J. B. Marvin, who, with his wife and son had removed to the southern capital from St. Louis. Mr. Marvin was attracted by Mrs. Pitts and a strong friendship was the result. This friendship was abruptly terminated when the doctor's family removed to Cincinnati.

Two years later Dr. Marvin again appeared in Atlanta. This time he was alone, explaining that he was a widower. The acquaintance with Mrs. Pitts was resumed, and the couple were seen no much together that the announcement of their marriage, which soon followed, came as a surprise to few persons. The Pitts possessions were ably handled by Dr. Marvin, who was a man of great business acumen. One of the doctor's judicious investments was made at the little boom town of Columbus, to which he and his wife removed. Dr. Marvin soon became a power in the community and rose to be president of the First National Bank, and later mayor of the town. He dealt shrewdly in real estate, and died in 1898, the richest man in that section. His young assistant, Joseph E. Bivins, became president of the bank.

Mrs. Marvin's grief at the death of her second husband took an unusual form. She had the not expert embalmer in the south prepare the body and place it in the handsomest casket that money could buy, and for three years the widow lived alone in the mansion with the remainder of the doctor's estate.

It was not long after the assumption of the presidency at the bank by young Bivins, who was less than thirty years old, before there developed a decided friendship between him and the widow of his late chief. The disparity in the ages in the two made the announcement of their engagement a sensation in the land. They were married, and when they started north on their wedding tour the coffin containing the remains of Dr. Marvin was taken along. At Macon, Ga., however, it was given over to an undertaker for burial.

Bivins, like Dr. Marvin, was an able manager. The property increased, and life was very pleasant until one day there came to the Bivins household a young man who claimed a portion of the estate. He said he was the son of Dr. Marvin, by his first wife, that his mother was dead, and that he was therefore heir to a part of his father's property. His claim was combated until his identity was thoroughly proved, and then he was given title to large holdings in Atlanta. In a few years Mrs. Bivins died, and the young heir came into possession of the enormous property. And now he is dead, and the last actor in a remarkable history has disappeared.

This applies to nothing better than the glorious Spring time that moves all verdure to life and brings around the day when all humanity can have an opportunity to cleanse their blood and thus put into operation all the health and vigor that is possible. Everybody naturally turns to America's Greatest Spring Medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla, to prepare themselves for the joys and pleasures of summer. It never disappoints.

After Fevers.—My little girl took Hood's Sarsaparilla after scarlet fever and it made her well and strong. Since then I have given it to all my children as a blood purifier. It is a priceless peace in my family. Hood's Pills have also proved of great benefit to me. I would not be without these medicines. Mrs. TILLY, 86 Winchester Street, Toronto, Ont.

After Grip.—The grip left me very weak. Three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla built me up. I now weigh heavier than before my illness. I recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all who suffer from weakness of the body. ALFRED BARR, 23 Bank Street, Toronto, Ont.

Out of Sorts.—Had no appetite, could not sleep, was out of sorts. Had trouble with my kidneys. Since taking Hood's Sarsaparilla have good appetite, sleep soundly and enjoy better health. MRS. MARGARET BIRD, 283 Bethune Street, Peterborough, Ont.

Strength Builder.—Myself, wife and children have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla and it strengthened us. It saved me of lame back. DAVID MCGONAGAN, caretaker, Coll Institute, Oat, Ont.

Blood Purifier.—I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla and find it beneficial for myself and baby. It purifies the blood and strengthens the system. MRS. HENRY WALK, Clinton, Ont.

Scrofula.—Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured me of scrofula. I was weak and debilitated but it made me strong and well. After a severe cold had catarrhal fever. Again resorted to this medicine and it cured me. SARAH E. DEXTER, Annapolis, N. B.

Reports of MR. T. L. PARKER, Placer Mining Engineer, of the Telford party. Mr. Parker writes from Brewer Creek, 2nd October, 1898, as follows:

"Since writing you last, Brewer Creek has taken a boom in Dawson City, and no doubt you have received this news. The discovery of the outside world as the Bonanza of the Stewart River. The safe to say that we have the best prospects of any creek discovered so far this year in the Yukon. In this letter I will give you a brief description of the creek who came to us to winter, saying they see nothing so good as we (the Telford party) have in this country, they having been on Henderson, Black Hills and the McQuistan."

On claims adjoining the above they have gone down 14 feet, 3 feet pay dirt and gold washed out very coarse, so far ranging from the size of rice to pieces going 20 cents. In his letter of the 8th December, 1898, Mr. Parker writes that the Brewer Creek and Thistle Creek localities were practically of the same formation and good for a square of twenty five miles. He is confident that these localities would turn out to be richest and most satisfactory in the Yukon. Coarse gold a size from rice to beans was being taken out.

In his letter of the 20th December, 1898, Mr. Telford reports on the Thistle Creek region that $20 to the pan was the showing there, and that this region could be called the New Klondike, of which Stewart would be the mining centre, passing Dawson City hard for importance.

In his letter of February 15th, 1899 he says: I left Telford yesterday, and arrived here last night at Stewart City. We have not reached bed rock on Telford Creek yet, but expect to have two shafts down by first week in March. I washed a pan of gravel, taken out three feet from surface, last Monday, and found small pieces of platinum some very fine gold and magnetic iron the balance of pulverized quartz. Brewer Creek we left alone, as the claims below as were adjoining old coarse gold last summer, and we know they are all right.

Barker Creek is being prospected by some friends of mine, and directly they locate I will be informed, and will secure as many claims as possible. At present we hold two there. A friend of mine sold his dump for $500 on Brewer Creek, and the purchaser washed $500.00 out of it. He states in his last letter that he refused $10,000 for the Dawson property. I have had no late news from Dr. Robertson. He states in his last letter that he refused $10,000 for the Hunker Beach claim, and from information received from Mr. Morley Ogilvie, the Hunker Beach claims are very valuable.

The latest news from Blueberry is $4.30 to the pan on claim No. 37 (our claims are 20 and 30). Above us, on No. 42, very coarse gold has been found.

The capital stock of the Company is $250,000, divided into 250,000 shares of one dollar each; 150,000 of these are treasury shares, to be devoted to development and other business operations of the Company. The other 100,000 shares have been allotted to the promoting syndicate and members of the expedition as below. Of this last number 50,000 or Founders' shares, which are in the hands of the syndicate and members of the expedition, shall have been paid on all the shares, leaving a surplus of $100,000. This surplus of profit will be divided into two equal portions between the holders of the Founders' shares and the holders of ordinary shares.

The only contract affecting the Company is with the promoting syndicate and members of the expedition, whereby they agree to transfer and turn over to the Company all claims located and the whole benefit of the expedition in consideration of $5,000 shares of the capital stock divided amongst the members of the expedition and $5,000 shares divided amongst the promoting syndicate. The public will observe that the promoters are taking the same chances with them in the success of the enterprise. Notwithstanding the considerable expense which the promoters have incurred they are not selling out to the Company for a cash consideration, but are satisfied to take shares.

One cubic yard—1-1-3 tons gravel. 1 miner's load of water will wash 3 tons per day. (The working day during July, August, September in the Yukon is practically 24 hours.) 1 miner's pan of gravel weighs from 75 to 110 lbs. Taking the lowest pan weight gives 25 pans to the ton. Placer mining in California, Idaho, Montana, etc., pays at 6 cents to the ton; in some cases as low as 4 cents.

From letters received from the Manager and Engineer of the Telford Syndicate, their panning averages $1.20 per pan in coarse gold, by means of "under-currents," the fine gold, which is always in higher percentage than the coarse gold, will be saved, taking $1.50 to $2.00 per ton. A party of 10 men can get away with 10 tons a day easily with the primitive methods in use, viz., short sluice boxes, "long-toms" and "rockers." $300 to $350 per day, worse per day, worse per day, worse per day. To anyone familiar with placer mining, this will appear a small saving on ground that runs from $1.50 to $4.25 per pan.

Applications for shares should be made to Messrs. PARKER & CO., 61 Victoria St., Toronto, or in accordance with the forms in the prospectus, and send with the required deposit to the Bankers of the Company Toronto, April 4, 1899.

First issue, 25,000 shares, payable 25c per share on application, 25c per share on allotment, the balance in two equal payments of 25c per share each, at 2 and 4 months. Subscriptions books will open at office of Parker & Co., Brokers, 61 Victoria St., on Wednesday, 25th April, and close on 15th April.

E. M. TELFORD writes:

"I went over the work already done on the claims on Brewer Creek, and am very well pleased with the prospects so far. The discovery, Mr. Brewer, showed me his work and the gold taken out, and from appearance of everything the Creek should prove a very good thing. A party of Australian miners are working claims between our locations. I told you in my last letter about sending Dr. Robertson and Myers to Dawson. About the time of their departure from the mouth of the Stewart, one of the richest strikes so far in the Yukon was made, Thistle Creek, 20 miles above Stewart on the Yukon, so they went up and staked No. 20 and 30 on Blueberry one of the creeks running into Thistle and reported the best prospects in the Yukon. This Thistle is reported one of the richest strikes ever made on the Yukon. It was discovered by four Scotchmen. The gold is in pieces as big as beans, and some pieces go $5.00 and more. Telford Creek is coming to the front, the whole Creek is now staked. Only three claims are being worked."

In his letter of the 20th December, 1898, Mr. Telford reports on the Thistle Creek region that $20 to the pan was the showing there, and that this region could be called the New Klondike, of which Stewart would be the mining centre, passing Dawson City hard for importance.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

Railway Change.
It is rumored that a change is about to be made in the official departments of the C. P. R. by which Mr. D. McNicoll, at present general traffic manager, is to be promoted to the position of general manager.

The First Production.
The Times was shown on Saturday
a sample of the first seamless shirt turned out by the mills of the Peterborough Underwear Company. The business and texture shows that the new article is equal if not superior to any other similar product. The Company expect to do a large business.

New Locomotives.
The C.P.R. has ordered six new express locomotives from the Kingston Locomotive Works. Within a year the Canadian Pacific has purchased seventy-five new engines from the Richmond Locomotive Works at Richmond in Philadelphia. The total cost is in the neighborhood of $900,000.

Paul T. Hark.
Mr. William Irwin was in Toronto
a few days up in company with W.
J. Sheppard, Angus McLeod and Thomas Sheppard, representing the Sheppard-Irwin Lumber Company and waited upon the Commissioner of Orono Lands and asked for a rebate of between $2,000 and $4,000, covering the excess in lumber dues paid by the firm during its operations in 1897-98. It appears that the firm paid dues upon the cut of logs as estimated by the cutters and Crown timber agents, but in manufacturing the amount of lumber proved to be less than supposed. Accordingly the rebate is applied for. Hon. J. M.
Gibson promised to consider the application.

Ladies' Jackets

67 SPRING JACKETS, of rich, handsome cloths, man-tailored, and some luxuriously silk-lined.

Prices for unlined - - $3.75 to $7.50
Prices for Silk-lined - - $4.50 to $8.50

Be quick or the chance to secure such over-garments will soon be out of reach for the lot is small considering the values. These Jackets are of the graceful jaunty variety from Berlin Germany and are extremely good taste

They went astray some 3 weeks ago and the Railway Co failed to trace them, as they were refused the maker authorized his agent to rid him of them and sacrificed his profit and a slice of the cost. So they are priced at one third (1/3) less than the intended selling price.

All are good but 1st. choice gets a larger variety to select from.

HAVELOCK'S HARD LUCK.

Fifty Families of Railway Men to go to Smith's Falls.

For some time rumors have been in circulation to the effect that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company intend to make Smith's Falls the headquarters for their trainmen.
The rumor is now confirmed, and the news has created great excitement and sorrow amongst the villagers.
In referring to the matter the standard says:

"According to the new orders, some 40 to 50 families will have to remove and fully 35 of these are large property holders. The removal will depreciate real estate fully 50 per cent. and will effectually kill the town. Building operations on some ten residences have been already stopped, and a 6year for a town hall which was to have been placed before the people has been held over. The majority of the train men have lived here for many years and have purchased property and erected beautiful homes with their savings, which must now be almost entirely lost. With their departure many of our merchants would have to pack tents. Our churches would lose a great part of their financial support. Our school staff would have to be cut down and in short, we would soon have a deserted village, instead of the brightest outlook the town has ever seen. A disputation of the council and the trainmen will wait of Mr. Tait, the general manager, and try and avert the calamity. A number of our business men visited Peterborough on Wednesday, where they were assured that town, who were interested here and the Board of Trade would do all in their power to quash the edict."
So far as the above is concerned, the Times might say that a mammoth concern take cognizance of matters such as to above. While no one can deny the fact that the change will prove a hardship to the people of Peterborough as well as many of the railway employees, the Company will not alter their fixed policy as regards the distances the disturbances to be covered by trainmen.

Peterborough suffered similar loss when all her train crews were ordered to Lindsay by the Grand Trunk or did we complain when Havelock instead of Peterborough was selected as the end of the eastern run from Toronto. Railroading is a good deal like soldiering; the employees must be prepared to migrate when the exigencies of the camp demand it.

BURLEIGH FALLS POWER.

The Promoters Meet With Continued Success in Lindsay and Ontario.

Mr. Culverwell, manager of the Burleigh Falls-Lindsay-Peterborough electric syndicate, was in Lindsay Friday to interview Mr. Wm. Flavelle of this syndicate, and the Lindsay committee of business men, and states that the Lindsay people are quite en-thusiased over his success in Peterborough. While in Lindsay he secured a twenty-horsepower contract from a new factory which is now being built This is the third new industry started in Lindsay this year. Mr. Culver-well stated that Lindsay is certainly booming, and seems determined to move ahead rather than stand still in the race for prosperity. Saturday he dropped off at Otonabee, and in a couple of hours closed contracts with the larger merchants and manufacturers there, being received with open arms. The Otonabee townspeople promise a town lighting contract to the proprietors of the Burleigh Falls water power, as well as a couple of power contracts.

Died in Michigan.
Miss Clara Louisa, eldest daughter of Mr. G. A. Robb, died in Michigan a long illness aged 28 years. The young lady was born in Peterboro, her father and mother being former residents of this town. Mrs. Robb is a sister of Mrs. James Kennedy and Chief Rutherford, of the Fire (1st-grade).

ed from the Klondike last fall, has reserved for himself, which he will not dispose of.

well known in Peterborough. His wife was a resident of this county when he married her.

Master Barnie Rautenberg, while coming down stairs at the residence of Rev. Mr. Foster, on Friday evening, slipped and fell headlong over the banister, striking his head such a blow on the floor beneath, that he was rendered temporarily unconscious. He, however, rallied and left with his father on Saturday for Toronto.

Orillia Times. Mr. James O'Connell has been catching what he claims are fresh water cod. These fish resemble very closely the cod of Norway and Newfoundland. About twenty years ago, a large number of these fish were put in Lake Huron by Mr. Wilson, of the Fish Hatcheries, who was stocking the lake with salmon trout.
Mr. O'Connell has caught upwards of eighty, through the winter, the largest being nearly three feet long.
Mr. O'Connell, a traveler, Mr.
Evans & Sons, drug wholesalers, Montreal, the chief customers in town last week for the first time in four months.
It will be remembered that Mr. Carmichael fell from an upper room in a McMillan hotel one night early in December, while passing a window to help in the window, and when picked up next morning was insensible and almost frozen. He remained insensible for over a month, and his recovery is looked upon by the medical men of Toronto hospital as bordering on the miraculous.

Dr. Stingham Recommended.

At a meeting of the Committee on Appointments held on Monday afternoon, it was unanimously decided to recommend the appointment of Dr.
Stingham for the position of Medical Health Officer and Town Physician. Public sentiment endorses the action of the Committee and the report will likely be adopted. The salary attached to the Combined office is $300 per annum.

Vacant Houses.

Vacant houses are a "dead give-away"
to a town and it is much better to go slow in the matter of building than have too many houses. Peterborough, fortunately, is not a town in which good houses go begging for tenants. While it is true that there are a few vacant houses in different parts of the corporation, these are now being taken up, and the chances are that there will be a demand for more houses at an early date. This will give employment to mechanics and builders. Peterborough is sure to be on top.

Alterations

Have been commenced. Carpenters are busy here and in the factory moulding into shape fixtures for the more convenient handling and displaying of our stock, which is too large to be shown to advantage with the present fixtures.

Rather than handle stocks as often as such circumstances usually call for, we purpose offering to the public some very special inducements.

ADJOURNED VESTRY MEETING

Of All Saints Church - The Question of Separation Brought Before the Vestry.

The adjourned vestry meeting of All Saints' church was very largely attended last night.

The main question discussed was whether St. John's vestry should be urged to increase Rev. Mr. Armitage's stipend by $300 or $400, or whether All Saints' should endeavor to secure a separation from the parish church, and shoulder their own burden.

Mr. Buller considered there is sufficient work in All Saints' parish to keep a curate fully employed, and should his services be divided between the two parishes. All Saints' must necessarily suffer.

Mr. Hurrell expressed himself in favor of separation. The rector here explained that there existed no idea in the minds of St. John's people to shoulder half the work of their parish upon Mr. Armitage, but simply that he be asked to minister once a Sunday at St. John's, when his place would be filled by him (the rector).

He strongly eulogized Mr. Armitage's good work in the parish, and himself would be extremely happy to improve his condition, financially or otherwise, as far as practicable.

When the time comes that it will be of interest to the church that a separation should take place he would feel it his duty to further such an aim; but he, in conjunction with the Bishop, felt convinced that the time was not yet ripe for a change. He hoped matters would be so arranged as to facilitate harmonious unity instead of competitive rivalry.

Mr. Macdadd thought a committee should be appointed to meet a committee from St. John's on the question of separation.

On motion of Mr. Bamford, the advisory committee was authorized to meet a like committee from St. John's to discuss the advisability of separation or the rearrangement of Rev.
Mr. Armitage's stipend.

The vestry then adjourned for two weeks.

WITH THE BATTALION.

A Great Deal in the Way of Information bringing home.

The advent of spring has awakened a keen interest in matters pertaining to the 57th battalion. The present season, judging from present indications will occupy a prominent place in local militia history. In the first place the appearance of the battalion is to be enhanced by a new outfit of tunics.

In addition to this each man will be provided with a new serge jacket.
Then, the old Glengarrys are to be discontinued for new field service caps the order for which has been forwarded to England. While particular attention has been given in this respect, special care will be exercised in selecting candidates for the battalion. Only strong able-bodied men wearing health's rose and of fine physique will be eligible. Boys will not be considered under any circumstances. This regulation will be stoutly maintained and the battalion will no doubt merit the distinction of being the finest in the Province.
The regular drill was held last night and the parade will take place every Tuesday.

A FAST YOUNG MAN

An Eight Year Old Boy Goes Out For a Time
With His Mother's Money.

A young lad, third son of a well known West-Ender, stole $7 from his mother's purse yesterday, and went out for a time. The child left for school with the other children, and did not return for dinner. Neither did the seven year old girl of a near neighbor. About 10 o'clock a search was instituted, and the two children were seen coming out of a down-town confectionary store. They had had their dinner and had purchased nearly two dollars worth of candies and sweets of various kinds. The young wayward was out for a time, and were evidently having it.

As soon as they were detected, they became overawed with remorse, and cried quite lustily as they proceeded in the direction of their homes.

SPORTING NOTES.

What is Going on in Local and Outside Sporting Circles.

FOOTBALL.

The Gore Vale Football Club, the champion association football team of Toronto, in a communication addressed to the sporting Editor of the Times announces that it would like to visit Peterborough on the 24th of May. If a game with the local club can be satisfactorily arranged,
Mr. G. F. Palmer, 308 Ossington ave., is secretary of the Gore Vale Club Football games are usually drawing attractions, and it might be that a game can be arranged for.

TENNIS.

The Lindsay Tennis Club has been reorganized with J. H. Flavell the prominent curler as vice-president.
It is expected that the club will be stronger than ever.

LACROSSE.

When Lindsay organized a Junior Club a few days ago, it was with a view to playing clubs around that town especially Peterborough. Before the season's over Lindsay may wish that it had changed its view.

GOLF.

Mr. Smith, the professional of the Toronto Golf Club, will give lessons this Thursday and Friday mornings to the members of the Ladies Club, at the Auburn links. A bus has been chartered for to leave the post office at a quarter of ten. The club it is hoped will be well represented.

BASEBALL.

A few of the more ardent ball players indulged in preliminary work yesterday afternoon, and showed up in splendid form. The diamond is rapidly attaining a playing condition and regular practices may be looked for any time after the re-organization meeting this evening.

When McCabe, who earned a reputation in the west has already received several good offers from that direction, but he intends to stick to Peterboro' this season.

The baseball meeting to be held at the Oriental Hotel this evening will commence at 7.30.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.

Mr. F. W. Walden was a business visitor to the Queen City yesterday.

Mr. Smith of Toronto, the professional golfer, arrived in town yesterday morning.

cing at Rossmore, has taken up his residence and opened an office at No. 116, Simcoe street formerly occupied by Mr. Jan Stevenson.

Mr. Beazley, of Belmont and Melbourne, with Mr. Humberstone, was in town yesterday, and favored the Times with a call.

Dr. Beech Boucher after spending the winter months at his home here left last evening for British Columbia, where he will follow his profession. A wide circle of friends will wish him unlimited success.

Mr. W. Gallon, the popular reeve of Burling, accompanied by the no less popular Municipal Clerk, are spending a few days in town on business connected with the municipality. Mr.
Gallon says that the back country is bound to have a railroad and Peterborough will find one of these days, that the project of constructing a road northward from N. Norwood, is a reality.

Former Jailor Arrived.

Several pieces of old iron discovered by Chief Hessel yesterday morning in Geo. Tighe's yard, was responsible for Tighe being placed under arrest, on the charge of theft shortly afterward. Tighe is well known having been janitor at the Central school for a number of years.

The iron is said to have belonged to a school desecrated which he is charged with appropriating and converting to his own use. The case will be heard on Tuesday.

"Dimness of sight, palpitation, shortness of breath, black spots or else shining lights before my eyes, terrible headache, numbness in my arms and hands and tongue, also my jaws would get numb; constipation, palpitation, debilitated drains, soreness through my bowels; in fact I was diseased from head to foot," writes Mrs. Mollie E. Carpenter, of Finaria, Cum-Ton.

"When Dr. Pierce's Health, I was so weak I could only write a few words when I would have to rest. I could hardly walk. Words cannot express my sufferings. Now I can do my own washing and cooking. I can take a ten quart pail in one hand and a six quart pail in the other (full of water) and carry both one fourth of a mile and never stop to rest. I am as heavy as I was at 19 years (say 130 lbs.). I also had dimness of sight and impaired memory. I had spells that when I would try to speak I couldn't think of the words I wanted to say, but would say something else. I have improved, oh, so much, and Dr. Pierce's medicines have done the good work. It has been about a year since I commenced to use the medicines. My health has been improving slowly but surely. We cannot expect a disease that has been coming on for years to be cured in a few days. If any lady suffering as I have, will write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, at Buffalo, N. Y., and get his advice and use his medicines according to directions, a cure will surely result."

Most dealers in medicine sell Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. There is no other medicine that is "the same" or "just as good." Don't accept a substitute.

PETERBOROUGH, APRIL 20, 1899

REPORT OF A SHEP.
United States farmers are importing from Ontario large quantities of hardwood ashes, which they find to be most valuable fertilizer. The value of the quantity sent out of the Dominion last year was over $400,000. Mr. George Stevens, an enterprising fellow citizen is one of Canada's largest shippers, and exports from 50 to 100 cars of ashes per year. He has agencies and buyers in all the towns between Orillia and Belleville.

Hardwood ashes, when pure and unleached as a source of potash for crop-feeding are better appreciated abroad than at home. (While this excellent form of manure is exported by the untrained to replenish the exhausted soils of the Eastern States, our own farmers are experimenting with various commercial fertilizers alone. They set no such store by the natural one, which is allowed to be sent out of the country to enrich wiser people. We use salt, gypsum, superphosphate, nitrate of soda, etc., while eminent authorities in New England are recommending their agriculturists to "avail themselves more freely than they do of this opportunity of securing this material (ashes), for the vast supply offered by the Dominion of Canada.") One farmer in sending a new order to the Canadian exporter says: "My farm is gravel soil. Since using your ashes my crops have never failed, and the result has in every instance exceeded my expectations, and greatly surprised some of my somewhat incredulous neighbors." Another writes: "I had one acre of poor soil ground plowed in September; I sowed six sacks of ashes on it, and gave it a good dragging the next spring; sowed six more sacks of ashes, dragged again and sowed to turnips. In the fall I harvested 833 bushels." These are the kind of reasons which American farmers are giving why they continued to import Canadian ashes, and wish to use more of them on their lands. Meanwhile many of our Ontario farmers are disposed to treat the household ash-pile as a nuisance to be got rid of. A few minutes talk with Mr. Stevens would tell them that Mr. Stevens would prefer selling locally, but when farmers won't use ashes in Ontario, there is nothing left for him to do but to export.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.
It is proposed to enlarge the scope of the Boot Act, so as to take in a whole province. This will probably go through the House at Ottawa in lieu of prohibition.
John Rider and wife got out of bed at 6 a.m. to go to a large fire and see the night. When they returned home they found that their lamp had upset, and they watched another fire.

A notable advertisement is that of an English firm that offers to every married woman who buys a pound of its fifty-cent tea for five consecutive weeks a pension of $2.50 a week in case of the death of her husband, provided he was in good health when she began to buy the tea. The pension is to continue as long as she remains a widow.

There is a touch of deep pathos in the story that the poor girl whose body has been found at Bois-franc was defended by a dog when the man whose adopted child she was, was beating her cruelly. The canine was less brute than the human.

MOLLY BAWN.

BY THE DUCHESS.

The door stands wide open. All the world could have entered untroubled into that silent hall. What need now for bars and bolts? When the Great Thief has entered in and stolen from the heart, what heart have they to guard against lesser thieves? Molly follows Molly into the house her face no less white than his own. A great pain is tugging at him, a pain that is almost an agony. For what greater suffering is there than to watch with unavailing sympathy the anguish of those we love? He touched her lightly on the arm to arouse her, for she has stood stock-still in the middle of the hall, whether through awful fear of grief, or sudden memory, her heart knows.

"Molly," says her lover, "let me go with you."
"You still here?" she says, "awaking from her thoughts, with a shiver. "I thought you gone. Why do you stay? I only ask to be alone."
"I shall go in a few minutes," he pleads, "when I have seen you safe with Mrs. Massacre. I am afraid for you. Suppose you should—suppose you do not even know—the room, he winds up desperately. "Let me guard you against such an awful surprise as that."

"No," she answers, pointing with a sudden, to one further on that branches off the hall. "It is there. Leave me; I shall be better myself."
"I shall see you to-morrow," he says, diffidently.
"No," she says, "no one to-morrow."
"Nevertheless, I shall call to know how you are," he says, persistently, and kissing one of her limp little hands departs.

Outside on the gravel he meets the old man who for years has had care of the garden and general out-door work at Brooklyn.
"It is a terrible thing, Mr.," this ancient individual says, touching his hat to Molly, who had been rather a favorite with him during her stay last summer. He speaks without being addressed, feeling as though the catastrophe that has occurred has leveled some of the etiquette existing between master and man.
"Terrible indeed," And then, in a low tone, "How did it happen?"
"Was just this," says the old man, who is faithful, and has understood for many years much of John Massacre's affairs, having lived with him from boy to man—"Was money that did it. He had invested all he had, as it might be, and he lost it, and the shock went to his heart and killed him. Poor soul poor soul!"

"Disease of the heart," Who would have suspected it? And he lost all. Surely, something reminding."
"Only a few hundreds, sir, as I hear nothing to signify; for the poor mistress and the wee bit. It is a fearful thing, sir, and bad to think of. And there's Miss Molly, too. I never could abide them spickles, as they're called."
"Four John Massacres!" says Molly, taking off his hat. "He meant no harm to any one, least of all to those who were nearest to his kindly heart."
"Ay, ay, man and boy I know him. He was always kind and true was the master, so two ways about him. When the letter came as told him all was gone, and that only beggary was before him, he said nothing, only went away to his study dared like, and read it, and then fell down heart-broken on the floor. Dead he was—stone dead—before any of us came to him. The poor missus it was as found him first."

"It is too horrible," says Molly, suddenly. He took his hand to the old man and walks away from him down to the village inn, depressed and saddened.

The gardener's news has been worse than even he anticipated. To be bereft of their dearest is bad enough, but to be bereft of a portion of the old man and walks away from him down to the village inn, depressed and saddened.
CHAPTER XXVIII.
As the earth when leaves are dead,
As the night when sleep is sped,
As the heart when joy is fled,
I am left alone—alone.

Meantime, Molly, having listened vaguely and without interest, yet with a curious intention to his parting footfalls, as the last one dim away draws herself up and, with a sigh or two, moves hesitatingly toward the door she had pointed out to Molly.

"No one has told her, no hint has reached her ears. It is not his usual bedroom; yet she knows that within that door lies all that remains to her of the brother so fondly loved.
With slow and lagging steps, with bent head and averted eyes, she creeps tardily near, resting with her hand upon the lock to summon courage to meet what must be before her. She feels faint—sick with a bodily sickness for never yet has she come face to face with death.

At last, tramping her teeth together, and closing her eyes, by an immense effort she compels herself to turn the handle of the door, and enters.
Letitia is seated upon the floor beside the bed, her head lowered, her hands folded tightly in her lap. There

A REFRESHING STYLE.
The art of quotation requires delicacy in practice. An already famous firm has originated and developed into very promising advertising a mass of old, quaint proverbs. We refer to Messrs. O. F. Hood & Co., of Champlain fame, who are using not only our columns, but those of thousands of our contemporaries, in adapting wise saws to their service by clever and practical turns. It is refreshing to see something new and bright in this line. Clean cut argument is better than big display type.

On the Gramophone you can easily make and instantly reproduce records of the voice, or any sound, thus it constantly awakens new interest and its charm is ever fresh. be no scarcity of the proper material.

IMPORTANT CHANGES

Two New Business Firms Fall on a Dissolution.Since the dissolution of the firm of Kington & Allen, hardware dealers, a new company to be known as the Kongon Hardware Company has been constituted, and will continue the business. The new company has received its charter and business is now being conducted under the management, although all organization work has not yet been perfected.
The company will be remarkable for stability and should control a mighty volume of business. The majority of the members are experienced and reputable business men who will compromise neither capital or time to advance the interests of the business.Mr. R. G. Kington will retain the management of the store and warehouses, which positions he is known to fill with efficiency. The financial management of the concern will devolve upon Mr. W. G. Ferguson who is a member of the Company and who will sever his connection with the firm of Peter Connal & Co. In assuming such a position Mr. Ferguson does so enjoying the fullest confidence of the Company and the public. Long experience has well qualified him for the task. In consequence of Mr.
Ferguson's change a dissolution of the grocery firm of Peter Connal & Co. has resulted. Hereafter the firm will be known as Peter Connal & Son, Mr. Jas. H. Connal having entered into the business with his father.

Two Female Prisoners.

Between eight and nine o'clock last

Invitation to Firemen's Demonstration.

The Peterborough Fire Department yesterday received a cordial invitation to attend an International Firemen's demonstration, to be held at Brockville on July 18 and 19. Cash prizes amounting to $1700 will be hung out which no doubt will tempt the valiant. The last demonstration of the kind held in Brockville was in 1891 which was an unqualified success.

I Saw Ten Dollars.

Tim Short sent the three notices to stop his paper, he didn't want it any longer. This g.f.f., wondered what was the matter. Upon investigating the subscription book we found that Tim was short $10. He never had paid a cent, and yet he stopped his paper as a matter of economy—to us. He didn't want us to lose more by him.
A few days afterwards Short was at church, and his melodious tenor rang out loud and clear in that old soul-stirring song, "Jesus Paid it All." His earnestness impressed us. So the next day we sent him a voucher in full, begging his pardon for not knowing that he had made an assignment, of his liabilities to the Lord.Sunlight Soap Factory.
The Sunlight Soap people—an English concern—propose to erect a factory in Canada, and are negotiating for a suitable site in Toronto. It might be worth while for Peterborough to put forth an effort to secure this industry. The company expect to expend from $100,000 to $150,000 upon factory buildings. The company expect to employ 250 hands from the start.

Of Interest to Canoeists.

Lindsay Post—Mr. Walter J. English, representing the Wm. English Canoe Company, Peterborough, was in town to-day interviewing local canoeists relative to American Canoe Association matters. Next year the Northern Division will have the meet, and it is proposed to hold it on Muskoka waters. Mr. English has attended every meet for years past, and is now seeking to arouse former interest in canoeing circles, with the hope of making next year's meet in Muskoka such a grand success that the American contingent may vote to hold it there every year.

Y.M.C.A. Team Organized.

The football enthusiasts of the Y.
M.C.A. were well represented at a meeting held last evening for the purpose of arranging for the season.
After little discussion it was decided to play Association ball and a club was formed of which the following are the officers:—
Hon. Pres., R. M. Dennistoun.
Pres., A. H. Stratton.
Vice-Pres., Garret Bell.
Sec'y-Treas., W. E. Leach.
Managing Committee, D. H. Moore,
E. Conway, C. Mathias and physical instructor MacLeod. Practices will be held twice a week. Another meeting will be held next Monday evening when the Committee will report.

For the Fair Exposition.
Local manufacturers were yesterday

His opinion was that Peterborough

A Busy Season.
Everything points to a busy season for the summer months this year.
Mr. Robert, of the Chalmers Park Hotel, has already had a large number of applications for accommodation.
One gentleman from the South has ordered four rooms from June to the middle of September.

The Case Settled.
A settlement has been arrived at between Mrs. Daniel McGinnis, of Brimley and her husband, Mrs.
McGinnis has consented to accept $150 from her husband in lieu of the order compelling him to pay her $250 a week. This ends the trouble, the information which was laid against McGinnis and his son having been withdrawn.

Phoebe A. Hunter.
The music which the Salvation Army band is almost nightly discouraging is eliciting a great deal of favorable comment. The band is uniformly composed of skilled musicians for the music not only well adapted but usually furnished by S.A. bands, but compares favorably with that rendered by the majority of town musical organizations.

THE BOGIE LADY
A PLEASING SUCCESSST. JOHN'S SCHOOL HOUSE WAS FILLED TO THE DOORS.

An Audience that Appreciated the Performance from Beginning to End.

Every available inch of seating accommodation, which St. John's School House affords was occupied by a fashionable and appreciative audience last night, the occasion being the production of the fairy Cantata entitled the "Bogie Lady" by Miss Alma McCollum, with music, by Mr. Chas.
A. Rogers. The affair was a genuine success, and there was not one in the audience who did not manifest the heartiest appreciation. For the benefit of those who were not unfortunate as to have witnessed the performance we will essay, to furnish a short synopsis.

A boy imagines himself to be little Jack Horner and after partaking of the proverbial Christmas pie, reclines in an easy chair reading fairy tales when falling asleep he is suddenly aroused by the Goblin Robin Goodfellow who by his strange antics greatly frightens the boy. Relief however, is soon at hand by the appearance of the "Bogie Lady" who in this instance instead of being the stereotype ugly witch is a charming fairy-like creature who at once wins the acquaintance of Jack Horner and wines him from the tormenting conduct of the dreaded Robin Goodfellow.
By way of entertaining Jack Horner the "Bogie Lady" shows him the story of Cinderella in pantomime. This effect was produced by pictures thrown upon canvas by a powerful light.
Each scene in the story of Cinderella was introduced by a pretty chorus sung by children, assisted by members of St. John's choir. The part of the "Bogie Lady" was taken very effectively by Miss McCollum while Masters Holden and Harold Blackwell impersonated Jack Horner and Robin Goodfellow, respectively, in an exceedingly clever manner. The music throughout was very bright and appropriate and the whole effect was of a pleasing character eliciting voicferous applause. In a few chosen words, the pastor introduced the performance expressing appreciation at the untiring efforts of Mrs. Greenwood and her assistants, as well as those in the production, all of whom are members of St. John's church.
During intermission several little children dressed so as to represent fairies went through the audience selling fancy boxes of bon-bons.

SPORTING NOTES.

What is Going on in Local and Outside Sporting Circles.

LACROSSE.

The little town of Peterboro' is in a joyous frame of mind, for Holan, their great defence player of three seasons ago, is once more with them and anyone who knows Holan knows him to be a working fine player. The four winds seem to have done nothing else but blow players to the "Peterboro' team." "Kitty" Hays and "Short" Crosley have again decided to come out and play, and no one will forget their grand work on the old Peterboro' Juniors. Then come Lybham, Brown, Lipsett and Glover, who are not only hockey players, but good lacrosse men. Lynch played defence for the Berlin lacrosse team of two years ago.

Great preparation for the lacrosse season are going on up in Galt at present, and every one in the town is talking of the "coming champions." They have a bunch of new material and with it expects to do wonders.
The really Galt is stronger now, or seems to be, than it was last year.
They have most of their last year's team, including Pringle, Allan, Junet, Webster, Smith, Stewart, Campbell and Texas Gillard, all of the "98 twelve. Others to join the team are McBride, Arapahoe, McOdlum, Almonte, Gibson, Lintow, Kirk, Toronto, Halpin, Peterboro', and Glendenning. Halpin never shows in his own town as a star lacrosse man but perhaps he has got more speed than he used to have. Glen denning is a home player of great ability, likewise broad, and should catch the crowd this season as he has in others.
The men are out every afternoon, and think it only a question of time when the intermediate league will be presented to them as a token of respect. Before they get the banner the Galt team will have to take their bumps, for it is a long road and heavy to fame in the O.L.A.

BASEBALL.

A despatch from Reaverton, Ont., says—A meeting of those interested in baseball was held in the Hamilton Home parlors last night for the purpose of re-organizing for the coming season and other matters of importance. The officers of Reaverton's past aggregation are as follows: Hon.
Pres. Ben McMill; Pres. T. J. Over-end; 1st Vice-Pres. J. J. Givens; 2nd Vice-Pres. D. McMill; Sec. J. J. Givens;
O. King; Treas. Charles R. Young; Treas., Adrian Shier; Managing Committee, J.
Givens, Alex. Kay, D. B. McKinnon, D. McMill and M. H. Roach. It was decided to enter the league, composed of Port Perry, Uxbridge, Sunderland, Cannington, Sutton and Reaverton.

The Passion Play.

The Passion Play, when produced in Hamilton lately, drew such immense crowds that hundreds could not gain admission. It is one of the most beautiful and instructive entertainments ever placed before an audience.

It may be seen at Richard Hall &

of goods to the amount of 25c

Lindsay set to it.

Lindsay Post. Rev. J. W. MacMillan is an enthusiastic whistman but those who saw him out yesterday on his bicycle to attend a meeting of Lindsay Presbyterian, at Sonya were inclined to think it a rash undertaking. He made the forty-mile trip safely, however, but says the roads are very bad—worse by far than he had been led to anticipate. That's all very well and, speaks volumes for Mr. MacMillan's endurance, but our own Dr. Torrance starts out on a trip in a few days that will throw the Lindsay pastor's feat away in the shade. Lindsay never could hold a candle to Peterborough anyway.

learn the result of the election.

Good Blood!

Your heart beats over one hundred thousand times each day. One hundred thousand supplies of good or bad blood to your brain. Which is it?

If but impure blood, then your brain is aching. You are troubled with nervousness, you cannot sleep, you are so tired in the morning as at night. You have no nerve force. Your food does you but little good.

Stomach, bowels, headache, nervousness, cannot cure you; but will. It makes the liver, kidneys, skin and bowels perform their proper work. It removes all impurities from the blood. And it makes the blood rich in its life-giving properties.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

THE JAPANESE EXCLUSION.

Mr. Wilfred Laurier made it pretty clear the other day, in replying to the later delegation, that the Japanese will not be excluded from Canada by either a poll tax or a provincial exclusion act passed by British Columbia.

The Japs are a progressive people, a growing nation whose trade with Canada will increase greatly in the near future. And they are not "Chinese cheap labor." The prejudice against them is caused by confusing the intellectual Jap with the stupid spawn of China. They are a very different people—as the world learned from the recent war between them. And there can be no doubt that British and Japan would regard an exclusion act with disfavor, and it must not be forgotten that Canada must bow in some measure to Britain's wishes and welfare.

It is not likely that the labor delegates expected to get all that they asked for. The Premier's reply was encouraging to them on several points, and it is not likely they will part in embittered feeling. The Canadian Government's relations with Britain and Japan's relations with Japan.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Now the income season is in full blast. Some of the blast arises from the way each place is blowing the local clubs horns.

Many a pointer is given to an individual at times solely that he may not go to the dogs.

Cuba is becoming rapidly Americanized. Yet while it has adopted railway strikes they have not taken the form of collisions.

The judicial authorities have done well in changing the venue of the Ponton case to Toronto. Whether young Ponton is guilty or innocent, there has been entirely too much "popularity" shown in connection with the consideration of his case so far. No innocent man need fear that he will not be accorded a fair trial and substantial justice at the hands of a Canadian judge and jury.

MOLLY BAWN.

BY THE DUCHESS.

Mr. Buscarlet, who is a kind little man in spite of his "ways and manners," and a few eccentricities of speech, at a word from Molly comes to Brooklyn, and, having carefully examined letters, papers, and affairs generally, turns their fears into unhappy certainty. One thousand pounds is a sum that remains to them in which to live or starve.

The announcement of their ruin is hardly news to Letitia. She has been prepared for it. The letter found crushed in her dead husband's hand, although suppressing half the truth, did not deceive her. Even at that awful moment she quite realized her position. Not so Molly. With all the unreasoning trust of youth she hoped against hope until it was no longer possible to do so, trying to believe that something forgotten would come to light, some unremembered sum, to relieve them from absolute want. But Mr. Buscarlet's search has proved ineffective.

Now, however, what hope is actually at an end, all her natural self-reliance and bravery returns to her; and in the very mouth of despair she makes a way for herself, and for those whom she loves, to escape.

After two nights' wakeful hesitation, shrinking, doubt, and fear, she forms a resolution, from which she never afterward turns aside until compelled to do so by some unforeseen circumstance.

"It is a very distressing case," says Mr. Buscarlet, blowing his nose oppressively—the more so that he feels for her very sincerely. "distressing indeed! I don't know one half so afflictive. I really do—do—not—see what is to be done."

"Do not think me presumptuous if I say I do," says Molly. "I have a plan already formed; and if it succeeds I shall at least be able to earn bread for us all."

"My dear young lady, how! You wish—when you must excuse me if I say—your youth and beauty, how do you propose to earn your bread?"

"It is my secret as yet," with a faint, wan smile, "let me keep it a little longer. Not even Mrs. Musgrave knows of it. Indeed it is too soon to proclaim my design. People might scoff at it, though for all that I shall work it out. And something tells me I shall succeed."

"Yes, yes, we all think we shall succeed when young," says the old lawyer, sadly, moved to deepest compassion at sight of the beautiful, earnest face before him. "It is later on, when we are faint and weary with the buffetings of fortune and the weariness of age."

"I shall not be disheartened by rebuffs; I shall not fail," says Molly, intently. "However cold and ungenerous the world may prove, I shall conquer it at last. Victory shall stay with me."

"Well, well, I would not discourage any one. There are none so worthy of praise as those who seek to work out their own independence, whether they live or die in the struggle. But work of the sort you mean is hard for one so young. You have a plan. Well, as have I. But have you never thought of your grandfather? He is very kindly disposed toward you; and I think—"

"I have no time for 'but' and 'if'!" she interrupts him, gently. "My grandfather may be kindly disposed toward me, but not toward mine—and that counts for more much more. No, I must fall back upon myself alone. I have quite made up my mind," says Molly, throwing up her head, proud, head with a brave smile, "and the knowledge makes me more courageous. I feel as strong as do, as determined to vanquish all obstacles, that I shall neither break down nor fail."

"I trust not, my dear; I trust not. You have my best wishes at least."

"Thank you," says Molly, pressing his kind old hand.

CHAPTER XXIX.

I again would follow love, if that could be.

Letitia in her widow's garb looks particularly handsome. All the "frippings and the signs" of widowhood well her tall, full figure, her fair and placid face.

Molly looks taller slender than usual in her mourning robes. She is one of those who grow slight quickly under affliction. Her rounded cheeks have fallen in and show dark hollows, her eyes are larger, darker, and show beneath them great purple lines born of many tears.

She has not seen Letitia since her return home—although Letitia has, and rarely asks for him. Her absorbing grief appears to have swallowed up all other emotions. She has not once left the house. She works little, she does not read at all; she is fast falling into a settled melancholy.

"Molly," says Letitia, "Teacote is in the drawing-room. He particularly asks to see you. Do so, I beseech you again. Even though your engagement as you say, is at an end, still remember, dearest, how kind, how more than thoughtful, he has been in many ways since—of late."

Her voice breaks.

"Yes, yes, I will see him," Molly says wearily, and, rising, words her way slowly, reluctantly, to the room which contains her lover.

At sight of him some chords that have lain hushed and forgotten in her heart for many days come to life again. Her pulses throb, albeit languidly, her color deepens; a something that is almost girlish awakes within her. Alas how human are we all, how short-lived our kindnesses toward the living love so near her she for the first time (though only for a moment) forgets the dead one.

In her trailing, somber dress, with her sorrowful white cheeks, and quivering lips, she goes up to him and places her hand in his while he, touched with a mighty compassion, stares at her, marking with a lover's careful eyes all the many alterations in her face. So much has happened in so short a time.

Darrah Reimond IN 10 TO 60 MINUTES—One short puff of the breath through the Blower, supplied with each bottle of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, diffuses this Powder over the surface of the nasal passages. Pain is instantly relieved, it relieves instantly, and permanently cures Catarrh, Hay Fever, Colds, Headache, Sore Throat, Tonsillitis and Deafness. Sold by Ormond & Walsh.

BEAR - IN - MIND

That the FOUR-POINT BEARINGS used in the the E. & D. Bicycle are the only kind in which there is complete freedom from twisting of balls.

The axis of balls and hubs are at all times parallel.

The points of contact on the bearings are flat and expose the smallest possible surface to the ball.

The pathway is ground perfectly true, and all the balls bear an equal proportion of the load at all times, giving a perfectly even distribution of the work.

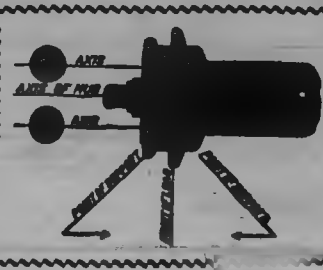

The outward appearance of a Bicycle is usually quite good—that depends on the finisher. But take into consideration the inside. The bearings are of more value than the frame. These you need to examine carefully, too. A pretty frame with worthless bearings is a poor combination.

If you want a perfect Wheel, bearings, frame, pedals, saddle, bars, etc., there's only ONE

The oil is retained in the pathway, and cannot escape.

The opening between the Hub and the axle is made perfectly dust proof by the felt washer.

The points of support are on each side of the point on which the load is carried, insuring a perfectly equal strain on the balls.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN.

The plum and cherry require a little pruning.

Never allow insect destroying birds to be killed.

When it can be done, it will be a good plan to top dress the strawberry plants with wood ashes.

By adding lime to the emulsion used for spraying injury to the foliage may often be prevented.

Well rotted stable manure, wood ashes and air slacked lime make good fertilizers for all kinds of fruit trees and plants.

Common whitewash is less effective for repelling borers than common soft soap. A little carbolic acid added improves the soap.

Common white lead paint is good to apply on the stub when large limbs have been removed. It keeps out the rain and prevents cracking.

It rarely pays to fill up an old orchard with young trees; better select a new location. The old trees have exhausted the soil.

Old apple and other trees are often benefited by cutting out the branches in the center, where they are apt to crowd one another too close to the stem.—Exchange.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

The work of a carriage wheel never begins until it's tired.

It's as hard to acquire a good habit as it is to break off a bad one.

Men love women for what they are and not for what some of them try to be.

Our idea of a hopeless fool is a man who continues to do things the most difficult way.

You may need a broken reputation, but your neighbors will keep their eyes on the crack.

A fool always boasts of what he is going to do, but a man never boasts until after he has done it.

It's too much trouble for some men to make up their mind not to let their wives trouble them.

Women have a peculiar knack of picking out goods that will wash, but they usually get children that won't.—Chicago News.

Don't Fish for News.

While it is an temptation to drop a hook into the water at this time of the year it must be remembered that the law forbids it. No one can lawfully fish for, catch, sell or possess bass or mackerel until June 15th.

The close season for this kind of fish commenced on Saturday last 15th inst. The close season for pickerel is only one month—from the 15th of April to the 15th of May.

A BURDEN LIFTED.

When a woman who has long suffered from female troubles, is again restored to health she feels that a tremendous burden has been lifted from her shoulders. Her figure rounds out again. Color comes to her cheeks, and sparkle to her eyes. She feels much the same as when a girl, and if the neighbors wouldn't talk, the chances are she would go out and have a good romp.

In childhood's days, Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription lifts the burden of disease from women. It allays inflammation and stops drains in the feminine organs. It strengthens the fragile supports that hold the internal organs in place. It corrects irregularities. It drives away the "blues" and banishes nervousness. The ordeal of child-bearing is rendered as occasion of no danger and little pain. It is the best medicine that Dr. R. V. Pierce, the best experienced specialist in woman's diseases, ever made. The Doctor will give free, fatherly advice to all women who write him at Buffalo, N. Y. No fee whatever is charged.

"I was a great sufferer for four years from discharges and irregularities," writes Mrs. Mary Pickering, of Ohio. "Knox County, Iowa." "At the time I began using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, I was not able to sit up in bed. I took eight bottles and got to be a great woman. I also gave Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to my little daughter for colic and enlarged tonsils and it completely cured her. Any doctoring this case will do me, including a stamp, will I will answer."

Honest dealers will not urge substitutes for Dr. Pierce's medicine. There are no other medicines in the world "just as good," although avaricious druggists will sometimes say so for the sake of the greater profit to be made upon the inferior articles.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

Working Off Work.

One of the type-setting machines in Times office "kicked" early in the week, and for several days was off work, leaving one machine only to set out the paper. Yesterday, however, the machine was again put in motion, the broken parts having been replaced.
This will account for the small amount of matter appearing in the paper.

Odds and Ends.

The members of Peterborough and Ottawa Lodge I.O.O.F., are requested to remember the 79th anniversary church services of the Order, Sunday evening April 23rd. A cordial invitation is extended to visiting brethren to meet with the local lodge at Odd-fellows' hall, at 6:15 p.m. to-morrow where they will proceed to Markham Methodist church, to be addressed by Bro. Moore, at 7 p.m. A. Ross, secretary.

The Market Stock Firm.

Alderman Rogers, accompanied by Chief Royal, visited the market and notified the boy buyers to remove all hops from the market pens as soon as weighed. The boy men were inclined to be a trifle obstreperous, one of them replying that as he paid for all privileges he would move his hops when he got good and ready. This dirty mess in the very heart of the town, should not be tolerated. Talk about the cattle yards; they are a nonsense as compared with the market abomination.

THOUGH TECHNICALLY GUILTY.

Geo. Tighe was yesterday acquitted of the Charge of Theft.

Geo. Tighe, ex-janitor of Central School, although technically found guilty of the charge of having stolen old iron belonging to school property was allowed to go with a warning by Magistrate Dumble yesterday morning. The hearing of this case occupied one hour and a half. Tighe pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried by a jury. Chief Justice, P. C. Stewart, Geo. Stevens and a couple of others testified against the prisoner with the result that he was technically found guilty. The Magistrate advised him to leave the court, but the evidence was sufficient to send the case up for trial. At this juncture Tighe reversed his plea and requested to be tried summarily, which was done.
The prisoner was ably defended by Mr. Dennistoun.

Men Dismissed at Belleville.

Belleville Ontario: Yesterday seven more employees on the G.T.R. here received notices that their services would not be required any longer. The men have been employed at different jobs, some of them were switchmen and the others worked about the yards. This brings the number up to twenty that have been discharged this week. It looks as though the company intends to make Belleville merely a siding, for if they keep on discharging the men there will be no use of trains stopping here at all. It is to be hoped there will be no more dismissals.

Empire Day.

Hon. G. W. Ross, minister of education, has sent out a circular requesting inspectors that, possibly, May 22d, must be observed in the public schools as empire day. The circular suggests that the forenoon might be occupied with a familiar talk by the teacher on the British empire, the unity of the empire, the privileges that British subjects enjoy the extent of Canada and its resources etc. The aim of the teacher in all his reference to Canada should be to make Canadian patriotism intelligent, comprehensive and strong. The afternoon is suggested to be taken up with patriotic readings, songs, and speeches from trustees, clergymen and others.
The British flag must fly from all school buildings.

THE TOWN FATHERS
IN SPECIAL SESSIONBOARD OF WORKS RECOMMENDS GRANOLITHIC SIDEWALKS.

Contracts for Street Sprinkling Awarded—Alderman Langford (champion) the laboring man.

The Town Council was in special session for two hours and a half yesterday afternoon, dealing principally with matters of minor importance.
Those present were Ald. Hall in the chair, and Messrs. Langford, Corkery, Sawyer, Davidson, Denne and Best.
A deputation composed of Messrs.
J. R. Stratton, M.P., and D. W.
Dumble, was heard in reference to a grant for the furthering of the Trent Valley Canal project. The deputation detailed the expense incurred up to the present time in carrying out the scheme, and also enlightened the Council as regards the progress made. The matter was under consideration for some time and was finally left in an indefinite condition.

Lawyer Pousette, was on hand with a proposition, which paved the way for considerable animated discussion.
It was to the effect that if the corporation saw fit to grant, the Dickson Company, the use of the stone crusher the company would by way of remuneration supply the power, for the crushing which the town may require this season. The proposal immediately brought Ald. Langford to his feet who announced that he opposed to such a thing being done.
He championed the laboring man's interests pointing out that the crusher was purchased with the people's money and that by allowing it to be granted to the Dickson Co., the laboring man would be cheated out of work. Mr.
Pousette in defence argued that the work any way would not be done by the laboring men as other crushers were available, and he contended that the town would be getting good value for the use of the machine.
Ald. Langford, however, could not see the matter in that light, and positively refused to change his view.
Eventually it was moved by Best and seconded by McWilliams, that the proposition be referred to the Board of Works with power to act.
An amendment was at once prepared by Ald. Langford, and seconded by Denne, which was voted down. The yeas and nays were then declared by Ald. Langford, and were as follows:—Yeas—Corkery, Davidson, McWilliams and Best, Nays—Langford, Sawyer and Denne. The subject of sewer connections was next discussed and the following motion put by Davidson and seconded by Corkery, carried:—
"That in the expense of putting sewer connections no payment of Engineer's fees shall be required, and when the deposit made covers more than the actual expense all but one dollar is to be refunded."

The Board of Works reported recommending the following:—
1. That the Council give notice of its intention to construct granolithic sidewalks on the following streets, to be paid for under the local improvement clauses of the Municipal Act in the same proportion as to the amount to be paid by a frontage tax and by general rate as the granu-lithic sidewalks laid down last year, namely:—

Simcoe to Dublin streets.
George Street—On both sides from Brock to Smith streets.
Simcoe Street—On both sides from Water to Bethune streets.

mer street.

from Charlotte to Hunter streets.
Simcoe Street—Reid to Park streets
Stewart Street—From Hunter to Charlotte street.
Murray Street—From north Water street to lane west of separate school Murray Street—George to Baptist church.

B. J. DAVIDSON.

On motion of Ald. Davidson, Chairman, and seconded by McWilliams the contracts for street watering were awarded as follows:—
Southern district—W. Breckenridge
$250.
Western district—J. H. Cameron, $185.
Northern district—J. H. Cameron, $185.

These were the lowest tenders and the contractors are to give security to be approved of by the Board of Works.

A Progressive Council.

The Township of Smith has a progressive Council. They have decided to purchase a steam snow crusher, and a road scraper, of the very best make.
The Council is determined to create a system of good roads, and instead of gravel for road repairs crushed stone will be used. The advantage of this is obvious: Gravel pits are few and far between, road mending hauling, in no common, two and three miles.
Stone abounds everywhere and can be broken by the probable crusher wherever ever found. The example set by Smith is worthy of imitation.

THE PUBLIC WELFARE IS SUPREMACY.

To the Editor of the Times.
Mr.—Under the above caption appears an editorial in to-day's Toronto World, hereunder appended. The grave charges therein complained of affect the Town of Peterborough in its progress and expansion. The seven trucks of railway that enter the town on all sides and converge at the two depots, besides the spur lines, lands in the suburbs, where in course of streets laid out to meet the requirements of the extended limits.

Indeed, streets have been projected already with the view of crossing some of these tracks, but the owners of the land were rudely awakened when informed that neither they nor the Council had power to extend any street across the tracks without the permission of the railway company, which was refused in all cases. A few attempts at finding a means of exit have been made by laying out circuitous routes in order to gain an objective point, but in all cases at the disfigurement of the locality and to the inconvenience of the owners and travelling public. Our town is literally hemmed in with no chance at expansion with a due regard to symmetry or convenience. As far as I know, not one word of protest was uttered by our local members of Parliament or our Mayor or Councilmen when these railways acquired their rights, not have any of them moved in the matter. Do they represent the town or the railway?

The Public Welfare is Supreme.

When a railway corporation desires to run its cars from one point to another it applies to the Legislature or House of Commons and obtains authority to lay its tracks on an air line, or by any circuitous route it may desire, it lays its rails across farms runs through gardens, and demolishes houses in its course. It has a free hand to appropriate whatever lands it may deem necessary for its business. But when the people come to interfere with the property of a railway it is quite different. The railway property is sacred. The people must not use it. We have a case in Toronto at the present moment. The people of Toronto wish to open up a route between two points within the city limits. It is in the public interest that such a route should be opened up. It happens that the route crosses property which is in the possession of a railway company.

But this company claims a right of way across its property. There surely is some way of obtaining justice in the matter of the proposed chain ferry. The G.P.R. should not be in a position to dictate just what terms it places in regard to this project. If the project is in the public interest, as it undoubtedly is, private or corporate considerations should not be allowed to stand in the way. The Ontario Legislature should now only say that the City of Toronto has a right to operate a chain ferry at the Queen's wharf, but it should determine the conditions upon which the G.P.R.'s property may be used. The latter imposes conditions that make this much desired route to the Island practically impossible.
Here is a case where the Legislature interferes and makes the railway submit to the same law it imposes upon every one else.

HAVELOCK IS ALL EXCITEMENT OVER THE PROPOSED REMOVAL OF C.P.R. EMPLOYEES.

Industrial Reputation Wails on the Peterboro' Board of Trade Last Night and Appeals Successfully for Assistance.

Consternation prevails in the thriving little town of Havelock, created by the proposed action of the C.P.R. to remove the employees to Smith Falls. This fact was demonstrated last night when a strong deputation of the prominent residents of the village, headed by the Reeve, waited upon the Peterborough Board of Trade, and made a most earnest appeal for assistance.

Mr. John Carnegie, President of the Board of Trade occupied the chair. The following Peterborough gentlemen were present: R. Fair, G. W. Bennett, E. H. Dobbin, D. W. Dumble, R. McWhinnie, R. J. Wince, H. S. McDonald, E. B. Edwards, R. M. Ray, Dr. Rose, J. C. Turnbull, M. Wilson, Wm. Menzies and R. R. Phillips.

Mr. R. M. Deane, as a member of the Board of Trade introduced the deputation and at length described the situation. He pictured the collapse of Havelock, and the destruction of all individual interests were the proposition of the C.P.R. carried into effect. He argued that the welfare of Havelock, was of vital concern to the town of Peterborough, and no efforts should be spared to assist the residents of that place in averting if possible what was sure to come to prove disastrous that would impair the financial interests of Peterborough. The speaker going back to the early days of Havelock, proved its continual growth and commercial enterprise, and pictured comfortable homes of a score or so of railway employees, established by hard earned savings. When these homes were built, the speaker went on to say, the employees were given to understand that they would be permanent and on this assurance, money had been invested liberally. In the event however, of the employees being removed to Smith Falls, they would be compelled to abandon their homes, and the inevitable result would be that property would depreciate and they would be heavy losers, the growth of the town being stunted forever. Then continued the speaker the natural consequence would be, that Peterborough's loss would also be extensive, for being the County Town it receives considerable commercial patronage from the people of Havelock. Here it was mentioned that the assessed value of Havelock is $200,000. Continuing the speaker said that as far as he was able to learn the proposed action of the C.P.R. was not clearly a matter of necessity but precisely that of convenience. From a standpoint of brotherhood, the situation of the Havelock people appealed for support, and thus Peterborough's duty to see that it was rendered.

Reeve Jas. Bryan next took the floor. He expressed appreciation at the favorable remarks given utterance to by Mr. Deane. Havelock, Mr. Bryan went on to state, was a town of a century and from its inception had flourished. The railway was its pillar and were the C.P.R. employees removed the downfall of the town was certain. The C.P.R. had not stated that the employees would have to move to Smith Falls but the transfer would mean the same thing. Mr. Bryan intimated the assistance of Peterborough, to prevent such a thing recurring. His line of argument whereby he appealed to Peterborough, was that, being the county town it was materially interested.

He emphasized the fact that from $200,000 to $25,000 is annually expended in Peterborough, by the people of Havelock. This fact alone the speaker deemed sufficient to warrant Peterborough's assistance.

Treasurer Fuller, a pioneer resident of Havelock, was next called upon. Mr. Fuller evinced pleasure in making the statement, he was postmaster there when the salary was only $16 a year and when the dwelling houses only numbered three or four. By way of contrast he mentioned that at present, the post office is worth over $400 to him, and that the residence numbered over 200. This he considered ample proof of the importance of the place and on account of the Commercial relations between it and Peterborough, claimed that it was entitled to consideration by Peterborough.

The next speaker was no other than the well known personage, Mr. Mathewson, familiarly known as the father of Havelock. He furnished a great deal of history concerning the town and its thriving people. Like his predecessors, he appealed to the Board of Trade for assistance.

Mr. Curtis a railroad man followed. He declared that when the railroad men took up their residence in Havelock it was with the understanding that it was to be a division point. Mr. Knox, the next speaker, who has been engaged in the building industry in Havelock for some years was the next speaker and his address was decidedly influential.

Several other speakers were also there, all, however, speaking in a similar strain.

At this stage Mr. Dumble announced that in his opinion the Havelock people were entitled to the support asked of the resolution and resolution was accordingly read and adopted.

Moved by D. W. Dumble, seconded by R. Fair—Whereas it has been ascertained that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company is contemplating the removal of its train crews from Havelock to Smith Falls, and whereas the Board of Trade of the Town and County of Peterborough assembled for the purpose of discussing the question is of opinion that such a course would be disastrous to the prosperity of the village of Havelock and destructive of land values, and whereas it has been represented to this Board, that many of the employees of the Railway Company are the owners of their own property in the village and that a large sum of money has been invested in mortgage security in the said village by residents of the Town and County of Peterborough and that great loss would be occasioned by the removal of the rail-employees as aforesaid; and whereas the village of Havelock is an important and flourishing trade centre in this county and the merchants of Peterborough are directly concerned in the maintenance and prosperity of this prosperous village and are convinced that substantial injury will be done the business houses of Peterborough if the proposed removal goes into effect:

Resolved be it resolved that the authorities of the C.P.R. be sent a copy of this resolution with a request that nothing be done which will impair vested rights or injure the trade of this county, as this Board is of opinion that the C.P.R. having made Havelock what it is, an having given every assurance that the company were determined to make Havelock a permanent and prosperous railway town are in duty bound to stand by their policy of the past 15 years and to maintain an intention of destroying the securities which they have created.

Resolved further that a deputation from this Board wait upon the authorities of the C.P.R. and present the arguments in support of this resolution as fully and carefully as possible.

THE PUBLIC WELFARE IS SUPREME.
To the Editor of the Times.
Sir.—Under the above caption appears an editorial in to-day's Toronto World, hereunder appended. The article therein complained of affects the Town of Peterborough in its progress and expansion. The seven tracks of railway that enter the town on all sides and converge at the two depots, besides the spur lines, cross numerous lots and other lands in the suburbs where in course there will be removal of hundreds of streets laid out to meet the requirements of the extended limits. Indeed, the railway project already with the view of crossing some of these tracks, but the owners of the land were rudely awakened when informed that neither they nor the Council had power to extend the street across the tracks without the permission of the railway company, which was refused in all cases. Do they represent the town or the railways?

Marking Off Work.

One of the type-setting machines in Times office "kicked" early in the week, and for several days was off work, leaving one machine only to get out the paper. Yesterday, however, the machine was again put in motion, the broken parts having been replaced. This will account for the small amount of matter appearing in the paper.

FILIPINOS RETIRE IN GOOD ORDER BEFORE THREE COMPANIES OF DAKOTANS.

Rebels suffer losses. The Americans having Exhausted Their Ammunition were Compelled to Return to Camp.

Manila, April 21.—At six o'clock this morning three companies of the South Dakota regiment marched from Baguio and, in conjunction with three companies of the Minnesota regiment, from Guiguitan, north of Baguio, encountered a rebel force numbering fully five hundred men, when two miles out. The enemy retired three miles in fairly good order, in spite of the fact that the rebels suffered heavy losses. The Americans having exhausted their ammunition, were compelled to return to their camps.

The heat is intense. At noon the thermometers registered 85 degrees and the mercury was still rising. There were several prostrations from the heat among the troops, but only one man was wounded. Later the army lugs opened fire on the enemy along the river banks. The rebels are unusually active west of Malolos as far as Calumpit. They have been busy at work on their trenches, and several new trenches have been discovered within two miles of the railroad. Fires are burning east of the railroad, and it would appear that the rebels are evacuating the foothill towns, in anticipation of an attack upon the American troops.

THE YORKTOWN EXPEDITION.

Admiral Dewey in an interview states that the expedition of the gunboat Yorktown to Baler was purely to rescue the Spanish soldiers and priests who are being besieged in a church there. The soldiers refused to surrender when ordered to lay down their arms by General Rios at the end of the Paris peace conference. Admiral Dewey said he did not know what had become of Rios. Glimore and the 14 men in the launch. They had been sent to sound the mouth of the river, but went beyond the bend, out of sight of the Yorktown.

The supposition is that they were captured or killed by the Spaniards or by the band of insurgents who were besieging the Spanish garrison. Admiral Dewey declined to say what steps he would take toward a punitive expedition.

GARRISON IN IGNORANCE.

General Rios, the Spanish commander when interviewed said he did not think the garrison at Baler knew that the war between the United States and Spain had ended. He had sent an officer in January to tell the garrison to surrender. The garrison refused to surrender either not believing the officer or fearing they would be treated by the insurgents. Since then General Rios has had no communication with the garrison and this is the first information he has had that the Spanish flag is still flying at Baler. He thought the Americans were shot at by the insurgents as the Spaniards themselves are besieged and have not way of getting to the river. General Rios said he had not been consulted.

FALL MAIL HANDICAP.

London, April 21.—Mr. Leopold de Rothschild's Prio won the Fall Mail Handicap of 100 overlanders at the second day's racing of the Sandown Park second spring meeting today. Mr. E. C. Cox's Tossaint 5 to 2 ridden by Ted Sison, was unplaced. Fifteen horses ran.

WORKMAN'S COMPENSATION.

London, April 21.—According to a correspondent of The Standard the French law compelling employers to pay pensions to the families of workmen killed or injured in their service is operating in a way which was not expected by the Socialist leaders who prompted the measure. It appears that a considerable number of employers have decided not to engage married workmen, the financial responsibility with unmarried men being very much less. Moreover, a good many manufacturers and contractors have dismissed the fathers of families they formerly employed because a few accidents have led to them would make a great hole in their profits.

CHINESE REBELS ROUTED.

Hong Kong April 21.—The British expedition in the Kiu Ton district against Hong Kong has been cleared of rebels. The Chinese were followed by the British troops from village to village, at each of which the rebels attempted to make a stand, but the British routed them from the house. The native casualties were numerous.

ENGLISH LOVE-MAKING

Curious Statistics in regard to English Proposals of Marriage.

Statistics are at present being collected on almost every conceivable subject. What do you think of an English scholar who has actually thought it worth his while to collect statistics in regard to the manner in which men and women make love to each other? He has spent considerable time over this delicate work and now at last he informs the world how the men as a rule propose to the women, and how the women, as a rule, accept the proposals of the men.

According to the English scholar, the number of young Englishmen who embrace their sweethearts at the moment when they are inviting them to become their wives amounts to 38 per cent. On the other hand, 67 per cent. of the men in love kiss their sweethearts on the lips at the critical moment, while 4 per cent. shower kisses on their hair and two per cent. content themselves with kissing their hands.

At one time it was the fashion for love-intoxicated youths to fall on their knees when about to make proposals of marriage, but this fashion is evidently dying out, for we are assured that only 3 per cent. of those in love at present fall on their knees, while only 2 per cent. venture to one for their ladies' favor on both knees. A curious reason has been assigned for the decadence of this chivalrous custom, which is, that of late years the noble game of golf has been so constructed that it is rather risky for any man to flop down suddenly on his knees in a lady's presence. Garments, when strained, will rip and tear, and no self-respecting lover desires to have his act of adoration turned into a farce by any such casualty.

On the other hand women of to-day seem to be far more nervous than the gallant men who wooed and won a century ago. Just fancy, 20 per cent. of the English lovers of to-day are a little nervous when the decisive moment comes, and in the throat of each mother's son of them there seems to be a huge lump, which it is impossible for them to swallow. How they get over the difficulty Heaven only knows. Somehow the lump disappears after they have struggled with it a minute or two, after which it is to be hoped that their agony is at an end.

The behavior of the young women is similarly remarkable. When the men invite them to share their homes they by no means all act alike. Eighty-one per cent. of every hundred fall without a word into the outspread arms of their chosen ones and so very easily put an end to a rather embarrassing, if otherwise very delightful, situation; 88 per cent. blush very becomingly, and in maidenly fashion shrink away as though frightened at their companions' boldness; one out of every hundred—possibly more, possibly less, says the English statistician—falls on a sofa as though about to faint, and 4 per cent. are really astonished at receiving proposals of marriage.

A STORY OF NAPOLEON.

His Liberator a Scotchman at Government Request.

Napoleon had at one time many admirers in England, especially among the commercial classes, who suffered deeply from the war, but he alienated the sympathy of all classes by his cruel arrest of the English who were in France at the time of the rupture of the peace of Amiens, in 1804. Some 19,000 English of both sexes were thus detained in irksome captivity till the close of the war, and hardly a family in the middle and upper classes but had to lament the absence of some friend or connection.

Yet in individual cases Napoleon showed some magnanimity. A young Scotchman, one Robert Hendry, from Glasgow, a scientific dyer and chemist had taken advantage of the peace to visit the great manufacturing houses of France, and he was staying at Jouy, where Oberkampf had established a huge cotton printing factory, when war suddenly broke out. Hendry was thereupon constituted a prisoner by the authorities, but allowed freedom on parole at Jouy.

Napoleon one day visited the factory unexpectedly, accompanied by Josephine. He made a rapid progress through the works. Villagers and work people, the latter numbering 1,400, assembled to witness his departure, cheering the carriage, and cheering the emperor when he came to take the cross from his own breast and affix it to that of the modest Oberkampf. Hendry palmed the cross, and the picture is still to be found upon the walls of Versailles. But Oberkampf had still something to ask. Hendry smiled propitiously, but made a very free when he heard the petition, which was for the release of the prisoner. "An Englishman!" "No, sire, a Scotchman!" "His mother—his sisters depend on him!" "Well, he shall be free, then!" said the emperor.—Honorable World.

VOILANT DETECTIVES.

When a crime is committed, no matter in what corner of the earth the criminal tries to hide, he knows that probably somewhere or other on the look-out is a detective waiting to lay his hand on him.

When any disease attacks a man, it hides itself in the human system, no matter how obscure the disease may be. Nature among her great forces of detective remedies has one that will eventually hunt down and arrest that particular disease.

Lung and bronchial diseases are among the most bedeviling complaints which doctors have to deal with; because it isn't the lungs or bronchial tubes alone which are affected, but every corner of the system furnishes a lurking place for these diabolical maledictions.

They change and reappear and dodge about the system under numberless disguises. They are almost always complicated with liver or stomach troubles, nervousness, neuralgia, or "general debility."

The best detective remedy which Nature has provided to search out and arrest these perplexing ailments is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It lays an arresting hand directly upon the poisonous, paralyzing elements hiding in the liver and digestive organs.

It gives the blood-making glands power to manufacture an abundant supply of pure, red, highly vitalized blood which reinforces the lungs with healthy tissues, feeds the capillaries with power, and builds up solid muscular flesh and active energy.

For weak lungs, spitting of blood, shortness of breath, nasal catarrh, bronchitis, severe coughs, asthma, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. While it promptly cures the severe cough it strengthens the system and purifies the blood.

"I feel very grateful for the home-treatment given me by the World's Dispensary Medical Association," writes Mr. J. J. Brown, of Santa, Wagon Co., N. C. "I had catarrh for several years, then took grip, also had hemorrhages from the lungs. I had the best of medical attention but only to bring partial relief. I got up for a few months but had more hemorrhages. I took Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery (twenty-five bottles) but in a very short time I had more spells of bleeding. I wrote to Dr. Pierce and received directions what kind of medicine to use; I commenced taking his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. I had only taken one bottle when I could see I was improving. I took three bottles of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and five bottles of the 'Discovery.' I have been able to do any kind of labor for more than twelve months. Well! I just simply owe my life to the World's Dispensary Medical Association."

Everybody Can Save Money Gathering Trading Stamps

"A penny saved is a penny made."—Old proverb.

There is no fiction in this story. Every day in thousands of homes in Toronto, and other cities and towns throughout the Dominion, this pleasant fact finds practical and appreciative demonstration.

You Ask, What are Trading Stamps?

To the merchant they are discounts for your cash. The wholesaler gives the retailer a discount for his cash, and you are entitled to a discount also, and get it in stores where trading stamps are given.

To the Dominion Trading Stamp Co., they are receipts proving the amount of your cash purchases—doing a grand work for home economy in encouraging the payment of cash.

To yourself they are savings for your home, and the prosperous homes—the kind of homes that build up a nation—are those where prudent economy prevails.

—SAVINGS—That you formerly lost by neglect.

—SAVINGS—That come to you daily on everything you buy, whether your purchases are large or small.

—SAVINGS—That enterprising merchants can afford to give you, as your cash enables them to get their discounts, prevents errors in charging, lessens the expense of bookkeeping and collecting, and avoids losses on bad accounts—whichever ordinarily the cash-paying customer has to pay for.

—SAVINGS—That no matter from what store, in what city, or what part of the Dominion obtained, are transferable, exchangeable and redeemable at all agencies.

The system is plain and simple and common-sense. All show-rooms are open to the public, where the goods that are given in exchange for the stamps are to be seen and examined. No goods are sold in the stores. They are there for the one purpose only—to redeem the stamps collected by the merchant's customers. Stamp books are free on application.

Orilla News-Letter. The longest distance message ever received at the Orilla Telephone office came over the wires on Monday, when Manager Ales-here. The distance is in the neighborhood of 250 miles and the conversation was as plainly heard as if the speakers were within a few feet of each other.

A Settlement in Night.

On Saturday morning a committee meeting of the whole Council was held in town Clerk's office. The matter for consideration being the C. P. R. freight sheds on Wolfe street. Mr.
J. W. Leonard, superintendent of the C. P. R. Company, was present and participated in the discussion. The probability is that the matter will be settled shortly.

Sundry Whetting.

Yesterday was the realization of the cyclist's dream. Calm and with summer sun-shine, the inspiration to wheel was too strong to be resisted.
Many indeed were the silent moments that were stolen along the various thoroughfares, and far into the rapidly verdant attaining country. The positions of the roads, however, did not harmonize with those of the weather but trips were pleasurable.

New Departmental Store.

It is reported that a large Toronto concern propose to open a big departmental store in Peterborough at an early date, and has an eye on the Grand Central Hotel property for the purpose. The property is in bad shape, and will require to be completely overhauled before it would be of any use.
The Times was also informed that the new store will top anything of the kind outside Toronto. One advantage the Grand Central property has over other sites, is that it is close to the place where this great family journal receives its inspiration. It is therefore most likely, should we be found with a big store for a neighbor, that it will thus be kept in touch with the newest and most progressive ideas.

Needed No More Licking.

A very subdued-looking boy of about 13 years, with a long scratch on his nose and an air of general dejection, came to his teacher in one of the Boston public schools and begged her to note before leaving his seat and becoming deeply absorbed in his book.
The note read as follows:
"Miss B.—Please excuse James for not being there yesterday. He played trouphant, but I guess you don't want to lick him for it; as the boy has played trouphant with an aim full out, and the driver of a sled they hung onto and licked him also. Thed his pa licked him, and I had to give him a hotter for making me for telling his pa, so you need not lick him until next time. I guess he thinks he better keep in school hereafter."

Toronto Telegram.—"The Government did not take long to fill the Hamilton, inspector of inland revenue, Bellefleur, for the announcement has just been made that H. A.

Ostigan, of the inland revenue staff in this city, and son of Hon. John Ostigan, has been appointed as Mr.
Hamilton's successor. Mr. Ostigan was formerly in the Government's service at Calgary. The position of inspector carried with it a salary of $2,500 a year. The appointment will not be a sweet morsel to the faithful Liberals of Bellefleur, Peterborough of their number was entitled to the office in preference to the son of a former Tory Cabinet Minister. Mr.

Ostigan's headquarters will likely be at Bellefleur. This story has been denied."

"Honesty is the Best Policy."

Never was a more pointed saying put into print, and yet to be honest only because it is policy is a poor kind of honesty. Better change "policy" to "principle" and the world will like you better. In the medical world there is one medicine honest for principle's sake—and that is Hood's Sarsaparilla.

It is the specific of the age for all blood troubles. The liver, kidneys and bowels are all toned up by its action as a cleanser and thus good health comes. It never disappoints.

Rheumatism.—I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla has no equal for rheumatism. It has done me more good than any other medicine I have taken. Mrs. FARRAR KELLY, Brampton, Ont.

Cold Cough.—"After my long illness, I was very weak and had a bad cough. I could not get on my feet. Different remedies did not help me but Hood's Sarsaparilla built me up and I am now able to attend to my work." MRS. JACQUES, Oshawa, Ont.

Blindness.—"I have been troubled with headache and biliousness and was much run down. Tried Hood's Sarsaparilla and it gave me relief and built me up." A.
MORRISON, 80 Deane Street, Toronto, Ont.

Heart Trouble.—"I had heart trouble for a number of years and different medicines failed to benefit me. I tried Hood's Sarsaparilla and three bottles completely and perfectly cured me." MRS. C. A. FARRAR, Walsby Bridge, N.S.

A Sufferer.—"As I had lost five children with diphtheria I gave my remaining two children Hood's Sarsaparilla as they were subject to throat trouble and were not very strong. They are now healthier and stronger and have not since had a cold."
MRS. W. H. FLOCKER, Pembroke, Ont.

Varicose Veins.—"I have been a great sufferer from varicose veins, which swelled my foot and limb, discharging water matter. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla faithfully and the sores healed." MRS.
A. E. GRISOR, Hartland, Vt.

Cricketers are beginning to over-season. Of the former nothing is at present known, but concerning the latter there are some interesting facts to hand.

International Commission is not the only matter which will engage the attention and efforts of Canadian and American representatives. Germantown and Detroit will meet here in Toronto, the international match will be played there, and in addition, efforts which proto be successful, are being made to arrange an inter-collegiate match
New York and New Jersey will bring a combined team to Canada, and the Australians are anxious to come, but owing to the lateness of the date which they offer, in October, the Toronto have almost decided to refuse it, unless the Kangaroos come on speculation.

PETERBOROUGH, APRIL 25, 1899

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

The beautiful young actress and dancer, Miss Rose Wilber, will appear in Oie Olson at the opera house to-night.

Bicycle Repairing.

Special prices in bicycle repairing. Hunter street, opposite English Church, O. Bell.

A Valuable Horse.

The Colborne Express says: Mr. A. L. Philp has disposed of his pacing stallion, Furioso, to Mr. T. H. Hamilton, Peterboro, for $1150. Mr. Hamilton intends entering him in the circuit races this season.

A Burning Chimney.

A burning chimney of the Olney House, Hunter street, caused the fire alarm to be sounded shortly before six o'clock last night. The brigade responded with their usual promptness, but the fire was extinguished without their assistance.

Oie Olson at the Opera House to-night. Don't fail to see it.

They Were Married.

The two young women who were taken into custody last Tuesday night appeared before Magistrate Dunlop yesterday morning on remand. Their parents were in the court room, and on the strength of a combination of promises the magistrate dismissed the pair, with a warning that should they appear before him again they would be sent to the reformatory.

The Passion Play.

Scores of ladies filed through the doors leading to the commodious and elaborately stocked store of Richard Hall & Son, yesterday afternoon and were delighted with the entertainment provided by the Passion Play. The play furnishes life-like reproductions of the incidents connected with the life of Christ, the pictures being reproduced by a cinematograph and are very interesting.

"Music, Song and Story."

Have you seen "Music, Song and Story"? If not get one. It contains eight pieces of new music, together with stories, recitations, myths and fairy tales, articles, music, singing, speaking, the play, &c. &c. On sale at the Times Bookstore, Peterborough.

After the Offender.

A complaint was lodged with Chief Roszel yesterday (that night) which has been turned into the creek, which on investigation proved to be the case. As this is a matter that comes under the Health Act, the penalty is very severe. The Chief is pretty well convinced as to the identity of the guilty parties and efforts will be made to bring them to justice.

The First of the Pest.

The caterpillar has made its exit from the ringle. Yesterday Mr. Sam McOada brought to the Times office a twig, cut from an apple tree in Alderman Coker's orchard in the south ward, a twig on which were several ringlets, from which were emerging hundreds of tiny caterpillars. It looks as if the pest was to be very bad this year.

Death of Winifred Blewett.

The death occurred in Smith on Sunday of Miss Winifred Blewett, a young lady who was widely known in Peterborough, she having at one time been a nurse in the Hospital. The illness, which resulted in her death was of several months duration. Miss Blewett was a young woman of many sterling qualities and her demise will be regretted by a host of acquaintances.

Oie Olson, the best of all musical comedies at the Opera House to-night.

Deaths in Ontario.

The increase of deaths from consumption in this Province continues. In the monthly report of the Provincial Board of Health for March, issued by Dr. Bryce yesterday, the deaths from consumption numbered 235, as against 215 for February, which was the previous record for any month in Ontario. Deaths from all causes numbered 2361, as against 2548 in February. This is a much higher death rate compared with the previous year, but that is accounted for by the fact that before last January only deaths caused by contagious diseases were noted in the reports. Deaths from contagious diseases in March were: Scarlatina 36, diphtheria 25, measles 2, whooping cough 9, typhoid 17.

Licence Revenue Act.

The new licence revenue act of the Ontario Legislature is now in a new objection. The act provides that the tavern-holders shall pay that part of the licence fee which goes to the Province in half-yearly instalments. Though the licence fees are divided between Province and municipality still all fees are received by representatives of the Province, and are paid by them to the municipality. The tavernkeepers maintain that the half-yearly instalments referred to only to that portion which the Province would ultimately keep. Mr. Totten, of the Licence Department, Toronto, has sent out a circular instructing them that the clause has reference to the total licence fees which the Province on the first occasion receives.

When to Use Phosphates.

The tendency of phosphate to revert to insoluble forms when brought in contact with dry earth makes it necessary to use it only in places and at times when plenty of rain will supply the moisture to keep its plant food in condition for use. Hence phosphate is much more effective used on fall-grown grain or on the crops planted very early in the spring. If a long spell of dry weather follows its application the phosphate will revert to the rollers leaving no benefit. But in soils which contain any organic matter the water they contain must have an excess of carbonic acid gas, which is derived from the decay of plants. It is this carbonic acid gas in spring waters that makes them bubble up as they come out of the earth and adds greatly to their palatability. In their passage through the soil the waters have come in contact with much carbonic acid gas, and have necessarily absorbed a part of it. But on limestone soils this spring water has already absorbed as much lime as it can hold, consequently it is less valuable to use phosphate of lime soluble than is ordinary rain water which has absorbed its carbonic acid gas directly from the atmosphere only.

The best effects of superphosphate of lime are to be found on land that is low, moist and full of vegetable mould. This usually means a little lime, and what carbonic acid gas its water contains is free from that mineral. This is very important. The value of superphosphate consists very largely in its excess of phosphate over the lime it contains. So soon as more lime is added, this excess combines with sulphuric acid, which must subside in all superphosphates. This makes it nearly impossible to use superphosphate on land containing lime. Hence the practice of some farmers in extending their high-priced superphosphate by adding to it of gypsum of land plaster is a great mistake. At its best, the superphosphate contains all and more of this gypsum than the soil requires. To add more only puts the whole of the phosphate in a condition where it can be dissolved when brought into contact with carbonic acid gas, or some other equally powerful solvent.

Both potash and salt are excellent for top-dressing land on which phosphate has been drilled with the grain crop. It is not best to try to mix these and drill them together. The superphosphate is moist soil will help the phosphate to be dissolved when brought into contact with carbonic acid gas, or some other equally powerful solvent.

Sharp Shots With a Graphophone

The Graphophone is to the ear what the photographic camera is to the eye and more, for the graphophone catches instantly and preserves every tint and shade of sound. A most interesting use of a Graphophone is to make records of your friends' voices to be preserved for future use. You can catch the story of your jolly friend just as he told it, or the thoughtful song of some loved one, just as she sang it and have it reproduced perfectly at any time and in any place. Besides, the Graphophone affords wonderful entertainment in the way of reproducing the music of bands, orchestras or vocal or instrumental soloists. No amusement will return as much in pleasure as the purchase of a Graphophone. It is the perfect talking machine. Write for catalogue No. 30 to the COLUMBIA PHONOGRAPH COMPANY, No. 318 Main street, Buffalo, N.Y.

To Whom It May Concern: On and after Monday, April 25, 79, the book account of the firm of J. B. Oke & Co., will be at R. R. Philip & Co., 376 George street. In the absence of J. B. Oke, Messrs. E. Smith, Mr. Harry Bradshaw or Mr. R. R. Philip will give receipt for any money paid.

TURNER BROS., Agents, - 283, George St.

In case of a fire, no doubt would be discontinued. Some time or other, if people don't exercise more judgment some one is going to be hurt when the fire brigade is turning out. Last night the alarm had no sooner sounded than the whole population of the town seemed to have migrated to George street. The street was literally full of bicyclists whose sole object seemed to be to set a pace for the dashing horses without apparent thought of the great risk they were running. If people would only stop and think that by rushing out into the streets on such occasions they are not only hampering the firemen but inviting injury to themselves the practice

The GRAPHOPHONE

Most fascinating invention of the age. Always ready to entertain. It requires no skill to operate it and reproduces the music of bands, orchestras, vocalists or instrumentalists. There is nothing like it for an evening's entertainment. Other so-called talking machines reproduce only records of cut-and-dried subjects, specially prepared in a laboratory, but the Graphophone is not limited to such performances. On the Graphophone you can easily make and instantly reproduce records of the voice, or any sound that it constantly attracts new interest and its charm is ever fresh. The reproductions are clear and brilliant.

Graphophones are sold for $10 and up

COMMITTEES ORGANIZE.
The Public Accounts Committee organized this morning. Mr. Fraser (University) was elected chairman. Mr. Blair, who proposed Mr. Fraser, paid a tribute to Mr. James McMillen, who has acted as chairman of the committee for several years, and expressed regret that the condition of Mr. McMillen's health made it impossible for him again to accept the chairmanship.

THE COMMITTEES ON BANKING AND COMMERCE was also organized and Mr. Archibald Campbell, of Kent, chosen chairman. Mr. Lester, now a judge, was chairman last year.

Mr. Julius Striver was elected chairman of the Private Bills Committee. Mr. Thomas Bain chairman of the Committee on Agriculture, and Mr. Fortin chairman of the Committee on Privileges and Elections.

A bill respecting the Alberta Irrigation Company and to change its name to the Canadian Northwest Irrigation Company was adopted with some amendments. Clause three provided that the directors of the company be appointed by the Government.

A bill granting the Atlantic and Northwest Railway Company five years further time to complete its road was adopted. Judge Clarke appeared for the bill.

Major Nelson, of Guelph; Mr. Rollett, president of the Board of Trade; Col. McDonald; Mr. Macintosh of the Ministry of Guelph; Major Thompson of Guelph; Dan McGillicuddy and others, were there to-day and interviewed Mr. Tarte in regard to deepening the Guelph harbor to 20 feet and extending it to Guelph. The Minister of Public Works promised to give the matter full consideration.

OTTAWA'S SUNDAY CARS.
Jas. Sutherland, chief Liberal whip, was elected chairman of the Railway Committee. The first bill taken up was that authorizing the Ottawa Electric Railway to build an extension to Bell's Corners, and to run a Sunday car service. The bill was amended, on motion of Dr. Russell, confining the running of street cars to that part of the road within city limits, to which the Legislature of Ontario has already granted the privilege. What was done was merely to remove any disability in former acts, which prevented the Ottawa Company from carrying out the running of Sunday cars. The privilege of Sunday cars was asked by the people and granted by the Legislature. The bill as amended was adopted.

Rev. Mr. Pearson of Ottawa and Mr. O'Meara of Toronto, on behalf of the Lord's Day Alliance, opposed Sunday cars.

THE CHEMONG BRIDGE TO BE REBUILT.
The Master of the Cheyenne and successfully handled by Messrs. John Lang and J. B. McWilliams.

For sometime past Mr. John Lang the member for East Peterborough and Mr. J. B. McWilliams have been interesting themselves to secure a grant from the government for the rebuilding of the floating bridge at Chemong.

From information received yesterday they have no hesitation in stating that the estimates will show that they have succeeded in obtaining a most liberal grant.

The people of Chemong, Harvey and Galloway have every reason to be pleased with the result for their interests have been well looked after. The present bridge at Chemong was built 30 years ago. Messrs. Lang and McWilliams certainly merit the greatest praise for the successful manner in which they have handled the matter.

FILIPINOS ROUTED NEAR CALUMBIT
A VICTORY THAT ONLY COST THE AMERICANS SIX LIVES.
Indication Point to Another Big Battle as General MacArthur is Preparing to Advance from Manila.

Manila, April 25.—The movement of the American forces on Calumpit has begun. General Hale's brigade is moving down the river towards Calumpit.

Many insurgents were driven from in front of the line of march. Fifty of the enemy were killed while the Americans lost six killed and 15 wounded. It is reported that General MacArthur, with Wheaton's brigade, and an armored train is waiting at Malolos for the strategic moment for an advance on Calumpit. This advance Malolos is momentarily expected to begin. The town of Calumpit will be evacuated only the railway station being held. The natives are returning there in great numbers. All are professed non-combatants. The army garrisons, however, are unable to ascend the Calumpit, have returned to Manila.

GENERAL OTIS REPORTS.
Washington, April 25.—The following has been received at the War Department from General Otis—Manila, April 25.—Adjutant General, Washington—Hale's brigade, MacArthur's division, moved down eight bank Quinque river yesterday to vicinity Calumpit; now joined by Wheaton's brigade on left bank. Hale encountered fierce opposition, driving the enemy with heavy loss, taking his entrenchments in flank. Hale's casualties 6 killed, 13 wounded. The division has now invested Calumpit, which will be taken to-day. Lawton, with part of his command, reaches Norzagar this evening, where he will be joined by a centre column from Boraca. Extreme heat, rain, high wind, and bad roads, made march very difficult. He has not met opposition since leaving Norzagar, enemy retreating in his front. South of and near Manila, enemy has a force of 4000, making demonstrations daily. Can be easily taken care of. It cannot communicate with the North.

STONE LAKE COTTAGER'S ANNUAL SESSION.
Talk of Incorporating the Islands as a Village.
The annual meeting of the Stone Lake Cottagers Association was held Monday evening in the Curler's Parlor, at the Charlotte rink, with a large attendance.

The first order of business was the election of officers which resulted as follows:
President—J. W. McMillan.
First Vice-President—C. J. Blomfield.
Second Vice-President—J. D. Collins.
Manager—Committee—Levi Payne, B. Shorty, D. W. Dumble.

Regatta Committee—Capt. Buck, Dr. Race, John Nugent, K. G. Lech, J. Carter, Arthur Piper and E. B. Edwards.
Regatta Committee—D. W. Dumble (chairman), G. M. Roger, Sheriff Hall, T. W. Robinson.

Concert Committee—K. G. Lech, A. F. Hoover, D. W. Dumble, A. L. Davis, R. McWilliams and Prof. Broke.
Musical—D. W. Dumble, K. G. Lech and A. F. Hoover.

It was decided to hold the annual regatta on the Peterborough Civic Holiday and the committee received instructions to arrange for the necessary barges and flags for prizes.

A piano was introduced by Mr. D. W. Dumble, who stated that last year $20 was expended for renting one. He was strongly in favor of purchasing an instrument, as it would be cheaper in the long run.

The other members concurred with Mr. Dumble and a committee consisting of Messrs. R. G. Lech, D. W. Dumble and H. T. Hoover was appointed to purchase an instrument, the price of which is not to exceed $100. The musical committee will have control of the piano, with power to arrange for the sale or lease of it to Mr. T. W. Robinson.

Another important matter was the instructing of the Secretary to arrange for the regatta to begin running on Lakeside by June 15th and to arrange for the altering of the time table, so that travellers from the lake can reach Peterborough by 9.30 a.m. The Secretary will also communicate with the Postmaster-General, for the purpose of having the mail distributed from June 15th to Sept. 15th, the same as was done in 1897, by the department when the steamer was used.

It was moved by D. W. Dumble, seconded by A. F. Hoover, that the Ontario Government be requested to change the fishing regulations so as to prohibit the catching and sale of lunge and bass between March 1st and June 15th—Carried.

Copies of the regulation will be forwarded to Hon. J. M. Gibson, and the Ontario Commissioner of Fisheries. Considerable discussion was provided when the matter of increased assessment on the Islands by the Burleigh and Hammer Councils was introduced.

Mr. E. H. Hall suggested that the Islands on various points used as summer resorts on the main shore be incorporated as a village. A motion carried appointing Messrs. Shorty and Collins, Messrs. D. W. Dumble, E. H. Hall, E. B. Edwards and G. M. Roger, a committee to consider the matter.

A great deal of discussion developed out of the proposal to provide a more suitable landing for cases at the Burleigh Islands. The matter was left in an indefinite state pending the business of the committee appointed to arrange for the incorporation of the Islands.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS BY LAND AND SEA TAKEN FROM THE WIRE.
Chamberlain speaks on Prohibition Legislation—Votes From Various Reins.

London, April 25.—Mr. Chamberlain recently presented a resolution from the United Committee for the Prevention of the Demoralization of Native Races by the Liquor Traffic with reference to the meeting of the Powers at Brussels. Sir Mark Stewart, who introduced the resolution, complained that in West Africa prohibition of the sale of spirits was hardly known. Mr. Chamberlain, in reply, spoke strongly against the traffic. The evil in the British territory was not on the increase, although in the last year of the it had not sufficiently decreased and gave figures in proof of the statement. While he hoped for great things from the Brussels Conference he would not in any case be content to remain where we are. There was a large inland territory where liquor traffic had not been accepted, and where he thought they could take steps to prevent entirely their introduction.

Said Mr. Chamberlain: "The Governor of the Gold Coast is at home. I am expecting Colonel Northcote, in command of the Northern territories, here very shortly; and I propose, in consultation with these two gentlemen, to endeavor to arrange for a prohibitive zone in the Northern territories of the Gold Coast. Already Colonel Wilkes in command of the Niger, has issued a proclamation of absolute prohibition in the territories under his control. That applies to the hinterland of the Niger, and of course where the Niger territories come under my control, I do not intend to relax in any way the restrictions which Sir George Goldie has so well taken. I think it will be tolerably easy to prevent any traffic by railways beyond the border line. Of course the measures which I have taken will be accompanied by legislation in these colonies, for we must have very stringent legislation, punishing those who contravert the regulations which it will be necessary to enforce."

ATTACKED THE PRICE OF WALES.
London, April 25.—The three hundred anniversary of the birth of Oliver Cromwell has furnished the occasion for celebrations in various parts of the country. Dr. Joseph Parker, Minister of the City Temple, in a recent sermon on the subject, attacked the Prince of Wales as a "certain card-playing prince." After eulogizing Cromwell, Dr. Parker said: "When the Prince falls then let the country mourn. We look to princes for noble ideas and a high example. When I hear the Prince and Premier on a race course I don't like it."

These remarks were cheered by the audience, and Mr. Parker proceeded to make a rapid attack on the Sultan of Turkey, during which he said: "Emperor of Turkey may call him his friend, but in the name of God the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost, I say God damn the Sultan!"

NEW MARKET RACES.
London, April 25.—In the first day's racing of the Newmarket Spring Meeting, the favorite, Mr. G. M. Inglis' Fionn won an alleged selling plate. Tod 8 o'clock Mr. T. Corn's Shepherd 6 to 1, but was unplaced. Eleven horses ran.

The Hunting plate of 500 sovereigns was won by Mr. Douglas Baird's Magellan. Lord William Berkeford's Jolly Tar 2 to 1, ridden by 8 o'clock, finished third, 18th horse ran.

A maiden plate of 100 sovereigns was won by Noble Row's Cydrus 6 to 4. The property of Mr. H. W. Griffith, with 8 o'clock, was second in a field of nine horses.

COUCH IN TUNNEL.
London, April 25.—Mr. Pirie has obtained the first place on Tuesday, May 9, for a resolution calling attention to the question of a tunnel from Scotland to Ireland, which was brought before the President of the Board of Trade by a deputation two years ago. Mr. Pirie proposed to ask the House to agree to preliminary surveys, which ought to be taken by the Government for the purpose of ascertaining for the public information whether such a tunnel is practicable. It is estimated that the cost of a preliminary survey would be $50,000 or $75,000, and Mr. Pirie and other members who sympathize with him, maintain that the benefits which the tunnel would confer on the United Kingdom, and especially on Scotland and Ireland, would more than justify such expenditure.

A DISASTROUS EXPLOSION.
Philadelphia, April 25.—By an explosion of benzine in Fiebers chemical works to-day, two men were killed, two others were unaccounted for and one woman was fatally injured. A score of persons were more or less seriously injured.

So far as could be learned there were six men in the chemical works when the catastrophe occurred. Adjoining Fiebers' establishment was a grocery store owned by Arthur Duncheon. Two boarders were said to have been asleep in the upper part of the house and they have not been accounted for. Mrs. Duncheon, the grocery store, was so badly injured that her death was momentary expected. On the opposite side of the street was the dwelling of Mrs. Giverson. The burning benzine ignited the clothing of Mrs. Giverson and that of her child. With the infant in her arms she ran screaming into the street enveloped in flames.

THE GREAT QUESTION

Of Municipal Franchises as Treated by B. B. Osler.

COMPANIES ARE PREFERRED

Because City Government Lacks "Good Business Management."

A Method Suggested That Recommends Itself to All Municipalities Interested in Its Success.

The April number of the Canada Law Journal contains the following article, as a suggestion on Municipal Franchises, from the pen of Canada's celebrated criminal lawyer, Mr. B. B. Osler, which will be read with a great deal of interest.

An important question of the day, with reference to municipal government in large centres of population, relates to the manner of dealing with the public service which modern city life requires. Ought the municipalities themselves to undertake the supply of water and light, should they equip and manage the telephone and street railway service, or should public companies acquire franchises from the municipal authority and farm these necessary services at more or less profit to themselves?

Should not all the public services requiring the use of the highways be provided by the community owning the ways to the frontage?

The answer is in the negative because experience shows that city government is weak in executive force, and lacks that element of success which may be assumed up in words, "good business management." I exclude any suggestion of purposeful evil. The system of popular vote cannot be done away with, and at present it does not produce the best men. Now and for many years to come, the "popular man" and the "large climber" are and will be the precipitate, and common gratitude requires that the value of the vote should be recognized when labour and contract questions have to be considered. And so it comes about that the control and use of the streets has largely passed into the hands of franchise companies, who supply the good business judgment required in return for the profits which are diverted from the city treasury.

The question has become one of much greater importance since the impetus given to street railway travel by the introduction of the trolley system. The service of water and light, moderate in their demands on the highway, and in most instances not unreasonable in the profits received, might well remain in the hands of companies controlled by well thought out by-laws or ordinances. But the enormous profits made by some of the surface roads, especially as capitalization has been largely based on the value of the franchise, in some instances franchise value being in the proportion of three to one of the actual capital expended.

How can the public get the sound business judgment necessary for the successful working of all the street service without the payment of undue profits to franchise corporations?

I suggest the following method as one well worth trying: Let it be possible under the general law to incorporate in every large centre of population by a local by-law, a franchise company, whose capital, fixed at the amount required for the acquisition of all or any of the existing works, or the establishment of new concerns should be raised as to one-half by the sale of bonds guaranteed as to the other half by the issue and sale of shares of capital stock, and let it be impossible under the laws relating to such companies to increase the bond and stock issue from time to time as extensions may demand.

The company should be governed by, say, nine directors, six to be elected by the shareholders, and three to be named or elected by the municipality. The auditor should be appointed by the municipality, and his decisions as to shoddy fund and profits should be subject to appeal to a local judicial officer.

The profits should be disposed of as follows:

1. In payment of expenses, as to which all salaries and directors' fees might be fixed by the charter.

2. In maintaining capital account by proper sinking funds, etc.

3. In payment of bond coupons.

4. In payment of a dividend, say, at the rate of five per cent. to shareholders.

5. In payment to the municipality.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

The Falling Leaves Give Warning of Winter

So the falling of the hair tells of the approach of age and declining power. No matter how barren the tree nor how leafless it may seem, you confidently expect leaves again. And why? Because there is life at the roots.

So you need not worry about the falling of your hair, the threatened departure of youth and beauty. And why? Because if there is a spark of life remaining in the roots of the hair will arouse it into healthy activity. The hair ceases to come out; it begins to grow; and the glory of your youth is restored to you.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

We have a book on the Hair and its Diseases. It is free.

The Great Question.

Do you not desire all the benefits you can get from the use of the Vigor? Then the doctor shows it. It is the only remedy which may be used with safety.

Dr. J. C. Ayer, Lowell, Mass.

THE GREAT QUESTION.

of a sum equal to, say, three per cent. on the capital stock.

6. In payment to the shareholders of a further dividend, if earned, of one or two per cent.

7. In payment of the residue, if any, to the municipality.

There should be a right to the municipality to cancel the charter and take possession of the franchise property and form a new company.

(a) On default in payment of interest on the bonds.

(b) Upon a resolution passed by a two-thirds vote by the municipal council that the franchise are not properly managed, and that only on repayment to the shareholders of their capital with a bonus of six months' dividend.

I need not further elaborate details. Many will occur to experts, and varying conditions will arise, making a hard and fast formula impossible.

The bond issue guaranteed by the municipality gives half the capital at the lowest possible rate. The total net earnings of the franchise company on the bond and share capital are at the rate of eight per cent. and the bonds are issued at par to pay three and one-half per cent. This would give twelve and one-half per cent. on the share capital, paying the shareholders the suggested five per cent. and the municipality three per cent. and there would remain for dividend to shareholders two per cent., and a dividend on profits for the municipality of two and one-half per cent.

The franchise company and the municipality are partners; conflicts cease, unless extensions are not required; the company can start with one franchise acquired, and can increase the capital as required for further acquisitions as they fall in or are capable of being dealt with.

The key, or special feature, is the suggested method of dividing the profits. The first dividend to the shareholders should be enough to enable the stock to be rapidly placed at par. The incentive to high class business management and economy rests in the prospect of the second or deferred dividend, which cannot be paid until the municipality has received some return for the use of their streets.

The residuary profits go to the city treasury, as a further payment for the franchise.

The control of the audit by a city officer, subject to judicial review, is a necessary feature, for profits to be divided depend on a correct provision being made by making funds for keeping capital intact.

Growing cities would reap special advantage by adopting the proposed plan; surface railway receipts in a city of 50,000 will be in the neighborhood of $2,500 per capita; let the city grow to 200,000 and each inhabitant pays in about $5.00 to the street railway's profits; the city has grown four times, the receipts of the railway eight times. The income of the surface road in the matter is very small, in the larger it is but a small dividend on millions over capital expenditure.

Of course the great difficulty is the fact that nearly all the franchises are now outstanding in the hands of corporations holding some for long terms of years, some indefinitely, but if the deferred dividend plan now suggested is of value, it may be that the time will come for some cities when the legitimate profits from their franchises will be the source from which relief may be expected from the great burden of taxation now existing, in other words the large money now paid by the inhabitants in the shape of dividends to franchise companies, and which arise in great part from the use of the public property, will go in case of the general city rate.

MOB LAW IN CALIFORNIA.

VIOLENCE IN THE EARLY DAYS OF SAN FRANCISCO.

The Vigilance Committee That Became Famous for Its Many Successful Druggs.

It was in 1850, in San Francisco, and law was chaos, mob law was supreme. The judges were finally given warning that unless they enforced the laws they would be summarily dealt with—this is, they would be taken out and hanged to the nearest tree. It was a stirring time.

The vigilance committee of San Francisco in this year was famous for its vigorous deeds, but after its successful campaign was over the morals of San Francisco increased amazingly. It was almost a paradise on earth. The judges, the lawyers, the politicians and others of this law gave the place wide renown. They knew that if they were caught they would be hanged. Andrew J. Kellogg, of Detroit, lived to tell the tale.

The California of 1850 was a terrible place. It began at San Francisco with its pipe. You see, it was like this. The men who rushed to the gold fields in the early days never expected to remain in the Western country. Their purpose was to make their pile and get out. They came to California, scorning the gold, and paid no attention to law and order. It was a paradise for gamblers, thieves and cut-throats. The worst element, it seems, came to Fresno, where they were soon in possession of the city government and owned millions and millions of dollars worth of improvements that were never made. But the contractors were let, in order to give business a chance. Vice flourished like a green bay tree. It was a lawless, violent land, where life wasn't worth a pinch of snuff.

"The first few weeks I was there, things like this happened. The United States Marshal was shot in cold blood, by a gambler, the gambler's paramour put up 10,000 to defend him, and the lawyer was pronounced $10,000 more if he got his prisoner off."

"He had had one trial, but the jury disagreed, and in the meantime we took him out and hung him."

"This was the state of California justice."

"Why men convicted of murder, arson and other four crimes would be hanged up before the judge, who after listening to the damning testimony, would say:

"The sentence of this court is that you pay $5 fine."

"On other occasions, when a murderer was brought into court, a judge would say: 'There is no need of hearing the witnesses in this case. The prisoner is discharged.'

"And the ballot box stuffing. We sent one of the leaders to the San Francisco Jail after the time was all over, and had it labeled: 'This is a specimen of California ballot box stuffing.'"

"There is a trick the ballot box stuffers used to employ to keep the gang in office. You know, in those days tailors and carpenters used to have a small pot filled with charcoal, used to heat flatirons. I noticed that in every election booth in certain precincts there was always one of these little heaters. The ballot boxes were supposed to be of such pine rooms, pine boxes, with the heading around the edge. The top was of such stuff all right enough, but the bottom was hollow of eight-inch stuff. In this false bottom was placed enough votes to win the day for the gang's candidate. When the polls were closed the little fire-pot was brought into use and the unfavorable votes destroyed. The ballot stuffers said that they had the fire there because the room was so cold."

"It was such acts of lawlessness as these that led to the formation of the famous California committee of vigilance. It consisted of over 6,000 of the most highly respected people in the community, whose sentiments of justice had been outraged by the long-continued acts of lawlessness and crime permitted by the regular judges."

"The first intimation I had of the formation of the committee was when a friend said to me one morning: 'Wait to see some fun!'

"Yes."

"An arriving I was surprised to find a double row of men drawn around the whole square. An arrest was about to be made on the jail by outraged citizens. They were calling on the jailer to give them to open the doors in the prison gates before the storm broke I could hear the jailer say: 'Open the doors!'

"There was a deathlike silence. 'Open the doors' the ringleader cried again, or we will batter them down."

"With that he raised his handkerchief as a signal. 'When this handkerchief falls, he added in a voice like thunder, 'I'll give orders to fire the cannons. She's loaded with solid shot!'

"There was a cannon before the door. 'The men with a blazing torch stood near by. 'You should have seen the hand slowly fall. It was a most thrilling sight. Slowly the hand fluttered, and at the very last moment the jail doors were flung open and the prisoners started to drag out the prisoners."

"At first the jailer refused to give some of them up."

"The two that we took out of the jail were given a fair trial before the committee of 33, the executive committee, which heard all the evidence as given. It required a unanimous vote on their part to hang a man as well as a two-thirds majority of the committee of delegates, numbering 250 members."

"That night San Francisco was on a fever of excitement. What would happen next? Where would the ringleader of the populace be shown to-morrow? 'Everyone stayed indoors that night as far as possible.'

"A few days later the judges were warned. They were told to try cases properly or suffer the penalty—by giving up their lives."

"Twenty irresponsible members of the community, ringleaders in ballot box stuffing and murder, were taken to the wharf, put on outgoing steamers and told never to come back again, on pain of immediate death."

Children are sometimes told, when they are bad, that ghosts and other dreadful things will get them. Grown-up people know better, but it would be a good thing if women could be made to understand that terrible results will follow neglect of any ailment that comes under the general head of

"female troubles." A pain in the side, or back, a disagreeable drain, a bearing-down sensation, headache, nervousness, weakness in the distinctly feminine organs, bad complexion and loss of flesh are forerunners of final collapse. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a specific for weak women. It cures. Is a great majority of cases the patient can treat herself at home, and obnoxious local examinations can be avoided. In a few bad cases it is wise for the sufferer to write to Dr. R. V. Pierce himself at Buffalo, N. Y., and he will give advice. It is perfectly harmless and is consumed daily by great numbers of women throughout the world, and his advice is founded on science and experience. All correspondence is treated by him as strictly confidential. His "Favorite Prescription" is non-alcoholic, and does not create a craving for strong drink. It contains no opium or other narcotic. It is perfectly harmless in any condition of the system. No medicine is equal to it in any respect for diseases of women. Therefore, accept no substitute for this world-famed remedy, though it be urged upon you as being "just as good."

Mrs. Mary E. Jones, of 35 Madison Avenue, Portland, Me., writes: "I was troubled with female weakness and after taking three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription I am free from pain. I had suffered for two years when I began taking your medicine. I could not walk across my room without suffering dreadful pains. Now I do all my housework and walk where I please."

Constipation and biliousness are radically cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They don't gripe; they never fail.

How to Stop It.

"There is a cat sits every night on our back fence," explained a resident of the North end to a times man yesterday, "and he yowls and yowls and yowls. Now, I don't want to get into any trouble with my neighbors, but I would like to know if I am not justified in putting a stop to it."

"Certainly," replied our reporter, "I am well within my rights if I shoot the cat then!" he inquired gleefully.

"Oh, well, I would hardly say that I am a newspaper man. 'The cat does not belong to you, as I think the demand it.'"

"No."

"And the fence door?"

"Yes."

"Well, then, I think I may safely say that you have a perfect right to tear down the fence."

"And the North-Enders left our office, banging the door after him as he departed."

THE GREAT QUESTION

Of Municipal Franchises as Treated by B. B. Osler.

COMPANIES ARE PREFERRED

Because City Government Lacks "Good Business Management."

A Method suggested That Recommends Itself to All Municipalities Interested in Its Success.

The April number of the Canada Law Journal contains the following article, as a suggestion on Municipal Franchises, from the pen of Canada's celebrated criminal lawyer, Mr. B. B. Osler, which will be read with a great deal of interest.

An important question of the day, with reference to municipal government, relates to the manner of dealing with the public service which modern city life requires. Ought the municipalities themselves to undertake the supply of water and light, should they equip and manage the telephone and street railway service; or should public companies acquire franchises from the municipal authority and farm these necessary services at more or less profit to themselves?

Should not all the public services requiring the use of the highways be provided by the community owning the ways to the frontages?

The answer is in the negative because experience shows that city government is weak in executive force, and lacks that element of success which may be summed up in words, "good business management." I exclude any suggestion of purposeful evil. The system of popular vote cannot be done away with, and at present it does not produce the best men. Now and for many years to come, the "popular man" and the "lodge climber" are and will be the precipitate, and common gratitude requires that the value of the vote should be recognized when labour and contract questions have to be considered. And so it comes about that the control and use of the streets has largely passed into the hands of franchise companies, who supply the good business judgment required in return for the profits which are thus diverted from the city treasury.

The question has become one of much greater importance since the impetus given to street railway travel by the introduction of the trolley system. The service of water and light, moderate in their demands on the highway, and in most instances not unreasonable in the profits received, might well remain in the hands of companies controlled by well thought out by-laws or ordinances. But the enormous profits made by some of the surface roads has attracted attention to the subject, especially as capitalization has been largely based on the value of the franchise; and some instances franchise value being in the proportion of three to one of the actual capital expended.

How can the public get the sound business judgment necessary for the successful working of all the street service without the payment of undue profits to franchise corporations?

I suggest the following method as one well worth trying: Let it be possible under the general law to incorporate in every large centre of population by a local by-law, a franchise company, whose capital, fixed at the amount required for the acquisition of all or any of the existing works, or the establishment of new concerns should be raised as to one-half by the sale of bonds guaranteed as to the other half by the issue and sale of shares of capital stock, and let it be impossible under the laws relating to such companies to increase the bond and stock issue from time to time as extensions may demand. The company should be governed by, say, nine directors, six to be elected by the shareholders, and three to be named or elected by the municipality.

The auditor should be appointed by the municipality, and his decisions as to sinking fund and profits should be subject to appeal to a local judicial officer.

The profits should be disposed of as follows:

1. In payment of expenses; as to which all salaries and directors' fees might be fixed by the charter.

2. In maintaining capital account by proper sinking funds, etc.

3. In payment of a dividend, say, at the rate of five per cent. to shareholders.

4. In payment to the municipality of a sum equal to, say, three per cent. on the capital stock.

5. In payment to the shareholders of a further dividend, if earned, of one or two per cent.

6. In payment of the residue if any, to the municipality.

There should be a right to the municipality to cancel the charter and take possession of the franchise properties and form a new company:

(a) On default in payment of interest on the bonds.

(b) Upon a resolution passed on a two-thirds vote by the municipal council that the franchise are not properly managed, and then only on repayment to the shareholders of their capital with a bonus of six months' dividend.

I need not further elaborate details. Many will occur to experts, and varying conditions will arise making a hard and fast formula impossible.

The bond issue guaranteed by the municipality gives half the capital at the lowest possible rate. Say the total net earnings of the franchise company on the bond and share capital are at the rate of eight per cent. and the bonds are issued at par to pay three and one-half per cent. This would give twelve and one-half per cent. on the share capital, paying the shareholders ten suggested five per cent., and there would remain for deferred dividend to shareholders two per cent., and a residue of profit for the municipality of two and one-half per cent.

The franchise company and the municipalities are partners; conflicts arise, unless extensions are not required, the company can start with one franchise acquired, and can increase the capital as required for further acquisitions as they fall in or are capable of being dealt with.

The key, or special feature, is the suggested method of dividing the profits. The first dividend to the shareholders should be enough to enable the stock to be readily placed at par. The incentive to high class business management and economy results in the second, or deferred dividend, which cannot be paid until the municipality has received some return for the use of their streets.

The residuary profits go to the treasury to fund a further payment for the franchise.

The control of the audit by a city officer, subject to judicial review, is a necessary feature, for profits to be divided depend on a correct provision being made for sinking funds for keeping capital intact.

Growing cities would reap special advantage by adopting the proposed plan; surface railway receipts in a year of 50,000 will in the next year grow to 200,000 and each inhabitant pays in about $5.00 to the street railway's profit; the city has grown four, the receipts of the railway eight times. The franchise of the surface road, in the smaller city is worth very little, in the larger it will pay dividends on millions over capital expenditure.

Of course the great difficulty is the fact that nearly all the franchises are now outstanding in the hands of corporations holding some for long terms of years, some indefinitely; but if the deferred dividend plan is suggested in its value, it may be that the time will come for some cities when the legitimate profits from their franchises will be the source from which relief may be expected from the great burden of taxation now existing, in other words the large moneys now paid by the inhabitants in the shape of dividends to franchise companies, and which arise in great part from the use of the public property, will go in case of the general city rate.

MOB LAW IN CALIFORNIA.

VIOLENCE IN THE EARLY DAYS OF SAN FRANCISCO.

The Vigilance Committee That Became Famous for Its Many Desperate Deeds.

It was in 1850, in San Francisco, and law was chaos; mob law was supreme. The Judges were finally given warning that unless they enforced the laws they would be summarily dealt with—that is, they would be taken out and hanged to the nearest tree. It was a stirring time.

The vigilance committee of San Francisco in this year was famous for its desperate deeds, but after its self-assumed reign was over the morals of San Francisco increased amazingly. It was almost a paradise on earth. Franking, ruffianism, assassinations and others of this ilk gave the place wide room. They knew that if they were caught they would be hanged. Andrew J. Kellogg, of Detroit, lived to tell the tale.

"The California of 1850 was a terrible place," began Mr. Kellogg at each with his pipe. You see, it was like this. "At first the jailer refused to give some of them up."

"The two that we took out of the jail were given a fair trial before the committee of 33, the executive committee, which heard all the evidence as given. It required a unanimous vote on their part to hang a man as well as a two-thirds majority of the committee of delegates, numbering 250 members."

"That night San Francisco was on a fever of excitement. What would happen next? Where would the revenge of the populace be shown to morrow as far as possible?"

"A few days later the Judges were warned. They were told to try cases properly or suffer the penalty by giving up their lives."

"Twenty irresponsible members of the community, ringleaders in ballot box stuffing and murder, were taken to the wharf, put on outgoing steamers and told never to come back again on pain of immediate death."

—Walter Galt, of Ashburnham, an employee of Chute's Brewery was yesterday taken to Nicholls Hospital suffering from pneumonia of the lungs.

—The parks are at present receiving a great deal of attention considerable improvements being made that will materially add to their appearance when perfected.

—A complaint was made yesterday to the Times that a man on a wheel yesterday evening ran into and knocked a child down on the sidewalk, in the north end of Water street.

—There is a broken plank in the sidewalk in rear of the George street church that should be attended to before an accident occurs, and a suit for damages is brought against the corporation.

—The river has nearly reached its highest water mark, showing that the ice and snow of the back country has almost disappeared, and the little streams and creeks are flush with the flow from drowned lands.

—A meeting of the license commissioners for West Peterborough will be held this morning to consider the license for town. Those for the Midland House, Lakeland, McFarlane's and Young's Point will also be considered.

—The steamer North King will make the first trip of the season from Kingston and Belleville to Charlotte on April 30th, 1899, leaving Kingston at 5 p.m. She will after that date make daily trips between Cobourg, Port Hope and Charlotte.

—There is a boy of 14 years residing in Campbellford who is as handy with a needle as the greatest number of girls of that age. A few weeks ago he made a log cabin quilt, cutting all the pieces himself and putting them together with excellent taste. He also shows a cleverness at knitting stockings and doing crochet work.

An object that appealed for sympathy was a legless man who last night was seated on the curbstone on George street, reaching out a hand for charity to all passersby. A few small pieces of money were dropped into the soiled cap and the poor unfortunate expressed sincere gratitude.

—It is like money moved to be guided in your purchases by an advertisement in the newspaper. There are many business enterprises in this paper which our subscribers should read. It is an undoubted fact that the most progressive, up to date businessmen of this age are those who advertise, and they are the men who are out on prices.

—Messrs. Thos. W. Horn, president of the Lumber Prim Co., Wm. McKenzie, president of the Toronto Street railway Co., and other Toronto magnates have organized a new company with a capital of $400,000 to take over the business of the present Prim Co. Mr. F. W. Barrett, chairman of the Barleigh Falls-Lindsay-Peterboro Electric Syndicate, is a member of the company.

—Chief Constable James, of Bowmanville, has warned the police of this district to keep on the lookout for three rangers, who broke in a house in that town on Sunday night and stole a quantity of jewelry and other articles. Our council should leave 30 or 40 cords of stone unbroken, and instruct the police to arrest every tramp entering the town. A night in the cells and half a cord of stone to crack would effectually discourage the visits of these gentry.

THE STOCK YARDS.

A Strong Place for Stock Yards in Peterborough.

Mr. D. Hurley, a substantial farmer of Aspholli, and a brother of our esteemed townsmen, Mr. T. Hurley, called on the Times yesterday.

In conversation Mr. Hurley, who is a man of intelligence and perceptiveness, stated that the establishment of stock yards in Peterborough would be a big thing for the town as well as a great convenience to the people in the country. He says that few people realize the advantage that would accrue from such an institution. This council should do everything possible to encourage Mr. Kennedy to locate in Peterborough.

Mr. Hurley is simply stating what the Times has all along contended with reference to this matter. We hope Mr. Kennedy will be able to find a location for the yards, so that this difficulty will be overcome.

The Council will then, we are sure, will deal liberally with him. The town cannot afford to let this matter drop.

Snap Shots With a Graphophone.

The Graphophone is to the ear what the photograph camera is to the eye and more, for the graphophone catches instantly and preserves every tint and shade of sound. A most interesting use of a Graphophone is to make records of your friends voices to be preserved for future use. You can catch the story of your jolly friend just as he told it, or the favorite song of some loved one, just as she sang it and have it reproduced perfectly at any time and as often as you please. Besides the Graphophone affords wonderful entertainment in the way of reproducing the music of bands, orchestras or vocal or instrumental soloists. No investment will return so much in pleasure as the purchase of a Graphophone. It is the perfect talking machine. Called With a Star.

There was a lively time in Magistrate Flint's office in Belleville on Monday. A lawyer and a county constable engaged in a rather warm argument, when the guard of the peace declared the barrister to be a liar. Before the constable realized what had happened, one of his eyes was closed, and his nasal organ was badly smashed. The lawyer was dancing around him, dropping in the blows and in the pauses sarcastically inquiring, "Call me a liar, will you?" In the meantime the Magistrate was loudly crying "Peace! Peace!" when there was no peace, and threatening the combatants with the rigour of the law. It was not until the constable was soundly thrashed that the insulted lawyer desisted and as he shouldered his blue bag and muttered on street he was heard to mutter, "Call me a liar, will he?"

Y.M.C.A. ATHLETES CLOSE THEIR CLASSES

BEFORE A LARGE AND DEEPLY INTERESTED AUDIENCE.

Mr. Sanford Hall carried off the Gold Medal for General Practitioner—Physical Instructor MacLeod generally congratulated.

The advantages to be derived from a physical training, as gained in the gymnasium in connection with the Y.M.C.A., was apparent to, and immensely appreciated by, a large gathering last night when a programme of athletic feats that marked the closing exercises at the Y.M.C.A. took place. The visiting portion of the gymnasium was filled to its utmost, a great many having to be content with standing room, and they were thankful for that, when once they had made their debut. Varied, unique, and in intricate were the exercises. Interest kept pace with time and every feature, was successfully rendered, reflecting the great praise upon Mr. MacLeod, who in former occasions proven his ability as an instructor. Repeatedly, many spectators, were the participants and even where natural development suggested unusual weight, it was only a mask, which when torn off revealed alacrity.

Every 10 minutes showed the result of careful, systematic training for successful results. The programme of every number. The gymnasium has now become to be regarded as an academy to existence. They are found in a miniature way in all of the up to date homes, and it was only natural then that the ladies should be interested in what was to transpire at the Y.M.C.A., last night. They were there in numbers and they were enthusiastic over what they saw. Mothers and fathers watched with pride what a son and brother did, and proudly thanked themselves, that their sons were in a place as the Y.M.C.A., where young men are trained, both physically and spiritually.

The programme occupied about two hours. It consisted of racket exercises, club swinging, a basketball contest, bicycling and other specialties in the way of her work. The latter feature was greatly appreciated, some very difficult feats being performed. Physical Instructor MacLeod, demonstrated some defensive tactics that are well worth noting. Solos with piano accompaniment were rendered by Mrs. Turner and Dawson, while an unknown displayed equestrian talent that sent the audience into convulsions. He was recalled and recalled and would have been at it still had the wishes of the audience been complied with.

During the evening Mr. Sanford Hall, son of Sheriff Hall was presented with a handsome gold medal, awarded for general proficiency in athletic work. The presentation was made by Mr. J. McCallum, who congratulated Mr. Hall, on his success, in appropriate terms. The medal was presented by Messrs. A. H. Stratton, W. G. Lark, and Mr. Davidson.

The exercises were in every respect successful and enjoyable, and there are many among the young men, who will await with expectancy the return of the indoor season.

Daily numerous disciples of Ismael Walton are seen wading their way towards the river. While there is good fishing almost anywhere along the river favorite spots are said to exist near the locks.

A REFRESHING STYLER.
The art of quotation requires delicacy in practice. An already famous firm has originated and developed into very promising advertising a mass of old, quaint proverbs. We refer to Messrs. O. I. Hood & Co., of Sarsaparilla fame, who are using not only our columns, but those of thousands of our contemporaries, in adapting wise saws to their service by clever and practical turns. It is refreshing to see something new and bright in this line. Clean cut argument is better than big display type.

TO CURE TOOTHACHE IN 2 MINUTES.
See NEVILL. One application cures; if not, one penny back. Really good for Rheumatism and Headache. No. 2, all Druggists.

"To Do Ill Costs More Than to Do Well."

This "wise saw" might properly read, "It costs more to BE ill than to BE well." The source of all health is rich, strong blood. It is to the body what the mighty streams are to the earth. If the blood is pure, the body thrives; if the blood is weak or impoverished, then every pulse-beat carries weakness instead of strength.

Why make the cost of living more than it need be? Purify your blood and give your constitution a chance to do its level best. The only perfect blood purifier and vigor-maker in existence is the world-famed Hood's Sarsaparilla. It brings good, perfect health. It never disappoints.

Erysipelas Cured.—"After scarlet fever a running sore was left on my nose. Took Hood's Sarsaparilla and it cured me. My brother was also relieved by it of erysipelas in his face." ELLA COCHRAN, Burden, N. B.

Bowel Trouble.—"My mother, Mrs. John Ried, suffered with bowel trouble for four years and tried different doctors, but obtained no relief until she began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Three bottles of this medicine entirely cured her." LIZZIE RIED, Tracy Station, N. B.

A Good Medicine.—"We have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla in our family as a spring medicine and used Hood's Pills for biliousness and found both medicines very effective. For impure blood we know Hood's Sarsaparilla is a good medicine." R. S. FULTON, Publisher Box, Atwood, Ont.

Loss of Appetite.—"I was in poor health, troubled with dizziness, tired feeling and loss of appetite. I was completely run down. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and after awhile I felt much better. Hood's Sarsaparilla built me up." LIZZIE A. RUSSIA, Old Chelsea, near Ottawa, Que.

Dyspepsia.—"For twelve years I was dyspeptic and broken in health. I had terrible pains in my back and was unable to work. When I had taken three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla I recovered my health. I always recommend it." J. B. MAPSON, 208 1/2 Street, Ottawa, N. Y.

It is said one has to go from home to get the news. This is forcibly illustrated by the following, which appears in the last issue of the Odessa Standard: "The Peterborough and Linthorpe power scheme is to be completed by Oct. 1. The machinery is to be supplied by Wm. Kennedy & Co., of Owen Sound, well known in connection with the Odessa scheme. Only 1,350 horse power will be generated at first."

SATURDAY'S DOUBLE TRAGEDY.

John Webber, Religiously Insane, Shoots His Wife and Blows Out His Own Brains.

"Don't Shoot Me, John," the Poor Woman Screamed, but the Deadly Pistol Cracked Joining the Echo of Her Last Words.

The Scene Horrifying in Every Detail—A Son a Block away heard the Fatal Shots, and Returning found his Mother Dead in the Yard—The Woman Twice Shot, in the Cheek and Mouth—The Crime Evidently Premeditated—Strange remarks of Webber's Recalled—An Inquest Unnecessary—The Bodies Buried Yesterday afternoon.

A woman's piercing agonized shriek "don't shoot me John," four sharp successive pistol reports, and a double tragedy, murder and suicide, horrible in every detail, was perpetrated, while the man whose brightest on Saturday afternoon, instead of most quiet and picturesque localities of Peterborough. Apparently without a moment's warning John Webber, an old resident of Peterborough, and a well known character deliberately murdered his wife by shooting her twice and then putting the muzzle of the weapon to his right temple, joined her in eternity.

The scene of the terrible affair the home of the Webbers is a modest looking double house at the extreme limit of Water street east. Nature gave the locality many charms, the whirling Otumbe, which flows out at short distance to the rear making music, while, to the right are majestic pines, and to the left pretty hills.

When the shooting occurred Webber and his wife were the only occupants of the house. This was between 1:30 and 2 o'clock. The family were together at the dinner table, and when the report was over the boys proceeded to their work and later the girls departed, one of them going to gather May flowers.

What transpired after they left and up to the time of the actual shooting, if anything, is a mystery buried with the dead.

Mrs. McCormick an elderly lady who occupies the other half of the house was suddenly startled.

BY HEARING SCREAMS.
They emanated from the Webber house and she recognized the voice of that of Mrs. Webber.
"DON'T SHOOT ME, JOHN," she heard the frantic woman exclaim "you will be sorry if you do." But her very words, the least the poor woman was heard to utter were cut off short, the crack of the deadly pistol joining their last echo. Once, twice, thrice, the pistol cracked in rapid succession, and under a little open shed, in the full glory of the sun, lay

MRS. WEBBER, A CORPSE.
The awful deed of murder had been committed and was unwittingly named by a lad named Greer, whose home is close by and who says he SAW MRS. WEBBER FALL.

Near the shed where Mrs. Webber was slain is a pump platform from which it is supposed the fatal shots were fired. This being the case it is remarkable, that the actual murder was not witnessed as both parties must have been completely exposed to the view of all who passed the house.

The shots that killed MRS. WEBBER, were plainly heard by several of the neighbors, and also another, that was fired inside the house. People rushed into the streets, and others into the Webber yard to be horrified by seeing the murdered woman.

Having satisfied himself that his wife was really dead, Webber coolly entered the house, and placing the muzzle of the revolver to his right temple ended his own life. When found but a few minutes later he was stone dead, death in both cases.

HAVING BEEN INSTANTANEOUS.
Soon a crowd that congested the street and filled the yard had gathered. The shocking news was rapidly transmitted from one to another, last his mother went down town to make some purchases, and on her return

HIS FATHER UPBRAIDED HER for having been with those people again. He also stated that he was leading a good life himself and that she had to LEAD A DIFFERENT LIFE.

While the father was reprimanding her, she was planning the death of himself and his wife. It looks as if with maddest determination he executed those awful plans. At that very time he evidently was equipped with the weapon.

WHERE HE GOT THE REVOLVER.
At first appeared a mystery but a connection of the family told Coroner Bell, that on Sunday a week ago he was in Webber's work shop. On peering into a tool chest the first thing his eyes rested on was a revolver. Every chamber of the weapon was charged, and beside it was an ammunition box containing twenty-seven cartridges. The revolver was rusted from being in the dampness. Although he had seen the interior of the chest before, he did not remember ever having seen the revolver before. However he thought nothing about it and left it where it was.

That which had a strong bearing on the case is the fact that on several occasions sometime ago Webber was heard to make the statement that when he left this earth his wife would go with him.

The examination of the body of Mrs. Webber revealed a state of affairs that suggested an entirely different theory from that mentioned above. There were two bullet holes, one in the left cheek, and the other at the back of the neck. The bullet that penetrated the cheek, entered the mouth shattering the woman's false teeth. Around the outside of the wound was a circle about the size of a quarter, produced by powder. Then at the angle of the mouth where the other bullet entered was another powder mark, thus the theory that the weapon was HELD IN HER VERY FACE.

While examining the mouth Coroner Bell, discovered one of the bullets which was lodged part way down the throat. He extracted it and it is now in his possession. From the position of the wounds the Coroner is of the opinion that Webber came upon his wife, while she was at work under the little shed. Seizing her he thrust the weapon into her face and fired. The first shot passed through the cheek, and the following one must HAVE ENTERED HER MOUTH as she screamed. The final shot was the one considered to have caused death. In passing through the neck it came in contact with the spine, cord, and then passed on into the shoulder.

AN INQUEST UNNECESSARY.
Coroner Bell, considered that an inquest unnecessary and the County Crown Attorney was of a similar opinion.

At the home of the tragedy the family were only moving into the house.

John Webber was a carpenter by trade, and was honest and industrious. He was also frugal, and from his earnings had built himself a comfortable home, not from the spot where he cut short his own life and that of his wife. For many years he was employed at the town pumping station.

THE FUNERALS

took place on Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock and two fresh mounds, side by side in Little Lakes Cemetery indicate the last resting place of the victims. The attendance at the funeral was one of the largest ever seen in Peterborough, over seventy vehicles constituting the procession.

Two hearses of courses were necessary and as the mournful procession moved down George street one was on either with the procession proper following the one, containing the body of the murdered woman. The officiating clergyman, Reta. Shorey and Crossley. Never in the history of the town was such a shocking affair committed, and it will be a long time before it falls into oblivion.

WOULD NOT ALLOW SUNDAY PERFORMANCES

THE "PASSION PLAY" WAS NOT PLAYED AT THE OPERA.

The Minister's Object and the Management was Acquainted With the Law.

Ministerial interference prohibited the presentation of the "Passion Play" in the opera house on Sunday afternoon. The "benefit," as the proposed Sunday play was termed by the management was well advertised and the chances were that each exhibition would have been well patronized. Certain ministers as well as others who uphold the observance of the Sabbath in a way that is holy, the advertised Sunday affair was a matter for grave consideration. They thought the Chief of Police might be asked to see the performance and requested that the performance be not allowed. The Chief of Police was not allowed. The Town Solicitor and was advised that according to the Lord's day act of the Ontario Statutes, the show cannot legally take place. He communicated the result of the management who very wisely was guided by the information received.

Death of Miss Nichols.

A bright young life was brought to a close on Saturday evening, when the eldest daughter of Mrs. R. Nichols, Hunter street, died of a cerebral fever. The death of Miss Nichols, although not unexpected was a severe blow to the mother and family, and a wide circle of friends, with whom the young lady was most popular. She was a young woman of a loving, kindly disposition, and to know her was to love her. Her illness which was long and severe, was borne with Christian fortitude. The funeral will take place this afternoon.

Prizes for Bacon Eggs.

Mr. W. E. Roxburgh, Secretary of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society, has received a letter from the Matthews Packing Company of Peterborough, in which it is stated that the company will offer at the exhibition to be held here in October, next, special prizes to the amount of $10 for the best pen of five hogs, weighing from 160 to 200 lbs. each, suitable for the English bacon trade, first prize $7, second $3.

Local Opinion by Province.

The committee appointed by the Dominion Alliance to draft a resolution for presentation to Parliament calling for action as the result of the prohibition of the order paper early next week, and in which they look for the sympathetic consideration of the Government. It will ask the Government to bring in legislation for total prohibition and sale of intoxicants, providing, however, that the same shall only be operative in such provinces as see fit to confirm and accept the principle by popular vote. This would allow the Maritime Provinces to wipe out the traffic, while leaving Quebec free to do as it wants.

PARLIAMENTARY NOTES FROM OTTAWA

THE PACIFIC CABLE DISCUSSED IN THE SENATE.

The Project Considered With Reluctance in the Imperial House—It is Now or Never.
Ottawa, April 29.—The Government has received the information that the Imperial Administration have decided that the policy of the Dominion Government in respect of the Pacific cable is not in thorough accordance with their ideas. The idea of the Imperial Administration regarding the method of advancing the cable project seen, according to the telegram received, to be antagonistic to the Canadian Government's ideas, and it is supposed that the cable project will be much impeded thereby. It is believed that Canada will have some difficulty in making the cable project, as advanced by the British Government, commensurate with their plans.

DEBATED IN THE SENATE.

In the Senate Sir Mackenzie Bowell called the attention of the Government to the report of the action of the Imperial Government proposed to take in respect to the Pacific cable. He found a cable despatch stating that the British Government intended to guarantee to the fullest extent, as suggested by the committee of 1896, Sir Mackenzie did not know that that committee, of which he had been a member, had made any recommendation on that score. In addition, the paragraph stated that the Eastern Extension Company had called their agent home from Australia. It was evident from all that had transpired, he said, that Mr. Chamberlain was favorable to the construction of the cable on British soil alone. He did not know of the extraordinary influence which the Eastern Extension Company possessed would succeed in affecting this, but it did it would.

DELAY THE CONSTRUCTION.

of the cable for some years. He had been greatly struck at the apathy of the Australian colonies on this point. He said Sir John Pender and others, on behalf of the Eastern Extension Company, had made representations that they never had been wise, this was not so, as the report of the late Government showed that they had been heavily subsidized, and had a reserve of some millions, extracted from the pockets of those who used the line.

The importance to Canada was this, that while the old adage that trade follows the flag was true, it was valuable and necessary that there should be cable communication to extend this trade. The Imperial side of the question was also very grave. Why this change of position had taken place he could not say, but it was detrimental to Imperial interests. Whatever was of importance to Imperial interests was also important to Canada. He hoped the Government, after having taken the matter it had and providing for the House for a vote towards the construction of the cable, would take this matter into its serious consideration.

He had a great many extracts from newspapers to read, but he would content himself with one from the Bulletin of London, England, which pointed out that Canada's action was more aid to the Imperial service. A than the proposal of the Australian colonies to maintain a ship of war in connection with the Imperial navy, because it was impossible to move men or ships without cable communication. This view of the question had not been so strongly emphasized before.

BLOCKING THE PROJECT.

There was a very strong influence in the Colonial Office itself on this matter. When he had been appointed a commissioner, within three days of the Colonial Office being notified, old reports made years before were sent out from the Colonial Office as to the status of the scheme. These reports contained the scheme as impossible and extravagant. Consequently, when Sir Samuel Fleming and himself arrived in Australia they were met by those documents. Another point was that as far back as 1893, when Canada was negotiating in this way, the Imperial Government was granting powers to the Eastern Extension Company which prevented anyone else from landing on their shores. The present plan of the Eastern Extension Company was to extend their line from Queensland and California to the Philippines Islands, and then to San Francisco, and so to Europe, excluding Canada. As long as that monopoly existed, no long would Canada be cut off. He hoped the Government would be able to break this monopoly. Canada wanted communication with the West India Islands as well. He trusted the Government would be able to withstand this monopoly and let the intelligence of how the question was viewed be cabled to England.

THE CHARGES TRUE.

Hon. R. W. Scott regreted to say that the main facts in the despatch read was true. The present proposition of the Imperial Government was in favor of a subsidy and not of a scheme of joint ownership. He was unable to say more. He feared that all the criticisms made by Sir Mackenzie on the floor of Parliament were only too true. He hoped that the people of England would be brought to a realization of the efforts made to check the construction of the proposed all-British cable. Unless the cable was built now it never would be built. Of that he was certain, and now or never must the monopoly be broken.

Snap Shots With a Graphophone
The Graphophone is to these what the photographic camera is to the eye and more, for the graphophone catches instantly and preserves every tint and shade of sound. A most interesting use of a Graphophone is to make re- cords of your friends voices to be pre- served for future use. You can catch the story of your jolly friend just as he told it, or the favorite song of some loved one, just as she sang it and have it reproduced perfectly at any time and as often as you please. Besides pleasure as an amusement, the wonder- ful Graphophone affords a wonderful entertainment in the way of repro- ducing the music of bands, orchestras or vocal or instrumental soloists. No investment will return so much in pleasure as the purchase of a Grapho- phone. It is the perfect talking ma- chine. HAPPY THOUGHTS.
To please attract and give people something to talk about, is an art in writing a pseudo advertisement. Hood's Sarsaparilla fame, is the originator in an extensive sense of the idea of using quackery and wise- dom as a prefix to a pleasant intro- duction of the well known virtues of America's Greatest Medicine. These quaint quotations often fit the scene of the day with startling directness and the moral is easily drawn, with natural goot to Hood's Sarsaparilla.

A REFRESHING STYLE.
The art of quotation requires deli- cacy in practice. An already fam- ous firm has originated and developed into very promising advertising a mass of old, quaint proverbs. We refer to Messrs. O. F. Hood & Co., of Sarsaparilla fame, who are using not only our columns, but thousands of thousands of our contemporaries, in adapting wise saws to their service by clever and practical turns. It is refreshing to see something new and bright in this line. Clean cut argu- ment is better than big display type.

"A Cheerful Look Makes a Dish a Feast."

"Cheerful looks" depend just as much upon physical well-being as upon natural disposition and temperament. If the blood is disordered, the brain is starved, and no "dish is a feast," for the reason that the vitalising elements do not reach the proper spot.

A step in the right direction is to purify the body by the use of a natural remedy. Hood's Sarsaparilla is Nature's remedy. It acts upon the blood, and whether the seat of the dis- order is brain, stomach, liver or kid- neys, the purifying process of this medicine is equally sure and successful. It never disappoints.

Great Builder.—Have used Hood's Sarsaparilla for indigestion, constipation and flads it builds up the whole system and gives relief in cases of catarrh. WILLIAM E. WALSH, Moncton, N. B.

Sour Stomach.—My system was out of order. I suffered from headache and sour stomach. Took Hood's Sarsaparilla, my health improved and I gained 18 pounds. MARWELL D. SHAWBURN, Colebrook, Ont.

Bad Cough.—My sister was troubled with a cough which caused pain in her left side. She was confined to her bed. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a few weeks she was able to sit up in bed, her appetite improved and the cough and accom- panying pain disappeared. LELY WALKER, 24 Collington Street, Halifax, N. S.

Dyspepsia.—My husband suffered with dyspepsia. Physicians did not benefit him. Two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla relieved him. My husband's father and our little boy have been wonderfully benefited by this medicine. Mrs. O. F. CHAMBERLAIN, Glen Sutton, Que.

Run Down.—My system was run down. I could not sleep nights and my appetite was poor. Hood's Sarsaparilla re- stored my appetite and strength and has made me feel like a new woman. Mrs. S. E. DUBOIS, Amherst, N. S.

Advertising is Expensive.
Advertising is a thing which is expected by the public. In this age of progress and wealth, when one of the chief aims of humanity is that of being supplied with the necessities of life without undue effort, it is of the utmost importance that the merchant should keep constantly before the public eye and information needed by prospective buyers. The advertising columns of a well established paper are the trader's guide post, and to the buying public they are the finger posts to show the traveler which road to take. The particular man is abroad these times, and the particular woman, too; and they want to know beforehand what the merchant has to sell. As a result they go where the best advertisements in the best advertising medium direct them.

ACCIDENT TO THE STAR.

The Steamer Isaac Newton and Mavis for the Week.

The steamer North Star made a rather unlucky trip on Saturday last. It was her first trip of the season. She reached town all right, and landed her passengers. It was on the return trip that the trouble began. The water in the river is unusually high. This season and the current was very strong. To reach through the locks, she knocked off a couple of blanks on the lock gates. When she got a couple of miles further down, something went wrong with the steering apparatus, and the steamer made a bee line for the shore. The water covered the river bank and the boat ran its full length into the heavy timber and brush which lined the shore. The passengers were frantic with fear and excitement. The "woodie" Captain Charles Calcutt heard the steamer's whistle for help, and although a couple of miles further down the river on his way to the lake he at once turned around and came to the assistance of the Star. The Police spent two hours trying to get the Star off, but had to give up the task. She however, took off all passengers and freight and crew, and hauled them to their destination. Tuesday Capt. Calcutt brought up the Star and back and after rhyming down several times succeeded in pulling the steamer into deep water. It seems to me the best received and injury whatever.

—Cats are now giving a midnight concert in many parts of the town. The editor of their G. L. was aroused a few nights ago by the delicious music of several feline voices on his rear fence. It was no consolation to know that his own cat was amongst the number. The only thing one could think of doing was to open the window and slay a pair of old rubbers at them. This had the effect of dispersing the cats, who forthwith took up a position near the residence of one of the proprietors of a local confectionery.

May Burdens and Perils.

Disease and Ill Health Should Be Banished This Month.

Paine's Celery Compound is the World's Great Health Restoring Agent.

It matters not whether your trouble be rheumatism, neuralgia, kidney disease, dyspepsia, nervous prostration or some nasty blood disease, Paine's Celery Compound possesses virtues sufficient to meet your case and overcome your sufferings.

Disease of any kind that have manifested themselves in the winter, and have fastened their deadly grip in the spring months, are terribly perilous to life, if allowed to run into the heat of summer. This is the time to grapple with disease, and Paine's Celery Compound is the only friend and helper of the sick.

The work of disease banishing and health restoring already accomplished this spring in Canada by Paine's Celery Compound is marvellous and astonishing, judging from the many letters received from cured people, supported by the endorsement of leading druggists and merchants to whom the cured people are known.

Paine's Celery Compound is the only medicine that can honestly claim public recognition. Its work is never-failing and sure. It first cleanses the blood, causing the life stream to run pure in every artery and vein of the body. It quickly restores lost strength; it gives perfect digestive vigor, sweet sleep and lasting health.

ASHBURNHAM COUNCIL.

Jan. 3rd. Awaiting the Contract for Street Watering. Dr. Bincham Appointed Medical Health Officer—New, sidewalks ordered.

Ashburnham Civic Fathers met in regular session last night. There were present: Reeve Adams and Councilors Sheridan, Craig, Rutherford and Pollock.

The minutes of the preceding meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

A communication was received from John A. Bowdoin, asking for road improvements, on Woodbine and Cameron avenues.

Councillor Craig moved, seconded by Councillor Pollock.—That the clerk be instructed to reply to the communication of the Peterborough Water Company, and furnish them a statement of cost of the Water Works system to date—Carried.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were presented and payment thereof authorized:

T. R. Manion	2.50
M. Kylin	2.50
John James	2.50
J. T. Wright (noted)	1.00
Peterborough Light & Power Co.	2.00
J. T. Wright, salary	80.00
Total	93.00

Street Watering.

The following tenders for street watering were opened:

Henry Cox	$175.00
James Valdes	120.00
Thomas Mitchell	210.00

Councillor Rutherford moved.—That Henry Cox's tender be accepted on condition that he furnish a wagon with 3 inch tires, and that he perform his work to the satisfaction of this board; also that he be paid 75 per cent. per month until contract expires.

Councillor Craig moved in amendment, seconded by Councillor Sheridan.—That the tender of Mr. Valdes be accepted on the same conditions as specified in Mr. Rutherford's resolution.

In moving the amendment Councillor Craig cited the fact that Mr. Valdes should be awarded the contract in consideration of his being a very old resident of the village, and less able to do hard work than either of the other tenderers.

Councillor Rutherford said he would not oppose the amendment if Mr. Valdes were instructed to leave the watering cart down in the village instead of leaving it at home at night. This matter being satisfactorily adjusted, the amendment was carried.

Court of Revision.

Councillor Sheridan moved, seconded by Councillor Pollock.—That the Court of Revision for the current year, be held on Friday, the 28th day of May, at 8 o'clock p.m., and that the clerk give the necessary notice thereof.—Carried.

PETERBOROUGH, MAY 8, 1899

THE RELATIONS OF THE STATE TO THE CHURCH IN ENGLAND.

The ritual controversy which has now reached an acute stage in Parliament raises the fundamental question: What is now the meaning of the phrase "the Church of England as by law established?" We find this question considered at length by Lord Hugh Cecil, M.P. in the April number of the National Review.

There are various kinds of Establishments. It is well known that in Great Britain there are two, and that the Scottish Establishment differs in several features from the English, aside from the distinction between the Episcopal and Presbyterian systems. In each Establishment, the church drew up the formularies defining its faith, and the State confirmed them, and in neither can the Church legally change those formularies without the State's consent. The Scottish Church, however as long as her confessions of faith is not violated, may regulate all subordinate spiritual matters, and has, besides, exclusive jurisdiction in ecclesiastical cases. Neither is there anything in Scotland corresponding to the appointment of the English Bishops by the crown of any theory of royal supremacy equivalent to that accepted in England. It is further to be noted that the relations of the Church to the State of Scotland are virtually identical with those that obtained 200 years ago, while in England, these relations, although, in theory, they remain the same, are practically, very different.

From the Reformation Settlement, as it is called up to the Revolution of 1688, the royal supremacy was exercised by the sovereign personally. The sovereign was the Lord's Anointed, who received from episcopal hands the signs of royalty, and that union which is considered the symbol of divine grace. The sovereign professed and was believed to rule by divine right, as God's Vicegerent upon earth. Ecclesiastical supremacy was easy with these high claims. Now on the other hand, assuming that all this might be swept of Queen Victoria, we must recognize the fact that ecclesiastical, like other prerogatives, are not exercised by her personally, but are exercised by the advisers who surround her. Substantially, it is a minister who appoints the Judges and the members of the Council, and both the minister and his nominees may be removed by appointment.

The Reformation Settlement, however, thus changed its character since the Revolution of 1688; but the character of Parliament also has been materially modified. Parliament in Reformation days was an assembly of churchmen. It had well nigh the same title to speak on Church matters as a Lay House of Convocation would now have. To-day on the other hand, although a majority of Parliament still consists of nominal adherents of the Anglican Church, the number of actual ecclesiastics is, probably, small, and the House of Commons contains many elements indifferent or hostile to the Church. It is consequently, manifest that, by the admission of Nonconformists, Roman Catholics, Jews and Infidels to Parliament, the Reformation Settlement has been profoundly altered. Undoubtedly Elizabeth would have stood aghast at the idea of episcopal Ministers appointing secular Judges to define with supreme authority the doctrine of the Church. Yet precisely this might happen, if what is still true in theory touching the relations of the State to the Church were to be reduced to practice, as some opponents of ritualism demand.

In view of the change which as a of fact has taken place in the relations of the State to the Church in England, how are the controversies which arise within the pale of the Establishment to be viewed? The ritualists demand recognition of the establishment of fact, and the dissenters demand its dissolution. Others propose to use the existing State courts as under the Liverpool

Church Discipline bill. The outcome of such a measure would be a sweeping ejection of Ritualists from the cure of souls. It is computed that to put down Ritualism would deprive 600 clergyman; to put down vestments, 2,000. There are many volumes of incidental litigation would be well-nigh unmanageable, and the outcome of the contest would, probably, be the disruption of the Protestant Episcopal Church, the High Church action of which would drive violently in the direction of Rome. It is believed that this action comprises millions of English speaking people. And it is really, and this is advocated by Lord Hugh Cecil, would be to endow the ecclesiastical courts with the whole authority of the Church. Such a course would, no doubt, command the conscientious adherence of the Ritualists. They could, at least, set a limit to the Ritualist movement, and although many Evangelicals might not be satisfied with the limit fixed, they would know, at all events, that there was a point beyond which ritualism could not at present proceed.

The species of anarchy which at present prevails in the Church of England is obviously due to the fact that the historical and theological relations of the State to the Church have not yet been adjusted to the actual conditions. If the Low Church and the High Church, or, in other words, the Evangelicals and the Ritualists, are unable to agree upon a method of readjustment, it seems that the only solution of the problem will be disestablishment.

LAKEFIELD.

(Correspondence of the Times).
Feeding around the village is low pretty general, though some wet spots are found there in much activity in gardening within the corporation limits. The caterpillar pest threatens to be severe again though many are spraying their trees to exterminate them. The growing larvae are out of the egg, and already the familiar caterpillars may be seen in the trees.

NEW PLEASANT.

The canal factory is busy, and in addition to the usual work of engines and shafts the canal has been laid for a new steam yacht for Mr. Allen, of Rothesay, who last year purchased Mr. R. C. Strickland's island and cottage in Swan Lake. Judging from the model the new boat will be a beauty. The dimensions are 28 feet x 7 feet, and the contract calls for delivery in running order by July 1st.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Bertha St. and Mrs. C. Atwood, Jr., with two children, arrived from B.C. the last of the week, on an extended visit to Lakefield this summer.
Mr. J. F. Lillier, our regular barman, has returned from a business trip to Vancouver. He suffered a twenty-four hours' delay by a wash-out on the road.
Messrs. H. Fitzgerald and W. Cox, Jr., have to-day for the West, in search of fortune.

A preliminary meeting was held in the Green Hall last Friday evening with a view to organizing a Cricket Club. A good deal of interest was shown, and Ground and Membership Committees were appointed to report at an adjourned meeting on the 15th inst.

NEW BUILDINGS.

Excavation for the Webster block is finished, and a start has been made on the foundation. In addition to buildings provided and in progress previously mentioned, Mr. C. D. Crawford is preparing plans for a large new store.

Yet another installation of acetylene gas is reported. Mr. E. A. Tanner has received the generator and the necessary piping, and is now putting in the same store which is "Central" of the telephone system, the latest improvement switch-board has recently been fitted.

MEETINGS.

MEETING OF THE LIME JUICE CLUB.

It had long been a recognized fact that Zion should have a branch of the celebrated Lime Juice Club. A recent petition signed by about four hundred of the most influential citizens of Zion was forwarded to Sir Richard McBride, the venerable President of the Peterborough Lime Juice Club, and after being guaranteed for board and lodging he consented to come and organize a club. Zion had one member of the order in our midst—Bro. Sleepy Swan, who was a member of the hearse Club, so Sir Richard accepted his hospitality during his sojourn here. It was announced that the next evening, to be addressed by Sir Richard and other notable speakers. At the hour appointed the place was crowded. The venerable President took the chair and in a well chosen speech stated the aims and objects of the present meeting.

It was then moved by Sleepy Swan, and seconded by Stegoff Graystock, that a Lime Juice Club be at once organized.

This was carried amid great enthusiasm. The first business was the election of a President. Five names were put in nomination, the result being that Turkey Morgan was elected by a large majority.

Sir Richard then called the newly elected President to the chair. After congratulating him on the honor conferred upon him President Morgan took the chair and in a capital speech twenty-four feet long said he was glad to present the institution of a Lime Juice Club at Zion. Among other things they might consider the establishment of factories and booming the place, make our town prosperous and not a struggling village like Lindsay. He had heard of a hair viger factory going to be started here, and hoped it was true. (Wild cheer from Zion). He then moved that the establishment of the Lime Juice Club be at once organized.

then called on Sleepy Swan, the oldest member present, to address the meeting.

Bro. Swan in rising said he believed in inducing new industries to create here—in fact it was at present commencing with a Boiler Manufacturing Company. He intended taking stock in it himself and claimed they would make better boilers than any other concern.

"Just a word," said the President, rising, with determination on his countenance "this club must not be made an advertising medium for any of your pet boiler schemes."

Striptoff Graystock believed the people should be induced to beautify their places and those living a distance from the road should build a sidewalk to the gate. He himself had often had hard work getting from the road to the house when he went to call on even his next door neighbor. He would have made more frequent calls only for the road. He also objected to hedge fences for pasturing and

Bro. Swan believed that sidewalks should be built to public places such as the church and post-office, and that lawns should be beautified by planting roses; a variety without any thorns had frequently come under his notice.

The President, while agreeing with these suggestions in some respects, thought, while they might benefit the two brothers, they would not be a general benefit.

Snowball Emmerson said he had a project of water and sewerage. He thought we needed a good miller in the neighborhood. Our present one was too slow. He often had to wait half an hour before he could transact any business. Also, the placing of an electric light at the church would be a great benefit.

The President announced that these items would be discussed more fully at the next meeting; also the question of admitting ladies into the club, and he announced that Bro. Bicycle Rutherford would deliver his celebrated lecture on "How to train a Crow."

Indolent kindred sang "Safety at Home," the door was unbarred and the members all wandered home to meet at the President's office next week.

BURLEIGH FALLS POWER.

The Promoters Give Bonds for Fulfillment of Contract—A Large Power Order Also.

Mr. J. Alex. Oliverwell, one of the owners of the Burleigh Falls water power, informed the Times (Lindsay) that at a meeting of the Lindsay Council on Friday evening last, the contract for ten years for the street lighting of Lindsay was awarded to the Burleigh Falls Electric Power Company. He really an extension of the old contract awarded to Mr. Oliverwell in connection with the Fenelon Falls power scheme, which was abandoned by him last fall, having been reported unfavorably upon by Mr. J. J. Wright, electrical expert, of Toronto, who was employed by the council of Lindsay. In brief, his report was that the power available at Fenelon Falls was insufficient for transmission.

Mr. Oliverwell informed us also that at the meeting in question Messrs. Wm. McEwen and B. J. McLaughlin, of the Ottawa committee, spoke in a public-spirited manner in favor of the council granting an extension of the town's contract to Mr. Oliverwell's syndicate, two of the syndicate (most of large means) having given bonds for $4,500 to the town that the power scheme should be in a fair way to completion by Sept. 15th.

Mr. Oliverwell also states that this week the Dundas & Fenelon Milling Company extended their contract for $4,500 yearly to his syndicate. Already the Burleigh Falls syndicate have a revenue of $65,000 annually by Lindsay, Peterboro, Oranmore and Lindsay, and the capitalists connected with the enterprise have the strongest reasons for stating that the company will be completed very shortly. Certainly the fact of their having purchased the power, and having put up $1,500 bonds as security for completion of a power scheme involving 4,500 horse power capacity, looks like business.

A LINK WITH THE PAST.

Aged Lady Still Living in Waterford County Ireland.

There is still living at Woodstown House, County Waterford, Ireland, a remarkable woman, the lowly Lady Carew, who's career takes us back to one of the most historic and dramatic periods in the world's history.

Lady Carew was one of the last women who danced with 'brave men' at the ball given in Brussels on the eve of the battle of Waterloo, where the star of Napoleon went down in glorious defeat.

That of Waterloo on a grand scale. The event was graphically narrated by Lord Byron in his classic Harold's Pilgrimage.

Lady Carew recently celebrated her 100th birthday and is said to be one of the two survivors of the historic ball. She is still well preserved for a woman of her age and her mind is still unimpaired.

She was a Miss Cliffe daughter of Miss Anthony Cliffe, of New House, Ireland, when she danced in Brussels on that historic night.

The following year—1816—she married Lord Carew, whom she has long survived.

The following are Byron's commemorative lines:

There was a sound of revelry by night,
And Belgium's capital had gathered then Her beauty and her chivalry; and bright
The lamps shone o'er fair women and brave men;
A thousand hearts beat happily; and when Music arose with its voluptuous swell, Soft eyes looked love to eyes which spoke again,
And all went merry as a marriage
 bell;
But hush! Hark! A deep sound strikes like a rising knell.

Did ye not hear it? No, 'twas but the wind,
Or the car rattling o'er the stony carpet;
On with the dance! Let joy be un-contained;
No sleep till morn when youth and pleasure meet,
To chase the growing hours with flying feet;
But hark! That heavy sound breaks in on once more
 As if the clouds it who would repeat;
And nearer, clearer, deadlier than before!

Arm! Arm! It is—it is—the cannon's opening roar!

Ah! then and there was hurrying to and fro,
And gathering tears and tremblings of distress,
And cheeks all pale, which but an hour ago
 Blushed at the praise of their own prowess;
And there was sudden partings, such as press
 The life from out young hearts, and choking sobs
 Which never might be repeated, who could guess
 If ever more should meet those mutual eyes,
 Since upon night so sweet such awful morn could rise!

And there was mounting in hot haste
 the steed,
The mustering squadron, and the clattering car,
Went pouring forward with impetuous speed,
And swiftly forming in the ranks of war;
And deep the thunder peal on peal afar;
And near, the beat of the alarming drum Roused up the soldier ere the morning star;
While thronged the citizens with ter-
 nor dumb,
Or whispering with white lips: "The foe! They come! They come!"

And Arctus waves above them his dewy mane,
Dewy with nature's teardrops as the rain, Grieving, if aught inanimate e'er
 grieves,
Over the unreturning brave—alas Ere evening to be trodden like the grass!

Which now beneath them, but above their small graves,
In their next verdure, when this service
 Of living valor, rolling on the foe and burning with high hope, shall moulder cold and low.

Last noon beheld them full of lusty life,
Last eve in beauty's circle proud gay,
The midnight brought the signal sound of strife,
The morn the marshalling in arms
—the day
 Battle's magnificently stern array!
The thunder clods close o'er it which when rest,
The earth is covered thick with the clay,
Which her own clay shall cover
 humped and pent, Rider and horse—friend, foe—in one red burial bleat!

MRS. DRIFTER'S SAY.

Mrs. Drifter grew confidential the other evening. Some of Drifter's friends had called, and the subject of his adventures in the South came up.

"Of course, it is all right," said Mrs.
Drifter, "for Drifter to tell about the trials he endured when he was the editor of a paper in Texas. I never met at such a time in my life. I expected that Drifter would come home to me shot

full of holes some night. When I was down at his office reading the proofs of this morning's paper he got out it used to make my blood run cold to hear those men talk about gun plays so and so had made up in somebody's saloon."

"Drifter reassured me by telling me
that the crack of a pistol did not always mean that somebody had been hit. But you know what a brave man Drifter is.

Yes, you don't, either. You say you don't know anything about the time he saved our lives down in Texas? I don't think I ever realized before just how courageous Drifter is. I know I had not seen a ranch nor a herd of cattle

since I arrived in Texas, and I begged Drifter to take me where the real Panhandle cattle could be seen. He took me out to the stockyards beyond Fort

Worth.

"Times were very, very hard down
there, and the packing house was closed,

and there were no signs of life at the stockyards. We walked around and around the huge inclosure, and I tried to imagine what it must be like when the heads of Texas steers came in from the Panhandle. We had gone quite a little distance from the high board fence,

and were admiring the scenery, when some cows came straggling along. We stood watching and waiting until about 50 or 75 had passed us, when all at once there loomed up before us an immense Texas bull. His manner was undignified. He came straight at us as, elevated his head, sniffed, and my heart gave a jump.

"That was when Drifter and his inborn bravery came to the front. He perceived that I was frightened. I thought my last moment had come. The fence of the stockyards must have been 50 feet high; at least it looked so to me. Drifter said that it was not more than 15, but I know that the trees

around it were not so high as the fence.
He grasped me by the hand and said:

"Little girl, run for your life. I will stay here and protect you."

"I was brought up in the country, and I know it is the height of foolishness

to run from a wild animal, so I refused to do so. If I had run, I would die together, Drifter said. I, but the best thing to do is to back slowly away

from that awful bull. We backed toward the fence, and I never taking his eyes off of him. I know I could hear Drifter's heart beat, but it must have been for he is not afraid of anything.

"He behind that tree," he said, "and his voice sounded as if it was away off

somewhere, and I felt as if we were to be separated forever. Remarkably soon, however, he came back.

"I will tell you that he does not touch
you. With that he took out his little pocket knife, opened the blade, which was not over three inches long, and said: "That with as much defiance in his tone as if he had been behind a stone barricade and armed with a Martini rifle. Somehow or other we got out of the place. I was certain that Drifter would not let me take any chances alone, for he got there as soon

as I did, and if you ever saw two people

climb a high fence in the quickest possible space of time, it was Mr. and Mrs.

Drifter.

"We sat there on the top of the fence until dark, and then we were taken to the hotel. I really believe that if the bull had attacked me Drifter would have stabbed him with that penknife. In the evening, after I had mastered my courage, I went out to the stockyards by the back way, and I was hoping close by the fence, until we reached a little hotel connected with the stockyards. Drifter never said a word about the adventure, but I was certain that he had done something remarkable, but I know that he saved my life from the wild Texas bull."

It took Mrs. Drifter's friends some time to rise to a proper appreciation of the courage displayed by her husband in that time of danger, and after she had framed herself vigorously, she told me that she was going to tell me all about it. The time he went out to the lake near Fort Worth. I was just dying for a sight of a body of water. It did seem

Catholic Truth Society Will Take Steps to Have a Portion of the Corporation Oath Expunged.

New York, May 1.—The Irish World,
New York, publishes a dispatch from Ottawa, Canada, which, if reliable, contains important news. It is stated that the result of the efforts of the Catholic Truth Society of that city, regarding the abolition of portions of the corporation oath a sub-committee has been appointed. The committee consists of Messrs. J. J. O'Rourke, Hon.

Charles Fitzpatrick, the Solicitor-General and Hon. John Costigan, a leading Catholic member of the Opposition, and to ask them to introduce a motion requesting that certain modifications be made in the form of the oath. Of course the Parliament of Canada can do nothing in the matter, but it could draw attention to the society's grievance.

The dispatch says that the society has determined to have the question before the Canadian Parliament. The fourth of next month is that decided upon in 1898, when William J. L. Prince, of Orange and Mary ascended the throne, and has since been changed only slightly to suit the altered conditions caused by the unions of Scotland and Ireland. It makes the ruler swear that he or she believes in the transmigration of the soul, and the invocation of the spirits of the dead is superstitious and idolatrious.

May Canadian Magazine.

It is really astonishing how the Canadian Magazine keeps up the value of its contents and the excellence of its appearance. Among the contributors to the May number are John Charlton, M. P., Robert Barr, John A.

this issue is Robert Barr's encounter with three bicyclists who were exceedingly clever tellers of fairy tales.

Barr is a genuine humorist of the gentler type. His jokes never hit like sledge-hammers and are never rough.

The illustrated article on the Prince especially as his famous Canadian trip is fully described. The article on the numerous pictures of cheese and but-every active Canadian mind. The

THE FREE LIBRARY PROJECT DISCUSSED

IN A PRELIMINARY WAY BY COUNCILLORS AND OTHERS.

The theory heartily in sympathy with the scheme and a committee will take the matter in charge.

A meeting to discuss the advisability of converting the Mechanics Institute into a Free Library, was held in the Town Clerk's office yesterday afternoon, between the special committee of the Town Council, members of the Ministerial Association and representatives of the Mechanics Institute.

Those present were:—Mayor Davis, Ald. J. B. McWilliams, Ald. J. B. McWilliams, Rev. Mr. Parker, Rev. Mr. Simonds, Arabideneo, C. H. S. MacDonald, T. A. Har, W. H. Hill, and Dr. Burdett. The four last mentioned gentlemen represented the Mechanics Institute.

Ald. J. B. McWilliams presided, and in opening the meeting stated that in his address to the ratepayers at election time he announced that the matter of establishing a Free Library would be one of the important questions for the Council of this year to deal with. He stated that he wanted to say that if a petition bearing the signatures of sixty ratepayers calling for a Free Library was presented to the Council it would be sufficient for the Council to submit a by-law to the people for their vote on the matter. Then, if the by-law carried a Board of Management, consisting of the Mayor, three members of the Town Council, three members of the public school board and two members of the private school board, would be appointed. It would be within the power of the Board to expend $2000 on a building and other necessities. Mr. McWilliams also showed by way of statistics that there was only one Free Library in the province in 1883. It was maintained by 716 readers, and had 3782 volumes and the number taken out during the year was 10,815. In 1888, fifteen years later there were 103 Free Libraries, 80,554 readers, 371,499 volumes, and 1,618,618 books read. In the list of libraries Peterborough occupies forty-second place, even Algoma, Nipissing and Parry Sound coming before it in rank. In the number of volumes, however, Peterborough stands second, while Brockville, with 8535 volumes, occupied first place. Peterborough has 8522 volumes.

THE CITIES.
By way of comparison Mr. McWilliams read the list of the city libraries, as follows, which shows that out of the ten mentioned five have a greater number of volumes than the Peterborough library and the other five a much smaller number:

Peterborough	8522
Hamilton	108,200
Brantford	25,810
London	15,098
Quebec	11,219
Brockville	8,535
Windsor	8,522
St. Thomas	6,411
St. Catharines	6,344
Kitchener	5,752
Stratford	3,210

While extremely desirous that a Free Library be established in Peterborough Mr. McWilliams had nothing but praise for any of the management of the mechanics institute. He felt that the majority of the people would favor the change, which would mean greater advantages to the poorer class.

The Rev. H. Symonds, the next to address the meeting said he had always been very out in front in his advocacy for a Free Library. He, like Mr. McWilliams, had nothing, however, to say against the Directors of the mechanics institute. He had always felt proud of the Peterborough library. He also took pleasure in stating that the management had always been extremely obliging in the making of purchases for individuals. In his opinion however, it would be to the interest of the public at large, especially the poorer class, if a free library were constituted. In these days of general education the speaker said good reading should be found in as many homes as possible. He furnished statistics similar to those read by Mr. McWilliams, which showed a big majority in the number of books read in the different towns, for the Free Libraries. In a preliminary way he handled the question, it is possible for everyone to pay a fee of $1.50 for the library privilege. He did not think that in all cases where only a dollar a day is earned that it was possible. If the man who earned $1 a day could afford to pay the fee, it according to his calculation should be just as easy for the man with a salary of $1500 a year to pay a fee of $7.50. Reading, the speaker termed recreation. Speaking of the qualities of books he said the demand was for fiction. He did not admitting while there were a great many bad novels there were also many excellent ones. By providing reading within the reach of every home it would encourage reading, and prevent many a case from spending the nights at the saloon or some other unprofitable resort.

The Rev. Mr. Parker followed. If a Free Library could be instituted he considered it would be a great blessing to the community. Where young people have to loiter through the day, free books he argued would keep them at home nights and the tendency would be to elevate and increase the

GERMANY IN WEST AFRICA

TRouble BREWING INCLUDING GERMANY FRANCE AND ENGLAND.

Three Nations With Interests Bordering on the one Locality—Notes and News from Various Places.

London, May 1.—News from West Africa says that there is great activity among the French and Germans in the valleys of the Sangha and Shari. A force of two hundred men has left for the Sangha and the first serious effort made by Germany to establish herself on the Binue is in full swing. Should they succeed, Yola, the capital of Adamawa, will become a centre of activity. As Great Britain is, on paper, the paramount power on the Binue, she is keenly interested in the affairs of Yola. But the Germans will have strong forces to contend against.

A HORNET'S NEST.
Although Zubier, Emir of Yola, and Rabah, the Arab Napoleon, used to hate one another with a deadly hatred, it would not be surprising if they made it up in order to oppose the common foe. The Germans are indeed thrusting themselves into a hornet's nest, and it may be doubted whether they have sufficiently gauged the stinging power of its inmates.

BIG FRENCH ARMY.
As to the French movements, M. Bretonnet is on the Gribingui, an affluent of the Shari, where he is organizing a really imposing force with which France intends occupying Baghirmi. All the Senegalese and native levies who have been occupying various posts in the Bahr-el-Azhal have been drafted to Shari, and an army something like 2,000 men has been got together. The French still talk of constructing a light railway to connect the two river systems of the Congo and the Nile. They are also talking of two other railways connecting the Bahr with the Chad.

A RICH SULTAN.
The richest man in Turkey is an Armenian who is a naturalized American citizen and lives in this country for several years. If the stories told in the diplomatic circles of Constantinople are true, he came by his money in a regular manner. It will be remembered that the Sultan Aziz was assassinated in 1876. For several years prior to his death he accumulated all the money and funds he could obtain, which he stored away in his palace as a reserve fund in case of a war with Russia, which had been impending for some time. The amount of his accumulation has been variously estimated from $10,000,000 to $100,000,000, and was undoubtedly in excess of the latter sum. Most of it was in English French and German securities that drew interest and were easily convertible at any bank in any city of Europe.

Although the assassination was a mystery, it is believed to have been instigated by Midad Pasha, the Minister of Finance, from avaricious motives. He alone was aware of the magnitude of the Sultan's hoard and the place of its concealment, and after his sovereign's death, by virtue of his position, he took control of the fund and pretended to deposit it in the public treasury. But it is believed by those most familiar with Turkish affairs that he retained for his own benefit a large part—perhaps one-half or two-thirds—for motives of self-protection, he endeavored to keep the fund in his hands, and named and directed him to take the funds to London and Paris and there deposit them in such a manner that their ownership could not be traced to Midad Pasha. It is believed to have been the latter's intention to withdraw a portion of this property from concealment as soon as he felt safe in doing so.

But not long afterward Midad Pasha was himself assassinated in the hotel and most astounding manner. He was attending a meeting of the Ministry, when he was informed that a messenger was awaiting him in the anteroom with a confidential communication that must be delivered immediately and to himself alone. Midad left his colleagues and entered the anteroom, where an unknown man immediately plunged a dagger into his breast. The palace guard, hearing his death, and the fact that he had been immediately rushed to the room and shot, the assassin's body was found. Although the police continued their investigations for months, they were never able to identify the assassin, but the knowing ones believe that the assassin was a man of the name of Midad, the Armenian banker, who had been a partner in the business of Midad's assassination. The Armenian merchant went to Midad's palace and informed his widow that there was a reward in a certain amount for certain to be that would connect her husband with a conspiracy against the Crown and would undoubtedly cause the arrest and imprisonment of the entire family if they were discovered. The frightened widow, already beside herself with excitement because of the assassination, begged him to save her husband's name and destroy all questionable or suspicious documents. He spent the night at this work, and amongst the papers burned that night were believed to have been the evidence of Midad's ownership in the bonds that he had made the Armenian the richest man in Turkey.

AGREEMENT FALLS THROUGH.
London, May 1.—In the House of Commons to-day the Right Hon. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced that the Government had failed to come to an agreement with Mr. Cecil Rhodes respecting the proposed guarantee to the Cape-to-Cairo Railway. The announcement was greeted with cheers by the Radical members of the House.

THE SCULLING CHAMPIONSHIP.
London, May 1.—In the race to-day for the professional sculling championship of England and a purse of $2,000, over the course from Putney to Mortlake, George Townes of Australia, beat William Barry, of Putney, by four lengths.

STOCKING OUR LAKES.

Millions of Fish Fry Being Deposited in Ontario's Lakes.

PETERBOROUGH GETS NONE.

Full Time That Our Own Back Waters Received Attention

And a Hatchery for Bass and Walleyes Established in Peterborough—The Times Gives the Project a Start, and the Council and Board of Trade Should Rip the Matter Along.

For many years tens of thousands of people have enjoyed the fishing afforded by our inland lakes free of all cost, and together with the abundance of fish that can be caught with the muskellunge and bass of our own country, and none that afford the sport of the growing scarcity of the fish. In fact our back lakes which were once teeming with bass and muskellunge are now practically "fished out." It is a luck man who can land a good-sized muskellunge after a many hours patient exertion, while those of the growing scarcity of the fish. The reason for this is not far to seek. In the first place the Dominion Government in 1875, killed the coon that laid the rot egg by depositing in Stony Lake water, the fry of salmon and trout. These fish cannot be caught in the ordinary way and are therefore no use. They devour the young bass and muskellunge so that to this cause is due almost entirely the scarcity of the fish. The fry of course has its effect in diminishing the bass and muskellunge but we are persuaded, it is not to be commuted to the destruction caused by the presence of the salmon and whitefish.

Assuming the above to be correct, and we think few will attempt to differ with our contention, would it not be only fair to ask the Government to do something to replenish our lakes and streams with the natural fish of the waters? Only a few days ago we noticed Mr. William Armstrong, who has charge of the Dominion Fish Hatchery at Newcastle, and his assistant Mr. John Kenefick, deposited in the Bay of Quinte 1,000,000 white fish fry. Mr. Armstrong will deposit 1,000,000 salmon trout fry in the bay as soon as they are ready. On Wednesday he put 300,000 white fish fry in the lake near Peterborough. Would it not be more in line with justice if more million bass and muskellunge fry were deposited in our own lakes, to make up in a measure, as it were, for the harm done in 1875?

The Times would even go a step farther and suggest a special bass and muskellunge hatchery, situated on the Otonabee River between Lake Simcoe and Peterborough. The cost would be very trifling and the benefits very great.

We suggest that the Council and Board of Trade take the matter up, and also that other municipalities in the district use their influence to help the thing along. Something must be done if our beautiful lakes are to continue to be the Mecca of tourists and sportsmen. We will refer to the matter again.

Trouble Over a Bridge.

The case of William Smith, caretaker of the Bedford Bridge, to recover 3 years' salary from the Township of Monaghan, the County of Peterborough and the County of Durham and Northumberland, was heard at a special session of the County Court yesterday morning. The case developed out of the storm townships and counties refusing to assume the responsibility of looking after the maintenance of the bridge. Donnell, Peck & Smith, Mr. George Edmiston appeared for South Monaghan; Stratton & Hall for the County of Peterborough; and F. Holland, of Cobourg, for the counties of Durham and Northumberland. Mr. Edmiston took exception to the jurisdiction and the objection was referred to the High Court. The County was represented by Warden Hawthorne and Councillors Pearce, Fitzgerald and Anderson; for South Monaghan, W. E. Hutchinson, reeve, John Buckham, J. W. Hall, treasurer, and E. C. Maroz, clerk; for Durham and Northumberland, Commissioner R. Piber.

PROPERTY COMMITTEE.

To the chairman and members of the Board of Education—Gentlemen:—Your Property Committee beg leave to report that they have considered the petition of R. M. Denison and 19 others in reference to the Kindergarten room and beg leave to report that at the present time it is impossible to change the room in the Central school, there being no other available.

Your Committee after carefully considering the school accommodation of the town and taking into account the fact that if the building at present occupied by the Collegiate Institute could be used for Public School purposes think that this would give all the accommodation that will be required for a number of years to come.

The lease of the George-st. school, for which we are paying $100 a year plus taxes, in all $531.75, will expire in about two years, and if the Central Park could be secured as a site for a Collegiate Institute this sum with a very little additional amount would pay the interest on the sum required to build a new Collegiate Institute. Your committee therefore recommend that a committee of the Board be appointed to wait on the Town Council and secure their co-operation in petitioning the County Council to grant their interest in the Central Park for this purpose.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. J. McBein, Chairman.

INSPECTOR SEATH'S REPORT. A report submitted by Inspector Seath on his visit to the Collegiate Institute on April 19th, and 20th, was read, from which the following is an extract:

"The general condition of the school is as usual, excellent. I hope to be able to report before long that a new building, commodious grounds, and a large and well ventilated gymnasium have been provided."

ASHBURNHAM'S PROPOSITION.

The proposition on the part of Ashburnham to make a grant of $150 to Board for the purchase of allowing pupils from that place to enter the Collegiate Institute on the same basis as do those of Peterborough, provoked lengthy discussion. The fear of sentiment, was not at all in sympathy with the proposition, the objection raised being that as rent is much cheaper in Ashburnham than in Peterborough, the tendency would be for people to locate there, so long as their children would enjoy the same school privileges, the same as those of Peterborough. The matter was laid on the table until after vacation.

It was moved by R. Fair and seconded by J. J. McBein that a committee consisting of the chairman, Messrs. Humes, Ferguson and Dr. Burnham be appointed to wait on the Town Council, and secure co-operation in petitioning the County Council to grant their interest in the Central Park for the purpose of erecting a Collegiate Institute.

Dr. Burnham introduced the subject of establishing a savings bank system in the public schools. The system has been in vogue in other places for some time giving splendid satisfaction.

A committee consisting of Messrs. Ferguson, Hill and Burnford, was appointed to investigate the system and report at the next meeting.

Messrs. Stevenson and Hartley reported giving accounts of the meeting of the Principal Association of High and Public School trustees, held at Toronto on the 4th and 5th of April, which were very interesting.

Advertising is Pivotal.

Advertising is a thing which is expected by the public. In this age of progress and wealth, when one of the chief aims of humanity is that of having supplied with the necessities of life without undue effort. It is of the utmost importance that the merchant should keep constantly before the public eye and information needed by prospective buyers. The advertising columns of a well established paper are the tradesman's guide posts, and to the buying public they are the finger posts to show the traveler which road to take. The particular man is abroad these times, and the particular woman, too; and they want to know beforehand what the merchant had to sell. As a result they go where the best advertisements in the best advertising mediums direct them.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

More expansion for the United States. It's been granted 50,000 additional square feet of space in the Paris Exposition.

Two nations of Europe are devising a form of liquid air as an agent of destruction in war. We are traveling fast these inventive days—the pace that kills.

Dismembered China wants to send a delegate to the Carr's peace conference. Perhaps it thinks it's almost all that's left to it to do.

It might be a good idea to advertise our civic debentures in London. Generally those who bid here do so to sell in London at a profit. Possibly Peterborough could save that.

The Queen is at present engaged in arranging the delicate matter of the domicile of her grand-daughter, Princess Maud, who is already tired of living in gloomy Copenhagen. Her husband, Charles, therefore desires to receive an office in the British service and become a naturalized subject of the Queen. Crown Prince Frederick of Denmark is now at Crimea discussing the subject with the Queen. We would suggest that her Majesty place a small add in the Times want column.

PARTITION OF CHINA.

The most threatening source of trouble in the East has been said by agreement between Russia and England in respect to China. By it the struggle for supremacy will be left to a joint system of regulation in which China will be the protection she enjoyed by Russia or the international jealousies which prevented the powers cutting her up.

The old story of the partition of Poland is to be re-enacted, and upon a larger scale and without the pretense that were named as being extenuating in that continental outrage. Russia, Austria and Prussia all agreed that the geographical relation of Poland to themselves, with its warlike and restless people, was a menace to peace, but China holds out no active threat of violence. She wants to be left alone, and while she is the way of commerce and does not take her share in the responsibilities of nations, and moreover has had in view her manifest destiny for a century, there is something pathetic in the helplessness of 300,000,000 people who maintain a national existence. They are just languishing without a glow of patriotism to keep them alive, without courage, hope or apprehension, in calm apathy dropping out of the affairs of the world whose civilization has outworn their methods.

The terms of the agreement are based upon commercial opportunities, being equally divided, and the marking out of territorial spheres of influence. That was the way it was done in Africa when France, England and Germany made new maps of the continent and printed their national colors on them. It is intended to adopt the same method of "spheres of influence" and to be effective. Russia will erect such barriers as she can to maintain her present position as exclusive and preferential right of having developed it.

THAT WALK OUT TO LIBERTY.

The escape of Pare and Holden, at this critical juncture, the trial only two weeks distant, looks, to say the least of it, suspicious.

The people of Nanpess distinguished themselves by having a riot not long ago, and hustling a judge—an insult which was resented by every citizen of Ontario, where the judiciary are supposed to be as inviolate as they are inalienable. In view of the riot and the injudicious partisanship of the citizens of Nanpess at the time of the trial, it can hardly be doubted that there is still some residuary feeling in that country. The telegraphic reports indicate that the two criminals had almost unhindered movement about the corridors of the jail, and that they went about their escape with the utmost coolness and deliberation. Moreover there were three skeleton keys found in Pare's room. Who left them there? Did the jail officials consider it unnecessary to make an occasional search of the prisoners?

The fatuous economy of the country council in removing the night watchman and allowing two hardened criminals, notorious cracksmen, to wander about untrammelled in the time-crack jail, is inexplicable. The Government should see to it that there is a rigid investigation.

SPRING.

Come gentle spring—Gentle springtime come—Oh, come on. Do not linger in the lap of winter in that compromising fashion. It looks disagreeable. Turn on a little of that liberal midnights. We used to read about in hygienic days. The slender says that you have come. But you have not—Not on your expectations. The Easter lilies, if you remember, were made almost entirely of paper. The air is still (Or chilly, just as you prefer) As the plumb's heart. The winter overcoat From working too Late in the year Grows already at the edge. The burdened stocking Long since hanging for The darning's needle, Has vacant places At the heel. The white vest Has hung so long on the Peg it has a lump Sprouting at the back Of the neck. Like the button on a Collar door. The Easter hat looks As though it had been Picked too soon. The bicycle trade Seems still to suffer. From Pimp Frigida. Or Frozen Pipes, as the Vulgate hath it. While the landed gentry—And flattered gentry, too—Grows poor supplying fuel For apartments. And still you linger Linger, linger, linger, Linger longer Lou, so To speak. Why can't you break away And give the poor Ice man A chance?

Bird at the Hospital.

The Stratford Beacon says: Richard Fitzgerald of this city, and nephew of Edward Fitzgerald, Brunswick St., died at Peterborough on Monday. A letter was received stating that he was ill in the hospital there, and this was followed by a telegram announcing his death. There are no particulars. Chas. Fitzgerald left yesterday for Peterborough. He will bring the remains home, and interment will likely be made in the old cemetery tomorrow at 9:30. The funeral taking place from the home of Mr. Edward Fitzgerald, Brunswick St. The deceased was well-known in Stratford, having left here about fourteen years ago for Peterborough where he worked as a tailor. His many friends will learn with regret of his sudden demise.

The Stock Yards.

We are pleased to notice that Mr. H. P. Kennedy has decided not to locate his stock yards up Lindsay. This means that the yards will be located in Peterborough. In a letter to the Lindsay Council Mr. Kennedy states that the other gentlemen interested in the enterprise considered it important to locate the yards where there would be railway competition. We hope the Council will do all they can to encourage Mr. Kennedy in his undertaking, which the Times is convinced, will be a big thing to Peterborough.

Way Canadian Magazine.

It is really astonishing how The Canadian Magazine keeps up the value of its contents and the excellence of its appearance. Among the contributors to the May number are John Charlton, M. P., Robert Barr, John A. Egan, Henry J. Morgan, Joanna E. Wood, Beckles Willson and W. A. Fraser. One of the brightest pieces in this issue is Robert Barr's encounter with three bicyclists who were exceedingly clever fellows of airy tales. Barr is a genuine humorist of the gentle type. His jokes never hit like sledge-hammers and are never rough. The illustrated article on the Prince of Wales will be read with interest, especially as his famous Canadian trip is fully described. The article on the Dairy Industry of Canada with its numerous pictures of cheese and butter factories from the Atlantic to the Pacific, is one which should interest every active Canadian mind. The whole number is beautifully printed.

Probably suffocated.

Lindsay Post. Returning trappers report that since the advent of warm weather it is impossible to camp along the shores of Goose Lake owing to the fearful stench arising from the dead fish thrown up by the waves and floating about in the shallows. There are some dead fish in the water, and with a few catfish. Experienced fishermen say the fish were suffocated as a result of the very severe frost. Goose Lake is shallow, and as the fish spend the winter in the weed beds in a semi-torpid condition, it is believed, owing to the great depth of ice on the lake, that in the shallow stretches the water froze clear to the bottom. Whatever the cause of the mortality, the loss of fish has been great, and it is feared will have an effect in reducing the catch in these waters for a couple of seasons.

Spring freshness is true to an impoverished condition of the blood, and is cured by Host's Stomachic, which enriches the blood.

MOLLY BAWN.

BY THE DUCHESS.

"I am in love trouble," she answered

coddly.

A young Mr. Amherst, although apparently full of purpose, clearly finds some difficulty about proceeding. Molly is waiting in impatient silence.

"You wished to speak to me, grand-papa?" she says, at length.

"Yes—yes. Only three days ago I heard you had been left—badly provided for. Is this so?"

"It is."

"And that," speaking slowly, "you have made up your mind to earn your own living. Have I still heard correctly?"

"Quite correctly. Mr. Buscarrat would be sure to give you a true version of the case."

"The news has upset me." For the first time he turns his head and regards her with a steady gaze. "I particularly object to your doing anything of the kind. It would be a disgrace, a blot upon our name forever.

None of our family has ever been forced to work for daily bread. And I would have you remember you are an Amherst."

"Pardon me, I am a Massereene."

"You are an Amherst," with some excitement and considerable irritation. "Your mother must count in some way and you—you bear a strong resemblance to every second portrait of our ancestors in the gallery upstairs."

"Is that so?" repeats Molly, in utter amazement. "And how about Marion?"

"She shall be amply provided—if you consent to my proposal."

She is quite silent for a moment or two, pondering slowly; then, in a low, curious tone, she says:

"And what is to become of my sister?"

"Your step-sister-in-law you mean," contemptuously. "I dare say she will manage to live without your assistance."

Molly's blue eyes here show signs of coming fight; so do her hands. Although they hang down and motionless at her sides there is a certain tension about the fingers that in a quick warm temperament betokens passion.

"And my dear brother's children?"

"They too shall be provided for. I am not what you call a miser. I have never been among them."

"But I have been among them," cries

she, with sudden uncontrollable anger that can no longer be suppressed. "For all the years of my life I have been among my only friends. When I was thrown upon the world, without father or mother, my brother took me and gave me a father's care. I was left to him a baby, and he gave me a mother's love. He fed me, clothed me, guarded me, educated me, did all that man could do for me; and now shall

I desert those dear to him? They are his children, therefore mine. As long as I can remember, he was my true and loving friend; while you—you—what are you to me? A stranger—a mere—"

She stops abruptly, fearing to give her passion further scope, and casting her eyes upon the ground, folds one hand tightly over the other.

"You are talking sentimental folly," replies he, coolly. "Listen. You shall bear the truth. I ill-treated your mother, as you know. I flung her off.

I refused her prayer for help, although

I knew that for months before your birth she was enduring absolute want.

Your father was in embarrassed circumstances at that time. Now I would make reparation to her through her child. I tell you, vindictively,

"if you will consent to give up the

"Has all your vaunted Amherst blood

failed to teach you what honor means?

You bribe me with your gold, to sell myself, my better feelings, all that is good in me. Oh, shame! Although

I but a Massereene and poor, I would scorn to offer any one money to forgo their principles and betray those who loved and trusted in them!"

"You refuse me!" asks he, in tones that tremble with rage and disappointment.

"I do."

"Then go," cries he, pointing to the door with uplifted fingers that shake perceptibly. Leave me and never dar-eign my doors again. Go earn your bread. Starve for those beggarly brats. Work until your young blood turns to gall, and all the youth and freshness of your life has gone from you."

"I hope that I shall manage to live without all the predict coming to pass," the girl replies, faintly though bravely, her face as white as death. In it a shadow he is calling down upon her!

"May I ask how you intend doing it?" goes on this terrible old man.

"Few honest paths lie open to a woman. You have not yet counted the cost of your refusal. Is the stage to be the scene of your future triumph?"

She thinks of Luttrell, and of how differently he has put the very same question. Oh, that she had him near her now to comfort and support her!

She is cold and trembling.

To be continued.

REMEMBER THE OLD MAN.

Written for The Times

Remember the old man who cleared

off the farm.

Who built the new house, likewise the new barn.

Who cleared the farm when covered with trees.

Now let him live on it with comfort and ease.

His body may be bent his steps may be slow.

And his face may be wrinkled and his head like snow;

Speak kindly to him, it will do you no harm.

To remember the old man who cleared

off the farm.

Remember the old man who cleared

off the farm.

That made you a home to keep you all warm.

Who sowed each field which would best grow wheat.

Whose labor had been both sown and sweat.

Who toiled by the morning dew had often been wet.

Who toiled and struggled to pay off the debt.

Who never grew weary in cold weather or warm.

So remember the old man who cleared off the farm.

Remember the old man who cleared

off the farm.

For the old place has still for him

many a charm;

Do not sneer at when you see him go by with a limp.

To feed the young pigs with a load of skim milk;

Nor when he says his old horse was once able to outpull anything now in your stable.

Let it ever be pleasure to honor and

charm

And cheer the old man who cleared off the old farm.

Be just to the old man who cleared

off the farm.

For he remembers the time when there was no big barn,

And old blind "Dobey" with his lame hind leg.

You sit to sleep in what's now the roo-

ten of old shed,

And that poor old slanty, which you now all slight,

Your mother slept in it on her first wedding night;

And thought it a palace, as she slept snug and warm.

So remember the old man who clear-

ed off the farm.

Remember the old man, who cleared

off the farm,

Who honestly earned it with his singular arm;

And see how he will smile with laughter and glee,

When his granddaughter comes to creep up on his knee;

For parents and candies he ever has had.

For the dear little darling who calls him "grand-dad,"

And pictures like these does the heart

charm.

So remember the old man, who clear-

ed off the farm.

He taught his dear children, who now run the farm.

With its new-built house and its new-built barn.

When "company" comes, don't give him a back seat.

For it shows little love, and lots of conceit.

But tend him with care, and honest

love give.

Then God will bless you as long as you live.

Be loving, be kind, for these have a

charm.

That will cheer the old man who clear-

ed off the farm.

An Interesting Relic.

A very interesting relic may be seen in the window of Talbot's Drug store, being a walking stick of Gipsy Sultan's, taken from the palace when Serincknam was captured by Lord Wellesley, afterwards the Duke of Wellington on 14th of May, 1799—Just one hundred years ago to-day. The stick is the property of Mr. W. H. Claxton.

A Narrow Escape.

About 8 o'clock last evening, says the Lindsay Post, little Eva Moore, daughter of Mr. Harry Moore, bricklayer, residing in the east ward, had an experience that falls to few living persons, even if they are experts at the art of swimming. Mr. McGill bridge carpenter, who was working at the new iron bridge on Lindsay st., noticed the child in the swift current passing beneath the bridge where he was working. The direction of the stream was directly towards the bows of the Crandella, lying at her winter quarters at the town wharf. Mr. McGill gave the alarm that a child was drowning to the men on the steamer, who at once did everything possible to save the little girl's life. In the meantime Eva had passed under the bows of the Crandella out of sight. Mr. Lew Winters ran rapidly to the stern of the Crandella, and jumping into the punt was just in time to catch the drowning child as she passed from beneath the steamer for a distance of about 100 feet, and a depth of nearly the long steamer. This morning she appears very little the worse for her thrilling experience.

Snap Shots With a Graphophone. The Graphophone is to the eye and more, for the gramophone catheches instantly and preserves every tint and shade of sound. A most interesting use of a Graphophone is to make records of your friends voices to be preserved for future use. You can catch the story of your jolly friend just as he told it, or the favorite song of some loved one, just as she sang it and have it reproduced perfectly at any time and as often as you please. Besides the Gramophone affords wonderful entertainment in the way of reproducing the music of bands, orchestras or vocal or instrumental soloists. No investment will return so much in pleasure as the purchase of a Graphophone. It is the perfect talking machine. Obsequies of the Late John Lynch.

The obsequies of the late John Lynch, whose death occurred unexpectedly on Monday, took place from his late residence, corner of Park and Elm streets at nine o'clock yesterday morning. The funeral carriage was very large, and a great many sorrowing friends and relatives followed the remains to their last resting place at the cemetery in which the deceased was held. High mass was celebrated in St. Peter's Cathedral by Rev. Archdeacon Chenevix-Trench, assisted by Rev. Father Scammon and Sullivan. The floral offerings were numerous and magnificent. The pall-bearers were: Messrs. John Maloney, James Dolan, Martin McEadden, sr., Cornelius Halpin, Bernard Moore, and Thomas Cahill. By the death of Mr. Lynch, Peterborough lost one of its most venerable residents. His excellent character, splendid business tact, and affable disposition were qualities that endeared him into the affections of all who knew him.

DWELLING HOUSE BURNED.

Home of James Healey Completely Destroyed Yesterday.

A rough-hewn cottage on the Theodore Lodge estate, occupied by James Healey, was totally destroyed by fire yesterday morning between 10 and 11 o'clock. The origin of the fire is supposed to have been a defective chimney, for when the fire was first observed it was burning out of the roof close to the chimney. Mrs. Healey, was the first to observe the fire, and exercised the greatest efforts in attempting to subdue it, in which she was partially successful. But as soon as it was extinguished in one place it broke out in another. When the brigade arrived the building was beyond control and collapsed soon afterwards. Only a few of the household articles were saved. There was no insurance on either the house or contents.

MR. FOBERT RETIRES.

Mr. Louis Fobert, known far and wide as the genial and accommodating host of the Thompson Park hotel, has leased that property to Mr. George Brown, of Burlington, brother of Messrs. Ed. and Bert Brown, town, and the deal is being closed this morning.

It will be with regret that the many patrons of this well-known hotel will learn of Mr. Fobert's retirement, although they can rely upon courteous treatment at the hands of Mr. Brown, whose enterprise is already well known. It is his intention to erect a building distinct from the hotel proper, for the bar, which will also embrace a billiard room and a bowling alley.

A MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE

Peter King Leaves His Home Sunday, and Cannot be Found.

The mysterious disappearance from his home on Sunday afternoon, has occasioned the family of Mr. Peter King, much alarm. Efforts to locate him have been futile. At times Mr. King's mind has not been perfectly clear, although he has not been affected for some time but the suspicion is that he suffered a return of the trouble and while in that state wandered away. He witnessed the Webster funeral on Sunday and since that time no information has been obtainable concerning his movements. Any information regarding him will be gratefully received by an anxious family.

SPORTING NOTES.

What is Going on in Local and Outside Sporting Circles.

BASEBALL.

Catcher Fred Graham of Berlin, has joined the Lindsay team. Graham was a member of the local team last year but the executive very wisely turned their backs on professionalism.

The executive of the Baseball team met at the Oriental hotel last night. Considerable correspondence from clubs desirous of arranging a game for the 24th of May, came up for consideration. These were discussed, different members expressing opinions as to the respective merits of different teams. The secretary was instructed to communicate with the clubs, stating inducements for a game. The public can rest assured that no efforts will be spared to bring a first-class team.

LACROSSE.

Secretary Hartley, of the C.L.A., is busy sending out certificates, and clubs that have not received them are requested to inform the secretary as to the number they require.

Berlin has contracted the lacrosse fever in virulent form. A half dozen local junior clubs have sprung up in two weeks time.

FOOTBALL.

Mr. H. L. Greene, ex-vice-president of the Granite football club, Kingston, was in Ottawa. He says that the Kingston City team will be very strong this fall, and is confident that they will win out in the Quebec union. "How about the Rough Riders?" was asked of Mr. Greene. "Oh we don't say anything about them," answered the Kingston man, but take my tip, the Granites will be very much in it when the time comes for kicking the pig-skin."

CRICKET.

The cricketers are in a playing mood and in the course of a few days they expect to be on the green, which is in excellent condition. Efforts are being put forth for a practice game on Saturday afternoon, to be followed by an interesting contest on the following Saturday.

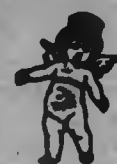

GOLF.

Golf has taken a firm grasp on the young people of Peterborough. Its popularity is increasing every day and from present indications it is going to interfere materially with tennis, although the latter pastime still has a great many ardent devotees. The every-day golf matches, now being held are productive of a no little excitement and unalloyed pleasure.

THE TRIGGER.

The Gun Club appears to be the only organization that is not manifesting activity. Only one shoot has been held this season, although another was arranged for. What's the matter anyway?

Holden and Pure seem to have been very good to stay in Napanee jail as long as they did.

Recent Western experiences show there was certainly something in the wind when it came to cyclones.

They are beginning to criticize President Loubet in France because of his looks. In this country they generally find fault with the President's views.

A new South Carolina law makes the county in which a lynching occurs pay the victim's relatives $2,000. This may bring the lynchers up with a round turn.

The rocks on which the Grand Old Conservative party finds itself stranded just at present, are not the sort of rocks which the once grand Liberal party uses in carrying big elections.

It can no longer be said that the Board of License Commissioners is the shadow of our excellent local member of the Toronto House. If such was the case the People's Jimmy would be standing in his own light.

The Brockville Conservatives are now no doubt, happy. The recount, before Judge Macdonald, has given thirty-five more votes to Mr. White than were previously counted. Mr. Comstock is therefore elected by 208 only.

It is said that bye-elections in various parts of the country will keep Mr. Stratton busy during the summer months. If this great family journal was to tender our energetic member advice, it would be to confine his interest in politics to the fishing variety during the dog days.

And as to the with an alleged message from Arctic balloonist Andre, out of the polar ice, this time from the vicinity of Iceland. There is a boom in the diary and the frozen carriage is the season for fitting out new expeditions approaches. As each expedition is always commissioned to bring back the members of the last one dead or alive, the dispatching of such exploring parties has taken on the features of an endless chain.

This year there will be one or more expeditions sent north to find out, but last year's expeditions that went after traces of Andre. The fate of the daring balloonist is as yet wrapped in impenetrable mystery and many more lives will probably be sacrificed before the world learns, if it ever does, how and where he and his companions fought their losing struggle against nature.

HARVEST FOR CHICKENS.

At a meeting of agriculture and co-operation committee of the House of Commons, Professor Robertson was heard in regard to the method of fattening chickens for the British market. He said that there was a prospect for opening up a large market in this line, and some dealers had offered to take 5,000 a week. Some trial shipments sent last year netted 70 cents profit per chicken. They cost $1.00 when fat, and were sold in the British market for $1.75. Peterborough farmers and poultry men should make a note of it.

LAKE ST. JOHN AND THE SAGUENAY.

Who has not heard of the furor created amongst tourists and sportsmen by the recent opening up of a new and fascinating route to the far-famed Saguenay river in northern Canada by way of Quebec and Lake St. John? One of the most romantic round trips ever planned for a summer outing consists of a triangular trail—if we may be pardoned the paradox—from Quebec to Lake St. John by a railway that crosses the Canadian Adirondacks for 390 miles; from Lake St. John to Chicoutimi, at the head of navigation on the Saguenay, by the last completed link of this railway, and back to Quebec by steamer through the deep rift cleft in the massive mountains of the Saguenay by the dark majestic river of the same name on its way to the sea. From the mouth of the Saguenay at Tadoussac, the steamer's route to Quebec in its heart of the noble St. Lawrence lies past the fashionable Canadian watering places of Capota River du Loup and Murray Bay, the miracle-working shrine of La Bonne Ste. Anne, and the lovely Isle d'Orleans; the most magnificent view obtainable of rock-girt, Citadel-crowned Quebec, being that of the head from the deck of the approaching steamer. But when shall we say of the ever changing panorama of precipitous mountains towering overhead of yawning chasms deep below, of the scores of fish-laden lakes and the miles of rapids and river rapids, which unfold itself to the tourist as the train follows the serpentine course of the new road that invades the wilderness from the heart of the forest, the caribou, the beaver and the aboriginal Montagnais Indian? What ideal camping sites for the artist, the angler or the hunter? What a palatial summer hotel and what a home-like comfort at Roberval, overlooking the great inland sea, whose opposite shore is veiled from view by intervening space? This Lake St. John is the source of the Saguenay and the home of the greatest game fish in existence. The anglers' loudest in its praise are those who have traversed the Atlantic or come from the Southern States to give it fight in the rapid waters of the great lake's discharge, or in its mighty tributaries, many of which are over a mile wide at their mouths and hundreds of miles in length. Here the comfort and safety of the tourist or angler are looked after by the Indian guides who pitch their tents, cook their meals and sing motion over seemingly endless water ways, in the birch-bark canoes of which Hiawatha has so musically sung in Hiawatha.

Mastering the Bicycle.

Bicycling is becoming more popular than ever. Last night a middle-aged gentleman was learning to master the silent steed on Water street. He had his coat off and was surrounded by a body-guard of friends, who helped him up and gave him loads of advice. Before the evening was over he had learned to do very well in guiding the giddy bike. The quickest and best way to learn to ride a bicycle is to go at it alone; put the foot on the rear step, balance on the handles, and shove off with the other foot. After a few attempts the learner will be able to go a long distance standing on the back step. He will then soon be able to climb up to the seat. After a few falls—and these falls do not amount to anything, because the beginner soon learns the knack of putting out his foot to save himself—he will find that he is able to stick on the wheel, even if he does wobble. This way of learning applies to men only, by the editor of this g. l. j., who was never astride a wheel in his life.

MOLLY BAWN.

BY THE DUCHESS.

"You must pardon me," she says, with dignity, "if I refuse to tell you any of my plans."

"You are right in refusing. It is no business of mine. From henceforth I have no interest whatsoever in you or your affairs. Go—go. Why do you linger, bandying words with me, when I bid you leave?"

In a very frenzy of mortification and anger he turns his back upon her, and sinking down into the chair, from which in his rage he has arisen, he lets his head fall forward into his hands.

A great and sudden sadness falls upon Molly. She forgets all the cruel words that have been said, while a terrible compassion for the loneliness, the utter barrenness of his drear-old age grows within her.

Crossing the room with light and noiseless footsteps, treading as though in the presence of one sick unto death, she comes up to him, lays her hands upon his shoulders, and stooping, presses her fresh young lips to his worn and wrinkled forehead.

"Good-bye, grandpapa," she says, softly, kindly. Then, silently, and without another farewell, she leaves him—forever.

She hardly remembers how she makes the return journey; how she took her ticket; how cavalierly she received the attentions of the exceedingly nice young man with flaxen hair suggestive of champagne who would tuck his railway rug around her, heroically unmindful of the cold that penetrated his own bones. Such trifling details escaped her then and afterward, leaving not so much as the smallest track upon her memory. Yet that yellow-haired young man dreamed of her for a week afterward, and would not be comforted, although that could be done by a managing mother with two marriageable daughters was done to please him and bring him to see the error of his ways.

All the way home she ponders anxiously as to whether she shall or shall not reveal to Letitia all that had taken place. To tell her will be beyond count to grieve her; yet not to tell her—how impossible that will be! The very intensity of her indignation and scorn creates in her an imperative desire to open her heart to somebody. And who so sympathetic as Letitia! And, after all, even if she hides it now, will not Letitia discover the truth sooner or later?

She has not yet decided on her line of action when Brooklyn is reached. She is still wavering, even when Letitia, drawing her into the parlor, says, "Well?"

And Molly says, "Well," also, but in a different tone; and then she turns pale, and then red—and then she makes up her mind to tell the whole story. "What did he want with you?" asks Letitia, while she is still wondering how she shall begin.

"Very little," bittrily. "A mere trifle. He only wanted to buy me. He asked me to sell myself body and soul to him—putting me at a high valuation, too; for he offered me Herat in exchange if I would renounce you and the children."

"Molly!"

"Yes, just that. Oh, Letty only a month ago I thought how sweet and fair and good a thing life was, and now—now that old man, tottering into his grave, has taught me the wisdom of it."

"He offered you Herat? He offered you twenty thousand pounds a year?"

"He did indeed. Was it not noble? Does it not show how highly he esteems the place and Marcia was to be portioned off and—I saw by his eyes—banned."

"And you—refuse?"

"Letty! How can you ask me such a question! Besides refusing, I had the small satisfaction of telling him exactly what I thought of him and his proposal. I do not think he will make such overtures to me again. Are you disappointed, Letty, that you look so strangely? Did you think, dear, I should bring you home some good news, instead of such a disastrous story?"

"No," in a low tone, and with a gesture of impatience. "I am not thinking of myself. Last week, Molly, you relinquished your love—for us; to-day you have resigned fortune. Will you never repent? In the days to come, how will you forgive us? Before it is too late, think it over and—"

"Letitia," says Molly, laying her hand upon her sister's lips, "if you ever speak to me like that again, I shall—kill you!"

CHAPTER XXVIII.

Mute and amazed was Alden, and listened and looked at Priscilla, thinking the power had seen her more fair, more divine in her beauty. Longfellow.

It is the 24 of March—four months later (barely four months, for some days must elapse before that time is fully up), and a raw evening—very raw, and cold even for the time of year—when the train, stopping at the Victoria Station, suffers a young man to alight from it.

He is a tall young man, slight and upright, clad in one of the comfortable long coats of the period, with an aristocratic face and sweet, keen blue eyes. His moustache, fair and lengthy, is drooping sadly through dampness and the general inclemency of the weather.

Pushing his way through the other passengers, with a discontented expression upon his genial face that rather misrepresents it, he emerges into the open air to find that a smart drizzle, unworthy the name of rain, is falling incessantly upon him.

There is a fog—not as thick as it might be, but a decided fog—and everything is gloomy to the last degree.

Stumbling up against another tall young man dressed almost to a tie the same as himself, he smoothes the unruly acaulation that rises so naturally to his lips, and after a second glance changes it to one of greeting.

To be continued.

A SCHEME TO KILL THE DOUGL'S BILL.

WESTERN GRAINMEN ASK FOR A LONG POSTPONEMENT.

A Conservative Caucus Discusses the Brockville Election.

Ottawa, May 3.—The sub-committee appointed to consider Dr. Douglas' bill to regulate the trade in grain in Manitoba and the North-west met this afternoon. Messrs. Norton and Fisher and Sir Henri Joly were at the meeting. Mr. Bain was appointed chairman.

Mr. Rowland read a telegram he had from some grain men in the West asking that the committee adjourn for a month so that they would have time to be heard on account of penal clause which was a serious matter to them. On account of the opening of navigation they would not be able to be present earlier.

Messrs. Rutherford, Bertram, Davis and Richardson opposed this long adjournment as it was known how long the session would be, and there might be no time to get the bill passed if this long delay occurred.

Mr. Rutherford moved that the committee adjourn for one week which was only enough time to permit those who wished to be heard to be in attendance. This motion was carried.

A CONSERVATIVE CAUCUS.

An Opposition caucus was held this forenoon in the committee room. The party fighting so small now that a committee room is sufficient to hold all that will attend. The course which it is intended to pursue in regard to the bill was discussed, and it was understood that a decision was reached not to move any amendment to it. This would mean that the debate is not likely to be a prolonged one. Nearly every one had his say on the address.

It is said that the question of protesting Brookville was discussed and a committee was appointed to look after this and certain other political matters. The meeting lasted two hours and a half.

Hon. Mr. Culligan does not attend any caucuses and Col. Sam Hughes and others were not present to-day. Sir Charles Tupper presided.

SPRING.

Come gentle spring—
Gentle springtime come.
Oh, come on.
Do not linger in the Lap of winter in that Compromising fashion.
It looks disgraceful.
Turn on a little of that Liberal mildness
We used to read about
In bygone days.
The calendar says
That you have come.
But you have not—
Not on your expectations.
The Easter lilies,
If you remember, were Made almost entirely
Of paper.
The air is chill
(Or chilly, um as you prefer)
As the plump heart.
The winter overcoat
From working too
Late in the year
Grows already at the edge.
The burdened stocking,
Long since sighing for
The darter's needle,
Has vacant places
At the heel.
The white vest
Has hung so long on the Peg it has a lump Sprouting at the back
Of the neck.
Like the button on a Cellar door.
The Easter hat looks
As though it had been Picked too soon.
The bicycle trade
Seems still to suffer
From Pipe Fridge,
Or Frozen Pipes, as the Vulgate bath it.
While the landed gentry—
And flattered gentry, too—
Grows your supplying fuel
For apartments.
And still you linger
Linger, linger, linger, Linger longer Lou, so
To speak.
Why can't you break away
And give the poor
Less man
A chance?

PARTITION OF CHINA.

The most threatening source of trouble in the East has been laid by agreement between Russia and England in respect to China. By it the struggle for supremacy will change into a joint system of aggression in which China will lose the protection she enjoyed by reason of the international jealousies which prevented the powers cutting her off.

The old story of the partition of Poland is to be re-enacted, and upon a larger scale and without the protests that were named as being extending in that continental straggles. Russia, Austria and Prussia all agreed that the geographical relation of Poland to themselves, with its warlike and restless people, was a menace to peace, but China holds out no active threat of disorder. She wants to be left alone, and while she blocks the way of commerce and does not take her share in the responsibilities of nations, and moreover has had a few her manifest destiny for a century, there is something pathetic in the helplessness of 400,000,000 people to maintain a national existence. They are just leading away without a glow of patriotism to keep them alive, without courage, hope or apprehension, in calm apathy dropping out of the affairs of the world whose civilization has outgrown their methods.

The terms of the agreement are based upon commercial opportunities, being equally divided, and the marketing out of territorial claims of influence. But when the way it was done in Africa when France, England and Germany made new maps of the continent and printed their national claims on them to indicate the territorial boundaries they intended to adopt when the imperial pieces of "spheres of influence" ceased to be effective. Russia will, of course, erect such barriers as she may in Manchuria against the entry from the sea of any commerce whatever and to maintain her present trade in China as exclusive and preferential by right of having developed it.

WHAT WALK OUT TO LIBERTY.

The escape of Pare and Hoden, at this critical juncture, the first only two weeks distant, looks, to say the least of it, suspicious.

The people of Napaes distinguished themselves by having a riot not long ago, and bustling a judge-in-insult which was resented by every citizen of Napaes where the judiciary are supposed to be as inviolable as they are incorruptible. In view of the riot and the injudicious participation of the citizens of Napaes at the time of the trial, it can hardly be doubted that they are still some residual feeling in that country.

The telegraphic reports indicate that the two crooks had almost unhindered movement about the corridors of the jail, and that they went about their escape with the utmost coolness and deliberation. Moreover there were three skeleton keys found in Pare's room. Who left them there? Did the jail officials consider it unnecessary to make an occasional search of the prisoners?

The fatuous economy of the country council in removing the night watchman and allowing two hardened criminals, notorious cracksmen, to wander about unscrutinized in a gimcrack jail, is inexplicable. The government should see to it that there is a rigid investigation.

A MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.

Peter King Leaves His Home Sunday, and Cannot Be Found.

The mysterious disappearance from his home on Sunday afternoon, has occasioned the efforts of Peter King, a well-known local character, to locate him have been futile. At times Mr. King's mind has not been perfectly clear, although he has not been afflicted for some time but the supposition is that he suffered a return of the trouble and while in the state wandered away. He was seen by the Webster funeral on Sunday and since that time no information has been obtainable concerning his movements. Any information regarding him will be gratefully received by an anxious family.

MR. FORTER RETIRES.

Mr. Geo. Brown New Proprietor of the Charming Park Hotel.

Mr. Louis Forter, known far and wide as the genial and accommodating host of the Charming Park hotel, has leased that property to Mr. George Brown, brother of Messrs. Ed. and Bert Brown, town, and the deal is being closed this morning.

It will be with regret that the many patrons of this well-known hostelry will learn of Mr. Forter's retirement, although they can rely upon courteous treatment at the hands of Mr. Brown, whose enterprise is already to be seen. It is his intention to erect a building distinct from the hotel proper, for the bar, which will also embrace a billiard room and a bowling alley.

Probably suffocated.

Lindsay Post: Returning trappers report that since the advent of winter weather it is impossible to camp along the shores of Goose Lake owing to the fearful stench arising from the dead fish thrown up by the waves and floating about in the shallows. There are tons and tons of green or weed bass, with a few catfish. Exaggerated fishermen say the fish were suffocated as a result of the very severe frost. Goose lake is shallow, and as the fish spend the winter in the weed beds in a semi-torpid condition, it is believed, owing to the great depth of ice on the lake, that in the shallow stretches the water from clear to the bottom. Whatever the cause of the mortality, the loss of fish has been great, and it is feared will have an effect in reducing the catch in these waters for a couple of seasons.

REMEMBER THE OLD MAN.

Written for The Times
Remember the old man who cleared off the farm.
Who built the new house, likewise the new barn.
Who cleared the farm when covered with trees.
Now let him live on it with comfort and ease.
His body may be bent his steps may be slow.
And his face may be wrinkled and his head like snow.
Speak kindly to him, it will do you no harm.
To remember the old man who cleared off the farm.

Remember the old man who cleared off the farm.
That made you a home to keep you all warm.
Who reaped each field which would best grow wheat.
Who's later had been both sour and sweet.
Whose toby by the morning dew had often been wet.
Who toiled and struggled to pay off the debt.
Who never grew weary in cold weather or warm—
So remember the old man who cleared off the farm.

Remember the old man who cleared off the farm.
For the old house has still for him many a charm.
Do not sneer at when you see him go by with a limp.
To lead the young pigs with a load of skinned milk.
Nor when he says his old horse was once able
To outpull anything now in your stable.
Let it ever be pleasure to honor and cheer the old man who cleared off the old farm.

Be just to the old man who cleared off the farm.
For he remembers the time when there was no big barn,
And old blind "Lobby" with his lame hind leg
You'd sit to sleep in what's now the rotten old shed.
And that poor old shanty, which you now all slight,
Your mother slept in it on her first wedding night.
And thought it a palace, as she slept snug and warm.
So remember the old man who cleared off the farm.

Remember the old man, who cleared off the farm.
Who honestly earned it with his sinewy arm.
And see how he will smile with laughter and glee,
When his granddaughter comes to crouch up on his knee.
For pinups and candies he ever has had,
For the dear little darling who calls him "grand-dad,"
And pictures like these does the heart churn a back seat.
So remember the old man, who cleared off the farm.

He taught his dear children, who now run the farm
With its new-built house and its new-built barn.
When "company" comes, don't give him a back seat.
For it shows little love, and lots of conceit.
But tend him with care, and honest love give,
Then God will bless you as long as you live.
Be kind, be kind, for these have a charm.
That will cheer the old man who cleared off the farm.

An interesting relic.

A very interesting relic may be seen in the window of Tully's drug store, being a walking stick of Tripus Saitan's, taken from the palace when Farrington was captured by Lord Wellesley, (afterwards the Duke of Wellington) on 4th of May, 1799—Just one hundred years ago to-day. The stick is the property of Mr. W. H. Clouston.

THE STORY OF A TRAGEDY.

How Old Jim Took the Result of Maria Taylor's March.

"The events which I am about to relate," remarked Captain Joseph Brown, formerly Mayor of St. Louis, to your correspondent the other day, "occurred long before the war. I was a passenger on the boat that carried the whole affair. A principal actor in the scenes that led up to the tragedy, for so it proved to be, was Andrew Butler. Mr. Butler lived in Hannibal, Mo., and was a slave dealer. Those purchased by Mr. Butler in this section were usually transferred, before reaching their final destination, to Lynch's slave pen, located on Fifth street (now Broadway), between Elm and Poplar streets, where they were held until after a sufficient number had been collected to make a shipment desirable, when they were taken to New Orleans and sold from the block; if they had not before been disposed of by private sale.

"At that time there was a family living in Ralls county, near Hannibal, who were wealthy and had rather a gay young son who spent much of his time in Hannibal and on the river, and who contracted fast habits, including a penchant for gambling. He, however, afterwards married and seemed to settle down.

"The father of the family had a plantation and among the household was then, a negro who had a number of very bright children, and, as was often the case, little Sallie and Jim were always considered as belonging to young Mrs. George Taylor and his wife. Jim was George's body servant, while Sallie took care of young Misses and the little Taylors that were coming on. Jim was given a good deal of liberty, to the extent of going into Hannibal on odd occasions and hiring himself to the landlady of the hotel (at that time Mr. Campbell) to wait on the table.

"It so happened that Andrew J. Butler was a guest at the house on a public occasion when Jim, either by accident or design (for all the blacks hated a slave trader), spilled a plate of soup over the dress suit of Butler, which so incensed him that he demanded that the 'negro Jim' should be whipped. But Mr. Campbell, now owning the negro, refused to have it done. The result was that Butler swore vengeance on the negro and said he would yet own him and would give him a hundred lashes and then sell him for plantation work in the South, which was the horror of a family negro in Missouri, and when a negro child disobeyed the threat was often used to frighten him into obedience.

"The following fall George Taylor and his beautiful wife, together with their servants, Jim and Sallie, were passengers on the Route Captain Cameron, on their way to New Orleans and the St. Charles Hotel. At St. Louis it so happened that they took passage on a splendid passenger steamer Astor, Captain Jim Gomez and Clerk Hamilton Hawley, the first of Louisville and the latter of Memphis, and it also occurred that Andrew J. Butler, with a number of slaves was a passenger on the same boat for New Orleans.

"The first night out Butler approached Taylor and proposed a game of poker. Taylor consented to the game, and they played on to midnight, every little while having their glasses filled at the bar with mint juleps or some thing stronger, until at length they became more or less intoxicated, and $2,000 of Taylor's money, all he had had passed into Butler's hands. Butler was not willing to play unless Taylor had money to 'ante-up' or something in its stead. The result was that Taylor, in his drunken frenzy, put up his watch and lost it. After the watch had been passed over, before a crowd of excited passengers, who, however, dared not interfere, Butler triumphantly said: 'What else have you got to put up?' Taylor answered: 'I have nothing but this ring,' which was a large cluster of diamonds. Butler said: 'I do not want any more of your jewelry, but I will play you $1,200 against Jim, Jim, who had been loitering around his master during the night to see to his personal safety, now stepped up and said: 'Mars George, don't do that. That man has almost ruined you now, and he wants to get me so he can kill me, 'cause he hates me on an old grudge.' Taylor, who by this time, was frenzied with his losses and liquor, merely said: 'Go away, Jim, and let me alone. I am bound to get even with him yet, but I won't put you up for no $1,000.' And that night away, retorted Butler; I am playing this game, and I want no interference, and he fairly glared at George through his bloodshot eyes as he said: 'Name your price that you will put up that nugget for and I'll put up the stake.' 'I'll put him up for $2,000 and nothing less,' said Taylor. 'Agreed,' said Butler, and he produced the amount, which was only a part of the money he had won from Taylor.

"Who's deal is it?" said Butler. 'It's my deal,' said Taylor. Meanwhile Sallie, Jim's sister, who had been looking on while holding one of the children in her arms, ran back into the ladies' cabin to Mrs. Taylor, and said: 'Lor', missus, Mars George is playing off Jim with that gambler Butler, an' if you don't hurry we'll lose him. Mrs. Taylor started down the cabin to where they were playing, and on reaching the table said: 'George, don't play for him; he's like one of the family, and we can't do without him and Sallie.' 'Jim's up,' said Butler, 'and he's got to be played for.' Mrs. Taylor then dependently said: 'If you win him will you let us redeem him at New Orleans?' 'I make no promises,' said Butler, with his soft but pressed down his forehead 'Give me two cards,' he said in a maudlin tone of voice. Taylor laid down two cards, and dealt himself two more, when he asked Butler what he had. Butler threw down a pair of aces, a pair of kings and a jack. Taylor gasped and fell back in his chair, at the same time dropping on the table a pair of queens and a pair of tens. Butler put up his roll of bills, took from his pocket a pair of handcuffs, and, looking over at Jim, who was holding on his master's chair, said: 'Come here Jim, I want you. Bring your bundle down with me on deck.' Jim, falteringly said: 'Let me go back in the cabin and bid missus good-bye.' Butler said: 'Go ahead and be quick about it.' Jim accompanied Mrs. Taylor and Sallie back to the ladies' cabin, and after bidding his mistress, the children and his sister good-bye, said: 'I hope we shall meet in that world you have so often told me about.' Then with one bound he cleared the rail and landed in the waves back of the wheel. He tossed up and down for a few seconds with his arms over his head, and then disappeared.

"Mars George's rage ran out from the flower block. The boat was stopped, the yawl lowered and manned, but no sign of poor Jim. Nothing but his hat floating on the waves of the wheels. After a few minutes the yawl came back with the hat, the only remnant of Jim."

DECORATED BY THE SULTAN.

Niece of a Minister to Turkey Highly Honored by Royalty.

It is seldom the Sultan of Turkey confers the decoration of the Second Order of the Uthi-Kaht. Miss Sissie Strauss, of New York, recently returned from Constantinople, where she had been studying modern Greek, bringing with her the high distinction conferred by the Sultan. The young lady is a niece of Oscar Strauss, United States minister to Turkey, and it was the Friday before she came away from Constantinople that she accompanied her uncle and the members of the diplomatic corps with their wives on a visit to pay their respects to the Sultan as he went to his devotion in the Mosque. As the Sultan passed he bowed to his along the line, but especially to Miss Strauss.

After her return to her uncle's apartments the Sultan's chamberlain called, and presented to Miss Strauss, with the Sultan's compliments, the decoration of the Second Order of the Uthi-Kaht.

The decoration is a rich and elaborate affair. It is a five-pointed star, made of gold and studded with diamonds, and is attached by a gold pin to a silk ribbon. The five points of the star branch out from a disk on the edge of which is engraved the Sultan's monogram.

It is not often that the Sultan confers this order, and his bestowal of it to the present lady is regarded as not only a compliment to the popularity of an American girl in Turkey, but as an evidence of the Sultan's appreciation of the popularity of the American minister there. Mr. Strauss, it is said, would have been decorated by the Sultan long before this but for the rule which forbids American representatives to accept decorations.

A Sensible Idea.

A business made the remark to us the other day, that the merchants should once more adopt the plan of having a half-holiday once a week during the months of June, July and August. We think the idea is a good one, as a little relaxation from the strain of business, and an outdoor tonic once a week would be refreshing alike to the shopkeepers and their clerks, while the loss to any one would not be a serious matter. It has been adopted in quite a number of places without friction, and no doubt in time it will become general.

Four Point Bearings

THE 1899 E & D. hasn't a score of useless experimental changes, but what changes it has are improvements. A careful examination of its construction will convince you of its superiority. The test of previous seasons has proven that only the best material is used, and in its matchless construction, finish and general make-up it thoroughly deserves the title of "ARTISTIC." Fork heads, swivels, cranks, hangers, hubs, seat posts and seat masts in the 1899 models are drop forged steel. Positively no castings or stampings used.

Taking It Up.

The popular member for East Peterborough, Mr. Bleard, has been in Toronto lately and paid a visit to the Parliament buildings to urge the Fisheries Department to put a stop to the spearing of fish in Rice Lake. There is not doubt whatever that a tremendous lot of illegal fishing has been done, and Mr. Bleard is right in wanting the law enforced somewhat. The department it is hoped, will take prompt measures to put a stop to it.

HEROINES OF PEACE.

When we read stories of the terrible Spanish Inquisition of the olden times, it seems as if the tortures they depict were almost beyond the invention of the most depraved and fiendish mind; and yet here in our own enlightened land and in this Nineteenth Century of Civilization, thousands of weaker women suffer from our own diseases, poisons and wives—suffering from some unnatural weakness of the delicate organism of their sex, are daily undergoing an almost equally terrible, physical anguish and martyrdom.

"I could not walk across my room without suffering dreadful pains," said another lady, Mrs. J. J. Jones, of Madison Ave., Yonkers, N. Y. "I was treated with female weakness. I had suffered for two years when I began taking your medicine but now after taking three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription I am free from pain. I do all my housework and walk where I please—thanks to Dr. Pierce's medicine."

"It is the only medicine that relieved my terrible headache," said Mrs. A. P. Woodard, of Lebanon, Warren Co., Ohio. "Very truly it is the only medicine ever introduced that delicate and ailing women can possibly rely upon to give them complete and permanent relief."

No other remedy was ever devised that so thoroughly rejuvenates the entire nervous system of women; healing and curing all weakness and diseased conditions of the female organism and restoring womanly strength and completeness. It is the only proprietary remedy ever devised for this one special purpose by an educated and eminent physician, a specialist of world-wide reputation in this particular field of practice. No woman need or ought to allow her whole nature, physical and mental, to be undermined by such ailments without writing to Dr. Pierce who may obtain Professional advice free of charge.

THE NEW YORK WORLD

THIRCE-A-WEEK EDITION

Practically a Daily at the price of a Weekly.

The striking and important events of the last year have established the overwhelming value of THE THIRCE-A-WEEK WORLD to every reader. For an almost nominal sum it has kept its subscribers informed of the progress of all our wars and, moreover, has reported them as promptly and fully as if it were a daily. With our interests still extending throughout the world, with our troops operating in the Philippines, and the great Presidential campaign, too, at hand, its value is further increased.

The motto of THE THIRCE-A-WEEK WORLD is improvement. It gives each year to be better than it was the year before, and public confidence in it is shown by the fact that it now circulates more than twice as many papers every week as any other newspaper, not a daily, published in America.

A Warning to Critics.

Critics who are in the habit of supporting their whips against plate-glass windows had better discontinue the practice at once if they wish to avoid trouble. The practice is becoming quite prevalent especially at evening. Many of the stores doing business after six, provide wheel racks, but where there are none, it is better to stand a wheel against the curbstone than assume the risk of demolishing an expensive window.

SPORTING NOTES.

What is Going on in Local and Outside Sporting Circles.

BASEBALL.

The baseball boys had a lively practice game last night. There was a splendid turnout and on the whole the preliminary work indicates that the team of this season will be as strong if not superior to those of former seasons, and if the proper kind of public support is accorded, a successful season will no doubt mark the team's work.

"Billy" Ponton may play first base for the Crescent team in the game against the St. Michael's on Saturday. Toronto will play the evening game at Hamilton's Point, a week from Saturday. They have eight more scheduled games before their return making the round of the Eastern clubs.

LACROSSE.

This is regular practice night for the lacrosse boys and it is earnestly desired that there be a good turnout. It has never been recorded yet, where a Peterborough lacrosseist required any persuading to get into the game. They are always ready and willing for the time and this year will be no exception. The season will open in early June and the season will be a very successful one.

Work Progresses Rapidly.

Work on the excavation in connection with the hydraulic lock to be constructed on the Trent canal, near Armstrong's hill, is progressing smoothly and rapidly. There yet remains 20,000 yards of earth to be taken out, but if the work continues as at present this will soon be accomplished. The lock when completed will be the first of the kind constructed on the continent. Fifty men are performing the work.

The Times Thanks.

Snaps Shots With a Graphophone.

The Graphophone, in the ear what the photograph camera is to the eye and more, for the graphophone catches instantly and preserves every tint and shade of sound. A most interesting use of a graphophone is to make records of your friends' voices to be preserved for future use. You can catch the story of your jolly friend just as he told it, or the favorite song of some loved one, just as she sang it and have it reproduced perfectly at any time and as often as you please. Besides the Graphophone affords wonderful entertainment in the way of reproducing the music of bands, orchestras or vocal or instrumental solos. No investment will return as much in pleasure as the purchase of a Graphophone. It is the perfect talking machine. The GRAPHOPHONE
Most fascinating invention of the age. Always ready to entertain. It requires no skill to operate it and reproduces the music of voices, orchestras, vocalists or instrumentalists. There is nothing like it for an evening's entertainment. Other so-called talking machines reproduce only records of unskilled subjects, specially prepared in a laboratory, but the Graphophone is not limited to such performances. On the Graphophone you can easily make and instantly reproduce records of the voice, or any sound. This is constantly an added new interest, and its charm is ever fresh. The reproductions are clear and brilliant.

Graphophones are sold for $10 and upwards. Manufactured under the patents of Bell, Edison and Gramophone. Only genuine Graphophones and Talking Machine Records. Write for catalogue.

INDIANS TONING THEIR WAR PAINT

READY TO SCALP THE WHITES FOR THE DEATH OF JAKE ICE.

Serious trouble feared on the St. Regis Reserve. The Indians are toning their war paint, and are ready to scalp the whites for the death of Jake Ice.

Cornwall, May 4.—The trouble over the killing of John Ice by Commissioner Sherwood, Superintendent of the Dominion Police, on Monday last at St. Regis, is not yet ended.

At 8 o'clock yesterday morning high mass was offered up for the dead warrior at the village church, at St. Regis, and the entire population of St. Regis, Cornwall Island and Hogansburg, N. Y. Reserve, were in attendance.

Many of the squaws, who were present wept copiously. After the mass was finished the tribesmen and their squaws marched in silence behind the funeral bier. At the grave the services of the Roman Catholic Church were said, and the Indians returned to their wigwams, and later in the day.

GATHERED IN GROUPS.
around the village to await the verdict of the coroner's jury, and the disposition they would make of Col. Sherwood, whom they expected would be incarcerated in the Huntington Jail, along with their chiefs, who were arrested on Monday. Upon hearing the news that the Commissioner had been exonerated by a verdict of justifiable homicide, they were very much disappointed, and said they would await the trial of their chiefs before making any statement as to what they purposed doing.

A UNITED STATES INDIAN.
However, last night your correspondent got wind that Mitchell Leaf, a United States Indian, who escaped arrest, and who was one of those who precipitated most of the trouble at the time of the election of chiefs in March, was at Cornwall Island gathering arms and ammunition. I called at the house of Mitchell Jacobs, who is one of the peaceable members of the tribe. He said the report was quite true. Mitchell Leaf had come to the island during the night and gone to Chief Mitchell Bovins, and was endeavoring to gather a force and arms for further resistance.

WIRED FOR SHERWOOD.
Said Jacobs, "I telegraphed to Commissioner Sherwood to come to Cornwall at once, and he wired me to go to Huntington and explain the situation to the Government in the matter. I am just leaving for there now. We must subdue these men," said Jacobs, "and that at once, before they proceed any further, or serious consequences will follow."

This last move on the part of Leaf bears out the fact that the Indians are circulating the "chain notice" for the purpose of concentrating their forces, and more trouble is looked for by those who know the true nature of the red man.

DETENTION OF ARSON.
Toronto, May 4.—Wm. King, hostler at an hotel at Lansdowne avenue, and Dennis Smith, in under arrest, on a charge of arson.

Yesterday he went to the Brick Club House, 547 Dundas street, run by Mr. Ed. McCormick, and was refused liquor. He went out. Shortly afterwards smoke was seen coming out of the stable in the rear. Investigation revealed the fact that the stall was on fire, and King was in the stall.

To-day Magistrate Danison remanded him till Monday.

—In compliance with a request from St. Catharines, the police are on the alert for a man about thirty-five years of age and a boy about 17, whose suspected of having robbed a house in that city.

THE TRENT VALLEY CANAL DEPUTATION

SECURED THE MINISTER'S PROMISES THAT HE WILL ASSIST THEM.

The Government yesterday agreed to start work on both ends of the canal.

Ottawa, May 4.—A. T. Boyd, of Bobcaygeon; H. J. Wickham, of Toronto; M. B. Morrison, of Trenton; D. W. Dumbie, Richard Hall and Thomas Blizard, of Peterboro'; H. B. Rathbun, of Deerpont, along with Messrs. Lang, M.P., McHugh, M.P., and Stratton, M.P., waited on Hon. Mr. Blair to-day in reference to the Trent Valley Canal.

The delegates were satisfied with the explanation made but they want the work to commence at both ends. The Minister promised to do what he could to meet their views.

APPOINTED A TRANSLATOR.
At a meeting of the Delegates Committee to-day, J. G. de Ladurantie, of Montreal, was appointed translator, in place of Pelland, dismissed.

OTTAWA'S SUNDAY CARS.
At a meeting of the Ottawa Electric Railway Company's bill regarding Sunday cars was referred to a sub-committee, comprising Messrs. Belcourt, Russell, Fraser, Tisdale, Bergeron and Fitzpatrick.

THE TOWN PROTECTED.
Another case of the C.P.R. exploiting town sites in British Columbia was brought up at the Railway Committee to-day. Mr. Hewitt Boeck called attention to it on the Columbia and Western Railway bill, which is a Canadian Pacific charter, asking for bonding privileges of $35,000 per mile.

Mr. Boeck pointed out that the town was originally surveyed to pass through the town of Grand Forks, which had a population of 1,200, but the Canadian Pacific had now changed the route to sidetrack that town. He asked that Mr. Richard Armstrong, president of the Board of Trade of Grand Forks, be heard. Mr. Armstrong complained severely of the action of the Canadian Pacific. He said that they did not employ any Canadians. Swedes and Italians from Chicago were employed in building the road, and it would be just as well to have Chinese on the work. In addition to the bonding privileges being heavy, he would ask that the company give better treatment to the people of British Columbia. In this case the town of Grand Forks was being side-tracked, because the people would not give about one-third of all that they had to the Canadian Pacific. All that Grand Forks wanted was cold justice.

Mr. Blair said that the bonding privileges were not too heavy, and as for side-tracking towns was concerned, he re-affirmed his declaration of the other day as to locating stations and if necessary to make the law retroactive.

The bill after some debate was passed.

FOR A THIRD TIME.
Ottawa, May 4.—The St. Clair & Erie Ship Canal Bill, which has passed the Railway Committee twice already, and is expiring for a third time, was again put through to-day. Col. Tisdale has charge of this bill.

CATHOLIC CHILDREN.
Numbering over 7,000 attended Mass said by Archbishop O'Connor.

Toronto, May 4.—This morning at St. Michael's Cathedral, Archbishop O'Connor said mass for the Catholic children of Toronto. The service began at nine o'clock, and His Grace was assisted by the Rev. Fathers Hand Tracy. There were 2,500 children present from the senior classes of the "Sacred Schools," under the leadership of their respective teachers and accompanied by School Trustees Ray, Walsh and Carey.

After the sacrifice of the mass, the Archbishop received an address from the school children, to which he replied at length, impressing upon the children the advantages of a religious education, and dwelling upon the fact that this was the first day of veneration of the Father, the founder of the order of Christian Brothers, who devoted their lives to the education of the Catholic youth. In commemoration of this the children were allowed a holiday by the Archbishop.

This afternoon at 1 o'clock there will be a reception at St. Michael's Cathedral, tendered to the Archbishop by the faculty of the institution. A luncheon will follow, which will be attended by the clergy who attended the ceremonies yesterday. No laymen have been invited to the function.

A Memorable Idea.
A business made the remark to us the other day, that the merchants should once more adopt the plan of having a half-holiday once a week during the months of June, July and August. We think the idea is a good one, as a little relaxation from the strain of business, and an outdoor trip once a week would be refreshing alike to storekeepers and their clerks, while the loss to any one would not be a serious matter. It has been adopted in quite a number of places without friction, and no doubt in time it will become general.

STEEL MAGNATES MEET.

Indications that give freedom to the steel industry in the United States.

New York, May 4.—The Times publishes the following: "Further progress towards consolidation of the big steel interests of the country was made yesterday at a meeting in which Judge W. R. Moore of Chicago, H. C. Frick, representing the Carnegie interests, and other prominent steel men took part."

After the meeting there was a rumor that an offer of $150,000,000 had been made for the Carnegie interests, and that Mr. Frick had taken it under consideration for consultation with Mr. Carnegie. At the offices of one of the largest concerns in the country, it was stated that there were good grounds for this report, that the offer had been made, but with what probability of acceptance could not be said.

It was also said, offers had been made to the Federal Steel Company and the American Steel and Wire Company to join the combination, but that so far nothing definite had been decided upon.

John W. Gates, president of the latter company, said he had not become a member of the consolidation, but there was "no telling what might happen."

The deal, it was variously reported, would probably be concluded on a basis of from $25,000,000 to $70,000,000; moreover, that it would be financed by the National City Bank, J. P. Morgan and Company, and J. W. Seligman and Company.

NEWS FROM ALASKA.
Seattle, May 4.—Sixty prospectors arrived here to-day from Copper River, Alaska, on the steamer Alaska. They brought with them a report of the discovery of the richest vein of copper in the history of the province and death, and many bore evidence on their bodies of the ravages of scurvy and frost. A man named Young hobbled off the vessel on the stump of two legs. Another man, Alexander Powell, but one foot, F. C. Goodwin, of Oakland, California, who a year ago was black with scurvy and whose knees are bruised by contact with the ice, strapped his sick partner on a sled and started for the coast, or perhaps he arrived at the mouth of the Chitina river, but his partner was frozen stiff to the sled. The Government expedition under Captain Abercrombie was arranging to twin the construction of a road into the interior when the President left. The natives with provisions and anti-scurvy pills had been sent into the interior.

THE MYSTERY DEEPENS.
According to reports from a friend of Peter King's whereabouts.

The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Peter King on Sunday, remains as deep as ever. Searching parties were organized yesterday and the river banks and adjacent country thoroughly explored. Not the slightest trace of the missing man's whereabouts was discovered.

It is indeed strange, that the man should disappear in the middle of the day, without any one having seen him. In the home of the missing man, an early report for it is feared that the worst may have happened.

MOLLY BAWN.

BY THE DUCHESS.

"Ah, Fanning, is it you?" he says. "This beauty that prevented my recognizing you at first. How are you? It is ages since we met last."

"Is it indeed you, Luttrell?" says the new-brother, stopping short and altering his countenance to one of pleased astonishment. "You are in the flesh? Let me look at you!" drawing Luttrell into the neighborhood of an unhappy lamp that tries against its conscience to think it is showing light, and grows every minute fainter and more depressed in its struggle against truth. "All the way from Paddyland, where he has spent four long months," says Mr. Fanning, "and he is still alive! It is inconceivable! Let me examine you. So-and-so, I protest—round in wind and limb; not a defacing mark! I wouldn't have believed it if I hadn't seen it. I am awfully glad to see you, old boy. What are you going to do with your self this evening?"

"I wish I knew. I am absolutely thrown up on the world. You will take me somewhere with you if you have any clearing about you."

"I'm engaged for this evening," with a groan. "Ain't I unlucky? Hing it all, something told me to refuse old Vignette's invitation card, but I wouldn't be warned. Now, what can I do for you?"

"You can at least advise me how best to kill time to-night."

"The Altimira has a good thing on," says young Fanning, brightening, "and the Argyle."

"I'm used up, morally and physically," interrupts Luttrell, rather impatiently. "Suggest something calmer—musical, or that."

"Oh, musical! That is mild. I have been educated in the belief that a sojourn in Ireland renders one savage for the remainder of his days. I blush for my ignorance. If it is first-class music you want, go to hear Wynor sing. She does sing this evening, happily to you, and anything more delicious, both in face and voice, has not arrived in London to madness for a considerable time. Go, cheer her, but leave your heart at your hotel before going. The Grosvenor, is it, or the Langham. Ah, I shall call to-morrow. By-by, old man. Go and see Wynor and you will be richly rewarded. She is tremendously lovely."

"I will," says Luttrell; and having dined and dressed himself, he goes and does it.

Feeling listless, and not in the slightest degree interested in the coming performance, he enters the concert-room to find himself decidedly late. Some one has evidently just finished singing, and the applause that followed the effort has not yet quite died away.

With all the air of a man who wonders vaguely within himself what in the world has brought him here, Luttrell makes his way to a vacant chair and seats himself beside an elderly, pleasant-faced man, too darkly skinned and too bright-eyed to belong to this country.

"You are late-late," says the stranger, in perfect English, and with all the gentleness of most foreigners making room for him. "She has just sung. 'Has she?' faintly amused. 'Who?' 'Miss Wynor. Ah! you have sustained a loss."

"I am unlucky," says Luttrell, feeling some slight disappointment—very slight. Good singers can be heard again. "I came expressly to hear her. I have been told she sings well."

"Well, well!" dies disdainfully. "Your informant was careful not to overlook the truth. It is marvellous—arguing, best voice," says the Italian, with such unexpressed enthusiasm as makes Luttrell smile. "These antediluvian attachments," thinks he, "are always so."

"You make me more regretful every minute," he says politely. "I feel as though I had lost something."

"So you have. But be consoled. She will sing again later on."

Leaning back, Luttrell takes a survey of the room. It is crowded to excess, and brilliant as lights and gay apparel can make it. Fans are flashing, and eyes, so are gems of greater value still—black eyes, blue and gray. Pretty dresses are melting into other pretty dresses, and there is a great deal of beauty everywhere for those who choose to look for it.

After awhile his gaze, slowly traveling, falls on Cecil Stalford. She is showing even more than usually very agreeable to a tall, lanky, eighteenth-century sort of man, who sits beside her and is kindly allowing himself to be amused.

An intense desire to go to her and put the silly question that in an instant race to his lips seizes Luttrell; but she is unhappily so situated that he can not get at her. Unlucky!—he is sitting up front, and she is sitting in the third row, and he is making her self very agreeable to a tall, lanky, eighteenth-century sort of man, who sits beside her and is kindly allowing himself to be amused.

Then the business of the evening proceeds, and she turns her attention to the singers, and he has no more time to wonder at her sudden change of countenance.

A very small young lady, hidden away in countless yards of pink silk, delights them with one of the ballads of the day. Her voice is far the best part of her, and awakens in one's mind, a curious craving to know where it comes from.

THE 1899 E & D. hasn't a score of useless experimental changes, but what changes it has are improvements. A careful examination of its construction will convince you of its superiority. The test of previous seasons has proven that only the best material is used, and in its matchless construction, finish and general make-up it thoroughly deserves the title of "ARTISTIC." Fork heads, swivels, cranks, hangers, tubes, seat posts and seat masts in the 1899 models are drop forged steel. Positively no castings or stampings used.

A LONG CROOKED ROAD.

Love has a long way to go to reach the heart of the modern up-to-date young man. When he looks for a wife, he expects a good deal. Probably he expects more than he deserves.

He wants good looks, good sense, good nature, good health. They usually go together. An observing man learns that a woman who is physically weak and nervous and incapable, is likely to be ill-tempered too. The sweetest temper is ruined by continual sickness.

A woman whose nerves are constantly racked and dragged by debilitating drains and inflammation, cannot be a great companion or happy wife; and she is totally unfit to be a mother.

These troubles prevail almost universally among women largely because of carelessness and neglect. There is no need of them. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive specific for the weakness and diseases of the feminine organism. It cures them radically and completely. It builds, strengthens and purifies. It is the only scientific remedy devised for this special purpose by an educated, skilled physician. It is the only medicine that makes motherhood easy and absolutely safe.

Its sale through dealers in medicines exceeds the combined sale of all other medicines for women. It acts directly and only on the child-bearing organs. It allays inflammation, soothes pain, heals ulceration and gives the tortured nerves a rest. It does away with the discomforts of the expectant period and makes baby's coming easy and comparatively painless. Thousands of women have testified to its wonderful virtues. All good druggists sell it and honest dealers will not offer inferior substitutes for the sake of a little extra profit. Dr. Pierce has been for thirty years chief consulting physician of the famous Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. His reputation as a skilled specialist in women's ailments is world-wide.

Miss Loretta McNeese, of Reno (P. O. Box 77), Washoe Co., Nev., writes: "I have discontinued taking the 'Prescription' and will not take any more (at present). Last month I had no pain at all and worked every day without any inconvenience whatever. It was the first time I never had pain during that period. I cannot say too much for your medicine especially the 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pleasant Pellets.' I know of a lady who took one bottle of your 'Favorite Prescription' and she says she was not sick like she was with her first baby. This was her second baby. She thinks it a great medicine. So do I."

"I had suffered untold misery for a number of years, with ovarian trouble, an exhausting drain, constipation, painful periods and other annoying troubles," writes Mrs. Annie James of No. 77 Seventh St., Memphis, Shelby Co., Tenn. "Thank God, my health has been fully restored and I am glad to say I am a well woman to-day. I used six or seven bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription,' and also used the lotion which you advised in the 'Common Sense Medical Adviser.'"

"For years I had been failing in health and kept getting worse and more nervous all the time," writes Mrs. Annie Dulan, of East Stroudsburg, Monroe Co., Pa. "I consulted with two different doctors and they told me that my system was run down and my nerves were weak. I had slivers of the uterus which were so painful at times that I was afraid that they must be removed. Indeed I felt discouraged with the treatment, and did not get any better until my nurse advised me to write to you and I did so."

"In May I commenced taking your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription' and followed your advice as closely as I could. I took twelve bottles in all, one of each. Thanks to God and the right kind of medicine I feel myself cured and a well woman. I have no bad feeling whatever and can do the work for a family of eight, and feel better than I have for years."

Dr. Pierce has had a life-time of experience in this particular field. His extensive knowledge of the human system, and his common sense medical advice, is contained several chapters devoted to women's special pathology. A paper-bound copy will be sent free on receipt of one-cent stamp to pay the cost of stamps and mailing only. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y. An Increase of $1,000.
The Town Trusts Commission have appointed arbitrators to deal with the expired leases of the market square. The properties affected are the Tins building, Nellie's store, the Matthews store, China Hall and the stores occupied by Mr. C. N. Brown and Mr. Success, on Simon street. It is stated the increased rents will amount to about $2,000 per year.

A Lawyer in Trouble.
A Japanese despatch says Mr. E. Guss Porter arrived in town at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon from Brockville. When asked how this would affect the amercement trial in Toronto, he said: "If there was even a chance of a conviction of Porter before, this would thoroughly remove it from the minds of any intelligent people." Mr. Porter said he would not have issued a writ against Mr. J. H. Madden, solicitor for the Dominion Bank here, for $5,000, for slanderous statements he yesterday morning made in public, to the effect that Porter had something to do with the escape of the prisoners.

SPORTING NOTES.

What is Going on in Local and Outside Sporting Circles.

BASEBALL.
Worcester has the lead in the Eastern championship race.

The necessity of running a ball out is illustrated in the following incident: In a game between Wilkesbarre and Allentown, with two out in the tenth and men on second and third Goebel sent a pretty single to the left, but failed to run it out and after waiting near first base walked out into the diamond and upon Allentown's protest was very properly called out and the winning run did not count.

LAUREL.
The initial performance of the local stick handlers last night, was in every respect equal to expectations. The attendance was large, and the game was started with a vim that characterized winning players. The grounds are at little risk yet, but this was an obstacle that very little attention was given.

The Orillia, Markham, Brampton, Oranville and Galt Lacrosse Clubs are hard at work in preparation for the championship struggle contests.

The Peterborough Lacrosse Club suggest that when the Georgeowns play their first scheduled game with Peterborough that they bring up their baseball team and play a game previous to the lacrosse match—known to Nova.

—Victoria park is now open for the season.
—The police business is quiet these days.

—During the thunderstorm on Monday last a valuable Jersey cow belonging to Mr. Wm. Elliott, of Dummer, was struck by lightning and killed.

—Kingston cheese board is already in operation. Even further cheese brought 91-4 cents. Will the risk of the reputation of Canadian cheese make further food at paying product?

—About four million dollars have been expended in the Trent Canal so far, and it is estimated that it will cost three million more to make a navigable waterway from Midland to Trenton. It seems certain that the work will be pushed on to completion at all costs.

—Norwood Register. Nearly all the logs at Mr. Rowell's mill at Trent, Bridge have been converted into lumber, and it is reported that Mr. Rowell has accepted a position as measurer on engineer on the City of Peterborough which will run on Rice Lake this summer.

—Mr. W. Jordan, of Fenelon Falls, asked $500 for damages sustained by the Trent Canal. The valuator put the damages at $100. The Government offered Mr. Jordan and he refused their sum, and now the Jordan will probably overflow into the Eschiquet court.

—The citizens of Peterborough can live in anticipation of hearing some exceptionally good music this season. The different bands appear to be putting in plenty of practice hours, and the rivalry for grants is unusually keen, an effort no doubt will be made to justify the requests.

Mr. H. Lehrman arrived home yesterday morning from opening up his branch store at Oshawa. His opening day was his opening day, and he stated that he was greatly pleased with the patronage he was accorded.

The debility of David Duggins has been completely cured.

David Duggins lives in the town of Jones, Ohio County, Kentucky. From there he writes:

"When I began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, I had nervous or general debility of three years' duration. I took three bottles of the Discovery."

"During the time I was taking it my sleep became more refreshing and I gained fifteen pounds in weight and also gained strength every day. It has been six months since I took the medicine and I still feel better."

When a man gets run-down it is hard work to run him up again unless the whole condition of his system is first changed.

That is what the "Golden Medical Discovery" does for him. It begins by restoring his digestive system all poisonous, effete matter. It gives tone to his stomach, activity to his liver, cleanliness to his bowels. While this work is going on the "Discovery" also manifests its potency through the blood and nerves. It fills the blood with rich, red corpuscles and sends them vigorously circulating all over the body to soothe and nourish the tired, abused, screaming nerves.

When a man has nervous prostration it isn't his nerves that are wrong. It's his blood. Bad blood comes from bad digestion—bad stomach, bad liver, bad kidneys. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will put all these organs in good order.

"Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol in any form. It is entirely free from opium and other narcotics and contains neither sugar nor syrup which are injurious to some stomachs. Without any of these ingredients it retains its pleasant taste and healing qualities in any climate and under all conditions.

Don't let a careless or dishonest medicine seller cheat you out of your health by giving you a substitute.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is sold by all druggists and by mail order.
